Tammy was happy now, she didn't need to tell her unhappy things to influence others.

Chapter 1592

After chatting casually with Tammy, Avery opened Chad's dialog box and messaged: [Chad, Mike drank too much tonight. When will you be able to go back?]

Chad replied in seconds: [I will go back tomorrow morning. If he drinks too much, he usually falls asleep, so you don't have to worry about it.]

Avery: [Well, happy new year!]

Chad looked at the blessing she sent, and wanted to say Happy New Year, but couldn't type these words.

After a while, he replied: [Avery, will you divorce my boss? I know that it is not good to say this during the New Year, but from what I know about you, I think you will definitely not wrong yourself.]

Avery: [I didn't think so.]

Chad: [Then think about it carefully, and be careful again and again. If you insist on divorce, you will definitely not get child custody, and your company.]

Chad was not threatening her, but reminding her.

Avery: [I will consider it carefully.]

Chad: [Avery, no matter what happens to you and my boss, we will always be friends, okay?]

Avery: [Of course. And I'm not determined to divorce him either. He apologized to me today, saying he wouldn't recognize that kid. I'll talk to him in a few days.]

Chad breathed a sigh of relief.

Avery had a terrible headache, so she put down her phone and closed her eyes to rest.

After Elliot was completely asleep, Avery took his hand from her waist and got out of bed gently. The wound on her head was so painful that she had to deal with it.

If it still hurts so much tomorrow, she has to go to the hospital.

Elliot hit it too hard.

Avery found the medicine box, and after treating the wound casually, put the medicine box back in place.

The mood suddenly became very heavy.

She suspected that she was sick. Maybe it's a new disease, or maybe the last surgery wasn't done well, leading to complications.

Something was wrong with her eyes.

Normal people would not experience the symptoms of a sudden darkening in front of their eyes when they had enough rest.

Her eyes had never had any problems before. She had been studying for so many years, and she was not even short-sighted. Because her condition was not serious now, and she was going to celebrate the Spring Festival, she planned to go to the hospital for examination after the year.

As a result, she received the punch tonight, and she suspected that it might make her condition worse.

If it really got worse... Thinking of this, her heartbeat suddenly quickened.

Now because of the estrangement with Elliot, she still didn't know whether the marriage should continue, so she was unlikely to tell him about her condition.

If her condition worsened because of his punch, she would be even less likely to tell him.

She didn't want him to feel guilty about it.

After sitting in the living room for a while, there was a sudden sound of hurried footsteps behind him.

Avery immediately looked back –

Elliot appearing at the entrance of the stairs with a flustered face.

“Avery! Do you want to leave?” Elliot asked angrily.

Elliot woke up just now and found that she was not in bed, so frightened that his body was cold and his soul was out of his body.

“I came down for a drink.” Avery got up from the sofa and walked towards him.

“Where am I going? What are you thinking about? I said that after the New Year, I'll talk about other things, then I won't go now.”

After listening to her answer, Elliot suddenly relaxed.

“Didn't I ask you to take a bath? It just so happens that you are awake now, go take a bath. There is a smell of alcohol in the room, and I can't sleep.” Avery strode in front of him, her tone disgusting.

Elliot grabbed her arm and explained, “I was dizzy at the time.”

Avery: “I'm not dizzy now?”

“It's better.” Elliot followed her steps and went upstairs, “Avery, don't leave me.

You Understand my heart?"

Chapter 1593

Avery replied, "I understand, I understand now. But it doesn't mean you won't change in the future. Don't think about it that far. Let's talk about it after today."

She had a severe headache and it hurt to speak.

After going upstairs, Elliot suddenly stopped.

"Have you seen Shea tonight?" Elliot said, letting go of her arm, "I haven't seen her all day today."

Avery: "Didn't she call you at night?"

She thought Shea didn't come back tonight and called him.

"No." Elliot said firmly, "Where is my cell phone?"

The two went back to the room and looked for his cell phone. As a result, Elliot searched the room and couldn't find his mobile phone.

"I'll call you." Avery picked up her mobile phone and dialed his number.

There was no sound in the room. His cell phone was not in the bedroom. So the two went downstairs.

Avery continued to call his number, and finally, the phone was found under the sofa. It probably fell to the ground during a fight with Mike at that time.

But the two of them tacitly did not mention it.

Elliot turned on the phone and didn't see Shea's call, but Shea sent him a message.

——Brother, Auntie stayed with me for the night, so I will be staying at Wesley's house tonight.

After reading the text message, Elliot's face turned gloomy.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

"Shea spent the night at Wesley's house." Elliot's voice had an incredible tone.

Avery: "she is not your pet. Sooner or later, she will have her own home and leave you. Accept this reality as soon as possible."

Avery's words made him stunned for a moment.

"Elliot, it's 3:00 in the morning now. If you're not sleepy, you can play by yourself. I'm tired." Avery glanced at the time and sighed tiredly.

"Go to bed. I'll go to the guest room to sleep later." Elliot remembered that he was drunk and hadn't showered yet.

If Avery goes to sleep in the master bedroom, it will definitely make her sleep well. She went straight upstairs.

Elliot looked at her back disappearing line of sight, and his heart was indescribably lost.

Avery said that Shea would leave him, and her tone when she said this was as if she was saying 'I will leave you too'.

The next day.

Brook family.

Shea came out of Wesley's room, and by coincidence, she met Sandra and came out with the cooked porridge.

"Shea, you last night..." Sandra was speechless in surprise.

Sandra arranged Shea in a guest room next to Wesley's room last night.

"I..." Shea blushed and explained in a low voice, "I was a little scared last night, so..."

"Haha! It's okay. It's me being careless, I didn't expect you to be scared." Sandra put down the bowl, took Shea's hand, and asked, "Is Wesley still sleeping?"

Shea shook her head and said shyly, "He's helping me with laundry."

"Isn't there a washing machine?" Sandra was puzzled.

Shea was even more shy: "Auntie, it's underwear. He said hand washing is better.”

Chapter 1594

Sandra: “...cough! Are you hungry? I cooked millet porridge with red dates, wolfberry and longan. Come and try it.”

“I’ll eat together when Wesley comes out.” Shea walked towards the kitchen with Sandra.

“Then eat a boiled egg first. Wesley asked me to get up early to make breakfast last night, and said I must not starve you.” Sandra gave her a boiled egg, and then put the steamed buns in the pot. She brought out the dumplings, “I also cooked noodles, you can eat whatever you want. Don’t feel restrained.”

“Auntie, I’m not hungry. You can sit and rest for a while.” Shea said politely.

“Shea, you are such a gentle person. No wonder Wesley likes you so much.” The more Sandra looked at her, the more she liked it. “Shea, you didn’t go home last night, did your brother say anything?”

“Wesley has a good relationship and won’t say anything.” Shea sat down at the dining table, tapped the boiled egg on the table, carefully peeled the shell,

“Auntie, Wesley and I are going to collect the certificate on the seventh day of the new year. He told you that Are you ready?”

“Ah? He didn’t tell me.” Sandra sat down beside her, “Have you made an appointment?”

“Well, I brought out the household registration book.” Shea said here, Wesley finished washing the clothes and came out of the room.

“What are you talking about?” Wesley walked to the dining table and sat down and asked with a smile.

Shea immediately handed him the peeled egg: “I told my aunt that we went to collect the certificate on the seventh day of the first year.”

Wesley nodded, then looked at his mother: "Mom, I will officially tell you now, I will tell Shea has already decided to get the certificate."

"Of course I have no problem with your father, mainly Elliot's side..." Sandra was a little worried.

"Auntie, I have already told Avery. If my brother is angry, Avery will help me." Shea was not worried that her plan would be hindered.

Even if Avery didn't help her, her brother would agree to her and Wesley being together.

After breakfast, Sandra took Wesley to the kitchen to wash the fruit for Shea.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Shea was watching TV in the living room.

Sandra whispered to her son: "You and Shea last night...you two..."

"Mom, I didn't have the kind of thing you think happened to her." Wesley guessed her at a glance. The question to ask is, "Even if something like that happens to her, we can't have children. You die!"

Sandra's face suddenly turned gloomy: "I don't think Shea is stupid at all. Why can't she have children? In the past, stupid women in our hometown could have children, and the children born were very healthy..."

Wesley warned, "Mom, if you bring this up again, I'll take Shea away immediately. Don't say these words in front of Shea. She is very sensitive, and I don't want her to think wildly."

"I'll tell you privately. If I want to tell her. Why are you talking behind her back?"

Sandra said with a guilty conscience, "I see that the two of you are in such a good relationship, it would be a pity if you didn't have a child."

"Mom, I don't think it's a pity. As long as I can take care of it well in my life and it's enough for me and her." Wesley washed the fruit, put it in the fruit bowl, and brought it to the living room.

Foster family.

At 10:00 in the morning, Avery woke up and walked downstairs. She glanced at the family doctor sitting on the sofa in the living room.

When the family doctor saw Avery, he immediately strode towards her: "Miss Tate, happy new year. I heard that you have a head injury. I'll take a look."

Avery's eyes felt on Elliot.

Elliot changed his clothes, his expression was condensed, his eyes were like torches, and he looked at Avery.

"It's okay, I applied the medicine last night." Avery said lightly and asked Elliot, "Where's the child?"

Elliot replied, "I asked Mrs. Cooper to take them out for New Year's greetings. I said you were injured, I want to with you at home."

Avery: "..."

The family doctor looked puzzled: "Miss Tate, let me see your wound. If your wound is okay, Mr. Foster doesn't need to worry so much."

Today At 7:00 in the morning, Elliot called the family doctor and asked him to come.

The family doctor arrived at 8:00 in the morning and waited until now.

Avery didn't want to embarrass him, so she went to the sofa and sat down, showing him the wound.

"It's...a bit serious." After seeing her wound, the family doctor exclaimed, "Miss Tate, why don't you go to the hospital now?"

Elliot was afraid that she would not believe it, so he used his mobile phone, took a picture of the wound and showed it to her.

Avery took his phone and carefully checked the photos of her wounds.

Chapter 1595

The wound was a bit scary at first glance.

“I rubbed the medicine last night, and the medicine was dark, so it’s a bit scary to look at the wound.” Avery returned the phone to Elliot, “Today is not as painful as yesterday.”

“Let’s go to the hospital.” Elliot insisted, “It’s not convenient for you to apply the medicine yourself at home.”

“I don’t think it’s inconvenient.” Avery found a random reason, “My mother said that during the New Year, it is best not to go to the hospital.”

Elliot: “...”

Doctor: “???”

If Elliot remembers correctly, Avery is also a doctor. How could she say such superstitious words?

Whenever She’s sick, she has to go to the hospital.

But Elliot obviously didn’t question her words.

“Did you bring medicine?” Elliot asked the family doctor.

The family doctor immediately took out the medicine he brought.

“Help her deal with it again.” Elliot said.

“Yeah.” After the family doctor responded, he said to Avery, “Miss Tate, I can come to rub the medicine for you every day. You should not wash your hair these days, and it is best not to travel far. When the Spring Festival is over, you will be the best. But it’s good to go to the hospital for a check. By the way, how did you get injured?”

This question instantly brought the atmosphere to freezing point.

Elliot’s Adam’s apple rolled and was about to speak, but Avery answered first, “I accidentally fell.”

“Oh! Then you fell very hard. Did you fall in the bathroom?” The doctor took the iodine and came out and sterilized her, “Don’t underestimate the sequelae of wrestling, I have seen people who fell into hemiplegia, and I have also seen wrestling and broken legs, and it took several months to rest...”

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

“Didn’t the elder tell you about the taboos during the New Year?” Avery answered lightly, “It’s best not to say unlucky words during the New Year.”

Doctor: “...”

Elliot looked at her calm appearance and asked, “Is it really not painful anymore?”

Avery glared at him and said: “I said it didn’t hurt as much as yesterday, but I didn’t say it didn’t hurt at all.”

The doctor followed up and asked, “Miss Tate, are you injured anywhere other than the head injury?”

Avery: “No.”

The doctor was stunned for a moment: “Ah, then you fell very well. You just knocked on the cabinet.”

Avery: “Yeah.”

Elliot looked at her and lied, knowing that she was doing it for himself Save face.

But the more she did this, the more guilty Elliot felt.

“It was I who drank too much last night and got into a fight with someone, and accidentally injured her.” Elliot told the truth.

Doctor: “...” The doctor shook his hands, regretting that he was talking too much.

If Elliot knew it earlier, he wouldn’t ask the bottom line.

“That...Mr. Foster, you were fighting with someone, are you not injured?” The doctor glanced at him, “It seems to be fine.”

Elliot: “I was punched hard. I also have pain.”

After the doctor treated Avery's wound, he immediately glanced at the place where Elliot was beaten.

His injury is a little lighter than Avery, but he also needs medicine.

Avery didn't look at his injury because she was very hungry. She walked towards the dining room.

Mrs. Scarlet immediately brought breakfast to the table.

The doctor glanced at her, and then whispered to Elliot: "Is Miss Tate angry with you?"

Elliot: "Did you see it?"

"It's quite obvious. Miss Tate used to care about you. But she gave herself medicine, but she didn't give you medicine. If you left it before, you wouldn't need me for this injury on your head. I'll deal with it for you." The doctor explained it bluntly and rationally.

What the doctor said was too reasonable, and Elliot didn't know how to refute it for a while.

At dining room.

Chapter 1596

Avery was not used to eating breakfast alone. So she asked: "Did Adrian also go out to pay New Year's greetings?"

Mrs. Scarlet said, "Shea and Wesley came to pick him up in the morning to go out to play."

Avery: "Shea and Wesley have been here?"

"Well. They are going to go skiing today, so they Call Adrian to play together."

Mrs. Scarlet said this, with pity in her eyes, "Otherwise Adrian is alone and looks a bit pitiful."

Avery: "He can also go to New Year's with Hayden and the others."

Mrs. Scarlet: " Do you know where they are going to celebrate the New Year today?"

"Where?" Avery asked in surprise.

"Mike's place." The smile on Mrs. Scarlet's face could not hide the sadness in her eyes, "Where do you have relatives? sir, and your relatives don't have much contact there?"

Mrs. Scarlet's words made Avery stunned.

"Adrian does have a brother, but unfortunately his eldest brother is not a thing."

The smile on Mrs. Scarlet's face disappeared completely, "but fortunately they are a little self-aware. After the husband came back, they didn't come back to ask for trouble."

Avery answered After speaking, she said, "Mike drank too much last night. They went to Mike's place to celebrate the New Year today..."

Mrs. Scarlet said, "The child can't stay at home. Layla is making a fuss about going out to play, Hayden only Take her out. Mrs. Cooper will come with you, at least to have food. You don't have to worry."

Avery: "Well."

"They will go to Eric's house tomorrow to pay New Year's greetings." Mrs. Scarlet said, "Layla called Eric this morning. Do you want to go with the child tomorrow?"

Avery thought of the injury on her head...

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

She can't wash her hair now, and she needs to rub medicine on her head, which has a pungent smell of medicine, and really doesn't want to go out to see people.

Avery: "let's talk tomorrow!"

Mrs. Scarlet: "Well, is the injury on your head okay?"

Avery: "It's alright."

Mrs. Scarlet whispered, "Avery, Mr. Foster blames himself. I came out at seven in the morning and saw Mr. Foster was drinking coffee in the living room. I guess he didn't sleep all night. He blamed himself more than anyone else for hurting you."

"I know." After Avery finished speaking, Mrs. Scarlet saw Elliot approaching, so she immediately retreated.

After breakfast, Avery went back to the room.

Elliot followed closely.

"You didn't sleep last night?" Avery asked.

Elliot: "Sleep."

"You lied. Mrs. Scarlet said she saw you drinking coffee in the living room early in the morning." Avery exposed him.

Elliot: "Didn't you lie to the doctor too? I did the wound on your head, you don't have to save face for me."

Avery: "Are you proud?"

"Do you look proud of me?" Elliot tone was soft Come down, "what are you going to do today?"

Avery: "don't worry about what I do, you go to bed now."

"Oh." Elliot planned to go back to his room to sleep, but he was thinking about her, "Avery, did you go to bed last night? You said we'll talk today."

Avery retorted, "Did I say that? Didn't I say we'll talk after the New Year? But you can talk now if you want."

Elliot: "Then let's talk now."

If Elliot doesn't talk about it, he won't sleep well. After taking a bath last night, he wanted to go to the guest room to sleep, but he never felt sleepy.

On the one hand, he had a conflict with Avery and felt guilty. On the other hand, Avery was accidentally injured, and the guilt doubled.

Back in the bedroom, Avery opened the window to let in the cold air.

“Aren’t you afraid of catching a cold?” The two of them were wearing thin clothes, and the moment the cold air came in, they could clearly feel the coldness.

“I’m afraid you won’t wake up.” Avery teased.

“I’m very awake.” Elliot sat down beside the bed and looked at her with scarlet eyes. “We will not divorce or separate, but we will raise three children together.”

Avery: “If that kid Rebecca came to you in the future, what would you do?”

Chapter 1597

“In the future, if things related to them are unavoidable, then let you come forward.” Elliot thought about it all night and made up his mind.

–He is affectionate towards Rebecca and that child, but he is affectionate towards Avery and their three children.

–Avery didn’t make it a big deal, and now the three children don’t know about it, so Elliot can still remedy it.

–If things get really messed up, Hayden and Layla will hate Elliot to death.

–What Elliot fears most is not that the child hates him, but losing Avery.

Avery only had a cold war with him for a day, and Elliot suffered so much that he could not sleep. If Avery really disappeared from his world, Elliot didn’t know how to live in the future.

Elliot’s answer gave Avery a heavy sigh of relief.

If Elliot did it on New Year’s Eve, Avery would never be angry.

If Elliot answered this yesterday, Avery would not continue to lose her temper with him.

“Have you thought about it?” Avery asked, taking a breath.

With his definite answer, the haze in Avery’s heart was instantly dispelled, and the world suddenly became brighter. But it felt a little unreal.

Avery: "Go to sleep first. When you are asleep, talk about it."

Elliot: "You don't believe my answer just now."

Avery closed the window and said, "I have nothing to do today, I can't go out with my head like this, I'll just stay at home."

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

"Then you sleep with me." Elliot invited.

"Having a headache from sleep." Avery didn't want to lie down. "I don't mean the wound hurts, but I slept enough last night. Go to sleep, I'll go downstairs and wait."

Avery went downstairs to find Mrs. Scarlet. She found that Mrs. Scarlet was packing things in Shea's room.

Avery: "Mrs. Scarlet, what are you packing?"

Mrs. Scarlet sighed: "Isn't Shea going to marry Wesley? I'll help her pack up the things she uses and bring it with her."

"You must be very reluctant to Shea." Avery walked into the room and sat down on the chair in front of the vanity mirror.

Mrs. Scarlet showed a kind smile: "Of course I can't bear it, but I'm more happy for her. I'm too old to take care of her for the rest of my life. It's good to have Wesley to take care of her in the future. I also hope that Adrian will be able to take care of her in the future. I have a good home. In this way, I can also be worthy of the old lady's kindness to me."

Avery said, "Mrs. Scarlet, Mrs. Foster always knew that Elliot was not her son. She always paid Nathan before her death, which was considered as Adrian's living expenses."

Mrs. Scarlet said calmly, "Avery, do you think Mrs. Foster is cruel? She was in that environment, and she was helpless. You haven't seen Jaxson Foster, you don't know how depressed the Foster family was before."

Avery listened quietly.

"Jaxson Foster was a very typical businessman. He was all about making money and didn't care about his family. He didn't respect his wife very much. He only treated his wife as a tool to give birth and take care of children. He never cared about children, but if Madam didn't take good care of the child, he scolded and abused her... Madam seemed to live a bright and beautiful life on the surface, but she was actually very aggrieved in private."

Mrs. Scarlet lowered her head.

"If Madam hadn't done this in the first place, her life with Adrian and Shea would have been even more difficult. So I never blame Madam for being cruel."

"But after Jaxson Foster died, she didn't bring Adrian back to her side." Aver raised her own doubts, "If it were me, I wouldn't be able to separate myself from my own children. Even if I secretly raised it outside, like Shea, it would be better than giving it to an unreliable person like Nathan."

Chapter 1598

Mrs. Scarlet explained, "Avery, you're right. Elliot is too good. Since kindergarten, he has been smarter and more sensible than other children. He is the pride of his wife. Jaxson Foster was also very proud of it. The atmosphere was also much better than before. After Jaxson Foster's death, Elliot was also grown up, can Elliot accept his real life experience? Certainly not. This kind of peace that has come so hard, Madam is afraid of being broken. I understand her mood."

Avery also understood. Just like she knew that it would be very cruel to separate Elliot and the child from Yonroeville, but she had to separate them.

—What qualifications does Avery have to say that Mrs. Foster is cold-blooded and ruthless?

In the evening, Mrs. Cooper came back with three children.

Hayden and Layla brought Avery a lot of delicious snacks and specialties.

Mrs. Cooper said, "Chad brought these specialties from his hometown. Chad made today's lunch and dinner. Seriously, Chad's cooking skills are really good. Pretty."

Avery: "He's really good at cooking. Where's Mike?"

Mrs. Cooper smiled, "Mike helped him today. We went over in the morning, and Chad entertained us. Mike was sleeping. Then Robert fell and cried loudly and woke him up. Have you eaten?"

"I did." Avery glanced at the stairs, "Elliot's still sleeping."

"Why is Mr. Foster still sleeping? Do you want to wake him up? If he continue to sleep, he won't be able to fall asleep later at night." Mrs. Cooper reminded.

"I'll go up and have a look." Avery went up to take a look before dinner. Seeing that Elliot was sleeping soundly, so she didn't wake him up.

But it was getting dark now, and Avery couldn't let Elliot sleep any more.

She pushed open the bedroom door.

On the bed, Elliot heard a slight noise and opened his eyes.

Elliot slept well, and now a little sound can be heard very clearly.

Avery saw that Elliot was awake, so she turned on the headlights in the room.

Elliot looked out the window. Outside the window, the twilight was getting darker, and his eyes suddenly dimmed. He slept for so long.

"What are you thinking?" Avery stood in front of him and looked at him, "You've slept for so long, you must be hungry now, right?"

Elliot felt it carefully and took a breath: "My head hurts a little."

Avery: "The wound still hurts. Pain after sleeping for a long time?"

"All." Elliot lifted the quilt, "It's a little hot."

Avery: "The children are back. Go eat! I've already eaten."

"Not very hungry." Elliot looked at her, then The topic before going to bed, "Didn't you tell me to answer your questions when I wake up?"

Avery: "Are you sure you're awake now? Don't you mean headache? When you don't have a headache..."

"I'm awake, and my head doesn't hurt anymore." Elliot held her hand and said word by word, "I never liked Rebecca from beginning to end, nor did I have feelings for her. That child has compassion, not only because Rebecca told me that the child looks like Layla, but also because I have become a 'father' and have a more compassionate heart."

His thoughts are clear and his expressions are powerful, Avery believed what Elliot said came from the heart.

Elliot added, "I realize now that I have pity for that child and it hurt you and our three children so much. So I won't face it directly. It's up to you to decide what to do for me. I trust you I'll handle it rationally."

Elliot's putting a high hat on her. Elliot looked out the window. Outside the window, the twilight was getting darker, and his eyes suddenly dimmed. He slept for so long.

"What are you thinking?" Avery stood in front of him and looked at him, "You've slept for so long, you must be hungry now, right?"

Elliot's putting a high hat on her.

How could Avery possibly handle this rationally?

Chapter 1599

Avery didn't want to see Rebecca at all, and she didn't want to see their child born, and then came here.

If the child is really found in the future, Avery should not be able to turn her away cruelly. However, she would never let Elliot see the child. At least now she's not so generous.

"Let's turn the matter over here. In the future, you'd better do as we said earlier."

Avery put an end to the matter, "Elliot, if you were me, you wouldn't necessarily be as generous as me."

"I know. Avery, thank you." Elliot looked at her gratefully, "I won't be confused in the future."

“Well. Get up, let’s go down together.” Avery planned to accompany him to eat more.

At that time, Avery ate alone and didn’t have any appetite. Now that she has resolved the conflict with him, she feels a little hungry.

After Elliot got up, he walked to the bathroom and washed his face.

“Did the kids have fun today?” Elliot asked.

Avery teased, “Do I need to ask this question? Their relationship with Mike is much better than with you. Tomorrow they will go to Eric’s place, will you go?”

“What about you?” Elliot washed his face and came out of the bathroom , “I’ll go wherever you go.”

“How can I go out like this?” Avery looked distressed, “I want to go out to play, but I also want to save face. I’m still not going out.”

Elliot asked, “Your mother’s side Relatives, do you need to go to New Year’s greetings? If necessary, I can go there instead of you.”

Avery: “I have an uncle. After my mother and my father divorced, I lived in my uncle’s house. Although my mother and my aunt have a bad relationship, but after all, my mother has lived in their house for many years...”

Elliot said, “Okay, I will go to pay their New Year’s greetings tomorrow. Do they have children? What should I pay attention to?”

Seeing that Elliot was a little nervous, Avery couldn’t help laughing: “No need to pay attention. Just bring some gifts over there. He seems to have a granddaughter... It seems that he has another grandson. Just prepare a few red envelopes. Now.”

Elliot: “Okay.”

Avery wanted to say ‘if you don’t want to stay there for dinner, you can come back with a gift’, but she held back and didn’t say so.

“My uncle should let you eat.” Avery reminded, “If you don’t want to...”

Elliot said, “It’s fine, I can eat at your uncle’s house. Besides your uncle, there are other relatives who need it. New Year’s greetings?”

Avery shook her head: “My grandparents have passed away, my father’s relatives like Wanda very much, so I don’t communicate with them anymore.”

The two talked and quickly went downstairs.

“Mom! I heard that you have an injury on your head. Hurry up and show it to me.”

Layla felt depressed when Mrs. Scarlet and Mrs. Cooper said about Avery’s head injury.

Avery blushed, and quickly explained: “Layla, mom is all right. I took the medicine this morning, and it doesn’t hurt much now.”

“What’s the matter, Mom?” Sitting down, Layla pulled her hair a bit, and soon saw the wound, “Woooooo! Mom, how did you grow such a big bump.”

Layla cried as she spoke.

Avery hugged her daughter into her arms in pain.

“Don’t cry, baby. Mom accidentally bumped into the wall. The doctor came to see you Mom today, and the doctor said that it will be cured by rubbing the medicine.”

“Which wall did you hit? I’m going to remove the wall.” Layla angrily said.

Avery couldn’t help laughing, “It’s your mom who was careless, I don’t blame the wall.”

Elliot wanted to admit that he did it by himself, but when he heard his daughter say that he was going to ‘remove the wall’, he immediately shut up.

“Elliot, what are you doing standing here? Didn’t you say you were hungry?”

Avery looked at Elliot and asked him to eat.

Chapter 1600

Elliot: “Didn’t you say you would eat with me?”

“I’ll play with the child for a while.” Avery looked at her daughter’s tearful eyes, and her heart melted.

Elliot nodded and went to the dining room. After he walked away, Hayden immediately said gloomily: “Mom, why are you lying? It was Elliot who hurt you.” Avery explained, “Hayden, he didn’t do it on purpose. If we told him to his face, he would be very sad.”

“Let him teach him a lesson.” Hayden’s voice did not decrease deliberately, so Elliot could hear it clearly in the dining room.

Layla pursed her lips, clenched her fists, and cried in her voice: “Dad is such a careless scoundrel. Mom, you also knock a bump on his head.”

Avery sighed: “You, Uncle Mike, knock him for me. Yes. Your father also has a bump on his head.”

Layla stopped crying: “It’s not too bad.”

“Mom, if you’re not full, then go eat.” Hayden said.

“Well...how do you know it was your father who did it?” Avery remembered that she didn’t tell her son about her injury last night.

“Uncle Mike said that Elliot punched you last night. They said you had a head injury just now, so I guessed it naturally.” Hayden said the reason.

“He didn’t do it on purpose. Don’t blame him.” Avery looked at Hayden and Layla with a pleading tone, “Now for the New Year, let’s not be unhappy about such trivial things. Tomorrow you go to Uncle Eric’s house, and I won’t go. Your father won’t go with you either, he’s going to pay my uncle’s New Year’s greetings for me.”

Avery said that for this reason, the two children could only endure this matter and not go to Elliot to settle accounts.

Because Avery was injured, Layla became extra sensible.

After she took a bath, she ran to find Avery.

Layla: "Mom, your injury is on the back of your head. You must not have enough medicine. Let me help you."

Avery was very relieved: "Baby, the smell of medicine is rather pungent. Mom can ask Dad to help."

"Oh, Mom, I feel so hurt. You must be lying to me that you don't hurt." Layla looked at her distressed.

Avery couldn't continue to lie to her daughter: "Mom whispered to you, mom does have a little pain. But mom doesn't want you to worry. Don't tell your brother, okay?"

Layla pursed her mouth and snorted. She doesn't know whether to agree or not.

After a while, Elliot came out of the bathroom after taking a shower, and Layla immediately ran out of the master bedroom. She went back to the children's room, closed the door, and immediately told her brother: "Brother! Mom said her head hurt. Mom didn't want us to worry, so she said she didn't have a headache."

"Mom was lied." Hayden frowned.

Hayden saw his mother's injury in the evening, and he could see that it was very painful by looking at the wound.

"Brother, what should we do? Mom won't go to the hospital, what if the wound gets worse woohoo?" Layla was anxious.

"Elliot will go out for New Year's greetings tomorrow, and I will take my mother to the hospital." Hayden said, "I can't accompany you to Uncle Eric's house tomorrow."

Layla nodded obediently: "Okay brother. You must take your mother to the hospital for a good checkup. My mother is really ignorant, so she wouldn't go to the hospital if it was so serious.”

“She was afraid that Elliot would feel guilty, so she pretended that she didn’t feel any pain.” Hayden expressed her mother’s thoughts.

Layla sighed: “Being an adult has to think about so many things, it’s really tiring... It’s better to be a child. If you’re not happy, you can cry.”

“Go to sleep first. I’ll help mom register.” Hayden moved the room, Turned off the light, turned on the small light on his side, and then turned on the phone.

Chapter 1601

The next morning.

Layla got up at 7:00 a.m., washed and dressed, and went downstairs for breakfast.

At 7:30 a.m., Eric’s car stopped outside the courtyard gate.

“Eric, why are you here so early?” Avery just got up, and the sky was still not completely clear.

“I came over as soon as I finished work.” Eric has been busy these days.

Every Spring Festival, the announcement activities were quite full.

This year, Eric wanted to bring Layla along, but this year, Hayden returned to Aryadelle, Layla prefers to stay at home.

Avery tangled, “Did you not rest last night? Will it make you too noisy when Layla goes to your place today?”

Eric: “No, I often stay up late, I’m used to it. And I slept during the day yesterday. Now, I’m not sleepy at all.”

Eric handed her the gift, “Where’s Hayden?”

Layla glanced at Eric, and then looked at Avery with a guilty conscience: “Brother is not feeling well today.”

“Why is your brother unwell? Did he have a cold?” Avery said, and immediately walked towards the children's room.

Layla didn't follow, nor did Eric.

Eric whispered to Layla: "What happened to your brother?"

Layla whispered back: "My brother has important things to do today. So he can't accompany me to your house. But my brother can go with me."

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Eric nodded and continued to ask: "Why does your mother smell like medicine?"

"Because my mother was injured in the head. She was accidentally beaten by my father." Layla said the whole thing, "My father was also injured. So they both have to rub the medicine, and they both smell like medicine."

Eric: "..."

"If my mother wasn't injured, she would definitely come to your house with us to play." Layla regretted, "It's all my dad's fault."

When Layla said this, Elliot came downstairs and came over.

Elliot knew that the child blamed him, and he blamed himself.

"Happy New Year." Elliot walked up to Eric and said, "Layla and Robert will take care of you today."

Eric glared at him angrily: "Why do you become more impulsive when you get older? Laugh at me being young and unstable, how stable are you!"

Elliot: "Accident."

Eric: "I punched you, which can also be explained as an accident."

"Don't quarrel." Layla smelled the smell of gunpowder and immediately pulled Eric away. Stay, "Uncle Eric, let's go. I like your big dog, and my brother must like it too."

When Elliot heard that he had a dog, he immediately frowned: "Dog? How big is it?"

Layla immediately gestured with both hands: "It's so big!"

Elliot frowned even more, and asked Eric: "What breed are you raising? Are you aggressive? Will it bites people?"

Eric: "Labrador. It's definitely not aggressive when it sees Layla and Robert, but if it sees you, it's not necessarily."

Elliot: "..."

"Hahahaha! Dad, Uncle Eric has a big dog which is very good, it likes me very much. We are good friends." Layla assured Dad, "I will look after my brother, don't worry."

Elliot was of course worried. He called the bodyguard and asked the bodyguard to go to Eric's house with the child later.

Not long after, Avery came out of the children's room.

Eric has left with Layla and Robert.

Elliot asked her, "What's wrong with Hayden? Layla said he was not feeling well."

Avery said, "Well. He said that his stomach was not feeling well, maybe he ate too much yesterday. Let's go to breakfast first. After breakfast, I will take care of Hayden at home for New Year's greetings."

"Would you like to take him to the hospital for a check-up?" Elliot saw Hayden for the first time and said that he was not feeling well.

"If he doesn't get better in a while, I'll take him to the hospital. You don't have to worry too much, just take some medicine for gastroenteritis."

Elliot wanted to see his son, but he thought that he had made an unforgivable mistake, he definitely didn't want to see his son, so he gave up.

After breakfast, he went to Avery's uncle's house with gifts.

Shortly after he left, Hayden came out of the room.

“Hayden, let me take you to the hospital for a checkup.” Avery said.

There were stomach medicines at home. Because Elliot had stomach problems, he always kept stomach medicines at home.

But if Hayden can take the initiative to say that he is uncomfortable, it means that he must be in great pain, so it is best to go to the hospital for an examination, so that Avery can rest assured.

She thought Hayden would refuse, but she did not expect him to agree.

The driver took Elliot out, so Avery drove and took Hayden to the hospital.

On the way, Hayden explained honestly: “Mom, I pretended to be sick.”

Avery: “Huh?”

Hayden explained, “I registered for you. Go and see your illness. If you don’t want Elliot to know, I can help you hide it.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing, but she didn’t expect that his son would actually act to trick her into going to the hospital.

Avery: “What department did you help mother with?”

Hayden: “Brain department.”

Avery warmed her heart, “Okay, let’s go to see mother. Hayden, it’s not that mother refuses to see a doctor, mother plans to go to the hospital after the new year. “

“Don’t delay.” Hayden said solemnly.

“Mom knows what to do.” After Avery said this, the carriage fell silent.

She has a number in her heart, and she doesn’t count. If she didn’t consider anyone’s feelings, she should have gone to the hospital the other day.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

The car arrived at the hospital, and the mother and son got off.

Hayden showed Avery the registration information.

Avery said, "You actually registered an expert number for your mother. Mom's illness, it's fine to register a normal number. The main thing is to take a picture first. But since you have an expert number, let's look at the expert number."

When Avery came to the brain department, there were more than a dozen people waiting under the expert number.

There were not many patients.

After waiting for about 40 minutes, it was Avery's turn.

Hayden wanted to accompany her in, but she asked Hayden to wait outside.

Soon, she came out with the list.

She asked the doctor to prescribe a CT of her brain.

Went to the CT room and waited for about 20 minutes before it was her turn.

Wait for the CT to be done, and the results will be available in half an hour.

Time flies, and when she got the results, it's almost the doctor's off-duty time.

Avery glanced at the CT results, no surprise, there was a shadow in the skull.

Elliot's punch was too heavy.

Avery had only had brain surgery not long ago, so she couldn't take such a heavy blow at all.

"Mom, how's it going?" Hayden glanced at the film and couldn't understand it.

Avery remained silent, which made Hayden a little flustered.

Avery whispered, "It may be necessary to do another CT scan. Hayden, don't tell anyone about taking your mother to see a doctor, including Layla and your uncle Mike."

Hayden pursed her thin lips and did not speak. His mother's tone gave him the feeling that his mother was very ill.

Avery took the results to the doctor. After the doctor read it, he pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose: "Intracranial hemorrhage, you have to be hospitalized immediately.”

“Can I take medication first? I want to go to the ophthalmologist for an examination.”

“What’s wrong with your eyes?” The doctor asked.

Avery: “Suddenly darkened and blurred vision.”

The doctor took her film and looked at it a few more times: “It may be that you have an intracranial hemorrhage, which compresses the retinal nerve. You must be hospitalized as soon as possible, and receive a more comprehensive examination to find out the cause. Otherwise, it may cause you to double Blind.”

Chapter 1603

Hayden was waiting outside the clinic. Because doctors were getting off work soon, there were fewer and fewer patients.

When Avery came out, there was no one around.

Hayden asked, “Mom, do you still need an examination? If you still have an examination, let’s go back first and come back in the afternoon.”

“I’m done.” Avery didn’t want him to run around with her to get tired.

“I’ll accompany you.” Hayden said stubbornly.

Avery asked, “Okay! Shall we go out to eat? Mom invites you to a big meal.”

Hayden: “It’s fine.”

Avery: “Then let’s eat outside!”

Avery took Hayden to a high-end restaurant in the city center.

“I don’t know how Layla and Robert are at your uncle Eric’s house.” Avery thought of the other two children, “Let’s make a video call for them.”

Hayden: “Okay.”

Hayden walked to Avery’s side and sat down on the sofa.

Hayden has grown very tall now, it would be a little strange if he and Avery sat next to each other to eat together. So he was sitting opposite Avery just now.

Avery dialed the video call to Eric, and the video call was quickly connected.

“Avery, have you eaten?” Eric asked.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

His main task today was to take care of the children. His parents and babysitter were in charge of cooking.

“I’m eating outside with Hayden. How about you?” Avery turned the camera to Hayden’s side.

Inadvertently, the camera caught Layla playing with a boy with toys.

“Eric, who is that boy in your family?” Avery asked with a smile.

Eric said, “It’s my cousin. His parents didn’t have time to take care of him, so he was at my house during the New Year. He is three years older than Hayden.”

Avery asked, “No wonder he looks so tall! Where is Robert?”

Eric: “Robert drank milk and fell asleep. He was tired from playing in the morning.”

Avery: “Where’s your dog?”

“In the kitchen.” Eric said, “Elliot’s bodyguard is guarding Robert’s room. Don’t let my dog get close to Robert at all.”

“Hahaha!” Avery couldn’t help laughing, “He doesn’t like animals, and your dog is indeed a bit big.”

“Well, my dog follows me, has a gentler character. If you don’t bite, Layla can testify.” Eric defended his dog.

Avery: “I trust you.”

Eric sat down in the dining chair, “You and Hayden are outside, why don’t you come to my house. Why don’t you two come over in the afternoon? or you two come now, my mother made a big table od dishes. The dishes she made are very delicious.”

“We have already ordered. I’ll go to your house next time to eat rice.” Avery said, seeing the waiter approaching, and immediately said to Eric in the video call, “I’m serving the food here, let’s hang up first.”

Hayden returned to the opposite sofa and sat down.

“Mom, Layla played with that boy, and didn’t tell us about the video call. Uncle Eric’s voice was not small, she must have heard it.” Hayden was chilled because his sister didn’t respond.

Avery laughed dumbly: “Your sister may be playing with her new friend.”

“Why does Robert sleep all day. Yesterday he slept at Uncle Mike’s house and slept for a long time.” Hayden continued to complain.

Avery: “That’s what a baby is like. When he was younger, he slept more.”

“Mom, you only had brain surgery in the second half of last year.” Hayden suddenly remembered this incident, “Now that Elliot beat you so badly, are you going to have another surgery?”

Chapter 1604

Avery pondered for a few seconds and decided to explain frankly to his son:

“Hayden, mother’s situation is more complicated. Before your father accidentally hurt me, something was wrong with me.”

Hayden: “Since you were wrong before, why didn’t you go to the doctor before? “

Avery said, “Mom is planning to go for a checkup after the New Year. Otherwise, if the doctor says that she is going to be hospitalized, wouldn’t she have to go to the hospital for New Year? Mom is fine when she goes to the hospital for New Year.

Mom is afraid that you will not have a good New Year too. And the Spring Festival is only seven days away, and it will soon pass.”

Hayden lowered his head gloomily. 'My mother said the word 'hospital', it seems that my mother's illness is definitely not serious.'

After the waiter served the dishes, Avery immediately picked up his chopsticks and served his son.

Avery: "Hayden, your mother wants to discuss something with you."

"Mom, you don't need to discuss it with me." Hayden took the chopsticks and said dully, "I will do whatever you want me to do."

"Hayden, your mother will be fine. Mother's illness can be cured, it just takes a little time." Avery forced a smile, "If my problem is really serious, I will definitely not be able to eat and sleep like a normal person."

In the afternoon.

The mother and son came to the hospital again.

Avery did a more detailed brain examination this time.

Tests revealed a hemorrhage in her brain, compressing the optic nerve.

The doctor said, "Miss Tate, you should be aware of your situation, it's still quite serious but it's not impossible for you to delay the hospitalization for a few days.

I'm afraid that your condition will suddenly deteriorate in the past few days...

What's the matter with your head injury this time? You have had a craniotomy within half a year, and your head is very fragile, why don't you protect it?"

Avery didn't want this, everything was an accident.

"In your current situation, it is definitely not suitable for another craniotomy. You can only do puncture and drainage first to see how the situation is." The doctor discussed the treatment plan with her, "First drain the blood in the brain, and then use the drugs that nourish the nerves, to see if the optic nerve can recover."

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Avery said, "Please prescribe some medicine for me first. If I am not feeling well, I will definitely receive treatment immediately.”

The doctor: “Yes. You pay attention to your diet these days, try to eat lightly.”

Avery: “Well.”

The doctor: “The tall, thin boy outside the door...”

“That’s my son.” Avery looked towards the door, only to see Hayden staring at her side.

“Your husband didn’t come with you?” The doctor prescribed medicine for her with a smile.

Avery: “He went to pay New Year’s greetings.”

“Oh...no wonder you don’t want to be hospitalized now. Your family must be very busy during the Spring Festival.” The doctor gave her the prescription and handed it to her, “If you have any questions, come to the hospital immediately.”

Avery: “Well. Thank you. Please help me keep it a secret.”

The doctor: “Don’t worry, even if your husband asks, I won’t tell you.”

At this time, Avery Received a call from Elliot.

“How is Hayden?” Elliot asked.

“Bring him to the hospital today.” Avery replied, “No big problem.”

Elliot: “Is he feeling better now? Does he still hurt?”

Avery: “It’s better. The doctor said to eat lightly.”

Elliot: “Well. I’m here. It’s almost dinner time, I’ll go back after dinner.”

Avery: “My uncle should be very happy, right?”

Elliot: “Well. He wants me to bring you and the children to play next time.”

Avery: “We’ll talk about it later.”

“Where are Layla and Robert?” Elliot continued to ask.

Avery got in the car and fastened her seat belt: “I made a video call for Eric at noon, and Layla met a new friend today. It’s Eric’s cousin. The boy was three years older than Hayden, and Layla played with him very much. I'm happy."

Elliot said vigilantly: "I'm really worried that this b*stard has bad intentions for our Layla. I'll go pick Layla home now."

Chapter 1605

Hanging up the phone, Avery laughed dumbly: "your father is jealous. He was going to have dinner, but he heard that Layla and your uncle Eric's cousin were having a good time, so he went to pick Layla immediately."

Hayden: "Mom, I don't think Elliot cares about you at all."

Avery: "Hayden, why do you say that?"

Hayden questioned, "He didn't even take you to the hospital for examination. You are so seriously injured. Doesn't he have eyes?"

Avery knew that her son felt sorry for her, but she didn't want her son to treat Elliot like this.

Avery: "Your father wanted to take me to the hospital, but I insisted on not going to the hospital. I pressed him as a doctor, but he couldn't beat me."

Driving home, she saw Ben Schaffer sitting in the living room making tea and drinking.

"Brother Schaffer, when did you come?" Avery put the car keys in the drawer and asked.

Ben Schaffer: "It's only been a while. I'm here to pick you up and play at my house tomorrow."

Avery sat down on the sofa and asked, "Did you tell Gwen?"

"Gwen hasn't gotten up yet." Ben Schaffer asked Mrs. Scarlet to see her just now.

Mrs. Scarlet said that she was still sleeping, "She has slept for two days, but she can really sleep."

Avery teased, "It shows that she suffered a lot in Bridgedale. Let me sleep at home for two days, but I can't sleep."

Ben Schaffer: "Well, you must take her to my house tomorrow."

Avery: "I will call her. The premise is that she is willing."

"I didn't talk to her for a few days. She quarreled, she should not refuse." Ben Schaffer said here, his voice suddenly lowered a little, "My parents are here. I told my parents that she has changed a lot now, and my parents want to see her. "

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

"Understood. Shall I make it clear to Gwen?" Avery was quite willing to help Ben Schaffer.

After all, they were acquaintances and knew the bottom line. If Gwen was with him, Ben shouldn't suffer any grievances.

Avery: "Don't talk about it yet. I'm afraid she's nervous."

Ben Schaffer: "Okay."

About an hour later, when night fell, a black Rolls-Royce appeared at the gate of the courtyard.

Elliot brought the two children back.

Ben Schaffer got up from the sofa and said, "Elliot, take the children to play at my house tomorrow."

Elliot: "Did you tell Avery?"

"Tell me. Why, if Avery doesn't agree, you won't come to my house?" Ben Schaffer mocked him.

"Yes." Elliot hadn't eaten dinner yet, so he didn't have the energy to argue with Ben Schaffer.

"You're entering the mode of apology? No wonder Avery is in a good mood. She kept smiling at me just now." Ben Schaffer patted Elliot on the shoulder, and said in a low voice, "It's worth it to have wronged you alone and be happy for your whole family.”

Just when Ben Schaffer was about to leave, Gwen came out of the room wearing pajamas. She was going to go to the dining room to find something to eat, but Layla said to her, “Auntie! Uncle Schaffer is here. He must be looking for you.” Gwen was stunned for a moment, then looked towards the door.

It happened that Ben Schaffer was also looking at her.

Gwen was wearing pajamas, her face turned upside down, and her hair was tied into a ball. She really had no image at all.

She was so hungry. She ate one meal yesterday and only one meal today. She was so hungry that she couldn't take it anymore.

“Gwen, you've slept for two days, should you have enough sleep?” Ben Schaffer walked up to her and looked at her face that seemed to be still awake, “Is it okay to play at my house tomorrow?”

At this time, Avery's cell phone rang.

Chapter 1606

Avery answered the phone, and Tammy's voice came: “Avery, you bring your children to my house tomorrow to play. I've rejected all relatives.”

Avery went to Ben Schaffer and Gwen's side Glancing at it and then she agreed immediately.

“Tomorrow we will go to Tammy's house and let Gwen go to Ben Schaffer's house.” Avery discussed with Elliot, “Ben Schaffer's parents want to see Gwen.” Elliot listened to Avery's arrangements.

Elliot: “Didn't you say that you have an injury on your head and don't want to go out?”

“It doesn't hurt that much today, and I can go to Tammy's house, so I don't have to look at it.” Avery said and asked Elliot to go to the dining room for dinner.

After Elliot left, Avery walked up to Ben Schaffer and Gwen and discussed with them: "Tammy called me just now and asked me to take the children to her house tomorrow. So..."

Gwen interrupted her, "Avery, let's go to Sister Tammy's house with you tomorrow. Otherwise I would go to Ben Schaffer's house alone, how embarrassing!"

Avery pulled her aside.

"Ben Schaffer told me just now that his parents want to see you. You should think about it tonight. If you go to Tammy's house with us tomorrow, then we will go to Ben Schaffer's house the day after tomorrow. Ben Schaffer specifically explained to me and I'm afraid you can't avoid calling you to his house."

Gwen frowned: "Today my agent called me and asked me to return to Bridgedale for training as soon as possible. Then I'll go to Ben Schaffer's house tomorrow. I'll leave after the day after tomorrow."

Avery: "Okay. You go to dinner first."

"Didn't my second brother go to dinner? I'll eat later. I'm afraid I'll go over and he will be embarrassed." Gwen said, walking to In front of Ben Schaffer, "I'm going to your house tomorrow. But not as a girlfriend, I didn't promise to be your girlfriend."

Ben Schaffer pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose and blushed: "It's just a New Year's greeting, you don't need to be so nervous."

Gwen said: "Oh, no matter how simple things are, if they come out of your mouth, they won't be simple anymore."

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Ben Schaffer: "I said why I've been so tired these past two days, it's because I have less fun arguing with you."

Gwen: "If I weigh three hundred pounds and have a toad face, Is there any fun?"

Ben Schaffer: "Gwen, just like your mouth, ordinary men really dare not marry

you.”

Gwen: “Who rarely gets married? When I’m rich, as long as I want, there will be more men than ordinary men. Come kneel and lick me.”

Ben Schaffer: “...”

Avery couldn’t help laughing.

Ben Schaffer was defeated and left with a sigh.

In the evening, after taking a bath, Avery helped Elliot to apply the medicine.

Elliot’s head injury was recovering well.

When Avery’s fingers touched his wound, Elliot said it didn’t hurt much anymore.

“Avery, you took Hayden to the hospital today, did you check your injury by the way? It’s better to take a film.” Elliot said, “Isn’t there a hospital near Tammy’s house? We’ll go to her house tomorrow and wait. After dinner, I’ll take you over to check.”

Avery remembered that Hayden said during the day that Elliot didn’t care about her.

She never felt that way. At least from the beginning to now, she has always felt his feelings for her.

“I really want to be beaten by you to have a concussion, and I’ve recovered now.”

Avery laughed at herself, “Let’s celebrate the New Year first!”

“Avery, I’m sorry.” Elliot blamed himself, “I’ll drink less alcohol in the future.”

“The problem is that you did it wrong.” Avery wiped the medicine for him and put it away.

“If I didn’t drink, maybe I could control myself.” Elliot explained.

The corners of her mouth twitched and she sneered: “You think too highly of yourself, whether you are drunk or not, as long as someone provokes you, you will be impulsive.”

“Really?” Elliot took a breath, “I beat Mike, why did you block him?”

“If Mike hit you first, maybe I’d block you too.”

“Just maybe?” Elliot replied to her. He was not satisfied, but soon, he said again,

“Whether you help me or not, I don’t need you to help me. Avery, if my punch seriously injured you, what would you like me to do to you?”

Chapter 1607

“You didn’t beat me seriously. You see I’m fine now.” Avery listened to his selfblaming tone, looked at his guilty eyes, and became more and more afraid to tell him about her illness.

Elliot: “Don’t block other men’s fists in the future. No one deserves this except children.”

“I see.” Avery did regret it.

Avery didn’t think about it that much when she blocked Mike’s fist. If she could have thought at the time that she had undergone surgery and could not have been hit hard, she would never have done that.

After turning off the lights, she lay in bed, unable to sleep.

Elliot fell asleep quickly. He played playing-cards at his uncle’s house for a day today. He said that he was very sleepy at the time and kept his spirits high.

Mainly, the people from his uncle’s side were strangers to him.

Besides, he didn’t like playing playing-cards much at all. He could play with acquaintances for a while, and it was boring to play with unfamiliar people.

Avery opened her eyes and looked into the dimly lit room, replaying what happened in the hospital today in her mind.

Her psychological endurance is actually quite strong, especially for birth, old age, sickness and death, she has already made sufficient psychological preparations.

She also knew very well what her illness was like.

Her current brain hemorrhage was caused by a severe blow, not a tumor, so she may not need a craniotomy.

Her eyes suddenly darkened before because the optic nerve had been compressed before, but she didn't find it, and the optic nerve never returned to normal.

–She thought about the worst, no matter how bad it was, her life was not threatened.

–Blindness at most.

–Blindness sounds scary, but it's actually not that scary.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

–Even if She's blind, She can restore light with a cornea transplant.

After sorting out the matter in her mind, she felt that there was no need to tell Elliot about it.

If Avery told him, Elliot would definitely feel that everything was caused by him, and he would definitely blame himself even more.

The next day, Avery got up early and went to the children's room to choose clothes for Layla.

“Mom, are you happy to go to Auntie Tammy's house today?” Layla, with long messy hair, sat beside the bed, and said leisurely, “I went to Uncle Mike's house before, and went to Uncle Eric's house, you both Not so positive.”

Avery was a little embarrassed when her daughter saw through her mind: “Auntie Tammy is my best friend.”

Avery: “Aren't Uncle Mike and Uncle Eric your best friend?”

“It's different. Tammy Auntie is my best friend, and your Uncle Mike and Uncle Eric are also my good friends, but they are not best friends.” Avery brought out a new dress and put it on for her daughter.

Layla: “Mom, if you say something like this, if Uncle Mike and Uncle Eric find out, they will be sad.”

Avery: “It’s better if you don’t tell them.”

“Then give me a kiss, and I’ll help you keep it a secret.” Layla demanded.

Avery immediately kissed her soft cheek.

Schaffer family.

Gwen came to pay New Year’s greetings with a generous gift.

When the two elders of the Schaffer family saw her, their eyes suddenly lit up.

Gwen’s hair was tied into a high ponytail, revealing a clean and confident face.

It was completely different from the last time they met.

The two elders had heard that Gwen was living in Elliot’s house now, so they assumed that Elliot had already recognized this sister.

They naturally hope that Ben Schaffer can form a family with Gwen.

“Uncle, aunt, Happy New Year.” Gwen said cautiously.

Chapter 1608

“Gwen, you are so beautiful now. I suddenly feel that my son is not worthy of you.”

Juniper complimented.

Ben Schaffer coughed sharply.

“Auntie, you’re joking, for things like relationships, the main thing is fate. There’s nothing worthy of it.” Gwen said politely.

“Gwen, what you said is really good. I think you and my son have a good relationship.” Juniper said with a wily attitude.

Gwen had a calm smile on her face: “Auntie, when do you think I will be popular?”

Juniper: “...”

Russell whispered to his wife: “Don’t talk nonsense, look What Gwen means is that I don’t look down on our son.”

Gwen heard Russell’s words clearly, and decided to ease the embarrassment:

“Uncle, no. I don’t look down on Ben Schaffer. Ben Schaffer is so good, he is not only rich, but...”

The three members of the Schaffer family stared at Gwen at the same time. They were waiting for her to continue complimenting.

But her brain was short-circuited. Apart from her wealth, she couldn’t think of any other advantages she could boast about.

“Anyway, he’s very rich, that’s enough.” Gwen forced her own words.

The two elders of the Schaffer family looked at their son with undisguised disappointment in their eyes.

They had the same idea as Gwen.

Ben Schaffer was nothing but money now.

Ben Schaffer was a little angry: “Gwen, how can you join my parents’ camp? The two of them told me, I’m already heartbroken...”

Gwen: “I thought I was complimenting you, you will be happy.”

Ben Schaffer: “You are exaggerating and demeaning! Don’t think I can’t hear it.”

Gwen shrugged helplessly: “If you have to think so, I can’t do anything about it.”

At 10:00 in the morning, Avery’s family came to Tammy’s house.

“Is Jun not here?” Avery didn’t see Jun, so she asked.

“He went to pay New Year’s greetings to his relatives. There were so many relatives in his family that his parents couldn’t come to pay New Year’s greetings.”

Tammy explained, “Avery, my nausea has been relieved a lot these past two days. I couldn’t help it this morning. I ate two bowls of porridge.”

“Even if you have a good appetite, you should eat less. Otherwise, what if you eat too much and vomit?” Avery said.

“Okay, I’ll eat less at noon.” Tammy pulled her and turned her around, “I heard that you were punched by Elliot, let me see...F*ck! It's serious! Ah!"

Tammy exclaimed when she saw the wound.

"Tammy, don't be surprised, be careful to scare the baby in your belly." Avery glanced at Elliot out of the corner of his eyes.

He was already starting to get embarrassed. Originally he was sitting and drinking tea with Thiago, but now his eyes are looking straight at them.

"The little guy in my stomach has just formed. How could it hear what we said?"

Tammy said nonchalantly, "Your injury is so serious, did you go to the hospital?"

"The doctor has seen it. I also applied the medicine. It looks serious, but it doesn't hurt anymore." Avery said this lightly, and shifted the topic to the baby again, "Do you want it to be a boy or a girl?"

Tammy: "Of course I hope it's a girl. What a beautiful girl! your daughter is cute and sensible! If I had a son and quarreled with me, I wouldn't be mad at him?"

Avery saw Hayden's face changed.

Tammy followed her line of sight, met Hayden's gloomy face, and immediately explained: "Hayden! Don't think about it! You are arguing with your father to protect your mother, if I have such a good son, I would wake up laughing in my dreams."

At this time, Elliot said, "Hayden has always been my pride."

Hayden said, "Unfortunately, you are not my pride."

Chapter 1609

The father and son just got tough in front of someone else's house.

Hayden felt that it didn't matter, he had always been ruthless when he spoke to Elliot.

Elliot was a little embarrassed.

Being so disrespectful to his son in front of outsiders... that's all, his son has never given him face, he'll just get used to it.

Seeing Elliot's embarrassment, Thiago comforted: "This is the case with families that have a son. It will be fine when he is older." After a pause, Thiago continued, "My in-laws told me that Jun was always naughty when he was a child. The two still fight often. How good are you now?"

Before Elliot could speak, Thiago added: "But I still think my daughter is good. Our little sweets have always been our family's pistachios since she was a child. She didn't make us angry. She's very good!"

Elliot: "My daughter Layla is also very good."

"I can see it. Your daughter is not only good, but also versatile. It's amazing. I heard that her academic performance is also very good."

Elliot said, "Don't be envious, when Tammy has a daughter, maybe she will be so good."

Thiago said, "Although my daughter is good, I still hope she can have a son..."

"Dad! New Year's Eve, please don't make me angry." Tammy frowned.

"Why did I make you angry when you gave birth to a son?" Thiago smiled, "Of course, I'm also happy when you give birth to a daughter. I'm happy with anything you have, haha."

Avery comforted Tammy in a low voice: "You don't need to be angry with your father. The old people are all thinking of the older generation, you can't change their thinking, and they won't treat you with their ideas."

"I know, it just sounds annoying." Tammy murmured softly, "Don't they regret not having a son? Besides, I'm not a tool person to give birth to a child."

Avery: "Why does your father treat you as a tool for giving birth? Don't think too much about it. You are pregnant now, so you need to maintain a stable mood."

Tammy: "Aren't you angry that Elliot beat you up like this? If Jun beat me up like this, I'd have to peel him off. Even if it wasn't intentional, it wouldn't work."

Avery: "Elliot apologized to me."

Tammy: "What's the use of apology, you're really soft."

"You're hard-mouthed. If it really happened to you, you wouldn't really take the skin off." Avery pierced her words, "Yesterday he went to my uncle's house and played playing-cards all day. He took a bath and fell asleep at night. He said that playing playing-cards is more tiring than shopping outside."

Tammy said, "Hahaha! Do you want me to arrange a game for him? Yes. I will accompany him to fight. I'll call two people to fight after dinner!"

Avery: "Yes."

Tammy: "Would you like to ask him first, if he doesn't "

"I told him to hit them. He has been listening to me these days." Avery glanced at Elliot, "My head injury is not good for a day, and he won't feel at ease for a day."

Tammy: "Understood. Then I'll make arrangements later. What about you? Do you want to fight?"

"I want to watch the child. Robert is more noisy now." Avery said.

Tammy: "I think Robert is very good."

Tammy's voice was settled, and Robert picked up the small teapot on the coffee table. Because he couldn't hold it firmly, the teapot accidentally fell to the ground.

Avery sighed: "I said it, he didn't look at him for a while, and he started making trouble."

"Hahaha! Children are curious about everything, so it's not making trouble. I think it's cute." Tammy took the lead and walked in front of Robert, "Robert baby, Auntie Tammy will take you to get a lighter teapot. This teapot is too heavy!"

Thiago loves to drink tea and has a collection of tea sets at home.

Robert immediately followed Tammy to find the teapot.

Avery sighed helplessly and said to her daughter, "Auntie Tammy is too used to your brother."

Layla: "Because Auntie Tammy is our godmother. Of course she spoils us."

Avery: "Well, your father will call you later. Mom will play playing-cards with you."

"Mom, if you want to play playing-cards, you can play it too! My brother and I can bring Robert to play." Layla said.

Avery: "Mom isn't very good at playing playing-cards."

Layla: "It's fine if you don't know how to play playing-cards. If it's a big deal, just lose some money. I'll give you all my New Year's money." Layla said proudly, and from her small bag, Take out the red envelope that Tammy gave today.

Chapter 1610

Avery was so happy that she was dizzy.

At lunch, Jun returned from his New Year's greetings.

"I said that there are distinguished guests at my house today, and they don't dare to keep me, hahaha!" Jun sat down beside Tammy with an expression of 'how witty I am'.

Tammy said, "Call two people to play playing-cards with Elliot later. I am one, he is the other, and I will call for two more powerful players."

Jun: "Are you sure you can sit for a long time? Or me? Come on!"

Tammy: "If you go, you must have deliberately poured water on him. I won't let you go! I want to win his money!"

Jun: "Tammy, Brother Elliot is a guest today..."

Tammy: "Avery and the three children are the guests, and he was brought by Avery."

Jun closed his mouth.

If he goes on, he will make Elliot more embarrassed.

After lunch, Jun called for two people to play cards with Elliot.

Elliot knew that this was Avery's game, so he happily went to the poker table.

Avery watched Elliot's play for a while by his side, and found that he was skilled, but... he was not very lucky.

He can't always get a good card.

Avery couldn't help saying to Tammy, "Tammy, your wish will definitely come true.

His hands are too dark haha!"

"Avery, your husband lost money, are you so happy?" Jun answered. He sat beside Tammy and watched Tammy play cards.

"As long as Tammy is happy, as long as she can lose." Avery said with a smile, then walked to the sofa next to her and sat down.

Robert fell asleep.

Layla took Hayden to play outside. She was not worried at all because there were bodyguards with her.

She took out a magazine from the beside the sofa. It was a travel magazine. The picture on the cover was very beautiful, which instantly attracted her.

At 2:00 in the afternoon, Avery fell asleep on the sofa.

After a while, Robert woke up, crying.

Jun was afraid that Robert would wake Avery to sleep, so he immediately carried Robert upstairs and took him to play.

Fortunately, Robert was very generous, so Jun gave him something to play with, and he stopped crying.

"Robert is such a good baby. Uncle brought you baby biscuits. Your auntie Tammy went to buy it for you last night." Jun quickly took the baby biscuits and opened them.

Seeing the baby biscuits, Robert immediately put down the toy in his hand.

Jun laughed as he watched Robert reach into the cookie box and skillfully grab the biscuits to eat.

Jun: "Robert, you are so satisfied."

Robert concentrated on eating biscuits and didn't answer.

"Robert, do you like your father or your mother most?" Jun deliberately chatted with him and made fun of him.

Robert finished eating the biscuits in his hand, and replied in a milky voice:

"Mom."

"Then do you like mom or sister the most?"

Robert opened his eyes as bright as black gems, then answered: "Sister."

Chapter 1611

Jun thumped the bed and laughed: "If your mother heard your answer, she would be heartbroken."

Robert didn't know what he was talking about, so he stared blankly at him, and then he grabbed the small biscuits to eat.

After a while, Avery came upstairs.

Jun told Avery what happened just now, and Avery explained with a smile: "he still doesn't understand such a complicated question. He can only understand whether to eat or drink, this kind of simple. "

"I see. No wonder Robert looked at me like a fool when I was laughing just now."

Jun blushed.

"Hahaha, he doesn't have so many inner dramas yet!" Avery put away the biscuits in Robert's hand, and then picked up his son, "Let's go down and play!"

Avery went downstairs, and Elliot immediately looked at her: "Avery, why don't you come and play! I'll take the child."

Tammy laughed: "Avery said that you want to sleep when you play cards. Is the hypnotic effect so good?"

"Once you lose, what should you do if you get angry?" Elliot told the truth, "Forget it, let me play. Avery comes up, and I don't dare to mess with your cards."

"I really don't like listening to you, the money I won. I won it all by my strength."

Tammy was indignant, "I'm an expert in playing playing-cards!"

Jun said, "Tammy, why don't I play! You've been sitting for a long time, so you should be tired. You go lie down and rest for a while."

Tammy's interest was almost defeated by Elliot, so she stood up from the chair:

"Jun, you are not allowed to let the water go! You will sleep on the sofa tonight or on the bed, You can figure it out yourself!"

Mary, who had been watching Elliot playing cards, interjected at this time:

"Tammy, Elliot has indeed not played your cards many times. You can win money, and it's all because of him."

Tammy : "..."

Tammy was a little sleepy at first, but after listening to her mother's words, she suddenly felt refreshed.

"Tammy, come and eat some fruit." Avery called her over.

"Avery, didn't you sleep last night? It's so noisy here, how can you sleep at noon?"

Tammy walked over to her and sat down, taking the cut fruit to eat.

Avery: "I slept pretty well last night. Maybe I didn't work recently, so I slept a little too much."

"Me too! You guys are here today, so I'm not very sleepy. I'll definitely have to take a nap if I change my usual schedule." Tammy said.

"Who bought your travel magazine? It's pretty good." Avery picked up the magazine and showed it to Tammy.

Tammy: "My mom ordered it. My mom likes to travel. She has a sister group, and when my dad is busy, she goes out with the sister group."

In the evening, Avery's family returned home.

Avery asked Elliot to take a bath.

"Washing so early?" Elliot glanced at the time, it wasn't 8 p.m.

Avery: "You said you were sleepy during the day, aren't you sleepy now?"

"You won't be so sleepy after the poker table. Where did Layla and Hayden go during the day today?" Elliot asked.

Avery: "I went to a nearby wetland park to play. There were many wild birds in that park. They took a lot of photos. The park was very big. They entered through the main entrance, exited through the other door, and went far away."

Elliot: "Then they were probably tired from walking today."

"Layla was tired from walking, Hayden was okay." Avery said this, and immediately walked towards Robert who was pulling Layla to play, "Robert, mother wanted to play you. Your sister is too tired today. I asked her to take a bath and rest."

Layla shrugged, "My brother asked me to play with him with his toys. His toys are too childish, and my brother doesn't want to play with his toys with him."

Avery: "Well, Layla go and take a shower!"

"Mom, I want You help me take a bath. I'm so tired woohoo!" Layla grabbed Avery's arm and acted like a spoiled child.

Elliot immediately came over and picked Robert up: "Avery, you go and take Layla for a bath! I'll take Robert."

Robert wanted to play with toys and played with Elliot for a while.

After that Avery took Layla to take a bath.

Robert struggled to get to the ground, picked up his little ball, and handed it to Elliot.

Elliot couldn't understand what Robert meant, so he asked Mrs. Cooper.

"He wants you to throw the ball out, and he picks it up." Mrs. Cooper explained.

Elliot suddenly thought of others raising pet dogs and playing such childish games with pet dogs.

Others are the owner throwing the ball out, let the dog take it back.

Unexpectedly, Robert also likes to play this. However, he played the role of a dog.

Elliot glanced at his son helplessly, then threw the ball out.

The little guy immediately pouted his little butt and ran to pick up the ball.

After a while, Ben Schaffer sent Gwen back.

Ben Schaffer saw their father and son playing with a ball, and couldn't help but tease: "It's so warm and touching! Elliot, you're taking your child to walk the dog better than my mother."

Elliot's face suddenly turned gloomy.

"Ben Schaffer, you can call Elliot a dog, but you can't call Robert a dog." Gwen's face was colder than Elliot, "I said why I don't like you so much, because I hate it when you open your mouth. "

After Gwen finished speaking, she hurried back to the guest room.

Ben Schaffer watched her back disappear in front of his eyes, with a confused and aggrieved face: "Your sister's temper is too big? What I said to you just now was a joke... How could she take it seriously. The two of us often joke like this."

Elliot's face was still solemn: "How can you say my son is a dog?"

Ben Schaffer opened his mouth, trying to explain that he didn't want to insult Robert.

Elliot: "My son is much cuter than a dog."

Ben Schaffer: "...Goodbye!" Just talk, why do you suddenly dazzle your son?

After Ben Schaffer left, Mrs. Cooper took Robert to take a bath.

Elliot went upstairs.

Layla and Hayden were already asleep.

Avery took pajamas in the master bedroom, ready to take a bath.

Seeing Elliot come in, Avery immediately gave him his pajamas: "How does it feel to play with Robert? I can hear Robert's laughter from upstairs."

"No wonder Hayden doesn't want to play with Robert. Childish." Elliot couldn't imagine himself throwing the ball with Robert for half an hour, "It's just my own son, so I'm very happy."

"Well, go and take a shower. After the bath, I have something to say." Avery pushed him to the bathroom.

Elliot stood at the door of the bathroom and looked at her: "Can you tell me in advance?"

Avery: "No. Go and wash! I'm a little tired."

Elliot entered the bathroom and closed the bathroom door.

Because Avery said she was a little tired, Elliot came out of the shower within 15 minutes.

Seeing that the water droplets on his body were not dry, Avery immediately wiped him with a dry towel.

"It's hard not to wash your hair these days, isn't it?" Avery asked.

Elliot: "Well, when can I wash? My wound doesn't hurt anymore."

Avery: "Wait a few more days."

"Then I won't go out next." Elliot couldn't stand his image anymore.

Avery: "You go to work on the seventh day of the first lunar month, right?"

"You want me to go to work so much?" Elliot planned to go to work after the Lantern Festival.

“You don’t go to work on the seventh day of the first day?” Avery looked at him with a puzzled face. “If you don’t go to work on the seventh day of the new year, then you will be home alone.”

Chapter 1613

Elliot: “Avery, are you going to go to work on the seventh day of the first year? Your head injury is much more serious than mine, do you think I can let you go to work?”

“I won’t go to work. I made an appointment with Hayden, let’s go on a tour.” Avery told him her plan, “When you go to work, I’ll take my son to play.”

Elliot looked abandoned in surprise: “You guys go on a tour, don’t you take me?”

Elliot has already rested and it’s been half a year, and if he’s on a tour for a few more days, the company will not go bankrupt.

“My daughter isn’t going either. My daughter wants to play with Eric for a few days.” Avery explained.

Elliot raised her eyebrows high: “What’s wrong with letting me on a tour for a few more days? Why don’t you plan me in your itinerary?”

“Then you and your daughter go on a tour with Eric.” Avery said calmly, “You also know that my son doesn’t want to travel with you. If he knew you were going, he would definitely not want to go out to travel.”

Elliot took a deep breath.

“Elliot, this time it was my son who took the initiative and asked me to go out with him.” Avery continued, “I don’t want to spoil him.”

Avery refused so bluntly, how could Elliot have the nerve to forcibly spoil their fun.

“Okay, since Hayden took the initiative to travel with you, let’s go!” Elliot quickly adjusted his emotions, “Where are you going to travel? How long are you going to travel?”

“Don’t go too far, just a week. then Hayden will start school.”

“Mm.” Elliot pondered for a few seconds, and said, “Since I’m superfluous, then I’ll go to work!”

Avery: “If you don’t want to go to work, you can play with Robert at home. “

“I can play with him when I come back from work at night.” Elliot made a decision.

“After playing for so long, it’s time to calm down.”

“Well. I’m going to take a shower first.” Avery took her pajamas and walked towards the bathroom.

About half an hour later, she came out of the bathroom.

Elliot was already asleep.

Looking at Elliot’s peaceful sleeping face, Avery couldn’t help picking up her phone, took a photo, and sent it to Tammy: [Play playing-cards during the day, and sleep on the bed at night. It Works better than sleeping pills.]

Tammy: [Hahaha! He is somewhat comical! My husband and I are having supper. Do you want to continue the appointment tomorrow? If you don’t want to go out, I can bring someone to your house to fight.]

Avery: [When he wakes up, I will ask him how to arrange it.]

Tammy: [Good! Gwen went to Ben Schaffer’s house today, is there any progress? I sent her a message and she didn’t reply!]

Avery: [She’ll leave tomorrow, maybe she’s sleeping!]

Tammy: [She is really busy now, and she plans to invite her to play. I don’t know when the next meeting will be.]

After chatting with Tammy, Avery came out of the room and planned to see Gwen. If Gwen slept, Avery won’t disturb her and if she didn’t sleep, she could chat with her.

Avery came to the door of the guest room and hesitated for a while when she was about to knock on the door.

–If Gwen fell asleep, knocking on the door would wake her up.

But if she go in directly without knocking on the door, she will look like a pervert.

After tangled for a while, the door suddenly opened.

Gwen was holding an empty water glass in her hand, ready to come out to get some water to drink.

Seeing Avery standing at the door, she was surprised, and then pulled her into the room with a smile.

“Avery, why are you here? Are you looking for me?” Gwen put down the empty water glass, but she was no longer thirsty.

“You’re leaving tomorrow, and you didn’t have a good time when you came back this time.” Avery looked at her packed suitcase, “Tammy sent you a message just now.”

“Oh, I’m packing. I didn’t look at my phone. Mrs. Scarlet prepared a lot of food for me and filled my suitcase.” Gwen smiled and said, “It feels good to have someone in pain.”

Avery: “Then come back when you have time.”

Chapter 1614

Gwen: “Of course. As long as you don’t dislike me, I will definitely come back.”

Avery asked, “How could we dislike you? You went to Ben Schaffer’s house today, are you okay?”

“Hahaha, it’s alright! I was the only guest at his house today. Except for being a little bored, there was no other problem.” Gwen recalled what happened today, “His parents told me about his scandals from childhood to adulthood, He’s about to faint hahaha!”

“What’s wrong with Ben Schaffer?” Avery asked curiously.

“For example, when he was ten years old, he even peed his pants. He also secretly wore his mother’s high heels. When he wrote a love letter to a girl, he stole his mother’s lipstick and drew hearts on the love letter...” Gwen smiled and turned back and forth.

Avery sighed: “Ben Schaffer’s life when he was a child was really colorful.”

Gwen: “I don’t think he was very smart when he was a child. My second brother is definitely not like that.”

“No one has told me about your second brother’s childhood’s scandal. Every elder mentioned him and said he was very good...but it was also very boring.”

Avery thought that Ben Schaffer was more interesting.

“My second brother’s good looks hang Ben Schaffer. Just because of this, women will choose my second brother instead of Ben Schaffer.” Gwen now pays more attention to a man’s appearance.

Avery: “Ben Schaffer doesn’t look bad.”

Gwen: “Ordinary! He didn’t inherit his mother’s beauty gene at all.”

Avery: “Inheritance is metaphysics.”

“Yeah! If I’m with him, the child will look like him, I’m going to die of anger.” Gwen said these words quickly.

Avery couldn’t help laughing and said, “Although you always pick on Ben Schaffer’s thorns, you still like him.”

Gwen sighed, “One thing! It’s mainly because other than him, no other man is chasing me. Why isn’t a decent handsome guy chasing me for a beautiful woman like me?”

Gwen was in Bridgedale every day. With busy training, She had no chance to met strangers, and had no time to fall in love.

Avery: "If you make it to the top three in the final, you'll know a lot of people."

Gwen: "Well, I'd better focus on the competition first. I'll talk about other things later."

.....

In a blink of an eye, it was the seventh day.

The Spring Festival was completely over for office workers.

In the morning, Eric came over and picked up Layla.

Afterwards, Avery took her and Hayden's luggage and prepared to go out.

Elliot stood alone in the huge living room, watching them leave.

"Sir, a week has passed quickly. They will be back soon." Mrs. Cooper hugged Robert and persuaded.

After the car drove out of the yard, Elliot replied, "Hayden hates me more and more."

Mrs. Cooper: "It will be fine when he grows up."

"Why do you all say that?" Elliot said indifferently.

Mrs. Cooper: "In the process of growing up, people will gradually understand the efforts of their parents, and will gradually understand the value of family. If he has children in the future, he will understand more thoroughly."

Elliot: "I don't dare to ask for it."

Civil Affairs Bureau.

Today was the first day of work, and many new people come to collect the certificate.

Wesley and Shea waited in line for a while, and finally got their marriage certificate.

After getting the freshly released marriage certificate, Shea immediately took a photo and sent the photo to Elliot.

She came to get the certificate from Wesley without telling Elliot.

She don't know if Elliot will be angry.

But it's no use getting angry now.

The phone rang, Elliot took out his phone and saw the marriage certificate sent by Shea.

Chapter 1615

Elliot zoomed in on the picture, and after seeing what was going on, he frowned.

He dialed Wesley.

Wesley took it in seconds.

Elliot scolded angrily, "Wesley, you are like a despicable villain now! I always thought you wouldn't do such an unprofessional thing, but I didn't expect..."

Wesley interrupted him, "You're right. You can scold me, but don't blame Shea."

Elliot's breathing became heavier and his teeth were clenched.

"Today is Valentine's Day, Shea wanted to get the certificate today, so I agreed to her." Wesley explained the reason for their actions, "We came to the Civil Affairs Bureau to line up at six this morning."

Elliot's anger was swallowed back in his stomach.

Everyone has the right to pursue happiness.

Shea also has.

If this matter was really brought up by Shea, what's the use of Elliot blaming Wesley.

"Wesley, did my brother call you?" Shea's voice came from the other side of the phone.

Elliot was in a fit of anger now, and in order to prevent himself from saying more exaggerated words, he hung up the phone.

He needed to calm down.

In the past few days, Shea had been with Wesley. They went skiing and didn't come back until last night.

And because it was too late last night, she didn't come back and went directly to Wesley's house.

Shea had Wesley, and now Elliot was no longer needed.

Avery had reminded him a long time ago to face up to this emotion.

Mrs. Scarlet came over and asked, "Sir, what happened to Shea and Wesley?"

Mrs. Scarlet heard Elliot calling out Wesley's name just now, so she pricked up her ears and listened.

"They got the marriage certificate." Elliot said the result, "They didn't tell me in advance, they went to get the certificate today."

When Mrs. Scarlet heard the words, her face changed slightly: "Shea is really ignorant. It's too willful! How can she hide important things from us?"

Elliot questioned, "Are you sure Shea didn't tell you in advance? I think you have packed her luggage."

Mrs. Scarlet quickly explained: "She didn't tell me to get a certificate from Wesley. I don't think you objected to her going to Wesley's house during the New Year, so I don't think you would object to their marriage. Shea told me more than once that she wanted to marry Wesley. This is the first time I saw it. She is so persistent about one thing."

Elliot believed this explanation.

Elliot: "Today is Valentine's Day, so they chose to get the certificate today."

"It's quite romantic." Mrs. Scarlet laughed dumbly, "Sir, since they have already received the certificate, don't be angry. With you here, Wesley Don't dare to bully Shea. Besides, with Wesley taking care of Shea, you can relax too."

Ellot: "I never felt that Shea was a burden."

Mrs. Scarlet explained, "I didn't mean that. I think Shea is a burden. Shea and Wesley may be happier together. It's like you are happiest when you are with Avery and your three children."

After Mrs. Scarlet said this, Elliot's anger disappeared halfway.

Although Elliot can take care of Shea, he has Avery and three children, so the energy allocated to Shea is definitely not as much as before.

Shea may feel more secure with Wesley.

...

At 10:00 a.m., Elliot came to the company. This was the first time he has returned to the company after he transferred his shares last year and quit Sterling Group. Everyone knows that Elliot will come to the company today, so he came earlier.

Chapter 1616

Elliot entered the first floor of the building. All the employees on the first floor shouted in unison:

"Mr. Foster good morning!"

"Mr. Foster Happy New Year!"

"Welcome to the return of President Foster!"

"Boss, it's Mr. Schaffer who asked us to shout slogans to welcome you." The vice president came over and explained.

Elliot: "I see. Is he here?"

The vice president said, "Here. I'll be waiting for you in your office. Do you think we should have a meeting first, or send red envelopes to employees first?"

Elliot: "Send red envelopes first. Let's go!"

"Boss, everyone is looking forward to seeing you, so this year's red envelopes, can you personally send them out?" The vice president suggested.

Elliot: "Yeah."

He strode towards the elevator. When he came to the office, he saw Ben Schaffer who was drinking coffee at a glance.

Ben Schaffer gestured to the big bag with red envelopes on the table with his eyes and said, "The vice president told me that the employees below are crying out to see you, so you will send the red envelopes this year."

"Got it." Elliot walked to the desk and sit down there.

The familiar feeling returned to the body little by little.

His career, his ambitions, all came to the fore.

Ben Schaffer sighed, "I stayed up late last night talking to your sister on the phone, and now I can't open my sleepy eyes. The long-distance relationship is really hard. It's even harder than the coffee I drink now. Gwen is free every day at noon, I can only stay up all night to call her."

Elliot was deeply moved by his spirit: "She has nothing now, you chase her so hard, don't you think she can really become a supermodel? She didn't become a supermodel..."

"Elliot, you think me too superficially. I don't want her to become a supermodel at all... If she becomes a supermodel and makes a lot of money, do you think she can still like me? Now I have no fame, no money, and not much knowledge, so I have a money filter for me."

"Your analysis is good." Elliot said sharply, "I can see that you have been PUA by Gwen during this period of time."

"What do you mean? I was PUA by her?" Ben Schaffer put down his coffee cup with a 'bang', "Why didn't I find out?"

Elliot narrowed his eagle eyes: "Why are you so humble as the chief financial officer of Sterling Group? Gwen will be a supermodel in the future, she is just a beautiful vase in front of you."

Ben Schaffer couldn't help laughing. And said, "She's your own sister, why do you say that to her? Besides, if I'm being PUA like this, I think you're being PUA by Avery too. You are the big boss of the dignified Sterling Group. She is just a doctor, so why do you suffer from her anger?"

Elliot: "Since you don't listen to my advice, then you can continue to endure it."

Ben Schaffer asked, "Hey, when did you advise me? Do you want me to give up Gwen? But my parents like her very much."

Elliot: "You are looking for a wife yourself, not for your parents."

"But I also like her very much." Ben Schaffer blushed, "Gwen is quite unique.

Every time she hits me, I feel refreshed, more effective than taking tonics."

Elliot raised his brows and questioned. "You've already started taking tonics?"

Ben Schaffer: "Aren't we talking about Gwen? Can your focus not go astray?"

"I think your taking tonics is more serious." Elliot tapped his fingers on the table, "You... can't do it?"

"No! I didn't take tonics. It's my mother who thinks I should make up at my age.

She stewed me some strange soups that I don't know what herbs were put in it, and it was very refreshing to drink." Ben Schaffer said here, his face With a smirk,

"Why don't I ask my mother to cook it for you next time?"

"No, I'm fine." Elliot rejected his kindness.

"By the way, I almost forgot to tell you something important!" The smile on Ben Schaffer's face disappeared, and he suddenly became serious.

Chapter 1617

"Wonder Technologies intends to be listed in Bridgedale. Their application report has been submitted to the Aryadelle Securities Regulatory Commission." Elliot looked at him, puzzled: "I asked you to go to Bridgedale before, At that time, I hadn't heard any rumors. It's only been ten days, and they have already prepared everything?"

–It has to say that their movements were too fast.

–Based on this calculation, they were suspected of deliberately concealing the news that they were going to be listed.

–If it is going through the normal listing process, why cover it up?

–What have they done privately in the past few days?

“Elliot, let’s send red envelopes to the employees first! Let’s check the information they submitted later.” Ben Schaffer glanced at the time, it was 10:30 a.m.

If he doesn’t send red envelopes again, he doesn’t know if he can finish it in the morning.

...

Avery took Hayden to the tourist Cafjell, which was relatively close to Aryadelle.

There were mountains, seas and beautiful scenery here. But they were not here to travel.

After the two came to Cafjell, they went straight to the hospital.

Avery handed over his medical records to the doctor.

The doctor arranged for her to go for an examination after reading her medical records and the examination reports of the previous days.

“Ms. Tate, why did you come here for treatment? The medical level in Avonsville is obviously more advanced than ours.” The doctor gave her an order and asked.

Avery: “it’s just a small operation, I don’t want to worry my family.”

“Oh, it’s a pity you can’t operate on yourself. For you, it’s a small operation, but for an ordinary doctor, it’s not a small operation. ” The doctor smiled wryly, “You have to be hospitalized, I will give you a hospitalization order, you go for an examination, and your son goes to the hospital.”

Avery knew that she was going to be hospitalized.

Even if the craniotomy is not performed and only puncture and drainage are performed, the patient must be kept in the hospital for observation.

But she definitely couldn't stay in the ward all the time, and Elliot would definitely make a video call for her at night.

"I'll do it with my son later." Avery didn't want to separate from Hayden.

"Then go check it out first. Let's see how the condition has developed now." The doctor said.

Avery: "Well."

She took her medicine on time these days.

In order not to let Elliot find out, she always got up early in the morning to take medicine, and then secretly took medicine at noon and at night when Elliot was playing with the children.

Because of taking the medicine, her body has not felt unwell these days.

But the CT scan showed that the blood accumulation in her brain not only did not decrease at all, but showed signs of increasing.

She had to be hospitalized immediately for surgery.

After the inpatient operation, Avery looked solemn: "Hayden, your father may call over the video call at any time. After my operation, I will not be able to receive the video call for at least several hours."

"If he calls the video call, I will come and take it." Hayden now just wants her mother to receive treatment with peace of mind and not be affected by other things.

Even if Elliot knew about his mother's condition and made Elliot feel guilty, it would be better than if his mother's condition continued to deteriorate.

"If he calls, don't pick it up in the ward when you pick up the video call. It's better not to pick it up from the hospital. Otherwise, he will be suspicious." Avery said.

"Mom, don't think so much. I will adapt accordingly." Hayden reassured her.

“Well. Mom’s illness is not serious. As long as the blood in the brain is cleaned up, it will be fine.” Avery did not forget to comfort his son.

Hayden is not as optimistic as she is: “It’s only been less than half a year since your last operation... If you hadn’t gotten sick earlier, this time shouldn’t be so serious. Should you be more careful in the future?”

Chapter 1618

Avery said: “It’s hard to say. But don’t be so pessimistic. Mom will just be more careful in the future.”

Avonsville.

After Elliot sent the red envelopes to the employees, it was past twelve noon.

Ben Schaffer called him to have lunch together.

He held the phone, as if he hadn’t heard Ben Schaffer’s words.

“What are you looking at? Did your wife send you a message?” Ben Schaffer asked, looking at Elliot’s phone screen.

Avery did send a message to Elliot.

When they arrived in Cafjell, they sent Elliot a message of safety.

Also posted two photos of them in Cafjell.

The text message Avery sent made him unhappy.

Avery texted: [I keep sending you messages, my son is not happy. So I probably won’t be texting you very often. I came out to play with my son, so his happiness should be put first. Let’s talk when I get back.]

What Avery means is that she wants to cut off contact with her son during the few days she is traveling with her son?

This made Elliot very unhappy.

She just doesn’t take him out to play, and even disconnect from him.

“Hayden’s stinky face looks just like you. You sometimes lose your temper, just like Hayden’s expression.” Ben Schaffer’s eyes fell on the photo of Hayden and Avery, “Elliot, I suspect that your son was sent by God to Punish your bad temper.”

Elliot put away the phone: “My bad temper was cured by Avery and Hayden is here to collect debts.”

Ben Schaffer: “Hahaha! Let’s go eat first! Hayden has been busy. He hasn’t had a good rest in his studies, so let him have a good time for a few days!”

Elliot: “Well.”

In the Afternoon.

Elliot obtained various information photos submitted by Wonder Technologies to the Aryadelle Securities Regulatory Commission. When he was looking at the materials, Ben Schaffer was talking to someone on the phone beside him.

Ben Schaffer was too lazy to read those dense texts, and it was more convenient to ask acquaintances of the ASRC directly on the phone.

“They are more eager to go public this time, and they are relatively low-key. Our boss speaks directly, and we must do a good job of reviewing. In addition, their company changed the legal person...” The person on the other end of the phone said.

“Changed the legal person? When did they change the legal person?” When Ben Schaffer asked this sentence, Elliot’s eyes turned to him.

“In the information I gave you, it was written that the legal person was Wanda, but now she has become a woman named Sofia. This woman is older than Wanda, and I don’t know why.”

Ben Schaffer heard this and walked quickly towards Elliot.

Elliot found the changed legal person in the company information: Sofia.

With a 'bang', Elliot patted the phone on the table.

"Elliot, Sofia is mostly used. Sofia is a person who has not attended school for a few days. She doesn't understand anything. How could she understand what a legal person means." Ben Schaffer analyzed, "Wonder Technologies definitely has a big problem. If the legal person is not replaced, it is estimated that there is no way to pass the security review. Now Wanda has replaced the legal person with your biological mother, so that you want to cover the successful listing of Wonder Technologies?"

"Wanda is dreaming." Elliot scolded coldly, "No matter who she replaces the legal person with, it is impossible for me to let her plan succeed."

"Now the Securities Regulatory Commission is conducting a security review of Wonder Technologies, let's wait for the results. I think Sofia probably doesn't know anything, otherwise you are now Call her to ask?" Ben Schaffer pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose.

Elliot gritted his teeth and picked up the phone.

Ben Schaffer felt dry: "I'm going to buy two cups of coffee."

Chapter 1619

Sofia received a call from Elliot, very surprised and very happy.

"Elliot..."

She spoke, but Elliot interrupted her immediately: "Don't call me!"

Sofia didn't know what happened, but she could feel that Elliot was very angry:

"What's the matter? Did I make a mistake? "

Did you know that you are now a legal person of Wonder Technologies?" Elliot took a deep breath after listening to her aggrieved and innocent tone.

Maybe as Ben Schaffer said, Sofia didn't know what happened.

Wanda is as cunning as a fox. She has so many ways to deceive Sofia.

“Elliot, what are you talking about, why can’t I understand? I don’t know what happened, but I can tell you the truth... I used to work as a cleaner at Wonder Technologies.” Sofia realized something very serious happened, so she confessed everything, “Wanda asked me to sign some documents last year... those documents... I didn’t read them carefully...”

“You didn’t look carefully, you dare to sign?!” Elliot was furious.

“I...I don’t know much. She said that she transferred a foreign company to my name first, and then gave me some benefits...” Sofia doesn’t quite remember what Wanda said at that time.

She only remembered that Wanda said she would give her 10 million in cash and a villa in the city center.

She was ashamed to say it. If Elliot knew, Elliot would definitely be more angry.

“Since you and Wanda have reached a cooperation, then you can cooperate with her!” After Elliot finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Before the New Year, he met Sofia alone, and Sofia did not tell him this at the time.

As a result, after the Spring Festival, such a sensational incident broke out, which was really a ‘surprise’.

Facing the hung up call, Sofia was stunned.

Knowing that such a big thing would happen, how dare she sign those documents!

It’s all Wanda’s fault for deceiving her!

She dialed Elliot’s number again and wanted to explain it to him, but what came was a cold system prompt: Sorry, the number you dialed is temporarily unavailable!

She was blocked by Elliot.

Elliot seldom blocks others, because his number is only available to people who are very close.

He was extremely disappointed with Sofia.

From the very beginning, she was on the enemy's side.

Deception has always been with her, and lies have always been with her.

Elliot was deceived by her seemingly simple illusion.

Sofia was very flustered and very uncomfortable. She dialed Wanda's number and wanted to ask what happened to Wanda.

What they said at the beginning was clearly not what happened now.

Wanda answered her call with a pleasant tone: "Sofia, did you have a good New Year? I saw the news that you went to your son's house for the New Year."

"Wanda! How could I become a legal person of Wonder Technologies? What are you doing? Are you trying to hurt me?" Sofia said in a rage.

Wanda laughed: "Did Elliot look for you? His news is really well-informed! The country is indeed his world."

"What do you want to do? " Sofia roared.

"Who wants your life! Don't put gold on your face. If you weren't Elliot's biological mother, you wouldn't be able to live in a five-star hotel in your life, let alone carry a Hermes bag."

Sofia's eyes were red and her cheeks were hot.

Chapter 1620

Wanda can't really be blamed for this matter.

If it wasn't for her interests and wanting to recognize Elliot, she would not be used by Wanda at all.

"I'm the legal person of your company now, what do you want to do with this?"

Sofia couldn't help shaking, "Will I go to jail?!"

“It depends on your son.” Wanda laughed out loud, “ If you hug your son’s thigh tightly, nothing will happen. If your son doesn’t care about you, then you will be miserable!”

After Wanda finished speaking, she hung up the phone.

Sofia listened to the beeping and disconnecting sound from the phone, her ankles softened and she almost fell down.

She held on to the wall and stood firm.

Elliot has blocked her, and Elliot will never care about her.

.....

Cafjell.

Avery’s cell phone rang.

Hayden thought it was Elliot who was calling, and his face suddenly turned cold.

His mother just had surgery and was still in a coma.

He picked up his mother’s mobile phone and saw the words ‘Sofia’ on the screen.

After thinking for a while, Hayden answered the phone.

“Avery, I made a mistake. Elliot is ignoring me now. Can you help me? I don’t know what to do, I’m scared now... Wanda said I’m going to jail.” Sofia’s brain was in a mess, and she choked up when she spoke.

Hayden didn’t know what happened, but when Sofia asked her mother for help, her brows naturally wrinkled.

Mom was lying on the hospital bed now, and Hayden didn’t want anyone to disturb Mom with anything.

“My mother is not available.” Hayden said lightly, “You have something to do to find Elliot, don’t disturb my mother.”

Sofia was stunned when she heard Hayden’s voice: “Who are you?”

Hayden didn’t want to waste any more words and hung up the phone.

After Sofia was hung up, she remembered that it was Hayden's voice.

–That cold boy was the same as Elliot.

–Did Avery give Hayden the phone?

–Avery didn't want to care about her, so she gave Hayden the phone on purpose, right?

Thinking of this, Sofia seemed to have entered a desperate situation.

Hayden glanced at his mother on the hospital bed.

Avery hadn't woken up from anesthesia, so she slept very peacefully.

Hayden turned on his phone and searched for news from Avonsville.

But no relevant news was found.

He came out of the ward and dialed Mike.

“Didn't you go on a trip with your mom? Why do you have time to call me?” Mike's voice came lazily, “It's cold, you take your mom on a trip. Even if you have to go on a trip in winter, choose one in the tropics, what do you think about going to Cafjell to climb the mountain?”

Hayden automatically ignored his words and asked, “What happened to Sofia?

She called my mother just now.”

Mike said excitedly, “I just heard about it, but it's pretty cool. Wanda transferred the position of the company's legal person to Sofia a few years ago. It means that Sofia is now the company's legal person. I guess the contract Wanda signed with Sofia must be for Sofia. Acknowledging all legal risks, Sofia will not be able to earn a dime of the company's profits.”

Hayden: “Sofia became a legal person of Wonder Technologies, and then what?”

He wanted to know what Wanda wanted to do.

Mike said, “Wonder Technologies plans to go public. It has already submitted the materials and is waiting for the review by the Aryadelle Securities Regulatory Commission. I was just talking to the vice president about this! The reason why

Wanda changed the legal person must be because the listing review failed. Moreover, it is very likely that it is not just that the review cannot be passed... Now the legal person has become Sofia, if Wonder Technologies is investigated, then all the responsibilities will be shouldered by Sofia alone.”

Chapter 1621

When Avery woke up from the anesthesia, she was a little dizzy.

For a while, she couldn't tell where she was, couldn't tell the day and night, let alone what year it was.

“Mom, how do you feel?” Hayden said immediately when Avery woke up.

Avery looked at her son: “Hayden...Why are you here?”

“Mom, you are in the hospital now. You were given anesthesia and had a minor operation, and you just woke up now.” Hayden told her situation she.

She suddenly woke up a lot, but still couldn't remember too many things.

“Oh...no wonder I feel a little dizzy.” Avery frowned and sat up.

“Mom, do you want to sleep a little longer?” Hayden was afraid that she would faint, so he held her arm.

“Have I slept for a long time? What time is it?” Avery didn't want to sleep anymore.

Mainly because her son is by her side, she wants to accompany him.

“It's after nine o'clock at night.” Hayden replied, “Mom, are you hungry? I can order takeout.”

“I'm a little hungry. Let's go out to eat.” Avery looked at the table, her phone was on it .

She took the phone and asked, “Did your father call?”

“No.” Hayden replied, “Mom, the doctor told me that it's better for you to stay in the hospital.”

They booked a hotel near the hospital...

It was Avery who insisted on ordering.

"I'm not so dizzy anymore." Avery didn't want his son to be in the hospital ward with him. If so, she might as well find a nurse to take care of herself.

"Why don't you listen to the doctor?" Hayden said solemnly, "It's so late, Elliot will definitely call."

"Did your sister also make the video call?" Avery glanced at the phone number. For the record, during the time when she was in a coma, no one was looking for her.

"Layla called me. She hung up when she saw you were sleeping." Hayden said. Avery couldn't help laughing: "You hung up first, right?"

"Layla hung up. She went to an event with Uncle Eric tonight. She wanted you to see how she looked like a goblin tonight." Hayden said lightly .

Avery immediately thought of the picture.

Layla must have asked him if she was beautiful, and he must have poured cold water on Layla, so Layla hung up the video call.

She put on her shoes and stood up. She felt the wound on her head, except for a little pain, there was no other discomfort.

"Mom, listen to me first today." Hayden looked at her and said solemnly, "The doctor said that you will have to do a puncture next. Because the blood in your head has not been cleaned up. After the second operation, I'll listen to you again."

Avery was not an unreasonable person.

Hayden was all for her health, so she sat down on the hospital bed: "Okay! Let's have takeout then! I'll have some."

"Well."

"Can you go back to the hotel to sleep alone at night?" Avery didn't want to let Hayden accompany her in the ward overnight.

“I’m not going back to the hotel. I’ll be where you are.” Hayden said calmly, “The nurse said that she will bring me the escort bed later.”

Avery: “Is it a folding bed?”

“As long as you can sleep.” Hayden said nonchalantly, “I just want you to get better soon.”

Avery looked at his son’s increasingly three-dimensional facial features. He was obviously not yet ten years old, but he was already a little adult.

At night, Avery was lying in bed, unable to sleep.

It was about 1:00 a.m. when the nurse came in, took her blood pressure and checked her temperature.

Chapter 1622

“Miss Tate, your son is really filial.” The nurse talked to her in a low voice, “When I came to work the night shift, the word of our nurse station spread. After your surgery, your son will go to the doctor to discuss It’s been half an hour.”

Avery didn’t know about this, but after hearing what the nurse said, she was very curious.

Avery: “What did he talk to the doctor about?”

“Talking about your condition. He cares about you very much.” The nurse said, “It looks like you have a good education. Many boys at this age are not so sensible.”

After Checking temperature and blood pressure, The nurse left the ward.

Avery couldn’t sleep anymore. She picked up her phone and saw a message from Elliot: [I’ve been busy all day today, and I just finished taking a shower. Where are you and your son playing today? Send me some pictures!]

–If Avery had a photo, she would definitely send it to him right away.

She glanced at the time, it was already 1:00 a.m., so she replied: [Were you so busy on the first day? Hasn't it officially started yet? what are you busy with?]

Elliot: [Why haven't you slept yet?]

Avery: [I slept and woke up again. Maybe a little bit of bed recognition! Why are you so busy coming home so late?]

Elliot: [Typing is troublesome, we can make a video call.]

Avery: [No, I share a room with my son. He is already asleep.]

Elliot: [You share a room with your son? He's so old, you two should share a room.]

Avery: [I share a room with him, but one bed per person! What are you thinking about?]

Elliot was silent for a while, because he was too tired, and his mind was blank for a moment.

Avery: [What are you busy with today? It's only the first day of work, and you're so tired. Are you going to live in the office next?]

Elliot saw the long string of text she sent and immediately replied: [Wanda made Sofia a legal person of Wonder Technologies. She submitted the listing materials today, and this matter came to light.]

Avery read the message several times, and when she replied to the message, her fingers were shaking: [What does she want to do?]

Elliot: [Wonder Technologies has a problem, she wants Sofia to take the blame. It is also testing me to see if I can help my biological mother. If I help, and finally Wonder Technologies successfully goes public, Wanda's net worth will be multiplied countless times.]

Avery: [She is still as disgusting and vicious as ever. She has never changed. I know that her nature is like this, and it will not change.]

If it's on the phone, she's definitely starting to growl now.

Elliot: [Don't be angry, I won't fall into her trap. Send me the pictures you took with your son during the day today.]

Avery: [During the day, the phone was out of power, so I didn't take pictures. And my son doesn't like taking pictures.]

Elliot was stunned for a moment. He knows that his son doesn't like to take pictures, but Avery loves to take pictures.

Elliot: [Then send me your photo.]

Avery: [My phone was out of power, so I didn't take pictures.]

Elliot: [Didn't take a picture?]

Avery: [Why do you have to look at my photos? We used to be together every day, haven't you been tired of seeing it?]

When she sent this message, she felt very guilty. She was afraid that Elliot was thinking about it and came here.

Elliot: [I'm afraid you don't miss me at all.]

Avery couldn't help but raise the corner of her mouth: [Of course I miss you, but I'll go home in a few days. It's very late, you should go to bed earlier. If there is any change about Wanda and Wonder Technologies, you can tell me at any time.]

After the message was sent, she added: [It is better to send a message.]

Elliot: [Got it. sleep too! Where are you going to play tomorrow?]

Avery: [It hasn't been decided yet! I will discuss it with my son when we have breakfast tomorrow.]

Elliot: [Did you have no plans at all? It's not like your style of doing things.]

Chapter 1623

Avery: [After I'm with you, I don't have so many opinions anymore. Every time I go out to play, don't I listen to you?]

Elliot:[Next time I will take you out.]

Avery: [Good! Next time we go out as a family.]

Elliot: [Well, go to sleep! Send me pictures tomorrow.]

Avery: [Good.]

After sending the message to Elliot, her heart suddenly calmed down.

Not long after putting down the phone, she fell asleep in a daze.

The next morning, the doctor came for rounds.

“How do you feel?” the doctor asked.

“I feel fine.” Avery said truthfully, “I have to go out for a walk today.”

The doctor said, “You have less than 24 hours of surgery! At least 24 hours of observation.”

“I’ll go out at noon, okay?” Avery asked, “If I don’t have any abnormality by noon, I will take my son out for a walk. If I don’t go far, I will go shopping near the hospital.”

The doctor glanced at Hayden and nodded: “It should be your first time to come to Cafjell? There is a lake behind the hospital, and the scenery is not bad. You can go and have a look. You can stay in the hotel tonight, but you must come to the hospital for re-examination tomorrow.”

Avery: “Well.”

At noon, Avery and Hayden came out of the hospital, When she was looking for lunch at a nearby restaurant, Elliot’s message came.

Let her post pictures.

She has no makeup and her face is not very good, so she turned on the beauty camera.

After taking a random photo, she sent it over.

Elliot was eating lunch at this time, and when he saw the beautiful photo sent by Avery, the food in his mouth choked directly into his esophagus.

He put down the phone and coughed violently.

Ben Schaffer immediately poured him a glass of water: "What's wrong? So excited?"

Elliot covered his mouth and nose with a tissue, then picked up the phone again and glanced at the photo again.

Ben Schaffer followed and looked at the screen of his mobile phone.

"My God! Who is this? This awl can stab people to death." Ben Schaffer complained and glanced at the name on the dialog box: 'wife'

Ben Schaffer was speechless: "Avery what is this doing? Is it a spoof photo?"

Elliot held up the water glass, took a sip of water, and was shocked: "It should have been taken with a beauty camera."

"Other people take a photo with a beauty camera, and the photo can be turned into a 'photo cheat', she took it with a beauty camera. The photo has turned into a 'ghost movie'! Hahahaha!" Ben Schaffer laughed ruthlessly, "You also take a picture with your beauty camera and send it to her."

"Avery didn't say she wanted to see my photo." Elliot put down the phone, "She Being with Hayden, she doesn't miss me at all. Last night, I took the initiative to send her a message."

"Why don't you guys make a video call?" Ben Schaffer felt that sending a message was a bit of a waste of his fingers.

"Avery doesn't allow video calls or calls. She said Hayden doesn't want to see me." When Elliot said this, he lost his appetite.

"It hurts Avery to say that. It's one thing that Hayden likes you or not. Avery should find a way to win over the relationship between your father and son. It's not that Hayden doesn't want to see you, so Avery takes Hayden away from you." Ben Schaffer said, "I remember that Avery was very protective of you, why has it changed now?"

Elliot: "Is there any?"

Chapter 1624

"Elliot, if you don't think so, then you don't have it. Anyway, the two of you have already been twisted into a hemp rope. Wonder Technologies will definitely not be able to go up. I didn't expect Wanda to be so courageous." Ben Schaffer's own feelings are not yet in sight, so he doesn't bother to worry about their already-completed feelings.

This morning, Ben Schaffer received news that the drones produced by Wonder Technologies have great potential safety hazards.

It's not that there was a problem with the quality of the drones, but the drones of Wonder Technologies. Because the price was cheap and the quality was not bad, they were all over the Aryadelle in various fields and regions, from remote mountainous areas to the army. The drone flew all over Aryadelle.

If there was a special device in the drone, it could transmit the obtained pictures to Wonder Technologies, and Wonder Technologies would then transfer the information to other countries, which would be a serious security problem for Aryadelle.

"Avery has always said that Wanda had great ambitions and would not give in to anyone easily." Elliot had a deeper understanding of Wanda after this incident. Ben Schaffer said, "After all, they have been together for so many years. Although Wanda has not shown her edge before, it is difficult to change a person's temperament. It's a pity that Sofia was caught by her this time as a shield. What are you going to do?"

Elliot picked up the water glass and sipped: "Let the ASRC continue to investigate. Even if Sofia is the legal person of her company now, if she can find evidence of economic crimes in her company before this year, she can't get rid of it!"

Ben Schaffer: " Elliot, I have already guessed the follow-up direction. If you don't care about Sofia's life or death, Wanda will definitely buy a press release and disclose your relationship with Sofia. The reporter who took pictures at your house a week ago was probably sent by Wanda. "

"What's wrong with being public? When my relationship with Nathan was public, no one could do anything to me." Elliot said so, but his face turned gloomy, "It's not that I didn't give Sofia a chance. She doesn't cherish it herself."

After lunch, Elliot received a call from the police station.

"Mr. Foster, we received a call from a lady named Sofia. She said that she was deceived and that she was your mother. I hope we can help her for the sake of your relationship."

Sofia will now take advantage of their mother-son relationship.

When Wanda asked her to sign a contract before, why didn't she remember that Elliot was her son?

"Mr. Foster, is she really your mother? I think she took out the photos of your paternity test."

"She is." Elliot replied, "I will ask the lawyer to find her."

"Okay. Yes!"

Ben Schaffer raised his thick eyebrows after he hung up the phone: "What's wrong?"

"Sofia ran to the police station and called the police." Elliot put down the phone and rubbed his temples with his fingers, "I won't help her, really But I can't ignore her completely."

"Then as you said just now, let the lawyer help her which step can be helped."

Ben Schaffer advised him, "If you are soft-hearted and intervene, That's what Wanda wanted. This time is a good time to continue Wonder Technologies.

Whether it's to avenge Avery or the future development of the Tate Industries, this step is very important."

...

Avery walked with Hayden by the lake behind the hospital for a while, took some selfies and landscape photos, and then returned to the hotel.

The weather was rather cold today, and the wound on her head from the wind was a little unbearable.

Back at the hotel, she edited the photo with retouching software and sent it to Elliot.

Then, Avery opened the circle of friends and saw the news that Eric posted an hour ago.

Eric: Next stop, Yonroeville~

–Below were the photos of two tickets.

–These two tickets... Were these two tickets his and Layla's?

–Eric actually took Layla to Yonroeville.

–Doesn't he know the grudge between her and Rebecca?

–How dare he carry Layla and take her to Rebecca's place.

If Layla falls into Rebecca's hands... Thinking of this, Avery gets chills all over her body.

Chapter 1625

"Mom, what's wrong with you?" Seeing that Avery was in a bad mood, Hayden immediately walked to her.

"Your uncle Eric has gone to Yonroeville. He posted two air tickets... Is it possible for him to take Layla to Yonroeville?" Avery said with anxiety.

Hayden replied without hesitation: "Uncle Eric is not such a person. If he wants to take Layla to a far place, he will definitely tell you in advance."

Avery felt that what his son said made sense, so he found Layla's number and dialed.

The phone was on, but no one answered.

–If she's on the plane, her phone must be off.

Avery breathed a sigh of relief.

Avery: "Why did your Uncle Eric go to Yonroeville? He clearly knows what happened to us in Yonroeville."

Hayden: "Uncle Eric is a kid older than me. He may be trying to take advantage of his work and go to Yonroeville to see Rebecca."

Avery was speechless: "You really know your Uncle Eric."

Hayden replied, "I have a good relationship with Uncle Eric."

"I know, although you don't talk much, you have a good relationship with everyone." Except for Elliot. Avery didn't say this sentence, "Hayden, you help your mother to cover and accompany her to see a doctor. Mommy thanks you very much."

"Mom, don't say thank you to me." Hayden frowned, "This is what I should do. Do it."

...

Wonder Technologies.

The assistant inquired about the news and tell Wanda.

Wanda sneered, "I knew that Elliot would not ignore Sofia. If Elliot just asked a lawyer to help Sofia, it would be of no use. The contract signed by Sofia in black and white cannot be denied."

The assistant nodded: "Boss, Aren't you afraid of Elliot's revenge?"

Wanda laughed: "I'm not afraid to tell you, my assets have already been transferred abroad. If Wonder Technologies can't go public, what am I doing here?"

The assistant gave Wanda a thumbs up.

“Avery lost to me a long time ago. The current Tate Industries should be renamed the Sterling Group.” Wanda leaned back in the chair with a triumphant smile, “I made a reservation for tonight. After I leave, every move in the country will be reported to me at any time.”

The assistant was stunned for a moment, and then asked nervously: “Boss, will you not take me with you? You are leaving... I will. Wouldn't there be any danger?”

“You're a little assistant, what danger could there be! If something happens, Sofia will bear it. If Sofia can get out of her body, you will be fine.”

“Oh... “

Three days later.

Regarding the review of Wonder Technologies, a major discovery was made. In the past three years, Wonder Technologies has illegally collected user information and sold the information to overseas organizations several times.

“Wanda escaped three days ago.”

“How did she let her escape during the security review?”

“She took a private jet.”

Wanda's assistant, as well as all the executives of Wonder Technologies, were arrested by the police at the same time. They were controlled, taken away and investigated.

After clarifying the situation, the lawyer pushed open the door of Elliot's office.

The lawyer said, “Mr. Foster, the matter of Sofia is more difficult. Sofia signed a series of unequal contracts with Wanda. Now that Wonder Technologies has an accident, she can't get rid of it.”

“What will happen to her?” Elliot's face was ashen.

“I can try to help her get a lenient treatment. She’ll probably have to pay some fines... She’ll definitely go to jail.” The lawyer bowed his head slightly, “Do you want to see Sofia? She really wants to see you.”

Elliot’s Adam’s apple rolled: “When Sofia signed those contracts with Wanda, why didn’t she say she wanted to see me? Now begging me, it’s too late.”

“Well, Sofia regrets it now. It looks pitiful.” the lawyer said.

“Poor people must have something to hate.”

“She is indeed ignorant.”

Chapter 1626

Cafjell.

Avery made a second puncture.

This time, the congestion in her brain had been basically cleaned up, and there was no further bleeding. As long as she took a good rest in the future, she could slowly recover.

She was a little surprised by the effect of these two operations.

The doctor said, "If you had received treatment earlier, you might not have to do two punctures, maybe not even one. The disease will get worse and worse."

"You must have a good rest when you go back, and don't be careless." The doctor explained.

Avery: "After my operation last year, I had a re-examination. The results of the reexamination were normal."

The doctor said, "Didn't you say that your vision was affected? It means that the examination was not careful enough. Go to the ophthalmologist and have a good examination."

Avery: "Well. Thank you."

The doctor: "You're welcome."

After coming out of the brain department, Hayden held her wrist tightly.

Avery felt Hayden's nervousness, and immediately said, "Hayden, don't be afraid. Mom will be fine."

Hayden nodded.

Avery: "I told you before that although your mother has a brain hemorrhage, as long as the blood in the brain is cleaned up and the bleeding is stopped, it will be fine."

"But your eyes..." Hayden looked at his mother eyes and was afraid that something would happen to her eyes.

"Mom's eyes are fine now and can see you very clearly. I'm going to have a test just to make sure it's okay, not because I think I'm going blind soon." Avery smiled brightly, "I'm now Feeling better than a week ago."

The mother and son came to the ophthalmology department.

Hayden waited outside, and Avery went inside for inspection.

After a series of meticulous examinations, the doctor told her the truth: "Your optic disc is bleeding a bit, and your cornea is also a problem, but at present, the problem is not very serious, first treat with drugs, and then regularly review."

Avery breathed a sigh of relief.

When she came out with the doctor's order, she had a very relaxed expression on her face.

Hayden saw the smile on her face, and the tense heartstrings loosened.

Hayden: "Mom, are you okay?"

"It's okay. The doctor said that it's a small problem and said to treat it with medicine first." Avery showed the list to her son and said, "Let's go get the medicine now."

Hayden couldn't understand what these medicines were for, but he felt that his mother's illness was not a small problem she said.

...

Yonroeville.

After Eric came over, he met Rebecca very smoothly.

Because of the activities that Eric participated in this time, Rebecca also participated.

A celebrity in Yonroeville was a fan of Eric. On this celebrity's birthday, he was asked to sing by name.

The price offered by the other party was very high, so Eric came over.

At the celebrity's birthday party, Eric met Rebecca.

Rebecca was wearing a dress skirt, her belly was bulging high, and she looked like she was about to give birth.

It was the first time the two of them met, but the two seemed to have seen each other a long time ago.

When Eric was drinking in the audience, Rebecca naturally came to him.

“I heard that Layla made her debut.” Rebecca held her stomach in her hands, unable to hide the pride on her face and continued, “The child in my belly looks very much like Layla. When my child is born, you are welcome to have a wedding drink!”

Chapter 1627

A look of disbelief flashed in Eric’s eyes.

Eric asked, “Your child looks like Layla?”

“Yeah! When my daughter is born, you are welcome to come and play.” Rebecca had a decent smile on her face, “You can tell Avery when you go back, although she has occupied Elliot, But I’m doing well. I will take good care of my and Elliot’s children. When the children grow up, I believe there will be a new situation.”

Eric: “Why don’t you tell Avery yourself? Do you think what you said is ridiculous?”

The smile on Rebecca’s face disappeared.

Eric said slowly, “When I saw you today, I’m finally no longer curious or worried.

Elliot can’t fall in love with you, even if you give birth to ten and a hundred children to Elliot, it won’t change anything.”

Rebecca’s self-confidence was hit, and her brows were frowning to kill flies.

Rebecca: “Then wait and see. Until the end, I will never admit defeat.”

“See for yourself! No one will play such childish tricks with you.” After Eric finished speaking, he walked towards the agent.

His work is over and he can now return home.

“Avery called you twice.” The agent gave him his cell phone, “You came to Yonroeville and didn’t tell her, she probably worried about you.”

Eric shrugged: "She will scold me."

The agent said, "Hahaha! Are you so afraid of her? But I don't think she will scold you. She has always been kind to you, and has never lost her temper with you.

You give her a call back. Let's go!"

"Well." Eric came out of the hotel, got into the car, and dialed Avery's number.

Avery answered in seconds.

Eric spoke first, "Avery, I was afraid you wouldn't let me come to Yonroeville, so I didn't tell you beforehand. I saw Rebecca just now and chatted with her a few words."

"Then can you go back to Aryadelle?" Avery worried about his safety.

"Well, I'm flying home tonight. Is your trip with Hayden over?" Eric asked back.

"It's over." Avery was waiting for the wound on her head to recover a little.

If she went back, Elliot would definitely see the injury on her head.

The day before Hayden started school, the two of them set off from Cafjell.

On the way back, Hayden told Avery what happened a week ago. "Sofia called you, but I ignored her."

Avery was stunned for a moment: "She will definitely ask me for help."

Hayden: "May be."

Avery: "I can't control it if I want to. This matter is too serious. The main reason is that Wanda's layout was too early! By the time we found out, it was too late. She couldn't deal with me and your father directly. So I tried every means to deal with the people around us."

Hayden: "She ran away again."

"Well. This time, she won't dare to go back to Aryadelle." Avery felt a little ironic,

"She is already a wanted criminal in Aryadelle. When she returns to Aryadelle, she will be arrested before she leaves the airport. She can only hide abroad for the rest of her life.”

“Mom, I will not forget how my grandmother died.” Hayden said this, gnashing his teeth, “wait. When I grow up, I will avenge my grandmother.”

Avery was very relieved, but reminded: “Hayden, your mother only wants you and your younger siblings to be healthy and happy. I don’t want you to bear my revenge with Wanda.”

Hayden pursed his lips and said nothing.

The plane landed at the airport in Avonsville, Avery was carrying a bag, Hayden was carrying a schoolbag and dragging his mother’s small suitcase.

The mother and son came out, and immediately saw Elliot coming to pick up the plane, as well as Layla and Robert.

Avery hasn’t had much contact with Elliot in the past few days.

Before going to bed every day, send a message to chat.

The most talked about is about Wanda and Wonder Technologies.

Chapter 1628

Avery told Elliot last night that she was coming back today, but Elliot didn’t say that he would come to pick her up.

Layla sensibly took the bag that Avery was carrying.

Inside were some small gifts bought by Avery.

“Why did you lose weight?” Elliot wrapped her arms around her waist and stared at her face carefully.

Avery blushed when Elliot saw her: “Probably travel and exercise a lot.”

“I want to see the injury on the head.” Elliot raised his hand to brush her hair.

Avery immediately blocked his hand: “This is the airport, can you pay attention to your image.”

“I have no image to speak of.” Elliot laughed at himself.

When the Wonder Technologies scandal broke out, someone posted a press release on the Internet called “Sofia’s Identity has come to the Bottom”.

It details the true identity of Sofia, and how Sofia was taken as a scapegoat and pushed out to take the blame.

Netizens who don’t know the truth have accused Elliot of planning all this just to send the humble biological mother to prison.

In fact, the accident of Wonder Technologies has nothing to do with Elliot.

It was the Aryadelle Securities Regulatory Commission that found out the problem with Wonder Technologies, not Elliot.

But because he and Nathan were too ugly back then, netizens insisted that it was Elliot’s conspiracy.

“Elliot, don’t care what others think. That’s not important.” Avery also saw the press release.

But Avery didn’t talk to Elliot about this specifically. She believed that Elliot’s current psychological quality could completely resist the rumors from the outside world.

Elliot said indifferently, “If I care, I will directly block relevant news on the Internet.

I couldn’t accept that I had such a humble background before, which actually shows that my heart is not strong enough.”

“Elliot, you have done a great job. Okay. I’ve never seen anyone as tough and brave as you.” Avery looked at his face and spoke affectionately.

Elliot said with grievance, “In the past few days, no video, no phone calls, I thought you didn’t love me anymore. If Robert hadn’t filled my empty heart, I really don’t know what to do.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing at this complaint: “Next time, I’ll go out with you alone without children.”

Layla, who was walking in front of them, heard it, and immediately turned her head back and glared at them resentfully.

“Ahem, Layla, you’re going to school tomorrow, have you finished your winter vacation homework?” Avery asked.

Layla groaned even more resentfully.

Elliot didn’t expect Avery to be so incapable of looking at his daughter’s face.

Elliot: “Her homework is all done, I checked it.”

Avery: “Good father. If it wasn’t for me, I guess you could take good care of the child.”

Elliot: “You are complimenting me or are you taunting me?”

They came out of the airport and got into the car.

Avery smiled and said, “Of course I’m complimenting you. By the way, when I was in Cafjell, I had a brain examination. My head is fine. You don’t have to worry anymore. You can ask your son if you don’t believe me.”

Elliot glanced at Hayden.

Hayden was sitting in the passenger seat, staring straight ahead, and didn’t intend to turn his head to talk to him at all.

“I trust you.” Elliot breathed a sigh of relief, “You’ll be fine.”

“I’ve been very tired from traveling these days. I want to rest at home for a few days before going back to work.” Avery applied to him.

“Wanda won’t go back to Aryadelle. You can rest as long as you want in the future.” Elliot said dotingly.

Chapter 1629

Avery rested at home for about half a month.

After this period of recuperation, the injury on her head has basically recovered.

She originally planned to go back to work in the company, but Elliot asked her to help with Shea's wedding.

She called Tammy out and accompanied Shea and Wesley to see the venue.

Shea wanted a lawn wedding, and Tammy recommended a garden.

"There was also grass in the garden. I took pictures of the flowers there, and they were very beautiful. I promised you would like it when you saw it." Tammy said.

"I also think the garden is good, but let's go and have a look first. It depends on whether Shea likes it or not." Avery glanced at Tammy's belly, "Tammy, your belly is so pretty. You are only four months, right?"

"Because I ate a lot. Didn't I eat before, when my appetite improved a little, I wanted to eat everything I saw. It's called revenge eating. I know it's not good, but I can't control it." Tammy said distressedly, "I'm only four months old, and I've already gained five pounds of flesh. When I'm ten months old, I estimate that I will weigh more than one hundred pounds."

"It's okay to exceed one hundred pounds. Your child's weight will naturally drop throughout his life." Avery has experience, "In the third trimester, the child will weigh more than ten pounds with amniotic fluid."

"My mother persuaded me the same way, so my appetite is getting better and better. If I don't lose weight after giving birth, I will cry with you two." Tammy grabbed Avery's arm and put her head on her shoulder to act like a spoiled child.

Shea asked with a smile, "Tammy, is the baby in your belly a boy or a girl?"

Avery replied, "Shea, she won't know until she is born."

Tammy said with a mysterious face: "It's most likely a daughter."

Avery: "Your dream has come true."

"Yeah! I just want a daughter, who will be as good as me, how wonderful!"

Tammy's happiness was undisguised, "When the time comes, our family will have a baby kiss!"

Avery: "Okay! Let's kiss and kiss like this!"

"Hahaha! That's it. When my daughter is born, I will often take my daughter to your house and cultivate more feelings with Robert." Tammy was overjoyed.

Avery: "It should be me taking Robert to see you and your baby. It's more sincere."

Tammy smiled.

Shea sat next to them and saw them smiling so happily, and was happy for them.

It's just that she didn't dare to say that she also wanted a baby.

Whether it's a boy or a girl, as long as shea can have a baby, that's fine. After getting the certificate, she mentioned to Wesley about wanting a child, and Wesley was very firm and told her to dispel the idea.

Wesley was worried that her body could not bear it, but she felt that she was no different from a normal person now.

"Shea, what are you thinking?" Avery noticed that Shea's mood seemed a little down, and immediately reached out to hold her hand, "Are you nervous about having a wedding?"

Shea nodded.

Tammy said, "Shea, you shouldn't listen to Avery's talk about having a baby, are you scared? You don't need to have a baby, so you don't need to be afraid."

At this time, Wesley in the driver's seat said, "Shea is not afraid, she wants to have a child."

Wesley's voice was settled, and Shea's face suddenly turned red.

The smiles on Avery and Tammy's faces disappeared.

They didn't expect that Shea had this idea.

"Wesley won't let me." Shea explained to Avery shyly.

"Of course Wesley can't let you have a baby. Shea, you've never seen a baby, so you don't know the risk." Avery looked at her seriously, "Don't make your own decisions like last time, Otherwise, your brother will be very angry."

Avery moved Elliot out, and Shea was immediately startled and nodded sharply.

"Haha! Avery, you scared Shea." Tammy's laughter resounded, "Oh no, it should be said that Elliot scared Shea."

Chapter 1630

Wesley said helplessly, "There must be someone who can control Shea. she is not afraid of me."

Tammy said rudely , "Wesley, with your temper, I guess no one will be afraid of you. You are the man with the best temper I have ever seen."

Wesley said ashamed: "My parents are very afraid of me. Because I often don't listen to them."

They came to the garden that Tammy said.

Before entering the garden, They saw a large sea of flowers through the wooden fence.

Shea's eyes were immediately attracted.

After Wesley bought the tickets, he entered the garden under the leadership of the garden owner.

"Can a wedding be held here?" Avery saw that Shea seemed to like it here, so she asked the garden owner directly.

"Yes. Several couples had an outdoor wedding with us last month. Do you want to watch the video?" The owner of the garden said.

Avery: "Okay, let's see it."

The owner of the garden turned on his phone, found the video, and showed it to them.

"It's so beautiful!" Shea couldn't help but marvel when she saw other people's wedding videos.

Avery asked the garden owner: "How is the fee calculated?"

"It depends on how many guests you have and what kind of services you need.

We can provide wedding services, and you can also contact the wedding company outside, and the corresponding charges will be charged. The standards are different." The garden owner said, "May is the peak wedding season. If you are sure to be in our garden, you need to book as soon as possible."

Avery nodded and looked at Wesley and Shea: "Let's go inside and take a look!"

They walked into the depths of the garden, and the colorful flowers inside were dazzling, making people's mood fly instantly.

"Just here!" Shea grabbed Wesley's hand, her eyes bright.

"Okay."

After choosing the location, start choosing the time.

Avery suggested, "Why don't you choose two days during the May Day holiday?

Everyone will have time, and the wedding will be more lively."

Wesley: "Yes. Let's go on May 1st and 2nd!"

Before paying the deposit, the owner of the garden asked them if they wanted wedding services.

Avery discussed with them, "Why don't I go back and discuss with Elliot! He definitely wants to find the best wedding company for Shea."

Wesley shook her head: "I will bear all the expenses for my wedding with Shea.

We will decide our own wedding. Just use the wedding service here. I just watched the video, and it feels pretty good."

Shea nodded in agreement.

"Okay! I respect your opinions." Avery smiled.

After watching the venue, Shea was sleepy, so Avery asked Wesley to send him to Tammy's house.

The car stopped at Tammy's house.

Avery and Tammy watched Wesley's car drive away.

"Avery, I just thought of a question, but I'm too embarrassed to say it. Now it's just the two of us..." Tammy said and was hesitating a little, "Rebecca's due date should be around four May?"

Avery was stunned for a moment, calculated the time in her heart, and nodded, "If you don't mention her, I'll almost forget about it."

Tammy: "Blame me..."

"It's okay. Elliot promised me that he wouldn't want that child." Avery said so, and her heart was still uncontrollably heavy.

Chapter 1631

Time flies by in the blink of an eye.

Shea's wedding came as scheduled.

Gwen ended the three-month competition and returned to Aryadelle. She got second position in the final. Although this result was not very satisfactory, after the loss, she quickly accepted the reality.

Seeing Shea wearing a beautiful white gauze, Gwen was envious.

Gwen: "Shea, you are so beautiful today. Wesley is so lucky to be able to marry such a beautiful bride."

Tammy joked, "Gwen, you can get married too. Your competition is over, Now you can relax. Also you and Ben Schaffer is a good match."

Gwen said with a headache, "Forget it. I broke up with Ben. Didn't Avery tell you, last time he sneaked away to Bridgedale look for me, and when I was with my agent's son, he turned green on the spot and turned to leave."

Tammy: "Avery didn't tell me. When did this happen? What happened to your agent's son?"

"It was just a while ago. Before my finals." Gwen brought up this matter, frowning tightly, "My agent's son is two years older than me. He is now a graduate student. I think he is very knowledgeable and likes to listen to his speech, and it happens that he is also interested in me... So we have a good relationship."

Tammy suddenly understood why Ben Schaffer's face turned green. If she was Ben Schaffer instead, she would have to turn green too.

"Since you and your agent's son are in love with each other, then you and Ben Schaffer have nothing to regret. For you, Ben Schaffer is a little bit older." Tammy joked.

Gwen sighed: "In this way, it makes me look like a sc*mbag. Actually, my brother and I don't have that kind of relationship... just a little bit of affection for each other, but it hasn't risen to the point of getting married. He hasn't gotten married yet."

Tammy said, "Gwen, you are still young. It's too early for you to get married. Let everything take its course."

"Ben Schaffer is here." Tammy said these words to Gwen, "Would you like to chat with him? I think he is in a good mood."

y's wedding today, they only invited relatives and friends who were close to each other.

So there are not many guests.

Hayden and Adrian sat on a bench on the side, watching the flowers and plants and guests around them.

Suddenly, Hayden noticed that Ben Schaffer took out his mobile phone.

Ben Schaffer didn't know what he saw on the phone, and his face suddenly became cold and heavy.

Chapter 1632

Hayden's eyes looked straight in his direction until Ben Schaffer walked to Elliot's side and patted Elliot on the shoulder.

"Elliot, I have something to do." Ben Schaffer whispered in Elliot's ear.

Elliot was taking pictures of his daughter, so he didn't take his words seriously.

Ben Schaffer turned around to look around, and finally pulled Hayden out of his chair.

"You go take pictures of your sister, I have something to do with your father." After Ben Schaffer said this to Hayden, he pulled Hayden to Elliot's place, and then pulled Elliot away.

"What's the matter? The sky is falling or the ground is sinking? It's rare that my daughter doesn't dislike my photography skills." Elliot frowned and was very unhappy.

If Ben Schaffer can't tell what major incident happened, he can't spare Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer turned on the phone and ran in front of him.

"Rebecca didn't know where she got my mobile phone number." Ben Schaffer said, "The child is born."

Rebecca knew that Elliot would not take care of herself, so she found Ben Schaffer's number and took the child's photo, Sent to Ben Schaffer's mobile phone.

Elliot frowned, his face gloomy. After he glanced at the photo, his face became even more gloomy.

Ben Schaffer gasped, "Have you noticed that this little baby is a bit like our Layla? If it wasn't for Rebecca holding this child, I would really think this was a photo of Layla when she was a child."

"What do you mean by showing me?" Elliot gritted his teeth, "Do you want me to find her? Or do you want me to break up with Avery?"

Ben Schaffer took back the phone, his cheeks flushed, "This is your daughter, do you really plan to never look at her for the rest of your life? I just showed you the photos, I didn't let you go to Yonroeville to see her. Why are you so excited?"

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

"I have no chance of making mistakes." Elliot explained why Ben was excited, "If Avery knew that I saw this child, Avery would divorce me."

"I didn't show you in front of her. Rebecca said these things!" Ben Schaffer felt that he was not trusted by him, "I'm just showing you the photos, can't you just look at the photos? This kid looks a lot like Layla!"

Elliot clenched his fists, wanted to see the photos, Resist this curiosity.

Not far away, Hayden glanced at them from the corner of his eyes. He don't know what happened, but the two of them seemed to be arguing.

Another message came in from Ben Schaffer's cell phone.

It was still from Rebecca: [Ben Schaffer, I originally wanted to take my child to find Elliot, but this plan could not be realized for the time being. Because after the child was born, he accidentally contracted pneumonia. It has been a week of treatment, and the situation is only slightly better now. I don't dare to take my baby out of the house for the time being.]

"F*ck! This poor little guy has pneumonia since birth." Ben Schaffer cried out when he saw the news.

[Pneumonia means: Lung inflammation caused by bacterial or viral infection, in which the air sacs fill with pus and may become solid.]

Elliot's pity was aroused.

"Elliot, Rebecca wants you to help name this child. Do you want to name the child?" Ben Schaffer asked.

"No." Elliot refused without thinking.

"You're too cruel to your child!" Ben Schaffer glared at him and continued to say, "If you don't take it, I'll take it. Rebecca has just given birth to a child and is prone to postpartum depression. If she is depressed, the Child will be yours in the end."

"Since you love this child so much, then you can take care of her." Elliot gritted his teeth and said angrily.

Ben Schaffer punched him in the chest: "You are such a b*stard!"

Elliot pushed his arm away, clenched his fist, and turned to leave.

Chapter 1633

Ben Schaffer stayed where he was, watching Elliot walk away coldly, followed closely, turned and walked towards the exit.

After Ben Schaffer left, Wesley found Elliot.

"Ben Schaffer is left." Wesley didn't understand what happened.

Ben Schaffer's face was ugly, and Wesley asked why he left, but didn't speak.

"Don't worry about him." Elliot's face was no better than Ben Schaffer's.

Wesley saw everything in his eyes and knew that the two of them must have quarreled.

"Would you like to come in and sit?" Wesley asked when he saw that he was standing outside alone and was a little lonely.

"Don't worry about me." Elliot wanted to be quiet.

Wesley walked away and entered the room.

Gwen was holding Robert for a group photo. Even if Robert didn't like being hugged by someone he didn't know well, he wouldn't cry, he would only frown and look unhappy.

Now the little guy is used as a mascot, and everyone takes turns to take pictures.

Wesley walked up to Shea and told her that the ceremony would not begin in an hour, so that if she was tired, she could lie down and rest for a while.

Shea shook her head, indicating that she was not tired.

Wesley immediately walked up to Avery and whispered, "Elliot and Ben Schaffer had a quarrel. Ben Schaffer left, and Elliot looked very unhappy. I told Elliot to come in, but he didn't come in."

Today is Wesley's wedding. Of course, Wesley didn't want to see the guests quarreling.

Avery said in surprise: "They are in conflict?"

Wesley: "Well. They didn't quarrel loudly. It was Ben Schaffer who left, and I found out."

Gwen heard their conversation, immediately put Robert down, and strode over and asked, "Ben Schaffer quarreled with my brother?"

Wesley nodded: "Ben Schaffer has already left."

Gwen said angrily, "Today is the day when you and Shea are overjoyed, why did he choose to quarrel with my brother today? Does he have a bad mind?"

Avery saw that Gwen was a little excited, and immediately said: "Gwen, don't be angry, I will go to your brother and ask."

Avery said on, going out.

Robert immediately trotted to keep up, hugging Avery's leg.

The little guy is a little follower. Now he walks more steadily and runs fast.

"Robert, the sun is shining outside, so go to the godmother's place." Tammy came over and pulled Robert back.

If Robert went out, Avery and Elliot couldn't talk about things.

"Godmother gave you something delicious." Tammy took out a packet of snacks from her bag like magic.

Robert immediately smiled and drove away.

Avery strode outside.

Just happened to bump into Layla holding Elliot's hand and walking towards him.

Layla wanted to take pictures with Shea, so she pulled Elliot over and asked him to help take pictures.

When Elliot was with his daughter, he naturally didn't dare to show any real unpleasant emotions.

Chapter 1634

Avery walked quickly to them and took Layla's hand.

"Layla, mom has something to tell your dad, you go inside the house! Your brother is inside."

Layla: "I'm not looking for my brother. I'm looking for my two aunts..."

"Well, they are inside, you go in!" Avery watched her daughter enter the house, and then her eyes fell on Elliot's face.

It was a fine day today, and the sun fell on Elliot's shoulders like shards of gold. If Avery hadn't heard about his quarrel with Ben Schaffer, her mood would be brighter than this sunshine.

"Why did you and Ben Schaffer quarrel?" Avery took Elliot's big palm and walked towards the less crowded place.

This garden was very large, and the roads in it extended in all directions, which was especially suitable for strolling.

"He's in a bad mood." Elliot clenched her hand tightly and replied, "I had a casual chat with him about work, but because we disagreed, he lost his temper and left.”

“Shea wedding today, you guys were talking about work here? Did you think I’m so perfunctory?” Avery retorted, “Tell me the truth.”

Without thinking, he decided to tell a white lie, “What I told was the truth. He told about Gwen.”

“Oh...even if you can’t be a couple, you don’t need to be enemies, right?” Avery was a little puzzled, “Why is Ben Schaffer so disgusted? Did he not participate when Gwen was there?”

“Don’t worry about them.” Elliot said calmly and changed the topic, “Do you want to take a picture? I’ll take it for you? My daughter said that I took her beautiful.”

“That is Because my daughter is beautiful, anyone who takes pictures of her can make her beautiful, and it has nothing to do with your photography skills.” Avery told the truth mercilessly, “Unless you make me beautiful, I can only praise you. The technology is good.”

Avery handed the phone to Elliot and asked him to help take pictures.

“Elliot, I don’t think there’s any need for you and Ben Schaffer to be unhappy about Gwen. The friendship between the two of you for so many years is not so fragile, right?” Avery found a peony bush and stopped beside him.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Elliot turned on the camera function of his mobile phone and said lightly: “I didn’t quarrel with him, I suspect that he just didn’t want to see Gwen, so he deliberately quarreled with me, so that he had a reason to leave here.”

“Oh, then go back and persuade him and let him think about it.” Avery tried to touch the petals with her fingers, “Is this posture okay?”

“Yes.” Elliot looked at her under the camera and said, “Look at the me here.”

“I’m going to pretend to look at the flowers. It will be more artistic in this way.”

Avery gave him a lesson, "If I look at you, it will be too blunt. When I look at flowers, there will be a feeling that the photos are taken by others. How dare you say that you are good at taking pictures. What?"

Elliot blushed: "Then you smile."

"Forget it, I'll look at you. It's more funny to see you." Avery couldn't help laughing.

"Can't you hit me? Give me some confidence. I'm learning now, and maybe I will become a professional photographer in my later years." Elliot pressed the shutter and took a few pictures of her smiley.

No matter how he looked at it, he felt that Avery's smiling face was prettier than the peony blooming next to her.

"I'll take a look." Avery walked up to him, took the phone, and looked at the photos he took. "It's not bad, mainly because I'm naturally beautiful."

"You just can't bear to praise me." Elliot said helplessly.

"You're awesome. You don't have to wait for your old age, your level will definitely improve by leaps and bounds, comparable to a professional." Avery complimented him countless times, then leaned into his arms, "Let's take a photo!

It's been a long time since I took a photo with you. Now it's time."

After taking a photo for a while, the two saw that it was almost time for the wedding ceremony, so they walked towards the venue for the ceremony.

Their eyes unexpectedly saw Ben Schaffer, and expressions of surprise appeared on their faces.

Ben Schaffer saw their eyes and looked back at them boldly.

Avery forced Elliot to walk towards Ben Schaffer, trying to ease their relationship.

Avery: "Brother Schaffer, today is a day of great joy, no matter what unhappy things you have with Elliot..."

"I just went out to smoke a cigarette, what am I unhappy about." Ben Schaffer explained Here, he asked Elliot coldly, "You spoke ill of me behind your back just now, didn't you? Everyone thought I was left."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Elliot didn't say you were left. It was Brother Wesley who thought you were left and was a little worried."

Chapter 1635

"I have nothing to worry about. Your husband knows I'm fine." Ben Schaffer glanced casually at Elliot.

"He did say that the two of you didn't quarrel." Avery saw the matter open, so she smiled, "The ceremony is about to begin, let's go to our seats!"

Ben Schaffer: "Will you not lead Elliot down the red carpet later?"

Avery explained, "Adrian leads her. Because Adrian is her real brother. We want Adrian to know that he is not worthless."

"Oh. I think Hayden has been staying with Adrian this morning." Ben Schaffer was looking for Hayden in a group of guests.

Sure enough, Hayden still stayed with Adrian.

The two were talking, not knowing what they were talking about.

"Hayden takes more care of Adrian. Didn't Gwen give Adrian a drawing board before? Adrian was not very good at using it. Hayden specially watched the tutorial on the Internet and went to teach Adrian." Avery realized that Ben was after finishing speaking. Gwen was mentioned just now.

"I asked Gwen to buy the drawing board." Ben Schaffer recalled the sad past, "How is she progressing with that graduate student?"

Avery: "No progress! She said that she should focus on her career now. Although the competition's over, but it's time to start the official work."

"Oh... I saw them hugging each other very closely last time, really hot eyes." Ben Schaffer finished sneering and walked towards the guest seat.

Avery glanced at Elliot: "I don't think he can't think too much about Gwen."

Otherwise, he won't mention it."

Elliot: "That's because you said that Gwen should focus on work."

"Okay! Gwen does. That's what I said. In fact, appreciating a person does not necessarily mean falling in love with that person and marrying that person but they can handle their affairs themselves!" Avery took Elliot towards the guest table.

"Well. You go and sit first, and I'll carry the child." After Elliot took her to the seat and sat down, he went to find Layla and Robert

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Avery sat in the first row, and Ben Schaffer was in the second row.

The two were in tandem, but it didn't affect their chatting.

"After I left in the morning, what did Elliot tell you?" Ben Schaffer asked in a low voice.

Avery: "Elliot said you were in a bad mood because of Gwen..."

"How can Elliot talk nonsense?" Ben Schaffer burst out because he was so excited.

Avery stared at the blue veins on his forehead without blinking, and asked: "So what's the real reason for your quarrel?"

"Uh... this... come on. It's a long story." Of course Ben Schaffer couldn't tell Avery the real reason.

If Avery knew that Rebecca was born and that Elliot saw the picture of the child and if she really quarreled with Elliot because of this, Elliot would never let him go.

"There is a project in our company, I don't think it is necessary to invest, but he has to do it... We quarreled several times about this." Ben Schaffer made up a random reason, "Don't think that my temporary job is finance. In fact, I am also a shareholder of Sterling Group.”

“I know.” Avery did not question his words, “You don’t need to quarrel over business affairs in such public places.”

“Before you, we talked about business affairs no matter what the occasion. When I’m busy, I may be talking about business at one or two o’clock at night.” Ben Schaffer explained.

Avery: “But today is Shea’s wedding. Everyone is very happy to be here today.”

Well, after I was pissed off by him, I realized this, so I came back.” Ben Schaffer let out a smile, “I’m still very happy to see Shea getting married.”

Avery frowned slightly: “Although I think the reason you gave is a bit far-fetched, I can’t guess why you quarreled. The relationship between the two of you may sometimes be better than the relationship between me and him. I mean tacit understanding and trust.”

Ben Schaffer blushed and said sternly: “You look down on me too much. In his heart, I can’t even compare with your finger.”

Chapter 1636

“Don’t belittle yourself. Your meaning to him is different from other people’s.”

Avery thought of a suitable metaphor when she said this, “You two are not brothers, you are better than brothers.”

Avery’s gentle eyebrows and friendly voice made Ben Schaffer feel a little uneasy.

“You’re right. I have a strong relationship with him. So I can tell you for sure that he has only you in his heart from beginning to end, and he only wants to grow old with you in the future.”

Avery didn’t understand why Elliot suddenly said these words. His words reminded her of Rebecca.

Today is May 1st, Rebecca’s child, even if the child hasn’t been born yet, should be born soon.

Seeing Avery's darkened eyes, Ben Schaffer asked with a guilty conscience,

"What are you thinking?"

"I don't know if Rebecca has given birth." Her voice was as low as a mosquito.

But Ben Schaffer heard it really. As if possessed by a demon, he naturally took her words: "Rebecca gave birth to a child and it's a girl."

Avery didn't expect to get this definite answer from Ben Schaffer's mouth.

All of a sudden, the wandering thoughts all returned to their places. She looked at Ben Schaffer in shock and asked, "How do you know? Was it Elliot who told you?"

Ben Schaffer knew that he had missed the point, and quickly corrected: "No. Elliot has absolutely no contact with Rebecca. Otherwise. Rebecca won't find me either."

"Rebecca asked you to say that the child was born?" Avery looked at Ben Schaffer without blinking, "What else did she say?"

Ben Schaffer saw not far away, Elliot came over with Robert in one hand and Layla in the other, and immediately responded to Avery: "Elliot is here. Let's not talk about this for now, he is not happy."

Avery immediately sat upright.

"Mom! I want to tell you a secret." Layla quickly ran to Avery, looked at Ben Schaffer, and said this.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Ben Schaffer felt that the secret that Layla was going to tell was related to him, so he leaned forward deliberately, pricked up his ears, and wanted to eavesdrop.

"Uncle Ben, don't eavesdrop!" Layla held Avery's neck with both hands and spoke to Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer leaned back in the chair, "I don't listen. Tell your mother a secret!"

Layla leaned into Avery's ear and said a word in a super low voice.

Avery blushed in embarrassment: "Baby, your voice is too low, mom didn't hear what you said."

Layla hummed and increased the volume: "Aunty Tammy told Aunty Shea to let her When you lose your bouquet later, throw it to Uncle ben."

Avery heard what Layla said this time.

Ben Schaffer also heard clearly.

He is now arguing with Gwen, and his anger has not subsided. So this d*mn bouquet, he didn't want it.

The wedding ceremony was over soon, and it was time to lose the bouquet.

Because there are not many guests, and most of them are married people, there are not many people grabbing flowers.

Before throwing a bouquet of flowers, Shea glanced at Ben Schaffer very directly, trying to determine the direction.

After she was optimistic about the direction, she accurately threw the bouquet towards Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer didn't even think about it, and immediately avoided it.

Chapter 1637

Elliot stood not far from Ben Schaffer, and when he saw Ben Schaffer dodging the bouquet, he immediately walked over and took the bouquet.

He didn't want other people's weddings to grab bouquets, but Shea's wedding was despised by others.

After Elliot caught the bouquet, before everyone could react, he immediately handed the bouquet to Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer didn't even think about it, he refused.

The two seemed to fight for the sake of holding flowers.

Hayden felt ashamed.

These two people who were a few decades older together were more naive than the elementary school students in their school!

He walked over immediately, trying to keep them from pushing around.

At this moment, Ben Schaffer caught a glimpse of him out of the corner of his eye, and immediately thrust the bouquet into his arms with lightning speed.

Ben Schaffer said succinctly, "Hayden, you are not too young anymore, don't just focus on studying all day long. You find a girlfriend earlier, I believe that your relationship will not affect your study and you find a girlfriend Now, you can also ask your girlfriend to help take your brother. Now that you have received a bouquet from your aunt Shea, you will definitely have a good luck next time!"

Hayden: "..."

"Okay, let's go to the feast. I heard that they are all farmhouse dishes, I especially like to eat farmhouse dishes." Ben Schaffer was in a good mood when he saw the father and son's slumped faces.

Gwen didn't expect Ben Schaffer to be so shameless. She immediately took the bouquet from Hayden's arms: "Hayden, don't listen to your uncle ben's nonsense. You are still young, you have to study hard. If you don't study hard, how will you inherit your father's property in the future? Wait until you have the ability. What kind of girlfriend can't find in the future?"

Hayden was speechless. Whether it's Ben Schaffer's words or Gwen's words, he doesn't like to hear them!

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

He was not yet ten years old, what kind of girlfriend was he looking for! Moreover, he never thought of inheriting Elliot's property! How ridiculous!

Seeing that his son was about to get angry, Avery walked over immediately, took his hand, and held it tightly: "Hayden, mother knows that you don't depend on anyone, and will make money to support your family in the future. Mother believes that you will be more powerful than your father in the future."

The fire that Hayden raised was extinguished by Avery in an instant.

After lunch, everyone went to the hotel together.

This was what Elliot requested.

In the afternoon, he was responsible for the venue expenses and dinner in the hotel banquet hall.

Wesley took Shea to the hotel wedding room to change clothes and rest.

Elliot and Wesley's parents entertain other guests together.

After Robert fell asleep, Avery came out of the room and went to find Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer was drinking and chatting with several young ladies in the banquet hall, like a friend of women.

Gwen was sullenly eating fruit with Adrian.

Avery installed as if nothing had happened, walked up to them, and asked, "Aren't you going to take a lunch break? You got up so early today, are you still sleepy?"

"Didn't you go to bed either, Is it?" Gwen was a little sleepy, but because there were a lot of guests, her nerves were a little excited, "Avery, look, Ben Schaffer seems to be insane, chatting with those women non-stop."

Gwen sneered, "He thought I couldn't see that he was doing it on purpose. Does it irritate me? If I go to my lunch break, who will he act for?"

Avery held back a smile: "Go to your lunch break! I just happened to be looking for him. Let him also go back to his room to sleep. I think he drinks a lot at noon."

"Okay! Then I'll go to bed." After Gwen got up, she pulled Adrian and stood up,

“You are going to take a nap together. Or go to Hayden?”

Chapter 1638

“I’m afraid Hayden will bother me.” Adrian said sternly.

“Why is Hayden bothering you? He doesn’t have the habit of taking naps.” Avery finished speaking to Adrian, and then said to Gwen, “Hayden is in Robert’s room, take Adrian there.”

The two of them walked away Afterwards, Avery was about to find Ben Schaffer, but Ben Schaffer saw her and came over.

Ben Schaffer was dizzy, but he knew that Avery would definitely find a chance to come to him, so he kept waiting in the banquet hall.

“Where’s Elliot?” Ben Schaffer was worried that Elliot would find out that he was chatting with Avery.

Avery said, “He went to have tea with the guests. What did Rebecca send you a message? Can you show me the message?”

Ben Schaffer knew that Avery would make such a request, so he took out his mobile phone and put information to her.

Ben Schaffer deleted the photo of the child sent by Rebecca.

She only showed Rebecca’s talk about the child’s pneumonia and Elliot’s name for the child.

Ben Schaffer explained, “Elliot doesn’t agree to name the child. So the name I sent was mine. You can understand that I pity the child, so I named her.”

Ben Schaffer gave the child was named Hazel Foster and nicknamed Haze.”

“You pity her.” Avery returned the phone to Ben Schaffer and murmured, “What about me?”

“I know you will be angry, so I don’t want to tell you this. Elliot is even more resistant to this child and even blames me. Tell him about it.” Ben Schaffer said helplessly, "You have your thoughts, and I have mine. If you don't ask me, I won't take the initiative to tell you this."

Avery trembled slightly, "Why did you give her the surname 'Foster'? Are you afraid that this child will not come to see Elliot in the future? If Rebecca gave this child this name, I can understand. Why do you want to help Rebecca?"

Ben Schaffer was stopped by her questioning.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Why did Ben Schaffer name the child 'Foster' because the child belongs to Elliot.

Avery can't accept the child, but Ben Schaffer can.

"Avery, you can't ask me like that because you take Rebecca as a thorn in your side. I'm not Elliot. I'll name that child, because that child is Elliot's child, as long as the child calls me uncle, I will treat her as a niece."

Ben Schaffer's words were like a basin of cold water pouring on Avery's head.

After Avery understood his intentions, she clenched her fists tightly and turned to leave.

Ben Schaffer sneered, "Just take care of Elliot, why do you want to take care of others? Avery, do you take care of yourself a little bit? If you look like this, don't say that Elliot doesn't dare to mess around, and I won't either. I'll bring that child to you!"

Avery strode towards the bathroom. She actually didn't care about Ben Schaffer's attitude, but was afraid that Ben Schaffer would help Rebecca and the child come to Elliot.

Every word of Ben Schaffer kept replaying in her mind.

She realized that she really couldn't control anyone except Elliot.

In the banquet hall, Ben Schaffer reached out and rubbed his face after Avery left.

He drank too much at noon, alcohol was on top, and he couldn't control his emotions.

His sanity was also in a state of laxity. He didn't even remember what he said to Avery just now, only the heartache and disappointment in Avery's eyes when he walked away. He wanted to go to Elliot to confess, but he was afraid that Elliot would get angry with him.

In the end, he decided to go to sleep and apologize to Avery when he woke up.

Chapter 1639

"Avery, have you been in the bathroom?" Elliot strode up to her and grabbed her arm, "Layla said she couldn't find you anywhere, she was about to cry."

Avery saw his worried appearance that it re-established his love for her.

"My stomach is not feeling well. Where's my daughter?" Avery was in the bathroom just now, completely forgetting the time.

"Layla sprained her foot when she was looking for you, and she's staying in her room now." Elliot took Avery to see her daughter and also questioned, "Why is your stomach suddenly uncomfortable?"

"I suspect that I have eaten spicy food at noon. My stomach may not be able to handle it." Avery casually said, "Is Layla's foot injury serious?"

"The doctor has seen it and said it's fine." Elliot said, and asked, "Would you like to take some medicine?"

"No. I'll just eat lightly at night. Okay." Avery was thinking about her daughter, "Why didn't she call me when she was looking for me?"

"You didn't bring your cell phone." Elliot took out her cell phone from his pocket, "Daughter is looking for you everywhere with your cell phone. It's because you didn't bring your mobile phone that your daughter was in a hurry."

Avery blamed herself even more: "I originally went to the lobby to chat with Gwen and Adrian, but I ended up having a stomachache, so I went to the bathroom."

The two came to the guest room .

Layla's ankle was rubbed with medicine, and the room smelled of medicine.

"Layla, mom didn't know you were looking for me. Does your foot hurt? Mom'll take a look." Avery strode up to her daughter, squatted down, and looked at her daughter's injury.

"Mom, I don't have that much pain anymore." Layla's eyes were red and she was crying, "I thought you were taken by the bad guys."

"How could Mom be taken by the bad guys? There are so many security guards in the banquet hall, the bad guys can't come in." Avery saw that her daughter's feet were a little red, but not swollen, so she felt a little relieved.

"Layla, your mom was in the bathroom just now, and her stomach is not feeling well." Elliot looked at his daughter's pitiful appearance and was very distressed.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

But for some reason, looking at Layla's face, he couldn't help thinking of the newborn child.

That kid looked a lot like Layla when she was a kid.

This also broke the assumption that the color Doppler photos sent by Rebecca were PS.

"Mom, take your phone wherever you go! That way I can call you when I can't find you." Layla frowned and muttered.

"Well, your mom will definitely bring her cell phone in the future. Are you sleepy?

Will mom sleep with you?" Avery was a little tired, but she couldn't fall asleep.

She wanted to lie still.

After the mother and daughter lay down, Elliot exited the room.

Avery's hand gently patted her daughter's back.

After a while, Layla's voice came softly: "Mom, I can't sleep."

Avery: "Baby, why can't you sleep?"

"I don't know, I just can't sleep." Layla rolled over and said while looking at Avery, "Mom, I don't want to marry in the future. Aunt Shea originally lived at my father's house, but she will live at Uncle Wesley's house in the future. I don't want to live in someone else's house in the future."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Aunty Shea and your Uncle Wesley live alone outside."

"I don't want to be separated from you. I want to be with you forever." Layla pouted and looked aggrieved.

"Of course you want to live with us now. Whether or not you want to marry in the future will be discussed when you grow up? Mom and dad will definitely listen to you." Avery's voice was as gentle as the wind.

Chapter 1640

After Elliot stood outside the door for a while, he went to find Ben Schaffer.

Although Avery said just now that she stayed in the bathroom for so long because her stomach was uncomfortable, he always felt that things were not that simple. Before the wedding ceremony, he clearly saw Avery chatting with Ben Schaffer. He didn't know what they were talking about. He found the room where Ben Schaffer was resting and entered.

Ben Schaffer was already asleep, and there was a slight snoring.

About an hour later, Ben Schaffer was suffocated by urine. He opened his eyes, saw Elliot's figure unexpectedly, and was inadvertently startled.

"D*mn it! Why are you here?" Ben Schaffer wiped his face, still in shock, "When did you come in? Why didn't you call me when you came in? Are you watching me sleep?"

"What did you talk to Avery at noon? I always think your mouth is not reliable."

Elliot asked.

Ben Schaffer suddenly sighed with a guilty conscience: "I'll go put some water first. You came here specifically for this matter. What's the matter, Avery slapped you?" He entered the bathroom without closing the door.

Elliot sullenly walked over and closed the bathroom door.

Three minutes later, Ben Schaffer washed his face and walked out.

"Avery was the one who mentioned Rebecca first, and I definitely didn't mention it first. She was curious about whether Rebecca had a baby, and I said something along the way...and then...she ask me for a mobile phone and read the text messages from Rebecca... I deleted the photo from Rebecca, so she didn't see that photo." After Ben Schaffer finished speaking, Elliot immediately understood.

"Elliot, I can guarantee that I will speak for you. I said that you have absolutely no feelings for Rebecca and that child." Ben Schaffer added.

"Then why is she unhappy?" Elliot retorted, "She stayed in the bathroom alone for a long time."

"Oh...she may be mad at me. Because I said you don't recognize the child, it doesn't mean me Also be ruthless to that child. She can ask you, but she can't ask me, right?" Ben Schaffer said with a confident attitude.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Elliot's face suddenly gloomy: "Ben, you can think so in your heart, but you don't need to tell her! I think you are drinking, and you lost your mind."

Ben Schaffer's face turned dark red, and he stammered: "I ...Can I go and apologize to her?"

Elliot: "Can the water that I spilled be taken back?"

"Okay, I won't express any opinions in the future, so as not to harass you." Ben Schaffer confessed and suddenly sobered up, "Avery said that I have a different meaning to you, not a brother is better than a brother... I guess she took my attitude as yours."

"You just understand." Elliot looked gloomy.

"Elliot, you don't need to be too depressed. I know that as an outsider, it is a bit cruel to Avery to say these words, but I still have to say that the child is innocent. I don't sympathize with Rebecca, I don't sympathize with anyone, I only sympathy for that child." Ben Schaffer calmed down and made a decision, "I'm going to Yonroeville to see that child."

Elliot frowned: "Ben, what are you trying to do?"

Ben Schaffer: "That child looks like a Layla...you have to be a good husband, you can't go to Yonroeville, so I will. Of course, I won't tell anyone about my going to Yonroeville even if you don't let me go, I'm going too. Don't stop me."

Elliot clenched his fists, his dark eyes rolled with chills.

"By the way, I gave the child's name, and Rebecca agreed. Your child's name is Hazel Foster." Ben Schaffer said, "The nickname is Haze."

"Ben Schaffer, you can just kill me!" Elliot clenched his teeth and felt a heavy sense of powerlessness in his heart.

Chapter 1641

"Avery changed her face with me because I named my child 'Foster'. I guess she won't consider me a friend in the future." Ben said. Avery's angry face appeared in Ben Schaffer's mind.

Elliot couldn't take this sentence. When he came out of Ben Schaffer's room, his body was as uncomfortable as a fire.

It feels like everything is wrong.

The hurt never stops. Apart from this time, there will be countless times in the future...

“Elliot! What are you doing here?” Mike came out of the bathroom and saw Elliot’s lost soul, puzzled, “Shea is married, are you reluctant? Can’t you? Are you so sentimental?”

Elliot pushed his arm away: “Avery looked bad just now, tell me that her stomach is uncomfortable, she is lying to me. If I tell you, it is because I am reluctant to cry. Shea is getting married, and I’m lying to you.”

The relaxed expression on Mike’s face dissipated, and he asked solemnly: “What happened to the two of you? Today is the day when Shea and Wesley are overjoyed, can you not be so disappointing? Aren’t you afraid that you will ruin Shea’s wedding and make Shea unhappy in the future?”

Elliot frowned: “What nonsense are you talking about? No matter what happens to Avery and I, Shea will definitely be happy. Yes!”

Mike realized his crow’s mouth, and immediately patted his mouth: “I’m talking nonsense! Didn’t I want you not to lose that face? What about Avery? At lunch, she was fine. “

“She pretended.” Elliot didn’t take Mike as an outsider, “She’s acting is getting better and better.”

“Oh, isn’t she afraid of affecting everyone’s mood? I don’t even act like you.” Mike teased him, “Tell me, what happened to the two of you?”

“We’re both fine.” Elliot walked to the bar and took a glass of champagne, “If I have anything to do with her, I will only have that matter.”

Elliot didn’t say it clearly, but Mike understood.

“Rebecca is here? Or did she find Avery?” Mike also took a glass of champagne and gently shook the liquid in the glass.

“Rebecca didn’t look for me or Avery, she went to Ben Schaffer.” Elliot took a sip of wine and said in a low voice, “She gave birth.”

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

“Oh.” Mike’s face was ashen, and his voice became colder. “Do you really want that child?”

“Can you have some brains?” Elliot scolded coldly.

“Since you don’t want that child, and you don’t want that child to affect your relationship with Avery, why don’t you get rid of that child?” Mike’s voice turned cold and evil, “Rebecca is not a good person, You are not a good person either, you either kill that child or Rebecca, and then send that child to a place where no one can find it, so that you will have no worries.”

Elliot was shocked by his remarks and was speechless.

“Why are you staring at me like that? Elliot, don’t you think I’m vicious?” Mike sneered, “Because that child is your own flesh and blood, so you have the heart to keep this shame and keep her. It will hurt Avery and your three children for a lifetime! You are such a good husband and father!”

“It was a mistake for you to let this child be born.” Seeing that Elliot was speechless for a long time, Mike continued, “Of course Now that you are determined to change, there is still a chance! If you can’t bear to do it, do you want me to find someone to do it?”

“Don’t be impulsive!” Elliot put the wine glass on the marble table again, “Did you know that what are you talking about? Are you drinking too much?! Let’s talk when you wake up!”

“I’m not f*cking drunk! I’m not drunk!” Mike touched the bottle of champagne in front of him with a wine glass. The glass made a crisp sound, “After drinking this bottle, I won’t get drunk!”

Mike’s voice was too loud, which successfully attracted Chad.

“What are you yelling at? So loud!” Chad dragged Mike away from Elliot’s close range, "Drinking a little wine and going crazy! Shame on you."

Mike threw the wine glass on the bar and pushed Chad away: "I didn't Drunk! I can't get used to Elliot's coward! He's not a man. He's not a thing. I think he's been upset for a long time! I..."

Mike's shouting attracted many guests to watch.

Chapter 1642

Chad saw Elliot's face getting more and more gloomy, so he raised his hand and gave him a punch on face.

"Are you awake? This is not a bar. This is Shea and Wesley's wedding." Chad dragged Mike to the guest room.

After Chad took Mike away, the two elders of the Brook family immediately walked to Elliot.

"Elliot, are you alright? Why did the two of you quarrel?"

Elliot shook his head: "I'm fine. He drank a lot, and he's a little over the top."

Nolan said, "I think they drank a lot at noon. You've been busy for a long time, so it's time to take a rest."

Elliot: "Well."

About half an hour later, when Layla woke up, Avery brought her to the banquet hall to eat fruit.

Wesley walked up to Avery and called her, "Mike and Elliot had a conflict about half an hour ago."

A series of big question marks appeared in Avery's mind.

It was only in the morning that Elliot had a conflict with Ben Schaffer, and he had a conflict with Mike in the afternoon.

Today's wedding, can you calm down?

"Where did Elliot go?" Avery asked.

Wesley said, "Go to Robert's room. Go and see, don't quarrel with him. I feel that they are a little strange today."

"Brother Wesley, don't think too much, it's actually nothing. They all drank today, Usually at my house, they often quarrel." Avery let out a faint smile, and then said, "Layla will be handed over to you."

Avery walked towards Robert's resting room.

Robert woke up and was drinking milk while holding a milk bottle.

Elliot looked at Robert kindly. From his face, it was impossible to see that unpleasantness had happened.

"Elliot, didn't you take a nap?" Avery walked over to him and took hold of him,

"Why don't you go to sleep for a while?"

Instead of asking him, Avery pulled him out directly to the Room.

"I'm not sleepy." Elliot replied, "Robert woke up just now. He cried when he saw me.

Avery: "He didn't want you to hug him. What is Mike arguing about? Let me guess, is it because of Rebecca?"

Avery's expression was calm and her tone was calm.

"Well." Elliot looked into her eyes and asked in a hoarse voice, "Avery, tell me what I should do?"

"Why do you ask? Didn't we agree before? Just do as we said before." Avery wrapped her arms around his waist and rested her head on his chest, "Elliot, I'm a little uncomfortable this morning, but I've already thought about it."

"I'm sorry." Elliot apologized.

"You don't have to apologize to me. It's not because of you that I feel bad." Avery put her hand over his lips.

Elliot held her hand, his eyes were cold, and his voice was even colder: “Last year, before I left Yonroeville, I should have killed the child. Now that the child is born, I can’t kill that child.”

Chapter 1643

Avery was startled by these remarks.

“Elliot, I never thought of asking you to kill that child. Whether it was before or now, I have never had such an idea. I will not let you kill.” Avery held him tightly with both hands.

“I know you won’t force me like this...” Elliot’s Adam’s apple rolled up and down, looking at her with scarlet eyes, “Avery, I’m willing to do anything for you, because I know you love me a long time ago better than anything else.”

“Of course. Elliot, I couldn’t think of it this morning. I always knew in my heart that she would give birth to a child, raise her child, and come to you. I will accept it tomorrow. All this, I shouldn’t be angry again and again for this.” Avery whispered.

Elliot: “Avery, thank you for forgiving me.”

Avery said firmly, “Elliot, don’t thank you. Because you are forgiving me as well. No one can separate us, I want to be with you in my life, and I will die. I want to be buried with you.”

“Me too.” Elliot said emotionally, wrapping her arms tightly in his arms.

...

Yonroeville.

11 o’clock at night.

Haze let out a sheep-like cry.

Rebecca woke up from a light sleep.

“Miss, go to sleep, I’ll make her milk powder.” The nanny in charge of taking care of Haze said softly.

Rebecca reached out and rubbed her eyes: “Come on! I want to take good care of Haze. Whether I can see Elliot again in the future depends on this little guy.”

Rebecca got out of bed and took the bottle from the table and was cleaning.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

The nanny: “Miss, you are so burdened for this child. Elliot can’t see it. Even if he does, he won’t feel sorry for you.”

Rebecca froze for a moment.

After sterilizing the bottle, she skillfully prepares the milk for the child.

“I have never been loved by Elliot, so I have never felt what true love is like. The reason why I hope he can come back to me is because this is the only good man I can possibly catch.” Rebecca said willingly, “Only a good man like Elliot is worthy of me.”

The nanny sighed: “What about Lorenzo? Lorenzo is also very good. These days when you gave birth, he has been taking care of you and your child with all his heart. “

Rebecca said disdainfully, “He’s far from good enough. If it wasn’t for everything our Jobin family gave him, he would be just an orphan. He doesn’t deserve to be compared with Elliot.”

The nanny: “But Elliot’s background is not good. I heard that he is not the real young master of the Foster family. His biological parents are just low-class people.”

These words deeply stimulated Rebecca.

“His biological parents are lowly, what does it have to do with him?” Rebecca hugged Haze, while nursing the child and refuting the nanny, “He entered the Foster family at a very young age and received the best education since he was a child. The noble temperament on his body can be seen at a glance. He is different from ordinary people.”

The nanny said, "Okay, miss, since you say so, then you should let Lorenzo give up! Otherwise, he has been fantasizing...I talked to him and he said he doesn't mind taking care of Haze with you."

Rebecca sarcastically said, "Hehe, he doesn't mind me, I mind him. But I Reject him directly. Dad is gone, I need him to help me with things. He'd better stay by my side all his life and be a cow and a horse for me. Although he is not a good husband, he is definitely a good man."

Nanny: " Miss, if you let Lorenzo know about your thoughts, he will definitely be sad."

"If you don't tell me, I won't tell him, how would he know. I'll definitely give him a little sweetness occasionally..." After watching the child finish the milk, Rebecca handed Haze to the nanny, "It's up to you to bring it. I can't make myself a yellowfaced woman because of this little thing."

The nanny took Haze and planned to take her out.

"I still have hope." Rebecca couldn't help showing off, "Ben Schaffer said to come to see me for a while."

The nanny said unexpectedly, "Really? That must be Elliot who asked him to come, right?"

"Yes, I thought so too. Although I asked him, he said no. If Elliot hadn't asked him to come, why would he have come all the way to see me and Haze? So we have to take care of Haze. She is my only bargaining chip." Rebecca said.

Chapter 1644

After about a week or so, Ben Schaffer set off from the airport of Aryadelle and appeared at the capital airport of Yonroeville in a low-key manner.

On this trip, he didn't specifically report to Elliot again. But when he called Elliot to ask for leave, Elliot didn't ask anything. The things they said at Shea's wedding before were like mirrors in their hearts.

Ben Schaffer strode out of the airport, and a figure immediately swayed in front of him.

“Are you Mr. Schaffer?” A middle-aged man asked politely.

Ben Schaffer nodded.

“My lady sent me to pick you up. Please come here.” The middle-aged man said.

Ben Schaffer saw that the other party was polite, so he followed. He originally wanted to contact Rebecca after he came over, but Rebecca kept asking him when he would come.

So before boarding the plane, he sent Rebecca flight information.

Half an hour later, the car stopped in front of a villa.

Ben Schaffer got off the car, and the nanny came out immediately and invited him into the house.

“Our lady is still in confinement and is not suitable to go out. Please forgive me.”

The nanny explained.

“Is Hazel okay?” Ben Schaffer was more concerned about the child.

“The doctor comes every day. The doctor said this morning that Hazel is fine. As long as there is no recurrence within a month, it will be fine.” The nanny brought Ben Schaffer into the house.

After changing the shoes, Ben Schaffer saw Rebecca holding Hazel in the living room.

“Hello Ben Schaffer.” Rebecca walked to Ben Schaffer and greeted him gently,

“Thank you for coming to see me and Haze. When Haze grows up, I will definitely tell Haze that Your Uncle Ben has given this name to you.”

Ben Schaffer looked at Haze in Rebecca’s arms.

The little guy was much smaller than expected.

She slept soundly with her eyes closed.

“Do you want to hug Haze?” Rebecca asked.

Ben Schaffer coughed lightly: “she’s too young, I can’t hold her. And she’s sleeping, I’m afraid to wake her up.”

“She won’t wake up. She has 24 hours a day, about 20 hours of sleep.” Rebecca took the initiative to hand the child to Ben Schaffer, “Elliot can’t come here. If you hug her, it counts as Elliot hugging her too.”

Ben Schaffer was afraid that Haze would fall to the ground, so he immediately stretched out his hands and took the child over.

Probably because his posture was too rigid, after the child was held in his arms, he opened his big bright eyes shortly after.

The moment Ben met the child’s dark eyes, Ben Schaffer’s heart was struck like an electric shock!

This child, this living child...isn’t it Layla?

Ben Schaffer stared blankly at the child’s little face, speechless in surprise.

Rebecca noticed ben’s abnormality. She smiled sweetly and said, “Do you think Haze is very similar to Layla? Because she is Elliot’s child, she and Layla are a bit similar. If Elliot could see her with his own eyes, definitely not willing to abandon her.”

Ben Schaffer recovered from the shock.

“Rebecca, Layla looks like Avery, not Elliot.”

“I’ve seen photos of Layla, and I think Layla also looks like Elliot otherwise, how would you explain it? Elliot’s child and I look like Layla?” Rebecca argued with him.

Ben Schaffer was speechless when Rebecca questioned him.

He didn’t know how to answer, and he couldn’t explain it.

“The doctor said that the child may become more and more like me when he grows up.” Rebecca continued, seeing that he did not speak, “I don’t want her to look like me. I hope she can look like Elliot.”

“Rebecca, the name I gave your child... Why don’t you change it?” Ben Schaffer’s eyes fell on Rebecca, “I came here this time not only to visit the child, but also to tell you Elliot’s thoughts.”

Rebecca quietly waited for him to say the following words.

“Elliot won’t recognize this child. He don’t want this child to have his surname. So you can change the child’s surname to Jobin.” Ben Schaffer looked at her, “Hazel Jobin, it sounds very nice.”

Rebecca’s eyes were slightly red: ” Do you have to change it?”

Ben Schaffer said, “I suggest you to change it. If you choose to give this child the surname Foster, believe me, Elliot will only hate her more. If her surname is yours, Elliot may not hate her so much. Because of this incident a few days ago, he was very unhappy. I showed him the pictures of the child, and he also knew that the child looked like Layla, but this will not change the fact that he will be loyal to Avery and his marriage. “

Rebecca felt like she had been beaten by frost, and her whole body wilted.

“He won’t come here to see me and the child... If I take the child to Aryadelle to find him.”

“Don’t do this.” Ben Schaffer continued to persuade her, “At least not now. Until his relationship with Avery changes, he will never see you and Haze. If you insist on doing your best, only you and your children will be hurt. “

“I see.” Rebecca had tears in her eyes, “Ben Schaffer, when are you going to leave?”

“I don’t know. But I won’t stay here for long.” Ben Schaffer replied.

“Can you stay here for a few more days? Spend more time with Haze? I feel like you’re gone this time, and you’ll never come again.” Rebecca choked, “Maybe I gave birth to Haze, just one Wrong.”

Seeing her so pessimistic and painful, Ben Schaffer couldn’t bear it and said, “I’ll stay for three days at most.”

“Thank you. Can you stay at my house? After my father died, I was the only one at home. I often feel like a dream.” Rebecca and the child now lived in the house where Kyrie lived before.

Ben Schaffer looked around.

In this house, in addition to Rebecca and Haze, there were several nanny and bodyguards. He’s not too embarrassed to live here. In addition, he came here to see Haze, so living here makes it more convenient to see Haze.

Ben: “That’s bothering me.”

“Why bother? It would be great if you could come to see Haze every year.”

Rebecca said gratefully.

“As long as you don’t mess around, I can come to see you every year.” Ben Schaffer’s eyes fell on Haze’s face and couldn’t help but praise, “Haze is so cute. As cute as Layla.”

.....

Aryadelle.

p>The series of events involved in the listing review of Wonder Technologies was dubbed the black swan event by netizens.

No one would have imagined that such a large company would fail. Not only did it go down, but it was also implicated in more serious economic crimes.

Even Elliot was involved.

At the Tate Industries’s new product launch conference, reporters raised their hands and asked Avery questions.

“Ms. Tate, some people said that Wonder Technologies was destroyed by Tate Industries. I wonder if you have anything to explain.” The reporter asked.

Avery looked at the camera calmly: “You should ask this question to the person who said Wonder Technologies was destroyed by Tate Industries. Because I don’t know anything about it. My team doesn’t know either.”

The reporter continued to ask : “Ms. Tate, I heard that the new product you launched this time was originally planned by Wonder Technologies... You poached the R&D team of Wonder Technologies before Wonder Technologies was ready to launch the new product. Is this something?”

Avery: “I don’t know if everyone skips the slot. If you skip the slot, then you should be able to understand other people’s job-hopping behavior.”

“Ms. Tate, now the Tate Industries is affiliated to the Sterling Group, Is it under the control of Sterling Group, or is it operated independently?”

Avery: “Up to now, the management has been with the original team.”

“Ms. Tate, is it true that Sofia, the legal person of Wonder Technologies, was sentenced to five years in the first instance? She is really Elliot’s mother. Is the relationship between their mother and son not very good? The Internet said that Sofia was framed, if it wasn’t for Elliot, why didn’t Elliot help her?” The reporter threw more tricky questions.

Mike directly took the microphone from Avery and answered for her: “Do you think Elliot is a god, or do you think Elliot is a law maker? Sofia has committed a crime, so she must be punished by the law. In Aryadelle, you must abide by the rules of Aryadelle. The law, I thought it was common sense that everyone knew, but I didn’t expect you to understand it.”

The reporter who asked questions from the audience turned pale and red.

“Also, you care so much about Elliot’s relationship with the f*ck, why don’t you leave me a number, and when the press conference is over, I’ll let him call you directly, okay?” Mike’s tone carried Strong smoke smell.

Avery brought the microphone over to ease the atmosphere of the scene.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

“I hope all journalists and friends will ask more questions related to the press conference. I will not reply to any irrelevant questions in the future. Thank you for your understanding.”

After half an hour, the event ended.

Mike unscrewed a bottle of water and handed it to Avery.

“Is there a sense of emptiness?” Mike picked up his water bottle, took a sip, and asked.

“You mean Wonder Technologies has collapsed, and I have no rivals, so it will be very empty?” Avery took a sip of water and began to think about this question carefully, “There is no emptiness. Because Wanda took so much money, I don’t know now. Where are you going to be happy. Every time I think about it, my heart aches.”

“Wash your face with tears!” Avery picked up the phone and glanced at the time,

“No wonder I feel hungry, let’s go eat!”

Mike: “Well.”

“I want to see Sofia in the afternoon.” Avery walked from the hotel with him,

“Sofia called me once before, and Hayden answered.”

Mike teased, “Sofia wants to ask you for help, right? It’s useless for her to ask you. But it’s okay for you to visit her, anyway, Elliot won’t look at it.”

“Why do you have such a big opinion on Elliot? It’s okay for you to say that in front of me, but don't do it in front of him." Avery looked up at Mike, and quickly changed her mind, "Don't say it in front of me either. I also feel sad."

Mike pursed his lips, looking sullen.

"I'm very good with him now. The past is over." Avery continued, "Mike, people move forward. I let him go, and I let go of myself."

Mike was greatly touched when he heard her words.

Mike: "I see. As long as you are really happy, I don't have to be so careful."

"I am really happy. Elliot is very good to me and to our children." Avery recalled the relationship between himself and Elliot. Along the way, the corners of her mouth couldn't help but rise, "But I'm going to see Sofia, and I don't want to tell her for the time being. I'm afraid he's in a bad mood."

Sofia was a little surprised when she saw Avery.

"Did Elliot ask you to come?" Sofia wore handcuffs on her hands, her eyes flashing with hope.

Avery shook her head: "Auntie, he's been a little busy recently. When he's not so busy in the future, I'll bring him to see you together."

"I know he's a busy man. Don't ask him to come to see me, I don't want him to come to see me. The children I brought up feel that I am a shame and have never come to see me." Sofia said sadly, "It can be considered that I am selfinflicted and deserved."

Avery didn't know how to answer.

"Auntie, you still have the opportunity to commute your sentence. If you can commute your sentence, you must be careful when you come out later, and don't be deceived by unfamiliar people again."

"Thank you for comforting me." Sofia was a little moved. Also a little uncomfortable.

Avery said, "If you need anything in the future, you can call me and I'll bring it to you. I can't help you, I can only do small things for you.”

Sofia: “You can have this heart, I'm very touched.”

Visiting time soon arrived.

Avery watched Sofia being taken away with a heavy and complicated mood.

Five years, for young people, may have passed in a flash, but when Sofia is old, after spending five years in prison, she may feel that the world has changed.

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

After coming out of prison, Avery quickly adjusted her mood. She planned to talk to Elliot about Sofia at night. Probably because her parents had already left her, she didn't want to see Sofia's death tragic.

On the way back to the company, Avery received a call from Wesley. She slowed the car, put on a Bluetooth headset, and answered the phone.

“Avery, can you come to my house now?” Wesley's voice seemed to be choked with pleading.

Avery immediately pulled the car to the side and stopped.

She frowned and said worriedly, “Brother Wesley, what happened?”

Over the phone, Wesley took a deep breath: “Shea is pregnant.”

Avery was stunned.

.....

Brook family.

Shea sat on the sofa, crying with tears all over her face.

Elliot stood in front of her with a solemn expression, his body tense.

Before getting close to him, Shea could feel the chill emanating from him.

Wesley stood beside Elliot, as if he was afraid that Elliot would get angry and attack Shea.

After Avery arrived, Wesley immediately pulled Elliot away a few steps.

“Brother Wesley, what’s going on? Why is Shea pregnant?” Avery stood in front of Elliot and asked Wesley.

“Avery, it was me... I did it on purpose.” Shea cried with red eyes and her voice was intermittent, “I want children... I see you have children, I am very envious.So I...”

Shea said here, crying out of breath, and the words that followed were stuck in her mouth and couldn’t come out.

Wesley stretched out his hand to pat her on the back, and by the way continued her words: “She didn’t know where to learn the method, but she punctured the condom.”

Avery was silent.

Shea actually did such a bold thing. She clearly knew that she was weak and it was best not to have children.

Elliot reminded her, and Avery also reminded her.

And when they reminded her, their attitude was very serious.

Shea promised well at the time, but behind the scenes, she did such a thing!

“Where did you learn it?” Elliot clenched his fists and roared furiously, “Who taught you to do this?!”

“No... no one taught... I have it on my phone. Look...” Shea hugged Wesley’s arm and looked at Elliot with a look of fear, “Brother, I’m sorry...I’m not obedient again...but I’m really sorry. I want to give birth to a child for Wesley...”

“No!” Elliot interrupted her, “Before the child is formed, hurry up and destroy it. This will do the least damage to you.”

Shea tears, Immediately burst the embankment.

Wesley wiped her tears with a tissue and comforted her: “Shea, listen to your brother. This time it’s my fault. When you knock the child off, I’ll tie it up.”

Elliot accused, "You shouldn't have a relationship with her at all. I didn't agree with the two of you at the beginning, because I was worried about this! Wesley, you can't take care of Shea at all!"

This chapter is provided by infobagh.com. Visit infobagh.com for daily update.

Facing Elliot's accusation, Wesley was Silent.

For Shea to be pregnant, he felt guilty and deserved death and was to blame.

"Elliot, don't blame Brother Wesley. Brother Wesley definitely doesn't want Shea to get pregnant." Avery immediately spoke to ease the atmosphere when she saw the conflict intensifying.

"If he doesn't want Shea to get pregnant, in addition to not having s-e-x with Shea, he can get sterilized before having s-e-x! But he didn't do that! Even if he wears a condom, there is a risk of unintended pregnancy. I really see it. He doesn't have the sincerity to take good care of Shea." Elliot looked at Avery and raised his doubts.

"Elliot, just let Shea kill the child. Don't make such a big fire. You scared Shea." Avery glanced at Shea.

Shea crying eyes were swollen. Avery hasn't seen her so sad in a long time.

"Okay, I'm not angry." Elliot rolled his Adam's apple up and down, and looked at Shea with sharp eyes, "Shea, I'll take you to the hospital. After the operation, you can go home with me. This matter is nothing to do with it."

Hearing the words, Shea immediately hugged Wesley's body, unwilling to go to the hospital with Elliot, and unwilling to separate from Wesley.

Wesley didn't have the confidence to confront Elliot. He really didn't take good care of Shea, so it was the best choice for Shea to return to Elliot.

Wesley: "Shea, listen to your brother."

"Don't... Wesley, you're not wrong... I don't want my brother to blame you."

Shea cried, got off the sofa and walked to Avery, "Avery, please help me and Wesley! I don't want to kill the child, and I don't want to be separated from Wesley. I love Wesley, and Wesley also loves me."

"Shea, don't cry." Avery took a tissue to wipe her tears gently, and said softly, word by word, "Your body is not suitable for having children. You may not be able to have children by then, and you will lose your life. Don't gamble. There is only one life, and if you lose the bet, you will have nothing."

Shea thought about these words seriously and said, "In the end, she made up her mind and said, "I still want to give birth to this baby. Avery, can I live according to my own ideas like a normal person... If I die accidentally, I won't regret it either."

"You don't regret... You don't regret it! You don't regret it when you die, so what about me?!" The expression on Elliot's face became more and more fierce.

Avery should speak for Shea, but she can't.

Shea only thinks about herself, not Elliot's mood at all.

Elliot has protected her well, and has protected her so far, how can she see her finding her own way?

It was as if he was holding a knife into his heart.

"Brother, I think I can have a baby. You see I'm fine now, I'm almost like a normal person." Shea wanted to gamble.

She dared not tell anyone that the reason why she wanted to gamble was not because she had an obsession with children, but because Wesley's mother asked her to have a child for Wesley, and she agreed.

For her, if shea promised something to others, she must do it.

Otherwise she will have a bad conscience.

"Where are you like a normal person? You're far from a normal person!" Elliot was never willing to scold her, but now, if she didn't wake her up, she would insist on doing her own thing, "Normal people have brains, do you have any brains? Normal people would not seek death, how about you?"

"Don't scold her." Wesley couldn't listen anymore, so he interrupted him sharply, "It's all my fault, it's because I didn't take good measures."

Avery looked at the soaring blue veins on Wesley's forehead.

She has never seen him so angry.

"Elliot, I believe Big Brother Wesley will persuade Shea. Let's go first! Let them calm down." Avery held Elliot's big palm tightly and wanted to take him out of here.

His palms were a little stiff, and when Avery held his hands, she could clearly feel his body trembling slightly.

The stalemate between Elliot and Shea would not solve any problems at all. It was impossible for Elliot to deal with Shea the same way he dealt with her at the beginning.

Elliot looked at Shea hiding in Wesley's arms, looking frightened, as if he was a beast of a flood.

Shea used to be wronged and hid behind him. Now, she has Wesley and no longer listens to Elliot.

Elliot's heart was like falling into an ice cellar. He took his eyes away from Shea's face, turned and walked towards the door.

Seeing that he was leaving, Shea almost shouted out, "Brother! I'm sorry! I made you angry again!"

Shea used to say this to Elliot, and Elliot would be soft-hearted, but now, his heart is as hard as iron.

Elliot didn't stop. Soon, he disappeared from Shea's sight.

Shea cried into tears: "Wesley, my brother doesn't want me anymore. I made him sad."

Wesley looked at her pained appearance and was very puzzled: "Shea, tell me, why don't you listen to him?"

It was Wesley who called Elliot.

Because Wesley asked Shea to give up the child, but Shea would not listen.

Wesley could only call Elliot.

Unexpectedly, Shea didn't even listen to Elliot's words. Not only did she not listen, she also fought against him.

Wesley replaced Elliot and could understand why Elliot was so angry.

"I want to have a baby for you... Wesley, I just want this baby." Shea's voice became hoarse.

"I don't want children. Shea, I never told you that I like children." Wesley said cruelly in order to make her give up the child, "On the contrary, I hate children very much. It's enough for me to have you, I have no patience or energy to take care of children."

"But I gave birth to a baby, and I don't need your care. I can take care of the baby, and your mother can help take care of it..." Shea explained to him.

Wesley suddenly heard the mystery: "My mother said she could help to take care of our baby?"

"It was my mother who made you have a baby... It was my mother who taught you to pierce the condom... It was my mother who forced you..." Wesley speculated here, his face was ashen, and his footsteps were unstoppable and walked towards the door.

Shea was stunned.

Wesley's going to find his mother. If it was really his mother who put pressure on Shea, he would not hesitate to cut ties with her mother and stop Shea from continuing to make mistakes.

"Wesley!" Shea quickly walked in front of him, blocking his way, "Don't go to your mother...it has nothing to do with your mother. It's me who wants to give birth to you... I want to repay you."

"I don't want you to repay!" Wesley couldn't help hysterical, "If you marry me to repay me, then let's get a divorce now."

"I don't want divorce." Shea hugged him and cried bitterly again, "Wesley, each of you has your own wishes and dreams, and I have them too! My wishes and dreams are for you. I want to have a child. If I can't fulfill this wish, I will regret it for the rest of my life..."

Avery and Elliot came out of the Brook family and got into the car.

Avery looked at his resolute and stern face and the faint tears in his eyes, and felt a colic in his heart.

"Elliot, don't be sad. I will persuade Shea well." Avery wanted to give him a hug.

"She won't listen. She's stubborn, more stubborn than anyone else." Elliot said in a hoarse voice, started the engine, and drove the car out and said, "Avery, I'll take you home."

"What about you?" Avery asked.

"There is something in the company. I have to go back later today." Elliot was very busy today, Wesley called him, and he came here after leaving his job.

Avery said, "Then stop. I'll drive back by myself later. I want to stay with Shea for a while."

Elliot gritted his teeth, took a deep breath, and stopped the car.

After Avery got out of the car, she watched him drive the car away before turning around and walking towards the community.

At 4:30 in the afternoon, Elliot drove back to the company. He stepped into the office with the front foot, and the phone rang on the back foot.

He took out his mobile phone and saw a video call from Ben Schaffer.

–It should be late at night in Yonroeville now.

–Ben Schaffer made a video at this point, what's the matter?

Elliot closed the office door and took the video call.

He thought that after taking the video call, he would see Ben Schaffer's familiar face, but otherwise, what appeared in the video was not Ben Schaffer, but...

Rebecca!

During dinner, Rebecca prepared a good wine for Ben Schaffer.

And called Lorenzo to accompany Ben Schaffer to drink.

After Ben Schaffer drank too much, he vomited in a mess. Until just now, he fell into a deep sleep.

So Rebecca got his mobile phone and made a video call to Elliot.

Rebecca wanted Elliot to see Haze with his own eyes.

She was very sure that as long as Elliot saw Haze, he would definitely have feelings for this child. Maybe, he will come to Yonroeville for Haze.

“Elliot, don't hang up the video call... Please don't hang up!” Rebecca said, tears falling, “Ben Schaffer is sleeping now, I secretly took his cell phone and called you. I just want you to see our child. Ben Schaffer said that Haze looks very much like Layla... Also, I have changed Haze's name. Her name is Hazel Jobin.”

Because of this sentence, Elliot didn't hang up the video call immediately.

Rebecca adjusted the camera to be a rear camera.

Haze in the crib immediately caught Elliot's sight.

Rebecca woke Haze ahead of time, so Haze opened her big eyes and looked at the camera.

Elliot looked at the child's lively and cute little face on the screen, and his heart was instantly pinched!

"Haze, look, this is your Dad!" Rebecca picked Haze up from the bed, then turned the camera to the front, aiming at herself and the child, "Haze, you have to remember Dad! Oh! Your father is a very powerful and excellent person."

Elliot didn't listen to what Rebecca said. His eyes fixed on the child in her arms. Haze is too young now and doesn't understand anything. It happened to be that innocent and ignorant little face, which made his tough and cold heart break his defenses.

He had never seen Layla when she was born, but he could clearly see Layla's shadow from Haze's face.

"Elliot, our daughter is very good. After she was born, because of her weak body, she accidentally contracted pneumonia. For about a week, the doctor did not allow me to visit. But the doctor told me that she was very good and seldom cried. It's troublesome, so she can recover quickly." Rebecca said here, her voice choked again, "She is really good... Elliot, I know you can't come to see her, but can you talk to her once in a while? I pass a video and let Haze see you?"

"No." Elliot refused her request without thinking.

"I know...I know...Ben Schaffer told me. It was Avery who didn't let you meet me, nor did you want Haze. It was Avery who forced you to become a So..." Rebecca's tears fell on Haze's face, and Haze was startled and immediately looked up at her, "Elliot, I won't force you. Ben Schaffer asked me not to go to Aryadelle to disturb you because this will only make it difficult for you, so I won't take the child to find you. You can rest assured..."

Elliot's expression was cold and solemn: "Avery didn't force me. All my decisions, it's all the result of my own deliberation. Rebecca, I don't have any feelings for you, and there is no need for us to contact. As for this child, if you don't want to raise her, I can raise her. "

"Elliot, why did you say such cruel words?" Rebecca sobbed.

"Then don't use Hazel as a pawn to blackmail me in the future. If you do, it will only be counterproductive." Elliot gave her a vaccination in advance, "Either you raise her well, and I can give you child support."

"I'll support her by myself...I don't want child support!" Rebecca quickly made a decision, "Elliot, it seems that you are really tough. I don't want me and this child anymore..."

"I didn't want a child." Elliot corrected her, "I don't want to repeat what I said.

You won't get anything with me."

Because Elliot had already given everything to Avery.

Even if he see Haze now and feel pity for this poor little guy, he will never change his attitude towards Rebecca because of this.

"Will you really never come here to see me?" Rebecca's face was cold and pale, and her voice trembled.

"No." Elliot said. He would never go to Yonroeville, and he did what he said.

"If I don't bring my daughter to find you, will I never see you in my life?"

Rebecca asked, "Even if the child is one year old, ten years old, coming of age, graduating from college, getting married and having children, won't you come?!"

"Yes." Elliot was heartless to the end, breaking Rebecca's thoughts.

"Okay, okay...I know...I really know..." Rebecca hugged Haze, and burst into tears.

Haze was frightened and started crying.

Elliot looked at his daughter's crying face, and said with almost uncontrollable anger: "Rebecca! Can't you hear your daughter crying?! If you can't take good care of the child, then give her to me!"

Elliot cared about Haze! If he didn't care about Haze, he wouldn't be angry and scolded Rebecca for crying.

Rebecca immediately wiped away her tears, picked up Haze, and coaxed a few words softly.

After Haze stopped crying, she looked at the camera again.

Chapter 1646

Elliot hasn't ended the video call yet.

Rebecca was even more certain that Elliot had feelings for Haze and had deep feelings.

This bond of flesh and blood couldn't be stopped by anyone.

"Elliot, I didn't mean it just now. I won't lose control like this in the future. I will take good care of Haze and bring her up." Rebecca assured him.

"It's very late, put her to bed!" After Elliot finished speaking, he hung up the video call. He clutched the phone tightly, in a mess.

Before looking at the photos alone, it was not so intuitive and strong impact.

When he saw Haze in the video, her frowns and movements attracted his attention and easily tugged at his heartstrings.

If it wasn't for a reason to stop him, when he saw Haze crying just now, he would have wanted to fly to her side immediately and carry her back.

There was a knock on the office door, pulling his sanity back to reality.

Chad pushed the door open and put a cup of coffee on his table, "Boss, are you

okay?"

"Shea is pregnant." Elliot picked up the coffee cup and took a sip, "I don't want to kill it, I have to give birth."

Chad's face changed greatly: "Why is Shea like this? Wesley also... How can he be so careless?"

Elliot gritted his teeth: "Wesley followed her in everything!"

"...Yes. If Wesley treated her badly, how could shea be willing to leave your side."

Chad Sighing, "What should I do? I can't really let her give birth to the baby, right?"

"She won't listen to me." Elliot felt a throbbing pain in his heart at the thought of Shea crying and asking him to treat her as a normal person. " Avery is persuading her."

"Then let Avery persuade her.! I'm afraid she can't bear your temper." Chad said here, the conversation changed, "Brother Ben is going to Yonroeville?"

"Well." Elliot's expression darkened, "Ben is very Sympathy for Rebecca and that child."

"It's understandable that he sympathizes with that child, but why should he sympathize with Rebecca?" Chad was greatly puzzled, "Isn't Brother Ben so unclear?"

Elliot did not expect Ben Schaffer will do this.

"Then how do you explain that he lives in Rebecca's house? Is there no hotel in Yonroeville?"

Chad was surprised: "He lives in Rebecca's house?! He is crazy, what the h-e-l-l is he thinking? Shouldn't he think that Gwen doesn't look down on him and is ordered by Avery? Otherwise, why would he stand on Rebecca's side?"

Elliot: "It's not as complicated as you think. He advised Rebecca not to come to me and persuaded Rebecca to change the child's surname."

"Oh...it scared me to death. I thought he was going to be with Rebecca and against us!" Chad breathed a sigh of relief.

Elliot: "It's not."

"Well. It should be late at night on his side. I'll call him when it's dawn on his side and ask him to come back as soon as possible. Otherwise, I'm really worried about what Rebecca will do to him." Chad said.

Elliot: "Rebecca needs Ben to help her, so he won't be in danger."

Chad coughed lightly: "I'm worried that Rebecca will use a beauty trick on Brother Ben."

Elliot couldn't help admiring his imagination, "What do you have in your head? Is Ben Schaffer so hungry?"

Chad scratched his head: "Although I have never met Rebecca, I feel that Rebecca is a ruthless character. First of all, she is just married to you. When she wer Chad.What Chad just said was just an assumption.If Rebecca treats Haze badly, Elliot will do this. But Rebecca promised him in the video call that he would take good care of Haze. So this assumption should not become reality.

After coming out of Elliot's office, Chad went to the tea room to take a breath.

–Why does Shea's pregnancy make Elliot suddenly have feelings for the child in Yonroeville?

–Obviously, Elliot didn't have such an attitude towards Rebecca and the child before.

After Chad poured a large glass of cold water into his stomach, he pressed Curiosity and walked out of the tea room.

In the evening, he couldn't help but chat with Mike about it.

"I think the fact that Shea's pregnancy has stimulated my boss. Otherwise, he would not have the idea of taking Rebecca's child over." Chad said.

"Haha, scumbag!" Mike picked up the bottle and poured the wine himself, "I promised Avery, and I will treat him well in the future. Because Avery told me that she is now very happy with Elliot, a scumbag. Whoever wants to look forward, the past is gone..."

Chad was not in a hurry to defend Elliot.

"He coaxed Avery well on the surface, but in private he told you that he would take back that illegitimate daughter. He only dared to tell you the truth, do you think he dared to tell Avery that?" Mike fought for Avery.

"Mike, people who become fathers may think differently." Chad did not defend Elliot without thinking, but expressed his feelings, "No matter how naughty I was or how angry my parents were when I was a child, they would forgive me in the end. The feelings parents have for their children are constantly giving up."

"Sorry, I don't have such tolerant parents, and I have never been loved by my parents. So Elliot's behavior is disgusting in my opinion. What's the difference between him and stepping on two boats?" Mike drank the wine in one gulp and put the glass down heavily, "I can't move Elliot, but I can go and teach Rebecca a lesson!"

Chad was startled: "I think you want to court death! Yonroeville belongs to the Jobin family. The site..."

Mike sneered, "Kyrrie is dead! Yonroeville is no longer the site of the Jobin family. The era of the Jobin family is over!"

"Even so, you can't go there. Trouble with Rebecca! Rebecca is not alone now, she has a newborn baby. They will solve their business themselves. If my boss really decides to take back the child, this matter must be concealed she can't live with Avery. Avery will make his own decision at that time."

“F*ck! Avery will always be wronged, Why?” Mike jumped out of his chair and stood up.

Chad was afraid that he would mess up, and immediately pushed him back into the chair.

“Mike, don’t be impulsive. If you tell Avery what I said to you, and they break up, what good will it do for us? Besides, my boss didn’t really pick up the child. He just said that He will pick up that child only if Rebecca harm that child but that child is also Rebecca’s flesh and blood, and Rebecca will not do such cruel things.”

Chad reassured him.

Mike rubbed his eyebrows with his fingers, very confused.

Foster family.

8:00 p.m.

The black Rolls Royce slowly drove into the front yard.

Elliot went upstairs and passed the children’s room when he heard Avery telling Layla a bedtime story. So he went back to the room to take a shower.

About half an hour later, Avery came out of the children’s room and strode towards the master bedroom.

Elliot had already taken a shower and was blowing his hair.

Avery stood at the bathroom door, looking at him.

Elliot quickly dried his hair and put the hairdryer in the cupboard.

“Elliot, I talked to Shea, but as you said, she insisted on giving birth to a child.”

Avery’s face couldn’t hide the tiredness, “Even if I told her that giving birth to a child might lead to death, she said she was not afraid. “

Of course she’s not afraid. If she was a little bit afraid of death, she wouldn’t foolishly give blood to Robert.” Elliot was not surprised by this result.

“What should I do?” Avery was worried, “I talked to Brother Wesley, and Brother Wesley said that he had nothing to do with Shea.”

“He’s a bum!” Elliot couldn’t help scolding, “Since he can’t control it. Shea, you shouldn’t promise to take good care of Shea! Shea is a fool, is Wesley also a fool?”

Avery looked at the angry blue veins on his forehead, and the words he just said echoed in her mind.

Elliot hated the most when others said Shea was a fool. But now, the words came out of his mouth. This means that he lost his mind in anger. He also quickly realized that he had said something wrong, but he didn’t want to correct it.

Because Shea’s current behavior is simply hopelessly stupid.

“You ask me what to do, I don’t know either. If I force her to have an abortion, she will hate me for the rest of her life. And maybe she will secretly get pregnant in the future and won’t tell me anymore...” Elliot said.

“Elliot, let her give birth!” Avery grabbed his arm and looked at him fixedly, “I know you won’t force her. In that case, don’t force yourself.”

Elliot’s mood relaxed a little.

The two went to bed and lay down, Avery turned off the light. Her eyes were open and she couldn’t sleep. She knew that Elliot couldn’t sleep either.

This afternoon, she failed to persuade Shea. When Wesley sent her away, she told her that Shea was like this because of his mother. Her mood was more complicated.

Although Wesley said that she would go to her mother and let her persuade Shea, she felt that there was little hope. Moreover, she did not dare to tell Elliot the truth.

If she told to Elliot, Elliot might find trouble with her.

If this happens, it will become more and more out of control.

“Avery, what are you thinking?” Elliot saw her eyes open by the moonlight outside the window.

The way she opened her eyes and didn’t speak made him vaguely uneasy.

Avery turned to him and whispered, “Thinking about all kinds of things... my mind is very messy. When I was young, I always thought that I could change everything, but in just ten year , the mentality has undergone earth-shaking changes.”

“Don’t be pessimistic about it.” Elliot comforted.

“It’s not pessimism. It’s that I feel that I can do very little. I thought that after I studied medicine, I could take good care of my mother and let my mother live a long time, but in the blink of an eye, she left me. I thought she was like Tammy. The princess who is held by her parents will be carefree in this life, but her fate has made her experience pain that ordinary people can’t bear. I also thought that Shea would die and be safe and happy in the second half of her life, but...”

Hearing her murmuring beside the pillow, his mood became extremely heavy and depressed. She thought Elliot would say something, but he said nothing.

The sudden silence made her heart pound violently.

“Elliot, I was going to see your mother.” Avery changed the subject.

Elliot responded with a sound from his chest.

“I asked the prison administrator how the sentence could be reduced.” Avery told him her thoughts truthfully, “Sofia is getting older, and she fell to this point because she was framed by Wanda. Let’s help her!”

Elliot’s breathing was a little heavy, and his voice was calm: “How can we reduce the sentence?”

“Performed well during the sentence, or made meritorious contributions, or made outstanding contributions to society.” Avery told him the method she inquired about, “We can let Sofia Donate a large sum of money to social charities, or repair the prison.”

“Avery if you’re sure you want to help her, then help her!” Elliot had no objection to this, “I will pay for how much money you need.”

“Okay.” Avery stretched out her arms and hugged his body, “Elliot, the reason why I dare to tell you is because I know you won’t refuse.”

“She’s not guilty of this, but I feel bad for her.” Elliot said.

Avery: “Then I’ll handle the matters related to her. If there are no special circumstances, I won’t tell you about her.”

Elliot: “Well.”

“Elliot, let’s sleep, if Brother Wesley can’t solve it, and we certainly can’t.” Avery put her head in his neck and rubbed lightly.

“You go to sleep first.” Elliot’s big palm landed on her back and patted her back lightly, “I’ll sleep when you fall asleep.”

His palm patted her back, as if Magic, she fell asleep quickly.

.....

Yonroeville.

When Ben Schaffer woke up, the sky was already bright. He took a deep breath with a headache.

“F*ck! Why does my head hurt so much?” Ben lifted the quilt, found his phone, and turned it on.

No missed calls, no unread messages. No one in the country was looking for him. Ben’s heart was a little lost, a little sentimental. He has been in Yonroeville for a whole day and night.

–Doesn’t Elliot care about him at all? Even if he doesn’t care about him, doesn’t he care about Haze?

Ben went to the bathroom to wash his face and came out of the room.

Rebecca was playing with the children in the living room.

Haze was lying in the crib with her eyes open. Rebecca took a small toy and dangled it in front of her.

The scene was very warm.

“Brother Schaffer, are you up yet?” Rebecca saw Ben Schaffer come out and immediately put down the toys, “I asked the nanny to boil the soup, you should drink some soup first!”

“Where’s Lorenzo?” Ben Schaffer walked over to the baby. At the bedside, he glanced at Haze.

Haze is still like yesterday, cute, innocent, soft, and small. If it weren’t for the smell of alcohol on his body, Ben Schaffer really wanted to hold her in his arms.

“I asked the driver to take Lorenzo back last night.” Rebecca replied, “He doesn’t live with me.”

“Oh...actually you can stay with him. I heard that he is very I like you.”

“Brother Schaffer, Elliot asked you to come here, right? Although you don’t admit it, I can see it.” Rebecca pulled out a humble smile, “Yesterday you persuaded me to change the child’s surname and I don’t take the child to Aryadelle, I promise you. Ben, you started to persuade me to marry Lorenzo.”

Ben Schaffer scratched his head embarrassedly: “It’s not that he asked me to come. I came here mainly to see Child.”

Rebecca: “If you want to see the child, I’ll show it to you. You don’t have to persuade me to marry Lorenzo. You make it seem like I can’t get married.”

“Rebecca, that’s not what I meant. If you want to marry another man, you can. I don’t think you need to spend your youth on Elliot. He and Avery have three children, even if he is not for Avery, It's impossible to choose you just for those three children." Ben Schaffer reasoned with her.

Rebecca: "Understood."

"Also... if you bring Haze, will it affect your future mate choice?" Ben Schaffer said about the purpose of his trip, "I can take Haze, and you want to see it later. Haze, you can come and see at any time."

No matter how good Rebecca was in disguise, her temper couldn't help but explode at this time.

"I called you Big Brother Schaffer, I respect you so much, yet you want to take away my child." Rebecca blushed and was furious, "You are going too far! Since you hit my daughter's mind, I can't let you continue to live here. Let's go!"

Ben Schaffer saw the ferocious bodyguard next to him, and immediately went back to his room to pack his luggage.

After coming out of Rebecca's house, Ben Schaffer glanced at the time. He originally wanted to call Elliot to tell him about his trip, but because it was late at night in Aryadelle, he could only give up.

But he didn't vomit unpleasantly, so he sent a message to Elliot: [I tested Rebecca just now, and I asked her if she could take Haze away with me, so that she could start a new life in the future.]

Foster family, master bedroom.

Ben Schaffer's news got into Elliot's phone. The moment the screen of the mobile phone turned on, Avery was awakened by the white light.

She slept lightly, so she woke up now with a particularly clear mind. She stared blankly at Elliot's bright mobile phone on the bedside table. After thinking for a few seconds, she got out of bed to drink water, and took a look at his mobile phone.

Ben Schaffer's message immediately caught her eye.

Ben Schaffer tested Rebecca and asked if he could take Haze...

Why did Ben Schaffer test Rebecca? Why do you want to take Haze away?

The child belonged to Elliot, not Ben Schaffer, so Ben Schaffer did what Elliot meant, right? !

——Elliot wants that child!

Avery put down his mobile phone and went back to the bed to lie down.

Her mind was in chaos. She didn't expect that Elliot promised her that he would not want the child, but in private, his best friend was trying to find a way to have the child.

It's just a pity that Rebecca refused to give the child to Ben Schaffer.

She doesn't know if Elliot wants a child and Rebecca will give it. In her heart, like a needle pierced, there was a dense pain.

She thought that she and Elliot had overcome all difficulties. In the future, if the husband and wife are of one mind, no difficulty will be able to stop them.

Unexpectedly, everything good is just an illusion. The two of them have different dreams in the same bed.

Avery fell asleep.

She opened her eyes and looked out the window. She didn't know how long it took. The dark night like thick ink seemed to be mixed with water, and it melted and faded little by little until it turned white.

Her eyes were sore, and the pain in her heart did not ease in the slightest. She closed her eyes and forced herself to fall asleep as quickly as possible.

At 7:00 in the morning, Elliot woke up.

His conditioned reflex glanced at Avery. She slept soundly, and she was probably too tired yesterday.

Elliot picked up the phone and saw the message from Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer: [I tested Rebecca just now, and I asked her if she could take Haze with me, so that she could start a new life in the future, my good fellow, she was blown away!]

Half an hour after this message, Ben Schaffer sent several more messages.

Ben Schaffer: [When I asked her to be with Lorenzo, not only did she not listen, but she felt that I had insulted her. She just kicked me out of her house. I am now ready to go to the airport and go home]

Ben Schaffer: [By the way, I forgot to tell you that after I came here, I originally booked a hotel, but Rebecca kept me at her house so that I could see Haze. You never know how cute Haze is! If I didn't say that this child was born by Rebecca, I would have thought it was your and Avery's child. Really f*cking like Layla! I took a lot of photos of Haze, and I will show you when I return home.]

The latter two messages were sent later, so Avery didn't see them.

After Elliot read the message he sent, he glanced at Avery.

Ben Schaffer said that Haze is like his and Avery's child, if this child is really his and Avery's child... that's great!

Then there will be no contradiction.

It is a pity that God did not wish.

Elliot got out of bed and went to wash. When he went downstairs to finish breakfast and came up again, Avery was still sleeping. And slept very deeply. He reached out and touched her cheek, which was soft, warm, and nice to the touch. Her body temperature was normal and her breathing was normal, just didn't know why she was still sleeping.

—She usually wakes up with him.

—Did she not sleep last night?

After Elliot changed his clothes, he sat down beside the bed, not in a hurry to go out.

About half an hour later, Avery turned over, Elliot glanced at the time, it was almost 9 o'clock. So Elliot tried calling her out.

Avery heard the sound and opened her eyes immediately.

Elliot said, "Avery, didn't you sleep last night? Did you wake up at night?"

Avery reached out and rubbed her eyes, recalling what happened last night in her mind.

"No...I probably didn't take a nap yesterday." Avery propped herself up and sat up, "What time is it? Are you going to work?"

"I don't think you're awake yet, I'm afraid your body uncomfortable." Elliot said.

Avery smiled and shook her head: "I'm fine...you go to work!"

"Well, if you haven't slept well, continue to sleep. Company affairs are secondary."

Elliot stamped on her forehead With a kiss, "I'm leaving."

Avery responded and watched him leave the room. After Elliot left, she immediately lay down on the bed. She didn't get enough sleep and was a little dizzy. But continued to sleep and couldn't sleep. She picked up the phone, but didn't know what to do. She want to talk, but doesn't know who to talk to, and doesn't think it's appropriate to talk to anyone.

After all, Elliot hasn't had a showdown with her yet.

But what is certain is that Elliot has feelings for the daughter of Yonroeville.

.....

Sterling Group.

Not long after Elliot arrived at the company, Ben Schaffer pushed open the door of his office and broke in directly.

"I went home to take a shower after I got off the plane, and I came over after taking a shower." Ben Schaffer sat down in the chair opposite him and tapped his fingers on the table, "Take me a cup of coffee, and I'll show you a picture of your daughter."

Elliot: "You were drunk at Rebecca's house, and Rebecca took your mobile phone and made a video call with me."

Ben Schaffer: "!!!"

"In a stranger's house, you are so unprepared, I don't know. You should say that you have a big heart, or you should say that you are getting more and more stupid." Elliot said, picked up his mobile phone, called Chad, and asked him to order coffee.

Ben Schaffer raised his hand and rubbed his temple: "Rebecca took my mobile phone secretly! Where did she get the face to drive me away!"

"You and Lorenzo are drinking, how dare you get drunk? You don't know who Lorenzo is. What kind of person?" Elliot said sharply.

"I know he's not a good person, but I have no grievances with him." Ben Schaffer expressed his thoughts, "I want to do work for Lorenzo and let him be with Rebecca well. I won't come to you again."

Elliot: "Rebecca hasn't liked Lorenzo for so many years, how could it change because you work for them."

"Whether it's useful or not, I said that I feel at ease." Ben Schaffer said, "Since you have a video call with Rebecca, you must have seen Haze, right?"

Elliot: "Well."

"Is it very similar to Layla? Isn't it?" Ben Schaffer turned on the phone and showed him Haze. "I really want to bring this child back, but unfortunately Rebecca won't let it."

"What are you going to do with it? Before you make a plan, if you bring her back, you will bring her back with a ticking time bomb."

"Bring it back first! Yonroeville is too far away. It's not easy to see her once." Ben

Schaffer saw that he was watching Haze's video with a serious face, and teased, "I thought I was going to see Haze, you would Angry!"

Elliot turned his ridicule on deaf ears: "How would you feel if Avery saw Haze?"

"I don't know...but I don't think she should be so angry. Because this child, is a replica of Layla." Ben Schaffer guessed, "If Haze looked like Rebecca, I wouldn't go all the way to see her."

Elliot quickly calmed down and returned the phone to him, "I promised Avery's matter, which cannot be overturned."

"Whatever you want. I will visit her every year. I will visit her in my own name."

Ben Schaffer said.

.....

The Brook family.

Wesley had an in-depth chat with her mother yesterday about the dangers of Shea's pregnancy and the consequences of Shea's accident if she forcibly gave birth to a child. Sandra was frightened.

Wesley said that if Shea died because she gave birth to a child, he would not live alone.

"Shea, it's my fault. I thought that now with the advancement of medicine, your body will be the same as a normal person, but Wesley told me that your body can't return to the state of a normal person." Holding Shea's hand, Sandra persuaded, "You should listen to Wesley's words and go and kill the child!"

With Sandra's words, Shea lowered her head, and the burden in his heart was not so heavy.

Wesley felt relieved when he saw that Shea was not so stubborn.

Sure enough, it was the mother who put pressure on Shea, so that Shea would not hesitate to resist Elliot and have children.

Shea listened to her mother's words so much out of love for him. Otherwise, she wouldn't have to take her mother's words as instructions at all.

"Although I really want to hold my grandson, my son is more important." Sandra looked remorseful, "I knew that Wesley took you more than life, how dare I do more things?"

Shea listened to her mother-in-law's words, Immediately looked up at Wesley.

"Shea, we'll go and apologize to your brother later." Wesley took her hand and continued, "You hurt his heart yesterday. I also want to apologize to him solemnly, I promised him that he would take good care of him but I didn't do it."

"No." Shea shook her head and said stubbornly, "I apologize to my brother, but he don't."

Wesley knew that Shea didn't want him to be wronged.

"Okay." Wesley agreed.

He can ask Elliot to apologize in private.

At noon, Avery received a call from Wesley.

"Avery, I have persuaded Shea. When Elliot gets off work in the evening, I will bring Shea over and apologize to him."

Avery: "It's okay to apologize. How did you persuade Shea?"

"Mom persuaded me." Wesley said helplessly, "It was indeed my mother who put pressure on Shea."

"It's fine." Avery pondered for a few seconds, "It's a pity to kill the child."

Wesley: "She is in a bad mood. She shut herself in the room. I called her for lunch, but she refused to eat it."

"It is estimated that in addition to the pressure your mother put on her, she also wants to give birth to this child." Avery said this, with a little heartache, "Brother Wesley, there is actually another way."

“Do you mean to transfer the embryos?” Why doesn’t Wesley know this method?

Just after the embryos are transferred, where are they placed?

“Well.” Avery didn’t go to the company this morning because of a headache.

Although she had a headache, she still took some time to think about Shea’s question, “I checked today, and someone abroad has developed a nutrition bag suitable for embryo growth, also called an artificial uterus. Animal clinical trials have been successful. There are cases. But there are also cases of failure.”

Wesley: “I’ve heard of it. It’s only in the experimental stage, and it hasn’t been brought to the market.”

“Ordinary people can’t afford it at all.” Avery said, “Instead of killing the child, let’s try this method. Elliot will pay for the money.”

Wesley was puzzled by her last sentence: “If I don’t have enough money, I can ask My dad borrows it.”

“No, let Elliot pay.” Avery said firmly, “Brother Wesley, I want him to spend money. Don’t argue with me, okay?”

Wesley heard something wrong with her tone: “Didn’t he have a conflict with him?”

“He didn’t have a conflict with me. He was very good to me, at least on the surface he was very fond of me.” Although Avery didn’t say anything, Wesley understood her overtones.

Wesley: “Avery, if you are unhappy with him, you can separate from him at any time.”

“I will not separate from him.” Avery said decisively, “He hasn’t changed his mind, he just has compassion for that child. It’s constant giving up. He’s also a mortal, and I shouldn’t be too harsh on him.”

Wesley: “You can figure it out. Don’t make yourself too tired because of this.”

“Well, I’ll adjust it.” Avery took a deep breath and spoke again with a more relaxed tone, “Are you at home? I didn’t go to the company today, why don’t I go to you now?”

Wesley: “Okay! You have dinner. Are you ready? If you haven’t eaten, then I’ll do it now.”

“Okay!” After hanging up, Avery went back to the room and changed clothes.

Afternoon.

Avery called Elliot and asked him for 10 million.

Elliot didn’t ask why, just agreed.

“Why don’t you ask me for money?” Avery couldn’t help asking, “Ten million is not a small amount.”

“I don’t have much cash left on this card in my hand. I’ll let Ben Schaffer give it to you later. ” Elliot said calmly, “Is ten million enough?”

“Aren’t you curious what I want the money for?” Avery repeated her question.

“It must be useful for you to ask for money. I don’t have to ask why. If you want to tell me, you will definitely tell me.” Elliot said slowly, “We have been together for so many years, and you have never asked me for money. Now I’m very happy to ask me for money.”

Avery: “...”

“If you insist on asking me why, I’ll ask.” Seeing that she didn’t speak, Elliot added.

Avery interrupted him: “Don’t ask. Just give me 50 million.”

He was startled: “Okay.”

After the call, Elliot called Ben Schaffer and asked Ben Schaffer to give Avery from his account 50 million.

Ben Schaffer: “Why did you give her so much money? She asked for it from you?”

Elliot: “I gave money to my wife, do you need a reason?”

Ben Schaffer almost spit out the tea he just drank, "Then you just hand over all your money to her, and don't let me take care of it."

"Okay, then you transfer all my money to her." Elliot's tone was understated, as if he was saying something unimportant little things.

Ben Schaffer held back his internal injuries: "You really didn't ask her what she wanted 50 million for?"

"She really wanted me to ask, but I didn't." Elliot felt that this question was not important, "She can't hold back and naturally follow me."

"I think you need to be beaten a bit. If I were Avery, I would cheat you for 100 million directly." Ben Schaffer sneered.

"Maybe I'm a little bit beaten. She originally wanted 10 million, because I didn't ask her why, so..." Ben couldn't help laughing and crying: "I've convinced you. I'll call her and ask!"

After Ben transferred the money to Avery, he dialed her number.

Avery answered the phone and said politely, "I received the money."

"Well. Can I ask what you want the money for?" Ben Schaffer asked, "I asked Elliot, and he said he didn't know. So I'm curious."

Listening to Ben Schaffer's smiling voice, Avery remembered the message he sent to Elliot last night.

She really couldn't pretend that nothing happened.

Avery: "I'll explain the reason to him at night."

"Oh, okay." Ben Schaffer felt that her attitude towards him was a little indifferent, but it wasn't easy to say it directly.

In the Evening.

Elliot returned home early.

Unexpectedly, Avery was not at home.

"Avery went to see Shea today. She should be back soon." Mrs. Cooper explained.

“She didn’t tell me. I’ll give her a call.” Elliot took out his mobile phone and dialed her number.

After Elliot dialed her number, Mrs. Cooper saw the courtyard door open and a car slowly drove in. “Sir, Avery is back.”

Elliot hung up the phone and strode into the yard.

Avery got out of the car and was blocked by him.

“You got off work so early today?” Avery took his arm and walked towards the door of the villa together, “I’ve already spent 10 million for the money you gave me this afternoon.”

“How did you spend it?” Elliot learned to behave, and asked her why.

p>“I went to discuss with Wesley today, and I also agreed with Shea. We plan to remove the child in Shea’s stomach and put it in an artificial nutrition bag.” Avery told him the reason, “This nutrition bag is quite expensive. In addition, it needs a special person to watch it 24 hours a day, so it will also cost a lot in the later stage.”

Elliot nodded: “Is the success rate high?”

“It’s hard to say.” Avery replied, “It’s better than just killing the child. Shea really wants this child.”

“Well. This method is very good. Why didn’t you tell me earlier?” The tight string in his heart loosened.

“Didn’t I tell you as soon as you came back?” Avery explained, “It’s better to talk face-to-face about such an important matter.”

Elliot nodded: “Ben Schaffer told me that you were a little cold to her today.”

Saying that, he added, “When he called you and asked what you wanted the money for.”

Avery didn't expect Ben Schaffer to be so sensitive.

Not only sensitive and suspicious, but also likes to make small reports.

She used a smile to hide her true emotions, "I didn't even tell you about Shea at the time, so how could I tell him? After all, this is Shea's privacy."

Seeing the bright smile on her face, he completely let go. Come to the heart.

"Wesley and Shea were going to come over tonight to apologize to you, but I told them not to apologize." Avery said, "Shea's pregnancy was originally a happy event. We don't need to make an event that should be celebrated. Great tragedy, what do you think?"

Elliot: "Well. As long as Shea is not in danger, there is no need for them to come and apologize to me."

"You came back so early today because Ben Schaffer told you that I was indifferent to him? Avery couldn't help laughing, "You two are talking about me like this behind your back, do you care about me, or are you careful?"

Elliot raised his hand and touched her head: "It's probably because you were too polite to him before, so you didn't talk on the phone." Ben told him the reason directly, and he panicked."

"Oh, yes, after all, it was he who transferred the money to me. He didn't ask the purpose of such a large sum of money. If I changed it, I would be suspicious."

"It's not suspicious. He's just curious." The two entered the villa and changed their shoes at the door.

Robert immediately walked towards them quickly and hugged Avery's legs.

"Mom, sister...sister is angry..." Robert looked at Avery anxiously, her tone a little hurried.

Avery immediately picked up her son and coaxed softly, "Why is your sister angry with you?"

Robert pointed her little hand in the direction of Layla's room, trying to find her sister.

Elliot looked at his son anxiously, thinking that the sister and brother must be having a fight.

Mrs. Cooper came over and explained, "Layla locked herself in the room when she came back today. Robert wanted to play with her, but Layla refused to open the door, so Robert was a little sad."

Elliot looked at Avery and said, "I'll go up and have a look."

"Okay, if she doesn't want to open the door for you, let me go." Avery hugged her son, and it was inconvenient to talk to Layla, "The teacher didn't send me a message. Message, have I sent you a message?"

Elliot took out his phone, glanced at it, and shook his head.

Avery said, "Then go up and ask! My daughter is getting older and has something on her mind."

Elliot strode upstairs.

When he walked to the door of his daughter's room, he knocked on the door and said in a low voice, "Layla, open the door, it's Dad."

He thought that his daughter might just want to see Avery now, but he didn't expect that after his voice was settled, Layla opened the door immediately.

Seeing that he was alone, Layla immediately grabbed his arm and dragged him into the room.

"Dad, sign for me." Layla walked to the desk and handed a blank piece of paper to Elliot.

Elliot took the paper handed by his daughter and found that it was blank. Almost immediately, he blurted out: "What is this paper for? Why do parents need to sign."

But seeing the embarrassed look on his daughter's face, he swallowed the words he said to his mouth.

Elliot took a pen from his daughter's pen holder, and signed his name under the blank sheet of paper.

After signing the name, he handed the paper back to his daughter: "Layla, what happened? Your teacher didn't tell me."

"I told the teacher not to tell you." Layla held the signed paper on the desk. Before sitting down, he was gloomy, "The teacher asked me to write a review letter."

Elliot was shocked, and immediately took a bench to sit next to his daughter, and asked in a low voice, "Why do you want to write a review? What did you do wrong?"

Elliot didn't believe that his daughter would make a big mistake, but if Layla didn't make a big mistake, the teacher wouldn't let Layla write a review.

"There's a nasty boy in our class who always follows me like a follower. I was so angry that he wanted to follow me to the bathroom today, so I beat him up." Layla said, her voice changing. "His parents came to school and were very angry. They asked me to apologize to that annoying guy, but I didn't want to, so the teacher asked me to write a review."

Elliot immediately took his daughter's hand and looked at it carefully: "Baby, Are you not injured?"

Layla blushed in embarrassment, and retracted her little hand: "I beat him with a stick."

Elliot: "..."

No wonder the boy's parents insisted on Layla's apology.

It seems that Layla injured the boy.

"Then you should listen to the teacher and write a review!" Elliot said, "If you don't want your mother to know, I won't tell her."

“Don’t tell her, I don’t want her to know about such a shameful thing.” Layla looked nervous.

Elliot: “Yeah. Dad will help you keep it a secret.”

Layla’s eyes fell on the white paper, she bit the pen, and said distressedly: “Dad, I can’t write a review book... can you help me write it?”

Elliot: “.....”

He also did not write a review letter.

From childhood to adulthood, he has been well protected by the Foster family bodyguards, and he has always been excellent in his studies, so he never had the opportunity to write a self-criticism.

But since his daughter made this request, he could only bite the bullet and agree.

“Dad wrote it to you on the draft, and then you transcribe it into this review.” Elliot said.

Layla opened her eyes wide: “Just learn my handwriting! I don’t want to write a review, and I don’t want to transcribe it.”

Layla said, handing him the paper and pen.

“The review book is for the teacher, even if the teacher knows that you wrote it, it’s fine!”

Elliot couldn’t refute.

Half an hour later, Elliot helped his daughter complete the review and led her downstairs.

Avery saw that the father and daughter were holding hands, and the daughter smiled brilliantly, so she asked, “Layla, what did your father tell you, you are so happy?”

“The homework is a bit difficult today, and my father taught me to do my homework. “Layla gave a random reason.

Avery doubted him: “your brother will be back later today. Let’s eat first, without waiting for him.”

The next day.

Avery arrived in Aryadelle with a nutrition bag ordered from abroad at a high price and was transported to the third hospital.

Elliot was shocked when he saw this device called a nutrition bag.

It is composed of various sophisticated medical instruments connected to a large transparent bag.

“When is the surgery?” Elliot asked.

“Half a month!” Avery explained, “These instruments are delivered now, but we won’t use them. The doctor who invented this machine will be free to teach us how to use it in a week.” “Isn’t it too late?” Elliot raised concerns, “When the child is older, will the operation become more difficult and risky?”

“She just got pregnant. In half a month, the child won’t be very big.” Avery said,

“Don’t worry, with Wesley and me, we will try our best to ensure Shea’s safety.”

“I trust you.” Elliot calmed down, “If the child can grow up smoothly, it will be even better.”

Avery was listening to what Elliot said, she said: “Elliot, you still like children very much. Although you look very scary when you force Shea to have an abortion.

Just like when I was pregnant, you had to force me to abort the child. You did not like children, but I am afraid that my hidden disease will be passed on to them.”

Elliot said, “When we first met, even if it wasn’t because of the hidden disease, I didn’t like children very much. I like children because I fell in love with you first. If you have feelings for you, you will have feelings for our children.”

Avery looked into his eyes and felt that he was talking nonsense.

He also has feelings for Rebecca’s child now, is it because he also has feelings for Rebecca? !

Avery could not accept the result.

“You may not be able to understand your own feelings.” Avery said coldly and walked towards the delivery worker.

Elliot repeated her words in his mind several times.

At the same time, she recalled the expression on her face when she said this.

–She was angry.

But Elliot didn't think there was anything wrong with what he just said.

It is true that he first fell , and then he fell in love with children.

After Avery paid the workers, the workers left.

“Avery, Dr. Simon sent an assembly instruction video.” Wesley showed Avery the video he received.

Avery glanced at it and said, “He sent it to me yesterday. But I haven't had time to look at it. After all, I haven't seen the real thing, so it's no use watching the video.”

“Well.”

Avery said, “Don't you have your own job? You go to your work first. I'll watch the video to see if I can pretend. I'm fine if I don't go to work. Shea's matter is the most important now.”

“I've already asked for a good leave.” Wesley Saying that, he looked at Elliot, “Go to work! Shea will rest at home for a while. When Avery and I make progress, Avery will tell you at any time.”

Elliot's eyes always fell on Avery. he doesn't understand why she gave a face just now.

“Avery, send me off!” Elliot said.

Avery responded, walked towards him, and sent him out of the hospital.

“Avery, aren't you too happy?” Elliot looked at her profile and wondered, “I did fall in love with you first before I like our children.”

Avery clenched her fists.

If Elliot didn't repeat this sentence, her anger might subside after a while.

–Is it necessary to say it again to poke her heart?

“Okay, I get it. You fall in love with your child's mother first before you fall in love with her child.” Avery spoke quickly, obviously unhappy.

Elliot quickly understood the reason for her anger from her words. He wanted to explain that even if he liked Haze, he would never like Rebecca.

But in this way, wouldn't it overturn what he said earlier?

He simply shut up, so as not to say more and more wrong.

“I'm here, you go back to the ward!” Elliot immediately went to the parking lot.

“Hmm.” Avery turned and walked away.

She was disappointed. She knew that Elliot had understood why she was not very happy, but he didn't bring it up, nor did he explain it.

Because Elliot could promise her as before that he didn't want that child.

Back in the ward where the equipment was stored, Wesley saw that her face was not very good, and immediately walked in front of her.

Before he could ask, Avery quickly adjusted her mood.

“Let's get to work! Instead of waiting for Dr. Simon to come over, let's try it out ourselves.”

“Okay.”

Elliot returned to the company, but his heart still couldn't calm down. He secretly sees Haze's photos every day. He didn't go to Yonroeville to find Haze, but he couldn't let this daughter go in his heart.

Because this child was so similar to Layla. He felt that he was sorry for Avery, and also for the child.

But what is certain is that as long as there is no change on the child's side, he will fulfill his promise to Avery.

In the Afternoon.

Shea came to the hospital.

"Avery, will my baby grow up here?" Shea squatted in front of the nutrition bag, staring at the transparent bag without blinking.

Avery: "Well. Then we can see its daily changes and growth."

Shea nodded and said in a loss: "I really hope it can be healthy and healthy like Wesley."

"It will definitely be." Avery knew what she was worried about, "Shea, you have to relax. The child is important, but you are more important."

Shea showed a sweet smile and nodded: "Avery, I will listen to you."

"When the time comes The operation may be a little painful. Wesley told me that you are afraid of pain, so after we discussed it, we decided to give you anesthesia at that time." Avery helped her to sit next to her, "Don't squat for a long time now."

Shea: "Yeah. Wesley scared me the day before yesterday, saying that having a baby hurts and hurts. I said that I'm not afraid, but I'm really afraid in my heart."

"You don't have to be afraid now. Even if you gave birth yourself, there is still anesthesia, so it won't hurt too much." Avery said the word 'anesthetic' and immediately thought of Xander.

Xander gave her one more anaesthetic, and she never forgot.

It's a pity that people can't be resurrected from the dead, and she's afraid that she will never be able to solve this mystery.

Ten days later, Dr. Simon came to the Third Hospital.

He first checked the equipment assembled by Avery and the team. After confirming that there is nothing wrong, Shea's surgery is on the agenda.

During Shea's surgery, Wesley accompanied her in the operating room.

Avery and Elliot were waiting outside the operating room.

Avery took Elliot and sat down on the bench.

Their relationship had been lukewarm these past few days. His company was very busy, and she was also very busy at the hospital, so there was not much communication.

But the thorn in Avery's heart never disappeared.

"Elliot, you should have met Haze, right?" Avery said, breaking the silence.

Elliot heard her say Haze's name, and his heart skipped a beat.

The two of them never talked about Haze directly.

But now that Avery took the initiative to mention it, Elliot could only answer truthfully: "Well. I have seen the photo."

Avery: "Oh... Rebecca sent it to you?"

Elliot: "No. She sent it to Ben Schaffer, and Ben Schaffer gave it to me for Look."

"Well...show me." Avery held out her hand to him.

Elliot was startled for a moment, then took out his phone, opened the photo album, and put the phone in her palm.

He saved a photo of Haze in his mobile phone.

Haze in this photo, with bright eyes, looks not only like Layla, but even a bit like Robert.

He deleted the photo once and later restored it from the recycle bin.

Avery looked at the baby photos in his mobile phone, as if someone had taken away his soul.

The moment she saw Haze's photo, she almost screamed uncontrollably: Isn't this Layla?

"Avery, she looks a lot like Layla." Elliot saw her with a startled expression, and said, "I kept her photos on my phone for this reason."

She took a deep breath and put his phone back to him.

There were so many things she wanted to say to him, but now she couldn't say a word.

She understood why Elliot had feelings for this child. After she saw the picture of the child, she was stunned.

She walked quickly towards the bathroom, and Elliot followed her with strides.

About half an hour later, Shea's surgery was over and she was transferred to the VIP ward.

Wesley saw Elliot in the ward, so he said, "Shea's anesthesia will take a while to wake up. You watch her here. If she wakes up, call the doctor immediately. I'll go to the laboratory first."

"Well." After Elliot responded, he hesitated for a moment, and finally said,

"Wesley, Avery saw Haze's photo."

Wesley frowned: "You showed her?"

"No, it was her. I took the initiative to see it." Elliot felt a pain in his head, "After seeing the photo, she was stimulated. But now she refuses to talk to me about this topic."

"What do you want me to do when you tell me?" Wesley I already knew that Avery was unhappy because of this.

"I'm telling you, I don't want you to help me." His Adam's apple rolled up and down, and he said hard, "Avery doesn't want to listen to me, so please comfort her!"

"You don't need to say it, I will naturally do it." After Wesley finished speaking, he left the ward.

Laboratory.

After the embryo was moved into the nutrition bag, Wesley patted Avery on the shoulder.

Wesley: "Let's talk alone."

"What are we talking about?" Avery followed him out of the laboratory even though he asked.

The two came out of the laboratory and took off their masks.

"Elliot said you saw the photo of Haze." Wesley asked, "Why did you take the initiative to look at the picture of that child."

"No, I just wanted to see it." Avery lowered her head, "I didn't expect it to be more uncomfortable. That Child, looks like Layla. Elliot loves Layla very much, so he naturally has feelings for that child."

Wesley frowned, "If you keep thinking this way, you will never come out."

"Brother Wesley, I don't want to make any decisions for the time being. I'm too confused. Let's talk about other things after you and Shea's children have stabilized!" Avery put on her mask again, "Dr. Simon will only stay here for three days, let's go first! Let's see what needs to be paid attention to in the future."

In the evening.

Elliot came to the hospital after get off work and planned to take Avery home.

Wesley came out of the laboratory and walked in front of him: "She went home in the afternoon and brought the daily necessities. She said that she would be here for the week first."

Elliot frowned, "What do you mean? Is there any other than that? She, is there no one else to watch here? Is she running away from me on purpose?"

"Well. She said she wanted to be quiet. Since you know she was running away from you on purpose, you should go back first. In a week, I will definitely persuade her. She will go home." Wesley sent him out.

"Wesley, tell me the truth, doesn't she want to be with me?" Elliot's face was ashen, and his voice was cold.

Wesley shook his head: "If she didn't want to live with you, she would have torn her face with you long ago, instead of being patient again and again. She is in so much pain today because Rebecca's child looks like Layla. She saw Photos, she herself has softened."

After Elliot heard his words, his heart was even more painful.

p>"Go back! I won't send you away." After Wesley left these words, he returned to the laboratory.

A week passed in a blink of an eye.

The door of the laboratory was pushed open, and Avery came out.

Wesley took her luggage and followed behind her.

Elliot stood outside the door and saw her coming out, he immediately strode in front of her, stretched out his long arms, and took her luggage from Wesley.

"How is the child?" Elliot asked Avery.

"Everything is normal now." Avery's tone was calm.

There seemed to be no estrangement between the two.

Elliot carried her luggage with one hand and her hand with the other, and took her out of the hospital.

On the way home, Elliot looked at her secretly several times.

"What do you see me doing? Say what you want to say." Avery broke the deadlock.

"Avery, I'm sorry." Elliot pondered for a moment, and then said, "I thought about it for a long time, but I couldn't figure out why that child looked like Layla. I looked at her photos, and I was often in a trance, always thinking that the child might be me and my wife. If I show any affection for that child, it's because of you and Layla, not Rebecca."

“Yeah.” Avery replied softly, “I’ve been thinking about this for the past few days too. We won’t have a good outcome if we continue to struggle like this. So…”

His heartstrings tightened, waiting for her next words.

“If you want to go to Yonroeville to see that child, go! Elliot, I won’t stop you, but in the future, I don’t want to hear anything about that child. You avoid me, okay?”

Avery make a compromise.

‘Hiss’ sound! The car braked suddenly, rubbing on the ground, making a highpitched sound.

Avery held the seat belt tightly with both hands. After the car stopped, she looked at the man in the driver’s seat in shock.

“Avery, I promised you that I would not go to Yonroeville! Even if I feel pity for that child, I will never break my promise to you.” Unless the child is in danger.

But he didn’t say that.

Because he believed that Rebecca would not hurt that child.

Avery looked at Elliot’s thin face, her deep eyes, and some self-sacrificing heart, and was comforted at this moment.

“I have already warned Ben Schaffer not to send me information and photos of Rebecca and Haze in the future.” He had a hard time this week.

Avery didn’t go home. Elliot finished work every day and left work early to take care of the children.

After coaxing the children to sleep, Elliot went back to the room and took a shower, tired and sleepy, but he couldn’t sleep.

“I can’t let you be wronged again because of this.” Elliot said hoarsely, “Avery, I don’t want to say sorry to you again, so I will never do anything wrong to you again.”

Avery’s nose was sour, The grievances and estrangements in her heart disappeared in an instant.

Back home, Avery went back to the room to take a shower, put on clean home clothes, and went downstairs.

Mrs. Cooper prepared a sumptuous lunch to treat her.

The three children and the servant at home didn't know the conflict between the two of them, and they all thought that Avery didn't go home this week because of the Shea's child.

After all, this technology is relatively rare, and to ensure that everything goes smoothly, doctors will definitely need to maintain monitoring 24 hours a day.

After lunch, Elliot took Avery upstairs.

She had just eaten, and she couldn't keep up with his pace.

p>Robert frowned as he watched his father pull his mother away.

"Mom..." Robert pointed to the direction where Avery disappeared, pouted his mouth, and said to Mrs. Cooper, "I want to play with my mom..."

"Your mom has worked hard outside for a while. She needs a good night's sleep now, let's not disturb her for a rest." Mrs. Cooper led Robert to the living room,

"When your mom is asleep, she will naturally come down to play with you."

The master bedroom.

After everything was calm, Avery fell into a deep sleep. She hasn't rested well for the past few days.

In addition to the matter with Elliot that made her sleepless, she was also worried about Shea's child.

It was Avery who proposed to transplant the child into a nutrition bag. If something went wrong, she would definitely blame herself.

However, Elliot opened his eyes and was not sleepy. He actually thought nothing of it, because Avery had already forgiven him.

As long as he could keep his promise to her next, she won't turned his back on him again.

Just didn't know why, his heart was pounding, breathing was a little difficult, as if someone was strangling his neck.

He wondered why this strange feeling came about.

The next day.

Tammy called Avery.

She wanted to go to the hospital and saw Shea's child.

Avery drove to Lynch's house, picked up Tammy, and set off for the Third Hospital.

Tammy's stomach was getting bigger and bigger, and she had been banned from driving.

In addition, she usually liked to play, and now in the third trimester of pregnancy, Mary was staring at her almost 24 hours a day, not letting her went out casually.

After Tammy got into Avery's car, she felt bitter: "I really don't know what my mother thinks. She was not so nervous in the first three months of my pregnancy..."

"Auntie in the first three months I'm also very nervous about you. Did you forget that you basically lay down at home for the first three months to rest?" Avery remembers it clearly.

Tammy said with an 'oh': "At that time, my stomach didn't bulge, and I could lie down on the bed. I really can't stand it anymore! As long as I calm down, I will feel uncomfortable all over... Why don't you let me go shopping and distract yourself."

Avery: "When I take you back later, I'll persuade auntie. Exercise in moderation, and it will be easier to give birth when the time comes."

Tammy: "Let me have a caesarean section! Since I was pregnant, my mother has arranged it for me. She said that when she gave birth to me, at the strong request of my grandmother, she had to give birth naturally. As a result, my head was too big, She got stuck during the birth, which made her almost die in childbirth! As luck would have it, my daughter also has a big head.”

Avery: “If your baby’s head circumference is too big, you should really choose a caesarean section.”

Tammy: “So my mother asked me to stay at home. and she doesn’t let me run around. She thinks my health is too bad, if something happens at this time, the child will die, and one corpse and two lives will not be worth it.”

Avery: “...”

“Avery, you have to come and take me out to play often. Otherwise, I will really suffocate to death.” Tammy begged.

Avery: “What about it?”

“He’s been very busy with work recently. He failed to start a business before, and he went home to take over his father’s company, and he didn’t work very well. I didn’t expect that this year, the business would flourish.” Tammy is not an ignorant person, Now even if she is uncomfortable in the third trimester, she doesn’t have too much trouble with Jun.

“You have been complaining before that you are not as accurate as Elliot, maybe he will be more powerful than Elliot in the future.” Avery boasted.

Tammy smiled, “Avery, if you really want to make me happy, please help me pray that my daughter is a beautiful woman. I know how much Jun is too! Even if he moves his luck in his next life, he will still be in this life. It’s impossible to surpass your husband. Now that I have a daughter, I don’t pay much attention to Jun.”

Avery: “It’s good. I don’t want to put too much pressure on Jun.”

Tammy complained, “Well... .I wanted to see Shea’s child a few days ago. But my mother wouldn’t let me. My mother felt that the nutrition bag would not work. She said that Shea's child would not survive for a week after being transplanted...My mother's concept is too outdated."

Avery: "Auntie's worry is not unreasonable, because we are not sure. It's just that compared to directly killing the child, now there is at least a chance."

"Well. You have been in the hospital for a week, is Elliot okay?" Tammy asked.

Avery blushed slightly: "what can he have an opinion? I'm not hiding and playing alone."

Tammy: "You can lie to other people, can you lie to me? But I see how you look now, the two of you, reconciled again."

The two laughed and chatted all the way, and the car quickly arrived at the Third Hospital.

.....

Sterling Group.

Elliot was talking with several executives about a new project, At this time the office door was suddenly pushed open.

Ben Schaffer appeared in everyone's sight.

After several executives saw Ben Schaffer, they almost didn't think about it. They all got up and withdrew.

Because of Ben Schaffer's expression, they were terrified.

Seems like something big has happened.

Elliot couldn't help but stand up, walked to the door of the office, and closed the door.

"Elliot, something happened to Rebecca." Ben Schaffer held the phone tightly with a threatening expression on his face, "She called me just now, calling for help... I heard gunshots over the phone."

After Elliot heard his words, his body suddenly became cold: "Are you sure you heard gunshots?”

“I’m not sure! I think I heard gunshots, maybe it was the sound of a crash...

Anyway, it’s very Terrible voice! Rebecca called me for help. She called for help.

I’m sure, she called me for help.” Ben Schaffer’s face turned blue and his body couldn’t stop shaking, “After I hang up, I will call again and no one answered...I have a very bad feeling...”

If it is true as Ben Schaffer said, Rebecca has an accident, then Haze... Elliot immediately Go to the desk and pick up the phone.

“Elliot, don’t worry.” Ben Schaffer suddenly calmed down a bit when he saw his solemn expression, “this may be Rebecca’s plan. She has never given up on you. Maybe this is a conspiracy she planned. I want to seduce you.”

Elliot thought for a few seconds, then said, “I’ll call the Nick and let him come over to see it.”

The guards, and they are all equipped with guns. Even if there are gangsters who are not afraid of death, they are not necessarily the opponents of professional bodyguards.” Ben Schaffer said this, and his mood was much relaxed.

Elliot called Nick and asked him to visit Rebecca’s house now.

Nick blamed him for disturbing his dreams, but he still promised to send someone to check it now.

Elliot finished the phone call and waited stiffly for the result.

Ben Schaffer continued to call Rebecca’s number over and over again.

The phone was on, but no one answered.

“Elliot, do you want to try calling her with your cell phone?” Ben Schaffer suggested.

“If this is what she did, then she will definitely not answer my call. If she is really killed, it is even less likely that she will answer my call.” Elliot analyzed in a deep voice.

"Hey...Although I feel that Rebecca is unlikely to have an accident, why am I so panicked? I don't care about Rebecca's life or death, I'm mainly worried about Haze." Ben Schaffer shouted heavily.

Chapter 1647

She rubbed her eyes and recalled what had happened last night.

"Nothing...It's probably because I didn't take a nap yesterday."

She sat up in bed.What time is it? Are you going to work now?"

"You overslept so I was worried that you weren't feeling well." She shook her head with a smile.

"I'm fine...Go to work!"

"Okay.If you didn't sleep well, you should go back to sleep.Leave work behind for now."

He planted a kiss on her forehead.

"I'm going now."

She hummed in response and watched as he left the room.

After he was gone, she lay back down in bed.Her head felt dizzy from lack of sleep, but she simply could not go back to sleep.She picked up her phone, but she was not sure what to do.She wanted to talk but was not sure who she could talk to because it did not seem appropriate to mention what had happened to anyone.

After all, Elliot had yet to tell her the truth.One thing she was certain of was that Elliot had developed feelings for his daughter in Ylore.

In Sterling Group, Ben barged into Elliot's office shortly after Elliot's arrival.

"I went home for a shower after my flight and came straight here once I was done."

Ben sat down on a chair across from him and tapped his finger on the table.

"Buy me coffee and I'll show you photos of your daughter."

"When you were drunk at Ruby's place, she stole your phone and video called me."

Ben stared at Elliot in shock.

"You are so defenseless at a stranger's house that I don't know whether to call you brave or stupid," Elliot said, before calling Chad to ask him to buy coffee for them.

Ben massaged his temples.

"Ruby took my phone?! How dare she even chase me out after that?"

"How dare YOU get drunk while drinking with Paul? Do you not know what kind of man he is? I remember telling you about him," Elliot said sharply.

"I know he's not a good person, but I have no grudge against him, " Ben said.

"I just wanted to plant the idea of dating Ruby inside his head so Ruby won't come looking for you."

"Ruby has not fallen for Paul through the years they have known each other, so what makes you think that you could change that?"

"Doesn't matter if it works. I just wanted to speak my mind," Ben said.

"If Ruby video called you, you must have already met Ivy, then?"

"Yeah."

"Doesn't she look a lot like Layla?"

Ben unlocked his phone showed Elliot the video he took of Ivy.

"I really wanted to bring her here. It's a shame that Ruby won't let me."

"Why would you bring her here? Without a plan, it would be like bringing a ticking time bomb back"

"We will just see how it goes from there! Ylore is too far, and it's too much trouble to see her."

Seeing how serious Elliot was when he looked at the video, Ben teased, "I thought you would be mad at me for going to see Ivy!"

Elliot ignored his tone.

"How would Avery feel if she sees Ivy?"

"I'm not sure...But I don't think she would be too mad about it, because she's the exact replica of Layla," Ben said.

"I wouldn't have traveled that far if Ivy looked like Ruby." Elliot regained his composure immediately and gave Ben the phone.

"I won't break my promise with Avery."

"It's up to you! I can go see her every year for myself.If I were you, I wouldn't give Avery and your three children up for Ruby and Ivy either."

In Wesley's house, Wesley had discussed the risks for Shea to get pregnant with his mother the night before and informed her of the consequences of insisting to give birth should something go wrong.

Sandra was terrified because Wesley stressed that he would not live if Shea died trying to bear his child.

"Shea, this is my fault.I thought that with how advanced the medical industry is lately, you would be like any ordinary person as long as you get treatment.Wesley told me that your body would never be normal."

Sandra held Shea's hands and continued, "Listen to Wesley and get an abortion!"

Chapter 1648

Shea lowered her head at Sandra's words.

The burden she had been carrying felt slightly lighter.

Wesley was relieved when he noticed that Shea was not as stubborn as she was earlier.

As expected, it was because of his mother that Shea had risked crossing Elliot to bear him a child.

He understood that her obedience to his mother was out of her love for him, or she would not have taken his mother's wishes as commands.

"I do really want grandchildren, but my son is the most important of all," Sandra said with regret.

"Had I known that you are more important than life itself to him, I wouldn't have done something like that." Shea lifted her gaze to look like Wesley.

"Shea, let's go and apologize to your brother later." Wesley held her hands.

"You hurt his feelings yesterday. I need to apologize to him as well. I promised him that I would take good care of you, but I failed to fulfill said promise."

"No." Shea shook her head stubbornly.

"I will apologize to Big Brother, but you shouldn't." Wesley knew that Shea did not want him to take the blame, so he agreed.

"Alright." He could always apologize to Elliot in private.

At noon, Avery received a call from Wesley.

"Avery, I've managed to convince Shea. Once Elliot is home from work, I will bring Shea over to apologize to him."

"You don't need to apologize. How did you manage to convince her?"

"My mom did," Wesley explained with resignation.

"It was my mom who pressure her into getting pregnant to begin with."

"As long as she got Shea to give up."

Avery fell into silence for a few moments, before continuing, "It's a shame that she has to get rid of the baby, though."

"She's in a bad mood right now. She locked herself in the room and refused to come out when I tried calling her out for lunch."

"I guess apart from being pressured by your mom, she wanted the child herself."

Avery felt sympathetic.

Wesley, there is another way.

"You mean to take the embryo out?"

Wesley had heard about it before, but where were they supposed to implant the embryo after taking it out?

"Yeah."

Avery had not gone to the office because she had a headache.

Despite the pounding pain in her head, she spared some time to consider Shea's situation.

"I did some research today found that there are people overseas working on creating an environment that is suitable for the embryo's growth. It's called an artificial womb. They have tested it on animals, and there were successful cases, but there were failed ones as well."

"I've heard about that before. It's still under testing and has yet to be advertised to the market."

"It's only not advertised because the method itself is not widely accepted by the general public. Besides, it's too expensive for normal people to afford it," Avery said.

"We might as well try this instead of an abortion. Elliot can pay."

Wesley was confused by her last sentence.

"I can borrow it from my dad if I don't have enough."

"It's fine. Let Elliot pay for it," Avery said firmly.

"Wesley, I want him to pay. Don't fight me on this, okay?"

Wesley noticed something from her tone and asked, "Are you two fighting?"

"No. He has been great to me, at least on the surface."

Though Avery did not say it out loud, Wesley took note of what she meant.

"Avery, if you are not happy with him, you can always walk away."

"I am not leaving him," she said in a determined voice.

"He's not cheating on me. He has simply started taking pity on that child. You can't sever the bond between families. He is just human after all, and I shouldn't ask too much of him."

"As long as you've thought it through. Don't exhaust yourself over this."

"Yeah, I'll adjust myself."

She sucked in a breath and her tone became noticeably more relaxed.

"Are you guys at home? I'm not going to work today. Why don't I come see you?"

"Sure! Have you eaten? I can make something if you haven't."

"Okay!"

After hanging up, Avery returned to her room to change.

In the afternoon, Elliot received a call from Avery asking for 1.5 million dollars. He agreed to it right away without asking for a reason.

Chapter 1649

"You aren't going to ask what I'm using the money for?" she asked.

"1.5 million isn't a small amount."

"I don't have much cash on the card I'm currently using so I'll get Ben to transfer the money to you," he responded calmly.

"Is 1.5 million enough?"

"Are you really not curious about what I need it for?" she said.

"You must have a reason. I don't need to know why. If you want to tell me, you would," he drawled.

"You've never come to me for money through the years we've been together, so I'm quite happy that you are asking for money now." Avery fell silent when she heard what he said.

"If you really want me to ask, I can ask why," he added.

Avery interrupted him.

"Don't ask. Just give me 7.5 million!"

He was stunned for a moment.

"Okay."

After the call, he called Ben and told Ben to transfer 7.5 million into Avery's account.

"Why are you giving her so much money? Did she ask for it?"

"Do I need a reason to give my wife money?"

Ben came close to spitting the tea he was sipping on.

"You might as well just hand her all your money, then, instead of having me manage it."

"Sure. Transfer all my money to her, then," Elliot said casually.

Ben felt defeated.

"You really didn't ask her why she needed it?"

"She kind of wanted me to ask, but I didn't."

He did not think it was important.

"She will tell me when she can't hold it in any longer."

"I think you had it coming. If I was Avery, I would just straight-up ask for 15 million,"

Ben sneered.

"Maybe I did have it coming. She was asking for 1.5 million earlier, but changed her mind because I didn't ask her why..."

Ben was not sure if he wanted to laugh or cry.

"I admit defeat. I'll just call her and ask!"

He called Avery after completing the transaction, and she responded politely, "I got the money."

"Yeah. May I know what you need it for?" Ben asked.

"I asked Elliot about it and he said he doesn't know, so I'm curious."

Avery was instantly reminded of Ben's message to Elliot the night before at the sound of his voice, and she simply could not bring herself to pretend as if nothing had happened.

"I will explain it to him at night."

"Oh, okay."

Ben could sense that she was distancing herself but knew better than to ask about it.

In the evening, Elliot arrived home early, only to realize that Avery was not home.

"Avery went to see Shea. She should be back soon," Mrs. Cooper explained.

"She didn't tell me about this."

He took out his phone to call her.

"Let me call her."

As soon as Elliot dialed the number, Mrs. Cooper noticed the door to the front yard opening a car was moving in slowly.

"Mr. Foster, Avery is back."

Elliot hung up and strode outside to the yard so that Avery would run directly into him once she got out of the car.

"Why did you get off work so early today?"

She held his arm and they walked back to the mansion together.

"I've already spent 1.5 million out of the money you gave me this afternoon."

"How?"

Learning his lesson, he immediately asked the question Avery wanted him to ask

"I spoke with Wesley and Shea today, and we plan to take her embryo out and place it into an artificial womb," she said.

"It's a bit expensive and we will need someone to monitor it 24/7, so it will cost more in the months to come." He nodded.

"What are the chances?"

"I can't say, but it's better than getting rid of the baby altogether. Shea really wants a child."

"Yeah, it's a great idea. Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

He felt the pressure on his chest finally lift.

"I'm telling you right now, and I just got back. It's a very important decision, and I wanted to tell you about it in person."

He nodded again.

"Ben told me you were a little cold to him today when he called you to ask what you needed the money for."

Avery had not expected Ben to be this sensitive.

Not only was he sensitive and skeptical, but he seemed to enjoy telling on people. She shielded her true emotions with a smile.

"I haven't even told you about Shea at that point, so how could I tell him about her? It's Shea's private matter, after all."

He completely relaxed at the beaming smile on her face. Wesley and Shea wanted to come and apologize to you, but I told them not to," Avery continued.

"Shea's pregnancy is supposed to be good news. We don't have to make it look like a tragedy, now, do we?"

"Yeah. So long as Shea's life isn't in any danger, they don't have to apologize to me."

"So did you come home early because Ben said I was being cold to him?" She could not help but chuckle.

"You two always talk about me behind my back. Is that a sign of you caring about me, or simply that you are both sensitive men?"

Elliot patted her on the head.

"It's probably because you have been too nice to him, so when you refused to tell him why you wanted the money, he panicked."

"Oh, I see. He was the one doing the transaction, after all. I would have been skeptical as well if someone asked me for that much money without providing an explanation as to why they needed it."

"He's not skeptical, just curious. He loves poking his nose in other people's businesses."

The two went into the mansion were changing their shoes when Robert rushed toward them and attached himself to Avery's leg.

"Mommy, Sister...Sister mad..."

Robert blurted out hastily while looking up at Avery.

Avery immediately lifted him up and cooed gently, "Why would your sister be mad at you?"

Robert pointed his finger in the direction of Layla's room, wanting to go to his sister.

From the anxious expression on Robert's face, Elliot realized that perhaps the siblings got into an argument.

"Layla shut herself in her room after coming home earlier today. Robert wanted to play with her, but she won't open the door so he's a little upset,"

Mrs. Cooper came over and explained.

Elliot glanced at Avery.

"I'll go upstairs and have a look."

"Sure.If she won't let you in, I'll go instead."

Avery did not deem it appropriate to talk to Layla while still holding Robert in her arms.

"The teacher didn't notify me about this.Did you receive any messages?"

Elliot took out his phone to check, before shaking his head.

"Go upstairs and ask her about it, then!" she said.

"Our daughter is growing up now so maybe she is struggling over something."

Elliot strode upstairs to Layla's door and knocked, before calling out in a low voice, "Layla, open up.It's Daddy."

He had thought that perhaps Layla would only want to see Avery at the moment, but Layla opened the door right away.

Seeing that he was alone, she grabbed his arm and pulled him into the room, before going over to her desk and handing Elliot a piece of paper.

"Dad, sign here for me."

Elliot took the paper and noticed that it was completely blank.

He came close to asking what the paper was for and why did she need her parents to sign it, but when he noticed the troubled expression on Layla's face, he swallowed all the words that were rolling on his tongue.

Chapter 1651

Elliot took a pen from Layla's pen holder and scribbled his signature on the piece of white paper.

After signing it, he returned the paper to Layla.

"Layla, what happened? Your teacher didn't tell me about it."

"I told my teacher not to tell you all about it."

Layla took the signed paper and sat down by her desk.

She said glumly, "She told me to write a self-review."

Elliot was stunned.

He immediately pulled a stool over and sat down next to Layla. He asked in a low voice, "Why do you have to write a self-review? What did you do?"

He did not believe that his daughter would make any huge mistakes.

However, if she did not make a huge mistake, her teacher would not have asked her to write a self-review.

"There's an annoying boy in our class. He keeps following me around. Today, he wanted to follow me into the toilet. I was so angry, so I beat him up,"

Layla's voice faltered, "His parents came to school. They were angry, and they wanted me to apologize to him, but I did not want to, so my teacher told me to write a self-review."

Elliot immediately took Layla's hand and looked at it closely.

"Baby, are you hurt?"

Layla awkwardly flushed.

She retracted her hand.

"I hit him with a stick."

Elliot was speechless.

No wonder the boy's parents wanted Layla to apologize. It looked like Layla had hurt the boy.

"Then, you should listen to your teacher and write a self-review!" Elliot said.

"If you don't want Mommy to know, I won't tell her."

"Don't tell her. It's such an embarrassing thing. I don't want to know."

Layla had a nervous expression.

"Hmm. I will help you keep your secret."

Layla's gaze fell on the piece of white paper. She bit her pen and said frustratedly, "Daddy, I don't know how to write a self-review."

Why don't you help me write it!"

Elliot was speechless. He too had never written a self-review before. He had been protected at a young age by the bodyguards hired by the Fosters. He had always gotten good grades, and he had never had to write a self-review. However, since Layla had asked him to do so, he forced himself to agree to it.

"I'll write a draft for you, you can copy it for your review," said Elliot.

Layla widened her eyes.

"Just imitate my handwriting! I don't want to write a self-review. I don't want to copy it either," Layla said while handing the pen and paper to Elliot.

"The self-review is for the teacher to see. Even if my teacher knows that you wrote it, it will still be fine!"

Elliot had nothing to say.

Half an hour later, Elliot had finished helping Layla write her self-review. He held Layla's hands and headed downstairs.

Avery saw Elliot and Layla holding hands and Layla was smiling widely, so she asked, "Layla, what did Daddy say to you to make you so happy?"

"Today's homework is a little tough, so Daddy taught me how to do it," said Layla. She had smoothly come up with a believable excuse.

Avery did not doubt her.

"Hayden will be back a little later today. Let's eat first. We don't have to wait for him."

The next day, the artificial womb that Avery ordered from abroad arrived in Aryadelle. It was sent to Elizabeth Hospital.

When Elliot saw the equipment required for the artificial womb, he was stunned.

There were many sophisticated pieces of medical equipment connected to a large transparent bag.

"When is the surgery?" He asked in a daze.

Chapter 1652

"In about half a month!" Avery said.

"The equipment is here, but we don't know how to use it. The professor that invented this machine only has time to teach us how to use it next week."

"Won't it be too late by then?" Elliot voiced his concerns.

"The child will be big then. Will the risk and difficulty of the surgery increase?"

"She just got pregnant. In half a month, the child won't be big yet," Avery said.

"Don't worry. Wesley and I are here. We will ensure Shea's safety as best we can."

"I trust you."

Elliot was relieved.

"If the child could grow up healthy, that would be even better."

Avery heard what he said, and she got distracted.

"Elliot, you still like children a lot. Although you were terrifying when you tried to force Shea to get an abortion and when you tried to force me to get an abortion, it's not like you hate children. You're just afraid that they will inherit your sickness."

"When we first got together, I did not like children, sickness or not," said Elliot.

"I like children because I liked you first. I had feelings for you. It is only after I developed feelings for you did I start to care about our children."

Avery looked at his eyes and felt that he was spewing nonsense. He had feelings for Ruby's child at that moment.

Was it because he had feelings for Ruby too? 2 Avery could not accept this.

"You might not be very in touch with your feelings," Avery said coldly and walked over to the delivery men.

Elliot repeated her words in his mind a few times.

At the same time, he thought about what she was trying to say. She was mad, but he did not feel that what he said was inappropriate.

He did indeed have feelings for her first before liking his children.

After Avery paid the delivery men, they left.

"Avery, Professor Simon sent a video of assembly instructions." Wesley showed Avery the video he received.

Avery had a look and said, "He sent it to me yesterday, but I haven't had the time to look at it.

After all, without seeing the real thing in person, it's useless to watch the video."

"Hmm."

"Don't you have your main job? Go, I'll see if I can assemble it with the help of the video," Avery said.

"I don't need to go to work FCq,] rLI I have nothing to do. Shea's matter is the most important thing to me now."

"I've already taken leave," Wesley said and looked at Elliot.

"Why don't you head to work? Shea will rest at home for the time being. Avery will update you on our progress...if we have even made any."

Elliot's gaze fell on Avery. He did not understand why she was unhappy with him a moment ago.

"Avery, why don't you send me off!" Elliot said.

Avery nodded and walked over to him, sending him off from the hospital.

"Avery, are you unhappy?"

Elliot looked at her side profile and said in confusion, "I had indeed fallen for you first before loving our children."

Avery clenched her fists tightly. If he had not repeated what he had said, her anger might have evaporated after a while. Was it necessary to repeat what he said to hurt her?

"I get it.I know.You will first fall in love with the children's mother before falling in love with her children," Avery said quickly, clearly unhappy.

Elliot soon understood why she was angry.He wanted to explain that even if he liked Ivy, he would never fall for Ruby.

However, in that case, would that not just go against what he had said? He kept his silence, in case he made matters worse.

"This is me.Go back to the ward."

Elliot was about to reach the parking lot.

"Hmm."

Avery turned and left.She was disappointed.She knew that he understood why she was unhappy, but he did not explain himself nor face this issue head-on.

That was because he could not promise her as before that he would not want the child.She returned to the ward with all its equipment.

Wesley immediately noticed that she did not look too happy.He quickly walked over to her.

Chapter 1653

Before Wesley could ask her anything, Avery had already collected her emotions.

"Let's start working! Rather than waiting for Professor Simon to come over, we should try assembling it ourselves first."

"Okay."

Elliot returned to the office, yet he could not calm himself down.He would secretly look at Ivy's photo.He did not go to Ylore to look for Ivy, but he could not let her go either.He could not let her go because she looked a lot like Layla.He felt sorry for Avery and the children too, but he was sure that he could keep his promise to Avery if nothing happened to Ivy.

In the afternoon, Shea came to the hospital.

"Avery, is my baby going to grow up here?"

Shea bent down in front of the artificial womb. She blinked and looked at the transparent bag.

"Hmm, by then, we can observe its growth every day."

Shea nodded and said, "I really hope that it can grow up healthy just like Wesley."

"I'm sure it will."

Avery knew what she was worried about.

"Shea, you have to relax. The child is important, but you are even more important."

Shea smiled sweetly and nodded.

"Avery, I'll listen to you."

"During the surgery, it might hurt a little. Wesley told me that you're afraid of pain, so after a discussion, we have decided to put you under anesthesia."

Avery helped Shea to the side and sat her down.

"Don't bend down for too long now."

"Hmm. Wesley frightened me the day before. He said that giving birth to a child will be super painful. I said I wasn't scared, but actually, I am scared," Shea said honestly.

"Now, you don't have to be scared. Even if you are giving birth on your own, there is anesthesia too. It won't be too painful."

When Avery mentioned anesthesia, she instantly thought about Jed. She had not forgotten that Jed had given her an extra dose of anesthesia.

It was a pity that the dead could not be revived. She guessed that she would never solve this mystery.

Ten days later, Professor Simon arrived at Elizabeth Hospital. He first checked on the equipment that Avery had assembled.

After he made sure that there were no problems, he arranged for Shea's surgery.

Wesley was in the operation theater with Shea while she was having her surgery.

Avery CCs&AnIJ Elliot were waiting outside.

Avery pulled Elliot over to sit on the bench.

For the past few days, their relationship was not too warm nor too cold.He was busy at his office while she was busy at the hospital, so they did not talk much.However, that prick in Avery's heart had never once vanished.

"Elliot, you must have seen Ivy, right?" Avery broke the silence.

When he heard her mention Ivy's name, his heart skipped a beat.

They had never directly spoken about Ivy, but she had brought the topic up, and he had to answer that question honestly.

"Yes, I've seen her photos."

"Oh...Ruby sent them to you?"

"No.She sent it to Ben.Ben sent it to me."

"Hmm.Let me have a look."

Avery stretched out her hand to him Elliot was a little stunned.

Then, he immediately took out his phone and found the photo album before placing his phone in her hands.

He had saved a photo of Ivy in his photos.

Ivy, in the photo, had bright eyes.

Not only did she look like Layla, but she also looked a little like Robert.He had deleted this photo once before, but later, he recovered it from the bin.

Chapter 1654

Avery looked at the baby photo on Elliot's phone.It was as if someone had sucked her soul away.

The instant she saw Ivy's photo, she almost involuntarily yelled out, "Isn't this Layla?"

"Avery, she looks a lot like Layla,"

Elliot saw her stunned expression and said, "I saved her photo on my phone because of this reason."

Avery took a deep breath and returned Elliot's phone to him. She initially had many things she had wanted to say to him, but at that moment, she could barely say a single word. She finally understood why Elliot had feelings for this child.

After she saw the child's photo, she fell into a daze. She quickly walked to the washroom.

Elliot followed her closely.

Half an hour later, Shea's surgery ended. She was transferred to a VIP ward.

Wesley saw Elliot in the ward, and he said, "Shea's anesthesia needs some time to wear off. Stay here and look after her. If she comes around, immediately call the doctor. I'll head to the lab first."

"Hmm," Elliot responded.

He hesitated for a while before saying, "Wesley, Avery saw the photo of Ivy."

Wesley furrowed his brows.

"You showed it to her?"

"Yes. She asked to see it."

Elliot's head hurt.

"After she saw the photo, she was agitated, but she refuses to talk to me about it."

"Tell me. What is it that you want me to do?"

Wesley long knew that Avery was unhappy because of this issue.

"I'm letting you know not because I want you to help me."

Elliot swallowed and said bitterly, "She refuses to listen to me, so you should console her!"

"Even if you had not asked this of me, I would still do it," said Wesley, and he left the ward.

In the lab, after the embryo was placed in the artificial womb, Wesley patted Avery on the shoulder.

"Let's talk."

"What do you want to talk about?"

Although Avery had asked him that, she still followed him out of the lab.

They exited the lab and took off their masks.

"Elliot said that you saw Ivy's photo," Wesley said.

"Why did you want to see the child's photo?"

"No reason. I just wanted to have a look."

Avery lowered her head.

"I never thought that I would feel even more terrible. That child looks so much like Layla. Elliot loves Layla a lot. Naturally, he would have feelings for that child."

"If you keep thinking about it, you will never get better." Wesley furrowed his brows.

"The amount of tolerance you have is going to torture you."

"Wesley, I don't want to make any decisions for the time being. My mind is a mess. Once your child is stable, then I will talk about this! "

Avery placed her mask back on.

"Professor Simon is only here for three days, let's go in! Let's see if there is anything we need to pay attention to in the future." That night, Elliot headed to the hospital after work, planning to take Avery home. Wesley came out from the lab and walked over to him.

"She went home in the afternoon. She wanted to get some of her clothes and toiletries. She said she will keep watch over the baby this week.

"What is the meaning of this?"

Elliot furrowed his brows.

"Don't tell me that besides her, there is no one else to watch over the baby? Is she deliberately trying to avoid me?"

"Hmm. She said she wants some quiet. Since you know that she is deliberately trying to avoid you, why don't you head back first? I'll persuade her to return home after a week," said Wesley.

"Wesley, tell me the truth. Is she trying to break up with me?"

Elliot's face turned blue. His tone was cold.

Wesley shook his head.

"If she wanted to break up with you, she would have long confronted you. She would not have suffered in silence. She was in so much pain today because Ruby's child looks a lot like Layla. She saw the photo and she turned a little softhearted too."

When Elliot heard what Wesley said, he felt even worse.

Chapter 1655

"Why don't you head home first? I won't send you off," Wesley said and returned to the lab.

A week flew by in the blink of an eye.

The doors to the lab were pushed open and Avery exited the lab.

Wesley took her luggage, following her.

Elliot stood outside the door.

Seeing her coming out of the lab, he immediately walked over to her and stretched his long arm out. He took over her luggage from Wesley.

"How is the child?" he asked Avery.

"Everything is normal for now." Avery sounded calm. It was as though they had not been fighting.

Elliot took her luggage with one hand and held her hand with the other, leading her out of the hospital.

On the way home, Elliot secretly snuck glances at her.

"What are you looking at me for? Just say what you want to say," said Avery, breaking the silence.

"Avery, I'm sorry."

After a moment of silence, he said, "I have thought about it for a very long time.No matter how I think about it, I don't understand why Ivy looks so much like Layla.I look at her photo, often in a daze.I have this unshakable feeling that that child is ours.If I had such feelings for the child, it is because of you and Layla and not Ruby."

"Hmm," Avery gently responded.

"For the past few days, I have been thinking about this too.If we continue to be in such a conflict, it will not end well for the both of us, so..."

Elliot's heart constricted tightly, waiting for her to continue her sentence.

"If you want to go to Ylore to see the child, go! Elliot, I won't stop you from doing it, but in the future, I don't want to have anything to do with the child.Please stay away from me, okay?" said Avery, compromising.

The car came to a halt with a piercing screech.

Avery held her seatbelt tightly.

After the car stopped, she looked at Elliot in panic.

"Avery, I have promised you that I will never go to Ylore! Even if I pity the child, I will never break that promise I made to you!"

"Unless the child was in danger," he thought.

However, he did not say that, because he believed that Ruby would not harm that child.

Avery looked at Elliot's skinny face EAo#vll deep gaze. Her self-loathing heart was instantly comforted.

"I have already told Ben to not send me any messages or photos that have to do with Ruby and Ivy."

Elliot had not had a good week.

Avery had not returned home.

Every day, he was busy with work. He ended work early to care for the children.

Once he had put the children to bed, he would return to his room and take a shower. He was tired and sleepy, but he could not fall asleep no matter how hard he tried.

"I will never let you feel aggrieved due to this issue again," Elliot said in a hoarse voice.

"Avery, I don't want to say sorry to you anymore, so I won't do anything wrong to you again."

Avery's nose turned sore.

The grievances she felt instantly vanished.

When she returned home, she went to her room, took a shower, and changed into clean loungewear before heading downstairs.

Mrs. Cooper had prepared a wonderful lunch to reward her for her hard work.

The children and the servants at home did not know about Elliot's and Avery's argument.

They thought that Avery had not returned home for the past week because of Shea's child.

After all, the technology was rather rare.

To ensure its success, it needed a doctor to be there 24 hours, watching over it.

After lunch, Elliot took Avery upstairs.

She just had a full meal, so she could not keep up with him.

"I want to go play with my son for a while..." She could already guess why he was so anxious to take her to their room.

Chapter 1656

Robert frowned as he watched his father pull his mother away.

"Mom..." Robert pointed to the direction where Avery disappeared, pouted his mouth, and said to Mrs. Cooper, "I want to play with my mom..."

"Your mom has worked hard outside for a while. She needs a good night's sleep now, let's not disturb her for a rest." Mrs. Cooper led Robert to the living room, "When your mom is asleep, she will naturally come down to play with you."

The master bedroom.

After everything was calm, Avery fell into a deep sleep. She hasn't rested well for the past few days.

In addition to the matter with Elliot that made her sleepless, she was also worried about Shea's child.

It was Avery who proposed to transplant the child into a nutrition bag. If something went wrong, she would definitely blame herself.

However, Elliot opened his eyes and was not sleepy. He actually thought nothing of it, because Avery had already forgiven him.

As long as he could keep his promise to her next, she won't turned his back on him again.

Just didn't know why, his heart was pounding, breathing was a little difficult, as if someone was strangling his neck.

He wondered why this strange feeling came about.

The next day.

Tammy called Avery.

She wanted to go to the hospital and saw Shea's child.

Avery drove to Lynch's house, picked up Tammy, and set off for the Third Hospital.

Tammy's stomach was getting bigger and bigger, and she had been banned from driving.

In addition, she usually liked to play, and now in the third trimester of pregnancy, Mary was staring at her almost 24 hours a day, not letting her went out casually.

After Tammy got into Avery's car, she felt bitter: "I really don't know what my mother thinks. She was not so nervous in the first three months of my pregnancy..."

"Auntie in the first three months I'm also very nervous about you. Did you forget that you basically lay down at home for the first three months to rest?" Avery remembers it clearly.

Tammy said with an 'oh': "At that time, my stomach didn't bulge, and I could lie down on the bed. I really can't stand it anymore! As long as I calm down, I will feel uncomfortable all over... Why don't you let me go shopping and distract yourself."

Avery: "When I take you back later, I'll persuade auntie. Exercise in moderation, and it will be easier to give birth when the time comes."

Tammy: "Let me have a caesarean section! Since I was pregnant, my mother has arranged it for me. She said that when she gave birth to me, at the strong request of my grandmother, she had to give birth naturally. As a result, my head was too big, She got stuck during the birth, which made her almost die in childbirth! As luck would have it, my daughter also has a big head."

Avery: "If your baby's head circumference is too big, you should really choose a caesarean section."

Tammy: "So my mother asked me to stay at home. and she doesn't let me run around. She thinks my health is too bad, if something happens at this time, the child will die, and one corpse and two lives will not be worth it.”

Avery: “...”

“Avery, you have to come and take me out to play often. Otherwise, I will really suffocate to death.” Tammy begged.

Avery: “What about it?”

“He’s been very busy with work recently. He failed to start a business before, and he went home to take over his father’s company, and he didn’t work very well. I didn’t expect that this year, the business would flourish.” Tammy is not an ignorant person, Now even if she is uncomfortable in the third trimester, she doesn’t have too much trouble with Jun.

“You have been complaining before that you are not as accurate as Elliot, maybe he will be more powerful than Elliot in the future.” Avery boasted.

Chapter 1657

Tammy smiled, “Avery, if you really want to make me happy, please help me pray that my daughter is a beautiful woman. I know how much Jun is too! Even if he moves his luck in his next life, he will still be in this life. It’s impossible to surpass your husband. Now that I have a daughter, I don’t pay much attention to Jun.”

Avery: “It’s good. I don’t want to put too much pressure on Jun.”

Tammy complained, “Well... .I wanted to see Shea’s child a few days ago. But my mother wouldn’t let me. My mother felt that the nutrition bag would not work. She said that Shea’s child would not survive for a week after being transplanted...My mother’s concept is too outdated.”

Avery: “Auntie’s worry is not unreasonable, because we are not sure. It’s just that compared to directly killing the child, now there is at least a chance.”

“Well. You have been in the hospital for a week, is Elliot okay?” Tammy asked.

Avery blushed slightly: “what can he have an opinion? I’m not hiding and playing alone.”

Tammy: “You can lie to other people, can you lie to me? But I see how you look now, the two of you, reconciled again.”

The two laughed and chatted all the way, and the car quickly arrived at the Third Hospital.

.....

Sterling Group.

Elliot was talking with several executives about a new project, At this time the office door was suddenly pushed open.

Ben Schaffer appeared in everyone’s sight.

After several executives saw Ben Schaffer, they almost didn’t think about it. They all got up and withdrew.

Because of Ben Schaffer’s expression, they were terrified.

Seems like something big has happened.

Elliot couldn’t help but stand up, walked to the door of the office, and closed the door.

“Elliot, something happened to Rebecca.” Ben Schaffer held the phone tightly with a threatening expression on his face, “She called me just now, calling for help... I heard gunshots over the phone.”

After Elliot heard his words, his body suddenly became cold: “Are you sure you heard gunshots?”

“I’m not sure! I think I heard gunshots, maybe it was the sound of a crash...”

Anyway, it’s very Terrible voice! Rebecca called me for help. She called for help.

I’m sure, she called me for help.” Ben Schaffer’s face turned blue and his body couldn’t stop shaking, “After I hang up, I will call again and no one answered...I have a very bad feeling...”

If it is true as Ben Schaffer said, Rebecca has an accident, then Haze... Elliot immediately Go to the desk and pick up the phone.

“Elliot, don’t worry.” Ben Schaffer suddenly calmed down a bit when he saw his solemn expression, “this may be Rebecca’s plan. She has never given up on you. Maybe this is a conspiracy she planned. I want to seduce you.”

Elliot thought for a few seconds, then said, “I’ll call the Nick and let him come over to see it.”

The guards, and they are all equipped with guns. Even if there are gangsters who are not afraid of death, they are not necessarily the opponents of professional bodyguards.” Ben Schaffer said this, and his mood was much relaxed.

Elliot called Nick and asked him to visit Rebecca’s house now.

Nick blamed him for disturbing his dreams, but he still promised to send someone to check it now.

Elliot finished the phone call and waited stiffly for the result.

Ben Schaffer continued to call Rebecca’s number over and over again.

The phone was on, but no one answered.

“Elliot, do you want to try calling her with your cell phone?” Ben Schaffer suggested.

“If this is what she did, then she will definitely not answer my call. If she is really killed, it is even less likely that she will answer my call.” Elliot analyzed in a deep voice.

“Hey...Although I feel that Rebecca is unlikely to have an accident, why am I so panicked? I don’t care about Rebecca’s life or death, I’m mainly worried about Haze.” Ben Schaffer shouted heavily.

Chapter 1658

Ben Schaffer’s words made Elliot even more uneasy.

Why wasn't he worried about Haze.

Originally thought that Rebecca would take good care of Haze because Haze was her own flesh and blood.

If Rebecca used Haze's game this time, he would find a way to take Haze away from Yonroeville.

But if Rebecca was killed...

he dared not make this assumption.

Rebecca can die, but Haze can't!

"Elliot, do you want to listen to the recording of the call?" Ben Schaffer had lingering fears, "I'm going to find someone to tune up the recording of the call between me and Rebecca just now. Because I'm not sure what the sound was at that time. "

Elliot looked up at him: "Tune in!"

"Well." Ben Schaffer stepped aside and made another call.

Elliot glanced at the time.

It takes half an hour to drive from the Nick's house to where Rebecca lives.

It's only been five minutes...

Ben Schaffer finished the phone call, took a cup of water, took a glass of water, and gulped it down.

The atmosphere in the office became quiet and eerie.

None of them spoke, they were all waiting for a reply.

About ten minutes later, Ben Schaffer received a reply.

The recording of his phone call with Rebecca has now been sent to his cell phone.

He walked up to Elliot and planned to listen with Elliot.

With trembling fingers, he pressed the play button, and Rebecca's voice suddenly came: Ben Schaffer, help... help me!

Rebecca's voice was sharp and shrill, and along with her cry, there were other voices.

"Immediately! There will be a loud noise soon." Ben Schaffer's face turned pale, reminding Elliot.

Not long after he finished speaking, a loud 'bang' came.

This was the sound of gunfire.

"It's the sound of gunshots. Elliot, did you hear it? It's really the sound of gunshots!" Ben Schaffer's body trembled, "I don't think it was an act. Her screams sounded weird... If it's acting, then she can become an actress!"

Ben Schaffer's voice was settled again, and Rebecca's heavy and frightened breathing came clearly... along with the baby's cry Voice.

"It's Haze's cry.. It's Haze..!" Ben Schaffer had seen Haze and heard Haze's cry, so he heard it right away.

When Rebecca called him at that time, he didn't notice Haze's cry because of Rebecca's messy voice and Rebecca's cry for help.

Hearing Haze's cry now, his sanity suddenly disappeared.

Elliot's mood was more depressed than Ben Schaffer!

Ben Schaffer asked Elliot to call Rebecca just now, but he didn't call. Now that he listened to the recording of the call, he couldn't hold back his breath.

Elliot dialed Rebecca's number. The phone was on, but no one answered.

Chapter 1659

What was going on with the Jobin family now?

"Rebecca didn't answer your call...I feel stuck." Ben Schaffer frowned, an ominous premonition arose in his heart, "Wait! There should be news soon from the Nick."

Ten minutes later, Nick's phone call came.

"Elliot, the person I sent out said that the door of Jobin's house was closed, and nothing was found." The Nick yawned, "Do you know what time we are here, why are you calling at this time? Everyone is here now and sleeping!"

Elliot: "Nick, Rebecca called for help about an hour ago. I recorded the phone call and heard gunshots over there."

Nick suddenly looked serious: "But the subordinate I sent over there already back. He said he didn't find anything unusual. You also know that the Jobin family has bodyguards, and my bodyguards wouldn't dare to disturb me unless I go there in person."

Elliot said, "Then please come over in person. I'm sure, I heard gunshots."

Nick comforted, "Tomorrow morning. I'm out of town now. I drank a lot tonight, and I have a headache. If something happens to Rebecca, I will receive news. When I receive the news, I will tell you as soon as possible."

Nick said so, and Elliot was helpless.

Haze was his daughter, not Nick's, so Nick was naturally not in a hurry.

Elliot can't wait to fly to Yonroeville in person at this moment.

"What did Nick comforted, say?" Ben Schaffer stood beside him, unable to hear the Nick's voice over the phone.

"Nick's out of town, so he can't go to the Jobin's house." Elliot looked solemn,

"Wait, there should be news in a few hours."

"Hours." Ben Schaffer sighed, "I can only hope this is Rebecca's prank."

....

The Third Hospital.

After Avery brought Tammy to the laboratory, Tammy stared at the nutrition bag for a while, sighing from time to time.

“Avery, why didn’t you tell me earlier that you can have a baby like this?” Tammy touched her bulging belly, “Do you know how uncomfortable I am every day now? When I sleep at night, my legs always cramp, and the cramps hurt to death. And my legs are starting to swell. I don’t know if I can come out to play with you in a few days.”

Avery: “This technology is not 100% safe.”

Tammy: “But the child in my stomach is not 100% safe.”

“Even if I mentioned it to you, your mother wouldn’t let you do this. Don’t regret it. If Shea was healthy, we wouldn’t have come up with this last resort.” Avery coaxed her, “Actually, I have personally experienced the process from pregnancy to delivery, which is also a rare experience in my life.”

“Are you comforting me? If you can choose to remove this painful experience, I will remove it without hesitation.” Tammy’s face collapsed, “I’ve gained twelve pounds. I’ve never been so fat in my life. I compared my current and previous photos, and I’m as fat as two people.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “Tammy, Don’t panic, you will lose weight when your baby is born. Besides, when your precious daughter is born, you will feel that the pain is worth it.”

Tammy: “I hope it is what you said.”

“Of course, I...I have given birth to three children, and I don’t regret it at all.” Avery thought of her three children with a happy and contented face.

“If I were you, I should have no regrets. The main reason is that you and Elliot’s genes are too strong. You two should have more babies.” Tammy said, her eyes fell back to the nutrition bag, “You and Wesley take turns guarding this bag every day?”

Avery: “Well, I guard it during the day and Brother Wesley guards the night. His dad comes to guard it on weekends.”

“Oh my God, it’s so troublesome. It feels more troublesome than my own. It’s equal to ten of you and Wesley. I can’t work for a month.” Tammy exclaimed.

Avery: “Yeah! I owe Shea. If Shea hadn’t donated blood to Robert, Robert would have died. So I must do my best to ensure that Shea’s child is born safely.”

Tammy said: “I’ll be here with you today.”

Avery said, “No, I’ll treat you to dinner later and take you back. It’s too boring here, and you need to rest now.”

“You dislike me here. Is it in the way here?” Tammy pouted and said that on purpose.

“Then don’t leave, just stay here with me. When you’re sleepy later, go to that cot. I accidentally rolled out of the bed the other night, so be careful when you sleep. Point...” Avery frightened her.

Chapter 1660

Tammy burst into laughter. “Avery, I feel much happier chatting with you.”

“If you are bored next, come to me. I can’t go shopping with you, but I can relieve your boredom with you.” Avery took out a bag of fruit from the side and put it on the coffee table, “What do you want to eat, I’ll cut it for you.”

“My blood sugar is high, and my mother told me not to eat fruit.” Tammy was puzzled, “Avery, you said that I’m not really fat. Why? Why did I have so many problems after I was pregnant? Not only did I have high blood sugar, but my blood pressure was also high. Not only that, but the baby in my belly had small growth in the early stage and large growth in the later stage. I suspect that when I’m about to give birth, she won’t go into the basin.”

Avery: “What kind of problem do you have? It’s all a small problem. Even if you don’t go into the basin, it’s fine. Didn’t you decide to have a caesarean section? If the child really has a problem, The doctor will put you in the hospital.”

Tammy: “Oh... too. I’m probably a little nervous.”

“Have you read the book I recommended to you before?” Avery peeled a banana and bit it. After a sip, “I was also very scared when I was pregnant for the first time. At that time, it was through reading books to ease my fear.”

“I bought it, but I haven’t read it yet. I’ll go back and read it later. I haven’t read the paper for many years. The book is out.” Tammy looked around and walked towards the bathroom.

“Tammy, do you want me to help you? The toilet here is not a toilet, it is little bad.”

Avery immediately put the banana in his mouth, wiped his hands with a tissue, and walked over.

“No, no, I’m not ready to give birth yet! You don’t have to be so nervous.” Tammy smiled and closed the bathroom door.

Avery walked into the room, picked up the phone, and planned to see which restaurant to eat at noon.

As a result, a news feed caught her eye.

Soon, Tammy came out of the bathroom.

“Avery, how did you take a shower when you lived here before?” Tammy walked in. “The bathroom is so small, I feel like I’m going to hit the wall when I turn around. And there’s no shower in it.”

Avery: “This ward used to be an ordinary ward. I went to Uncle Brook’s lounge to take a bath.”

Tammy complained, “It’s really troublesome. If only I could put this thing at home. But it’s not easy to put it at home. If something happens, there is no way to rescue it.”

Avery: “Well.”

An hour later, Avery took Tammy to dinner near the hospital.

Tammy put down the tableware after eating a little.

“Is the food not to your taste?” Avery said, picked up the menu again, and wanted to order more food for her.

“Avery, you don’t need to order any more. I’m deliberately controlling my diet.”

Tammy looked at her and felt ashamed, “You have given birth to three children, but you are now as slender as a girl. You want to control my mouth.”

Avery: “Don’t starve the child in your belly.”

Tammy: “Don’t worry, my mother is always watching me when I get home.”

After lunch, Avery sent Tammy to Going home, after chatting a few words with Mary, Mary sent her out.

“Avery, I’m not forbidding her to go out. If she’s with you, I’ll be relieved.” Mary explained with a smile, “She’s too playful. If she goes out with other friends, it’s not what she says or what she says. She is with you, you can control her.”

Avery said, “Auntie, Tammy has become a mother, she is different now. She has a sense of proportion.”

“In my eyes, she will always be a child.” Mary smiled and sent her to the car, “I will take care of her for two more months, and I will be relieved when the child is born.”

“Well. Very busy, does Jun go home every day?” Avery asked before getting in the car.

Mary said, “No matter how late Jun is, he will come back. His company recently received a big order. He wants to do things well and prove himself, so he is more attentive. He explained it to us.”

“That’s good. No matter how busy you are now, when Tammy is about to give birth, you must find time to accompany Tammy.”

“We said that Jun will start to accompany Tammy after another month.”

Avery was relieved.

Chapter 1661

Avery drove the car out of Lynch’s house. Suddenly, she remembered the news she saw in the laboratory at noon.

[A middle-aged woman saw a young girl on the street by chance. She thought the girl looked a lot like her, so she approached her. In the end, it was discovered that the girl turned out to be her own daughter.]

The news did not specify why the mother and daughter separated in the first place, only that the middle-aged woman had never known that she had a daughter who was living abroad.

The moment she saw this news, she couldn’t help thinking of Haze in her mind. Although the idea was crazy and whimsical, when she saw Haze’s photo a few days ago, she really thought it was her child.

There was a brainstorm in her mind.

–Is it possible that Haze is her child?

–If Haze is her child, then the misunderstanding between her and Elliot will disappear automatically.

–Just, is this possible?

She was at a loss.

But as soon as this idea came up, it was like a wild weed that could not be stopped.

She even wanted to go to Yonroeville to see the child with her own eyes. If she still felt so strong, it was not impossible for her and Haze to do a paternity test.

Just like a middle-aged woman in the news, seeing a woman who is very similar to herself on the street, she will do a paternity test with the other party.

It sounds like a made-up story, but it's actually what happened in reality.

It's just that Rebecca would never give her the child and ask her to do a paternity test.

After driving the car to the hospital, Avery returned to the laboratory in disbelief. She wanted to see Haze's photo again, but she didn't want to ask Elliot for a photo.

She took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Mike: [Have you seen the photo of Haze?]

Mike quickly replied to her: [I have seen it!]

Avery wondered: [how did you meet? who showed you?]

Mike: [You asked this question... Haze's photo has long since spread in private! It was Chad who showed it to me. Ben Schaffer went to Yonroeville before and took a lot of photos. It is estimated that Ben Schaffer spread it. Why are you asking this all of a sudden? Haven't you also seen Haze's photo? I have to say, this kid looks so f*cking like our Layla!]

Avery: [I took a look. I want to see her pictures again now. Do you have it on your phone?]

Mike: [Haze photo.jpg]

Avery:[...]

Mike: [I look at it a few times every day, and the more I look at it, the more it looks like it.]

Avery opened the photo, enlarged it, and checked it carefully.

This child, whether it is eyes, nose or small mouth, looks like Layla.

The more she looked, the more excited she became.

With her fingers, she couldn't help but type out a sentence: [Do you think she could be my daughter?]

Avery dared not say this to anyone. When others heard it, they would surely think she was insane.

When Mike saw the message she sent, he was shocked and replied: [Ah, don't say it, it's really possible!]

Chapter 1662

Looking at Mike's reply, her uneasy mood gradually calmed down.

Now that there is doubt, try to find a way to confirm it, whether it is what she thinks or not, at least after the confirmation, she will no longer think about it.

It's just that she has to guard Shea's child now and can't go to Yonroeville.

Everything has to wait for Shea's child to be born smoothly before making plans.

Probably because she thought about it too deeply, she had a terrible headache.

She went to the single bed next to her and lay down, planning to sleep for a while to see if she could relieve it.

.....

Sterling Group.

After Ben Schaffer received Rebecca's distress call in the morning, he called Rebecca almost every other moment.

Because Rebecca's phone was able to get through, but no one answered.

–Under normal circumstances, when everyone sees an incoming call on their mobile phone, they either answer it or reject it.

–If they really don't want to answer, they can put the other party's number on the blacklist, so that the other party can't call.

–But Rebecca didn't put him on the blacklist, how could Rebecca ignore his calls all the time?

–Didn't see it?

But Ben called her back immediately after she called him for help. He didn't believe in any case that Rebecca could sleep peacefully after calling him for help.

As time passed, Ben Schaffer became more and more sure that something happened to Rebecca.

“Elliot, Rebecca’s phone is turned off.” Ben Schaffer called Rebecca’s number again, and his face turned gloomy when he heard the shutdown beep, “Something happened!”

Elliot and Ben Schaffer thought the same.

Since he made a few calls to Rebecca but no one answered, he had this guess in his heart.

It’s just that it will soon be dawn on the Yonroeville side. Nick said that he would give him the exact news when it was dawn.

“Elliot, if Rebecca was really killed, who would do it?” Ben Schaffer couldn’t help but start to think.

“I can’t guess.” Elliot felt like a rock weighing thousands of pounds in his heart. He worried about Haze, “Nick promised me that they would not touch the Jobin Industries.”

“That being said, you are too far away from them. If they want to join forces to carve up the Jobin Industries, they will not necessarily abide by their verbal promises to you.” Ben Schaffer felt that Rebecca was killed, only the second brother and the fourth brother.

The reason why Ben don’t doubt Nick, Nick is because Elliot has always had the best relationship with Nick.

Elliot said, “If they did it, then I don’t need to worry too much about Haze’s safety. They won’t kill my daughter.”

“That’s true! After you say that, I suddenly don’t worry so much.” Ben Schaffer He breathed a sigh of relief, “Elliot, why don’t we go to Yonroeville! If you don’t go, I can go alone. But you have to arrange some bodyguards for me. Who knows what's going on in Yonroeville now? The ghost situation.”

Elliot pondered for a moment and said, “I will go with you.”

Ben Schaffer was shocked: “Are you sure? “

Now Haze is in danger, she will understand me.” Elliot said, closing the computer on the desk.

“Don't be impulsive. Why don't you wait for Nick's reply! We're going to the airport now, and we won't receive any news for so long after boarding the plane. It's too torturous.” Ben Schaffer sat down in the chair and comforted him, “Everyone knows that Haze is your daughter. Whether it's the second brother and the others, or other enemies of the Jobin family, they should not dare to hurt Haze.”

“I'm afraid of an accident.” Elliot gritted his teeth and expressed his inner thoughts, “Mike told me before that I was going to kill Rebecca and Haze.”

Ben Schaffer: “!!!”

Mike?

At this moment, a bell rang. The abrupt ringtone pushed the tense atmosphere to a climax.

Elliot picked up the phone and saw that it was Nick's calling.

Ben Schaffer immediately got up from his chair and strode to Elliot's side, wanting to answer the phone.

Chapter 1663

Elliot clicked the speakerphone and answered the phone.

Nick's voice suddenly flowed out: “Elliot, something big has happened! The Jobin family has been wiped out.”

Although only Rebecca was left in the Jobin family, the criminals also killed all the servants of the Jobin family.

When Elliot heard, his body suddenly became cold, and a chill spread from his heart to his limbs.

Ben Schaffer roared angrily: "Who did it?! Who the fck did it?! Haze was just born! Don't you spare the newborn baby?!"

Nick's voice was filled with regret and doubts: "I don't know who did it now. I asked the second brother, and he said he didn't know anything about it. After Kyrie died, he went abroad to develop new projects and was no longer in Aryadelle for many years. So this matter is nothing to do with him. It was done by outside."

Elliot and Ben Schaffer were shocked by the bad news for a while, but they couldn't take it easy.

It wasn't made by the second brother, who was that? ! Is it really Mike? How could Mike dare to do this?

"Haze...I haven't seen Haze for a while...I'm in Jobin's house now, there is blood everywhere...I'm looking for Haze..." Nick said, swallowing the air, "Don't hang up the phone... I'm fucking terrified. I came to ring the doorbell in the morning, but no one came to open the door. I realized something was wrong. How could no one get up in the morning? ? So I let the bodyguard break the door lock with one shot, but I didn't expect such a tragedy to happen! Sure enough, Kyrie died, and those secret enemies couldn't sit still!"

When Kyrie was alive, the security level was higher than before.

Moreover, Kyrie has a lot of eyeliner, and often he knows the news in advance before the enemy has come to his territory. And Rebecca is much weaker than her father.

Rebecca thought that by killing her father, she would be able to control everything about the Jobin family, but in fact, her stupid behavior had laid the root of her troubles.

If she really had the ability to control the Jobin family, Kyrie would not have done everything possible to keep Elliot behind.

“Book a flight.” Elliot said to Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer immediately took out his mobile phone and booked a flight.

Soon, the flight will be booked. They strode out of the office.

Nick’s phone has not been hung up.

Nick searched everywhere in the Jobin family villa for about ten minutes, but did not find Haze’s body.

“I didn’t see Haze... I saw that the surveillance was destroyed... Elliot, come as soon as possible! If you don’t come, I can’t handle this matter.” Nick roared.

“Well.” Elliot endured the heartache and hung up the phone.

–Nick didn’t see Haze’s body, where did Haze go?

–Dead or alive?

–She was just born, such a small baby who can’t even walk, even if she sensed danger at the time, she couldn’t escape at all.

Thinking of this, Elliot’s eyes became moist.

.....

Third Hospital.

Avery didn’t sleep well this night.

Her Head hurts too much! Although she closed her eyes, she couldn’t fall asleep.

When she wanted to get up and took painkillers, her body felt like something is pressing down and she couldn’t move.

When she woke up in a daze and opened her eyes, the world in front of her was blurry.

She thought she was still in a dream, but the fear of not seeing things was so real.

She stretched out her hand and shook it in front of her eyes.

She could only vaguely see the shape of her hands, but she couldn't see the texture on her skin. She was Confused. she pinched her arm hard.

pain!

She feels pain!

Not dreaming! But she still can't see the world in front of her.

Chapter 1664

Avery almost didn't think about it, and while she could still see a vague shadow, she immediately looked for her mobile phone. She found her phone under the pillow and pressed the power button.

The screen was right in front of her, but the pictures and words on it were actually blurry.

She fumbled to open the address book, there were a lot of contacts in it, she couldn't see which line the three words Elliot were in.

–Powerless fear enveloped her.

–Two lines of hot tears fell down... Is she going to be blind?

–Is it because the last illness has not recovered, has it worsened?

After crying desperately for a while, she reached out and wiped away the tears.

The moment she opened her eyes again, her vision was a little clearer than before.

She brought the phone closer and could roughly see the words on the screen.

Taking this opportunity, she quickly found Elliot's number and dialed it.

At the same time, Elliot and Ben Schaffer arrived at the airport, ready to fly to Yonroeville.

The phone rang, Elliot saw her call, his Adam's apple rolled.

If Avery doesn't call, Elliot's ready to call her too.

In a little while, Elliot will be boarding the plane.

He had been thinking just now how to tell her about it. He wasn't going to hide her, but even if he didn't, he was afraid that Avery would be sad.

"Who is it?" Ben Schaffer heard his bell ringing but didn't answer the phone, so he leaned over to take a look. Seeing Avery's name, Ben Schaffer suddenly took a deep breath, "You better tell her! Otherwise, if you don't go back tonight, she will be in a hurry."

After Ben Schaffer finished speaking, he walked to the side consciously. He speaks on the phone.

Elliot picked up the phone and spoke first: "Avery, I'm going to Yonroeville."

On the other side of the phone, Avery's words stuck on her lips.

–Is he going to Yonroeville? !

–He said he was going to Yonroeville!

Avery's eyes were hazy with tears, and for a while, she couldn't tell whether her vision was blurred by her tears or the reason for her condition aggravated.

"Why?" Avery asked quietly.

"Avery, I'm sorry. I promised you that I would never go to Yonroeville in my life. I never forgot my promise to you. But this time, it happened for a reason." Elliot said here, the other side of the phone came, she suppressed a restrained cry. Avery cried! Elliot just said that he was going to Yonroeville, and before Elliot could tell the reason, she cried.

–How could Elliot dare to continue on the flight to Yonroeville?

"Did Rebecca threaten you with a child? I knew it would be like this... Elliot, your promise is worthless!" Avery said this while crying, and accidentally touched the screen with her finger. the 'Mute' button.

From this moment on, her calls were set to mute.

She could hear Elliot's voice, but Elliot could no longer hear her voice.

Hearing her cry, Elliot felt a sharp pain in his heart.

"Why didn't you ask me, why I called you?" Avery thought that she had become a 'blind woman' and that she needed Elliot's care and care the most, but Elliot went to Yonroeville to see Rebecca and Rebecca's child.

She was afraid of the dark and afraid of him going.

So she cried and threatened: "Elliot, I can't see anymore, I might be blind. Do you still want to go to Yonroeville? If you think Rebecca and that child are more important, then you go!"

Thinking that after she said so, Elliot would definitely give up going to Yonroeville, he would definitely come to her and take her to the hospital.

Elliot held the phone, and the words Avery just said echoed in her mind. She didn't notice the phone, she suddenly lost her voice, not even crying.

Elliot only heard her say that his promise was worthless.

Chapter 1665

"Avery, I'm sorry, I broke my promise. But now I have to go to Yonroeville." Elliot told her his choice and the reason, "Rebecca died, and her children and she are gone. I must go and see."

Avery was hit hard!

She didn't expect Elliot] to give her such an answer.

She said she was blind, but Elliot said sorry, he was going to find his and Rebecca's children.

It seemed like the first time he had said 'me and her child'.

Elliot stamped it himself, and Haze was his and Rebecca's child.

Avery finds it so ironic! Before the accident happened to her eyes, she even wondered if the child might be hers and she also wanted to wait for Shea's child to go to Yonroeville to find a chance to do DNA test with that child!

–How ridiculous! How absurd!

–Although that child looks like Layla, that child is indeed his and Rebecca's. Elliot just said it himself.

Her fingers holding the phone suddenly loosened a bit.

–Rebecca died, and the child was gone.

–Elliot is now going to Yonroeville to find that child.

If Elliot can't find it in one day, he can find it in a month. If he can't find it in a month, he can find it in a year until he finds it.

Avery's breathing became more and more solemn, and the tears flowed from her cheeks more and more urgently.

"Elliot, if you told me today that you were going blind, no matter what happened, I would come to you first." Avery burst into tears, "Are you being too ruthless to me? Why didn't you tell me before? That child of you and Rebecca is more important than me? If you had told me earlier, I would never have pestered you!"

Because her phone was on mute, Elliot couldn't hear what she said.

Seeing that she had been silent, Elliot apologized again: "Avery, I'm sorry. Haze's life is uncertain now, I can't leave her alone. I've already bought a ticket to Yonroeville, and I'll be boarding soon."

Avery : "..."

In front of her eyes, darkness!

"I will go back to Aryadelle immediately when I go over and deal with the matter over there." Elliot said this, and the radio sounded behind him. The flight he was going to take has started to check.

Ben Schaffer strode towards him, reminding Elliot with his eyes that he was going to check the ticket.

“Avery, give me some time. I’ll be back in a week at the latest. When I get back, I’ll apologize to you again.” After Elliot said this, he waited for her reply.

But over the phone, there was only boundless silence.

Elliot couldn’t hear anything from her side. He realizes that she may have put her phone away and was not listening to him.

–Since Elliot insisted on going to Yonroeville, Avery has stopped talking.

–She was angry.

Ben Schaffer saw that Elliot didn’t hang up and didn’t speak, so he whispered: “If Avery doesn’t let you go, then I’ll go alone!”

Elliot thought Avery was not listening, so he returned to Ben Schaffer: “Haze is me Child, now her life and death are unknown, I will definitely go there in person.”

Avery answered Ben Schaffer’s words and heard him clearly.

The phone slipped from her hand and fell to the ground.

She was so cold, she put her hands on her knees and let the darkness devour herself.

About two minutes later, Elliot hung up the call and went with Ben Schaffer and they walked towards the ticket gate.

Ben Schaffer saw that Elliot’s face was cold and gloomy, and knew that Avery was angry with him.

“Elliot, didn’t you tell Avery that Rebecca was dead?”

Elliot said bitterly, “Yes. She said I broke my promise. Even if she won’t forgive me, I have to go to Yonroeville.”

Chapter 1666

Ben Schaffer was a little puzzled, “Since you told her that Rebecca was dead, why is she still angry with you?”

Elliot: “Because I didn’t say that Haze was dead.”

If Elliot said that Haze was dead, maybe Avery wouldn't be so angry?

When Elliot said this, Ben remembered what Mike had told him before.

Mike said that the existence of Rebecca and Haze was a shame, which would make Avery feel wronged all the time.

Only when Rebecca and Haze died would this shame be over.

Mike thinks so, does it mean that Avery thinks the same way?

This was also one of the reasons why Elliot had to go to Yonroeville even though he knew that Avery was angry.

Rebecca should be d*mned, but Haze is innocent.

How can the fault of adults be blamed on children?

If Elliot and Avery have a disagreement over this issue, then he will listen to his heart.

.....

6:00 p.m.

Third Hospital.

It was summer and the daylight hours were relatively long. At this point, the sunlight outside was still dazzling.

Wesley came to the laboratory and saw Avery sitting on the bed at a glance.

"Avery, my mother made a snack and let me bring it to you. You can bring it back to the children to taste." Wesley walked to Avery and planned to give her the box for the cake.

As a result, Wesley saw the phone dropped on the ground at a glance.

"Avery, why didn't you pick up your phone when you dropped it?" Wesley noticed something strange.

Wesley picked up her phone and saw that the screen was broken.

"Avery, the screen of your phone is broken. You don't need a phone case. It's easy to break the screen if you drop it.” Wesley put the snack on the table and asked, “The screen on the back is also broken, you can either replace it with a new screen now or buy a mobile phone case and change it tomorrow.”

Avery responded in a low voice and said nothing else.

Wesley immediately looked at her face.

The tears on her face were dry, but her eyes were still wet.

“Avery, what’s the matter with you?” Wesley hurriedly brought the tissue box over and handed it to her, “What happened?”

Avery’s vision was more blurred now than when she woke up.

She could only vaguely see Wesley handing over something.

“Brother Wesley, I can’t see anymore.” Avery choked, resisting her collapse, “It should be the sequelae left from the last operation. I thought it would be cured with medication, but I didn’t expect that I woke up today and suddenly couldn’t see clear things.”

Wesley heard the words and was stunned for a few seconds. Immediately, he took out a tissue and wiped her tears: “Don’t be afraid. Avery, don’t worry, you can’t see clearly now, it’s only temporary. I’ll take you to the ophthalmologist, and the doctor will definitely find a way to restore your light.”

Avery responded with a dull voice, gritted her teeth, and said word by word, “Elliot and I... have no future.”

She couldn’t say ‘break up’ or ‘divorce’.

Because the two of them have broken up and divorced over the years, it is painful every time they separate, but there will be no pain this time.

When she broke up before, she still had a healthy body, but now, she is blind, and her whole world is dark.

In addition to the pain caused by the disease, it is more psychological torture.

Now Avery can't see anything and can't move an inch.

The psychological gap from a normal person to a disabled person made her collapse.

"Did you tell Elliot that you can't see?" Wesley looked at her distressedly, "Didn't you tell him? If you told him, he would definitely not dislike you, he would definitely take good care of you."

"I told Elliot. He went to Yonroeville. He said that Rebecca died and their daughter has also gone. He went to find their daughter." Avery lowered her head, her nasal voice was heavy.

"Maybe Elliot thinks your illness can be cured, but if he doesn't find Haze now, he may die." Wesley said it from Elliot's point of view, "Avery, I'll take you to the ophthalmologist for an examination first! We'll talk about you and Elliot when he returns from Yonroeville."

"Brother Wesley, don't you think he's too much?" Avery felt a chill in her heart, "I'll talk to him. I said that I can't see, but he only said sorry to me. He said he must go to Yonroeville. He didn't even say a word to comfort me."

Wesley: "Maybe he is more worried about Haze."

"Well. Let me know too, how much catty and tael do I have in his heart." With Wesley's help, Avery got out of bed.

"Avery, don't be so pessimistic now. No matter what Elliot treats you, Mike and I, as well as your three children, will always be on your side. Get your eyes healed now, and then talk about other things. It's a matter." Wesley knew that Avery was in despair and collapsed, but she was blindly trapped in this pessimistic mood, which did not help her condition.

Avery understood the truth, but she couldn't control her emotions now, she couldn't calm herself down.

“Avery, wait for me here. I’ll push a wheelchair.” Wesley saw that Avery really couldn’t see clearly, and his heart was twisted.

Wesley didn’t want to see her like a blind woman, taking every step forward cautiously, even if someone helped her, he didn’t feel safe.

In his heart, Avery has always been like a shining star, but now, the light on her body has gone out.

Wesley took pity on Avery and wished to give her his eyes.

He quickly found a wheelchair, helped her to sit down in the wheelchair, and then pushed her to the ophthalmologist.

When Wesley went looking for a wheelchair, Avery didn’t know what method she used to regain her composure on the surface.

“Brother Wesley, after you send me to the ophthalmology department, give Mike a call. After he comes over, you don’t have to worry about me.” Avery said.

“Avery, don’t think so much. I’ll be fine with Shea’s child. I’ll accompany you to finish the examination first.” Wesley said here, thinking of Rebecca’s death.

How did Rebecca die?

The news was too sudden.

Don’t know what happened in Yonroeville.

Now that such a serious thing is happening over there, Elliot has to go, which is understandable. But now that Avery is suffering from this change, how can he not have a word of comfort?

He could send someone to Yonroeville first, he would take care of Avery first, and it would not be too late for him to go to Yonroeville when her mood stabilized.

Could it be that Rebecca will come back to life because he rushed to Yonroeville in time? Or if he rushes to Yonroeville now, Haze can be found immediately?

After an hour.

Mike received a call from Wesley.

Wesley didn't say anything about Avery's condition on the phone, and only asked him to come to the hospital once.

Mike made an 'oh' and didn't ask why he was sent to the hospital.

It wasn't until he got to the hospital and called Wesley, who asked him to come to the ophthalmology department, and he wondered and asked, "Ophthalmology department? Who has a problem with his eyes?"

After Wesley said Avery's name, Mike cursed in a low voice, then strode towards the ophthalmology department with his phone in hand.

Soon, he saw Avery who was arranged in the eye ward.

Her eyes were not treated in time when the tumor in the brain was first discovered, which affected her eye function.

Doctors put her in the hospital immediately.

Chapter 1668

She is like this now and she does not dare to go home.

If she let the child know that she is blind, the child doesn't know how to be sad.

"Avery, don't be afraid. I will find the best doctor for you, and I will definitely cure your eyes." Mike walked over to her and sat down, holding her hand tightly, "If the best doctor of Aryadelle fails, I'll take you abroad for treatment."

Avery responded, and then said to Wesley: "Brother Wesley, don't worry about me, you can watch your child! I'm fine."

"Mike is not an outsider." How could Wesley believe what she said was okay, so he said to Mike, "Elliot has left to Yonroeville. He said that Rebecca was dead and Haze was gone. He also knew that Avery was blind, but he insisted on going to Yonroeville. Mike, you are optimistic about Avery, I will contact an ophthalmologist."

The expression on Mike's face became extremely gloomy.

Avery was blind, but Elliot left her behind and went to Yonroeville to find the illegitimate daughter! The scmbag is worthy of being a scmbag! Simply ridiculous! After Wesley left, Mike walked to Avery and sat down.

“Avery, does Elliot dislike you for being blind?” Mike looked at her haggard and cold face, knowing that talking about this topic would only hurt her, but there should be an outcome to this.

“I don’t know what Elliot thinks, and I don’t care what he thinks. I just want to heal my eyes. Otherwise, I will not only be unable to take care of anyone, but also drag you down.” Avery was disheartened.

“How can you say that? Who are you dragging down? You aren’t dragging anyone down!” Mike frowned, and his pale blue eyes were full of distress, “Avery, let me take you abroad. Stay in this place will only make you sad.”

Since Elliot is so cruel, when he returns from Yonroeville, I don’t know how he will hurt Avery’s heart!

“Let’s see what the doctor says here!” Avery has a headache now.

“Well, do you want to lie down? It might be more comfortable to lie down.” Mike said.

“I’m going to have an infusion tonight. The nurse has gone to dispense the medicine.” Avery sat blankly, like a body without a soul.

Seeing her like this, Mike was in a terrible mood.

“Are you hungry? Did you eat tonight? Did you miss it?” Mike suddenly thought of this question, “What do you want to eat? I’ll buy it for you.”

Avery: “Don’t go away.”

“I won’t go away. I’ll order it.” Mike held her hand even harder, “Avery, I know how you are feeling now. I used to be terminally ill and thought I was going to die. I was lying in the hospital bed, and I should be in the same mood as you are now.

There is someone who can accompany me by the hospital bed all the time. But my so-called family, lover, they don't care about me at all. It was you who accompanied me and gave me the courage to live. So I will accompany you now."

"Mike, thank you." Avery grabbed his arm and leaned on his shoulder, "I can't give up on myself. I want to get better, I want to watch my children grow up, and I want to attend your wedding .. "..."

"Don't think about others first. You think more about yourself. When you are well, you can go wherever you want, and you can see the beauty of the world. When your eyes recover, we will come again and travel the world." Mike encouraged her.

"Well."

The nurse came in with the medicine and was stunned when she saw the two of them leaning against each other.

.....

Yonroeville.

After several hours of flight, the plane landed at the capital airport of Yonroeville.

After Elliot and Ben Schaffer came out, Nick immediately rushed to Elliot and shook his head: "I have sent someone to turn the Jobin's house up and down several times, but I didn't see your daughter."

Elliot: "Who did it?"

Nick said, "It can be roughly guessed. It is Kyrie's old enemy. This man hired a group of international killers abroad. Their purpose is not the Jobin family's property, but simply want to make money."

Chapter 1669

Elliot's face was ashen, his thin lips moved, but he didn't make any sound.

"Except for Rebecca, the other servants of the Jobin family, I have sent someone to inform their relatives that their remains have been taken away by the family."

Nick said, "The scene was not cleaned up, you go and have a look first!"

Elliot suddenly remembered a person: "Where's Lorenzo?"

Nick exhaled: "Lorenzo is Kyrie's adopted son, he killed a lot of people for Kyrie... and offended a lot of people. Including the old enemy who attacked this time."

Elliot understood.

What Nick meant was that Lorenzo was also killed.

Nick said, "The second brother and the fourth brother have come back. But they won't take revenge for Kyrie, they are trying to figure out the Jobin family's property. I told them you were coming, so they were honest. No matter where Haze is now, the Jobin family's property belongs to this child."

As long as Haze's body was not found, Elliot could imagine that Rebecca might still be alive.

"No one wants to touch the Jobin family's property." Elliot said coldly, "Haze might still be alive! Even if all the Jobin family's property is donated, it will not be taken away from anyone!"

"I understand you. To bully Haze is to bully you. It's okay to bully outsiders, our brothers can't mess around." Nick opened the car door for him.

After getting in the car, the car drove towards Jobin's house.

In the past few days, the destruction of the Jobin family has become the biggest news topic in Yonroeville.

The Jobin family, once the most brilliant, fell within a year, which makes people sigh!

Everyone sighed that if Kyrie could have more children, he might not have reached this point.

It's a pity that people are already dead, and it's just in vain to say more.

After the accident at Jobin's house, the door was cordoned off, and a special person was on duty 24 hours a day.

Elliot got out of the car, crossed the cordon, and strode inside.

Rebecca's body was placed in an ice coffin. She was wearing the white silk nightdress she wore the night of the accident. The nightdress was stained with blood. he looked closer and he could see several gun holes.

The killer was brutal.

Even if Rebecca deserved to die, she wouldn't let her die so miserably.

Elliot's eyes were scarlet, and he looked away from the ice coffin, looking around the whole house.

The holes left by bullets can be seen almost everywhere.

"These killers brought Gatling, so there are bullets everywhere. I can't imagine the scene that night..." Nick sighed, "It's f*cking scary!"

"Is Haze still alive?" Elliot saw the gun holes and the dark red bloodstains everywhere, and there was a smell of blood in his breath.

At this moment, his heart is very desperate!

Nick lowered his head and took a breath: "Elliot, condolences! It is unlikely that Haze is alive."

"What about her body? I haven't seen her since she was born. Even if I can't raise her, at least let me see her body and let me bury her!" Elliot said.

Nick said, "Elliot, I've seen Haze. Haze is very small. Those killers just threw her wherever. It is impossible for us to find her in the corner. They took Haze's body away, probably because you were afraid that you would see the child's body and seek revenge from them. As long as you can't find Haze's body."

Chapter 1670

Although Nick said it for this sake, Elliot still didn't want to believe that Haze was dead.

As long as a person's conscience has not been completely wiped out, how can he bear to attack a newborn child?

Furthermore, almost everyone knew that Haze was his daughter.

How dare the murderer?

He must find out the mastermind behind this tragedy!

In the afternoon, Rebecca's body was sent away.

Nick sent someone to clean and disinfect the Jobin family up and down.

Because Elliot decided to live here tonight.

In the evening, the second brother and the fourth brother came over. The fourth brother sat in the living room and talked about it.

"Don't we suspect that the Eagle did it? In the afternoon, the Eagle called me a video and said he didn't do it." The fourth turned on the phone and pulled out a picture. "The Eagle (an enemy of Kyrie) said that his investment in the past two years has failed. On the surface, it seems that He looks good, but he actually owes a lot of debt. He said he didn't have that much money to hire an international killer. This is his asset map sent to me by Eagle."

The second brother and Nick took a look at the picture, and finally was sent to Elliot.

Elliot glanced at the picture, and then asked, "Besides Eagle, who else does Kyrie have enemies with?"

Yonroeville.

Don't look at the fact that Kyrie seems to be in tune with the powerful and powerful in Yonroeville. In fact, many people secretly see him as unhappy, but they want to make money with him, so they endure him."

"But Kyrie is dead, why they want to kill Rebecca? Do they think that if Rebecca is dead, the Jobin family's property can be divided among them?" Elliot questioned.

The second, the third, and the fourth looked at each other, not knowing how to answer.

Because they had no clue, they couldn't guess who had killed Rebecca.

"By the way, Elliot, a driver of the Jobin family, has disappeared." Nick remembered this, so he said, "I didn't know who was in the Jobin family. It was the driver's family early this morning. They said that they saw the Jobin family had an accident on the news, and they couldn't get in touch with the driver, so they came here specially."

"The driver?" Elliot asked cautiously, "Show me the driver's information."

"Let me tell you directly! This driver worked in the Jobin family for two years, and was brought in by the chef who worked in the Jobin family. They are from the same village. The chef was killed, but the driver's body was not found, maybe he escaped. Because he was young, only 29 years old. He was strong enough."

Elliot thought of a possibility almost immediately: "Is it possible for him to escape with Haze? "

Nick shook his head: "It's possible, but I'm not sure. The surveillance inside and outside the house has been destroyed, and no clues can be found at all."

"Then go to the driver! Just find the driver." Elliot said.

"Okay, it's too late today. I'll send someone to look for her tomorrow. Elliot, let's go have dinner! As long as Haze is still alive and in Yonroeville, we will definitely be able to find out her whereabouts!" Nick comforted him.

The second brother echoed, "The fourth brother and I will also send someone to help you find Haze. I thought you didn't have any feelings for this child, but I didn't expect you to take her so seriously. In that case, when she was born, why don't you take her away? If she is in Aryadelle, no one will dare to touch her. Your influence in Yonroeville is definitely not as strong as that in Aryadelle."

Elliot explained the reason, "I didn't expect Rebecca to die. I thought she would take good care of Haze. You all know my situation, when I came here this time, my wife was angry."

The three cast pity on Elliot.

"Avery is too ignorant. Rebecca is dead, and she is still stuck with you. Her mind is too small." The fourth brother complained.

"Elliot, if you find Haze, I'm afraid you won't be able to raise Haze by your side, right? Avery will definitely not be able to tolerate this child." The second brother answered.

"Why don't you raise Haze to me. As long as Haze recognizes me as a godfather." Nick said righteously.

Elliot: "If I can find Haze, if she is still alive, I will definitely take her back to Aryadelle. Even if Avery doesn't like Haze, I must keep Haze within my control."

Chapter 1671

This is Elliot's due protection and responsibility as a father to his children.

.....

Aryadelle.

The painful night passed, and the next morning, Avery woke up and opened her eyes.

Her mind was chaotic. She couldn't remember what happened for a moment, she only knew it was painful.

It wasn't until she saw everything in the ward that she was stunned.

She saw everything in the ward, clearly!

She stretched out her hand and shook it in front of her eyes, it was true! She can really see.

She immediately lifted the quilt and hurriedly got out of bed.

Next to him, Mike woke up immediately after hearing the movement.

He woke up at six o'clock this morning. After waking up, he played with his mobile phone for a while, and simply fell asleep on the table next to her hospital bed.

So as soon as Avery moved, Mike woke up.

"Avery, why did you get out of bed?" Seeing her getting out of bed, Mike immediately reached out to support her.

"Mike! I can see things now! I can see!" Avery's cheeks flushed with excitement, "I thought I was completely blind..."

"Great! But you suddenly couldn't see yesterday. It means that your condition is quite serious. After you fell asleep last night, I asked Wesley, Wesley said that your illness is very complicated and you may be going abroad for treatment." Mike pressed her shoulders and asked her to sit down, "I can accompany you abroad at any time."

Avery looked complicated. She didn't expect that her eyes would sometimes see and sometimes not.

Although she can see things now, her illness must not be delayed.

She can't be like last time, this time she has to put herself first.

"I have to wait for Elliot to come back. When he comes back, I want to divorce him first." Avery told her plan, "He said he would come back in about a week."

"Oh, did you talk to him on the phone about divorce? How did he react?" Mike supported her divorce.

Rebecca and Haze have always made him feel uncomfortable.

With Avery's conditions, why should Elliot suffer such grievances?

"No. Tell Elliot when he comes back." Avery didn't think too much about whether to do it or not, because she already had a very definite answer in her heart.

"What if he won't divorce you?" Mike asked.

“As long as I insist on divorcing him, he will have to leave if he doesn’t want to.”

Avery knows Elliot too well.

Although Elliot was domineering, he had a strong self-esteem.

As long as she spoke ill of him, he would definitely divorce her.

“Mike, why do you think he doesn’t want to divorce me? I called him yesterday, and he doesn’t care about me anymore... Believe it or not, when he comes back, I ask him for a divorce, he will definitely care. It’s not that I want to divorce him, what he cares about must be the custody of the three children and the management of my company.”

Mike was horrified: “As for what? Are you two making trouble like this?”

“He said, if I propose divorce, don’t want custody of the children. He will settle everything with me.” Avery had already prepared for the worst.

Chapter 1672

Mike shrugged, “The company can but the child can’t. I think the two of you will probably be inseparable from this marriage.”

Avery didn’t answer.

She didn’t want to be separated from her children. She didn’t want to lose any of her three children. But she couldn’t continue to live with Elliot.

In particular, her eyes will be treated next, and there is no way to take care of the child for the time being.

So she can’t fight for the custody of the child now.

Seeing that she didn’t speak, Mike stood up: “I’m going to buy breakfast. You stay in the ward and don’t move. I’ll call the nurse to see you.”

After Mike finished speaking, he strode out.

After a while, the nurse came to check on her condition.

“Miss Tate, your attending doctor won’t go to work until 8 o’clock. When he gets to work, I'll ask him to come over immediately." The nurse said.

Avery: "Well."

The nurse: "You'd better stay on the hospital bed, because you still might not be able to see suddenly."

"Well." Avery raised the head of the hospital bed and leaned on her body relaxedly.

Not long after, Mike came back with breakfast.

"Mike, don't tell anyone about my illness. I don't want to worry about others."

Avery took a sip from the milk cup and said this.

"You have to tell Wesley. Elliot doesn't care about you. I don't need to tell Chad about being sick. If you accompany me to go abroad for medical treatment, what will Chad do?" Mike was very resentful.

After breaking up with Elliot, he and I will most likely have to become enemies.

You don't need to worry about me, I can feel at ease as long as you are fine."

Mike thought about it last night.

Avery couldn't help but ask: "Are you afraid that your condition will recur in the future?"

"You can understand that. If you don't have a good time, I will feel very uncomfortable." Mike picked up breakfast and wanted to feed, and said, "Eat it!

The devil knows Elliot will come back. If he doesn't come back in a week, we'll go first."

"Okay." At the door, the nurse immediately became embarrassed when she saw Mike feeding Avery.

"Miss Tate, Dr. Hu is here."

Avery immediately put down the milk glass.

After Dr. Hu entered, the nurse came out.

“Avery was sick and was hospitalized here. Why didn’t her husband come?” The nurse chatted with her colleagues.

“I don’t know! How dare we inquire about the private affairs of people like them. Last night, I saw Avery hugging the man who took care of her. They were very close.”

“I saw that man just now. Feed Avery breakfast! Avery can already see today, and she even asked a man to feed her breakfast. The relationship between the two of them is definitely not easy.”

“It is estimated that the relationship between Avery and Elliot is in crisis! It must be Avery who cheated on him. This male junior, how could Elliot tolerate Avery cuckolding him?”

“It seems that the two of them will announce their divorce soon.”

“I think Avery has a bad eye. Wesley chased her before, but she didn’t agree. Wesley is so good!”

“That’s right. Wesley is my male god, but unfortunately the male god seems to be pure-hearted and has no such worldly desires. Otherwise, he wouldn’t marry a fool.”

“Shh! Loud! If Wesley hears you say that to his wife, he will definitely be angry! His wife has recovered almost like a normal person now. And she can get pregnant...”

“Maybe she will give birth to a little fool. Wesley is stupid. How many female doctors and nurses do our hospitals pursue him?”

“Wesley should have been stimulated because he couldn’t pursue Avery. He couldn’t handle Elliot, so he married Elliot’s sister.”

Chapter 1673

“You said that, I suddenly feel that it makes sense!”

.....

Starry River Villa.

In the evening.

Chad drove over and gave gifts to the three children.

“Uncle Chad, why didn’t Uncle Mike come with you?” Layla grabbed her head and looked behind him, “I feel like I haven’t seen him for a long time.”

Chad scratched his head: “Is Mike not here?”

Hayden answered: “No! Isn’t he with you?”

Chad was puzzled, “Mike hasn’t been home for two days. He said he came here to stay for a few days, and he wouldn’t follow me after that.”

Layla puffed her cheeks and said sternly: “Uncle Mike lied to you! He has never been to our house!”

“What the h-e-l-l is going on!” Chad took out his phone, After dialing Mike’s phone, he said angrily, “Mike don’t answer my call again!”

“Then call my mother! You ask my mother to find him! He is most afraid of My mother.” Layla gave Chad an idea.

Chad thanked Layla and immediately called Avery.

In the ward, Mike saw Chad call Avery’s cell phone, and without thinking about it, he pressed the silent button and ignored the call to pick up.

“If you don’t want to pick it up, let me pick it up! I once promised him that even if I break up with Elliot, I will continue to be friends with him.” Avery reached out and wanted to get his phone.

Mike pushed her hand away: “I didn’t answer when he called me. He called you, and he should have been looking for me.”

After that, Mike took her phone and walked out.

He walked outside the ward and answered the phone.

When Chad heard his voice, he immediately scolded: "What the h-e-l-l are you doing? Are you with Avery? Or are you kidnapped by Avery?"

Mike replied, "Elliot has gone to Yonroeville, you must know very well. He's sorry for Avery. When he comes back, Avery will divorce him. Then I will take Avery out of here."

Chad was stunned: "Do you plan to spend time with Avery in the future? Ah, my boss went to Yonroeville because Rebecca died... Couldn't my boss have a look at Rebecca's death? Avery wants to divorce my boss because of this? It's outrageous, is it necessary to make it so ugly?"

"You should ask your boss this question. He knows it!" Mike finished and hung up the phone.

Chad looked at the call that was hung up, his cheeks flushed with anger. He really didn't expect that Avery would get divorced because Elliot went to Yonroeville.

He thought that Rebecca died and that child's whereabouts were unknown, Avery should be relieved.

After all, the obstacle between her and Elliot disappeared.

Now Elliot goes to Yonroeville to investigate, and this matter is over.

"Uncle Chad, what's the matter with you? You've been scolded?" Layla looked at Chad's bad face, so she dared to ask with concern.

Chad shook his head: "Has your mother been home these two days?"

Layla explained, "No! My mother wants to watch my Aunt Shea's baby. Wait until Aunt Shea's baby comes out of that bag, then my mother won't be so busy."

It seems that Avery has not told the child that she is going to divorce Elliot.

After coming out of the Starry River Villa, Chad felt uncomfortable all over his body, and was so overwhelmed that he couldn't breathe.

He took out his mobile phone and looked through the address book, trying to find someone to talk to, but he didn't know who to call.

Chapter 1674

It was 5 o'clock in the morning in Yonroeville at this time.

Elliot was awakened by the ringing of his mobile phone, and when he saw that it was Chad's call, he answered the phone immediately.

"Boss, how are you doing? Have you found Haze's whereabouts?" Chad asked.

Elliot didn't expect him to call, just to ask this.

Elliot: "Do you know the current time on my side?"

"Yes. Did I wake you up?" Chad's tone contained a little self-reproach, but not much guilt, "I went to the Starry River Villa just now. That's it."

Elliot rubbed his brows and sat up.

Although it was only 5:00 in the morning, it was already starting to light up outside the window.

"What do you want to say, just say it." Elliot's tone was sullen.

Chad said, "Boss, have you and Avery broke up? Mike said she was going to divorce you. If you have nothing to do in Yonroeville, come back quickly! You can let Brother Ben Stay over there to deal with the funeral."

"Deal with the funeral? Haze hasn't found it yet! Who's to deal with!" Elliot's voice rose a few times, "When you mentioned Mike, it reminded me that he said he was coming. Killing Rebecca, I now have a reasonable suspicion that he may have done this!"

Chad: "..."

Chad wanted to defend Mike, but he couldn't explain it.

Because Mike had said the same thing to him.

Could it be that this tragedy was really caused by Mike?

Elliot asked, "Why don't you talk? Do you know the inside story?"

"I don't know. Boss, Mike didn't tell me anything. Otherwise I wouldn't call you.

He's been with Avery for the past two days, and he didn't go back to me or Starry River Villa." Chad was confused, there was a mess in his mind.

"Where are they?" Elliot became more and more suspicious that this matter had something to do with Mike.

For Avery, Mike could leave everything behind and do anything for Avery, even if it was against the law.

At this point, Elliot really can't compare.

Chad said, "I don't know. Maybe it's in the hospital. Boss, I'm going to find Mike now. I'll ask him if he did Rebecca's death."

"Now..." Elliot said sharply, "All the bodyguards of the Jobin family were killed. Dozens of people died!"

Chad was horrified: "I'll go find him now. If he did it, I definitely wouldn't forgive him."

This phone call made Chad feel the pressure and fear that he had never felt before.

Mike is crazy. He really is the kind of guy who can do anything.

If it wasn't for Avery to live with him, he would have gone astray long ago.

Chad drove the car to the Third Hospital.

He didn't call Mike or Avery, this time he dialed Wesley's number.

Wesley answered his phone, learned that he was in the hospital, and immediately came down to pick him up.

Chad: "Mike doesn't answer my call, I'm here to find him."

Wesley didn't seem surprised.

Chad sneered, "He is very obedient when he is obedient, and he is especially ruthless when he is ruthless. My boss now suspects that Mike killed Rebecca, so I came to him."

Chapter 1675

Seeing that the situation was serious, Wesley went to Mike immediately.

Not long after, Mike came downstairs and saw Chad at a glance.

When the two met, it was like an enemy meeting, and they were extremely jealous.

Ophthalmology Inpatient Department.

Wesley chatted with Avery in the ward.

“Chad said that Elliot suspected that Mike killed Rebecca.” Wesley held an apple and slashed slowly, “I think Chad is in a hurry. Shouldn’t Mike really do this, Right?”

Avery looked surprised: “Impossible. Mike wouldn’t do such a thing. If he did, he should have told me.”

“If he really did, he probably wouldn’t tell you. I told you, have you been scolded?”

Wesley heard the uncertainty in her tone, “Rebecca died, but Haze is innocent.

He won’t even kill Haze, right? If so, that would be too much.”

Avery shook her head violently and wanted to get out of bed: “I’ll ask him... I don’t believe he would do such a thing! He won’t kill anyone casually.”

Wesley put down the apple and the fruit knife, “Don’t go down. After he and Chad meet, he will naturally come back.”

“Brother Wesley, why do you think Mike will kill?” Avery’s body was tense and with some intense emotions, “He’s not that kind of person.”

Wesley: “Mike is good to me. Of course I hope he is a law-abiding person. But Mike is different from us. He has an impulsive personality. He won’t take laws and regulations seriously.”

“Brother Wesley, why do you say that about him? After he came to Aryadelle, he has never done anything illegal. Why do you say he doesn’t take laws and regulations seriously?" Avery can't stand Wesley belittling Mike like this.

As if Mike was born a sinner.

"I didn't know him until he came to Aryadelle. We met when we were in Bridgedale. What he did in the past, no one knows, I know. Avery, I didn't say that the Jobin family tragedy must be caused by him, I'm just afraid that he did it. If he did it, Elliot would definitely not let him go." Wesley analyzed the seriousness of the incident with her.

Downstairs in the inpatient department.

After Chad and Mike said a few words, they quarreled.

"I didn't even go to Yonroeville, why did I kill someone?" Mike said that he was angry, and stretched out his hand and pushed Chad back.

Chad almost lost his footing.

"Who said it was you who killed yourself? You hired a professional killer to do it!"

Chad walked up to him again, looking at him with a strong look in his eyes, "You told me before that you want to get rid of Lose Rebecca!"

Mike's cheeks were hot: "Yes! I not only said that to you, but also to your boss!"

Chad: "Heh! Why don't you go and tell the world! Even if you really want to do this kind of bad thing, can't you do it secretly? You have to say it everywhere! I'm afraid others won't know that you did it!"

Mike: "I just said it, didn't do it! I didn't do it!"

Chad breathed a sigh of relief: "You really didn't do it?"

Facing Chad's repeated questioning, Mike frowned: "I did it. Go and call the police to arrest me." After shouting these words, Mike pushed Chad away again with his hands, "Get out of my way!"

After the two quarreled, Mike turned and left.

Chad stood there, watching him disappear, feeling even more irritable.

What's more annoying is that he got a call from Elliot not long after he came out of the hospital.

He took a deep breath, adjusted his mood quickly, and answered the phone.

"Did you find him? What did he say?" Elliot got up after being woken up by the phone.

"He said he didn't do it at first, and then he said he did it. I don't know if he did it."

Chad wanted to help Mike, but Mike's behavior just now completely annoyed him,

"You Go investigate him. If he really did it, if you want to kill or cut anything, just pretend that I never knew him."

Chapter 1676

After saying these words, Chad regretted it.

He felt that this was not what Mike did, because Mike denied it the first time. But Mike ignored him these days, which made him very angry.

—No matter how the relationship between Avery and Elliot changes, what does it have to do with other people?

—Why should Avery and Elliot divorce, and they should be implicated?

When Mike returned to the ward, Wesley immediately stood up from the chair:

"You two, let's talk, I'll go out first."

When Wesley walked out, he closed the door of the ward.

Avery looked at Mike. Although he didn't say anything, Mike already knew what Avery wanted to say by the look in her eyes.

"I didn't do it. I did think about killing Rebecca and throwing the child where no one could find it, but I didn't implement this plan." Mike sat down in the chair and said, "Later I looked at Haze's photos, and the more I looked, the less cruel I became, so I didn't do anything."

"I trust you." Avery was relieved after receiving his answer, "this kind of thing you can't do it. This is the bottom line."

Mike complained angrily, "Chad doesn't believe me. He only believes in his boss.

Elliot said I did it, so even if I told him I didn't do it, he still didn't believe it."

"Don't be angry. Even if Elliot suspects that you did it, you have to show evidence." Avery comforted him, "You are not afraid of the shadow, you don't want to be angry."

"Don't worry about me, It's alright." Mike felt that compared with the problems Avery encountered, it was like a pediatric problem, "Are you hungry? What do you want to eat, I'll buy it."

Avery stayed in the ward for a few days, feeling bored.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Mike asked Avery if she was hungry and wanted to buy dinner. She didn't let him buy it because she wasn't hungry.

She wasn't very hungry now, but she wanted to go out for a walk.

Avery: "Let's go out to eat! I want to go for a walk."

Mike also felt bored, so he agreed.

The two came out of the hospital and walked nearby while looking for a restaurant.

After choosing the restaurant and taking a seat, Wesley called.

Mike complained to Avery when he saw the call, "Wesley must have told us to go back. He was afraid that you would have an accident, so he explained it to me every day and told me to take good care of you."

"Give me the phone, I'll talk to him. " Avery reached out and asked him for a mobile phone.

Mike handed her the phone.

Avery answered the phone, and Wesley's voice suddenly came: "Mike, where did you take Avery? Hayden is here. You two quickly go back to the hospital."

Avery was stunned.

Hayden came to the hospital?

“Okay, we’ll go back right away.” Avery answered, hung up the phone, and said to

Mike, “Go back. Hayden is here.”

Mike: “Why is Hayden suddenly here?”

“I don’t know.” Avery was a little nervous.

As Hayden gets bigger and bigger, she can no longer treat Hayden as a minor child like before.

“Why are you so nervous? Let’s eat first. Are you still hungry? I’m all hungry.”

Mike touched his stomach, all deflated.

Chapter 1677

“Order takeaway! I’m afraid Hayden has something to do with me.” Avery hadn’t seen the child for a few days, and had experienced blindness the day before yesterday, so she especially wanted to take advantage of the fact that she could see things clearly now and take a look at the child.

She has been more troubled these days.

The doctor put her in the hospital, so she was hospitalized obediently.

She wanted to see the child, but was afraid to tell the child about her condition, and the child was worried. Now that Hayden came to her, she probably couldn’t hide her situation.

The two returned to the ward, and Avery immediately walked to Hayden.

Wesley didn’t speak, only coughed lightly, reminding Avery that Hayden already knew.

Avery understood what he conveyed.

“Hayden, mother’s illness can be cured. It just takes a little time.” Avery comforted Hayden, “Did you come alone? How did you come? Did you tell your sister when you went out?"

Hayden: " Uncle Chad went to our house today. I heard what he said and thought it was a little strange. So I came to find you two."

Hayden said here and looked at Mike.

Mike cleared his throat in embarrassment: "Your mother is sick, and your father still went to Yonroeville even when he knew your mother was sick. He and Rebecca's illegitimate daughter disappeared, he felt that the illegitimate daughter More importantly, it's that simple."

Hayden had heard this from Wesley in advance. But now listening to Mike say it again, the anger in his heart suddenly burned.

"Mom, divorce him!" Hayden looked at Avery and demanded seriously.

Avery knew that his son was very angry, so he followed his words and replied,

"Hayden, have you eaten dinner? If you haven't, let's go out to eat together!"

"Didn't you ask me to order takeout?" Mike murmured softly.

"I ate." Hayden grabbed Avery's hand and helped her to sit down by the hospital bed, "Mom, Uncle Wesley said you lost your eyesight the day before yesterday.

Can you really be cured?"

"It should be That's what the doctor said. But I'm going to Bridgedale for treatment." Avery's tone was very gentle, "Mom is infusion every day now, and her condition is temporarily stable."

Hayden said quickly, "Why don't you go to Bridgedale for treatment now? I'll take you to Bridgedale."

"Mom has to divorce Elliot before going to Bridgedale. He will be back in a few days."

After listening to his mother's explanation, Hayden Nothing more.

The atmosphere in the ward instantly became a little gloomy.

Avery: "Hayden, please don't tell Layla about your mother's illness. Wait until I go to Bridgedale for treatment and decide when to tell her according to the situation. If it can be cured quickly, then you don't need to tell her."

Layla suffered psychologically. The ability was not as strong as Hayden, so Avery didn't want to put her daughter under such a lot of pressure.

Hayden waited for Avery to eat dinner in the ward before leaving the hospital. He came by taxi, and it was a bit late now. Wesley was worried that he would go back alone, so he insisted on driving him home.

The car drove on the road, Wesley hesitated for a moment, and then broke the silence.

"Your mother is sure to divorce your father. At that time, the issue of custody of your three siblings will inevitably be involved." Wesley and Hayden raised this upcoming problem, "Your father will definitely fight for your custody. Haze's attitude shows that he cares about his children."

"It's impossible for me and Layla to live with him." Hayden almost blurted out.

"I know. But Elliot probably won't let go." Wesley thought of this problem and felt very difficult, "No matter whether Layla's custody can be obtained or not, you must find a way to follow your mother. Otherwise, she will be alone and sick again, how sad!"

Hayden listened to Wesley's sad tone and gritted his teeth: "I will never forgive him. When I grow up, I must surpass him. Then I will take my younger siblings back."

Chapter 1678

Hayden said this because he felt that Elliot might want Layla and Robert, but not necessarily him.

The father and son have a bad relationship and have never reconciled.

“Hayden, don’t be angry yet. I just planned for the worst, your father may not be so tough.” Wesley felt distressed when he saw Hayden as an enemy.

A child of his age should have grown up happily under the protection of his parents. But he has been suffering from troubles his age should not bear.

“Uncle Wesley, you don’t need to comfort me. I don’t know other people, don’t I know him? He’s a bad guy.” Hayden said coldly.

Starry River Villa.

When Hayden came back, Layla immediately pulled him and asked, “Brother, have you seen my mother? Have you seen Uncle Mike? Are they both in the hospital? How is Aunt Shea’s baby? Take me to see it! I miss my mother.”

Layla wanted to go with Hayden tonight, but Hayden refused. Because Hayden wasn’t sure if his mother was really in the hospital.

“Layla, brother has something to tell you.” Hayden took Layla’s hand and led her into the room.

Layla looked at her brother attentively and babbled: “Brother, you are so serious! Aren’t you happy to see your mother? Who made you unhappy?”

Hayden: “Your father, Elliot.”

“Ah? Also he is in the ospital?” Layla asked in a clear voice.

“He went to Yonroeville to find him and Rebecca’s daughter.” Hayden pushed open the door and led Layla into the house.

After the siblings entered the room, they closed the door.

Mrs. Cooper hugged Robert, followed her, and stood at the door to see if she could overhear their whispers. It wasn’t that Mrs. Cooper wanted to eavesdrop on the brothers and sisters’ speech, but Robert pulled her up.

Robert was a little angry, his brother and sister whispered, but he didn’t even bring him.

“Dad b*stard!” Layla blew her nose and stared at her brother’s words.

“Layla, you still called Dad?” Hayden said angrily.

“Elliot is a big villain. I won’t call him Dad!” Layla immediately changed her tune,

“Did he go to Yonroeville to get mad at us? Why did he do this? Didn’t he promise my mother that he would never go to Yonroeville again? Why doesn’t it count?”

Hayden said the reason: “The bad woman Rebecca died. Elliot and her child are also gone. So Elliot went to Yonroeville to find the child.”

“That bad woman, How did she die? Did she die of illness?” Layla’s eyes widened with curiosity.

Hayden: “She was killed.”

“Oh... what about her little baby? Where did the baby go?” Layla sent out a series of doubts, “If Dad... ah, if Elliot finds that Little baby, do you want to bring that little baby back?”

Before Hayden could answer, Layla said to herself, “If he did this, I would never call him dad again. I’m really sad.”

“Layla, Mommy said that when he comes back, he will divorce him. Then he will definitely compete with the mother for our custody. I will definitely follow my mother. Layla, I hope you can follow my mother too.” Hayden said this to Layla, in order to make Layla stand firm on her mother’s side.

“Of course I want to follow my mother.” Layla grabbed Hayden’s arm anxiously, “I want to be with you. I don’t want to be stay with the bad father. He has another baby, and he will definitely not love me like he used to!”

Hayden pondered. After making this decision, he said, “If Elliot insists on the custody of Robert, then when I am more powerful than him in the future, I will snatch Robert back.”

“Woooooo...I don’t want to give Robert to him. Brother, my brother is ours.” Layla thought of breaking up with Robert and tears suddenly flowed out, "If he treats Robert badly What should we do? If we don't live with him in the future, the bad father will definitely not be nice to Robert."

Chapter 1679

In Layla's heart, Elliot has changed from a peerless good father to a heinous devil.

"With grandma Cooper taking care of Robert, Robert will be fine." Hayden comforted Layla, "At that time, my mother will definitely fight for the custody of Robert, but I don't think Elliot will be so kind!"

After a while, the door opened.

The brothers and sisters were stunned when they saw Robert standing at the door. Layla burst into tears when she thought about her separation from Robert.

"Stinky brother! Big sister really doesn't want to be separated from you. Big sister really wants to take you with me." Layla hugged Robert and cried out of breath.

Robert was hugged by Layla, listening to her sister's cry, his small mouth shrunk, and he wanted to cry too.

Mrs. Cooper looked at Hayden with a look of fright and said, "Hayden, what happened?"

"My mother is going to divorce Elliot." Hayden told the story, "Layla and I will definitely follow my mother."

Mrs. Cooper's face was ashen: "You went to see your mother tonight, what did your mother say?"

"Yes. My mother has made up her mind to get rid of that sc*mbag. Grandma Cooper, if my mother can't get custody of Robert, will you Please take good care of Robert?" Hayden asked.

Mrs. Cooper felt sad for a while, there were a lot of things that she wanted to say, but she couldn't say it.

Hayden said that Avery had made up her mind, and since this was the case, there must be no room for change in this matter.

Yonroeville.

After three days of blanket searches across the country, there was finally a clue.

The driver who was missing that night has been found.

However, when the driver was found, the driver was also dead.

He wasn't killed by the international hitman that night, he died from a blunt blow to the head and blood loss.

He has multiple traumas on his body, and it can be judged that before his death, he had a fierce fight with people.

Two kilometers away from the grove where his body was found, the police found the first scene of the murder.

The blood at the scene matched the driver's DNA.

At the first scene, police recovered a broken mobile phone.

Nick said to Elliot, "The mobile phone has been taken over for maintenance. The technician said that it is very likely to be repaired, but it will take a while. It is certain that the driver escaped that night, although he is still dead, but it means that Haze still has the possibility to survive."

–What if the driver escaped with Haze that night?

–Otherwise, why can't we find Haze's body?

"When his mobile phone is repaired, he may be able to find useful clues." The second brother smoked a cigar and exhaled a puff of white smoke, "Elliot, when are you going to return to Aryadelle? It's been almost a week since you came here, didn't you say Is Avery angry?"

Elliot's expression darkened. He never forgot that Avery was angry.

He thought about calling Avery, but Chad and Mrs. Cooper called him back and forth, saying that Avery had decided to divorce him.

Elliot: "I'll go back when the phone is repaired."

Nick said, "Yeah. You can leave it to us with confidence! As soon as there is Haze's whereabouts, I'll let you know as soon as possible."

Chapter 1680

The third hospital.

Avery leaned on the head of the bed and infused.

The door of the ward opened, and Mike strode in.

"Mike, what are you holding in your hand?" Avery's eyes fell on his hand.

Mike handed the document to her: "Didn't you say you want to divorce Elliot? So I printed the divorce agreement for you. After you sign it, when he comes back, sign it for him directly."

Avery took the document and read it carefully.

"You prepare first, and then you can directly sign it to him, which will be the biggest blow to him." Mike analyzed with her, "He is so proud, when he sees the divorce agreement you took the initiative to hand over, don't you get angry? "

"There's no need to play this kind of psychological tactics. He and I are both adults, and he must already know that I'm going to divorce him now." Avery quickly flipped through the documents Finish.

On the last piece of paper is a form.

There are two large spaces above, one is the man's request, and the other is the woman's request.

"You can fill it out after discussing it with him." Mike saw her staring at the blank form in a daze, so he spoke.

"Well." Avery asked him for a pen.

Mike immediately took out a pen from his pocket and handed it to Avery.

She took the pen and wrote her name on the signature. Then put the file on the side cabinet.

“Has he been gone for a week?” Avery calculated the date in her mind.

“Have you got it?” Mike muttered, “I didn’t hear that he was coming back.

Shouldn’t he not come back for a while?”

Avery didn’t know how to answer.

Elliot called her before he left, saying that he would come back after a week’s stay there.

But now that their relationship has been shattered, there is no need for him to abide by any promises to her.

“Wait two more days.” Avery quickly made a decision. “If he doesn’t come back in two days, we’ll leave.”

“Okay.” Mike saw an unusual determination on her face.

Avery was really hurt by Elliot. In her eyes, she couldn’t see any feelings for Elliot.

“Avery, you’re doing fine now.” Mike comforted her, “Cut off the root of love and be beautiful alone.”

Avery: “You just let me go to the monkhood, the six roots are clean, isn’t it better?”

“I don’t have that thoughts. I want you to stop giving so much affection to men.

You are such an excellent woman, aren’t you good at playing in the world?

Without Elliot, there are countless men waiting for you.”

Avery: “You asked me to be a sc*mbag, right?”

Mike: “What’s scmbag or not, as long as you love me, who would dare to call you scmbag.” “

Avery: “Mike, don’t instill your feelings on me. Maybe my eyes can’t be cured, and I’ll be blind later. What kind of world are you playing!”

Mike: "You still say that I have a crow's mouth. I think you are the biggest crow's mouth. Wesley said that your eyes can be cured. You can't go blind. Wesley won't lie to me."

"Anyone who cuts their double eyelids can die on the operating table." Avery told him the truth and told him Reason, "Wesley told you that I could be cured because I was afraid that you would be in a hurry. You also know that Wesley is very kind."

Chapter 1681

"Avery, you can't think about yourself, okay? You have to get rid of the sc*mbag, and your illness will definitely be cured." Mike comforted her.

Avery frowned, "You don't have to put everything on Elliot. The more you mention him, the harder it is for me to forget him. I'm not pessimistic, I just planned for the worst. If I become blind in the future, I want to live well."

Mike had a headache when he heard her say this, he quickly said, "If you are blind, I won't fall in love in the future and will take care of you at home."

Avery: "Just hire me a nurse."

Mike: "You really plan for the worst."

"Well, you've never been blind, and you don't understand my mood." Avery will never forget the fear in her heart when she suddenly lost her light a week ago.

Mike: "Tammy will come to see you later. She sent you a message, didn't you see it?"

Avery: "I didn't check my phone."

The doctor told Avery to check her phone less and try not to, but Avery used her phone as a watch. Just pick it up occasionally to check the time.

"She called me and said she wanted to come to play with you. I said it was inconvenient for you, but she insisted on coming. She was not so unreasonable before, but now she is pregnant with a child, and she is very willful." Mike picked up the water bottle and unscrewed the lid, took a sip of water.

Avery: "She's not willful, I promised her before that she can come to me anytime she wants."

Mike: "Oh, she heard that you and Elliot are going to divorce, so she came to you. She asked me about you on the phone. Why is the determination so strong, I didn't say. Tell her yourself when the time comes!"

"Well. Why don't you change the place. The atmosphere in the ward is too depressing." Avery got off the bed, and continued, "I'll talk to you later. She went for a walk in the yard below."

About half an hour later, Tammy came over.

Tammy's belly was getting bigger and bigger, and walking was a little difficult.

Avery and Tammy found a bench in the yard below and sat down.

Seeing Mike not far away, Tammy wondered, "Why is Mike following you? Is he with you now?"

Avery: "Isn't I about to divorce Elliot, he has been with me these days."

"Oh...If only I wasn't pregnant. I'm definitely more caring than him." Tammy took her hand and told her what was in her heart, "Avery, Elliot's sin is unforgivable this time. As soon as he left, there's nothing to regret, it's just a child."

"Let's talk when he comes back! Now that he hasn't come back, I don't know what he thinks." Avery's tone was calm and changed. There was a topic, "Tammy, if I divorce Elliot and you have a baby, I don't know if I will come back to congratulate you."

Tammy said Reluctantly, "Are you going to leave here after you get divorced? Are you going to settle in Bridgedale? In this way, we won't see each other several times a year."

Avery sighed: "Not necessarily. But I will leave here for the time being."

"I understand how you feel. If you can't come back then don't come back. I have a baby, Jun will definitely invite Elliot... If you don't want to see him, then don't come. You can choose to come and see me and the baby at another time."

Avery: "Okay."

"By the way, I heard that Haze couldn't be found." Tammy told her the gossip she knew, "This morning, Jun summoned the courage to give Elliot the courage. I made a phone call and asked him how the situation was over there. The main thing was to ask if the child was found. Elliot said no."

"Oh... If he is not found, it may be worse." Avery murmured.

Avery did not curse the child, but deduced from what had happened that the child was unlikely to survive.

Because the child was too young and the Jobin family was destroyed again. Now that the child cannot be found, it means that the child was either killed, destroyed, or taken away by the bad guys.

If it wasn't taken away by the bad guys, then after Elliot arrived in Yonroeville, the child should have been handed over to Elliot.

Chapter 1682

"Avery, I want say something that you shouldn't say, I think this is a good thing for you." Tammy lowered her voice a bit, "Rebecca and that child are both dead and you wanted divorce. Isn't there any obstacle between them? Elliot went to Yonroeville this time, maybe just to collect their bodies. After all, there is no one else in the Jobin family."

Avery did not tell Tammy that she was going to divorce Elliot, no Just because Elliot went to Yonroeville.

It was because she was blind at the time and hoped that he could come to her, but he still decided to fly to Yonroeville.

“Tammy, I have already thought about it. This time I really thought about it.” Avery told Tammy of her decision.

“I see. You’re here for real this time. No wonder Mike has been with you all the time. You must have been very uncomfortable the past few days? Why didn’t you tell me?” Tammy regretted that she was not the most saddened by her. time to comfort her.

“It’s not as sad as you think. Maybe it’s because I’m older, and I see it more openly than before.” Avery smiled.

“You think I’m pregnant, so you don’t tell me the truth, right?” Tammy raised her head and looked at the sky, “Sometimes I feel that life is really boring. It was more carefree when I was a student.”

Avery: “Wait. When your baby is born, you will be very fulfilled.”

“But you are so far away from me that I can’t play with you casually in the future. I feel so sad.” Tammy reluctantly gave up.

Avery: “Tammy, I won’t be abroad all the time, I will still come back.”

Tammy: “I’m relieved with your words. I’m afraid that you won’t come back if you leave. Because your company is there...”

Avery: “Aryadelle has always been my hometown, and I still want to retire in Aryadelle in the future.”

Mike leaned against a big tree to enjoy the shade, and while playing with his mobile phone, he glanced at Avery from time to time.

After he and Chad quarreled in the hospital, they stopped contacting each other.

In two days at most, Mike will accompany Avery to Bridgedale. He wondered in his heart whether he should say goodbye to Chad. After all, it’s gone, he doesn’t know when he’ll be back.

If Avery’s eyes are not cured, Mike may stay abroad. After hesitating, he sent Chad a message.

The message was a smiley emoji.

When Chad saw this news, he immediately became angry, and immediately replied: [Get out!]

Last time Mike asked him to get out, he was very angry.

So Chad will fight tooth for tooth and blood for blood.

Mike: [Still angry! I have to go. You can go to Bridgedale to find me in the future.]

Chad: [Think beautifully! Didn't she say she wanted to divorce my boss? My boss hasn't come back yet, are you leaving?]

Mike: [Your boss should be back soon, right? Wait for him to come back and go through the divorce formalities.]

Chad: [Oh, won't you come back in the future?]

Mike: [I don't know, look at her.]

Chad: [Alright, got it. You messaged me just to say this?]

Mike: [You can go to Bridgedale to find me in the future!]

Chad: [No.]

Mike looked at these words, frowned, and did not reply.

After Avery and Tammy chatted for a while, Tammy's phone rang, and it was Mary who called her.

Tammy's belly is getting bigger and bigger now, and Mary strictly controls the time she goes out, for fear of an unexpected premature birth.

"Avery, I'm going back." After Tammy answered the phone, she said to Avery, "I'll come to see you tomorrow. Are you still in the hospital tomorrow?"

Avery: "Yeah."

"You're going to divorce Elliot, why are you still working so hard? Look at how haggard you are now, and you haven't seen Elliot come to guard Shea's child."

Tammy said distressedly.

Chapter 1683

Avery sends Tammy to the parking lot.

After Tammy left, Mike sent Avery back to the ward.

Mike: "Avery, you didn't tell Tammy about your illness, did you?"

"She is about to give birth, let her have a baby in peace." Avery said, "Elliot will be back soon."

Mike: "Are you nervous?"

Avery: "It's okay."

On the plane back to Aryadelle.

Ben Schaffer saw that Elliot was not sleepy, so he chatted with him: "If this driver hadn't died, he must have known a lot of things. Even the shooting case that night, he must have seen everything."

Elliot pursed his lips and did not speak.

The driver who was lucky enough to escape and eventually died, the contents of his mobile phone have been repaired.

In his mobile phone, there was nothing unusual about the text messages and call records.

There are many photos in his album. These photos are basically candid photos, and they are all candidly taken by the same person.

The driver secretly filmed Rebecca. From these secret photos, it can be seen that the driver has a bad idea of Rebecca. It's just that there are bodyguards at home, so the driver has no chance to do anything other than secretly take pictures of Rebecca.

"Ben Schaffer, I always think that Haze is Avery's child." Elliot's face was solemn, "I don't have any proof, I just have this hunch."

“If you just look at Haze’s photos, she does look a lot like Avery’s child. It’s a pity that I can’t find that child now, so I can’t tell if she is yours and Avery.” Ben Schaffer sighed, “In this accident, the most miserable and innocent child is this child.”

Elliot looked out the window. He was afraid he won’t be able to find the child.

Moreover, Avery wanted to divorce him because of this. Not only did he lose his children, he also lost his marriage. Does it worth?

If he had known this was the result, he might have hesitated when he was at the airport. But after hesitating, he will still set foot on the flight to Yonroeville.

He never wanted to understand that when he went to Yonroeville, it wasn’t for a rendezvous with Rebecca, let alone to meet Haze’s father and daughter, but because such a tragic tragedy happened in Yonroeville, why couldn’t he go and see it?

–Why Avery made such a big fire, he still didn’t understand.

–As for her request for a divorce, it’s not that he can’t agree, as long as she can agree to his divorce request.

After nearly ten hours of flight, the plane landed slowly at the capital airport of Aryadelle.

Chad picked him up at the airport.

After Elliot and Ben Schaffer came out, Chad immediately came out of the airport lobby with them.

“Brother Ben, take another car.” Chad said.

“Oh... do you have any arrangements?” Ben Schaffer asked.

“You must be tired after taking the plane for so long. So I prepared two cars to take you home separately.” Chad returned.

“I’m not far from Elliot’s house.” Ben Schaffer gave Chad a meaningful look,

“Could it be Avery waiting to find Elliot?”

Elliot listened to Ben Schaffer. If so, look at Chad.

Under the double pressure of the two of them, Chad had to recruit from the truth:

“That’s it, Mike said that Avery is very anxious, I don’t think this matter needs to be delayed, so boss, I will send you directly to Avery. Let’s negotiate.”

“Well.” Elliot didn’t fall asleep on the plane and was extremely tired, but when he got off the plane, he was more awake when he thought about seeing Avery and discussing divorce.

Chapter 1684

Avery and Mike were now in a cafe near the Starry River Villa.

After Chad delivered Elliot, he took Mike and walked out.

Mike: “Why did you pull me out? What if Elliot bullies Avery when I come out?”

Chad pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose: “My boss suspects that you did what happened to the Jobin family, You’d better stay away from me and in front of the boss!”

Mike: “Oh, what if he suspects me? Does he have evidence that I did it?”

Chad: “Now he wants to settle the matter between him and Avery, so don’t make trouble there! “

“Chad, I don’t care what your boss thinks of me, but you doubt me with your boss, I can’t forgive you.” Mike’s face was frosty, “Why do I like to be with Avery, because Avery Believe me. Avery believes me as long as I say it!”

Chad pursed his lips, not knowing how to answer. He did suspect that Mike did it. After all, the time he knew Mike was not as long as the time Avery and Mike knew each other.

In the cafe.

Avery pushed the divorce agreement and pen she brought to Elliot.

After Elliot saw the two words of 'divorce agreement', all the words in his heart were blocked.

With his slender fingers, he picked up the agreement.

Avery watched him flip through them one by one, and when she reached the last piece of paper, her heart tensed.

On the last piece of paper, there are two lines of blank grids, which are the man's request and the woman's request.

Avery wrote his own request in the woman's request. She didn't negotiate with Elliot in advance, she hesitated and decided to write it down first.

Because she knew that Elliot would probably not agree to this request. If she made it in front of him, they might argue violently.

"Avery, do you think it's possible?" Elliot read her request and put down the agreement.

"Why is it impossible?" Avery tried to use a calm tone to argue with him, "I gave birth to all three children, why can't I ask for their custody?"

"You can give birth these three children alone without me?" Elliot retorted, "Aren't you too greedy to have them all?"

Avery heard his thoughts from his words.

"You want Robert's custody?" Avery asked tentatively.

The three children, Hayden and Layla, both grew up with Avery, and they must have been towards Avery.

Only Robert was born in the company of Elliot. And Robert also has feelings for Elliot.

Avery wouldn't be so worried if Elliot really wanted Robert's custody and kept Robert by Elliot's side.

"Robert's custody, I definitely want it." Elliot's Adam's apple rolled, and his voice was low and powerful, "And Layla, she must follow me."

Avery's face changed greatly: "You are too greedy! Layla grew up with me! She won't agree to live with you!"

"As long as you don't provoke my relationship with Layla, even if Layla can't accept staying by my side for a short time, she'll be sure after a long time. You can accept this reality." Elliot said here, his words became more intense, "It's you who don't want children, it's you who insists on breaking this complete family."

"Elliot, do you think you can change anything by saying this? If you speak ill of me in front of the child, the child will judge for himself! Sign this divorce agreement!"

Avery looked at his stern and serious face, and recalled the day when she couldn't see and called him for help. But he was indifferent.

Now that the two of them met, Elliot didn't care what happened to her eyes at all. He doesn't care about her, he only cares about the custody of several children that can be obtained by divorce.

Chapter 1685

Such a cold-hearted man, a marriage that is as fragile and vulnerable as paper, don't worry.

"You agreed to my request?" Elliot didn't expect Avery to compromise so quickly. Avery obviously likes Layla so much and loves Layla so much, but in order to divorce him, she is willing to give up Layla's custody.

"If I don't agree, can you let me take Layla away?" Avery thought it was very funny, "You don't need to tell me, I know I can't. So what can I do if I don't agree?"

Thousands of arrows pierce the heart.

Being with him makes her so miserable?

What heinous thing did he do? Killed or set fire?

"Avery, I don't understand." After Elliot finished saying this, he picked up the signature pen, but did not rush to sign.

His eyes looked at her ruthless face like a torch.

“I don’t understand either.” Avery looked at him coldly, “I will probably remarry you when I have water in my head. Now the water in my head is poured out, so I can see everything clearly.”

“Look. Clear everything?” Elliot listened to her cynicism, and he didn’t understand, “Tell me, what did you see clearly.”

“Elliot, I don’t want to quarrel with you. So don’t force me to say those ugly words.” Avery took a deep breath, picked up the water glass in front of him, and took a sip.

Elliot held the pen’s finger and clenched it tightly: “I went to Yonroeville because Rebecca is dead. Can’t I go even if she dies?!”

“About Rebecca and your child, you Don’t mention it any more. It’s reassuring when someone dies!” Avery stopped him from what he said later.

The two of them divorced, and Rebecca and that child were just a fuse.

Avery really made up her mind to separate from Elliot because of his indifferent attitude towards her!

She thought Elliot knew this in his heart, but it seemed that he didn’t understand.

Did Elliot really not understand, or was he pretending to be confused?

“You don’t even need a reason to divorce me.” Elliot looked at her cold face and understood her intention.

Once a woman changes her mind, she doesn’t need any reason at all. She doesn’t love him anymore, so in her opinion, he has problems and mistakes everywhere.

Avery felt like Elliot was throwing sewage on her!

–What does he mean without a reason?

–Has he hurt her enough? If it was Avery who ignored his pain like that, Elliot would definitely not wait a week and find a way to divorce her directly.

“Sign it! Hayden belongs to me, Layla and Robert belong to you.” Although Avery couldn’t accept such a result and Elliot still couldn’t accept that he would continue to live the rest of his life in the name of ‘husband and wife’.

Not a minute or a second.

“Have you talked to Layla?” Seeing that things were irreversible, Elliot could only try to calm himself.

Looking at Avery light-hearted look, it seems that the two of them are not breaking up at all.

If Elliot is too embarrassed, he will only make her laugh.

“No. Layla said she wanted to follow me. But you forcibly took Layla’s custody, so you went to coax her.” Avery said coldly, “You sign first!”

Elliot endured her heartbreak and put her request into the column Layla and Robert’s names are crossed out.

Then write the names of the two children in his request column.

Avery looked at the words ‘Elliot’ under the the divorce agreement, and tears welled up.

Chapter 1686

After seeing Elliot signed, Avery’s mood was actually quite calm. Because the divorce was brought up by her, she had been fully prepared before Elliot returned to Aryadelle.

But when she really faced him, she saw with her own eyes that the relationship between the two of them came to an end, and that they were divided into two.

From then on, there was no connection anymore, a tear-like pain that made her breathless.

No matter who is responsible for who, from now on, the grievances and grievances between the two of them will be severed.

“My boss signed it.” Chad stood by the floor-to-ceiling window outside the cafe and saw Elliot signing the document, “Why did they settle it so quickly?”

Chad was puzzled.

Because based on what he knows about Avery, Avery will definitely fight for the custody of the child.

“Avery can give up the custody of Layla and Robert, and Elliot knows that he can’t get Hayden’s custody, so they have nothing else to dispute.” Mike also saw Elliot’s signature.

He couldn’t tell how he felt.

Everything is over.

It went so smoothly, which was unexpected.

He didn’t even expect Avery to come out so quickly.

When Avery appeared in front of him, he thought he had hallucinations.

“Do you have anything else to say to Chad? Then I’ll wait for you in the car first.”

Avery carried her bag, left these words, and strode towards the parking lot.

It’s scorching hot right now, and I’m sweating just standing outside for a while.

Mike watched Avery get into the car, and then looked into the cafe.

Elliot was still sitting there, holding a cup of tea in his hand, as if frozen.

“Mike, what’s Avery’s plan next?” Chad looked at his face and asked.

Mike: “Why are you asking this? Are you going to the airport to drop us off?”

Chad shook his head: “I won’t deliver it, I just asked casually.”

“If that’s the case, then I’ll leave.” Mike said, “Call and text me if you have something to do. Contact.”

“Okay. Let’s go!” Chad said lightly.

Mike strode towards the parking lot.

Chad watched Mike enter the car, closed the door, and sighed silently in his heart.

He used to think that Avery and Elliot were a match made by nature. No matter how hard the two of them go, they will always be together in the end.

Now it seems that he was still too naive.

Life is so long, and variables always exist. No matter how deep it is when they love, when they don't love it, it will be more embarrassing than being an enemy.

The two of them were in there just now, and they didn't make a lot of noise, and it was considered a decent division.

The more decent they are, the less likely they will be in the future.

On the contrary, it is the kind of noisy and noisy, which is easy to be disconnected, and the old love is rekindled.

Chad strode into the cafe and sat down opposite Elliot.

"Boss, they're left. I'll take you back to rest!" When Chad spoke, he carefully looked at Elliot's expression.

His expression was the same as usual.

However, it can be seen that he is a little bit stubborn.

"Boss, did you get the custody of Robert and Layla?" Chad changed the question.

"Well." Elliot handed his agreement to Chad, "Take it to a lawyer."

"Okay." Chad accepted the agreement, "Didn't you explain to her about your trip to Yonroeville this time? Why did you sign it so quickly?"

"Avery doesn't want to hear it. She is determined to divorce me. I don't want to humiliate myself. Even if I humiliate myself, it won't change anything."

Chad listened to his calm and restrained tone, as if he had knocked over a fiveflavor bottle.

"Boss, you want to open. At least Layla and Robert are still there." Chad comforted.

Chapter 1687

Chad's words made Elliot suddenly stand up from his chair.

Layla refused to talk to him, now Avery should go back and tell the child the result.

Avery said that he would not coax Layla, so he must go back now to appease the child's emotions.

Starry River Villa.

Elliot got out of the car and heard Robert crying.

–Why is Robert crying?

Elliot's heart clenched into a ball and strode towards the villa.

In the huge living room, Mrs. Cooper hugged Robert, who was crying, and kept coaxing him.

Elliot didn't change his shoes, he walked in directly and came to Mrs. Cooper, his eyes fixed on his son who was crying.

Elliot: "What's wrong with Robert?"

"Sir, go upstairs to see Layla! Layla is crying even more sadly." Mrs. Cooper's voice was a little choked, "Avery and Hayden are left. Layla can't take this blow. Robert didn't understand anything, so he cried when he saw Layla cry."

"They just left without coaxing Layla?" Elliot frowned. He didn't expect Avery to be so cruel.

Mrs. Cooper said, "They're going to catch a plane. So they're in a hurry."

"To catch a plane? Are they leaving today?" Elliot was astonished.

Elliot thought that he broke up peacefully with Avery. Is Avery hiding from him like the god of plague?

Mrs. Cooper sighed, "That's what Avery said. She coaxed Layla, and Hayden coaxed too. If the two of them didn't coax Layla, Layla would have run away long ago.”

Layla thought she could live with her mother and her brother, but now Avery told her to live with her father in the future.

Even if she had a good impression of her father before and felt that her father was the best father in the world, compared with her mother and brother, her father was not worth mentioning at all!

Elliot strode upstairs to coax his daughter.

Layla locked the door, but Elliot couldn't open it, so he could only stand outside and call her: “Layla, open the door, Dad wants to talk to you.”

“Go away! You bast*rd!” Avery smashed everything in the room that could smash.

Her voice was also hoarse. She felt abandoned by her mother and brother.

After Elliot's voice came, she picked up a book from the ground and smashed it towards the door.

The sound of 'bang' came suddenly, and this muffled sound seemed to hit Elliot's heart.

His daughter's disgusting voice made him very sad.

The daughter cried upstairs and the son cried downstairs. Elliot has absolutely nothing to do with these two little ancestors.

At this moment, his proud self-esteem was completely crushed. He suddenly realized that he could not do without Avery.

Apart from Avery, he was also unwilling to lose Hayden.

He regrets it. He shouldn't have signed that divorce agreement, he should have explained it to Avery and won her forgiveness, instead of letting things develop into the situation he least wanted to see for the so-called face.

He took out his mobile phone, and without any hesitation, dialed Avery's number.

Can Elliot keep her if he begs her to come back?

Airport.

When Avery was about to shut down, Elliot's name popped out unexpectedly.

She thought she was wrong.

Hayden reminded, "Mom, your phone is ringing. We're going to board the plane."

"Okay, mom answered a call and will be here soon." Avery said, walking to the side with her mobile phone.

After Avery walked away, Mike turned back and asked Hayden, "Who called?"

Hayden caught a glimpse of the name on the screen of her mobile phone from the corner of his eye just now, so he said glumly, "The b*stard surnamed Foster."

Chapter 1688

Avery answered the phone, and Elliot's low voice was a little anxious: "Avery, the daughter and the son is crying. Don't you go, okay?"

"What do you think of me?" Avery asked back, "If you don't want Layla and Robert to be sad, you can give me the custody of the child. If you agree, I'll pick them up now."

On the other side of the phone, Elliot's breathing aggravated. He still had a lot of things to say to her, but because of her attitude, he couldn't say anything after that.

"I'm about to board the plane." Avery started the countdown in her heart, "Elliot, do you want to give me the child? After giving me the child, you can go back to find women, and you can have as many children as you want."

Elliot became angrier the more he heard it.

Avery didn't scold him with swear words, but she insulted him severely.

Elliot's face was ashen, then turned pale, and his body couldn't stop shaking.

When he hung up the phone, his fingers seemed to be frozen, extremely stiff.

He pressed the red hang up button several times before hanging up.

Avery took a deep breath and adjusted her mood when she heard the disconnecting sound of 'beep beep' on the other side of the phone.

Elliot refused her request.

So he called her to want her to go back and live as usual as if nothing had happened between them?

She don't know whether to call him naive or smart.

Starry River Villa.

After Elliot hung up the phone, the expression on his face was as cold as frost. He strode downstairs and took Robert from Mrs. Cooper's arms.

Robert didn't cry anymore, but the little guy's eyes were red and swollen from crying. Because he cried too hard just now, his body twitched from time to time.

Elliot said to Mrs. Cooper, "Do you have a spare key at home? Layla locked the door. Go and coax her!"

Mrs. Cooper nodded and looked for the spare key.

Chad saw Elliot hug Robert, and couldn't help sighing: "It's good that Robert is small, not like Layla and Hayden, otherwise I don't know what the trouble will be."

"Even if they quarrel, I won't take it seriously. Their custody is given to Avery."

After Elliot's heart was completely broken, it became harder than a rock.

"Boss, why don't you give Robert to me, you can take a rest!" Chad saw that Elliot was tired, so he wanted to take Robert over.

Elliot shook his head: "I'll go to rest when Layla calms down."

"Layla estimates that it will be difficult to accept this result for a while." Chad replaced Layla's mood and became sad, "Although I always knew that my parents were divorced, The impact on the child will be great, but because it didn't fall on him, it's hard to experience such emotions."

Elliot paused for a while.

“Now I can’t bear to hear the child’s heart-wrenching cry. I don’t understand why Avery is so cruel all of a sudden. I always feel that there is some misunderstanding.” Chad guessed, “Boss, didn’t you ask? Are you clear?” Elliot sat down on the sofa with Robert in his arms, his mind buzzing. As long as he thinks about things related to Avery, his body functions are abnormal, he can’t think normally, and he can’t give normal reactions. Chad saw that his expression was not quite right, and realized that he could not continue talking about this topic.

Chapter 1689

“Boss, I’ll go upstairs to see Layla.” Chad wanted to help Elliot coax Layla. He and Layla usually have a good relationship, although not as good as Layla and Mike, but now that Avery, Hayden and Mike are not around, he thinks he can still speak in front of Layla.

Upstairs.

Mrs. Cooper opened the door with the spare key.

There was chaos in the room, like a gust of wind crossing the border.

Layla was sitting on the bed, her hands on her knees, her cry not loud, but hoarse and sad.

Mrs. Cooper couldn’t blame her.

“Layla, don’t cry. Your brother told me before he left that he would come to pick you up in the future.” Mrs. Cooper walked to the bed and wiped the tears from Layla’s face with a tissue, “You believe your brother Okay?”

“I don’t believe him anymore...he said that as long as I stick with Mommy, I can go with them.” Layla cried out of breath, “they said they would go, they didn’t love me at all.”

Chad went upstairs and heard Layla’s accusation.

He walked to the door of the room and saw the mess on the ground, and his heart became even more heavy.

He entered the room and picked up the items on the ground one by one.

“Chad, I’ll take care of these later.” Mrs. Cooper saw him coming in and immediately spoke up.

“It’s okay, I’m idle when I’m idle.” Chad saw that Layla was looking at him, so he smiled at her, “Layla, I know you’re sad now. But don’t worry, your brother is so good, he will definitely surpass your father in the future. When he surpasses your father, he will definitely pick you up.”

“Then what should I do now?” Layla thought of the days to come without her mother and brother, and tears poured out again.

“You still have a younger brother. Although your mother and elder brother are not with you, you can make videoall with them every day. If you miss them, you can go to Bridgedale to find them. Or you can ask them to come back to see you.”

Chad walked up to her and looked at her sincerely, “I will help you get back to your mother and brother. As long as there is a chance in the future, I will definitely help you.”

Layla was greatly encouraged: “Uncle chad, did uncle Mike ask you to help me?”

Chad’s eyes flashed an embarrassing look, but his face was gentle and drizzle:

“Yes, it was your uncle Mike who asked me to persuade you. And let me tell you why they left like this. Anxious, because your mother is very sad. When your mother is not so sad, he will come back to see you anytime.”

Layla’s tears still kept falling. But she didn’t cry anymore.

Mrs. Cooper hugged her and patted her back gently with her palm.

After Chad picked up all the things on the ground, he looked at Layla again.

She fell asleep in chad’s arms.

Probably tired of crying.

Chad went downstairs and saw that Robert was also asleep in Elliot's arms.

"Boss, Layla is asleep." Chad walked up to Elliot, "Put Robert on the bed, and you can go to sleep too!"

"How did Layla calm down?" Elliot asked.

"I told her that Mike and Hayden will come to pick you up in the future. Give her some hope first and make her feel better. In the future, whether Hayden comes to pick her up or not, she has a deep relationship with you, and it won't be so painful."

Elliot pondered. After a while, he said, "Chad, I'm pretty sure that I have no other conflict with Avery. The day I went to Yonroeville, she called me, and she complained that I shouldn't go to Yonroeville and that I shouldn't break my promise to her. I told her that Rebecca was dead, and I told her everything."

Chad said angrily, "Boss, if that's the case, then don't be sad. She doesn't deserve your pain. She's vexatious, doesn't know how to be flexible, and is coldblooded. She's left so easily today, you don't want to give her in the future. She looks after the kids. I see if she can really let go of everything here."

Chapter 1690

In the evening, Ben Schaffer sent a message to Gwen, telling her that Avery went to Bridgedale.

Gwen immediately replied to him: [Are you sure that Avery has come to Bridgedale? She didn't tell me!]

Ben Schaffer: [She may not have gotten off the plane yet. But I'm sure she went to Bridgedale. She divorced Elliot today. Elliot signed the divorce agreement, and Avery took Hayden away.]

Gwen: [What did I miss? ? Why is this so?]

After Gwen won the second place in the modeling competition, her agent took over some activities for her.

These activities often required running in various cities, so she was usually very busy.

Ben Schaffer: [Is it convenient for you to talk on the phone now? I'll call you to say.]

Gwen: [Send a message and say it! If you don't want to type, you can speak.]

So, Ben Schaffer sent her a voice: [Rebecca is dead, Haze is gone. Elliot went to Yonroeville to look for Haze, but he didn't find it. Avery divorced Elliot because Elliot went to Yonroeville.]

Gwen was stunned.

Ben Schaffer's voice continued: [I really don't understand her. Isn't it nice that Rebecca is dead? Why is she so angry? Besides, Haze, even if Elliot really confesses to Haze, he won't die. Is she going to tear her face off? She lost the custody of Layla and Robert, and she would rather give up her two children than divorce Elliot.]

Gwen was a little confused.

If it was really what Ben Schaffer said, Avery would not be so angry.

Gwen dialed the phone directly.

Ben Schaffer answered the phone and asked, "Didn't you say it's inconvenient to answer the phone? What are you doing now?"

Gwen: "I'm in the bathroom now. There are a lot of people here."

"Oh, when Avery arrives in Bridgedale, Take the time to visit her." Ben Schaffer said.

"I know. How is my second brother?" Gwen asked.

"I didn't go to see him. But Chad told me that he was not very good. First of all, Layla didn't want him and made trouble at home. Second, this marriage is not for your second brother to leave. It means that he was dumped by Avery.” Ben Schaffer didn’t want to make Elliot’s words so miserable, but he couldn’t ignore the facts.

“Oh... Avery divorced him. My second brother must have made a big mistake. It must not only be because he went to Yonroeville...”

“You don’t believe what I said? Then you will be there. You can directly ask Avery why she wants a divorce. If you find out the result, let me know.” Ben Schaffer was also curious, if Avery insisted on divorce, is there any other reason.

Gwen: “Well. I’ll hang up if I have nothing else to do.”

“Hey, we haven’t been in touch for so long, let’s talk more!” Ben Schaffer was actually very sleepy at the moment, but he slept in the afternoon, and now he can’t sleep again.

Gwen: “If I don’t go out again, my agent will think I’ve fallen into a ditch.”

Ben Schaffer said, “Then you should go out of the bathroom first! If you chat with me in front of your agent, what can she do to you? If she dares to embarrass you, I’ll ask Hayden to fire her.”

Gwen laughed: “Are you sure Hayden will listen to you now? You can just brag with others, don’t brag in front of me.”

Ben: “Fake? I’ll go and play with you.”

Gwen: “I don’t want to play with you if I’m on holiday. I’ll go to Avery and Hayden after the holiday.”

Ben: “Okay, you can find them first. Remember to contact me when you have time.”

“Let’s talk about it.” Gwen hung up the phone and came out of the bathroom.

A few hours later, Gwen finished work and allocated Hayden.

Hayden answered the phone.

“Hayden, where are you and your mother now? I’m done working today, I’ll go and find you.” Gwen wanted to ask Avery what was going on.

“No time.” Hayden replied concisely, “You work hard, don’t think about anything else.”

Gwen was stunned for a moment: “Where’s your mother? I called her, but I can’t get through.”

Hayden: “Don’t look for her. She wants to be quiet.”

“Oh...” Gwen was at a loss, and she didn’t know how to ask the question she wanted to ask for a while.

Chapter 1691

Hayden hung up the phone and looked up at the door of the operating room.

After Avery got off the plane, he went directly to the hospital and entered the operating room.

Her medical records were sent when she was in Aryadelle.

Everything here is ready, just waiting for her to come.

“Did Gwen call?” Mike asked.

Hayden: “Well.”

Mike walked to the bench and sat down, took out a box of chewing gum from his pocket, put two in his mouth, and then handed the box to Hayden.

“Why don’t you go back and rest first! I’ll just wait here.” Mike chewed his gum with a calm face, “Your mother will be fine. The doctor who operated on her is an expert ophthalmologist in Bridgedale.”

Hayden shook his head. He wanted to wait here for his mother’s operation to be over.

Mike looked at him, and said, “You have to report to the new school tomorrow. Do you want to go to school with two dark circles under your eyes? You signed a fiveyear contract with the school this time, and within five years, you cannot transfer schools.”

“Do you think it’s possible for my mother to be with that b*stard?” Hayden sat down beside Mike.

“I didn’t say anything about Elliot. Your mother said that when her eyes recover, she will still go back to Aryadelle. That’s her hometown, her best friends are there, she can’t live in Bridgedale. Even if you settle down, it’s only a short-term settlement.” Mike kept talking, the chewing gum in his mouth suddenly fell onto Hayden’s arm.

Mike was stunned.

Hayden was also stunned.

Before Hayden could react, Mike quickly picked up the chewing gum on his arm and put it back in his mouth.

Hayden: “...”

Mike was chewing gum with a smile on his lips, but he didn’t dare to continue speaking.

Hayden glared at him with disgust, and then quickly walked to the bathroom.

Avery’s surgery took two hours.

After the operation, she was sent to the ward.

Her eyes were wrapped in white gauze, she didn’t speak, and she didn’t know if she was awake.

Mike looked at the time and said to Hayden, “Go back first! Your mother doesn’t know when she will wake up. When she wakes up, I’ll call you. Go back to the room and rest.”

After Hayden left, the attending doctor entered the ward, walked to the bedside, and asked Avery, “How are you feeling now? If it hurts very much, I can give you painkillers.”

Mike was shocked: "Avery, are you Awake? I thought you weren't awake under anesthesia! You heard me talking to Hayden just now, why didn't you say anything?"

Avery: "I'm afraid that Hayden won't leave if I speak."

Mike: "Okay. Well, how are you feeling now?"

"It's okay. It hurts a bit, but it's acceptable." Avery couldn't sleep because of the pain, and she couldn't see anything now, which was a bad feeling.

But she has to get used to it.

Mike: "Then you have a good rest. I have something to call the nurse. I'll get off work first."

Avery: "Thank you."

Mike: "It's okay."

After the doctor left, Mike sat down in front of the hospital bed and asked her, "After this operation, you will be able to recover?"

Chapter 1692

Avery replied: "No."

"Why? Do you need another operation? Why is it so complicated? Is the doctor confident to cure your eyes?" Mike became anxious.

She thought she would recover after the operation. Unexpectedly, it can't be.

Avery said, "If the recovery is good after this operation, the cornea will be replaced later. After the cornea is replaced, the light can be restored. As long as there are no major problems with this operation, the subsequent operation will be very simple."

"Oh... cornea replacement... Where can I find corneas? Does the hospital have a cornea bank? Is there any specific requirements for corneal transplantation?"

"Mike, don't be nervous." Avery's tone was calm, "The hospital has a cornea bank. The doctor will help me find it. These are all trivial matters. Now wait for the operation to see how the recovery is going!"

"You will definitely recover very well." Mike encouraged her, "You can't see anything right now, aren't you scared? Don't worry, I'll stay by your side every step of the way."

"I asked you to hire a nurse for me, did you?" Avery asked.

It's inconvenient for Avery to do anything now, and since she and Mike are different from men and women, it's more convenient for her to ask a carer.

Mike: "Please, do I need to call the nurse now?"

"How much medicine do I have?" Avery is infusion now.

Mike: "There is still a small bottle."

"When the medicine is over, call the nurse in. The nurse will be with me. You can go back and rest." Avery said.

"What are you thinking. How can I trust a stranger to look at you? I must be here with you." Mike replied without hesitation.

Avery: "Hayden is at home alone, how can I rest assured?"

Mike reassured her, "There are bodyguards to accompany him. It really doesn't work, I'll hire another nanny to serve him. You can recuperate now and don't think about anything. And there's Layla, don't worry too much. Layla is almost ten years old, she should be stronger."

Avery pursed her lips and didn't answer.

For Layla and Robert, she is very apologetic. But now, she really can't take care of them.

Mike comforted her, "I asked Hayden to make a video call to Layla every day. If you want children, you can call them. When your illness is cured, you can go back to Aryadelle to take care of the children at any time. Elliot didn't say that you would not be allowed to take care of the children, right? “

Avery: “He’s not so heartless.”

Mike gave her a advice, “If Elliot doesn’t show you Layla and Robert, you won’t show him Hayden. Besides, he can control Robert now but can’t control Layla.”

“Don’t think about it so much.” Avery’s eyes were particularly painful, and the wounds in the eyes involved the nerves in the whole head. I couldn’t bear the pain if I didn’t want to, and it would hurt even more if I wanted to be sad.”

It felt like everyone was going to explode.

“Would you like a nurse to give you painkillers?” Mike asked.

“No need... just get over it after a while.” Avery couldn’t forget how Layla broke down and cried when she left.

No matter how painful Avery is now, she can’t make up for the debt she owes to her daughter.

.....

Aryadelle.

Starry River Villa.

3:00 in the morning.

Elliot was not sleepy. He came out of the bedroom and walked towards his daughter’s room.

Tonight, Mrs. Cooper took Robert to sleep in Layla’s room.

He didn’t need to worry about it at first, but he was thinking about his daughter, and he always felt that her daughter was too sad this time, and she might not be able to sleep well at night.

He pushed the door of the room lightly open – only the orange warm light was on inside, and the sound of Layla’s sobbing could be heard clearly.

Mrs. Cooper sat next to Layla and coaxed her in a low voice: "Your brother and I will accompany you, we will always be with you."

Elliot strode into the room and saw the antipyretic sticker on Layla's forehead, her brows taut. She frowned and asked, "Does Layla have a fever?"

Mrs. Cooper saw Elliot coming in and immediately replied, "Well, I took her temperature and it didn't exceed 38.5 C., so I just put a fever-reducing patch on her."

Layla saw Elliot, the switch of the lacrimal gland seemed to be turned off.

Chapter 1693

"I don't want you! Go away! You're a badss! You badss dad! I hate you!" Layla exclaimed suddenly.

Robert, who was on the bed next to him, was awakened instantly.

After Robert was woken up by the screams, he cried with a 'wow'.

In an instant, the cries were endless and deafening.

Mrs. Cooper looked embarrassed and didn't know whether to coax Robert or continue to coax Layla.

Elliot said to Mrs. Cooper, "Take Robert away. I'll talk to Layla."

Mrs. Cooper, "Okay...Sir, be patient, Layla is sick now..."

Elliot: "Yeah."

After Mrs. Cooper carried Robert away, who was crying, only Layla's cry was left in the room.

Layla cried so hard today that her voice was hoarse.

In addition, she was ill at the moment, and her face looked flushed, not only the skin on her face was red, but her eyes were also red.

Elliot stood in front of the bed and looked at his daughter helplessly: "Layla, I'm sorry. Dad didn't mean to separate you from your mother. Your mother insisted on divorce from me, I have no other choice.”

“It’s all yours. Wrong! You made a mistake and my mom divorced you!” Layla looked at him with broken eyes and shouted, “I hate you!”

After the last sentence, Layla coughed violently.

Elliot listened to her heavy breathing and felt that she might be seriously ill.

He reached out to touch Layla’s forehead, but before he could touch her, she slapped his arm hard.

“Don’t touch me!” Layla looked like an angry little lion. “If you don’t give me back to my mother, I won’t eat again! I’ll starve to death!”

“Layla, dad will take you Hospital first. You have a bad burn.”

When Elliot stretched his hand and patted her arm just now, he felt that his daughter’s arm was hot.

“I want my mother! If you don’t send me to my mother, let me die!” Layla hugged her little pillow and cried very sadly.

Elliot looked at his daughter’s grievance and grief. His heart was as hard as a rock, but also softened.

“Okay, I’ll call your mother. But don’t cry yet.” Elliot compromised.

Layla stopped crying immediately and looked at him with tears in her eyes.

Elliot went back to his room to get his phone.

Layla got out of bed quickly and followed him.

When Elliot arrived at the door of the master bedroom, Elliot heard a ‘bang’ behind him. He immediately turned around and saw Layla fell to the ground.

“Layla!” The blood in his body boiled violently.

He quickly picked up his daughter. Her hot body temperature seemed to burn at any moment.

He carried his daughter back to the room, called ambulance with his mobile phone, and then carried his daughter downstairs.

The ambulance came quickly.

After Elliot took his daughter to the ambulance, he turned on his mobile phone, found Avery's number, and dialed it.

His mental defenses collapsed. He wants custody of the child, the main purpose is to prevent Avery from leaving. But Avery would rather give up the custody of the child and leave now, he seems very passive.

Besides, Elliot didn't want to see his daughter in such pain. If his daughter is really on a hunger strike and is clamoring to go to Avery's side, he can only let go.

—Sorry, the user you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later.

Elliot listened to the cold system prompt sound, and his mind went blank.

Chapter 1694

Elliot calculated by time, Avery has now arrived in Bridgedale.

—Why is her phone still not working?

—Shut it down, or block him?

“Mom...” On the stretcher, Layla burned in a daze, muttering in a low voice, “Mom brother...don't go...don't leave me...woo woo...”

Elliot looked at his daughter's painful little face and whispered, and tightened his fingers on the phone.

—Why is Avery so cruel?

—She was just cruel to him, how could she be so cruel to the child?

—Does she plan to cut the child off?

—She suddenly became so unfamiliar to him!

—He couldn't help but wonder, did he really make a big mistake?

Elliot dialed Avery's number again, and got the same response just now.

It seemed that she didn't plan to contact them again.

When the ambulance arrived at the hospital, Layla was pushed out of the car and had her temperature taken.

At home, her body temperature did not exceed 38.5 degrees but now, her temperature has exceeded 40 degrees!

The doctor immediately prescribed Layla's fever-reducing medication.

Elliot went to buy medicine for Layla to take, and then the doctor handed him two lists.

"Go get the medicine, infusion."

The bodyguard took the order and went to pay the bill.

Elliot took Layla into his arms.

Layla's body was shaking, sweat was all over her forehead.

She was like a fireball, blazing brightly.

After the bodyguard brought the medicine and the nurse gave Layla an injection, Elliot's tense heart relaxed.

This was the first time in his memory that Layla had a high fever.

Before Avery was there, the child was by her side, and she was well taken care of. Even if there was a minor illness or pain, she could help the child heal without going to the hospital.

Now as soon as Avery left, the child was sick, as if it was God's punishment for Elliot.

After about half an hour, Layla started to sweat like crazy.

Her hair was wet and her clothes were soaking wet.

Elliot went out in a hurry and did not bring clean clothes and tissues for the child.

After a while, Layla's fever subsided, and she was a little cold from sweating too much.

It's four in the morning.

Elliot asked the bodyguard to buy tissues and water nearby.

After Layla's fever subsided, she fell asleep peacefully in his arms.

Although the daughter is not noisy now, her brows are still wrinkled.

Elliot was very afraid, if his daughter woke up and found that he had not contacted Avery, and found that she still had to stay by his side, would she continue to make trouble.

–Can her body stand up to such a commotion?

Elliot held his daughter in one hand, opened his mobile phone with the other, and sent Avery a message: Avery, Layla has a fever. Just took a temperature of 40.5 degrees. I didn't take good care of her. Maybe she's following you. She already has her own thoughts and opinions, and she needs you and Hayden. Avery, can you not be so cruel for the sake of the child? D*mn me, but the child is innocent.

You said before that you will raise the children with me.”

After sending the message, he knew Avery would not reply, but he still turned on his phone from time to time to see if there were any new messages.

Before Elliot knew Avery, he had never been so humble. But now, doing such a thing, he doesn't feel unaccustomed at all.

Because he and Avery have known each other for all these years, he has confessed, repented, apologized, and begged her to forgive her more than once.

Sometimes Elliot begs Avery, she will be soft-hearted, sometimes she won't.

He had a very strong premonition in his heart that Avery would ignore him this time and would not come back. Even, the two of them will never meet again in the future.

Chapter 1695

After Layla's general check-up was finished, the doctor prescribed some medicine to eat.

When they got home, it was 4:40 in the morning.

The door of the villa was open, and the lights in the living room were bright as day.

After Mrs. Cooper coaxed Robert to sleep, she kept waiting in the living room. Seeing Elliot coming back with Layla in his arms, Mrs. Cooper immediately greeted him.

“Layla’s fever has subsided. I need to wipe her body and change her clothes.”

Elliot hugged Layla and went back to the room.

Mrs. Cooper replied, “Sir, go back to your room to rest. I’ll take care of Layla.

Otherwise, when Layla wakes up and sees you, she might cry again.”

Elliot looked at his daughter’s pale and haggard sleeping face, murmured in a hoarse voice: “Should I not want Layla’s custody?”

“You like Layla, and if Layla lives by your side, you will definitely treat her very well. She is not used to it now, so she will get used to it. That’s good. But it will take some time to adjust.” Mrs. Cooper said, “When Robert is older and can play with her, she will feel more attributable.”

“But if my daughter keeps crying like this, I will definitely suffer. No.” After what happened tonight, Elliot was exhausted, and his inner persistence was completely destroyed.

If he can contact Avery now, he may send Layla directly to Avery.

It’s a pity that Avery’s phone can’t get through, and sending messages is also in vain.

In fact, he can call Mike and let Mike convey his meaning, but he is unwilling to do so.

This is a matter between him and Avery. If Avery keeps avoiding him, he will not contact her through others.

Elliot wanted to see how hard her heart was!

“Sir, why don’t you go back to your place for a few days first! You can meet again when Layla’s mood calms down a little.” Mrs. Cooper suggested.

Elliot hesitated again and again, and said, “We’ll see how Layla is doing in the morning.”

Mrs. Cooper: “Okay. You go to rest first.”

Putting Layla on the bed, Elliot came out of the room and returned to the master bedroom. He kept his eyes open until dawn. He tried to close his eyes and force himself to sleep, but he had a splitting headache and couldn’t sleep.

There was clearly Avery’s breath in the room. He couldn’t sleep, so he got out of bed and opened the closet.

Her clothes, bags, shoes, and all kinds of jewelry were still there.

Except for her people gone, she didn’t move anything else at all. It’s as if she’s just going on a trip, not saying goodbye.

If it weren’t for the intense heartache reminding him that she was gone, he would really suspect that everything was a nightmare.

At 6:30 in the morning, he went to the bathroom to wash up.

After a little sober, he picked up the phone and turned it on.

Avery didn’t call him back or reply to his messages.

He read the message he sent last night in his mind.

....

Bridgedale.

Ten hours after Avery’s operation, she couldn’t sleep because of the pain.

Mike stayed by the bedside the whole time. It was really painful to see her tossing and turning, so she made up her own mind and asked the nurse to add painkillers to her anti-inflammatory medicine.

When the painkillers entered her body, the pain sensation quickly subsided.

She suddenly felt light, and drowsiness followed. After she breathed evenly, Mike breathed a sigh of relief.

Mike was going to rest for a while in the escort bed next to him.

At this moment, the phone she put on the cabinet rang.

Mike picked up her phone and saw a system alert: The phone battery is low.

He took out his charger and charged her phone.

Out of curiosity, he turned off her phone's airplane mode. Suddenly, Elliot's missed calls and messages came out.

Chapter 1696

Mike read the text message he sent several times, but didn't understand what he meant.

Does he want to give Layla's custody to Avery, or does he want Avery to go back and live with him again?

What he meant between the lines was ambiguous and puzzling.

Mike lay down on the escort bed holding Avery's mobile phone. After hesitating for a while, he texted him back: [Are you willing to give me the custody of Layla?]

After the message was sent, Mike kept an eye on his phone, waiting for a reply.

If Elliot is willing to give Layla's custody to Avery, Mike can promise not to scold him in the future.

About ten minutes later, Elliot's message came back: [your daughter is ill, you don't care about her current situation at all, you only care about her custody.]

Seeing this reply, Mike was so angry that blood rushed to his head, and his fingers quickly typed on the screen: [Whose fault is Layla being sick? It's you! You didn't take good care of her, what right do you have to accuse me?]

After typing this string of text, Mike took a deep breath and pressed the send button.

If Avery hadn't seen things now, he wouldn't have dared to impersonate her with her mobile phone.

Elliot saw 'her' reply and was heartbroken.

He wanted to have a good talk with her, but she didn't mean it.

Still, he wanted to have a good chat with her about Layla.

He was afraid that she would not answer the phone, so he sent her a message:

[Let's talk on the phone about Layla!]

When Elliot edited the text message and was about to send it, Mike yawned sleepily. Because he didn't receive his reply immediately, Mike turned off Avery's phone.

Before Avery's eyes returned to light, she couldn't use her mobile phone.

The doctor said she was going to recuperate, so her phone didn't need to be turned on.

Elliot sent the text message, and after about two minutes, he dialed her number.

—Sorry, the user you dialed has been turned off, please try again later.

His face suddenly turned ashen!

He had made it so clear in the text message that he called her for Layla's business, but not only did she not reply to his messages, she even turned off the phone to avoid his calls.

Avery almost said: don't bother me!

Although she didn't say this, her actions deeply hurt him.

Layla slept until noon and woke up.

After she woke up, Mrs. Cooper immediately poured medicine for her to drink.

Layla sat on the bed and looked around.

Seeing herself in the room, she remembered the scene when her mother and brother left.

“Layla, do you remember your high fever at night?” Mrs. Cooper saw that Layla was a little confused, so she said, “Your fever reached 40 degrees, and your father took you to the hospital. You still have needles.”

Layla was not impressed. All she knew was that she was powerless and uncomfortable.

“He promised to take me to my mother’s place.” Layla vaguely remembered that her father had agreed to her request.

“You drink the medicine first, your father is resting. When you finish the medicine, I will call him.” Mrs. Cooper said calmly, “Layla, no matter where you live in the future, I hope you are healthy. How uncomfortable it is to be sick. Not only you are suffering, but your parents are also suffering.”

“I have been living with my mother and brother since I was born, and I can’t be separated from them.” Layla opened her bright apricot eyes and said seriously. Mrs. Cooper frowned, “Well, tell your father well, don’t quarrel with him. You don’t know how sad he was when you said you didn’t want him last night. It’s hard to say who is right and who is wrong about their affairs. You’ll know when you’re older.”

Layla finished drinking the medicine, and Mrs. Cooper went out with an empty bowl.

After a while, Elliot entered the room. He closed the door and walked over to Layla’s bed, looking at his daughter’s weak face.

“Layla, I called your mother, but she didn’t answer.” Elliot explained the matter to his daughter truthfully, “I sent her a message, but she replied.”

Layla looked at him intently.

“I told her, let’s talk about you on the phone, but she turned off her phone again.”

In order to make her daughter believe what she said, Elliot handed the phone to Layla.

Chapter 1697

Layla took his mobile phone, opened it skillfully, and saw the messages they exchanged.

“Layla, your mother refuses to talk to me now, including about you.”

When Elliot said this, Layla’s finger dialed Avery’s number.

In an instant, an icy system prompt sounded.

“Mom doesn’t answer your call, she will definitely answer my call!” Layla returned his mobile phone to him, then found her own and dialed Avery.

she listened same system prompt tone.

Layla burst into tears.

Elliot took her into his arms: “Layla, don’t cry. Dad will take good care of you and your brother. Dad will work harder to be a good dad.”

Layla instinctively wanted to push him away, but she knew clearly that now There is no one else to rely on except her father.

So she didn’t exert much effort.

The summer vacation has not yet started, although Layla is sad, but staying at home makes it easier for her to think wildly.

So she went back to school after a day off at home.

As for Robert, the departure of Avery and Hayden did not have much impact on the little guy’s life.

As long as there is an acquaintance around to take care of him, he can live in peace.

After all, there are some food, some drink, and some people to play with every day, that’s enough.

After Layla went to school, Elliot took a day off at home.

After regaining some energy, he reconsidered his thoughts in his heart.

Avery and Hayden left. Probably won't come back in the future.

Layla and Robert stayed by Elliot side. According to the current situation, as long as Avery didn't take the initiative to come to Layla, Layla should be able to live by his side with peace of mind.

As long as he completely crossed out Avery's name in his heart, his life could get back on track.

It's just that some things are easier said than done.

In order to match the living habits of Layla and Robert, he now accompanies the children to live in the Starry River Villa.

And this is Avery's villa.

In this house, there is Avery's shadow inside and out.

No matter what Elliot does here, he can always think of Avery's face.

After coming out of the villa, Elliot went to the Third Hospital.

He feels like he hasn't visited Shea's child for a while, and he doesn't know how that little guy is doing now.

In the laboratory, Wesley and Shea were both there.

Seeing Elliot coming over, the two of them were a little surprised.

"Brother." Shea walked to Elliot and pulled his arm.

After he and Avery divorced, Shea wanted to see him very much, but Wesley told her not to go.

Wesley was afraid that if she went, not only would she not be able to help, but instead it would make the chaotic home more and more chaotic.

"Well, how is the child?" Elliot asked Wesley.

"Everything is normal now." Wesley replied.

Elliot: "That's good."

“Is Layla okay?” Wesley asked, “You can send her to our house and let Shea stay with her for a few days.”

Elliot: “I’ll ask her on the weekend.”

Wesley: “Well.”

“Wesley, Avery stayed in the hospital until she left. You two meet every day. Did she tell you anything?” Elliot asked unwillingly.

Chapter 1698

Wesley looked at his face, hesitated for a few seconds, and said, “She asked me to take care of Shea.”

Elliot: “Besides that, did she say anything else? Did she say anything about me?”

“No.” Wesley’s answer made Elliot cut off all thoughts.

After Elliot left, Shea looked at Wesley and stared at his face.

“You have a bad attitude towards my brother.” Shea expressed her feelings.

Wesley was usually a gentleman and polite, but he was a little cold to Elliot just now.

Wesley didn’t argue: “Elliot obviously knows everything. If it wasn’t for him who hurt Avery’s feelings, how could Avery divorce him? He can’t find Haze now, and wants to make up for Avery, it’s too late.”

Shea: “There’s something wrong with my brother, Avery can blame him, but don’t say that about him. He’s one of the best people in the world to me.”

“Well, I’ll pay attention to my attitude next time.” Wesley said.

Bridgedale.

After Avery stayed in the ward for three days, he really couldn’t stay, so she asked Mike to help her out of the ward and walk outside.

She was getting used to seeing nothing now, and she had gradually overcome that fear.

“The sun is so good.”

After Mike helped her downstairs, she was bathed in the sun and stretched out a hand, as if she could hold the warmth in her palm.

“I can take you out for a walk every day. When the sun is out, let’s bask in the sun. When it’s raining, we can walk in the rain.” Mike looked at the smile on her mouth and spoke to her.

Avery: “Forget it if it rains.”

Mike: “When it rains lightly!”

“Um... Mike, is Hayden still getting used to school? Have you contacted Layla? How is Layla? Where’s Robert?” Avery hasn’t contacted her children these days. She also wanted to contact the child, but after the operation, her eyes were sore, and she used to contact her child through video call every time.

She looks like this now, and doesn’t know how to communicate with the child through video call.

“Hayden is okay. As for Layla, I plan to contact Layla when you are discharged from the hospital.” Mike explained the reason, “I’m afraid that Layla will get emotional and you will feel uneasy. Avery, put the child aside for now, you should take good care of your illness first. When you are healed, you can do everything you want to do.”

Avery gritted her teeth silently, swallowing all her thoughts and reluctance.

“By the way, there is something I want to ask you,” Mike took her to a stone bench to sit down and rest in the shade. “What do you plan to do with your domestic company? When you divorced Elliot, you talked about it. Do you have this problem?”

Avery: “No. What Elliot and I care about most is child custody. In terms of property, I am mine and he is his.”

Mike asked, "Oh, then do you want to transfer your equity? If you don't quit, you and Elliot will inevitably have the possibility of entanglement again in the future."

Avery hadn't thought about this issue. But this was indeed a problem.

Now that Mike mentioned it, she started to think.

"I'll quit!" After thinking for a while, Avery said, "My equity is given to him. Treat it as child support."

Mike couldn't help laughing: "Yes! But if Elliot heard you say that, he would definitely pissed."

"I don't care what Elliot thinks." Avery looked cold, "I used to care about the Tate Industries, and I thought that by defending the company, I was defending the Tate family in my heart. So he thought that if he controlled my company, he could control me. In fact, when you're really frustrated, you can give up anything."

Mike comforted her, "It's okay, without the Tate Industries, you still have an Technology. Without Layla and Robert, you still have Hayden and me. And, you will not lose Layla. When Layla becomes an adult, she can choose to come back to you."

The next day.

Shaun Locklyn, the vice president of Tate Industries came to Sterling Group to find Elliot.

Elliot saw him.

"Vice President Locklyn, what's the matter?"

"Well," Shaun looked complicated, took out a document and handed it to Elliot,

"Avery asked me to hand it over to you. I just found out about your divorce."

Elliot raised his eyebrows and took the document. he glanced briefly at the contents of the document.

Chapter 1699

Avery voluntarily gave up 30% of the Tate Industries's equity.

Mike voluntarily gave up 15% of Tate Industries's equity.

The equity they voluntarily gave up was disposed of at will by Elliot.

...

He picked up the pen and signed his name under the document.

"Aren't you going to call Ms. Tate to confirm?" Shaun did not expect him to sign so neatly.

"She doesn't answer my call." Elliot put the pen back in the pen holder, "Does she have anything else to tell you?"

Shaun shook his head: "No more."

"Did she call you or Mike? What did you say on the phone?" Elliot looked at Shaun with deep meaning, "After I divorced her, I can't get through to her again."

Shaun was embarrassed: "She called me and told me."

"So She doesn't want to answer my call because she doesn't want to. Also, after divorce, there is no need to keep in touch." Elliot laughed at himself, "Not only does she not want the company, but she also doesn't want children."

Shaun was shocked: "Avery is not like this kind of lady."

Elliot: "Do you think I'm lying to you?"

Shaun shook his head sharply: "I watched Avery grow up, she has always been very well-behaved and sensible..."

Elliot: "She completely changed now. "

Shaun nodded, not daring to speak for Avery again.

When he came out of the office, Shaun met Chad, who was reporting his work.

When Chad saw Vice President Locklyn, he immediately chatted: "What's the matter with you coming here?"

Shaun told him in a low voice that Avery and Mike gave up their shareholdings in the Tate Industries.

“Is it so outrageous?” Chad couldn’t believe the news.

Because the Tate Industries has always been a very important existence to Avery.

The company was founded by Jack Tate. For Avery, it is not so important that the company earns more and less. Its existence is the greatest significance.

“I don’t think Mr. Foster’s face is very good. If you don’t want to cause trouble, then you can go in later.” Shaun reminded in a low voice, and then strode away.

Chad took a deep breath and returned to his office. He took out his mobile phone, found Mike’s number, and dialed—

—The user you dialed is busy, please try again later.

Chad gritted his teeth.

—Is the mic turned off, or is there something else set up?

Now they don’t want the company, and they don’t care about Layla and Robert, what do they want?

Chad couldn’t get in touch with Mike, and his mind instantly became a mess, and his fingers were clicked randomly on the phone screen.

Suddenly, he clicked on the location.

He had previously opened GPS location sharing with Mike.

He can see the real-time location of Mike’s phone, and Mike can see the real-time location of his phone.

When he saw Mike’s cell phone signal, he almost didn’t think about it, and immediately clicked in!

He kept zooming in on where Mike was.

Finally, the name of a hospital appeared before his eyes.

Aprilia Hospital.

This hospital is a relatively well-known private hospital in Bridgedale.

His mobile phone showed that Mike’s location in the past few days was in this hospital!

Chapter 1700

Why is Mike always in the hospital?

Who is sick?

Chad took a screenshot of the location and sent it to Mike, and then sent a string of question marks.

About half an hour later, Mike turned off the positioning and called Chad at the same time.

"I'm sleeping! The phone was set to Do Not Disturb at night just now." Mike said, yawning.

Chad asked, "You're in the hospital? Who's sick? It's impossible that you're sick, right? Could it be that Avery is sick?"

Mike sneered: "Did Elliot tell you nothing?"

"What are you? What do you mean? What did my boss say to me?" Chad was at a loss.

"Also, he probably wouldn't be embarrassed to tell outsiders about such a shameful thing." Mike teased, "Whether Avery is sick or I am sick, so what? Will Elliot come to see Avery? Will you come to see me? Neither of you! So what do you have to ask?"

Chad was speechless.

Mike continued, "Avery has given up everything in the country, please let us be quiet. It's very late, I continue to sleep."

Chad: "Oh... you sleep! But can you not Off location?"

"It's already closed." Mike said, "When you resign and come to me, I'll turn it on again."

Chad snorted coldly and hung up the phone.

3 days later.

Avery removed the gauze from her eyes.

Although the gauze was removed, the world in front of him was still unknown.

“Avery, how do you feel?” Mike asked her looking into her eyes.

“It doesn’t hurt much anymore.” Avery felt the world with her heart, “There is a red light in front of her.”

“It’s fine if it doesn’t hurt. I’ll take you for an examination.”

“Well.” Mike supported Avery and walked out of the ward.

After the doctor checked Avery, he said to her, “The recovery is okay. But it will take a while for the wound to recover properly before corneal transplantation.”

Mike couldn’t wait to ask the doctor: “Find a suitable one. Do you have the cornea?”

The doctor shook his head: “Not yet. But you don’t have to worry...”

“How can I not worry? Why can’t you find a suitable cornea?” Mike burned his eyebrows and his tone became anxious.

Because Avery told him that there are no blood vessels in the cornea, so there is no need to match.

As long as the cornea donor is within the appropriate age range and the cornea is healthy, it can be transplanted.

“The laws of our Bridgedale do not allow the illegal acquisition of other people’s corneas. Only corneas donated voluntarily by others can we use them for transplantation to patients in need and those who donated corneas voluntarily.

There are actually very few people. And there are a lot of patients waiting for corneal transplants... So corneas are basically in short supply. The doctor explained to Mike patiently.

“What do you mean? Are you planning to arrange a team? This will be in the year of the monkey and the horse month?" Mike asked.

"Avery has a special status and is a rare talent in the medical field. The dean speaks in person, and she must be given priority. As long as there is a healthy cornea, I will keep it for Avery immediately." The doctor promised Mike, "This point Don't worry!"

Mike breathed a sigh of relief: "What if no one donates?"

The doctor said, "If there is no local donation, we can contact a hospital in another place. It is impossible that the whole Bridgedale does not have one."

"In the end, if there is none, Then use mine." Mike sighed and decided.

Avery was very calm, and after listening to Mike's words, his fingers tightly clasped him: "don't talk nonsense. Even if I'm blind for the rest of my life, I won't use your cornea. Well, let's go back!"

....

Aryadelle.

Layla got a video call from her brother after a week of doom and gloom.

Seeing the video call from her brother, Layla should have been cheering and screaming with excitement, but she couldn't laugh.

Finger conditioning wanted to take the video call immediately, but she hesitated before taking the video.

Chapter 1701

Layla was very angry. But she was a child after all, and she took over the video call after only three seconds of anger.

Layla angrily stared at Hayden in the video, and said, "Why are you making a video call for me? You ignore me!"

Hayden looked at Layla's anger and explained, "I just transferred over here, very busy. And mom..."

"What's wrong with mom? Didn't she want me? I called her and she didn't answer! I'm mad at you!" Layla's voice was loud, Attracted Elliot.

Today, Elliot took Layla and Robert out to go shopping.

Layla's school, before summer vacation, has a party.

Elliot took Layla out to buy new clothes and gifts for classmates.

When Elliot's figure appeared in the video call, Hayden swallowed the words that came to his mouth.

"We didn't want you. I told you before I left that I'll make you a video call when I'm not that busy here." Hayden explained here, and didn't want to continue. "Go shopping with your dad!"

Hayden hung up the video call.

Layla looked at Elliot: "My brother said he didn't want me."

"What about your mother? Did you see your mother?" Elliot's question made Layla drop her head.

She didn't see or hear her mother's explanation.

Still heartbroken.

"Layla, I did want to send you back to your mother before, but your mother's attitude has already said everything. If she regrets it later and comes to ask for your custody, I will not give it to her." Elliot was patient with his daughter and said, "Dad will take care of you."

"My mother doesn't believe you, how can I believe you? But my mother ignores me, and my brother just coaxes me casually. If I can choose, you two, I don't want either." Layla said, Turning around and walking in front of Robert, "If I hadn't let go of my brother, I would have gone to Uncle Eric's place!"

Elliot almost forgot about Eric!

"Layla, you can go to him during the holidays, but in normal times, you have to live with Dad." Elliot said sternly.

Layla took Robert's hand and walked forward without answering the question.

.....

Yonroeville.

After Hayden hung up the video call, he walked over to his mother.

Hayden: "Mom, Layla is a little angry. But don't worry, I'll coax her."

Avery: "Hayden, should you go to school?"

It's seven in the morning.

Before Avery's eyes were in trouble, She usually got up so early. Now that her eyes are in trouble, she can't see anything, so she sleeps a lot every day.

This caused her to wake up very early every day.

Although Mike invited the nurse home, he did not share a room with her.

Mike asked the nurse to come to her room at 6:30 every morning to take care of her.

But every morning, before the nurses came into her room, Avery was awake for a while. She didn't dare to get up rashly by herself, let alone go to the bathroom by herself.

She was afraid of the dark, afraid of wrestling, afraid of causing unnecessary trouble to others.

After being discharged from the hospital, her mood became more sensitive and inferior.

She didn't dare to show it, for fear that they would be worried.

Hayden's heart sank, and he said distressedly: "Mom, today is the weekend. I'm not going to school."

Hayden's words were very light, but they caused thousands of waves in Avery's heart.

Avery can't even know the most basic time and date now, she's really useless.

Chapter 1702

Hayden saw the expression on his mother's face solidified for a moment, and heard her sigh very shallowly.

Hayden's eyes suddenly became wet.

The mother, who was once invincible, has now had her wings broken, and can no longer spread her wings as proudly as she once did.

From now on, Hayden will protect his mother.

This idea took root in his heart and grew rapidly!

Blink, a month has passed.

Aryadelle.

Summer vacation is coming.

Tammy asked Jun to go to Foster's house and bring Layla and Robert to play at home.

If it wasn't for her belly fat in the third trimester and inconvenient to move, Tammy would pick up the two children in person.

Elliot wanted to go to Lynch's house with the two children, but Layla refused.

After Jun took the two children into the car, he asked Layla, "Why don't you let your dad play with you?"

Layla: "I don't want him to follow me, I'm not a child anymore."

"Haha, Layla, you don't know how to live in happiness. If your dad could accompany me like this when I was young, I would be very happy."

"My dad gave it to you, do you want it?" Layla looked serious, "I hope he goes to work every day, and doesn't always ask me about my homework, and doesn't always see me being unhappy."

Jun: "He cares about you."

"The more he cares about me, the more he reminds me that I am a child living without a mother.” Layla said, turning her face away from the car window, “Uncle Jun, don’t talk to him.”

Jun: “Okay, I will persuade him to work more and not stare at you all the time.”

Layla: “Well.”

At home, Tammy immediately hugged Layla intimately.

“Layla, you’ve grown taller again! So is your brother!” Tammy wanted to hug Robert, but her stomach was too big to hold, so she could only reach out and touch Robert’s head.

Robert was a little reserved, hiding behind Layla, staring at Tammy’s belly without blinking.

“Auntie Tammy, is my sister coming out soon?” Layla touched Tammy’s stomach with her hand.

The moment her little hand touched Tammy’s belly, the little baby in her belly kicked her belly violently.

“Ah! She’s moving! My sister is moving.” Layla exclaimed.

Tammy laughed: “Your sister definitely wants to come out and play with you.”

Layla: “When will she come out?”

“Come on! There’s still a week at most.” Tammy lived like a year.

The baby was already full-term, and in three days, it would be the due date.

Tammy was originally determined to have a caesarean section, but her mother-in-law told her that a caesarean section was better than a natural birth. As a result, a caesarean section leaves a scar on the stomach that will never go away. Second, vaginal delivery is less harmful to the body than caesarean section. The third point is that if you have a caesarean section, you will have to postpone it for at least two years if you want to have a second child.

Of course, Tammy will not decide whether this pregnancy is straight or cut because of the third point.

At the latest obstetric examination, the doctor said that her child's head circumference was within the normal range, and natural delivery was also possible.

So she was more confused.

"Auntie Tammy, will my mother come back to see you when you give birth?" Layla suddenly asked this question, "Are you in touch with my mother?"

Tammy's smile froze: "Your mom told me before that she won't come back when I have a baby."

"Oh...she didn't give me a single call. Do you think she did the right thing?" Layla felt aggrieved, so she asked for justice.

Tammy looked distressed, took Layla's little hand, and sat down on the sofa.

"Of course it's not right for your mother. Maybe she has an agreement with your father. After all, your custody is with your father..." Tammy guessed.

Chapter 1703

"Tammy, I heard that Avery's phone was turned off, and Brother Elliot couldn't contact her. Brother Elliot didn't let her contact the child." Jun corrected.

"How do you know that they didn't have a similar agreement when they divorced?"

If there is no such agreement, how could Avery not contact the child? Don't believe what Elliot says. I hate men the most who put on the face of a victim to accuse Woman. It's obviously the man's fault, so why does it seem like a woman is cold-blooded and ruthless in the end?" When Tammy talked about this topic, she couldn't control her emotions.

Jun: "Tammy, don't get excited. I didn't want to quarrel with you, I just don't think you need to speak ill of Elliot in front of Layla... Originally, Layla didn't like Elliot..... "

Tammy: "He did it for himself. Why do you feel bad for him? Don't you think he's innocent and pitiful? You won't be able to follow suit in the future and find women outside to give birth to illegitimate children..."

Jun: "Tammy, what are you talking about! I just told you not to make your unfair remarks in front of your children..."

"What is unfair? You are unfair. All I say is big The truth." Tammy was excited, her face flushed, and her chest heaved sharply.

When Jun saw that she seemed to be out of breath, he immediately supported her.

Jun: "Tammy, don't get excited! Do you want to drink some water? You are sitting on the sofa, and I'll pour water for you!"

Opening her mouth, Tammy's eyes suddenly widened, and then she screamed.

Tammy: "Jun! My amniotic fluid seems to be broken!"

Layla was so frightened that she quickly took two steps back, for fear that she would affect Auntie Sweetie's baby.

Jun put down the water glass, ran to the sofa, and laid Tammy's body flat.

Mary dialed a number xxx and called an ambulance.

Within a quarter of an hour, the ambulance came to the door of the villa.

When Tammy was carried out, she looked at Layla with a guilty face: "Layla, I didn't mean to give birth today, you wait for me to give birth, and I will invite you to play with the baby again!"

Layla couldn't help laughing and crying : "Auntie Tammy, you can go and have a baby at ease! I will go to the hospital to see you!"

"Yeah!"

After Tammy was sent away, only Foster's bodyguard and two children were left in the Lynch family.

"Sister." Robert suddenly shouted.

"What?" Layla looked down at him. "Do you want to go out and play? Okay, I'll take you to play!”

“Okay!”

The Third Hospital.

Wesley was very surprised when he saw Layla and Robert coming over.

“Uncle Wesley, I’ll take Robert to see Aunt Shea’s child.” Layla explained her intention.

Wesley was very welcome.

Wesley: “Are you on vacation?”

“Yeah. But I only have three days off.” Layla explained, “My dad signed me up for summer camp. and also Dad is going to send Robert to the early childhood class.”

Wesley: “Well, that’s fine, otherwise Robert would be bored at home alone. Are you getting along better with your dad?”

“That’s it! Auntie Tammy said that my parents must have signed a contract when they divorced. My dad won’t let my mom contact me, what do you think?”

Wesley: “I don’t know this, but I can tell you one thing, your mother never gave up to you and Robert. You should be obedient first, and wait until the end of the year to see if your mother will come to you.”

“Oh... Auntie Tammy gave birth to a baby today.” Layla opened her bright eyes, “If mom can call Auntie Tammy, Auntie Tammy will be very happy.”

Wesley nodded.

“Then you call my mother and tell her.” Layla looked expectant. Robert also looked expectant.

Chapter 1704

“Your mother doesn’t seem to use her mobile phone now. I’ll call your Uncle Mike, and he will tell your mother.” Wesley picked up the phone and spoke to the two children.

A flash of disappointment flashed in Layla's eyes.

Wesley dialed Mike's number and told him about Tammy's childbirth.

Mike said, "Oh, I'll tell her tomorrow. She's probably asleep by now."

Wesley: "Well. Layla and Robert are by my side, do you want to talk to Layla?"

"Yes. Let's make a video call." Mike finished and hung up the phone.

Within five seconds, Mike's video call came.

Wesley took the video call and handed the phone to Layla.

Layla looked at Mike's smiling face in the video call, her mouth pouted to the sky.

"Where's my mom?" Layla asked, frowning.

Mike: "Your mother is sleeping."

"I don't believe it. My mother must be missing. Otherwise, why would she not contact me? Go to my mother's room, I want to see if my mother is really sleeping." Layla said to Mike made this request.

Mike hesitated for two seconds, then took the mobile phone and walked towards Avery's room.

He pushed the door open a little, set the camera to the rear, and let Layla look at the big bed in the master bedroom.

Avery was really lying on the bed. It's just that the room was very dark, and Layla couldn't see her mother's facial features clearly, only saw vaguely familiar outlines.

When Layla recognized her mother, she lost control of her emotions.

"Woohoo!" Layla's cry came and Mike immediately closed the door, afraid of waking Avery.

"Layla, don't cry. Doesn't your brother often make video calls for you?" Mike looked at Layla's crying wrinkled face, and it was a lie to say that he was not distressed.

If Avery heard her daughter's cry, she might be impulsive and go back to Aryadelle immediately.

During the day, Mike took her to the hospital to have her eyes checked.

The doctor asked her if Avery had cried because her recovery was not very good.

She pursed her lips and said nothing.

"My brother doesn't make me video calls too often! The last time he made me a video call was last month..." Layla thought for a while, and cried until she burst into tears.

Robert stood beside Layla, hugging her sister's legs tightly with both hands, trying to comfort her, but he didn't know how.

Mike had a headache, and then said: "It's only the beginning of July, and it's not a few days until last month!"

"You go and wake up my mother now and let her talk to me." Layla's eyes were flushed, and she said and gave an order to Mike.

"Layla, I can't wake your mom. She didn't take a nap today. She was more emotional than you after the divorce from your dad. She's always crying secretly. If she sees you, she'll cry like crazy again." Mike explained to Layla.

Layla suddenly softened. She didn't want her mother to cry.

"Uncle Wesley said that my mom will come to me at the end of the year, is it true?" Layla stopped crying.

Mike coaxed Layla, "It's hard to say, but it's possible. Layla, you have to be obedient, we will go back to you and Robert when we have a chance."

"Oh..." Layla looked down. When she got to Robert. She immediately squatted down, hugged Robert and looked at the camera together.

Robert thought her mother was on the screen, so before she saw the screen, she sweetly called out 'mom'.

Mike didn't know whether to laugh or cry: "Who's mom? I'm your uncle Mike!"

Seeing Mike, Robert immediately turned around and threw himself into his sister's arms, unwilling to look at the camera again.

"Stinky boy, why are you so ruthless!" Mike was indignant.

Robert hugged Layla's neck tightly and muttered softly: "Sister go! Let's go!"

About two hours later, Tammy gave birth to a little princess by caesarean section in the hospital.

Chapter 1705

Tammy gave the child a name before.

The little princess is called Kara.

The doctor picked up the child, wiped her, and then showed Tammy.

When Tammy saw her daughter, she couldn't help shedding sad tears.

–Why is it so ugly?

–How could her daughter be so ugly?

–She made an appointment with Avery to kiss the baby, but she was afraid that it would be yellow.

–Robert is so handsome, how could he possibly like her ugly daughter?

When Tammy came out of the operating room, her anesthesia hadn't subsided, so she didn't feel any pain.

Tammy complained to Mary with a sad face: "Mom, have you seen Kara? She's so ugly!"

Mary looked calm: "You were even uglier when you were born. I had a big fight with your father at the time. I said he had the wrong child, but he said he didn't.

We were almost divorced at that time."

Tammy: "..."

“Don’t worry, our little princess can’t be ugly. Dad is handsome, and Kara’s looks will definitely be better than yours.”

“Mom, thank you for comforting me. I feel much better.” Tammy took a breath.

Mary: “You haven’t had the anesthesia yet. When the anesthesia is over, you can cry easily.”

Tammy: “...”

Before she gave birth, her mother treated her like a child very gentle and friendly.

For fear that she would move the fetus and cause premature birth.

Now that the child is alive, instantly...the truth is revealed.

As expected of her mother.

“Mom, what about it?” Tammy asked.

Mary: “The doctor took Kara to take a bath. There were other procedures. Tammy, you can take care of it, and the baby will be brought to you naturally. It’s still waiting for you to breastfeed!”

Tammy: “Ah?”

“You’ ah ‘What, don’t you think that your daughter can eat rice directly?” Mary was a little helpless, “Although I have prepared milk powder for the child, how many times do you feed it symbolically. It still hurts to have a baby.”

“Mom! Why didn’t you tell me before?” Tammy was not mentally prepared and a little nervous.

“Didn’t you have a baby before?”

“Hahaha, my in-laws, don’t scare Tammy. In fact, breastfeeding also varies from person to person. I also had a lot of pain at the beginning, it’s almost like having a baby! But It’s not that I can’t bear it. My sister is even more exaggerated, and she has adenitis directly.” Mrs. Hertz spoke to ease the atmosphere.

Tammy: “...Is there any case that doesn’t hurt?”

Mary and Mrs. Hertz said in unison, "No."

At this moment, Tammy missed Avery very much.

If Avery was by her side, she would definitely not be so uneasy.

After being transferred to the ward, Tammy picked up her mobile phone, took a selfie, sent it to Avery, and told her that she had given birth.

By the next morning, Tammy received a call from Avery.

Tammy: "Avery, have you seen the photo of my daughter? Her current appearance really hits me. But my mother and my mother-in-law both said it would be fine to keep them up."

Avery's laughter came: "She will be much better in the next month."

"Well, Avery, how are you doing now? I'm so worried about you. I haven't heard from you, it's never been like this before." Tammy didn't feel as bad as yesterday, so she asked her with concern.

"I'm fine." Avery changed the subject, "When are you going to hold a full moon banquet for your baby?"

According to the customs of Avonsville, the full moon banquet is usually held before the child's real full moon.

"Let's discuss it after my baby and I are discharged from the hospital!" While Tammy was talking, the door of the ward was suddenly pushed open.

Elliot brought Layla over to visit her.

Tammy's brain short-circuited, and she said to Avery, "Elliot is here."

Chapter 1706

Over the phone, Avery's breathing suddenly became solemn.

Elliot heard Tammy's words and almost immediately noticed that she was talking to Avery on the phone.

Without waiting for the others to react, he strode to the side of the hospital bed and grabbed Tammy's cell phone.

"Avery, do you think it's interesting that you've been shutting down and everyone can't contact you? What are you doing?!" He took her mobile phone and strode towards the balcony.

Layla heard him calling her mother's name and ran after him.

But after Elliot entered the balcony, he closed the door in the middle.

Layla was kept out.

Avery listened to Elliot's voice, and her chest suddenly heaved violently.

"I didn't play any tricks." Avery forced herself to calm down, "You really want to contact me, you can contact me no matter what. You said you couldn't contact me, is it possible that you didn't want to contact me at all? Besides, we are divorced, there is no need for contact."

Elliot snorted coldly: "You are right. In the future, you will be you, and I will be me. I can't give you the custody of Layla. You want to see children in the future, unless Come and beg me, otherwise I won't let you see them."

Avery was a little confused by what he said.

He said 'I can't give it to you again', did he ever think about giving her child custody?

Elliot was full of heartache, he said, "Avery, I have to say, you are very skillful. You deliberately turned off your mobile phone and didn't contact anyone, which caused others to suspect that we signed an agreement not to let you contact the children when we divorced. Layla hates me and blames me. Do you think this will destroy the relationship between our father and daughter and let you get Layla smoothly? When I want to talk to you, you ignore me, and no matter what means you use in the future, You can't get what you want!"

Hearing Elliot's stern and reproachful tone, Avery felt that something might have happened during the time she couldn't see. But she wasn't particularly curious. If Avery could see, she might get to the bottom of it, but now she can't take care of herself and can't fight for anything.

Her unusual silence made Elliot feel even worse.

"You're like this again. You were like this last time too! Don't say anything!" Elliot clenched his fists tightly, his anger reaching a critical value.

He couldn't even remember when Avery became like this.

In the past, when the two of them quarreled, they would say whatever they had, and only when the conflict was spoken could there be a solution.

Avery doesn't want to solve the problem at all now, so she always keeps silent to him.

"What are you talking about? What happened last time?" Avery didn't understand what he meant. "Elliot, I don't use my cell phone very much now. If the child has any problems, you must contact me. You can contact Mike, Mike'll pass it on to me."

Elliot was about to answer her previous question, but after she said half a sentence later, he was so angry that his veins skyrocketed.

If he needs to go through Mike to find her, then he won't find her again!

After he couldn't get through to her several times, he didn't plan to call her again.

Today, Elliot accidentally bumped into her and Tammy talking on the phone, and he couldn't hold back.

He grabbed the phone mainly to tell her that he would not show mercy to her in the future.

The balcony door opened, and Elliot walked in with his phone.

The phone screen has gone black.

The mobile phone was handed to Tammy. Tammy raised her eyebrows when she saw that the call was over: "Why did you grab my mobile phone?"

Elliot: "Sorry. Because I have been unable to contact Avery, I borrowed your mobile phone."

"Oh ...then what? What did you two talk about?" Tammy put down the phone and asked him.

Elliot: "I told her that in the future, we will return to the bridge and the road will return. I will not go to her, and she will never see my child."

The people in the ward were stunned.

Everyone could see that this time, the two of them really broke up.

A few days later, Chad asked for leave and decided to go to Bridgedale.

The night before going out, Ben Schaffer invited him to drink.

"I also want to go to Bridgedale, but I don't want to be cheap." Ben Schaffer poured his wine and said bitterly, "Gwen is now a rising star in Bridgedale's modeling world. Her agent asked me not to disturb her, saying She's in a career boom now."

Chapter 1707

Chad said, "Brother Ben, since Gwen doesn't have time to fall in love with you, then you should stay at home. I never believe in transnational love."

Ben: "Then you go to Bridgedale to break up with Mike?"

Chad responded, "I've already thought about it. It would be better if I could see Avery."

Ben Schaffer said, "You want to help Elliot find Avery? Chad, it's not necessary. It's hard for outsiders to get involved."

Chad: "I don't want to interfere. I don't spit out some words."

Ben: "Okay, whatever you want."

A day later, Chad's flight landed at the capital airport of Bridgedale.

Mike picked him up.

Mike knew in advance that Chad was coming, so he called Eric and asked him to temporarily help take care of Avery for a few days.

After Eric answered his call, he came as fast as possible.

Of course Avery didn't want to trouble Eric, but Eric refused to leave and was very stubborn.

It was lunchtime when Eric came.

The nanny brings the meal to the table.

Eric patiently fed her.

Eric: "Elliot reported Layla for the summer camp, probably because he was afraid that Layla would be with me. So I really have nothing to do recently."

"Has Layla called you?" Avery asked.

"Yeah. She said she couldn't get through to your phone. You probably don't want her anymore. It was very uncomfortable to cry." Eric said.

Avery: "how did you comfort her?"

Eric: "I said you've been very sad recently, you'll be fine after a while."

Avery didn't answer.

Eric asked, "Avery, why don't you tell everyone about your situation? If you hide it like this, everyone is worried about you."

Avery: "I don't want the children to worry."

Eric asked, "Does Elliot know?"

Avery: "He knows."

Oh...he knows?!" Eric suspected that he had heard it wrong.

"Well." Avery's tone was indifferent, "I called him immediately and said that he was in a hurry to go to Yonroeville and ignored me."

"I see! No wonder you are so determined to divorce him." Eric is worthless for her.

“When your eyes are healed, don’t be fooled by his sweet words.”

Avery: “I have completely broken with him. I don’t love him, and he doesn’t love me anymore. I’ll talk about it later. No sweet talk and coaxing.”

Eric: “Don’t be sad. It’s your priority now to get your eyes healed.”

Avery: “Hmm.”

Airport.

After Chad and Mike met, they found a nearby cafe and sat down.

Chad: “I want to meet Avery.”

“No.” Mike refused directly.

“Why?” Chad looked at him, and said, “You didn’t even ask her if she would like to see me, so why did you reject me for her?”

After speaking, Chad picked up the coffee cup and took a sip.

Mike’s pale blue eyes suddenly turned cold: “She’s blind, how can she see you?”

Chad made a ‘puff’, and the coffee in his mouth spurted out.

Chapter 1708

“Why are you so stunned?” Mike pulled out two tissues and handed them to him,

“Elliot knows about this.”

Chad took the tissues, wiped the corner of his mouth hastily, and said in shock,

“Are you sure my boss knows this matter? He never mentioned it!”

Mike teased, “When Avery told Elliot about it, it happened that Rebecca had an accident and he had to go to Yonroeville. How would he tell outsiders? If he did, no one would speak for him.”

Chad felt that what Mike said was wrong.

Elliot never asked others to stand in line.

But looking at Mike, it didn’t look like he’s lying.

“Mike, is what you said true?” Chad still didn’t believe it, so he wanted to confirm.

Mike: "Avery told me personally, unless she lied to me."

"Oh...is my boss so confused?" Chad frowned and said naively, "What did he think at the time, I really don't know."

"It can be seen from this incident that your boss has no love for Avery, only use."

Mike took a sip of coffee, and continued, "He used Avery to bring him children.

Otherwise, normal men can do such a ruthless thing?"

Chad did not dare to refute.

If what Avery said is true, then the boss is indeed a bit sc*mbag.

"Do you know how fragile Avery is after an accident happens to her eyes?" Mike looked at his eyes, "You usually feel anxious when you can't find your glasses.

You say that you are blind without glasses, but it's actually different. At least I can see a blur, Avery can't see anything."

Chad pursed his lips, his face was a little cold.

Mike gritted his teeth, "I hate to see Avery being bullied, but Elliot always bullies her. If she listened to my advice before and didn't go back to Aryadelle. We will have a good life here. We don't need to be separated."

"It's pointless to say this." Chad stirred the coffee in the cup with a spoon, and had no appetite to drink it. "Now that the two of them have completely broken up, it doesn't make sense to say anything."

Mike: "But Layla and Robert followed Elliot every time. The second time I think about this, I get angry."

Chad: "What's wrong with being angry. Even if my boss is ruthless towards Avery, he is very kind to the two children. The two children are fine."

Mike: "I just hope that Avery's eyes can recover quickly."

"Can her eyes recover? How can she recover? Is there any difficulty?" Chad wanted to help, but he can't.

Mike said, "She's going to have a cornea transplant. Right now there's no cornea at the hospital. She'll have to wait for her eyes to recover before surgery. Do you know why she doesn't use a cell phone? Except she can't see her eyes. Besides, I don't want her to be sad. She can't cry now. If she contacts her relatives and friends in Aryadelle, she will definitely cry a lot."

Chad couldn't help but sighed, "Why is this happening?"

Mike complained, "The curse left by Yonroeville. When a tumor was found in Yonroeville, I originally called Xander to operate on her, but Xander was killed. The doctors in Yonroeville had limited medical skills and could not cure her, so it caused a series of follow-up lesions."

"I can only be glad that this disease is not a fatal disease." Chad said here, and sighed again, "My boss has never mentioned this at all, and he is very resentful. It seems that he does not know at all about Avery's blindness."

Mike raised his eyebrows: "Avery said she told Elliot. She also begged him at the time, but he said he had to go to Haze..."

Chad: "The matter of Yonroeville was indeed a bit sudden at the time. Maybe after weighing it, he felt that Haze's matter was more urgent."

"So why does Elliot complain about Avery? He is not qualified." Mike teased.

Chad frowned, and after thinking for a while, "I have to ask my boss. He clearly loves Avery so much, why did he suddenly become so cold-blooded and ruthless."

"Then you should be ready to be fired." Mike reminded him, "Do you really think that you and Elliot are close enough to be brothers? Ben Schaffer is, but you are not. Ben Schaffer has shares in Sterling Group, do you have any?"

"I... a little bit." Chad didn't feel that he and Elliot had reached the point where they could be called brothers, so he hesitated, "Do you think that if I ask him directly, he will be angry?"

Chapter 1709

"Elliot didn't tell anyone about this, which shows that he knows his fault. If you run to question him, he will only think that you are talkative and ignorant."

"Also... I guess he didn't either talk to Brother Ben. If he tells Brother Ben, Brother Ben will definitely tell me. After all, I have a better relationship with Brother Ben."

"Then you should think about it and decide whether to ask him or not." Mike

Glancing at the time, he said, "Since you are here, let's stay for a few more days."

Chad: "Aren't you going to take care of Avery?"

Mike: "I called Eric here. I told Avery that you wanted to come over, she asked I'm here to see you, don't worry about her. She's very vulnerable now, how capable she was in the past, how inferior she is now. After all, she has no eyes, and even needs someone to help her to go to the bathroom..."

"Don't talk about it. I feel uncomfortable listening to it." Chad took off his glasses and rubbed his eyes.

...

In the evening.

The nurse helped Avery take a bath, took care of her and came out of the room after she fell asleep.

The moment the nurse came out, she was startled by Eric who was standing at the door.

"Thank you for your hard work." Eric handed the prepared red envelope to the nurse, "I hope you will be more patient with Avery. She can't see now, so she must be very sensitive ."

The nurse quickly rejected: "Mr. Mike gave it. I have a lot of money. Don't worry, I will take good care of her and I will never neglect her."

Mike: "You accept it! When her eyes recover, I will give you additional rewards."

Seeing that he was sincere, the nurse could not refuse, So take it.

After the nurse returned to the room, Eric walked to the living room sofa and sat down. He sleeps very little. In addition, Avery's illness made him worried. He leaned back on the sofa, closed his eyes, and let himself go. But his heart can't be cleansed. In addition to worrying about Avery's illness, Elliot's behavior also made him angry.

About an hour later, Eric suddenly had inspiration. He got up quickly, went to the guest room to get a pen and paper, and wrote down the melody in his mind.

Half a month later, Eric's new song "Blind" was released online.

As soon as the song was released, it immediately topped the top 1 new song charts of major music apps.

This song was completely different from Eric's previous styles.

This song was a sad love song no matter how a person look at it or listen to it in terms of melody or lyrics.

So netizens have speculated: Eric has fallen out of love!

–But Eric has never been in love, so how can he fall out of love?

A week after the song continued to be popular on the Internet, Eric accepted a video interview and sighed for inspiration.

The host asked: "Eric, everyone suspects that you have fallen out of love, so you wrote this song "Blind", are you really broken in love?"

Eric: "No. I wrote this song for a man listen."

Chapter 1710

The host was shocked: "Man? Eric, it's convenient to ask, what is your relationship with this man?"

Eric: "If you have to say what relationship I have with him, it should be... .. enemy relationship."

The host didn't expect him to answer like this.

Tonight's video interview was presented live. Now in the live room, there were millions of people online at the same time. His answer could be heard by all.

Eric: "Some men, although they are not blind, are blind in heart and blind in what they do. The main purpose of my song is to express this meaning."

The host said teasing words in his tone, and asked with a smile: "Eric, who are you fighting for? Because the lyrics of this song seem to be love songs."

"I didn't fight for anyone. I wrote this song, just in my heart. My emotional expression only represents my own." Eric said calmly, "This song is for sc*mbags."

After the live broadcast, Mike, who was sitting across from him, said lazily, "Eric, how can you be so capable? I asked you to take care of Avery, but you took the opportunity to write a new song, if I hadn't called you, maybe your new song would not have a shadow!"

Eric picked up the water glass and took a sip.

Eric explained, "I always work after Avery falls asleep at night. When I wrote this song, I first listened to Avery. Avery said it sounded good."

"Even if you wrote it badly, she would not listen to it. It sounds ugly. How can you take her evaluation seriously?" Mike couldn't help laughing.

"But the market has given me positive feedback. My song is very popular now."

Eric said here, changing the subject, "Chad has returned to Aryadelle?"

Mike shrugged, "Well. His illness is not completely cured. He thinks the doctor here is not good, so he has to go back to Aryadelle for treatment. Actually, he is afraid that his boss will complain after taking so long on leave."

Chad came to Bridgedale the next night and he caught the flu. At that time, he had a high fever and was unconscious. In the end, it took a week to stay in the hospital, and it was barely better.

When Mike took Chad to the airport, he looked at his back and lost weight.

Eric sneered, "You asked Chad to play my new song to his boss."

Mike: "He doesn't even dare to ask for more vacations. Do you think he dares to provoke his boss in person?"

Eric sneered.

Mike sneered, "You're not cowardly, why didn't you just report Elliot's name on the live broadcast just now? If you dare to say that your song was written specifically to scold Elliot, I guess your song will be banned tomorrow. Taken off the Internet."

Eric: "It's not that I dare not do it, I just don't want to make a big fuss. If it makes a big fuss, besides embarrassing Elliot, Avery will also be involved."

"That's true." Mike thought for a moment, He said, "Thank you for this time, you can leave tomorrow."

Eric: "I have nothing to do next, I can stay here for a while."

Mike smiled, and said, "I'm afraid you don't know how many calls your agent has called me. He said that you are releasing a new song now, there are many publicity activities, and he also said that as long as I let you go, he will pay 10 babysitters for Avery at his own expense."

Eric: "..."

Aryadelle.

Chad took a day off at home, and after the jet lag was over, he returned to the company.

"Mike smiled, , I heard that you were hospitalized with pneumonia in Bridgedale and almost died. Is it true?" A secretary saw him and immediately approached him and asked with concern.

Chad: "Ordinary pneumonia, it won't kill me, right? Who passed it on?"

Chapter 1711

Secretary: "It was the chief financial officer who told us. The chief financial officer was to remind us to pay attention to our bodies and not to go on a diet to keep our body in shape."

Chad wanted to cry without tears: "I am not dying of illness, otherwise I would not be able to back to work now. "

"Mmmm! Chad, you went to Bridgedale, have you met Avery?" the secretary asked in a low voice.

Chad helplessly said, "To be honest, I was in Bridgedale and lived in a ten-day courtyard. This vacation was really a bit miserable."

"Then why don't you rest at home for a few more days? Look at your complexion!"

When the secretary said this, the conversation changed, "Do you know the personnel transfer of the Tate Industries?"

Chad was stunned for a moment, then shook his head: "The Tate Industries has a personnel transfer? When did it happen?"

"Yesterday The boss went to the Tate Industries for a one-day meeting. It was because there was a major change in personnel. I also heard about the specific content." The secretary leaned into Chad's ear and wentssip with him, "I heard, the vice president of Tate Industries was fired."

Chad's heart beat fast.

Shaun Locklyn was always a veteran of the Tate Industries. He's a senior employee who has experienced ups and downs with Jack Tate at the beginning.

Now that Avery quit Tate Industries for only a month, Vice President was fired...

If the boss really decided to do this, then this move was really a bit ruthless.

When the Tate Industries was rebuilt, Avery hired back all the old employees with high salaries. Elliot fired Vice President this time. Were the other old employees fired?

Chad entered the office with many thoughts and dialed Ben Schaffer's number.

Ben Schaffer picked up the phone and asked, "Chad, have you arrived at the company?"

Chad: "Well, how about you?"

Ben: "I'm on the road. There's a bit of a traffic jam."

"Brother Ben, I heard that the boss fired the Vice President of the Tate Industries. Is that true?" Chad asked anxiously.

Avery and Vice President have a good relationship. If she knew that Vice President was fired, she would definitely feel that Vice President was always fired for her own reasons.

"Yeah, the news will be announced this morning. I didn't expect you to be well informed." Ben Schaffer said, "I wanted to tell you yesterday, but you were resting at home yesterday, so I didn't tell you."

Chad: "Brother ben, is the boss doing this to avenge personal revenge? I remember that Vice President is dedicated to his work, even if there is no credit, he has worked hard."

"Chad, if there is no credit for the position of Vice President, why should the company continue to use him?" Ben Schaffer asked, "Elliot has found someone more capable to manage the Tate Industries. In addition to the limited ability of Vice President Locklyn, his age is also a big problem."

Chad still felt that it was too heartless.

"Chad, let me tell you the truth! It's not that Elliot wanted to lay off Vice President Locklyn. It was Vice President Locklyn who offered to resign." Ben said, "Avery and Mike quit the Tate Industries, which caused the Tate Industries to quit. People in the group are disorganized. So Elliot made a request to Vice President Locklyn.”

Chad: “What request?”

“Elliot asked him to stabilize the employees’ emotions, and made him promise to lead the Tate Industries to go international and surpass AN Technology.”

Chad: “.....”

Elliot asked Vice President Locklyn so, no wonder Vice President Locklyn wanted to leave.

Wait, Beyond AN Tech? !

Elliot’s goal is to surpass AN technology?

Ben Schaffer asked, “Are you scared? I was also shocked by his determination at the time. But thinking about it carefully, he has always been such a person. He and Avery are destined to be ugly. “

Chapter 1712

Chad didn’t say anything. He was suddenly a little scared.

If he asks Elliot why Avery is blind and cruel to her, will Elliot fire him too?

He had been by Elliot’s side for a long time, and he didn’t want to leave here voluntarily. Even if he doesn’t understand what Elliot is doing now, he still wants to stay by Elliot’s side to see if he can find the reason for the change in the boss.

An hour later, Elliot came to the company.

Chad followed him into the office.

“How is your body?” Elliot glanced at him.

Chad: “It’s already recovered.”

“Why are you so careless?” Elliot sat down in the office chair and looked up at him, “you’ve lost a lot of weight.”

Chad explained, “I didn’t know there was a respiratory disease over there, and I went to eat in a crowded place. After dinner, I was recruited the next day. I heard that the Tate Industries has hired a new vice president. I don't know what the vice president is."

Elliot took out a file bag, hand it over.

Chad took it, opened it, and took out a resume.

"This person's resume is really beautiful." Chad put the resume back in the bag and returned it to Elliot.

Elliot: "Recommended by a friend."

"Well, if she passes your interview, let her try." Chad said here, paused, "Boss, do you really want to destroy AN Technology?"

Elliot Because of his remarks, his brows furrowed: "I want to develop the Tate Industries well, but that doesn't mean I want to bring down AN Technology. No matter what I do, I want to be the best. Do you have any questions?"

Chad shook his head: "If that's the case, then I understood. I thought you hated Avery, so..."

"When did I say I hate her? What did you hear when you went to Bridgedale this time?" Elliot's voice became a little colder, and his face became gloomy.

Chad lowered his head, not daring to look at his face.

If it was before, what Chad was thinking, he would have said it directly.

But at this juncture, he didn't dare to talk nonsense.

In case Elliot angered him, it would be a trivial matter to fail his job, and it would be miserable if he was banned.

"I got sick the next day over there, and I basically stayed in the hospital." Chad hurriedly explained, "Originally, the doctor over there asked me to stay in the hospital, but I thought it was too many days over the holiday, so I came back first with a random reason. It turns out that Aryadelle is more suitable for me. I came back and rested for a day, and I feel much better."

“Mike didn’t say anything to you?” Elliot asked.

Chad shook his head: “I had a fever of 41 degrees, and everyone fainted.”

“He didn’t say anything to you before you had a fever?” Elliot didn’t believe what he said.

“We chatted casually. The main reason is that he asked me to resign and settle in Bridgedale. I don’t want to. This topic has been discussed and can’t be concluded. Then I drank a little wine that night and said something later, I don’t want to. I remember it too much.” Chad really didn’t have the courage to bring up topics related to Avery.

Just mentioned AN technology casually, and Elliot changed his face.

If he doesn’t know the current affairs and mentions Avery, the consequences will be disastrous.

Elliot was not interested in his affairs with Mike, so he withdrew wisely.

Chapter 1713

Returning to the office, Chad sighed heavily.

But in just half a month, Elliot seemed to be completely transformed into a new person.

Before he went to Bridgedale, Elliot was not like this.

Just when Chad was thinking about his next situation, his office door was pushed open, and Ben Schaffer walked in with a bag.

“Look what good things I brought you!” Ben Schaffer took the bag to Chad’s table.

“My mother gave it to me before, saying it was for my body. Take it back and make it up!”

After thanking Ben Schaffer for his kindness, Chad accepted this supplement.

“Brother Ben, have you noticed that the boss has changed?” Chad closed the office door.

“Divorced man, don’t you allow him to feel low?” Ben Schaffer understood Elliot’s mood better.

Chad walked in front of Ben Schaffer and pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose: “Brother Ben, the boss wants Tate Industries to surpass AN Technology, don’t you think he doesn’t need to do this? Although he can make more money by doing so, but it will also make Avery angry.”

“Chad, you went to Bridgedale this time, did you see Avery? Did she tell you something? I think your heart is completely on her side now.” Ben Schaffer restrained his words, “If you don’t plan to resign, don’t show such an attitude in front of Elliot.”

Chad walked to the desk, picked up the water glass, and took a sip of water to calm his emotions.

“Brother Ben, you should have known about Avery’s blindness a long time ago, right?”

Ben Schaffer’s body seemed to be acupuncture points in an instant, and his whole body became petrified.

Seeing that his reaction was wrong, Chad immediately walked up to him and asked again, “Avery is blind, do you know that? The boss knows, but the boss never told me. Has he told you?”

Ben Schaffer’s face was shocked, as if he was stuck in his throat: “No... He didn’t tell me! Did Mike tell you, or did you see Avery with your own eyes?”

“Mike told me. I said I wanted to Go to see Avery, he said Avery is blind and can’t see me.” Chad was relieved when Ben Schaffer said he didn’t know about it.

The boss didn’t tell anyone.

Confused or what.

“Is it possible that Mike lied to you?” Ben Schaffer couldn’t believe it. He hadn’t heard anyone say it.

Even Gwen in Bridgedale didn't tell him about it.

"Impossible. Mike will never lie to me. I often scold him for being too straight and not lying. Not only does he not lie to me, he also doesn't like to lie to others.

Because his brain circuit is different from our normal people." Chad assured.

"You just said that Elliot knew about this?" Ben Schaffer was a little confused.

"That's what happened the day you and the boss went to Yonroeville. Mike said that Avery called the boss at the time..."

"Yes! When we were about to board the plane, Avery called Elliot." Ben Schaffer remembered, "I avoided it at the time. When he finished talking on the phone, I saw that his face was very bad. The two of them quarreled at the time, so I was ashamed to ask more."

Ben Schaffer said here, This thing made sense.

"How can the boss treat Avery like this?" Chad was indignant, "Although Haze is his blood and blood, isn't Avery important? He is still planning to become a big Tate Industries and kill Avery's AN Technology. If Avery knew about this, how uncomfortable she would be! I can't take it anymore... Wouldn't the boss want to force Avery to death?"

Ben Schaffer saw that Chad had tears in his eyes, and immediately took his hand and patted on his shoulder.

"Chad, what is Avery's situation now? Can her eyes recover?" Ben Schaffer asked in a deep voice.

"Yes, but an operation is required." Chad took a deep breath and quickly adjusted his mood.

Ben Schaffer breathed a sigh of relief: "If she can recover, that's good. Maybe Elliot also knows that her eyes can recover."

Chapter 1714

“Even if her eyes can recover, what is the difference between her and the disabled now?” Chad still didn’t understand what Elliot did, “Is the boss’s heart made of stone?”

“Chad, calm down first. Ben Schaffer pressed him into the chair and sat down, “Since Elliot knows about this, it means that he and Avery must have had a good conversation in private. As for the result of their negotiation, although it is unbelievable. We can’t change the situation.”

Chad calmed down a little after listening to Ben Schaffer’s words.

Chad sighed, “I almost asked him why he did this to Avery just now. Fortunately, I held back, otherwise I might have to get out of bed now.”

“He is in the anger of divorce now, and he has something to do with Avery. It’s very irrational.” Ben Schaffer said, “Wait until he calms down.”

“I can’t be angry right now. When Avery’s eyes recover, there’s nothing to say about this.” Chad quickly calmed down. “Brother Ben, the old employees of Tate Industries, besides Vice President Locklyn, have they dismissed others?”

Ben Schaffer shook his head: “What are you thinking! Vice President Locklyn is always unable to do the next job himself, so he took the initiative and offered to resign. Other employees have done a good job. If they don’t mention resignation, Elliot will not trouble them.”

“Well.”

“But I think it would be better for the Tate Industries to change its name.” Ben Schaffer put forward his own opinion, “After all, this company has nothing to do with Avery anymore. It would be too embarrassing to continue to bear the name of the Tate Industries.”

Chad couldn’t help but think, “Brother Ben, go and propose to the boss! It is too strange that the company's name remains unchanged. I don't believe that the boss doesn't respond. If the company name doesn't change, outsiders don't know how to talk about it! If Tate Industries really surpasses AN Technology in the future and causes AN Technology to close down, then It's too ironic! Others thought Avery killed herself."

Ben Schaffer shrugged, "I mentioned it yesterday, and he said he wouldn't change it. He was competing with Avery."

"Scary." Chad pursed his lips and took a deep breath.

Ben: "Chad, if you don't want to change jobs, it's like before, nothing happened. Don't worry about other things. He's just a dynamite keg now. Don't say you dare not mess with him. I don't dare to mess with him now. ."

Chad: "Understood."

In the evening.

Elliot finished his day's work and returned home.

He received a call from Mrs. Cooper this afternoon, saying that Layla was back. So he got off work a little earlier than usual today.

He called and asked the teacher at the summer camp. The teacher said that Layla did not want to continue participating in the next activities, and offered to withdraw from the summer camp.

The teacher wanted to call him to explain the situation, but Layla said she would go home and tell him in person.

When Elliot returned home, he looked around for Layla's figure.

"Sir, Layla was picked up by Eric." Mrs. Cooper walked up to him and reported to him, "It took about half an hour."

No wonder Layla wanted to withdraw from the summer camp on her own initiative, because Eric came back!

Elliot immediately took out his mobile phone and prepared to call Eric.

Mrs. Cooper explained: "Sir, I have asked, and Eric said to take Layla out for a meal, and when the meal is over, she will be brought back." Although Mrs.

Cooper's explanation, Elliot still dialed Eric.

Eric answered the phone quickly.

"Send my daughter back within half an hour. Otherwise, you will never see my daughter again." Elliot demanded sharply.

Eric sneered: "You might as well build a cage and lock Layla."

"There are 29 minutes left!" Elliot turned a deaf ear to his sarcasm.

Eric snorted coldly and hung up the phone.

Half an hour later, Eric sent Layla home.

As soon as Layla entered the house and saw Elliot's face, she suddenly turned pale. She ate half of the meal and was brought back by Eric.

Chapter 1715

If her father hadn't called Uncle Eric, Layla wouldn't have come back hungry.

After Eric sent Layla home, he left without saying hello to Elliot.

Mrs. Cooper had poured a glass of water and was going to give it to Eric, but Eric's car had already driven away.

Elliot took the water cup from Mrs. Cooper's hand and drank it all at once.

"Layla, you didn't discuss with your father about your withdrawal from the summer camp, did you?" Mrs. Cooper took her to wash her hands, "You can't do this next time."

Layla didn't want to talk about this topic.

After washing her hands, an idea came to Layla's mind: "Grandma Cooper, have you listened to Uncle Eric's new song?"

Mrs. Cooper shook her head: "I don't listen to songs very much."

“Uncle Eric’s new song is super nice! I’ll show it to you. Listen!” Layla turned on her phone and played Eric’s new song “Blind” in an external sound box.

After hitting the play button, she turned the song up to the max.

In an instant, the melody spread throughout the first floor.

Elliot didn’t pay attention to Eric’s new song, but Eric accepted a live interview and talked about the new song was written for a man, and he had an enemy relationship with this man.

Ben Schaffer immediately decided that Eric’s song was written for Elliot, so Ben Schaffer pushed Eric’s new song to Elliot.

Of course Elliot didn’t want to listen to Eric’s songs. Ben Schaffer told him that it was written to him by Eric, so he listened patiently.

After listening to about half of it, he turned off the song.

This kind of nonsense song is really bad! Listening for one more second, I feel like I’m wasting time and killing lives.

What’s more hateful is that this song was written to scold him, and he couldn’t listen to it anymore.

Mrs. Cooper didn’t know that Eric wrote this song to scold Elliot, so when Layla asked Mrs. Cooper if the song was good, Mrs. Cooper said it was good.

Elliot’s face was silently gloomy.

“Layla, go and listen to your father!” After saying this to Layla, Mrs. Cooper went to the kitchen to serve dishes.

Layla immediately ran to Elliot with her phone.

“Dad! Have you listened to Uncle Eric’s new song?” Layla had a kind smile on her face.

Elliot hadn’t seen his daughter smile so brightly in a long time.

The daughter must not know that this song was written by Eric to scold him, so her daughter came to share this song with him.

Thinking of this, he decided not to destroy the warm atmosphere.

Elliot: "Dad heard it just now."

"Oh...you must not have heard clearly, I'll play it for you again." Layla said, turning the song on.

The melody suddenly floated around Elliot's ears.

—Separation seems to be yesterday, my world is dark. In a desolate city, the wind is wrapping my body, I seem to be blind and blind, and I am boundless, you take everything from me, and you laugh at me for not being free and easy... I seem to be blind and blind, The wind dried my tears, I have forgotten the pain you gave me.

Elliot listened to the absurd and uninhibited lyrics and endured to the limit.

He grabbed his daughter's cell phone and paused the song and said, "Layla, this kind of song is not suitable for children of your age."

Layla blinked innocently: "Dad, I played it for you. Uncle Eric said this song was written for you."

Chapter 1716

Elliot looked at the smile on his daughter's face, as if a knife had been stabbed in his heart.

The daughter knew that this song was written for him, which made his heart block, and she took the initiative to play it to him.

Really his good daughter!

"Layla, you left the summer camp, so what's your plan next?" Elliot changed the subject.

Layla: "I want to play with Uncle Eric. He said that he can take me to the event next time."

“If he participates in the event, you go with me, what is this? Even if you want to be a big star in the future, Dad wants you to It’s his own strength, not his popularity.” Elliot taught his daughter hard.

Layla is being preached and is not happy.

“I went to play with Uncle Eric, but I didn’t want to do anything.” Seeing Elliot frowning, Layla didn’t seem to want herself to be with Eric, so she pouted.

“When my mother still lived here, I could go and play with Uncle Eric every year during the long vacation!” Layla said here, her aggrieved eyes reddened.

Suddenly, there was a cry in the room on the first floor.

Robert woke up.

Robert started to attend early morning classes this summer. He came back from school at four o’clock in the afternoon.

Probably because Robert was tired from playing in the early childhood class during the day, he fell asleep when he got home.

If Avery was at home, Robert would never be allowed to sleep at this point in the afternoon, because if he fell asleep at this point, he would not be able to fall asleep at night. This would be messy.

Now that Avery is not at home, Mrs. Cooper is soft-hearted towards the child.

Mrs. Cooper heard Robert’s cry and immediately ran out of the kitchen to hug Robert.

Elliot looked at Layla’s little face with tears in her eyes, and his heart softened.

“Layla, it’s not that Dad doesn’t agree to let you go to Eric’s place. You will be entering the third grade in the second half of the year. Dad has read the textbook for the third grade, and the difficulty has increased a lot. If you also want to take the first place in the second half of the year, Then you can use the next vacation to review your third grade homework in advance.”

Elliot crouched down and coaxed his daughter softly.

Layla listened to his words, and her small mouth gradually relaxed.

“If I take the first place in the second half of the year, then you will let me see my mother, okay?” Layla made her request.

The expression on Elliot’s face suddenly covered a layer of frost: “Layla, you are the first in the test, it is for yourself, not for others.”

“You mean, I will never see my mother in the future?” Layla frowned.

“Dad doesn’t mean that. If your mother wants to see you, she will naturally come back to you.” Elliot held her slender arms with both hands, “Layla, wait for your mother to come to you, okay?”

Something has caused her to be very rebellious to him recently.

Basically whatever Elliot said, she wanted to confront him. In fact, every time she saw his embarrassed and sad expression, she felt uncomfortable.

Every time she calmed down, she would reflect on herself. Her father was almost obedient to her, and Elliot was very patient and loving towards her.

Whenever her attitude towards her father improved a little, as long as she made a video call with Hayden, she would forget about her father’s goodness and stand up barbs all over again.

In such repeated emotions, jumping around, she felt that her spirit was about to split.

“Sister, have a meal!” After being coaxed, Robert stepped quickly to her sister’s side and held her hand.

Layla quickly adjusted her mood and walked towards the dining room, holding Robert’s hand.

Chapter 1717

Bridgedale.

After Gwen finished her day’s work, she returned to her residence.

Taking off her high heels and putting on slippers, she tied up her long hair as she walked towards the bathroom.

She took over an auto show event today and put on heavy painted makeup on her face. She doesn't know if she's allergic to paint, but her face is a little itchy. After removing her makeup, her face turned red. She put on a mask and walked to the sofa to sit down.

She picked up the phone, turned it on, and saw the message from Ben Schaffer:

[Call me after get off work, I have something to ask you.]

She lazily dialed his number, and Ben answered in seconds.

"You got off work so early today?" Ben Schaffer's voice came.

"You think I'm a machine! I got up at six o'clock this morning. If I don't get off work earlier, I'll be dead outside." Gwen cut to the chase, "What do you want to ask me?"

"Why didn't you tell me about Avery's blindness? If it wasn't for Chad going to Bridgedale this time, I would never have known about it."

Gwen jumped up and stood up from the sofa. The mask on his face fell to the ground with a 'click'.

"Avery is blind!"

Ben Schaffer was on the phone and took a deep breath: "After Avery went to Bridgedale, you haven't met her?"

"No! I told you that I'm very busy, you think I'm lying to you?" Gwen picked up the mask on the ground, threw it into the trash can, and quickly walked towards the bathroom, "How could Avery be blind? What's going on? I wanted to find her before, but Hayden asked me to work hard, so I didn't go."

"It's very late on your side, see if you're free tomorrow, go and see for yourself."

Ben Schaffer said.

Gwen: "I'll call Mike now and ask."

Ben: "Well."

"Does my second brother know about this? Avery is blind, why did he divorce Avery? By the way, when did Avery become blind? Before or after their divorce?"

Gwen was a little dizzy.

"It should be after the divorce. When they divorced, they met. Avery was fine at the time." Ben Schaffer speculated here and paused, "No, she found out that there was a problem with her eyes before the divorce."

"I'll call Mike to ask." Gwen hung up the phone, found Mike's number anxiously, and dialed it.

Mike answered the phone quickly.

"Mike, Ben Schaffer told me that Avery is blind, why didn't you tell me? I haven't seen Avery for so long, I thought she is all right! I want to see her now." She said anxiously .

Mike replied, "She's already asleep, don't come here. Shouldn't Ben Schaffer know about it today?"

Gwen sighed, "Yes! He said that Chad told him. He blamed me for not telling him, but You hide it from me, I don't know anything at all. Why didn't you tell me about such a big thing?"

Mike snorted, "Tell you, can you heal her eyes? Avery doesn't need mercy now. Elliot is really interesting. He didn't even say anything."

Gwen: "My second brother already knew?"

Mike: "Well."

"My second brother already knew that Avery was blind, but he still divorced Avery. How can my second brother do this?!" Gwen gasped in anger, "I didn't expect him to be such a sc*mbag who didn't take responsibility."

Mike: "If you insist on visiting Avery, don't mention these things in front of her. It took a long time for her to calm down."

"Oh... ok. I'll see her tomorrow. I promise never to mention Elliot. I will never call him brother in the future. I don't have such a big brother!" Gwen gritted her teeth angrily.

Mike sneered: "He did disgusting things, but it's not just this. I didn't dare to tell Avery, I was afraid Avery couldn't take it."

Chapter 1718

Mike told Gwen that Elliot planned to use Tate Industries to deal with Avery's AN technology in Bridgedale.

Gwen was so angry that she had a heart attack. Because she was so angry and she couldn't do anything to Elliot, she turned her anger on Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer and Elliot were on the same boat. She hung up Mike's phone and put Ben Schaffer on the blacklist.

.....

Mike finished talking on the phone, his mouth was dry, so he went to find a water glass to get some water.

In the master bedroom, Avery didn't fall asleep. She had to lie down for a long time every night to fall asleep.

It's easier to fall asleep during the day, and at night, bits and pieces of the past always come to mind.

She can control her emotions now, and can't help crying when she thinks of the sad part. She heard what Mike said in the living room just now.

Her hearing has improved dramatically since she lost sight of her eyes. She heard Mike say that Elliot planned to use Tate Industries to deal with her AN technology.

Had she heard the news a month ago, she would have been heartbroken and disheartened.

But now, there is no ups and downs in her heart.

She even lost her child, what could be more important than a child?

The next morning.

Gwen hurried over. Originally, Mike told her last night that after asking her to come over, he should not radiate negative energy in front of Avery.

But when she saw Avery, her tears could not be controlled.

Gwen: "Avery, I should have come to see you earlier. Is it hard for you to be like this?"

Avery raised the corners of her mouth and said softly and powerfully: "Gwen, are you here today on leave? I heard that you work very hard."

"It's up to me whether I'm busy with work. Although my agent is a bit strict, he still respects me. I want to make more money, so I take on a lot of work." Gwen sniffed, her voice hoarse. "Avery, what are you going to do next? Is Elliot crazy to treat you like this! I'm going to be mad at him!"

Mike reminded sharply, "Gwen, didn't you agree not to mention him?"

"I can't even scold him?" Gwen said, and suddenly realized that it was not appropriate to mention this in front of Avery, "Avery, I won't say anything."

"It's okay. Don't cry, it's all over." Avery wanted to get her a tissue, but couldn't see where the tissue was, so she could only give up.

"When will you be able to regain your light?" Gwen looked at her expressionless eyes. She had such beautiful eyes, but she couldn't see anything.

Avery: "It's almost time."

"Obviously I haven't found the right cornea yet." Mike took off the stage.

Gwen silently kept this matter in mind.

After leaving Avery's house, she immediately pulled Ben Schaffer out of the blacklist. If she can't find the cornea in Bridgedale, she can only try to find it in other countries.

Chapter 1719

It was impossible that the cornea couldn't be found in the whole world.

She dialed Ben Schaffer's number, and after Ben Schaffer connected, he complained: "Didn't you put me on the blacklist again? Why did you pull me out again?"

"I was so angry last night! I know I shouldn't blame you, but you and my second brother have such a close relationship, and the two of you do everything together..."

"He and I are business partners, it doesn't mean that we both treat our feelings the same way." Ben Schaffer retorted her, "He is indeed a little abnormal to Avery this time. I think he may suspect that Mike did this. You also know that the relationship between Mike and Avery is better than that between me and your second brother. Intimacy."

"My God! What do you mean, my second brother suspects that Rebecca was killed by Avery?" Gwen's jaw dropped in shock.

"I don't know exactly what he was thinking. He is in a low mood and has no desire to talk. Even if I ask him, he won't say anything. I just made this guess based on his attitude towards Avery." Ben Schaffer thought a lot after learning about Avery's blindness.

It was the only answer he felt was close to the truth.

"I don't think so. Avery is not such a person." Gwen couldn't accept the result, even if it was just Ben Schaffer's guess, "I don't think Mike is such a person either."

"Gwen, you only know them. How long? Your second brother and I have known each other for a longer time. I know them better." Ben Schaffer frowned when he heard her crying voice.

Gwen: "Don't say it! I don't want to hear such words!"

"Okay, I won't say it. Did you go to see Avery today? How is she?" Ben Schaffer changed the topic.

"She's not very good...Although she pretended to be good, she couldn't find the cornea she used for the surgery." Gwen said this and couldn't help choking, "Ben Schaffer, go to Aryadelle to see if there is a healthy cornea, Avery can have surgery in half a month... If you can help Avery find the cornea, I..."

"I'm looking for it! I'll look for it right away! You don't have to promise me anything, Avery and I are friends from the beginning. Even if she divorces Elliot, it's still her and Elliot's business, and it won't affect me treating her as her own friend." Ben Schaffer interrupted Gwen.

Gwen's nose is slightly sour. She felt ashamed that she had blocked him last night.

In fact, some things are not as one-sided as she imagined.

A week later, Ben Schaffer found a healthy cornea in Aryadelle. After he called Gwen to tell him about it, he prepared to send the cornea to Bridgedale in person.

He mainly wanted to see Avery with her own eyes.

After Gwen thanked him, she happily called Mike about it.

Mike's response was a little indifferent: "She may not accept it. After all, Ben Schaffer and Elliot are in the same group."

Gwen seemed to have been poured a basin of cold water: "Mike, persuade her! Do the surgery first! If she doesn't regain her light, what will she do in her future life?"

"It's not as scary as you said. Even if the cornea cannot be found in a short time, it will be found in a while. Even if it is not found, there is still an artificial cornea."

Mike said.

"Oh...but Ben Schaffer has already booked a flight ticket and intends to deliver the cornea he found in person.” Gwen said.

“Then let him come! When he brings the cornea, let Avery choose for herself.”

Although Mike was displeased with Ben Schaffer, in the face of Avery’s health, all grievances and grievances can be put aside.

Avery’s second eye examination after the operation was not bad.

Doctors put her in the hospital immediately.

Avery wondered: “Isn’t there a donor yet?”

The doctor said, “Didn’t Mike tell you? Your friend from Aryadelle sent a donor for you. Do you want to use a human cornea or an artificial cornea? I suggest you use a human body...”

“What friend?” The expression on Avery’s face suddenly became solemn.

She stretched out her hand and fumbled around, trying to find Mike and ask clearly.

Mike immediately took her hand and explained in a low voice: “It was sent by Ben Schaffer. I didn’t tell you in advance, because I was afraid it would affect your mood.”

“Oh...” Avery got the answer, Her expression quickly returned to tranquility, “I use an artificial cornea.”

Chapter 1720

In fact, whether artificial corneas or human corneas were used, there was a risk of failure.

Because artificial corneas had only been developed in the past two years, in addition to the high price, the risk of failure was greater than that of human corneas.

So the doctor just suggested Avery to use human cornea. But Avery refused.

“Avery, listen to the doctor. The doctor said that the human body is better than the artificial one.” Mike persuaded her, “Let’s put other things aside. It’s the most important thing to heal your eyes first.”

Avery replied calmly: “I’d better try the artificial cornea first! What if it succeeds?”

The doctor saw Avery’s insistence, so he said, “It’s okay. If the artificial cornea fails, a human cornea will be transplanted.”

Avery cooperated.

“Then you have a good rest today and surgery tomorrow.”

“Okay.” Avery’s heart beat fast and uncontrollably.

The two months of blindness made her experience the hardships and tortures of life that she couldn’t take care of herself. She was looking forward to getting back to light again.

Doctors told her that if the operation went well, she would need four to six months of recovery.

It means that after her surgery tomorrow, if there is no bad accident, it will take half a year to restore her vision.

The doctor gave Avery an inpatient order, and Mike took her to the inpatient department.

“Avery, Ben Schaffer has come to Bridgedale. He wants to see you...”

“No.” Avery refused without hesitation, “I don’t want to see anyone like me now.”

Mike nodded: “Okay. Yes, I’ll tell him. You can just wait for the surgery now, and you don’t have to worry about the rest.”

“Did Gwen ask Ben Schaffer for help?” Avery guessed.

“Yeah. Gwen heard that the cornea couldn’t be found here, so he couldn’t be more anxious. Although Ben Schaffer is quite frustrating, as long as he can help her find the cornea, it’s a good thing.”

Avery didn’t answer.

After completing the hospitalization procedures, Mike sent Avery to the ward to lie down.

Mike sat down beside the hospital bed and looked at her expressionless face:

“Avery, you don’t say anything, but I can feel that you are unhappy every day. You can’t do anything because your eyes can’t see. Once a person has nothing to do, it is easy to think wildly. I hope you can quickly restore your light and your life will be enriched quickly.”

“Mike, I choosed artificial cornea because of Ben Schaffer’s relationship.” Avery confided, “I have given the custody of my two children to Elliot, and the company in our country also gave him, but he actually treats me as an enemy.”

Mike Gritting her teeth, “This shows that Elliot is a narrow-minded villain. Have you seen his true face now?”

Her breathing was suddenly solemn, and she didn’t answer the question directly.

“Has Hayden been very busy recently?” Avery asked.

Every morning, Hayden would take the initiative to feed her breakfast, but he came back late at night.

“Yeah! There is a professor in the university department of their college who insisted on accepting Hayden as a student. Hayden agreed. The reason why Hayden didn’t tell you is because you were worried that he would affect the original course like this.” Mike said to Avery.

“What professor? What’s his name?” Avery’s eyebrows were already wrinkled.

“He’s a senior professor in the School of Mechanical Engineering. I’m not familiar with this field. Anyway, I heard Hayden say that this professor is very good, and Hayden is willing to learn things from this professor.” Mike has been taking care of Avery, and he has not seen famous professor before.

Although Hayden is not yet ten years old, he has matured precociously since he was a child, and his intelligence is far superior to ordinary people. As long as he is interested in something, he can get started and master it in a very short time.

Chapter 1721

“Why is he suddenly interested in the field of Mechanical Engineering?” Avery wondered, “He didn’t tell me.”

“No one else can guess what your son is thinking. As long as he doesn’t commit crimes. Let him do whatever he wants to do.” Mike is now completely free to Hayden.

Avery was not at ease. “Mike, go and see that professor. I want to know why Hayden chose to be this professor’s student. Let’s see what they talk about in private.”

Mike said, “Wait after your surgery. Let’s talk about it later! If your surgery is successful, I’ll go and make an appointment with that professor.”

Avery responded. After she took a nap, Mike came out of the ward.

Gwen and Ben Schaffer stood outside the ward, wondering when they came here.

“Has Avery rested?” Gwen asked.

“Well.” Mike looked at Ben Schaffer, “Avery doesn’t want to see you.”

“I guessed it.” Ben Schaffer had already found Avery’s attending doctor just now, and heard that Avery chose artificial cornea.

Although he can understand Avery’s choice, he still feels a little regretful.

Mike: “Although I hate Elliot and you. If the artificial cornea is not suitable, Avery will use the cornea you found.”

Ben Schaffer looked confused, “Why do you hate me? Gwen hates me too. I didn’t do what Elliot did. It’s enough that you hate him, can you not take your anger on me? Even if you have to take your anger out, why don’t you take your anger out on Chad? Me and Chad are both The people around him!”

This question is really tricky.

Mike couldn't answer, so he changed the subject, "Avery is asleep, you two, let's go. She has surgery tomorrow, you don't have to use it."

"Ben Schaffer won't come, I'll come." Gwen has already asked for a good leave.

Ben: "Aren't you busy?"

Gwen said, "I took three days off. Avery operation, I will definitely come. I know I can't help, but I want to be with her."

"Then you Come again tomorrow." Mike said, teasing, "Ben Schaffer came all the way, definitely not just to send corneas."

Mike went to the smoking room to smoke.

Ben Schaffer coughed lightly and said to Gwen, "Let's go and eat! I'm hungry."

"Oh..." Gwen's cheeks flushed, and she followed him towards the elevator, "I'm coming to the hospital tomorrow, so I don't have time to accompany you."

"Didn't you take three days off? Today is the first day, right? I'll go back after your vacation is over." Ben Schaffer smiled when he saw her embarrassed expression.

To ease the atmosphere, "We've known each other for so long, why are you still shy?"

"Long time we've known each other doesn't mean we know each other very well.

The number of times we've actually met can be counted." Gwen retorted him.

Ben: "Isn't that because you have to work hard here? You can obviously go back to Aryadelle with me..."

"Why should I go back to Aryadelle with you? I can go back to Aryadelle alone."

Gwen corrected his words.

Ben: "Then go back by yourself. When you go back to Aryadelle, we can meet every day."

"Are you unconscience?" Gwen frowned and reasoned with him, "When I was at my worst and desperate, it was Hayden helped me. He opened a company for me, and the company has only one model. If I leave, what will happen to Hayden's company?"

This question put Ben Schaffer in an embarrassing situation.

If Avery and Elliot didn't divorce, he could directly ask Hayden or Avery that he could give Hayden the money for opening the company in private.

But now, neither Avery nor Hayden will pay attention to him.

Chapter 1722

"I will at least let Hayden recover the cost and help Hayden make some money before I can leave." Gwen said his plan, "I will not leave here for at least two years."

The expression on Ben Schaffer's face immediately dignified.

"Ben Schaffer, I know you are getting old, and your parents want to hug their grandson quickly. So I don't want to delay you." Gwen explained the matter to him.

Ben Schaffer secretly said: "My parents began to look forward to holding their grandson when I was 20 years old. After so many years, they have long given up hope."

Gwen: "Oh. I'm serious with you. If you like woman, you just..."

"I'll wait for you for two years." Ben Schaffer interrupted her, "Gwen, I'm very grateful that you confessed to me your next plan today. I'm sober now. It's not without reason that I've been single for so many years. I'm really picky."

Gwen was amused by his words.

"It's pointless to say this now. The plan can't keep up with the changes." Gwen adjusted her emotions and changed the subject, "Although Avery refuses to use the cornea you found, I still want to thank you."

Ben: "You have thanked you several times. No need to thank you any more."

"Because I don't know what to say to you." Gwen frowned, "As long as I think of what Elliot did to Avery, I'm annoyed..."

Ben Schaffer said patiently, "Let's sort it out for you! The divorce was brought up by Avery, and your second brother doesn't want a divorce. Avery insisted on divorce and took Hayden away, but your second brother couldn't accept it. I didn't favor your second brother, just stand in his point of view and tell you why he changed."

"Avery has already given Elliot the domestic company, why does he still target Avery's company in Bridgedale? Elliot wants to break Avery. Is there a way back?" Gwen worried that Avery would have no source of livelihood in the future.

"As long as Avery's eyes are cured, no one will be able to break her back." Ben Schaffer reassured her, "Even if AN Technology really goes out of business, she can do her old job and be a doctor."

Gwen: "It means that Elliot really intends to bring down AN Technology?"

Ben Schaffer shook his head: "He wants to make the company bigger and stronger. There is also an element of anger with Avery."

Gwen: "Oh..."

Ben: "We are brothers and well known each other for so many years. Elliot can't be so cruel to Avery."

"You're nice but you're not my second brother, how do you know what he thinks in his heart. Do you really want to put Avery to death?"

Ben Schaffer stopped: "If your second brother really does this, then I have nothing to do. No matter what he does with Avery, his three children have a Mother and he can't force Avery to death no matter what."

"You'd better remember what you said now." Gwen had an idea, "If my second brother has any plans to deal with Avery next, you must tell me as soon as possible."

“Okay.”

The next day.

Avery received a corneal transplant. The surgery went relatively smoothly.

After the operation, she was sent to the ward.

“It smells good.” Avery smelled an elegant floral fragrance.

“Avery, I bought the flowers.” Gwen walked up to her, “I felt that the ward was empty and smelled of potion, so I bought a bunch of lilies.”

Avery now has gauze wrapped around her eyes and can't see anything.

The anaesthetic in her eye hasn't worn off, so she doesn't feel any pain.

After the operation, she felt much more relaxed.

“Is Ben Schaffer left?” Avery asked.

“No! He's leaving the day after tomorrow.” Gwen held her cold hand, “He's staying in the cafe outside the hospital. Originally he wanted to come to see you secretly, but I didn't let him come.”

“He actually wanted to come secretly? Does he think Avery's dead?” Mike teased.

“Mike, he is different from Elliot. He is not as bad as Elliot.” Gwen defended Ben Schaffer.

Ben: “Tsk tsk, what did Ben Schaffer do to subdue you so quickly?”

Gwen smugly said, “You're wrong. I subdued him. I will let him stare at Elliot in the future. If Elliot has anything I asked him to tell me immediately about the unfavorable plan for Avery.”

Mike gave her a thumbs up: “Avery didn't hurt you in vain.”

Chapter 1723

Cafe outside the hospital. It was 10 o'clock in the morning and there was no one in the cafe.

After receiving the approval of the coffee shop owner, Mike started smoking by the window.

It's not that he's addicted to smoking, but the waiting process was really boring.

Ben Schaffer really wanted to call Elliot to chat. Even if he doesn't talk about Avery, he can talk about something else. But he was afraid of disturbing Elliot's rest.

–After Elliot divorced Avery, he not only had to be busy with his work, but also took care of the emotions of his two children.

–Outsiders can't help with these things.

After thinking about it for a while, Ben Schaffer still called Elliot–

–The user you dialed is on a call, please try again later.

Who is Elliot talking to on the phone so late?

Ben Schaffer put down his phone and lit another cigarette.

When Elliot finishes talking on the phone, he should call him back.

He actually knew very well that when he got on the phone with Elliot later, he would definitely not help mentioning Avery.

Although Avery refused to see him, he imagined her current situation and felt particularly uncomfortable.

He can still have such compassion for Avery, how could Elliot not have it at all?

He remembered that when Avery happened something trivial, Elliot could change his face in a hurry. How could the love between them disappear?

About half an hour later, Elliot called.

Ben Schaffer put out the cigarette between his fingers in the ashtray.

“Elliot, who are you talking on the phone with!”

“Norah Jones.” Elliot picked up the water glass and took a sip. “She doesn't understand my rules. I have told her not to call me after 9 o'clock in the future.”

Norah Jones was the new vice president of Tate Industries. She not only had excellent management experience, but also a proud highly educated.

“Did she fight so hard? Or is she trying to take you down because of your free window?” Ben Schaffer teased.

“We didn’t talk about anything other than work.” Elliot frowned and put down the water glass.

“She wants to gain your trust first. When she gets to know you better, she will talk to you about other things.” Ben Schaffer was afraid that Elliot would be taken advantage of, so he reminded him, “You need someone to comfort you right now. You have to stay awake and don’t be so easily bewitched.”

Elliot felt that Ben Schaffer had been single for too long and his thinking was wrong.

Not to mention that he doesn’t have the energy to take care of personal relationship issues now, even if he has the energy, he can’t find a woman to fall in love with again.

Avery broke his heart.

Elliot didn’t want to talk nonsense with Ben Schaffer anymore, so he hung up the phone.

Seeing that it was 11 o’clock at night, he rubbed his aching temples and turned off his phone.

Norah Jones made a detailed work plan tonight and was very satisfied, so she called him and reported to him.

This report was more than an hour.

Norah Jones’s ambition was to make Tate Industries’s brand of drones the world’s No. 1, so that AN Technology had no place to stand!

When Avery listened to Norah Jones’s report, her face appeared in her mind countless times.

Chapter 1724

Elliot didn't want to destroy Avery's AN technology. But he seems to be doing it. He hired Norah Jones and acquiesced to Norah Jones to set such a huge goal. Regardless of whether Norah Jones can accomplish this goal or not, Avery must have known about it by now.

The funny thing is that even if Avery knew about it, she didn't come to him. Seeing that the phone was hung up, Ben Schaffer dialed his number again without thinking.

But came the system prompt tone that his phone had been turned off.

"What are you doing?" Ben Schaffer looked at the call that was automatically hung up by the system, and he said himself "I haven't said a word of what I wanted to say! If I knew it earlier, I would n't mention Norah Jones."

Ben Schaffer was very tight in his chest, so he came out of the cafe.

He walked to the door of the hospital and called Gwen.

In the ward, Avery heard that Gwen had answered Ben Schaffer's call, and immediately said to Gwen, "Gwen, go accompany him! I just happened to be a little sleepy and I was going to sleep."

Gwen knew Avery was lying. She had just finished the operation, and soon the effects of the anesthesia would wear off.

It was so painful, how could she sleep.

"Gwen, let's go! When she falls asleep, I'll squint for a while." Mike also opened his mouth.

"Okay! Then I'll go first. I'll come to see you at night." Gwen left the ward.

Mike went to the hospital bed and tucked the quilt for Avery.

"Mike, I'm not cold." It's summer, and despite the air conditioning in the ward, she's still a little hot.

Mike pulled the quilt down a little.

“After a week, your eyes will gradually be able to see things... Looking forward to it?” Mike said this sentence, his tone could not hide his excitement.

The corners of Avery’s mouth rose: “I look forward to it, I hope everything goes well.”

Mike: “It will definitely be. The doctor said that your illness is not a serious one.”

“I know.” Avery always knew that her illness was not serious, but it will affect daily life. “I feel much better now.”

“Well, the professor I told you before, I called and contacted him. He heard that you had surgery today, so he planned to come and visit you at night. I know you really wanted to talk to that professor about Hayden, so I agreed.” Mike said.

Avery hesitated for a moment, then responded.

...

Gwen came out of the inpatient department and saw Ben Schaffer who was waiting at the entrance of the inpatient department.

“Didn’t I tell you not to come to the hospital?” Gwen complained.

“I didn’t go in. I was calling you from outside the hospital gate. I heard Avery asked you to come with me, so I walked in.” Ben Schaffer heard Avery’s voice just now, and his heart was very complicated.

Her voice was as soft and quiet as ever.

The blow of divorce, the blow of illness, did not seem to break her down.

“It’s all because you called me. If you don’t call me, she won’t drive me away.”

Gwen glared at Ben, and said, “If something happens, just send me a message.”

“I called your second brother, and he hung up on me. Not only did he hang up my phone, but he also turned off the phone. So I was very annoyed.” Ben Schaffer explained to her, “I originally wanted to tell him about Avery’s surgery today, but after we got through the phone, we talked about another woman, so we're done."

"Another woman?" Gwen wondered.

"The new vice president of Tate Industries is a very capable woman. This woman is not only capable, but also quite young." Ben Schaffer said in a sour tone, "I have to obey, there are some young people nowadays who are getting more and more incredible."

Chapter 1725

"How old is she?"

"33 years old."

"Oh...isn't this older than Avery? To me, this woman is an old sister." Because Gwen resented this woman, So the tone is very rude.

"Haha..." Ben Schaffer laughed.

Gwen: "Why are you laughing! What are you talking about with Elliot about this woman?"

"She called your second brother for more than an hour. It's late at night in Aryadelle." Ben Schaffer asked her, "A woman called a man late at night to report. Do you think she is really dedicated to her work, or does she have other intentions?"

"There must be intentions. She wants to hook up with Elliot, it's obvious." Gwen said and added, "Although I haven't seen but I really hope the two of them are together. In this way, Avery can be completely freed!"

Ben Schaffer: "..."

In the evening.

A senior professor from the School of Mechanical Engineering brought Hayden to the hospital to visit Avery.

After the professor and Avery greeted politely, Mike immediately took Hayden out of the ward.

After the door of the ward was closed, Avery said to the professor, "I don't know why you chose my son."

The professor smiled and said, "Miss Tate, it was Hayden who sent me an email first and asked me some questions."

Avery Unexpectedly speechless.

"Let me introduce myself first. My name is Stephen Lewis. I am a professor and vice dean of the School of Mechanical Engineering. I have long stopped taking students. But I like Hayden very much, so I took him as a student." Stephen said, "I'm 66 years old this year. Your country, Aryadelle has a policy of retiring when you reach the age, but we don't have it here. I love my job, so I still work every day."

"Mr. Lewis, what did Hayden say when he sent you an email?" Avery especially wanted to know his son's inner thoughts.

Since Avery lost her eyesight, the mother and son have rarely communicated. Most of the time, it was Hayden who comforted her. If she asked about Hayden's situation at school, Hayden would only choose a good answer to her.

"He told me about his grandfather. He said that his grandfather was an engineer and had been working on driverless cars during his lifetime."

Avery: "Yes, my dad passed away many years ago. Hayden never met his grandfather."

"But Hayden is very interested in driverless systems now. He thinks it's cool. He sent me his resume. I read his resume and thought he was the talent I needed."

Stephen Lewis said frankly, "Unmanned systems are actually a high degree of fusion of mechanical engineering and computer science..."

A week later.

The gauze on Avery's eyes was removed.

She tried to open her eyes and feel the world in front of her.

Before the surgery, she couldn't see anything at all.

During the day there was a red light in front of the eyes, and at night it was a vast darkness.

But now, her eyes were no longer a monotonous red light.

She could vaguely see the figures in front of her, but she couldn't tell who was who.

"Mike!" Avery said excitedly.

"I'm here!" Mike held her arm, "How are you feeling? Can you see? Even if you can't see, it's fine. The doctor said it may take half a year for you to return to normal vision."

"I can I saw something." Avery pushed his arm away, "That's the door over there, right?" Her finger pointed towards the door of the room.

Mike was overjoyed, "Yes! That's the door over there!"

"Don't help me, I'll walk over by myself. I can do it." Avery took a deep breath and walked towards the door step by step.

Outside the door of the ward, a voice of discussion entered her ears.

"Avery is really pitiful. I heard that her ex-husband found a new love, and she is still blind."

Chapter 1726

Avery's footsteps stopped suddenly.

"I can't say that either. After her surgery is successful, she will be able to recover. It can only be said that men have always been fond of the new and disliked the old, and have little affection. Especially rich men."

Another said, "Avery divorced him, not necessarily. What a bad thing! Maybe her luck is behind.”

Avery heard this and turned back to the ward.

“Doctor, can Avery go home to recuperate?” Mike asked the doctor.

The doctor reminded, “Yes. But you must be careful not to let her go out alone.

She should not be able to see clearly now, so she should ask a nurse to watch. If you feel uncomfortable, contact me immediately.”

Mike: “Okay.”

“Also, Avery has stitches in her eyes, and the stitches will be removed in three months.” The doctor said.

Mike asked, “Okay. Is there anything else to watch out for?”

The doctor continued, “Pay attention to eye cleanliness, keep a good mood, and don’t cry. As long as you hold on for a while, you will be relieved when you fully recover.”

“Well, thank you for your hard work.” Mike sent the doctor out of the ward.

The nurse helped Avery to sit beside the hospital bed.

“Miss Tate, do you want to lie down?”

“I’ll sit for a while.” Avery has been lying down for the past few days with a sore back.

“Your eyes will recover soon, why are you so frowning?” The nurse didn’t seem very happy to see her, so she smiled and comforted her, “I have worked as a nurse for many years, taking care of many patients, and seeing many sick people. How painful. I think a healthy body is more important than anything else.”

“I think so too.” Avery smiled, and continued, “Actually, I’m in a good mood. When my eyes recover, I can do a lot, what I want to do!”

Mike: “Yeah! Would you like some soup?”

Avery: “Help me serve it. I’ll drink it myself.”

Mike: "Okay."

After a while, Mike took the discharge sheet and returned to the ward.

Avery finished the soup and handed the soup bowl to the nurse.

"Avery, the discharge procedures are done." Mike walked up to her, "I want to take you to the resort to recuperate."

Avery: "Is this necessary?"

"The sea view room, it's okay to look at the sea, it's good for your eyes." Mike has already booked the house.

Avery readily accepted: "you don't have to stay at home with me from now on. I'm much better than before."

"I'm fine again..." Mike supported her and walked out of the ward.

"I heard you talking on the phone last time." Avery was silent for a few seconds, then said, "Elliot fired Vice President Locklyn and replaced him with a new. He planned to deal with AN Technology."

These were Mike's original talk.

Mike looked at her in surprise: "Why haven't you told me?"

"I don't know what to say. Even if I asked you to work in the company before, you wouldn't listen." Avery's tone was calm, "AN Technology is me. If you don't have me, you don't have to be so tired at all. You don't have that much interest in starting a business and working."

Mike: "I'm not as wasteful as you said. Although I don't really like work, I also need a sense of accomplishment."

Avery: "Then what do you think?"

"I'll go to the company when your eyes are better." Mike reassured her, "I won't let Elliot hit us."

"Mike, we don't have to fight with him. If we are really not his opponents, then we will accept the result of failure indifferently.” Avery prepared for the worst, “I will even join the Tate Industries. I’ve given up, and I don’t feel so bad.”

Mike: “It’s not there yet. You don’t have to be so pessimistic.”

Avery: “It’s not pessimistic, it’s to plan for the worst first, so as not to be caught off guard.”

Mike: “Well.”

After leaving the hospital, Mike drove Avery to the beach more than an hour away from the hospital.

This was a famous seaside tourist city in Bridgedale.

After staying at the Sea View Villa, Mike took her to the balcony.

It was 4 o’clock in the afternoon, the sun was not as hot as noon, and the sea breeze blows, bringing bursts of coolness.

Chapter 1727

Mike: “There was a blue-green sea in front, can you see it? The sea is very beautiful.”

Avery tried hard to see the world in front of her. Her eyesight was a little blurrier than when she first removed the gauze. So she didn’t answer Mike’s words.

She could only vaguely see a patch of blue, not the blue-green he was talking about.

“I told Hayden that we are here. It’s too far from Hayden’s school, so I asked Hayden to live at Gwen’s side first, and then come here on the weekend.” Mike changed the subject.

“Well.” Avery wanted to rest her eyes for a while, “I seem to see a reclining chair.”

Mike: “Yes, there is a reclining chair on the balcony. Would you like to lie down for a while?”

Avery: “Okay.”

Mike helped her to the reclining chair Lie down.

She closed her eyes and immersed herself in a new environment.

Time flies, and summer vacation was fleeting.

It was September 1st and the weather was fine.

In the morning, Mike made a video call with Layla, and it was night in Aryadelle at this time.

Layla tells Mike that she and her brother are going to school tomorrow.

Robert took a summer early childhood education class and had already adapted to the life of the nursery.

Avery was very shocked after hearing the news.

–Isn't it cruel to send Robert to a nursery when he is only two years old?

If Avery was there, she wouldn't let the child go to nursery so early.

However, Layla said in the video call that Robert was having fun with the children in the nursery, so Elliot decided to continue sending the children.

After Mike finished the video with Layla, he was ready to go to work in the company.

Avery's eyesight is much better now than when he was discharged from the hospital.

If Mike was standing in front of her, she could see Mike's face clearly, and if she stayed away, she could only see the outline of his body.

Her current condition was similar to high myopia.

The only difference from myopia was that she could feel that her eyes were getting better every day.

Since being discharged from the hospital, she has strictly followed the doctor's orders and has never opened her mobile phone. Occasionally Mike would videotape Layla, and she would sneak a peek at the child.

She plans to wait for the stitches to be removed, and then find a chance to make a video call for Layla.

“Avery, the weather is nice today, let me accompany you out for a walk!” The nurse said.

“Yeah.” Avery would go out for a walk every day, accompanied by a nurse.

The nurse took a large satchel and led her out.

After coming out of the villa, the nurse immediately put on a sun hat and sunglasses for her.

Resorts generally have fewer people in the morning and more people in the evening, so they go out every morning.

After walking for a while, Avery vaguely saw a group of people ahead.

“Miss Tate, someone is playing with a drone in front.”

Avery stopped and looked up at the sky.

The drone had just taken off, and it wasn't flying too high. She could see a shadow moving in the air.

“Ms. Jones, Avery has been in Bridgedale for several months, but I asked, she has never been to AN Technology. It is estimated that she has been locked at home every day for the past few months, and she is very sad. Because I really can't find out about her. What have you been doing for months. She didn't appear in any public places at all.”

A man's voice came.

“The divorce was proposed by Avery, how could she hide at home and cry? If she is so clueless, how could she create AN Technology and Tate Industries?” Norah Jones's voice was cold and rational, “Her relationship in Bridgedale is stronger than in Aryadelle. You can't find out about her, it's normal.”

“Ms. Jones, you mean that Avery is secretly planning?”

Norah Jones said, “Hehe, no matter how she is planning, it will not affect my plan.

I will step on AN Technology sooner or later. In Bridgedale The establishment of a branch is just the beginning of the game!”

“Mmmm! With the support of President Foster and your courage, President Jones, it will be a matter of time before AN Technology will be killed.”

“Yes! President Foster values you so much, and you will take Tate Industries’s large and small affairs are entrusted to you, which shows that he trusts you very much!” Another person boasted, “Everyone in the company guessed that President Foster is after you!”

Norah Jones laughed confidently: “He really treats me. I’m very trusting. But don’t worry about emotional matters. I’ll talk about it when I finish my promise to him.”

Avery stood not far away and heard their conversation clearly.

Norah Jones brought her team to Bridgedale to set up a branch, with the goal of stepping on AN Technology.

Not only that, Elliot handed over the entire Tate Industries to Norah Jones.

Avery’s face was pale, and her fingers clenched uncontrollably.

She told Mike not long ago that she gave up the Tate Industries, and it was not as uncomfortable as she imagined.

It turned out that she was not uncomfortable because she thought that Elliot would make the Tate Industries run well.

Unexpectedly, he directly lost the company to others.

This person may be Elliot’s favorite object.

Otherwise, how could Elliot trust her so much?

“Avery, let’s go back!” The nurse also heard the conversation of the group in front.

She saw that Avery’s face became pale and angry, and without waiting for Avery to answer, she directly supported her and walked back.

“Avery, don’t be angry with those people. You have already divorced your exhusband. What happened to your ex-husband and other women is their business.” The nurse was afraid of her sadness and tears, so she clumsily comforted her.

Her eyes finally recovered to the current level, and in more than a month, the stitches can be removed.

After the stitches are removed, she can live a normal life.

If because of these things, sadness and tears affect the progress of recovery, it is really worth the loss.

Avery exhaled heavily, her voice desolate and hoarse: “I’m fine... I’m just a little disgusted.”

–Elliot couldn’t wait to suppress her career and wanted her to be completely finished.

–Did he think that if he did this, he would make her impoverished and make her utterly destitute? !

Back at the villa, Avery entered the bedroom and closed the door.

The nurse was worried that she couldn’t think about it, so she called Mike and explained the situation to Mike.

“I see, I’ll go right over.” Mike replied.

It was far from the headquarters of AN Technology.

Mike usually came over on Friday afternoon and left on Monday morning.

Sometimes he came here on Wednesday, sometimes he didn’t.

The nurse regretted it after calling Mike.

Today was Monday and Mike just left in the morning.

It s estimated that he just arrived at the company not long ago.

If Avery knew that she called Mike and asked Mike to run more, Avery would definitely be unhappy.

...

Avery's home in Bridgedale was in the main urban area of the capital of Bridgedale.

Elliot has been here, and more than once.

Elliot decided to come here this time, apparently to inspect the work progress of Norah Jones's team, but in fact, because of the divorce, he still couldn't forget Avery.

They have been completely out of touch for more than two months.

Avery not only didn't contact him, but also didn't contact her friends in Aryadelle, and even didn't contact Layla.

Elliot couldn't figure it out anyway.

–Why is Avery so hard-hearted.

After getting off the plane, Elliot came out of the airport and stopped a taxi on the side of the road.

After getting in the car, he reported Avery's home address.

About 20 minutes later, the taxi stopped at the gate of the wealthy community where Avery lived.

Chapter 1729

The security guard at the gate recognized Elliot and took the initiative to chat with him.

“You are the husband of Miss Tate, the owner of Building 13, right? I still remember you.”

Elliot's eyes flashed with embarrassment: “we are Divorced.”

“Oh... No wonder I haven't seen Miss Tate come back recently.” The security guard Saying that, he took out a visitor registration form, “Do you still want to go in?”

“Avery doesn’t live here recently?” Elliot took the booklet, but did not fill in the information immediately.

Security guard: “I’ve patrolled several times during the day and saw that the door of her house is closed. But it’s hard to say. Maybe Miss Tate has been resting at home all the time. She seems to be sick and may be resting at home.”

After listening to the security guard’s words, Elliot Fill out the visitor information on the brochure now.

“When did you hear she was sick?” Elliot asked casually.

“About two months ago! At that time, there was a new nanny in her family. I chatted with that person a few words. The person said it was a nurse and came to take care of Miss Tate.” The security guard said and wrote him down took a look at the booklet.

Then the door was opened for him.

Elliot listened to the security guard’s words in his heart, and strode into the community.

Avery fell ill two months ago and invited a nurse to take care of her at home.

It seemed that she was very ill at the time.

If she was not seriously ill, she would never ask a nurse to come to take care of her at home.

But Elliot hadn’t heard of it at all.

He strode towards Avery’s villa.

As the security guard said, the door of her villa was closed

The yard looked like it had been left unattended for a long time, and it was relatively deserted.

There was no private clothes drying on the balcony of the courtyard on the first floor and the second floor, and every door that could be seen was tightly closed.

There was absolutely no trace of life to be seen.

Elliot stood in the sun and waited for a while, not knowing what he was waiting for.

Obviously he could ring the doorbell to determine if there was anyone at home.

But he didn't. His intuition had already told him that there was no one at home, and Avery was not here.

Where has Avery gone?

After staying for another ten minutes, Elliot left from the door of the villa.

...

Mike hurried back to the resort from the company, Avery's mood has returned to normal.

"Mike, I'm fine." Avery said calmly, "I just heard someone say that my company will be trampled under their feet, and it's a little uncomfortable."

"Who said that? Who said this?!" Mike roared in anger.

"The people around her call her President Jones." Avery replied, "This woman is now fully in charge of the Tate Industries's affairs, and is planning to open a branch in Bridgedale."

"Norah Jones!" Mike said the woman's name, "She was brought back by Elliot himself. I don't know if the two of them knew each other before. Elliot trusted her very much."

Avery felt a pain in her temples when she thought of competing head-to-head with this woman.

"I didn't expect her to live here too. Why don't we change places!" Mike said.

they don't know how long Norah Jones will stay here. If Norah comes here this time, it is for the purpose of setting up a branch office, maybe ten days and a half months.

If they continued to live here, there was a very high possibility that you would meet Norah Jones next.

Mike wasn't afraid of Norah Jones, but he was worried that Avery would feel bad when she met her.

Avery was silent for a moment, then replied, "Let's go home! The stitches will be removed soon, so it's time to go back."

"Okay. Let's go back today."

At noon, after having lunch at the resort, they set off for home.

After more than an hour, the car drove into the community.

The car stopped at the door of the villa, and they got out of the car.

Coincidentally, the patrolling security came over in a patrol car.

"Miss Tate, your ex-husband came to look for you in the morning. He didn't see you, so he left something in the security room. I'll bring it to you now."

Chapter 1730

Avery was stunned.

ex-husband?

Come to see her in the morning?

Is it Elliot?

Mike opened the villa door, helped Avery into the house, and called Chad.

"Why didn't you tell me in advance that your boss came to Bridgedale?" Mike felt that Elliot was a bad visitor!

Chad said in surprise: "My boss has gone to Bridgedale?! I don't know! He only said to rest for a few days, but he didn't say he was going to Bridgedale!"

Mike: "D*mn it! This old man is holding back some bad tricks?"

Chad: "Since he didn't disclose his itinerary, it means it's his private itinerary. It's impossible for him to do a private itinerary. Maybe he just wanted to find Avery?"

Mike: "He did find it. He also found a home. The door is coming. Fortunately, we lived in a resort before, but not at home.”

“D*mn, you live in a resort? Why didn’t you tell me?” Chad was also stunned.

Mike: “What if I told you, you told your boss?”

“You can’t trust me so much?” Chad became even more angry, “Then don’t call me in the future!”

Mike: “Hey! That’s not what I meant, I just wanted Avery to rest well, so no one said anything.”

“You don’t need to explain, I don’t want to hear it.” Chad scratched his head.

It was after four o’clock in the morning. He was woken up by Mike’s phone call.

He already had a headache, and what Mike said was really unpleasant, so the headache was even worse.

“Okay, then you can continue to sleep!” Mike heard his breathing a little heavy, and realized that it was early morning over there, and suddenly softened, “By the way, your boss brought something over and put it at the community security. I don’t know what it is.”

If Mike sincerely wanted Chad to continue sleeping, he shouldn’t have said the latter.

Chad also wanted to know what Elliot had brought to the security guard.

“Don’t hang up, wait until you tell me what it is.” Chad turned on the phone handsfree, then took the phone to the bathroom.

After a while, the security guard brought a document bag over.

Mike took the file bag and walked to Avery.

“Bag?” Avery reached out and took the file bag from him.

Mike closed the door of the villa, worried that Elliot would come again.

Avery opened the file bag and took out a few pieces of paper.

On the paper, there were dense texts.

“Mike, read it to me.” Avery handed the paper to Mike.

At this time, the nurse stepped back wisely.

What if this is a classified document?

Mike took the paper and read it without looking closely: "Today is the third day of Mom and Dad's divorce, and I can't help but cry. It's all because of my dad. He's a bad guy, if it weren't for him, my mom would be won't go. My mother loves me very much. She wanted to take me and my brother away, but the bad father wouldn't let me. What can I do now? I want to go away alone, but Robert is still so young, what should Robert do? What to do? I can't take him with me. He will hug me after a while. If I take him with me, we won't go far."

Mike finished reading the diary and couldn't help laughing: "This is Layla's diary, right? It's really good that Layla can write such a long diary now."

Avery couldn't help laughing. She just felt sad.

"Do you still read the rest? It's all Layla's diaries. There are several!" Mike glanced at all the papers.

It was Elliot who photographed Layla's diary with his mobile phone and then printed it out.

Maybe Layla didn't even know that her diary was secretly photographed.

But what did Elliot want to do?

Did he let Avery see Layla's diary, and wanted Avery to go back to Aryadelle to see Layla?

Didn't he say before that Avery would not be allowed to see Layla and Robert?

Chapter 1731

"Stop reading." Avery stretched out her hand and took back all the paper, "I'll read it myself later."

"Well. You can also wait for your eyes to look better." Mike gave the paper to Avery and said, "Elliot brought this to you to let you know about the child's situation! Why is he so kind?"

"I don't know." Avery really couldn't guess what Elliot was thinking. She also wondered how Elliot could be so kind.

Avery didn't take a nap at noon today, she was a little dizzy, so she took Layla's diary and went back to her room.

Mike picked up the phone and saw that the call didn't hang up, so he put it in his ear: "Did you hear it just now?"

"Well." On the other side of the phone, Chad's heart was a little heavy, "How's Avery's eyes?"

Mike said, "It can be seen clearly within one meter, and gradually blurred beyond one meter."

Chad: "Oh...it's okay. It should be able to recover slowly next time?"

Mike: "Well."

"When her eyes recover, will she go back to Aryadelle to see Layla and Robert?"

Chad asked.

Chad was very distressed when he heard Layla's diary just now. Usually, he occasionally visited Layla and Robert. The two children looked fine, but Layla was so sad inside.

Mike: "Does Elliot allow Avery to see the child?"

Chad took a breath: "I don't know. I really don't know. I haven't heard the boss mention this at all, and I don't dare to ask. He looks very unhappy every day, who Dare to ask!"

"Wait for Avery, let's see how she decides! I rarely talk to her about the future."

Mike didn't dare to talk at all, for fear that she would cry.

Before her eyesight was restored, Mike just wanted her to rest in peace and recover from her injury.

In the bedroom.

Avery walked to the desk and put her daughter's diary under the lamp. She desperately wanted to know what was in her daughter's heart.

After she struggled to read all the diaries, her mood was not as depressed as at the beginning.

The diary that Mike read just now was the first one written by her daughter after she left, so that diary was the saddest.

In the following diary, her daughter kept cheering herself up, doing psychological construction, and making herself braver.

Avery was very pleased that her daughter was so strong, and at the same time felt sorry for her.

If there was no change in the family, the daughter did not need to be so strong.

Avery lifted her head up to keep the tears from falling.

She needs to recover quickly, and when her eyes recover, whether she returns to Aryadelle to find her child or picks up her child to meet in Bridgedale, it will be better than thinking so hard.

In the living room, Mike and Chad finished talking on the phone. Mike's mouth was dry. When he was looking for a water glass, the phone rang suddenly.

He picked up the phone and saw Elliot's call. At this moment, he was stunned. He didn't expect Elliot to call. After Avery and Elliot divorced, Elliot never called him.

Mike took a deep breath and answered the phone.

Elliot: "The security guard told me that you are home."

When Elliot handed the document to the security guard, he left his number and asked the security guard to give Avery the document and call him back.

The security just called Elliot back. So Elliot dialed Avery's number again, but still couldn't get through.

He resisted the unhappiness in his heart, and the awkwardness in his heart, and dialed Mike's number.

"What are you doing here with Layla's diary? Does Layla know you secretly photographed her diary?" Mike took the phone and went back to his room.

Elliot didn't answer the question, but instead asked: "What kind of illness did Avery have two months ago? He actually needs to hire a nurse."

Chapter 1732

Mike was turned over by him on this question!

How dare Elliot ask this question?

–Avery's eyes are almost healed. Doesn't Elliot feel uncomfortable when he comes back to pretend to care about Avery? Or that Elliot had already found out that Avery's eyes were getting better, so he came here?

–Before Elliot heard Avery say that her eyes were blind, did Elliot think that if he was blind, he could not be cured, so he treated her so ruthlessly?

Various thoughts appeared in Mike's mind.

"Are you caring about her? It's ridiculous." Mike said sarcastically. "If you really care about her, then you give her the custody of Layla and Robert! Give her back her Tate Industries! If you can do When it's over, call me again!"

Elliot was irritated by his rude demands. And said, "Mike, I didn't expect you to be so ignorant."

"Who are you scolding! Did I beg you to call me? Did I beg you to come to Avery's house?" Mike laughed mercilessly, "You are so old. Can you take care of yourself? After you divorced Avery, has Avery contacted you? Is it not? What's the matter?"

"Yes, I'm a jerk!" Elliot gritted his teeth, his face was ashen, and he hung up the phone. Indeed he was rude.

–Elliot and Avery parted ways long ago and drew a clear line.

–Elliot said that he would not show her Layla and Robert in the future unless she came to beg him.

–It is estimated that Avery was furious to death after listening to him. So it is even more impossible to bow to him.

–As for Avery’s illness, she didn’t tell Elliot, and she doesn’t need his extra care.

Elliot put down his phone, walked to the refrigerator, and took out a bottle of ice water. He needed to calm down now.

He drank half a bottle of ice water, and the dry heat in his body finally subsided.

Not long after, there was a convulsion in his stomach, and he immediately leaned on the bed and bent down.

After Elliot came to Bridgedale, he hadn’t eaten yet. Originally, his stomach was not very good. He just drank the ice water, which was like killing him.

He didn’t bring a bodyguard or stomach medicine. Now he can’t move because of the pain, so he can only endure it and wait for the pain to pass.

At 7:00 p.m.

Avery really couldn’t hold back her thoughts about her child. She called Layla for the video call.

Layla saw her mother’s call and took it immediately.

Avery: “Layla!”

Avery saw her daughter lying on the bed, with loose hair and a small face.

Compared with before, her facial features were more three-dimensional, and her daughter seemed to have grown up a lot.

Avery couldn’t hide her excitement, she was happy, but also full of guilt.

Layla: “Mom!”

Layla saw her mother’s familiar face and stood up from the bed excitedly, “Mom, is it really you? I didn't dream?"

"Layla, you didn't dream. Mom saw what you wrote's diary was brought by your father to show me." Avery tried hard to calm down, "Mom feels sorry for you. So your mom made a video for you and wanted to say sorry to you."

Layla's face was originally With a smile, after listening to her mother's words, her tears burst out instantly.

Feelings of grievance took over her sanity.

"Mom, I miss you so much! I want to live with you, but I don't want to be with my father." Layla rubbed her eyes and pursed her mouth, "Why haven't you called me for so long? I really I'm so angry! But if you call me now, I'll forgive you."

Chapter 1733

Avery wanted to find a reason to answer her daughter, but couldn't find a suitable reason.

Her daughter was no longer a child of two or three years old, and the reason was too false to deceive her.

"Layla, your mother was sick before, and the doctor told her not to play with her phone, so she made you a video call now but now she is also sick too." Avery answered her daughter half-truth, "Mom's illness is not serious, and it is now healed. Originally, your mother wanted to go back to Aryadelle to find you and your brother, but your father won't let me find you."

"Woohoo! Bad dad. He won't let you come to me and Robert, so I'll take Robert to you." Layla frowned. Se said fiercely, "I'm not afraid of him!"

Avery said, "Layla, your studies are more important now. When you have winter vacation, you can come to Bridgedale to find your mother, okay? When the time comes I'll ask Hayden to pick you up, or you can ask your uncle Eric to bring you here. You can study hard now. Robert is too young to take him abroad. Can we discuss it when you are on winter vacation?”

Layla stretched her hands to wipe her tears: “Okay mom, can you make video call me every day in the future? If you can’t every day, you can called me every two days!”

Avery thought for a while and replied: “If it’s convenient for you in the future, you can call mom. Mom’s phone will be turned on in the future.”

Layla: “You don’t want dad to see our video call, right?”

“Well. I don’t want to quarrel with him.” Avery explained the reason, “Because you and Robert are still living by his side, Mom doesn’t want to conflict with him.”

Layla: “Mom, what can I do?”

Layla really wanted to do something to change the current situation.

“As long as you are healthy, study hard, unite with Robert, and grow up obediently, that’s fine.” Avery knew that her daughter wanted to leave Elliot and come to her side, but there was no way to do that at the moment.

Layla pursed her mouth and felt uncomfortable for a while, and asked, “Mom, do you want to see Robert?”

Avery didn’t think about it: “Well, your mother misses him too.”

“Wait!” Layla took the phone, got out of bed quickly, and ran towards her brother’s room.

Robert was still sleeping.

Layla climbed onto Robert’s bed and pointed the camera at Robert.

“Look Mom, Robert is still sleeping.” Layla straightened Robert’s little face on the side, “Look at him, has he grown up too?”

Avery looked at Robert’s chubby little face and endured it. She could n’t stop smiling: “Layla, let Robert sleep! It’s time for you to get up and go to school.”

“Mom, I can’t bear to hang up.” Layla reluctantly parted.

Avery was reluctant to hang up, but after watching the screen for a while, her eyes began to swell. She can't look at her phone anymore.

"Mom has a stomachache and has to go to the bathroom." After making an excuse, Avery hung up the video.

After she finished the video, Mike pushed open her door. Just now Avery was speaking, and Mike heard it outside.

"I made a video call for Layla." Avery saw him come in and said frankly, "I finished reading Layla's diary, and I couldn't hold back."

"It's okay. I'm worried about your eyes." Mike could understand her videotaping Layla.

It was because his eyes were sick that he couldn't help but start playing with his mobile phone long ago.

Avery: "My eyes are a little swollen. I'm going to rest."

"Then go to sleep. I'll come in and see, it's all right." Mike stood at the door and didn't come in, "By the way, Elliot called me today. I know where I heard the news, and know that our family hired a nurse. He called me to ask me what was wrong with you, and you asked for a nurse. I scolded him. "

Avery was shocked.

"Don't you think I shouldn't scold him?" Mike scratched his head, "I couldn't be mad at the time! While he was going to ruin your career, he pretended to care about your health. I've never seen such a bad man."

Chapter 1734

"Mike, now Layla and Robert are still living by his side, I want to avoid conflict with him as much as possible." Avery expressed his thoughts, "If he can really ruin my career, then I admit it. You don't have to curse him for that."

"You are so cowardly!" Mike complained, "Don't underestimate Layla! If Elliot makes Layla anxious, Layla will resist. Don't think Elliot will treat the child badly because of your grievances and grievances with you, and that's his child too!"

Mike's words made Avery wake up a bit. In fact, Avery knew in her heart, she just didn't want to gamble.

It's like Avery didn't expect Elliot to be so unfeeling towards her, and she was bent on ruining her career. She was worried that Elliot would go crazy and lose his mind.

"You have a good rest! Don't think too much about it. If he really treats Layla and Robert badly in the future, I will find a way to grab the two children. You can rest assured that I am here." Mike saw her hesitant expression , so comfort.

"Mike, thanks to you for this period of time." Avery thanked him and continued, "it was very difficult, because with you by my side, I'm always full of hope."

Mike: "What's there to thank. If I get sick? Now, you will also take care of me."

Avery: "Well."

"That's okay, don't say thank you to me in the future. If Elliot finds you again, you don't have to be polite to him. Even if AN Technology goes bankrupt, we don't need to look at his face. I am so much the way to make money, I will support you."

Mike gave her confidence.

She couldn't help laughing: "I'll be able to support myself when my eyes are healed. I won't be so miserable."

Mike: "I know. I Just wanted to know what you have in mind."

Bridgedale.

At 1:00 a.m.

Elliot was rushed to the hospital closest to the hotel. He had a stomach attack in the afternoon and fainted in the room. Because he came alone, no one knew his situation in time.

After Chad found out through Mike that he was going to Bridgedale, he called him, but he didn't get through. Chad then called his bodyguard. Knowing that Elliot went to Bridgedale alone, he inevitably began to worry about his life in Bridgedale.

In the evening, Chad called him again, but he still couldn't get through.

Thinking that Norah Jones was on a business trip in Bridgedale, Chad called Norah Jones and asked Norah Jones to find him.

Norah Jones immediately went to the hotel where Elliot was staying. Because he couldn't get through to Elliot's phone number. Norah Jones found the manager of the housekeeping department and hoped that the manager could open Elliot's door.

Of course, the room manager did not agree to Norah Jones's request.

Elliot was the VIP of the hotel. Without his permission, the manager would not dare to open the door of his room casually.

Norah Jones grinded with the manager of the housekeeping department for several hours, and finally Norah Jones got angry and said that if something happened to Elliot, the manager should be fully blamed.

The manager turned pale with fright, and then opened Elliot's room.

Unexpectedly, Elliot really had an accident.

The manager called an ambulance, and Elliot was quickly taken to the hospital.

After Elliot was sent to the emergency room, Norah Jones had time to call Chad back.

"Chad, it's fortunate that you called me, otherwise Elliot would be in trouble."

Norah Jones had a lingering fear, "Elliot fainted in the hotel room. I don't know why he fainted. When I was in the ambulance, When I touched his hand, it was cold. But don't worry, he is still breathing."

Chad was frightened: "How could this be?! Why did he faint? Could it be hypoglycemia?”

Chapter 1735

“Why did Elliot come here alone? If you didn’t call me and if I didn’t open his room in time...I can’t imagine the consequences.” Norah Jones was frightened.

Chad’s face was heavy, “He went to Bridgedale this time to find Avery, so he didn’t let anyone follow him.”

Norah: “No wonder! Then did he find Avery? I heard that Avery has disappeared for the past few months. ...”

Chad wanted to say that Avery was sick, but held back.

Now the whole company is spreading gossip about Elliot and Norah Jones.

Although this is all nonsense, Chad thinks that Norah Jones may not have this heart.

So Chad didn’t need to tell Norah Jones about Avery.

Chad: “I also heard that he was looking for Avery. I’m not sure if he really did.

After he divorced Avery, he never mentioned Avery to me again.”

“Oh... ..Do you think his fainting might have something to do with Avery?” Norah Jones guessed, “He seems to be in good health, why did he faint for no reason?”

Chad corrected her: “My boss is not as healthy as you think. He just looks strong, but he actually has a lot of hidden illnesses.”

Chad said this deliberately, hoping to persuade Norah Jones to quit.

Although the boss and Avery have divorced, Chad can feel that the boss has no interest in women and will not marry any woman again.

“What hidden illness does he have?” Norah Jones asked.

“This is his privacy, and it is not convenient for me to disclose it.” Chad made excuses to prevaricate.

“Okay! But he can have so many children with Avery, which shows that he is a normal man.” Norah Jones was having fun, “this is already a good advantage.”

“Ms. Jones, the man you have experienced before is a bad?” Chad teased.

“Maybe I’m out of luck! I’ve never met a normal man before.” Norah Jones said here, and changed the subject, “I’m a little sleepy, I’m going to have a cigarette. I’ll contact you when Elliot wakes up. “

“Okay, thank you for your hard work.” Chad always felt that something was wrong, and when he was about to hang up, he recalled, “Ms. Jones, did my boss allow you to call him by his first name?”

Norah Jones was stunned for a moment: “I haven’t discussed this issue with him. Because I think I’m the same age as him, so I called him Elliot directly, and he didn’t correct me. What’s the matter? Can’t I call him that? It was he who told you in private Have you mentioned this?”

“Not really. It’s just that recently our company has been spreading gossip about you and my boss. If these gossips get to the boss, he will definitely be angry. He hates gossip with female subordinates the most. I told you this because I was afraid that these little things would affect your future.” Chad reminded her.

Norah Jones: “Chad, thank you for reminding me. But I think you think too much. It’s their business to talk about the employees of your company. Is it possible to keep their mouths shut? Besides, didn’t the former manager of the PR department of your company have been ambiguous with Elliot for many years?”

Chad’s voice was a little cold: “Then do you know how she died?”

Norah Jones: “I would like to hear the details.”

“It’s better that you don’t know. I’m afraid to scare you.” Chad didn’t want to tangle with her on this topic anymore, “No matter what. Thank you for taking my boss to the hospital so late.”

Norah Jones teased: “He is not only your boss, but also my boss. If you have to thank me, it is he who is thanking me, not you.”

This phone call was in an unpleasant atmosphere. end below.

...

Morning, six o'clock.

Elliot opened his eyes slowly, and a woman's face appeared in front of him.

Chapter 1736

"Mr. Foster, you're awake! I'll call the doctor." Norah Jones stayed up all night, guarding Elliot by the hospital bed.

The doctor said he had a stomach attack that caused him to faint.

The problem was not serious, but it needed special attention in daily life.

"Why are you here?" Elliot asked hoarsely. After asking the question, he glanced around.

—Is this in the hospital?

"Mr. Foster, you had a stomach ailment and fainted in your hotel room." Norah Jones explained to him.

Elliot gradually regained his memory.

Yesterday he drank half a bottle of ice water and had a stomach attack. He thought he could get through the pain for a while, but he finally fainted.

"Who called you?" Elliot asked cautiously.

"Chad called you, but couldn't get through. So he called me and let me come to you." Norah Jones continued, "He told me the hotel you stayed in. The hotel manager didn't want to open your room without authorization but because I couldn't get through to your phone, I was worried that you had an accident, so I forced the manager to open the door."

"Thank you." After saying these two words, Elliot closed his eyes.

Norah Jones said, "I'm going to call the doctor" and left the ward.

After a while, the doctor came over to check his condition.

“Mr. Foster, your stomach problem was a little serious. It shouldn’t be after you came to Bridgedale. In your case, you should take long-term medication. Did you not take medication yesterday?” The doctor asked, “You must eat on time, small and frequent meals. Take medicine on time, so that you can gradually recover.” Elliot listened to the doctor’s words, his face was very cold: “Prescribe me some medicine.”

“You are hospitalized first. When you are discharged, I will prescribe medicine for you. “

Hospital?” Elliot frowned.

“Mr. Foster, you need to be hospitalized for at least a week. You have acute gastritis, gastric ulcer, duodenal ulcer...”

“Stop talking.” Elliot didn’t want to hear it.

Norah Jones stood beside him and saw his impatient face, so she comforted him:

“Mr. Foster, you should listen to the doctor! You fainted yesterday...”

“I’m already awake and I am feeling very good now. OK.” He wanted to leave the hospital.

Doctor: “That’s because you lost the medicine all night. Your lady friend took care of you all night.”

Elliot didn’t refute any more. He came here alone. If he was forcibly discharged from the hospital and something happened later, it would only be more troublesome.

...

After Avery made a video call with her daughter last night, her whole mental state was turned on.

When eating breakfast in the morning, Mike saw the corners of his mouth rise and couldn’t help teasing her: “Layla doesn’t blame you, right?”

“Well. My daughter is obedient, sensible, and considerate.” Avery was particularly moved.

“What does it have to do with you. If Elliot hadn’t relied on his power in Aryadelle to occupy Layla and Robert, how could you have given up on them?” Mike comforted her, “By the way, Eric called me last night and said he had a job to come here.”

Avery: “That’s good! But why did he call you?”

“Haha, because he didn’t know you started using your cell phone. He called me just to let me tell you.” Mike held up the milk cup, and continued, “He said he had a cooperation with Gwen. I don’t know the specifics. You can ask him when he comes.”

“Gwen has a cooperation? ” Avery was surprised. The two of them were people in two fields, and she never thought that the two of them would cooperate.

Chapter 1737

Mike guesses: “It must be Eric who wants to help Gwen. You can think of it with your toes. Eric is very popular in Bridgedale. Gwen is just a newcomer model who has just debuted for half a year. Now Eric has come to work with her and can help her improve several grades. “

Avery nodded.

“Did Elliot call you?” Mike asked.

“No.” She said, then changed her words, “He called yesterday morning, when my phone was off.”

Mike: “Don’t call him back. I scolded him yesterday, and he was so angry that he hung up. If you take the initiative Go and contact him, he will definitely not give you a good attitude.”

Avery: “Well.”

In the afternoon, Eric arrived in Bridgedale.

He carried his luggage directly and checked into Avery's house.

He was more worried about Avery's eyes.

"I'm much better. I made a video call for Layla yesterday." Avery gave him a point of concern, "Look, I can take care of myself now."

"Don't listen to Avery so good. She can only watch to you now. she can't see me clearly." Mike sat far away from Avery, so he joked with Eric.

"Mike, is it time for you to go to work?" Avery said.

Mike sighed and got up from the sofa: "As soon as Eric comes, you think I'm superfluous. I'll go, I'll go."

Mike went to the door to change his shoes, and then shouted: "Let's go out to eat later in the evening. It's been a long time since I ate out, so I'll book a seat. Avery, how are you?"

Avery is fine, but it depends on Eric's inconvenience.

After all, Mike said that he is very popular in Bridgedale. If he doesn't want to go out to eat, he must respect his intentions.

"I'm fine." Eric saw Avery's eyes on him, and immediately said, "You haven't been out for a long time, haven't you? Go out to eat that night."

"Okay."

After discussing it, Mike went out.

Eric walked to where Mike was sitting and asked, "I'm sitting here, can not you really see me?"

"I can. It's just not so clear." Avery changed the subject, "You come here this time to cooperate with Gwen, did you deliberately want to help Gwen?"

"It's just an effort." Eric took a fork from the fruit plate and ate the fruit, "Gwen's agent came to me and said that there is a car brand that wants to cooperate with Gwen, but she feels Gwen doesn't have enough influence, so it's best to find an influential male artist."

Avery said, "Eric, if you want to refuse..."

"I've already agreed. The spokesperson is Gwen, and I'm just shooting a film promotion with Gwen. f" Eric said in a relaxed tone, "I also hope that Gwen can become an international supermodel soon, so that she doesn't have to be angry with the old man anymore."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "You mean Ben Schaffer?"

"Well. The matter with Ben Schaffer is still fresh in my memory." Eric teased, "My first impression of Ben Schaffer is not good. He looks older and more shrewd than Elliot."

Avery: "You will also grow old in the future."

Eric: "At least I won't lie to women like them. What I despise the most is the kind of people who treat women as reproductive tools and don't respect women at all."

Avery said, "Eric, although I divorced Elliot and we were having trouble with child custody, he didn't force me to give birth to the child. He didn't use me as a reproductive tool.

Eric: "It's more clever. He made you have so many children, but he didn't make you feel that he forced you to have them."

Avery: "I only gave birth to a second child."

Eric said, "He forced you to give birth to your second child. I think you are habitually remembering his goodness and ignoring when he treats you badly."

Chapter 1738

Avery did not refute. There was no need to argue about this issue.

At five o'clock in the afternoon, Mike called Eric and asked him to take Avery to the restaurant he ordered.

After Eric finished talking on the phone, he took Avery out of the door.

Eric asked, "What about the nurse before? Can you really do without a nurse?"

"The nurse has something to do at home. Plus my eyes will get better and better in the future, so I gave a sum of money to her and let her go back to work at home."

Eric said, "You should be fine staying at home now, don't go out alone."

"Well."

The two came to the high-end restaurant that Mike ordered.

There were not many customers in the restaurant.

Mike chose the window seat.

Actually Mike wanted to choose a private room, but unfortunately the private room was already fully booked tonight.

"I used to eat at this restaurant with Mike often. Because this restaurant has more authentic national dishes." Avery explained to Eric.

"I've heard of this restaurant, but I haven't eaten here. If it's not with my good friends, I don't really like to eat out." Eric took off his hat and sunglasses at the same time.

Looking at his handsome face close at hand, Avery couldn't help sighing: "Eric, you don't seem to have changed much. You have always been so young and handsome."

Avery felt that she had been mentally tired in the past two years.

Especially after giving birth to the child in autumn, she felt that the physical function had decreased significantly.

"It's important to stay in a good mood." Eric told her the secret of staying in shape.

"I'll try my best not to worry so much." Avery said with a smile.

At this time, the waiter came over and asked if the food needed to be served immediately.

“Have you ordered all the dishes?” Avery asked.

“Yes. The gentleman who made the reservation ordered the dishes in advance.”

The waiter showed Avery the menu that Mike ordered.

“I’ll call and ask.” Avery took out her mobile phone and dialed Mike.

Mike answered the phone quickly: “Have you been to the restaurant? If you are, then you should eat first. I’m picking up Hayden. It may take a while.”

“Have you received Hayden?” Avery asked.

Mike: “Not yet. There’s a bit of traffic jam on the road today. You eat first. When Hayden and I arrive, we can order food.”

From Mike’s side, there was a constant whistle blowing. It seems to be really crowded there.

After talking on the phone, Avery asked the waiter to serve the food first.

Soon, the waiter came to serve the dish with a tray.

At this time, at the door of the restaurant, a group of people walked in and prepared to eat.

After they sat down in the window seat, a woman spotted Eric with sharp eyes.

Eric and Avery are sitting right in front of them.

Eric was facing them, while Avery was behind them.

So at a glance, The woman can clearly see Eric’s face.

His facial features are really outstanding! Like a prince in a comic book coming out of the book.

“Look, it seems to be Eric!” The woman whispered, reminding her companion, “He is actually dating a woman! Is that woman his girlfriend?!”

Everyone’s eyes turned to Eric.

They saw that Eric stood up from the sofa and walked towards the woman he was dating.

The two sat together.

Not only that, but Eric actually picked up chopsticks and served vegetables to the woman beside him, and even wanted to feed them to woman.

Chapter 1739

“F*ck! They actually feed in public... This is too blatant! Isn't Eric afraid of being photographed?”

“I really want to see what his girlfriend looks like. Look at the back, so simple.”

“I pretended to pass over there to see what his girlfriend looked like.” A woman stood up, “I can't accept Eric falling in love. Unless his girlfriend is very beautiful... .”

After that, the woman pretended to pass by, passing by Eric and Avery.

After seeing Avery's face, the woman was startled.

This woman... why is it so like... Avery? !

Avery didn't want Eric to feed it, but Eric insisted to feed her for fear that she could not see the dishes on the table.

After Avery was forcibly fed a few mouthfuls of vegetables by Eric, she asked him to put the vegetables into her bowl.

“Eric, it's almost time for dinner. There will be more and more guests coming to dinner. You should pay attention to your image.” Avery said, and moved into the sofa to keep a distance from him.

“This is Bridgedale, and not many people know me.” Eric said modestly.

“But Mike said that you are very popular in Bridgedale. You should go and sit opposite! When Hayden comes, Hayden will sit next to me.” Avery said so, and Eric had to go back to the opposite side and sit again.

.....

In the hospital.

Elliot leaned on the hospital bed and closed his eyes.

Chad took the dinner he bought out of the bag and opened it. He received a call from Norah Jones last night. After hearing that Elliot had fainted, he immediately came with his bodyguard.

Chad: "Boss, please have some porridge!"

Chad held the porridge and asked, "Do you want me to feed you?"

Elliot opened his eyes: "My hands are fine. Leave it alone, I'll eat it later."

"The warm porridge I bought will probably get cold after a while." Chad glanced at the time, and said, "It's half past six."

Elliot sat up straight and picked up the porridge bowl: "Did you tell Mike when you came over?"

"No." Chad took out his dinner from the bag, "I'm here to see you, I don't need to tell him. Why are you thinking of going to Avery? Didn't you really break up with her?"

Elliot: "Mike told you?"

"Well." Chad lowered his eyes, "When the security guard gave them the diary, I...I happened to be talking to Mike on the phone."

Elliot's posture of holding the bowl stiffened.

"Avery has never contacted Layla. Layla is very sad. Layla is my daughter, and I feel sorry for her." Elliot explained the reason.

Chad: "But don't you want Avery to see Layla and Robert?"

"Have I ever said such a thing?" Elliot raised his eyebrows, his pale face showed an angry blush, "I seem to have really treated her to her. You said something like that."

Chad saw that Elliot was angry, and immediately unscrewed a bottle of water and handed it to him: "Boss, I know what you are saying is angry. You drink the water first, and you will be smooth."

"You know. What I said was angry, but she really came with me. She said that if she didn't see the child, she couldn't see the child, how cruel she is!" Elliot was already full of anger.

Chad put the porridge bowl in his hand on the cabinet. he immediately took back the water that was handed over.

If he knew it earlier, he wouldn't talk about Avery.

He doesn't eat in a mood now, and he can only ask the doctor to prescribe him nutrient solution later.

Chad lowered his head silently and ate. Out of the corner of his eye, he was always watching Elliot.

Chad saw that Elliot picked up the phone with a solemn expression on his face.

Looking at Elliot's face, it seems that he intends to block Avery's contact information!

Elliot turned on the phone and didn't want to do anything. Because he's too angry, he used his phone to dispersed his anger.

Unexpectedly, after turning on the phone, Elliot saw a message from Norah Jones.

Norah Jones sent him a few photos and asked him if the woman in the photos was Avery.

Elliot hadn't seen Avery for several months. But the moment he opened the photo, he immediately recognized Avery's figure.

In the photo, Eric was sitting beside her intimately, holding chopsticks and feeding her.

Ah!

He finally understood why Avery insisted on a divorce, and was so heartless towards him and the child! Because she was getting along with Eric!

“Boss, don’t block Avery yet!” Chad thought that his face was so ugly that he was blocking Avery, so he advised, “Anyway, Avery is your child’s biological mother. In the future, for the sake of the child There will be times when you need to get in touch.”

Elliot had blue veins bulging on his forehead and gritted his teeth: “Thank you for reminding me.”

Chad: “???”

“Since Avery is divorced, I have no right to interfere with her anymore. She wants to be with whomever she wants! I don’t care! A woman who can easily empathize and leave love is not worth my sincerity!” Elliot said excitedly, his fingers trembling and he opened the address book and added Avery’s contact number to the blacklist.

Afterwards, he opened major social accounts and moved Avery to the blacklist one after another.

Chad was stunned when he watched his series of operations!

If there was no one in the ward now, Chad really wanted to slap himself to death!

Originally, the boss didn’t want to block Avery, but it’s all his fault that he mentioned this sentence in a whim, which inspired the boss to block Avery!

“Boss, you...” Chad’s heart was cut like a knife, like a sting in his throat.

“Chad, get out!” After Elliot blocked all contact information of Avery, the whole portrait was hollowed out.

He wanted to be alone and quiet.

Chad didn’t want to provoke him, so he immediately took the lunch box and walked out.

Dining room.

After Norah Jones sent Elliot a message, he did not receive any reply.

She didn't know if Elliot didn't see it, or if he saw it and didn't want to go back.

From Norah Jones's observation, Eric seems to be pursuing Avery, but Avery doesn't mean that to Eric.

In fact, as soon as Norah Jones entered this restaurant, he recognized Avery.

She has seen Avery's photos on the Internet and a series of interviews with Avery, so even if she has never seen Avery in real life, she will feel familiar when she sees it in reality.

When the others in the group were surprised who the woman beside Eric was, she had secretly photographed the moment of their intimate feeding.

She admits she's scheming, but doing so makes her happy.

Avery has been by Elliot's side for so many years, and gave birth to three children for Elliot, but she still failed to stay by Elliot's side in the end.

What does this mean? Show that they are not the right people.

A successful man was bound to experience many women.

But in the end, there was only one person who accompanied him to his old age.

Norah Jones felt that she would be the woman who would accompany Elliot to his old age. Because she was smarter, wiser, and understands what men need.

3 days later.

Gwen and Eric finished filming the promotional video of the car brand, and then successfully got the endorsement contract of the car brand.

After signing the contract, Gwen paid out of her own pocket and invited everyone to dinner.

The security guard at the gate recognized Elliot and took the initiative to chat with him.

“You are the husband of Miss Tate, the owner of Building 13, right? I still remember you.”

Elliot’s eyes flashed with embarrassment: “we are Divorced.”

“Oh... No wonder I haven’t seen Miss Tate come back recently.” The security guard Saying that, he took out a visitor registration form, “Do you still want to go in?”

“Avery doesn’t live here recently?” Elliot took the booklet, but did not fill in the information immediately.

Security guard: “I’ve patrolled several times during the day and saw that the door of her house is closed. But it’s hard to say. Maybe Miss Tate has been resting at home all the time. She seems to be sick and may be resting at home.”

After listening to the security guard’s words, Elliot Fill out the visitor information on the brochure now.

“When did you hear she was sick?” Elliot asked casually.

“About two months ago! At that time, there was a new nanny in her family. I chatted with that person a few words. The person said it was a nurse and came to take care of Miss Tate.” The security guard said and wrote him down took a look at the booklet.

Then the door was opened for him.

Elliot listened to the security guard’s words in his heart, and strode into the community.

Avery fell ill two months ago and invited a nurse to take care of her at home.

It seemed that she was very ill at the time.

If she was not seriously ill, she would never ask a nurse to come to take care of her at home.

But Elliot hadn't heard of it at all.

He strode towards Avery's villa.

As the security guard said, the door of her villa was closed.

The yard looked like it had been left unattended for a long time, and it was relatively deserted.

There was no private clothes drying on the balcony of the courtyard on the first floor and the second floor, and every door that could be seen was tightly closed.

There was absolutely no trace of life to be seen.

Elliot stood in the sun and waited for a while, not knowing what he was waiting for.

Obviously he could ring the doorbell to determine if there was anyone at home.

But he didn't. His intuition had already told him that there was no one at home, and Avery was not here.

Where has Avery gone?

After staying for another ten minutes, Elliot left from the door of the villa.

...

Mike hurried back to the resort from the company, Avery's mood has returned to normal.

"Mike, I'm fine." Avery said calmly, "I just heard someone say that my company will be trampled under their feet, and it's a little uncomfortable."

"Who said that? Who said this?!" Mike roared in anger.

"The people around her call her President Jones." Avery replied, "This woman is now fully in charge of the Tate Industries's affairs, and is planning to open a branch in Bridgedale."

"Norah Jones!" Mike said the woman's name, "She was brought back by Elliot himself. I don't know if the two of them knew each other before. Elliot trusted her very much.”

Avery felt a pain in her temples when she thought of competing head-to-head with this woman.

“I didn’t expect her to live here too. Why don’t we change places!” Mike said. they don’t know how long Norah Jones will stay here. If Norah comes here this time, it is for the purpose of setting up a branch office, maybe ten days and a half months.

If they continued to live here, there was a very high possibility that you would meet Norah Jones next.

Mike wasn’t afraid of Norah Jones, but he was worried that Avery would feel bad when she met her.

Avery was silent for a moment, then replied, “Let’s go home! The stitches will be removed soon, so it’s time to go back.”

“Okay. Let’s go back today.”

At noon, after having lunch at the resort, they set off for home.

After more than an hour, the car drove into the community.

The car stopped at the door of the villa, and they got out of the car.

Coincidentally, the patrolling security came over in a patrol car.

“Miss Tate, your ex-husband came to look for you in the morning. He didn’t see you, so he left something in the security room. I’ll bring it to you now.”

Chapter 1741

The security guard at the gate recognized Elliot and took the initiative to chat with him.

“You are the husband of Miss Tate, the owner of Building 13, right? I still remember you.”

Elliot’s eyes flashed with embarrassment: “we are Divorced.”

“Oh... No wonder I haven't seen Miss Tate come back recently.” The security guard saying that, he took out a visitor registration form, “Do you still want to go in?”

“Avery doesn't live here recently?” Elliot took the booklet, but did not fill in the information immediately.

Security guard: “I've patrolled several times during the day and saw that the door of her house is closed. But it's hard to say. Maybe Miss Tate has been resting at home all the time. She seems to be sick and may be resting at home.”

After listening to the security guard's words, Elliot fill out the visitor information on the brochure now.

“When did you hear she was sick?” Elliot asked casually.

“About two months ago! At that time, there was a new nanny in her family. I chatted with that person a few words. The person said it was a nurse and came to take care of Miss Tate.” The security guard said and wrote him down took a look at the booklet.

Then the door was opened for him.

Elliot listened to the security guard's words in his heart, and strode into the community.

Chapter 1742

Avery was stunned.

ex-husband?

Come to see her in the morning?

Is it Elliot?

Mike opened the villa door, helped Avery into the house, and called Chad.

"Why didn't you tell me in advance that your boss came to Bridgedale?" Mike felt that Elliot was a bad visitor!

Chad said in surprise: "My boss has gone to Bridgedale?! I don't know! He only said to rest for a few days, but he didn't say he was going to Bridgedale!"

Mike: "D*mn it! This old man is holding back some bad tricks?"

Chad: "Since he didn't disclose his itinerary, it means it's his private itinerary. It's impossible for him to do a private itinerary. Maybe he just wanted to find Avery?"

Mike: "He did find it. He also found a home. The door is coming. Fortunately, we lived in a resort before, but not at home."

"D*mn, you live in a resort? Why didn't you tell me?" Chad was also stunned.

Mike: "What if I told you, you told your boss?"

"You can't trust me so much?" Chad became even more angry, "Then don't call me in the future!"

Mike: "Hey! That's not what I meant, I just wanted Avery to rest well, so no one said anything."

"You don't need to explain, I don't want to hear it." Chad scratched his head.

It was after four o'clock in the morning. He was woken up by Mike's phone call.

He already had a headache, and what Mike said was really unpleasant, so the headache was even worse.

"Okay, then you can continue to sleep!" Mike heard his breathing a little heavy, and realized that it was early morning over there, and suddenly softened, "By the way, your boss brought something over and put it at the community security. I don't know what it is."

If Mike sincerely wanted Chad to continue sleeping, he shouldn't have said the latter.

Chad also wanted to know what Elliot had brought to the security guard.

"Don't hang up, wait until you tell me what it is." Chad turned on the phone handsfree, then took the phone to the bathroom.

After a while, the security guard brought a document bag over.

Mike took the file bag and walked to Avery.

"Bag?" Avery reached out and took the file bag from him.

Mike closed the door of the villa, worried that Elliot would come again.

Avery opened the file bag and took out a few pieces of paper.

On the paper, there were dense texts.

“Mike, read it to me.” Avery handed the paper to Mike.

At this time, the nurse stepped back wisely.

What if this is a classified document?

Mike took the paper and read it without looking closely: “Today is the third day of Mom and Dad’s divorce, and I can’t help but cry. It’s all because of my dad. He’s a bad guy, if it weren’t for him, my mom would be won’t go. My mother loves me very much. She wanted to take me and my brother away, but the bad father wouldn’t let me. What can I do now? I want to go away alone, but Robert is still so young, what should Robert do? What to do? I can’t take him with me. He will hug me after a while. If I take him with me, we won’t go far.”

Mike finished reading the diary and couldn’t help laughing: “This is Layla’s diary, right? It’s really good that Layla can write such a long diary now.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing. She just felt sad.

“Do you still read the rest? It’s all Layla’s diaries. There are several!” Mike glanced at all the papers.

It was Elliot who photographed Layla’s diary with his mobile phone and then printed it out.

Maybe Layla didn’t even know that her diary was secretly photographed.

But what did Elliot want to do?

Did he let Avery see Layla’s diary, and wanted Avery to go back to Aryadelle to see Layla?

Didn’t he say before that Avery would not be allowed to see Layla and Robert?

Chapter 1743

“Stop reading.” Avery stretched out her hand and took back all the paper, “I’ll read it myself later.”

“Well. You can also wait for your eyes to look better.” Mike gave the paper to Avery and said, “Elliot brought this to you to let you know about the child’s situation! Why is he so kind?”

“I don’t know.” Avery really couldn’t guess what Elliot was thinking. She also wondered how Elliot could be so kind.

Avery didn’t take a nap at noon today, she was a little dizzy, so she took Layla’s diary and went back to her room.

Mike picked up the phone and saw that the call didn’t hang up, so he put it in his ear: “Did you hear it just now?”

“Well.” On the other side of the phone, Chad’s heart was a little heavy, “How’s Avery’s eyes?”

Mike said, “It can be seen clearly within one meter, and gradually blurred beyond one meter.”

Chad: “Oh...it’s okay. It should be able to recover slowly next time?”

Mike: “Well.”

“When her eyes recover, will she go back to Aryadelle to see Layla and Robert?”

Chad asked.

Chad was very distressed when he heard Layla’s diary just now. Usually, he occasionally visited Layla and Robert. The two children looked fine, but Layla was so sad inside.

Mike: “Does Elliot allow Avery to see the child?”

Chad took a breath: “I don’t know. I really don’t know. I haven’t heard the boss mention this at all, and I don’t dare to ask. He looks very unhappy every day, who Dare to ask!”

“Wait for Avery, let’s see how she decides! I rarely talk to her about the future.”

Mike didn't dare to talk at all, for fear that she would cry.

Before her eyesight was restored, Mike just wanted her to rest in peace and recover from her injury.

In the bedroom.

Avery walked to the desk and put her daughter's diary under the lamp. She desperately wanted to know what was in her daughter's heart.

After she struggled to read all the diaries, her mood was not as depressed as at the beginning.

The diary that Mike read just now was the first one written by her daughter after she left, so that diary was the saddest.

In the following diary, her daughter kept cheering herself up, doing psychological construction, and making herself braver.

Avery was very pleased that her daughter was so strong, and at the same time felt sorry for her.

If there was no change in the family, the daughter did not need to be so strong.

Avery lifted her head up to keep the tears from falling.

She needs to recover quickly, and when her eyes recover, whether she returns to Aryadelle to find her child or picks up her child to meet in Bridgedale, it will be better than thinking so hard.

In the living room, Mike and Chad finished talking on the phone. Mike's mouth was dry. When he was looking for a water glass, the phone rang suddenly.

He picked up the phone and saw Elliot's call. At this moment, he was stunned. He didn't expect Elliot to call. After Avery and Elliot divorced, Elliot never called him.

Mike took a deep breath and answered the phone.

Elliot: "The security guard told me that you are home."

When Elliot handed the document to the security guard, he left his number and asked the security guard to give Avery the document and call him back.

The security just called Elliot back. So Elliot dialed Avery's number again, but still couldn't get through.

He resisted the unhappiness in his heart, and the awkwardness in his heart, and dialed Mike's number.

"What are you doing here with Layla's diary? Does Layla know you secretly photographed her diary?" Mike took the phone and went back to his room.

Elliot didn't answer the question, but instead asked: "What kind of illness did Avery have two months ago? He actually needs to hire a nurse."

Chapter 1744

Mike was turned over by him on this question!

How dare Elliot ask this question?

–Avery's eyes are almost healed. Doesn't Elliot feel uncomfortable when he comes back to pretend to care about Avery? Or that Elliot had already found out that Avery's eyes were getting better, so he came here?

–Before Elliot heard Avery say that her eyes were blind, did Elliot think that if he was blind, he could not be cured, so he treated her so ruthlessly?

Various thoughts appeared in Mike's mind.

"Are you caring about her? It's ridiculous." Mike said sarcastically. "If you really care about her, then you give her the custody of Layla and Robert! Give her back her Tate Industries! If you can do When it's over, call me again!"

Elliot was irritated by his rude demands. And said, "Mike, I didn't expect you to be so ignorant."

"Who are you scolding! Did I beg you to call me? Did I beg you to come to Avery's house?" Mike laughed mercilessly, "You are so old. Can you take care of yourself? After you divorced Avery, has Avery contacted you? Is it not? What's the matter?”

“Yes, I’m a jerk!” Elliot gritted his teeth, his face was ashen, and he hung up the phone. Indeed he was rude.

–Elliot and Avery parted ways long ago and drew a clear line.

–Elliot said that he would not show her Layla and Robert in the future unless she came to beg him.

–It is estimated that Avery was furious to death after listening to him. So it is even more impossible to bow to him.

–As for Avery’s illness, she didn’t tell Elliot, and she doesn’t need his extra care.

Elliot put down his phone, walked to the refrigerator, and took out a bottle of ice water. He needed to calm down now.

He drank half a bottle of ice water, and the dry heat in his body finally subsided.

Not long after, there was a convulsion in his stomach, and he immediately leaned on the bed and bent down.

After Elliot came to Bridgedale, he hadn’t eaten yet. Originally, his stomach was not very good. He just drank the ice water, which was like killing him.

He didn’t bring a bodyguard or stomach medicine. Now he can’t move because of the pain, so he can only endure it and wait for the pain to pass.

At 7:00 p.m.

Avery really couldn’t hold back her thoughts about her child. She called Layla for the video call.

Layla saw her mother’s call and took it immediately.

Avery: “Layla!”

Avery saw her daughter lying on the bed, with loose hair and a small face.

Compared with before, her facial features were more three-dimensional, and her daughter seemed to have grown up a lot.

Avery couldn't hide her excitement, she was happy, but also full of guilt.

Layla: "Mom!"

Layla saw her mother's familiar face and stood up from the bed excitedly, "Mom, is it really you? I didn't dream?"

"Layla, you didn't dream. Mom saw what you wrote's diary was brought by your father to show me." Avery tried hard to calm down, "Mom feels sorry for you. So your mom made a video for you and wanted to say sorry to you."

Layla's face was originally With a smile, after listening to her mother's words, her tears burst out instantly.

Feelings of grievance took over her sanity.

"Mom, I miss you so much! I want to live with you, but I don't want to be with my father." Layla rubbed her eyes and pursed her mouth, "Why haven't you called me for so long? I really I'm so angry! But if you call me now, I'll forgive you."

Chapter 1745

Avery wanted to find a reason to answer her daughter, but couldn't find a suitable reason.

Her daughter was no longer a child of two or three years old, and the reason was too false to deceive her.

"Layla, your mother was sick before, and the doctor told her not to play with her phone, so she made you a video call now but now she is also sick too." Avery answered her daughter half-truth, "Mom's illness is not serious, and it is now healed. Originally, your mother wanted to go back to Aryadelle to find you and your brother, but your father won't let me find you."

"Woohoo! Bad dad. He won't let you come to me and Robert, so I'll take Robert to you." Layla frowned. Se said fiercely, "I'm not afraid of him!"

Avery said, "Layla, your studies are more important now. When you have winter vacation, you can come to Bridgedale to find your mother, okay? When the time comes I'll ask Hayden to pick you up, or you can ask your uncle Eric to bring you here. You can study hard now. Robert is too young to take him abroad. Can we discuss it when you are on winter vacation?"

Layla stretched her hands to wipe her tears: "Okay mom, can you make video call me every day in the future? If you can't every day, you can called me every two days!"

Avery thought for a while and replied: "If it's convenient for you in the future, you can call mom. Mom's phone will be turned on in the future."

Layla: "You don't want dad to see our video call, right?"

"Well. I don't want to quarrel with him." Avery explained the reason, "Because you and Robert are still living by his side, Mom doesn't want to conflict with him."

Layla: "Mom, what can I do?"

Layla really wanted to do something to change the current situation.

"As long as you are healthy, study hard, unite with Robert, and grow up obediently, that's fine." Avery knew that her daughter wanted to leave Elliot and come to her side, but there was no way to do that at the moment.

Layla pursed her mouth and felt uncomfortable for a while, and asked, "Mom, do you want to see Robert?"

Avery didn't think about it: "Well, your mother misses him too."

"Wait!" Layla took the phone, got out of bed quickly, and ran towards her brother's room.

Robert was still sleeping.

Layla climbed onto Robert's bed and pointed the camera at Robert.

"Look Mom, Robert is still sleeping." Layla straightened Robert's little face on the side, "Look at him, has he grown up too?"

Avery looked at Robert's chubby little face and endured it. She could n't stop smiling: "Layla, let Robert sleep! It's time for you to get up and go to school."

"Mom, I can't bear to hang up." Layla reluctantly parted.

Avery was reluctant to hang up, but after watching the screen for a while, her eyes began to swell. She can't look at her phone anymore.

"Mom has a stomachache and has to go to the bathroom." After making an excuse, Avery hung up the video.

After she finished the video, Mike pushed open her door. Just now Avery was speaking, and Mike heard it outside.

"I made a video call for Layla." Avery saw him come in and said frankly, "I finished reading Layla's diary, and I couldn't hold back."

"It's okay. I'm worried about your eyes." Mike could understand her videotaping Layla.

It was because his eyes were sick that he couldn't help but start playing with his mobile phone long ago.

Avery: "My eyes are a little swollen. I'm going to rest."

"Then go to sleep. I'll come in and see, it's all right." Mike stood at the door and didn't come in, "By the way, Elliot called me today. I know where I heard the news, and know that our family hired a nurse. He called me to ask me what was wrong with you, and you asked for a nurse. I scolded him. "

Avery was shocked.

"Don't you think I shouldn't scold him?" Mike scratched his head, "I couldn't be mad at the time! While he was going to ruin your career, he pretended to care about your health. I've never seen such a bad man."

Chapter 1746

"Mike, now Layla and Robert are still living by his side, I want to avoid conflict with him as much as possible.” Avery expressed his thoughts, “If he can really ruin my career, then I admit it. You don’t have to curse him for that.”

“You are so cowardly!” Mike complained, “Don’t underestimate Layla! If Elliot makes Layla anxious, Layla will resist. Don’t think Elliot will treat the child badly because of your grievances and grievances with you, and that’s his child too!”

Mike’s words made Avery wake up a bit. In fact, Avery knew in her heart, she just didn’t want to gamble.

It’s like Avery didn’t expect Elliot to be so unfeeling towards her, and she was bent on ruining her career. She was worried that Elliot would go crazy and lose his mind.

“You have a good rest! Don’t think too much about it. If he really treats Layla and Robert badly in the future, I will find a way to grab the two children. You can rest assured that I am here.” Mike saw her hesitant expression , so comfort.

“Mike, thanks to you for this period of time.” Avery thanked him and continued, “it was very difficult, because with you by my side, I’m always full of hope.”

Mike: “What’s there to thank. If I get sick? Now, you will also take care of me.”

Avery: “Well.”

“That’s okay, don’t say thank you to me in the future. If Elliot finds you again, you don’t have to be polite to him. Even if AN Technology goes bankrupt, we don’t need to look at his face. I am so much the way to make money, I will support you.”

Mike gave her confidence.

She couldn’t help laughing: “I’ll be able to support myself when my eyes are healed. I won’t be so miserable.”

Mike: “I know. I Just wanted to know what you have in mind.”

Bridgedale.

At 1:00 a.m.

Elliot was rushed to the hospital closest to the hotel. He had a stomach attack in the afternoon and fainted in the room. Because he came alone, no one knew his situation in time.

After Chad found out through Mike that he was going to Bridgedale, he called him, but he didn't get through. Chad then called his bodyguard. Knowing that Elliot went to Bridgedale alone, he inevitably began to worry about his life in Bridgedale.

In the evening, Chad called him again, but he still couldn't get through.

Thinking that Norah Jones was on a business trip in Bridgedale, Chad called Norah Jones and asked Norah Jones to find him.

Norah Jones immediately went to the hotel where Elliot was staying. Because he couldn't get through to Elliot's phone number. Norah Jones found the manager of the housekeeping department and hoped that the manager could open Elliot's door.

Of course, the room manager did not agree to Norah Jones's request.

Elliot was the VIP of the hotel. Without his permission, the manager would not dare to open the door of his room casually.

Norah Jones grinded with the manager of the housekeeping department for several hours, and finally Norah Jones got angry and said that if something happened to Elliot, the manager should be fully blamed.

The manager turned pale with fright, and then opened Elliot's room.

Unexpectedly, Elliot really had an accident.

The manager called an ambulance, and Elliot was quickly taken to the hospital.

After Elliot was sent to the emergency room, Norah Jones had time to call Chad back.

"Chad, it's fortunate that you called me, otherwise Elliot would be in trouble."

Norah Jones had a lingering fear, "Elliot fainted in the hotel room. I don't know why he fainted. When I was in the ambulance, When I touched his hand, it was cold. But don't worry, he is still breathing."

Chad was frightened: "How could this be?! Why did he faint? Could it be hypoglycemia?"

Chapter 1747

"Why did Elliot come here alone? If you didn't call me and if I didn't open his room in time...I can't imagine the consequences." Norah Jones was frightened.

Chad's face was heavy, "He went to Bridgedale this time to find Avery, so he didn't let anyone follow him."

Norah: "No wonder! Then did he find Avery? I heard that Avery has disappeared for the past few months. ..."

Chad wanted to say that Avery was sick, but held back.

Now the whole company is spreading gossip about Elliot and Norah Jones.

Although this is all nonsense, Chad thinks that Norah Jones may not have this heart.

So Chad didn't need to tell Norah Jones about Avery.

Chad: "I also heard that he was looking for Avery. I'm not sure if he really did.

After he divorced Avery, he never mentioned Avery to me again."

"Oh... ..Do you think his fainting might have something to do with Avery?" Norah Jones guessed, "He seems to be in good health, why did he faint for no reason?"

Chad corrected her: "My boss is not as healthy as you think. He just looks strong, but he actually has a lot of hidden illnesses."

Chad said this deliberately, hoping to persuade Norah Jones to quit.

Although the boss and Avery have divorced, Chad can feel that the boss has no interest in women and will not marry any woman again.

"What hidden illness does he have?" Norah Jones asked.

"This is his privacy, and it is not convenient for me to disclose it." Chad made excuses to prevaricate.

“Okay! But he can have so many children with Avery, which shows that he is a normal man.” Norah Jones was having fun, “this is already a good advantage.”

“Ms. Jones, the man you have experienced before is a bad?” Chad teased.

“Maybe I’m out of luck! I’ve never met a normal man before.” Norah Jones said here, and changed the subject, “I’m a little sleepy, I’m going to have a cigarette. I’ll contact you when Elliot wakes up. “

“Okay, thank you for your hard work.” Chad always felt that something was wrong, and when he was about to hang up, he recalled, “Ms. Jones, did my boss allow you to call him by his first name?”

Norah Jones was stunned for a moment: “I haven’t discussed this issue with him. Because I think I’m the same age as him, so I called him Elliot directly, and he didn’t correct me. What’s the matter? Can’t I call him that? It was he who told you in private Have you mentioned this?”

“Not really. It’s just that recently our company has been spreading gossip about you and my boss. If these gossips get to the boss, he will definitely be angry. He hates gossip with female subordinates the most. I told you this because I was afraid that these little things would affect your future.” Chad reminded her.

Norah Jones: “Chad, thank you for reminding me. But I think you think too much. It’s their business to talk about the employees of your company. Is it possible to keep their mouths shut? Besides, didn’t the former manager of the PR department of your company have been ambiguous with Elliot for many years?”

Chad’s voice was a little cold: “Then do you know how she died?”

Norah Jones: “I would like to hear the details.”

“It’s better that you don’t know. I’m afraid to scare you.” Chad didn’t want to tangle with her on this topic anymore, “No matter what. Thank you for taking my boss to the hospital so late.”

Norah Jones teased: “He is not only your boss, but also my boss. If you have to thank me, it is he who is thanking me, not you.”

This phone call was in an unpleasant atmosphere. end below.

...

Morning, six o'clock.

Elliot opened his eyes slowly, and a woman's face appeared in front of him.

Chapter 1748

“Mr. Foster, you're awake! I'll call the doctor.” Norah Jones stayed up all night, guarding Elliot by the hospital bed.

The doctor said he had a stomach attack that caused him to faint.

The problem was not serious, but it needed special attention in daily life.

“Why are you here?” Elliot asked hoarsely. After asking the question, he glanced around.

–Is this in the hospital?

“Mr. Foster, you had a stomach ailment and fainted in your hotel room.” Norah Jones explained to him.

Elliot gradually regained his memory.

Yesterday he drank half a bottle of ice water and had a stomach attack. He thought he could get through the pain for a while, but he finally fainted.

“Who called you?” Elliot asked cautiously.

“Chad called you, but couldn't get through. So he called me and let me come to you.” Norah Jones continued, “He told me the hotel you stayed in. The hotel manager didn't want to open your room without authorization but because I couldn't get through to your phone, I was worried that you had an accident, so I forced the manager to open the door.”

“Thank you.” After saying these two words, Elliot closed his eyes.

Norah Jones said, “I’m going to call the doctor” and left the ward.

After a while, the doctor came over to check his condition.

“Mr. Foster, your stomach problem was a little serious. It shouldn’t be after you came to Bridgedale. In your case, you should take long-term medication. Did you not take medication yesterday?” The doctor asked, “You must eat on time, small and frequent meals. Take medicine on time, so that you can gradually recover.”

Elliot listened to the doctor’s words, his face was very cold: “Prescribe me some medicine.”

“You are hospitalized first. When you are discharged, I will prescribe medicine for you. “

Hospital?” Elliot frowned.

“Mr. Foster, you need to be hospitalized for at least a week. You have acute gastritis, gastric ulcer, duodenal ulcer...”

“Stop talking.” Elliot didn’t want to hear it.

Norah Jones stood beside him and saw his impatient face, so she comforted him:

“Mr. Foster, you should listen to the doctor! You fainted yesterday...”

“I’m already awake and I am feeling very good now. OK.” He wanted to leave the hospital.

Doctor: “That’s because you lost the medicine all night. Your lady friend took care of you all night.”

Elliot didn’t refute any more. He came here alone. If he was forcibly discharged from the hospital and something happened later, it would only be more troublesome.

...

After Avery made a video call with her daughter last night, her whole mental state was turned on.

When eating breakfast in the morning, Mike saw the corners of his mouth rise and couldn't help teasing her: "Layla doesn't blame you, right?"

"Well. My daughter is obedient, sensible, and considerate." Avery was particularly moved.

"What does it have to do with you. If Elliot hadn't relied on his power in Aryadelle to occupy Layla and Robert, how could you have given up on them?" Mike comforted her, "By the way, Eric called me last night and said he had a job to come here."

Avery: "That's good! But why did he call you?"

"Haha, because he didn't know you started using your cell phone. He called me just to let me tell you." Mike held up the milk cup, and continued, "He said he had a cooperation with Gwen. I don't know the specifics. You can ask him when he comes."

"Gwen has a cooperation?" Avery was surprised. The two of them were people in two fields, and she never thought that the two of them would cooperate.

Chapter 1749

Mike guesses: "It must be Eric who wants to help Gwen. You can think of it with your toes. Eric is very popular in Bridgedale. Gwen is just a newcomer model who has just debuted for half a year. Now Eric has come to work with her and can help her improve several grades. "

Avery nodded.

"Did Elliot call you?" Mike asked.

"No." She said, then changed her words, "He called yesterday morning, when my phone was off."

Mike: "Don't call him back. I scolded him yesterday, and he was so angry that he hung up. If you take the initiative Go and contact him, he will definitely not give you a good attitude.”

Avery: “Well.”

In the afternoon, Eric arrived in Bridgedale.

He carried his luggage directly and checked into Avery’s house.

He was more worried about Avery’s eyes.

“I’m much better. I made a video call for Layla yesterday.” Avery gave him a point of concern, “Look, I can take care of myself now.”

“Don’t listen to Avery so good. She can only watch to you now. she can’t see me clearly.” Mike sat far away from Avery, so he joked with Eric.

“Mike, is it time for you to go to work?” Avery said.

Mike sighed and got up from the sofa: “As soon as Eric comes, you think I’m superfluous. I’ll go, I’ll go.”

Mike went to the door to change his shoes, and then shouted: “Let’s go out to eat later in the evening. It’s been a long time since I ate out, so I’ll book a seat. Avery, how are you?”

Avery is fine, but it depends on Eric’s inconvenience.

After all, Mike said that he is very popular in Bridgedale. If he doesn’t want to go out to eat, he must respect his intentions.

“I’m fine.” Eric saw Avery’s eyes on him, and immediately said, “You haven’t been out for a long time, haven’t you? Go out to eat that night.”

“Okay.”

After discussing it, Mike went out.

Eric walked to where Mike was sitting and asked, “I’m sitting here, can not you really see me?”

“I can. It’s just not so clear.” Avery changed the subject, “You come here this time to cooperate with Gwen, did you deliberately want to help Gwen?"

"It's just an effort." Eric took a fork from the fruit plate and ate the fruit, "Gwen's agent came to me and said that there is a car brand that wants to cooperate with Gwen, but she feels Gwen doesn't have enough influence, so it's best to find an influential male artist."

Avery said, "Eric, if you want to refuse..."

"I've already agreed. The spokesperson is Gwen, and I'm just shooting a film promotion with Gwen." Eric said in a relaxed tone, "I also hope that Gwen can become an international supermodel soon, so that she doesn't have to be angry with the old man anymore."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "You mean Ben Schaffer?"

"Well. The matter with Ben Schaffer is still fresh in my memory." Eric teased, "My first impression of Ben Schaffer is not good. He looks older and more shrewd than Elliot."

Avery: "You will also grow old in the future."

Eric: "At least I won't lie to women like them. What I despise the most is the kind of people who treat women as reproductive tools and don't respect women at all."

Avery said, "Eric, although I divorced Elliot and we were having trouble with child custody, he didn't force me to give birth to the child. He didn't use me as a reproductive tool."

Eric: "It's more clever. He made you have so many children, but he didn't make you feel that he forced you to have them."

Avery: "I only gave birth to a second child."

Eric said, "He forced you to give birth to your second child. I think you are habitually remembering his goodness and ignoring when he treats you badly."

Avery did not refute. There was no need to argue about this issue.

At five o'clock in the afternoon, Mike called Eric and asked him to take Avery to the restaurant he ordered.

After Eric finished talking on the phone, he took Avery out of the door.

Eric asked, "What about the nurse before? Can you really do without a nurse?"

"The nurse has something to do at home. Plus my eyes will get better and better in the future, so I gave a sum of money to her and let her go back to work at home."

Eric said, "You should be fine staying at home now, don't go out alone."

"Well."

The two came to the high-end restaurant that Mike ordered.

There were not many customers in the restaurant.

Mike chose the window seat.

Actually Mike wanted to choose a private room, but unfortunately the private room was already fully booked tonight.

"I used to eat at this restaurant with Mike often. Because this restaurant has more authentic national dishes." Avery explained to Eric.

"I've heard of this restaurant, but I haven't eaten here. If it's not with my good friends, I don't really like to eat out." Eric took off his hat and sunglasses at the same time.

Looking at his handsome face close at hand, Avery couldn't help sighing: "Eric, you don't seem to have changed much. You have always been so young and handsome."

Avery felt that she had been mentally tired in the past two years.

Especially after giving birth to the child in autumn, she felt that the physical function had decreased significantly.

"It's important to stay in a good mood." Eric told her the secret of staying in shape.

"I'll try my best not to worry so much." Avery said with a smile.

At this time, the waiter came over and asked if the food needed to be served immediately.

"Have you ordered all the dishes?" Avery asked.

"Yes. The gentleman who made the reservation ordered the dishes in advance."

The waiter showed Avery the menu that Mike ordered.

"I'll call and ask." Avery took out her mobile phone and dialed Mike.

Mike answered the phone quickly: "Have you been to the restaurant? If you are, then you should eat first. I'm picking up Hayden. It may take a while."

"Have you received Hayden?" Avery asked.

Mike: "Not yet. There's a bit of traffic jam on the road today. You eat first. When Hayden and I arrive, we can order food."

From Mike's side, there was a constant whistle blowing. It seems to be really crowded there.

After talking on the phone, Avery asked the waiter to serve the food first.

Soon, the waiter came to serve the dish with a tray.

At this time, at the door of the restaurant, a group of people walked in and prepared to eat.

After they sat down in the window seat, a woman spotted Eric with sharp eyes.

Eric and Avery are sitting right in front of them.

Eric was facing them, while Avery was behind them.

So at a glance, The woman can clearly see Eric's face.

His facial features are really outstanding! Like a prince in a comic book coming out of the book.

Look, it seems to be Eric!" The woman whispered, reminding her companion, "He is actually dating a woman! Is that woman his girlfriend?!"

Everyone's eyes turned to Eric.

They saw that Eric stood up from the sofa and walked towards the woman he was dating.

The two sat together.

Not only that, but Eric actually picked up chopsticks and served vegetables to the woman beside him, and even wanted to feed them to woman.

Chapter 1751

"F*ck! They actually feed in public... This is too blatant! Isn't Eric afraid of being photographed?"

"I really want to see what his girlfriend looks like. Look at the back, so simple."

"I pretended to pass over there to see what his girlfriend looked like." A woman stood up, "I can't accept Eric falling in love. Unless his girlfriend is very beautiful... ."

After that, the woman pretended to pass by, passing by Eric and Avery.

After seeing Avery's face, the woman was startled.

This woman... why is it so like... Avery? !

Avery didn't want Eric to feed it, but Eric insisted to feed her for fear that she could not see the dishes on the table.

After Avery was forcibly fed a few mouthfuls of vegetables by Eric, she asked him to put the vegetables into her bowl.

"Eric, it's almost time for dinner. There will be more and more guests coming to dinner. You should pay attention to your image." Avery said, and moved into the sofa to keep a distance from him.

"This is Bridgedale, and not many people know me." Eric said modestly.

"But Mike said that you are very popular in Bridgedale. You should go and sit opposite! When Hayden comes, Hayden will sit next to me.” Avery said so, and Eric had to go back to the opposite side and sit again.

.....

In the hospital.

Elliot leaned on the hospital bed and closed his eyes.

Chad took the dinner he bought out of the bag and opened it. He received a call from Norah Jones last night. After hearing that Elliot had fainted, he immediately came with his bodyguard.

Chad: “Boss, please have some porridge!”

Chad held the porridge and asked, “Do you want me to feed you?”

Elliot opened his eyes: “My hands are fine. Leave it alone, I’ll eat it later.”

“The warm porridge I bought will probably get cold after a while.” Chad glanced at the time, and said, “It’s half past six.”

Elliot sat up straight and picked up the porridge bowl: “Did you tell Mike when you came over?”

“No.” Chad took out his dinner from the bag, “I’m here to see you, I don’t need to tell him. Why are you thinking of going to Avery? Didn’t you really break up with her?”

Elliot: “Mike told you?”

“Well.” Chad lowered his eyes, “When the security guard gave them the diary, I...I happened to be talking to Mike on the phone.”

Elliot’s posture of holding the bowl stiffened.

“Avery has never contacted Layla. Layla is very sad. Layla is my daughter, and I feel sorry for her.” Elliot explained the reason.

Chad: “But don’t you want Avery to see Layla and Robert?”

“Have I ever said such a thing?” Elliot raised his eyebrows, his pale face showed an angry blush, "I seem to have really treated her to her. You said something like that."

Chad saw that Elliot was angry, and immediately unscrewed a bottle of water and handed it to him: "Boss, I know what you are saying is angry. You drink the water first, and you will be smooth."

"You know. What I said was angry, but she really came with me. She said that if she didn't see the child, she couldn't see the child, how cruel she is!" Elliot was already full of anger.

Chad put the porridge bowl in his hand on the cabinet. he immediately took back the water that was handed over.

If he knew it earlier, he wouldn't talk about Avery.

He doesn't eat in a mood now, and he can only ask the doctor to prescribe him nutrient solution later.

Chad lowered his head silently and ate. Out of the corner of his eye, he was always watching Elliot.

Chad saw that Elliot picked up the phone with a solemn expression on his face.

Looking at Elliot's face, it seems that he intends to block Avery's contact information!

Elliot turned on the phone and didn't want to do anything. Because he's too angry, he used his phone to dispersed his anger.

Unexpectedly, after turning on the phone, Elliot saw a message from Norah Jones.

Norah Jones sent him a few photos and asked him if the woman in the photos was Avery.

Elliot hadn't seen Avery for several months. But the moment he opened the photo, he immediately recognized Avery's figure.

Ah!

He finally understood why Avery insisted on a divorce, and was so heartless towards him and the child! Because she was getting along with Eric!

“Boss, don’t block Avery yet!” Chad thought that his face was so ugly that he was blocking Avery, so he advised, “Anyway, Avery is your child’s biological mother. In the future, for the sake of the child There will be times when you need to get in touch.”

Elliot had blue veins bulging on his forehead and gritted his teeth: “Thank you for reminding me.”

Chad: “???”

“Since Avery is divorced, I have no right to interfere with her anymore. She wants to be with whomever she wants! I don’t care! A woman who can easily empathize and leave love is not worth my sincerity!” Elliot said excitedly, his fingers trembling and he opened the address book and added Avery’s contact number to the blacklist.

Afterwards, he opened major social accounts and moved Avery to the blacklist one after another.

Chad was stunned when he watched his series of operations!

If there was no one in the ward now, Chad really wanted to slap himself to death!

Originally, the boss didn’t want to block Avery, but it’s all his fault that he mentioned this sentence in a whim, which inspired the boss to block Avery!

“Boss, you...” Chad’s heart was cut like a knife, like a sting in his throat.

“Chad, get out!” After Elliot blocked all contact information of Avery, the whole portrait was hollowed out.

He wanted to be alone and quiet.

Chad didn't want to provoke him, so he immediately took the lunch box and walked out.

Dining room.

After Norah Jones sent Elliot a message, he did not receive any reply.

She didn't know if Elliot didn't see it, or if he saw it and didn't want to go back.

From Norah Jones's observation, Eric seems to be pursuing Avery, but Avery doesn't mean that to Eric.

In fact, as soon as Norah Jones entered this restaurant, he recognized Avery.

She has seen Avery's photos on the Internet and a series of interviews with Avery, so even if she has never seen Avery in real life, she will feel familiar when she sees it in reality.

When the others in the group were surprised who the woman beside Eric was, she had secretly photographed the moment of their intimate feeding.

She admits she's scheming, but doing so makes her happy.

Avery has been by Elliot's side for so many years, and gave birth to three children for Elliot, but she still failed to stay by Elliot's side in the end.

What does this mean? Show that they are not the right people.

A successful man was bound to experience many women.

But in the end, there was only one person who accompanied him to his old age.

Norah Jones felt that she would be the woman who would accompany Elliot to his old age. Because she was smarter, wiser, and understands what men need.

3 days later.

Gwen and Eric finished filming the promotional video of the car brand, and then successfully got the endorsement contract of the car brand.

After signing the contract, Gwen paid out of her own pocket and invited everyone to dinner.

Chapter 1753

“Eric, are you leaving tomorrow?” Gwen poured wine for him.

Eric’s agent was here tonight. Originally, his agent would not let him drink, but Eric was in high spirits and insisted on having a drink.

“Tomorrow I’m going to start a revolving life again. If I don’t let me drink this glass of wine, I won’t return to Aryadelle tomorrow.” Eric threatened his agent.

“Aren’t you afraid that your face will be swollen tomorrow?” The agent sighed.

“On the plane tomorrow, don’t be afraid.” Eric picked up the glass and took a sip.

“Avery, take care of Eric as he’s a bad drinker.” The agent had no choice but to ask Avery for help.

Avery didn’t want to force Eric. She said to the agent, “If Eric doesn’t work tomorrow, let him drink some if he wants! As long as he doesn’t drink too much, it’s actually fine.”

“Did you hear? Avery said it’s fine.” Eric said to the agent with a smiley face.

At this time, Gwen poured herself a glass of wine, raised the glass, and wanted to pay respects to Eric: “Eric, thank you very much for flying over to help me out of your busy schedule. This is the first endorsement contract in my life. I’m really excited.”

“Gwen, you have a job tomorrow.” Lexie, Gwen’s agent, said and reminding, “But you really should respect Eric. If it wasn’t for Eric’s help, it would be difficult for your contract to do so. Hurry up and talk.”

“Gwen, do your best, we will have the opportunity to cooperate in the future.” Eric encouraged her.

“I will work hard. Working with you these past few days, I have learned a lot from you. You are already so good, and your attitude towards work is so serious and dedicated..." Gwen was expressing her emotion. On the table, the screen of her mobile phone suddenly lights up.

Avery sat beside her and saw the call from her mobile phone for the first time.

"Gwen, Ben Schaffer is calling." Avery said.

Mike teased: "Did you two talk on the phone every day? When did you establish your relationship? This old guy Ben Schaffer has two brushes!"

"Mike, there's no need for you to mock Ben Schaffer. In case Gwen really associates with him, how embarrassing Gwen is when you say that about Ben Schaffer!" Avery said strangely.

"If Gwen told me that the two of them were dating, I would definitely keep my mouth shut. I haven't heard of this yet!" Mike looked in the direction where Gwen was walking, "Look at her shy look, shouldn't the two really date?"

"To be honest, I'm very annoying to Ben Schaffer. This person sends me messages almost every day, asking me to take good care of Gwen. He really thinks he is Gwen's father. But Gwen seems to be really like this." Lexie helplessly said.

Gwen took the phone, walked out of the restaurant, and answered the phone:

"Didn't I send you a message that I want to treat you tonight? What are you calling me for? They're all laughing at me."

Ben Schaffer: "They laughed at you? What are you doing? I will call you if I want to, why are you afraid they will know? Am I embarrassed?"

Gwen lowered her head speechlessly, kicking the small stone in front of her:

"Ben, you are so boring. Just hang up if you have nothing to do. "

"I have something to do." Ben Schaffer said, "Didn't you let me stare at your second brother before, if he does anything to Avery, will I tell you in time?"

Gwen was stunned: "What is my second brother's action?"

Ben Schaffer said solemnly, "He gave Norah Jones a lot of money to build a new company in Bridgedale. I thought he was releasing the news that he was going to deal with AN Technology, just to scare Avery, but I didn't expect it. He wants to play for real. I don't know what stimulated him."

Gwen frowned and said anxiously: "What should I do? How can I stop him? Ben Schaffer, can't you persuade him?"

Ben: "Elliot didn't listen to me at all."

Ben Schaffer's words made Gwen feel cold.

She finished talking on the phone and went back to the restaurant.

Seeing Gwen's sadness face, Mike immediately teased: "I said just now that you and Ben Schaffer have already established a relationship, but looking at you now, this is a breakup?"

Gwen pursed her red lips and shook her head vigorously: " Ben Schaffer said that my second brother gave Norah Jones a lot of money to deal with AN Technology."

Chapter 1754

In an instant, the atmosphere at the dinner table changed suddenly.

"Gwen, we are here today to celebrate for you. There is no need to talk about other unhappy things." Avery's mood was relatively calm. "Didn't I say before that Elliot was going to deal with AN Technology? Now he is giving money to Norah Jones, just starting to implement his plan."

Mike's mood was also very calm, after all, he had scolded Elliot for this matter before. Now he didn't want to waste any energy on Elliot.

"Are you all with sullen faces? The sky hasn't fallen yet. Don't you believe me and Avery?" Mike raised his glass, and said with changing his mood, "Come on, let's have a drink together, I wish Gwen a supermodel soon! Please invite us next time and we'll go to a more upscale place to eat a big meal."

Gwen blushed and said: "If I really become a supermodel, I don't know where to invite you to eat. I have never been to a more upscale place than here. "

"It's alright, I'll take everyone there when the time comes. You can just settle the bill." Mike joked, shouting for everyone to drink.

The atmosphere was pulled back immediately.

"Avery, I said something bad. If your AN Technology fails to keep and goes bankrupt, you don't have to be afraid at all." Eric's agent said to Avery, "I especially want to sign Layla. Layla's conditions are really good! Not only she is beautiful, but she is also good at singing and dancing. She seems to be born for the entertainment industry. As long as you agree with Layla to enter the entertainment industry, she will make more money than yours."

Lexie reminded: "Layla followed Elliot. What did you tell Avery about this?"

"I know that Layla followed Elliot, but Layla prefers her mother. In the future, when Layla makes money, she is still afraid. Will she not give her mother flowers?"

Eric's agent said schemingly.

An embarrassed blush appeared on Avery's face: "Thank you for liking my daughter. Her future development depends on her own arrangements. Besides, even if AN Technology goes bankrupt, I will not live on my daughter."

"Hey, that's not what I meant. I'm not saying you've been reduced to living on Layla...I just want to comfort you that you don't have to worry about your future life. No matter what, you have such a great child."

"Don't talk if you can't speak." Eric picked up the bottle and poured wine for the manager.

Avery smiled gently, and said, "Well, I know you are kind enough to comfort me.

Thank you! If the company accidentally goes bankrupt, I should take a good rest for a while, maybe consider raising a cat or a dog, by the way. Plant some flowers and plants.”

Lexie envied, “You are planning to start your retirement life directly! But if I were you, I would retire directly. I don’t know how good your daughter is, all I know is that your son is amazing. I’ve seen countless people in my life, and I’ve never seen someone as smart as your son.”

Avery was a little overwhelmed by the praise.

When others praise her child, it makes her feel more happy than complimenting her directly.

After the meal was over, it was 10:00 P.M.

Mike helped Avery out of the restaurant.

Eric walked with his agent.

Eric wanted to stay at Avery’s house for another night tonight, and the agent showed him tonight’s ticket.

“You have to come to help Gwen, I didn’t say anything, right? The announcement I received before has been delayed for three days. We have to hurry back. You don’t need to take your luggage at Avery’s house, and let Avery send it to you home. It’s alright.”

Eric got a headache from being talked about, and compromised: “I see, I’ll go and tell Avery.”

“When you went to the bathroom just now, I already told her. Let’s go directly!”

After saying, the agent pulled Eric into the car.

After they left, Gwen was also taken away by her manager.

Mike and Avery got into the car, because Mike was drinking, so the bodyguard drove now.

Chapter 1755

After the car drove out, the bodyguard and Mike spoke in unison, they only started and stopped.

“You speak first.” Mike said.

Avery: “Hayden is too busy, I’m worried that his body can’t take it. After all, he is still a child.”

Avery planned to call Hayden for dinner tonight, but Hayden said that he had something to do and couldn’t come.

Mike: “Then when you wait for him to rest, have a good talk with him. Set a time to go home every night.”

Mike also felt that Hayden was working too hard recently. He knew why Hayden did this.

Because of Elliot’s various blows to Avery, Hayden saw it in his eyes and kept it in his heart. He has a strong personality and stronger self-esteem. He must want to do something to deal with Elliot’s blow.

“Well.” Avery answered and asked, “What did you want to say just now?”

Mike shook his head: “I have nothing to say. I think it’s good to have a complete tear with Elliot. I don’t bother anymore. I’m wasting my words for scolding him.”

Avery looked at the neon flashing outside the window and asked, “Do we have no chance of winning?”

“If Elliot wants to kill us, then we really have no chance of winning. After all, his Sterling Group has a lot of blood. He can continue to provide strong financial support for Norah Jones. In addition, the Tate Industries has already been done very well by us. If we knew that he was so unscrupulous, we should not have given up the equity directly.”

Mike regretted a little.

“I said it was child support.” Avery did not regret the decision.

Mike: “Forget it, I’m just talking casually. If you’re sleepy, close your eyes and I’ll call you when you get home.”

Avery: “Well.”

The days that followed were plain and fulfilling.

Mike bought Avery a record player, and bought many old records, so that when she was bored, she could listen to music.

Gwen also bought Avery a lot of new autumn styles. If she hadn't received the clothes from Gwen, she wouldn't have known that autumn had come quietly.

On this day, Avery was lying on the sofa listening to songs and taking a nap. The sound of the phone vibrating woke her up from her light sleep. She got up lazily, picked up the phone from the coffee table, and answered the call.

“Avery, I brought the child to see you!” Tammy's happy voice came over the phone.

Avery: “You brought the baby?”

“Yes! If you don't go back to Aryadelle, then I can only bring the child to see you.”

Tammy laughed, and said, “I didn't tell you in advance, I just wanted to give you a surprise.”

Avery held the phone and immediately went back to the room to change clothes.

She didn't go out every day recently, and she wore home clothes at home.

Avery: “Isn't Jun coming with you?”

Tammy: “I didn't want him to come. He couldn't worry about his daughter. He insisted on sending us here.” Tammy said embarrassedly, “If you don't want to see it When I get to him, then I'll let him stay in the hotel.”

“Jun'll welcome here.” Avery turned on the speakerphone and put it on the bed,

“Tammy, did you make a special trip to see me? I'm so embarrassed.”

“Why are you being polite to me. If it wasn't for the fact that the child was too young, my mother and my mother-in-law wouldn't let me go out, I would have come to you a long time ago.” Tammy said, Her laughing was disappeared, “Elliot seems to be a different person now, and Jun thinks he is too weird, so he doesn’t interact with him anymore.”

Chapter 1756

About half an hour later, Tammy’s family came to Avery’s house. Avery warmly welcomed them. She saw Kara for the first time, so she wrapped a big red envelope for her.

“Kara’s so young now, why are you giving her the red envelope?” Tammy couldn’t refuse, so she could only accept it, “My daughter is stupid, she sleeps all day besides eating. She doesn’t recognize birth now, so give her only a hug!”

Avery wanted to hug her, but she was a little worried that her eyesight had not returned to normal, what if she accidentally fell the child?

But looking at Kara’s obedient little face, she couldn’t hold back and took Kara from Tammy.

“Newborn children are like this. When she grows up, she won’t sleep so much.”

Avery sat down on the sofa with Kara in her arms, looking at the little guy’s chubby face, smiling and teasing, She said, “Kara, have you gone to play with Layla’s brother Robert?”

Tammy said, “Robert and Layla have both gone to school, so I can only bring Kara to play on weekends. But on weekends Elliot is also at home, so I don’t dare to stay there. The atmosphere is weird, you know?”

Avery: “You can ask Mrs. Cooper to bring Layla and Robert to your house to play.”

Tammy complained, “Layla has training classes on weekends. I’m not that familiar with Mrs. Cooper, why would I be so embarrassed to make such a request?

Anyway, it’s inconvenient if you’re not here.”

Avery’s eyes slid with discomfort.

Tammy can at least see Layla and Robert, but she hasn't seen the two children for a long time.

"Avery, why are your eyes red?" Jun was on the sofa opposite Avery and saw that her eyes were red.

Avery's eyes were a little red just after the stitches were removed.

"Maybe I didn't rest well." Avery found a reason casually.

Tammy said angrily, "Jun, didn't you ask this knowingly? Can Avery sleep well? Not to mention that Elliot, that b*stard, did a bad thing, he just took away the custody of Layla and Robert, Can Avery feel better?"

Jun reached out and covered his mouth.

"Tammy, I'm much better now. As long as Layla and Robert are fine by his side, I'm not so worried." Avery smiled, and added, "Let's take a step and see."

"Well, how is Hayden?" Tammy looked at the living room, "You really don't see any children living in your house."

Avery explained, "Hayden's things are in his room. He has a lot of schoolwork now. I'm still busy. Usually I'm alone at home."

"Didn't you go to work?" Before Tammy came over, she didn't know Avery's current living condition.

Avery's mobile phone has never been turned on, and she didn't tell her the first time after turning it on. In addition, Tammy has just given birth to a child and is busy taking care of the child, so she doesn't have that much energy.

In addition to visiting Avery this time in Bridgedale, it was also because she wanted to come out and get some air. Taking children at home every day, her mental state is about to collapse.

Avery shook her head: "I've been resting at home recently."

Tammy: "I thought you would do a lot of things like before, so that you wouldn't think about it.”

Avery said calmly, “Actually, it was an escape. If you want to open it, you won’t be thinking wildly.”

“Avery, why are you so open-minded now? How did you want to open it?” Tammy felt that she had changed her personality.

Avery asked, “How long are you going to stay here? I’ll show you around with Mike then.”

“My mother only gave me a week. I’ll stay at your house for a week. It’s too cold here. I dare not take my daughter out. I can still wear skirts in Aryadelle. It’s all about wrapping coats here.” Tammy complained.

Jun suggested: “Tammy, you can go out with Avery. I’ll just take care of the children at home.”

“Are you sure?” Tammy felt agitated in her heart.

Jun said to himself, “your mother said that I can do better, have you forgotten?”

Chapter 1757

Jun is definitely a qualified dad. Feeding the baby milk powder, changing diapers, bathing, everything is skillful.

“Sure, you are so powerful?” Avery looked at him with admiration.

Jun took his daughter from Avery’s arms, “If you two want to go out, you can go now. Bring me something to eat in the evening and come back. That’s ok.”

Avery is fine, but worried about Tammy’s jet lag.

Avery: “Would you like to take a break, let’s go out tomorrow?”

Tammy excitedly took Avery’s arm and walked towards the door: “I want to go shopping for clothes. It’s been almost a year since my second pregnancy. I’ve hardly ever bought normal clothes. I’m going crazy!”

“You can also buy it in Aryadelle. If you buy it here, it’s hard to take it back.” Avery took her coat and mobile phone and went out with her .

After the stitches were removed, her eyesight recovered 70%.

Now she don't need someone to help her when she walk, and she can see the dishes on the table when she eat.

"I can buy a package here and send it back." Tammy said, "I don't have any friends to accompany me shopping in Aryadelle. My previous best friends are all married. After they get married, they either go on their honeymoon or get pregnant. I called someone out to go shopping, but no one responded."

After the two went out, Kara fell asleep in Jun's arms.

Jun first put his daughter on the sofa to lie down, and then went to the guest room.

Jun had asked Tammy to tell Avery in advance, but Tammy had to come over to surprise Avery without saying hello.

As a result, now the guest room has to be found and cleaned.

"Don't Avery have a nanny?" Jun looked at the empty house and wondered.

This was the first time he came to Avery's house, and he was not familiar with the layout of the house, so he found a door at random and pushed it open directly.

Because the child was too young, it was more convenient to live on the first floor.

Unexpectedly, the first room he entered was Avery's room.

He didn't know that this was Avery's room. He was attracted by the record player inside, so he walked over.

Next to the record player was a shelf with countless discs on it.

"I didn't expect Mike to look so carefree and artistic in private." Jun chuckled and glanced at the records on the shelf.

He thought it was Mike's room.

Because the cleaning in the room was very simple, unlike a woman's bedroom.

He came out of the room, walked to the sofa in the living room, picked up his daughter, carried it to Avery's room, and put it on the big bed.

"Baby, you come here and sleep obediently. Dad finds an empty room." Jun whispered to his sleeping daughter.

After that, Jun went to the record player and picked out a record and put it on it. Suddenly, an elegant and soothing melody flowed out.

Jun glanced at the peacefully sleeping baby with satisfaction, and walked out of the room happily.

After half an hour.

Jun simply packed up the guest room he was going to stay in tonight and went back to 'Mike' room. He saw that his daughter's eyes were wide and she was holding a list in her small hands.

She probably grabbed it from under the pillow.

Chapter 1758

"My little darling! Why did you wake up so quickly? Are you hungry? Dad will go make milk for you right away... What are you holding in your hand, show it to your Dad."

Jun carefully took out the paper in his daughter's hand.

The paper has been scratched and wrinkled by the daughter, but the content on it can still be clearly seen.

After Jun saw the content above, the kind smile on his face disappeared.

He re-examined the room—

on the bedside table, he saw a black rubber band and so many long hair wrapped on it.

This doesn't seem to be Mike's room.

In order to confirm his guess, he strode towards the wardrobe.

Opening the wardrobe door, the wardrobe full of women's clothes made Jun gasp. Without thinking, he immediately picked up his daughter from the bed and quickly left the room.

If he had known that this was Avery's room, he would not have carried his daughter in to sleep.

He carried his daughter to the guest room and fed her milk, his heart was in chaos.

On that piece of paper just now was a simple form.

The first row of the table is the names of several companies, the middle row is a brief company introduction, and the latter row is a few strings of numbers.

The line above these numbers is the word 'quote'.

The more Jun thought about it, the more suspicious he became. Is Avery planning to sell AN Technology?

Otherwise, why would there be a quotation sheet under her pillow?

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Avery and Tammy came back from shopping.

Tammy's fighting ability was still strong, and the trunk was full of shopping bags.

The back seat compartment was full of various snacks and toys as if she was going to live here forever.

"Avery, after Kara fell asleep at noon, I took her to your room to sleep for a while. I didn't know it was your room, I thought it was Mike's room." Jun scratched his head and told Avery Confess, "When I was cleaning the room in the guest room, Kara woke up and scratched a piece of paper under your pillow... I'm sorry!"

When Jun spoke, he carefully observed the expression on Avery's face.

Avery saw him with a light face and a smile on her lips: "It's okay! You guys come, you should tell me earlier, so I can prepare in advance. I'm so sorry to ask you to clean up the room yourself."

“It’s all trivial matters. But why don’t you have a nanny? Do you usually do everything at home by yourself?” Jun asked in confusion.

Avery explained, “There used to be a nanny. But I had been living in Aryadelle before, and the nanny resigned. Now I don’t go to work, and I have housework at home, so I don’t have a nanny. Sometimes if I don’t want to cook, I just order food.”

“You’re so cool right now! No one cares about you, no one bothers you. It’s like a fairy!” Tammy looked envious.

Jun coughed: “Tammy, do you think it’s too restrictive to be with me?”

Chapter 1759

“Jun, You still call him Brother Elliot?!” Tammy stared at him and asked, “Didn’t you say that you have no contact with him?”

Jun blushed: “Actually, it was because of him. Ignore me, that’s why we stopped contacting.”

Tammy: “Hehe, people have ignored you, and you are still acting like a dog!”

“Tammy, stop scolding. There’s a saying that goes well, stay a line in everything in the future. We don’t need to cut ties with Brother Elliot because of their divorce.

What if the two of them reconcile in the future? If that’s the case, then how embarrassing we are!” Jun expressed his thoughts “It’s not like this happened.”

Tammy couldn’t help laughing, “Do you think the two of them can get back together? How dare you think about it! Elliot almost put the knife on Avery’s neck.”

Jun cleared his throat: “I remember that Avery stabbed Brother Elliot with a knife before, and stabbed Brother Elliot directly into the ICU. Didn’t the two of them reconcile later? “

Tammy blinked, and the memory gradually emerged.

“Have you watched ‘Journey to the West’?” Jun teased in a relaxed tone, “Look at Tang Sanzang(Tripitaka or Tang monk), master and apprentice, Sun Wukong(Monkey King) how many times they broke up and broke up in the process of going through ninety-nine-eighty-one hardships. Are you all right?"

Tammy looked at him with a startled expression: "Then who do you think is Tang Sanzang(Tripitaka or Tang monk) and Sun Wukong(Monkey King)?!"

Jun: "I didn't think about it specifically. I just thought they were a bit similar."

"I...I think Elliot is the Monkey King and Avery is the Tang monk." Tammy followed this topic, her mind widened, "No, every time the Monkey King is right, it is the Tang monk who misunderstands the Monkey King... So Avery is the Monkey King, Elliot is a Tang monk... and that's not right! How could that b*stard Elliot be a merciful and compassionate Tang monk? Tang monk dumped him a hundred streets!"

"Okay, don't be angry. I just said it casually. We still think What food do you want to buy!" Jun avoided the topic.

Tammy: "Eat mutton hot pot! I want to cook mutton as soon as it's cold."

Jun said, "Does Avery and Hayden like it? Don't just the two of us like it. Anyone likes it if we buy whatever we want to eat."

"Avery is not a picky eater, she can eat anything except spicy." Speaking of which, Tammy was moved, "Avery's personality is also the same, she treats the people around her like this. People are very tolerant. It must be Elliot's fault that she doesn't get along with Elliot."

Jun said weakly, "Brother Elliot is also nice to the people around him."

Tammy: "He ignores you, and you still speak for him! "

Jun: "Didn't Avery ignore you for a few months before? Allow Avery to heal in silence, but can't let Brother Elliot be quiet?"

"You want to be mad at me?" Tammy resisted the urge to tug at his ears, to reason with him, “Elliot stole Avery’s Tate Industries, and now he is going to destroy Avery’s AN Technology. Is this something normal people can do?”

Jun: “This’s not true. But I think Brother Elliot must be mad, otherwise he wouldn’t be so cruel.”

Tammy: “He’s mad? He left his wife and children and went to Yonroeville to find a mistress and an illegitimate daughter, and he was still mad. “

Jun: “Stop! Let’s stop talking about this...”

“I have to. I can’t stand it anymore. I have to scold him!” Tammy took out her phone and planned to find Elliot “He doesn’t answer the phone, right? Then I’ll text him!”

Tammy opened whatsapp, found Elliot’s avatar, opened the dialog box, and turned on the crazy voice mode.

——Elliot, you are f*cking human! When Avery met you, it was like eight lifetimes of blood mold! Poisonous bees are not as poisonous as you! The Tate Industries is not yours alone, why did you hand over the company to the new person in charge without Avery’s consent?

——You still want to bring down AN Technology? ! What good is it for you to kill Avery for nothing? ! What you do, the whole world is watching! Including your three kids! When I return home, I will tell Layla how bad you are to Avery! When Layla grows up, Layla will definitely leave you as soon as possible!

After Tammy made two long speeches without panting, Jun pulled the car to the side of the road and stopped.

“Tammy, that’s enough!” Jun frowned and stopped her.

Just when Jun was going to tell Tammy to stop being so impulsive, Tammy’s cell phone rang.

Chapter 1760

Elliot replied to her!

She picked up the phone, saw Elliot's reply, and immediately put the screen in front of Jun.

"Elliot ignored me, but he ignored you. This shows that you can't be too obedient to him!" Tammy said, put the phone back, and clicked on the video call.

Elliot gave her two question marks just now.

Now that he sees the voice message and replies, he should pick up the video, right?

Jun watched Tammy's operation in awe, and was about to grab the phone to apologize when Elliot received the video.

However, Tammy's actions were too fast.

After Elliot received the video, Tammy immediately opened the car door and got out of the car.

Jun couldn't stop her, so he could only wait in the car.

He reached out and touched his pocket, looking for a cigarette, but suddenly remembered that after his daughter was born, he was forced to quit smoking.

Tammy got into the car in less than five minutes.

Jun looked at her face and asked, "So calm? You didn't quarrel?"

"Quite! I told him not to be so despicable and shameless, and Avery didn't dig up his ancestral grave, so he didn't need to hold Avery. "Tammy took out the thermal water bottle she carried with her from her bag, took a sip of water, and continued, "Guess what he said?"

Jun: "What did he say?"

"He said that Avery was dissatisfied, let Avery talk to him. Hahaha! I said Avery had already crossed out you, an unscrupulous b*stard from his life!"

Jun wiped his face and took a breath: "Can you vent? Then let's go grocery shopping?"

“I didn’t scold him enough and he hung up the video.” Tammy fastened her seat belt, “I think he blocked me, and he will block you as well. Don’t take the initiative to find him in the future. That’s it.”

Jun dared to look for Elliot.

At night.

Everyone sat around the table and ate hot pot.

Hayden came back early today. He was very happy to see Tammy’s family.

“Hayden, come and see my sister.” Tammy took him to the room and looked at Kara who was sleeping, “Is my sister cute?”

“Cute.” Hayden said honestly.

“Kara or Layla, which one is cuter?” Tammy deliberately ‘made things difficult’ for him.

The smile on Hayden’s face suddenly froze, and his mind went blank.

“Haha! You just said that the two sisters are cute!” Tammy finished teasing him, and the smile on her face subsided, “I made a video call with your father today. I didn’t tell your mother.”

Hayden: “You fight. What’s the video call for?”

Tammy said, “I scolded him. Did your mother tell you that she wants to sell the company? Hayden, I hope you can always stand by your mother. Even if your mother won’t be so powerful in the future, and you must not be deceived by your father’s power.”

Chapter 1761

“Hayden, Your mother is only with you now. I’m afraid your father will think of various ways to tempt you to go with him in the future.” Tammy worried that Avery would end up losing everything in the end.

If she was Avery, she would definitely not be able to take such a blow.

“My surname is Tate, not Foster. I will never recognize Elliot in my life.” Hayden’s face was cold and proud, “If my mother decides to sell the company, I will make money to support her in the future.”

“As long as you don’t leave your mother, I’m relieved.” Tammy breathed a sigh of relief, “You have to keep in touch with your younger brother and sister. They are still young, so maybe they don’t understand your mother.”

“Layla made video calls with her mother every two days.” Hayden said.

“Then I’m more at ease! Your mother didn’t hurt the two of you in vain.”

In the dining room, Jun saw that Tammy had brought Hayden into the room for too long, so he shouted, “Tammy! You’re not hungry, Hayden must be hungry! What are the two of you hiding and whispering!”

Tammy and Hayden came out of the room.

“I asked Hayden whether it was Kara’s cuteness or Layla’s cuteness. I asked Hayden to stop haha.” Tammy said, and sat down beside Jun, “By the way, Hayden and Layla should prepare a birthday banquet?”

Jun: “They are only nine years old this year.”

“Generally, birthday banquets are held in advance.” Tammy wanted to liven things up, “but I’m afraid they can’t hold it together. Avery, you can do it at Bridgedale and in this country, you will make one for Hayden. I will definitely come when the time comes.”

Avery looked at Hayden.

Anything related to Hayden depends on his opinion.

“I don’t want to do it.” Hayden thought that he would celebrate his birthday with his sister every year, but from this year onwards, they couldn’t have a birthday together again, so it would simply be no birthday in the future.

Avery knew what his son was thinking, so she fully respected his son’s wishes.

“How is Shea’s child?” Avery changed the subject.

“You have such a good relationship with Wesley, haven’t you two been in touch?”

Tammy was a little surprised, “I haven’t heard that the child is not good, so it should be fine?”

“Didn’t Wesley go when Kara was full moon?” Avery asked.

“He asked his parents to come. At that time, my parents pulled his parents to chat and didn’t ask about the child.” Tammy recalled, “I think his parents were in good spirits at the time, so the baby should be good.”

“Avery, your eyes...” Mike wanted to say, your eyes are good now, can’t you see Shea’s child directly by making a video call to Wesley?

As soon as the words came out, Mike immediately realized that he had missed his mouth, so he coughed.

“What’s wrong with Avery’s eyes?” Jun keenly caught the key point.

Mike cleared his throat and became wise: “She had conjunctivitis before her eyes, and the doctor told her not to play with her cell phone, so she hasn’t played with her cell phone for a long time.”

“Conjunctivitis?” Jun didn’t quite understand whether the disease was serious or not.

Avery didn’t expect Mike to be so capable.

“Conjunctivitis is commonly known as pink eye.” Avery said.

“Oh! I know pink eye... With this disease, your eyes will turn red.” Jun looked at Avery’s eyes, “No wonder I see your eyes are still a little red! So it is. “

It turns out that your mobile phone has been turned off because your eyes are sick.” Tammy looked distressed, “Why didn’t you tell me?”

“The minor illness is already healed.” Avery smiled and said, “Here the mutton doesn’t seem to be as delicious as the domestic one.”

Jun said, “It’s not the mutton problem, but the soup base we cooked is not tasty enough. Next time you come back to Aryadelle, I'll treat you to authentic mutton soup."

Everyone was very tacit silence.

Will Avery return to Aryadelle? At least not anytime soon!

About a month ago, Elliot moved back to Foster's house with Layla and Robert.

Avery's home in the Starry River Villa was completely vacant.

This also shows that the two of them are completely separated.

"Avery, when do you plan to return to Aryadelle?" Tammy asked especially because she wanted to know this question.

Chapter 1762

"I have no plans to return to Aryadelle for the time being." Avery took a piece of mutton and put it in the Hayden bowl.

Tammy: "Oh... During the winter vacation, let Layla come to Bridgedale to find you."

Tammy understood her reluctance to return to Aryadelle.

Avery: "I'm afraid Elliot won't let me."

When Avery mentioned Elliot's name, she was a little tongue-tied. Probably because the relationship with him is so bad now that every time she thinks of him, she wonders if they ever really loved him. But she seldom thinks of him now.

It's not like she quarreled and broke up with him before, when she thought of him, her heart felt a lot of pain. Now she didn't feel too sad, except that she rarely thought of him.

As long as Hayden was still by her side, as long as Avery could see Layla and Robert occasionally, she would feel satisfied.

This was all she could get.

"Mom, I'll pick Layla up when she is on her winter vacation." Hayden said.

Elliot didn't let Avery get close to Layla, could it be possible to keep Hayden from getting close?

Avery has scruples in her heart.

She didn't want Hayden to go back to Aryadelle.

What if Elliot used despicable means to rob Hayden?

"I'll ask your Uncle Eric to pick up Layla when the time comes. You stay by your mother's side and don't go anywhere." Avery urged.

"Yeah." Hayden replied obediently.

Aryadelle.

This weekend, Elliot was going to school as Layla's teacher called him last night to talk to him about Layla's studies.

The teacher told him not to tell Layla about it.

Because Layla is a girl with a very strong self-esteem.

Elliot waited for Layla to go to the training class before going out.

The teacher didn't tell him how Layla's study was on the phone last night. In the usual quizzes, Layla didn't tell him about the test results.

So the teacher had a bad feeling in his heart. If Layla's grades are good, the teacher will come to him alone to talk about Layla's study problems.

Arriving at the school, Elliot saw at a glance the head teacher who was waiting at the school gate.

There was hardly anyone in the school this weekend.

Elliot stopped the car, got out of the car, and walked towards the head teacher.

"Mr. Foster, looking for you today won't affect your rest, right?" The head teacher is a middle-aged woman in her forties. She said with kind eyes and straight to the point, "I came to you, mainly because of Layla's academic performance, which has fallen too badly. If she doesn't adjust it again, I'm afraid it will affect her next final exam.”

Elliot guessed right.

“How far has my daughter’s grades slipped?” Elliot narrowed his eyes coldly and asked in a serious voice.

“This time, she scored 55 points in the English language test, but she didn’t pass the pass mark. Her composition was a strong point before, but this time the composition is not only off-topic, but also…”

“And what?” Elliot heard ‘55 points’ At this time, he was in a terrible mood.

In the past, Layla’s language was generally above 90 points, and the total score of 100 points would not be lower than 85 points.

“The subject of the essay was to write about ‘The person who has influenced me the most and what I have learned from him/her’ and Layla wrote about you.” The teacher said embarrassedly, “She wrote she hated you and you broke her home. You learned how to be a bad*ss.”

Chapter 1763

The head teacher was her English teacher in the class.

After seeing Layla’s composition, she didn’t dare to give points at all.

If this was awarded points, wouldn’t it slap Elliot in the face?

Therefore, Layla failed to pass the language this time.

“Show me her test paper.” Elliot’s blood pressure had soared, but he still wanted to see his daughter’s original composition.

“Come with me.” The head teacher took Elliot to the teacher’s building. “Layla didn’t do well in every subject this time.”

Elliot: “Show me all her exam papers.”

The head teacher: “Good.”

Arriving at the classroom office, the head teacher took out Layla’s exam paper and handed it to Elliot.

“The questions on the test paper are basically taught in class. Even if the later big questions are a little more difficult, there is no reason to have so much time.” The head teacher took the mathematics test paper and showed it to Elliot, “There are some simple questions, she’s also wrong.”

“The most outrageous thing is foreign language. Before, her foreign language was basically full marks because she grew up in Bridgedale, she has a good foundation. But this time, her foreign language just passed.” When the head teacher said this, Elliot picked up Layla’s foreign language test paper and took a look.

The above topics are basically not empty. Although she wrote it all, at least half and it was wrong.

“She did it on purpose.” Elliot read the test paper and came to a conclusion, “I divorced her mother, and her mother took her brother to live abroad, so she was dissatisfied with me. She deliberately scored low on me.”

The head teacher nodded: “Me and other subject teachers also think the same. Now that the cause has been determined, we must solve the problem in a targeted manner. Otherwise, she will take the exam with such a mentality in the future, which will definitely not work.”

Elliot didn’t know what to do. There was no way he could guarantee that he could convince Layla to take every exam seriously in the future.

Layla has a strong self-esteem and a stubborn temper. She became stubborn and did not lose to Avery at all.

Layla was forcing him to compromise, asking her to go to Bridgedale to find Avery, or simply asking her to return to Avery.

Elliot couldn’t agree with either.

Returning home from school, Elliot stood at the door to change his shoes.

Robert took Lego-made car and ran in front of him.

“Dad, look! Car!” Robert’s Lego-made car is quite cool.

“Son, you are awesome.” Elliot took the car that his son put together, and boasted, “You like cars, Dad will buy you a lot of cars in the future.”

Robert listened to his father’s words, and a bright smile suddenly appeared on his face. Because Robert has always lived by his side, Robert loves him.

Only every time Elliot sees Robert, Elliot could feel that he is needed and feel a touch of warmth.

At noon, Layla finished today’s training session and was sent back by the driver.

Mrs. Cooper brought the lunch to the table, and then went to feed Robert.

In the dining room, only Elliot and Layla were left.

Layla didn’t like to eat alone with Elliot. Every time she ate alone with him, she would quickly finish eating and put down the dishes.

She would rather eat fruit snacks when she is hungry than eat her favorite dishes on the table.

This time was no exception. She hurriedly put the rice in the bowl into her mouth, then put down the tableware and prepared to leave.

“Layla, come with me.” Elliot also put down the tableware.

The rice in Elliot’s bowl barely moved.

Chapter 1764

After Elliot finished speaking, he left the dining room first.

Layla’s heart began to beat when she saw Elliot grim face.

Elliot’s sudden seriousness made her a little uncomfortable.

Mrs. Cooper saw that Layla was stunned, so she spoke to her, “Layla, your father is looking for you, maybe it has something to do with your mother.”

Layla murmured in a low voice, "That's not it."

From the expression on Elliot's face just now, Layla had roughly guessed that it was because of her academic performance.

Now that Layla did, she was already mentally prepared.

If Elliot dared to scold her or beat her, she would run away from home immediately and go to Bridgedale to find her mother and brother.

After Elliot waited for Layla to come in, he closed the door.

"What are you closing the door for? Open the door." Layla ordered sharply, staring at the door.

Elliot had to open the door.

Outside, he is the high-ranking president of Sterling Group, and no one dares to be presumptuous in front of him. But at home, he didn't live without seeing his daughter's face every day.

"Layla, do you know what ordinary people use to change their fate?" Elliot didn't tell his daughter directly about her academic performance because he looked angry at the moment.

Sure enough, Layla didn't answer his question.

"Ordinary people change their destiny by reading." Elliot's deep eyes looked at his daughter's face that looked like Avery, "In Aryadelle, there are still many children who have no chance to study because of poverty. Since you have the opportunity to study, just You should cherish it. Don't take your study as a joke."

"You know I failed the exam?" Layla held her chest out, plausibly, "In the past, my mother taught me to study, but now I don't have my mother to guide me, so My grades have naturally declined."

Elliot didn't expect his daughter to come out with this rhetoric.

"After that, Dad will personally guide you." Elliot gave a way to deal with it.

“You can’t.” Layla simply refused, “My mother is a genius, aren’t you? Don’t teach me more and more stupid.”

Elliot felt as if he had been poured a basin of ice water, and his heart was cold.

After all, he also graduated from a prestigious university. Although he has graduated for many years, he can definitely do his primary school homework.

But his daughter disliked him so much.

“Then I’ll invite your teachers from various subjects to come and help you.” Elliot thought that her daughter would not be so rebellious that she didn’t take the school’s main teacher seriously.

“No!” Layla refused again, “No one can teach me except my mother.”

The cellophane between father and daughter was completely pierced.

Layla was threatening him with academic performance.

Elliot picked up the water glass on the table, took a sip of water, and then said slowly: “Layla, since you don’t think you are good at reading, and you can’t be a genius like your mother, then let’s face the reality and become a mediocre person!”

Layla: “???”

“In the future, you can take the exam as you like. If you do well, your father will reward you. If you do not do well, your father will not criticize you. With your father’s ability, even if you do In the next big exams, all the exams will be zero points, Dad can also spend money to let you graduate from a famous university in Aryadelle.”

Layla was stunned.

“So then you can study if you want, and play if you want. Dad doesn’t force you.”

Elliot looked at his daughter’s stunned face, and his tone became more gentle,

“When you graduate from college, if you don’t want to work, you can play at home. If you don't think it's fun at home, you can travel around the world. Dad has money, and it's not a problem to support you for a lifetime."

Layla cried with a 'woo'.

Her threats were completely useless to Dad!

She was so angry!

Seeing his daughter run out of the study, Elliot planned to follow him out.

At this moment, the phone on his desk rang.

He walked to the desk, picked up the phone, and glanced at the caller ID—

Chapter 1765

It was Norah Jones's call.

Norah Jones ran in Aryadelle and Bridgedale these days.

In order to destroy Avery's AN technology, she worked very hard.

If Elliot really had a deep hatred with Avery, he would definitely praise Norah Jones.

He stared coldly at the name on the screen, hesitated for a few seconds, and then answered the phone.

"Mr. Foster, preparations for the new company in Bridgedale have been completed. It is expected to start construction in a week. Can you come to the ribbon-cutting event at that time?" Norah Jones asked.

Elliot frowned. He doesn't want to go to Bridgedale again in a short time.

It should be said that if there is no reason to go, he never wants to go to Bridgedale again.

"Mr. Foster, we have invited many politicians and business friends from Bridgedale to participate in the ribbon-cutting event. If you can come..." Norah Jones said.

Elliot interrupted her: "You call Ben Schaffer and ask him to come if he has no time.”

After speaking, Elliot hung up the phone.

Norah Jones did not expect that he would not care about the opening of the new company at all. She worked so hard, she thought Elliot saw it all.

Elliot put the phone on the desk, then went downstairs to find his daughter.

Layla was sitting on the sofa in the living room, with Mrs. Cooper and Robert surrounding her.

Mrs. Cooper coaxed and persuaded her, while Robert took her favorite snack and handed it to her sister, hoping to comfort her.

“Layla, your dad must love you very much. If he says bad things to you, it’s because he wants you to be better. You are still young and don’t understand what I’m saying. When you grow up, you will definitely understand his painstaking efforts.” Mrs. Cooper still had a bit of weight in her words in front of Layla.

Layla knew very well that her father was obedient to her. She was just angry that her father had torn apart her originally complete home.

“Sister, I’ll give you something to eat!” Robert’s bright and clean eyes were filled with care and love for her sister.

“I won’t eat it!” Layla pushed away the snacks that her brother handed over, “I miss my mother.”

“Then you can make a video call for her!” Mrs. Cooper coaxed, “Didn’t you say that you will be able to wait until your winter vacation is over? Have you gone to see your mom? Winter break is coming soon.”

Layla took a breath, reached out and rubbed her eyes: “It’s night over mom’s side. I can’t make mom sleep.”

“Oh, too. You can wait for the night. Make a video call for her again.” Mrs. Cooper asked in a relaxed tone, “Is your mother okay?”

“Of course my mother is okay! She is getting better and more beautiful without her father being angry with her!” Seeing Elliot coming downstairs, Layla said that on purpose to anger him.

Mrs. Cooper also saw Elliot, so she changed the subject: “Layla, your brother has a handicraft class, teach him how to do it! I’m clumsy, I’m afraid I’m not good enough.”

“Oh! Brother, let’s go. Layla got up from the sofa, took her brother’s little hand, and left the living room.

The siblings have a very good relationship.

Layla pinned her thoughts on her mother and brother on Robert.

In the past, when Avery and Hayden were still around, Layla would occasionally bully Robert, but now Layla not only does not bully Robert, but also worries that her younger brother will be bullied in kindergarten.

After the siblings left the living room, Elliot walked up to Mrs. Cooper.

“Did you criticize Layla?” Mrs. Cooper asked in a low voice.

“Do I dare to criticize her?” Elliot sat down on the sofa, “Layla deliberately got low grades and threatened me.”

“Ah?” Mrs. Cooper couldn’t believe it, “How could she make fun of her own studies? That’s not good! “

Mrs. Cooper was very worried, afraid that Layla would go astray.

During the lunch break, Elliot and the two children went back to their rooms to sleep.

Mrs. Cooper took her mobile phone and decided to send a message to Avery. Elliot definitely couldn’t control Layla, and Mrs. Cooper couldn’t let Layla make such a mistake.

....

Bridgedale.

Chapter 1766

The sun was rising. It was early morning.

Avery got up, walked to the bed, and opened the curtains.

The bright sun outside the window made her feel better.

She couldn't help opening the window, and a biting chill came in.

The good mood brought by the extra sunshine disappeared instantly.

She closed the window, walked to the bed, picked up her phone, and checked the time.

Mrs. Cooper's text message immediately came into view:—

—Avery, I wonder how you are doing lately? Layla says you're fine, I hope it's true. Layla had a fight with Mr. foster today. Layla misses you so much that she deliberately gave a low score on the exam, hoping to threaten Mr. Foster to get you back, or to get him to agree to let her go to you. As a result, they broke down. Mr. Foster did not criticize her, but Layla cried very sadly. I know you have always valued Layla's studies, and I hope you can persuade Layla in private. Also don't tell her, I'm telling you this.

After reading this long text message carefully, Avery felt as if her heart was burning with anxiety.

Her sanity has been thrown into the clouds, and now she just wants to go back to Aryadelle immediately, meet her daughter, and have a good talk.

She was the last thing she wanted to see her child suffer so much from her failed marriage with Elliot.

She pressed the back button, opened the address book, found Elliot's number, and dialed it without hesitation.

—Sorry, the user you dialed is temporarily unavailable.

Her heart sank suddenly and kept sinking.

A thought rose in her heart: Elliot blocked her.

She put down her phone and strode towards the bathroom. She turned on the faucet and washed her face with water. She looked at her pale, bloodless face in the mirror, her breathing gradually steady. If she can't get through to Elliot, she can call Layla. Thinking of this, she took a towel to dry the water droplets on her face, and strode out of the bathroom.

She picked up her phone from the bed, found Layla's number, and dialed the video call.

After a while, Layla took the video call.

Avery saw her daughter's face sullen and aggrieved, and her nose suddenly became sore.

Thinking of Mrs. Cooper's reminder, Avery could only ask knowingly, "Layla, what's the matter with you? Mom doesn't see you very happy."

Layla: "Mom, I miss you."

Avery: "Baby, mom misses you too."

"Mom, Why can't I go to you now?" Layla pursed her lips and said angrily, "If I go to you now, what can he do to me?"

Outside the door, Robert refused to sleep, so he ran to his sister Play.

The little guy pushed open the door, got into Layla's room, and shouted in a clear and clear voice, "Sister!"

"Brother, look who this is?" Layla's expression relaxed a little when she saw Robert coming.

She squatted down, picked up her brother, and turned the camera on her and Robert's face.

Robert's dark and bright eyes stared at Avery on the screen.

He knew it was his mother, but he was a little shy because he hadn't been in contact with his mother for too long.

He refused to call his mother, and he didn't dare to look at Avery's face.

"Brother, call her mom!" Layla turned her brother's face toward the camera.

...Mom." Robert was shy and sounded like a mosquito.

"Brother, speak up!" Layla asked, frowning.

Robert's brows were slightly wrinkled, his face flushed red, and he opened his throat: "—Mom!"

In the study on the second floor, Elliot clearly heard his son calling his mother.

Chapter 1767

Elliot knew that Layla had been secretly videotaping with Avery.

His daughter didn't contact Avery in front of him, and he didn't want to interfere.

As long as his daughter is by his side, he doesn't care about the rest.

But now, hearing his son's loud voice calling for his mother, Elliot's heart was pounding.

He got up from his chair uncontrollably!

Avery saw her son appearing in the video, so it was inconvenient to tell her daughter about her studies.

And she saw that Robert was a little unfamiliar with her, and she felt very uncomfortable.

Avery wanted to hug her two children through the screen.

But everything is delusional.

Now that Avery and Robert have been separated for less than half a year, Robert feels unfamiliar with her. If they leave for a longer time, will Robert treat Avery like Layla treats Elliot?

After about twenty minutes of talking, Robert became irritable and started to make trouble with Layla, so Avery hung up the video.

From the bedroom, Avery walked towards the kitchen and got ready to make a simple breakfast.

“Avery, I bought you breakfast.” In the living room, Mike’s voice came, “Are you talking about a video call with Layla?”

“Why did you get up so early?” Avery walked towards the living room and asked worriedly, “I’m afraid you won’t believe it. Layla got angry with Elliot and deliberately smashed the exam.”

“This really seems like something Layla dared to do.” Mike picked up his coffee and took a sip, “You don’t have to worry about it, even if Layla usually does poorly in the exam, as long as she takes the high school entrance exam well in the final exam, it will be fine.”

“Well. When I see her during the winter vacation, I want to have a good chat with her. She is so angry that she lacks consideration.”

Mike finished his coffee and asked, “Do you know why I got up so early today?”

Avery: “Have you had a nightmare? Or is Chad coming to see you?”

Mike: “Hehehe... Chad won’t come, Ben Schaffer is here.”

At 7:30 this morning, Ben Schaffer called Mike and asked him to meet.

Mike slept in a daze at that time, and he thought that Chad was coming together.

After careful inquiry, he found that it was not what he thought.

“Is Ben Schaffer looking for Gwen? What is he calling you for?” Avery began to think.

“He said he was going to visit AN Technology. I guess it wasn’t for personal matters.” Mike glanced at the time, “I made an appointment with him at ten o’clock, and I should go out now.”

Avery was stunned and reminded him: “Mike, What to say and what not to say, you know what?”

“Of course I know. I have a boat with you, and he and Elliot have a boat.” After Mike finished speaking, he pointed to the kitchen, “I bought it. The dishes are in the refrigerator. You can order at noon if you want, and you can make your own if you don’t want to.”

Avery: “Okay.”

After Mike went out, Avery glanced at the breakfast on the coffee table.

A sandwich, a glass of room temperature milk.

Avery and Mike were not picky eaters, they could eat the same food for a lifetime.

.....

AN Technology.

When Mike arrived, he saw Ben Schaffer standing in the lobby on the first floor, not knowing who he was talking to.

Chapter 1768

Ben Schaffer saw Mike and immediately hung up.

Mike walked up to Ben and looked at him: “How about we go outside and talk? I always think you have bad intentions.”

“If I have bad intentions, I will not come to your site.” Ben Schaffer Pull Mike and walk to the elevator entrance, “Do you have any good tea here? Let’s chat while drinking tea.”

“It’s just that you old man like to drink tea.” Mike did not let go of any complaints. he said, “Who asked you to come here? Elliot?”

“Well, why did you mention Elliot?” Ben Schaffer didn’t care about his sarcasm, “Then what do you have to drink here? I’m a little sleepy.”

“Don’t you just get off the plane?” Mike glanced at his face, “What’s the urgency for you to find me? As for coming over as soon as you get off the plane?”

"It's nothing urgent, I just feel sorry for Avery, and I'm embarrassed to go directly to tell Avery." Ben Schaffer pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose, "You also know that Elliot and I are deeply tied up in business. In terms of company decision-making, we basically listen to him."

"Oh..." Mike understood what Ben Schaffer was talking about, "Is the Tate Industries's branch in Bridgedale about to open? You came here this time for the opening, right? Elliot is also here?"

"He didn't Come. Because he didn't come, I have to come." Ben Schaffer said helplessly, "There will be a grand ribbon-cutting event at that time."

Mike: "Are you afraid that Avery will blame you? Don't worry, her grievance with Elliot is not to blame on your head."

The two entered the elevator, and after a while, came to Mike's office.

"I came to you in my personal capacity." Ben Schaffer entered Mike's office, saw the refrigerator, and immediately walked over to pull it open, "Why so much milk? Aren't you so healthy?"

Mike: "Avery asked the secretary to order it for me."

"Avery treats you so well? Why do I think she's not so careful with Elliot?" Ben Schaffer sneered, "No wonder you are so committed to her."

"You don't understand people like us who have no parents." Mike took out a bottle of milk from the refrigerator and handed it to him, "I don't have any tea, you can drink it!"

Ben Schaffer took the milk, "It's good for you to take care of each other like this.

But I want to know what your company will do next. And, I have some ideas, I don't know if you want to listen."

"Stop.." Mike stopped, "of course I won't tell you what we plan to do next. I don't want to listen to your advice."

Ben Schaffer regretted, "It seems that you are planning to fight against Norah Jones. Norah Jones has Elliot's support, it is very difficult for you to beat her."

Mike: "Norah Jones is just a pawn of Elliot. It's not so much that it is difficult for us to win her. Let's say it is difficult for us to win against Elliot."

Ben: "That's the truth. In fact, as long as Avery goes to Elliot to have a good talk, Elliot will definitely not continue to target you."

Mike said lightly, "Let him give up his fantasy. Avery will never go to find Elliot.

She can even let go of the child, just a company, she has nothing to let go."

"I really don't want to see this situation." Ben Schaffer regretted.

Mike; "Are you afraid that Gwen will stand on our side and ignore you?"

Ben Schaffer shook his head: "I've been single for most of my life, do you think I'll be afraid of dying alone? I'm here to tell you this because I think Elliot has gone too far. If it were me, I would never have done this to my ex-wife."

Five days later.

Tate Industries Bridgedale branch was grandly opened.

The company's ribbon-cutting event was broadcast live by many well-known media in Bridgedale.

Mike was with Avery at home today.

Mike ordered a big cake without telling Avery in advance.

When the cake was delivered to the house, Avery smiled in surprise: "Can we both eat such a big cake? What festival is today? Why did you order the cake?"

The figure of Ben holding scissors and participating in the ribbon-cutting event of the new company.

Chapter 1769

"The company opened, let's celebrate?" Avery couldn't understand what Mike said.

"Why don't you laugh?" Mike opened the cake, cut a piece, and handed it to her.

“Eat more, think less. I suspect that when I’m not at home, you don’t have a good lunch at home every day. Have you lost weight?”

“You’re saying the exact opposite. I cook and eat well at noon every day.” Avery took the cake and fork, and took a small bite, “Gwen said she came to eat tonight, shouldn’t it be the same? To comfort me, right?”

“If I had known you were so late, I wouldn’t have reminded you.” Mike took the remote and turned off the TV.

“I didn’t think about that. Tell me or not, I know they will build a new company.” Avery removed the cream from the cake, “Why buy a cream cake? I still prefer tiramisu.”

“You asked the question before. Of course, I don’t mind answering you again.”

Mike shrugged, “Layla and I prefer cream cakes. I miss Layla a bit, so I ordered cream cakes.”

Talking about Layla, The expression on Avery’s face sank a little.

Mike said, “Avery, I plan to go back to Aryadelle to see Layla and Robert. What do you think? Do you want to go back to Aryadelle with me? I will never reveal the information about your return to Aryadelle.”

“It’s winter vacation, I’ll wait until Layla comes over here!” Avery said this because she didn’t think she would be able to see two children when she returned to Aryadelle.

She was afraid that she would go back hastily, secretly go to see the child, be discovered by Elliot, and cause unnecessary disputes.

She didn’t want to quarrel with Elliot. The quarrel not only consumed the emotional energy of both parties, but also tortured the three children.

“Okay, then I’ll go back to Aryadelle alone.” Mike couldn’t let Layla and Robert go.

“You’ll be home alone, will you?”

Avery: "Isn't there Hayden?"

"Hayden can't see anyone all day long, and he can't be at home with you." Mike pondered, "Should you let Gwen live here?"

"Gwen is busier than Hayden? Besides, Gwen is in love with Ben Schaffer now, if Gwen is in a relationship and living with me, does Ben Schaffer still dare to come to Gwen?"

Avery hit the nail on the head, and Mike dismissed the idea.

"Don't worry, go back to Aryadelle! I'm going to review soon. I planned to do a PhD. I'll apply to the university next to Hayden School." Avery told her plan, and Mike was stunned.

"Do you still need to continue reading?" Mike's tone had already said the answer. Mike thinks that Avery is good enough, and there is no need to study for a PhD. Avery said seriously, "Mike, medicine is a very broad field. What I know about it now is only scratches. If I want to learn, I may never finish it all my life. I have already thought about it. I am at home every day. Wait, it's too boring. I want to be closer to Hayden. What's the matter, we mother and son can take care of each other."

Mike: "..."

It turned out that Avery wanted to study for a fake, and she wanted to go to school with Hayden is true.

Aryadelle, the master bedroom of the Foster family.

Elliot was lying on the bed, unable to sleep.

Tate Industries's branch in Bridgedale opened, and a grand opening event was held today.

—He don't know how Avery was feeling.

—She must hate him?

–Since he blacklisted Avery’s number, the world has become a lot cleaner.

–But tonight, he began to think of her uncontrollably, of their past.

–He also wondered if it was too much for him to target her like this.

–But whenever this thought arises, he will think of her indifferent decision when she desperately divorced him.

–A normal person would not be so heartless even with a toy that has been around for ten years.

–He really couldn’t forgive her!

When a faint white light appeared outside the window, Elliot finally fell asleep.

Chapter 1770

At 7:30 in the morning, Layla received a video call from Mike.

“Layla, I’m going back to see you and Robert! Are you having a good time?” Mike was packing.

“Ah! Really?!” Layla jumped up excitedly, “Is my mother back too? Are you two coming back together?!”

Mike knew that Layla would ask.

Mike: “Don’t tell anyone when I go back to see you alone? I’ll be sad if you do this.”

Layla’s joy diminished sharply: “Why didn’t my mother come back with you?”

Mike: “Because of your father. She doesn’t want to see your father or quarrel with him. So I’ll go back to see you and Robert first. After your winter vacation, I’ll take you to see your mother.”

“Okay, okay! I told Uncle Eric as well. Well, he can take me to Bridgedale too!

Can he take Robert with me?” Layla couldn’t let Robert go, “If I left alone, Robert will be alone at home, how lonely! He must be think of crying!”

Mike: “Let’s see if your father will allow us to take Robert to Bridgedale. After all, he is relatively young and has never traveled far, so I guess your father won't be relieved."

Layla: "Humph! I'll put Robert in my suitcase and take it away!"

"Layla! Don't do that! You'll choke your brother to death!" Mike said.

Layla: "I'm talking about that kind of bag for pet dogs! That kind of bag won't suffocate Robert!"

"You take your father for a fool. Do you know that your every move is under your father's surveillance? Every time you secretly make a video to your mother, do you think he doesn't know? How naive!"

Layla immediately raised her head. There are cameras everywhere in the room.

Layla: "I don't have a camera in my room!"

Mike: "Don't you know about the hidden camera? As long as he wants to control your life, he will definitely not let you discover the existence of the camera."

Layla's anger suddenly burned.

Mike: "Layla, be nice these days! Don't let your dad stare at you. It won't be convenient for us to meet then."

Layla: "Okay! I promise I won't be mad at him today!"

After the video call, Layla was in a good mood.

After washing up, Layla was ready to go to breakfast as usual. But today, before going to breakfast, she especially wanted to see her father.

She quietly walked to the door of the master bedroom and gently opened the door a crack.

On the big bed, Elliot slept soundly, completely unaware that his daughter was peeking at him.

"Slacker!" Layla murmured and went downstairs to breakfast.

Time flickered, it was noon.

Elliot was woken up by the phone ringing. When he opened his eyes, he was groggy and hadn't slept enough.

His long arms reached to the bedside table and picked up the phone.

Seeing that Ben Schaffer's call, he immediately connected and closed his eyes.

"Elliot, I heard some news just now." Ben Schaffer's voice was a little tight, and his tone was a little horrified, "Avery seems to have sold AN Technology!"

Elliot's closed eyes opened immediately!

Avery sold AN Technology?

Ben Schaffer spoke quickly, "The accuracy rate of this news is at least 80%! It is said that it was sold at a low price. Because the Tate Industries branch opened, everyone is not optimistic about AN Technology. Avery's shot at AN Technology at this time will definitely not sell good price but she still chose to sell it. Elliot, do you regret it?"

Regret?

Elliot was a little confused for a moment.

Avery quietly sold the company.

In the eyes of outsiders, Elliot definitely forced her to do this.

"Elliot, are you satisfied that you pushed her to this point?" Seeing that Elliot didn't answer, Ben Schaffer spoke again, "She has already fled to Bridgedale, you two are clearly not guilty of water, so you have to go. Bridgedale has to tell everyone with great fanfare that you will continue to work on AN technology... Although

Avery will not starve to death in the future, have you ever thought that it is really low for you to do so? Hayden is not yet an adult. You broke Avery's back. Do you want your son to suffer too?!"

Elliot listened to Ben Schaffer's accusations quietly and did not refute. He never thought that Avery would sell the company.

But what Ben Schaffer said was right, since Elliot replaced Vice President Locklyn of Tate Industries and let Norah Jones take over, the relationship between him and Avery was destined to deteriorate all the way.

“You treat Avery like this, don’t you want Hayden to come back to you after Avery has nothing?” Ben Schaffer diverged his thoughts, “Hayden’s personality is like yours, if you treat Avery like this, Hayden will starve to death, I won’t choose to come back to you.”

“Have you said enough?” Elliot’s Adam’s apple rolled up and down, “I don’t regret it!”

On the phone, Ben Schaffer was stunned for a moment. Tonight, he drank a lot of wine. He was taking advantage of the alcohol, so he made this call to Elliot.

Hearing Elliot saying that he had no regrets, anger burned in his chest.

“Elliot, why did you become like this?” Ben Schaffer no longer cared about his feelings, and told his whole heart, “Why do you keep pretending that Avery owes you?! It’s clear that neither of you owe you anything. Who is it, at least in my opinion! Can you not always regard yourself as the center of the world, whoever does not listen to you, you will take revenge on someone, you are really naive!”

“I regard myself as the center of the world. I’ll take revenge on her?” Elliot was startled by his words.

Ben: “Isn’t it? I always think you are a reasonable person, but you are unreasonable to Avery! You think she gave you three children, so you can bully her casually, and she will end up doing it for the children. Stay by your side! You didn’t expect that you made the wrong abacus! So you became angry!”

Ben Schaffer’s words made Elliot really angry.

Elliot: “In your eyes, she is so pitiful?”

Ben Schaffer angrily said, “Isn’t she pitiful? Elliot, your conscience won’t hurt? I didn't know why she insisted on divorcing you, but she was still with you. I scolded her in front of me. Later, I learned the truth, your actions subverted my imagination more and more! You..."

Before Ben Schaffer finished speaking, Elliot interrupted him and asked coldly: "What truth do you know?"

How could he not know the so-called truth?

"You really want me to say it? I didn't mention a word because of your face..."

"Speak!" Elliot shouted angrily, "Tell me the f*ck!"

"Okay! Since You are shameless, then I don't have to worry anymore!" Ben Schaffer also roared, "When something happened to the Jobin family, when we were going to Yonroeville, you received a call from Avery at the airport, why didn't you say Avery? An accident happened too? After all, you don't care that much about Avery! You f*cking told me, I can let you go to Yonroeville?"

Elliot seemed to be given a sap in the head. He clenched his fingers tightly holding the phone, a thin layer of sweat on his palms.

"You said just now... Avery had an accident at the time?" Elliot heard his heart pounding. There were countless noises in his mind, mixed with a clown-like laugh.

Ben Schaffer listened to his rhetorical question and scratched his head: "Avery said you know, do you have to pretend here?"

Elliot: "What happened to her? Ben Schaffer, make it clear!"

His face turned red and white, There was a layer of hot sweat on his forehead, but his body was shivering with cold.

"You're still pretending?! Elliot, you feel guilty, don't you?" Ben Schaffer sneered, "Avery couldn't see and called you, but you left her alone and ran to Yonroeville. I will insist on divorce from you!"

With a 'boom', Elliot felt something collapsed.

“She can’t see? You said she can’t see?” Elliot murmured and repeated Ben Schaffer’s words.

“What do you mean? It’s boring for you to pretend!” Ben Schaffer said angrily.

Dudu Dudu!

Call disconnected.

Chapter 1772

Elliot hung up the phone. He held the phone and his eyes were deep, but not focused. He quickly recalled in his mind the scene when he received a call from Avery at the airport.

He remembered very well when she said on the phone that he had betrayed his promise, but Avery didn’t say anything else!

He was thinking too hard, his eyes were spinning and he was dizzy. He really couldn’t remember when Avery said she couldn’t see...she really didn’t say that!

But why did Ben Schaffer say ‘Avery said you know’?

Elliot wanted to get out of bed, but the moment he got out of bed, his ankles softened and he fell back onto the bed again.

He didn’t care about getting dizzy, he immediately turned on his phone, found Mike’s number, and dialed it.

If what Ben Schaffer said was true, then Avery would be forgiven for ignoring him.

Moreover, Avery ignored him for a long time.

He wanted to verify now, so he could only find Mike. As a result, the phone was dialed, but Mike’s phone was turned off.

He didn’t know if Mike turned off his phone, or blocked him like Avery.

He sat on the edge of the bed with confusion in his head.

After he divorced Avery, Ben Schaffer had been to Bridgedale several times, so what Ben Schaffer said should be true.

What went wrong... Why did Avery feel that she told him what she couldn't see, but he didn't know it?

After a while, a sound came from downstairs.

"Tammy, why didn't you tell me in advance when you came over? You guys stay for lunch!" Mrs. Cooper said enthusiastically, "Mr. foster is still resting upstairs, I guess he slept late last night."

Tammy took the children to go today After getting vaccinated, She went to the mall and bought some gifts for Robert and Layla.

"We won't stay for lunch. I'll come to see the children on the weekend." Tammy said, turning around and preparing to leave.

At this time, Elliot walked downstairs.

When Jun saw Elliot, he immediately showed an embarrassed smile: "Brother Elliot, did we wake you up?"

Because Tammy scolded Elliot last time, Jun didn't want to come over.

Even if he bought gifts for Layla and Robert, Jun was a little flustered.

Who is afraid of what will come.

Today's working day, Elliot actually slept at home.

"Let's stay and eat. I just have something to ask you." Elliot walked up to them and looked at Kara in Jun's arms. In the end, his eyes fell on Tammy.

Tammy must know everything about Avery.

Chapter 1773

Tammy felt uncomfortable looking at him.

The main reason was that she scolded him last time with a voice, and then made a video call to attack him.

Although Tammy knew that Elliot would not care about her, but Elliot's eyes at this time made people feel anxious.

“Let’s go eat first!” Elliot didn’t eat breakfast, and there was a sudden pain in his stomach.

Mrs. Cooper immediately walked up to Jun: “Give Kara to me, You go and have a dinner!”

Jun gave his daughter to Mrs. Cooper and said, “If Kara wakes up later, call me.”

“Okay.” Mrs. Cooper stayed in the living room holding Kara.

Elliot said just now that he had something to talk to them about, so after the cooking servant brought the dishes to the table, Mrs. Cooper gave him a look.

The servant immediately retired.

In the dining room, Jun and Tammy were sitting on pins and needles.

Looking at Elliot’s appearance, he didn’t seem to have any appetite.

“Brother Elliot, did you sleep late last night?” Jun had nothing to say.

“It’s 12 o’clock now. I usually don’t sleep at night, so I can sleep so late during the day.” Tammy answered, and then asked Elliot, “You said you were looking for us just now, but you said so!”

Elliot Put down the dishes.

“When the accident happened to the Jobin family, Avery couldn’t see?” Elliot threw the question and looked at Tammy’s face.

Hope to tell from the slightest change in expression on her face whether she is lying or not.

“Can’t see?” Tammy repeated his words, “I haven’t heard of it!”

Jun’s brain responded faster: “Conjunctivitis! Didn’t Avery say that he had conjunctivitis a while ago?”

“But Elliot said that Avery can’t see! Could it be that conjunctivitis can make her eyes invisible? Is it impossible?” Tammy also put down the tableware, “Although I have never had pink eye disease, some of my classmates have it. Isn’t this disease a minor disease?"

"I also remember that this disease is a minor disease! I haven't had it either, but my junior high school teacher had it. At that time, my teacher didn't ask for leave after the disease, and still taking us to class while sick!" Jun said excitedly, took out his mobile phone, and checked online whether conjunctivitis can cause blindness.

Elliot looked at them and said, "what you said and I couldn't get in the way!"

Does Avery have conjunctivitis? Pink eye?

"It is said on the Internet that this disease did lead to blindness when medicine was underdeveloped in the past. But with the development of medicine, conjunctivitis will no longer cause blindness." Jun read out the answer on the Internet.

"So this disease also has no risk of blindness." Tammy concluded.

"That's it!" Jun said, looking at Elliot, "Brother Elliot, has Avery ever lost her sight because of this disease? Tammy and I have never heard of it! Did it happen when the Jobin family had an accident?"

What Ben said. I don't know the specifics." Elliot's mood was up and down, and his voice was dull and he continued, "The last time you went to Bridgedale, how was Avery's eyes?"

Jun replied, "Avery's eyes are all right, but a little red. We asked Avery about her. She said it was a minor illness, so she didn't tell us. If she was blind, she wouldn't say it was a minor illness, right? Blindness isn't so easy to cure, right?"

"Not believing, Jun asked Tammy: "Tammy, am I right? I remember that Avery did say that her illness was a minor one."

Tammy: "Yes. That's what Avery said. She said that because of her illness, the doctor told her not to use her cell phone, so she didn't use her cell phone during that time.”

“Conjunctivitis...” Elliot drooped his eyes slightly and whispered.

“Yeah! I checked the disease online, and it’s really not a serious disease.” Jun put down his phone and added, “Brother Ben said that she is blind, is it possible that she has passed on several news? Tammy and I are visited Avery’s house and Avery and Mike told us personally.”

Elliot couldn’t contact Mike and Avery, so he couldn’t determine the truth.

Chapter 1774

But Jun and Tammy met Avery with their own eyes, so he was more inclined to believe their words.

Moreover, Avery’s eyes have recovered now, and it can be regarded as a near miss.

Tammy teased, “Hey, you asked us to stay for dinner, just to ask this question? Both of you are divorced, and you are planning to bring down Avery’s company, and now you show that you care a lot about her. It looks like you are not contradictory?”

Elliot said, “Avery sold the company and Ben Schaffer blames me for being too hard on her. Ben Schaffer is right. I was really hard on her this time. If I...”

Elliot wanted to say that if he knew about her illness, he wouldn’t be so hard on her. But before he could say what he said later, Tammy jumped up and stood up.

“Elliot! You are an absolute b*stard. I wish you the best of luck in the future!

People like you don’t deserve anyone’s love.” Tammy said angrily, and strode out of the dining room.

Jun saw that his wife was left, and Elliot’s face was ashen, caught in the middle, it was very difficult.

Jun: “Brother Elliot, don’t take it to heart...”

Elliot: "Jun! Are you still leaving?!" Tammy had already carried her daughter from Mrs. Cooper's arms, Yelling across the dining room.

"Wait for me, wife! I'm here!" After Jun said goodbye to Elliot, he immediately walked out of the dining room.

After the family of three left, the entire villa fell silent.

Elliot reached out and rubbed his eyebrows, but his heart couldn't calm down.

Elliot began to wonder if it was possible that he was at the airport at the time.

Avery did tell him that she couldn't see clearly during the phone call, but he was thinking of going to Yonroeville to find Haze, so he didn't hear her clearly.

Avery was not a very unreasonable person. It must have been something wrong with her eyes at that time, but he insisted on going to Yonroeville, so she was so angry that she didn't hesitate to give up Layla and Robert, and also divorced him.

To prove this, there was another way.

That was to check the call recording.

Elliot turned on his mobile phone and found the call record between him and Avery at the airport a few months ago.

He glanced at the call time. When he was talking on the phone at that time, he always felt that he had been talking for a long time, but he didn't expect it to be more than three minutes.

It had only been a few months, and his memory had begun to deviate.

Therefore, the content of the call may also be biased.

He hurriedly finished his meal and went out with his cell phone.

He went to the communication company and asked to tune up the recording of the call.

The staff said, "Mr. Foster, because the recording of the call you want to check has been recorded for a long time, it may take a while to check. You can go home first. If we find the recording, we will notify you as soon as possible.”

“The recording will be sent directly to my mailbox.” Elliot wrote the mailbox on a piece of paper and handed it to the other party.

The staff: “Okay.”

After coming out of the communication company, Elliot drove to the company.

The world around him seemed to be paused, and he felt as if he was in a dead city.

He unscrewed the car music, and felt a headache again.

–What was the truth?

Chapter 1775

Lynch Family.

After the car stopped in the yard, Jun got off with Kara in his arms.

Kara woke up suddenly. She woke up without saying a word, opened her mouth and cry.

In the villa, Mary heard her granddaughter’s cry, and ran out quickly and took Kara away.

In the past, Mary often traveled with three or five best friends on beauty and card trips. Since she had a granddaughter, she never went out to play.

Tammy looked at the way her mother spoiled her daughter, and shook her head helplessly.

After Jun took out all the things in the trunk, the two entered the room and walked straight to the dining room.

“I starved to death. In fact, I really wanted to eat at Elliot’s house, but Elliot is so annoying!” Tammy sat down on the dining chair.

Jun served her a meal and handed it to her.

“Wife, don’t be angry. Brother Elliot doesn’t seem to know about Avery’s illness at all.” Jun carefully observed Elliot’s expression today.

There was no need for Elliot to know and pretend not to know.

“But Avery said Elliot knew!” Tammy wondered.

Jun said firmly, “There must be a misunderstanding between them. Tammy, tell Avery! Let’s just say we went to see Elliot today. Elliot said he didn’t know about her illness.”

“I don’t want to help him speak. Who knows if he really doesn’t know about Avery’s illness! I still believe Avery more.” Tammy was reluctant to help.

Jun didn’t force her: “Then I’ll tell Avery. Sweetie, have you ever thought about it, if there is really a misunderstanding between them? After all, they still have three children, no matter what, they really don’t need to make trouble. It’s the same as the enemy but not good for children.”

“Whatever you want. If you want to tell Avery, you go. But it’s late at night in Bridgedale. You can tell her when it’s dawn over there.” Tammy reminded.

Jun: “Good.”

Sterling Group.

Because of insomnia last night and not enough sleep in the morning, Elliot was not in a good mood all afternoon.

Until the end of get off work, a new email pops up on the computer screen.

The subject of the email: ‘Please check the call recording’.

A gleam of light flashed in his eyes. He opens the email and downloads the attachment.

Before hitting play, he glanced at the office door.

Afraid that someone would break in suddenly, he strode to the door, locked the door, then returned to the desk and pressed the play button.

—Avery, I am going to Yonroeville.

This was his voice! He took a deep breath, clenched his fists, and listened carefully to her tone.

Avery: Why?

Elliot: Avery, I'm sorry. I promised you that I would never go to Yonroeville in my life. I have never forgotten my promise to you. But this time, there was a reason...

His voice stopped here, and Avery's restrained cry came.

At this time, listening to her original cry, Elliot eyes were also wet.

Avery: Did Rebecca threaten you with the child? I already knew this would happen... Elliot, your promise is worthless!

Elliot: Avery, I'm sorry, I broke my promise. But I have to go to Yonroeville now.

Rebecca died, and her children and I were gone. I have to check it out.

A suffocating silence, so familiar.

He remembered well that after Avery said 'your promise is worthless', she never spoke again.

The same is true!

Next, is his apology: Avery, I'm sorry. Haze's life and death are uncertain now, and I can't leave her alone. I have already bought a ticket to Yonroeville and I will be boarding soon. When I go over there and get things done over there, I'll go back to Aryadelle immediately.

The apology was settled, and the sound of the broadcast reminding to check the ticket came.

Hearing this, Elliot glanced at the time left in the audio.

58 seconds left.

Chapter 1776

But he remembered that there was nothing substantial after the call.

—Avery, give me some time. I'll be back in a week at the latest. I'll apologize to you when I get back.

After Elliot finished saying these words, there were the noisy voices of the airport, and the voices of him and Ben Schaffer talking in a low voice.

Ben Schaffer asked him if Avery didn't let him go to Yonroeville.

Ben Schaffer said that he could go to Yonroeville by himself.

Elliot said that Haze was his daughter and he had to go there. If he just listened to this recording of the phone call, he would still make such a choice.

Avery didn't say on the phone that she couldn't see! absolutely not!

He really wanted to play this recording to Ben Schaffer. He didn't blame Avery at all. If there was a misunderstanding, it was not his fault.

Why do they all blame him for being ruthless and ruthless?

Elliot put his hands on his forehead, and the heaven and man were fighting in his mind.

Bridgedale.

Avery got up according to Hayden's schedule.

If she can successfully apply for a Ph.D., then she will go to school with Hayden next.

During breakfast, Mike's phone calls.

Mike: "Avery, I'm in Bridgedale. Everything is fine."

Avery: "Well. My house hasn't lived in for a long time, so it's probably quite dirty. If Chad doesn't dislike you, you can go and live with Chad."

Mike: "I don't. It's not bad to dislike him as a lackey by Elliot's side, but where does he have the face to dislike me?"

Avery: "You speak so nasty, be careful to be beaten."

"He's right next to me. He didn't beat me." Mike smiled smugly.

Avery asked, "How are you going to meet Layla?"

Mike: "I will meet Layla outside on the weekend."

"Isn't it possible that you won't be able to see Robert?" Avery asked.

"I don't know! I'll think of a way when the time comes! It really doesn't work, I'll ask Chad to bring Layla and Robert out to play."

"Then you can try it when the time comes. If Elliot doesn't let you see the child, then forget it. Don't be hard on him." Avery considered it for a while, and spoke cautiously.

Mike: "Got it! I'll be home soon, so I won't talk."

After the call, Avery put down the phone.

After Hayden finished breakfast, he looked at his mother: "Mom, are you really planning to study for a Ph.D.? You might as well rest at home!" Such words. You will get sick again."

Seeing that his son was serious, Avery smiled and said, "Mom will take good care of her body in the future. She will definitely not get sick. It's just a way to mediate life. Mom won't be too tired."

Hayden: "Well. Then I'll go to school first."

"Come back early in the evening." Avery sent him out.

After Hayden left, Avery returned to the villa and heard the phone ringing. She strode towards the dining room, picked up her phone, and was a little puzzled when she saw Jun's call.

—It's late at night in Aryadelle. Jun called at this point. Did he quarrel with Tammy?

Avery answered the phone: "Yes, what happened?"

"Avery, I have something to tell you. Tammy and I bought a toy sports car for Robert during the day today, and happened to meet Brother Elliot at home. Then we chatted. For a moment... He doesn't seem to know about your eye conjunctivitis at the beginning. Also, did your eye conjunctivitis cause blindness?"

He heard from Brother Ben that you were blind at the time, so he asked us.”

Avery was shocked and took a deep breath: “Elliot said he didn’t know?”

“He didn’t say he didn’t know, but he looked like he didn’t know. Otherwise, why would he ask us specifically? This thing?” Jun replied.

Chapter 1777

How did Avery know that Elliot wanted to ask them about it.

Avery only knew that she was on the phone and told him clearly, she said that she couldn’t see, but Elliot didn’t respond.

–He never responded.

Now he pretended not to know, and went to ask their mutual friend, not knowing what he was thinking.

But none of that matters anymore.

Her eyes are already healed.

So there was no need to investigate whether Elliot even knew about it.

–Besides, if Elliot really cares about her illness, why doesn’t he come and ask her directly?

Last time, because of Layla’s deliberately low score, Avery pulled him out of the blacklist in order to call him.

If Elliot called her now, Avery could see it.

But Elliot didn’t call her.

“Jun, he and I have been divorced for almost half a year. Whether we misunderstood or not, everything has changed now. We can’t go back. Now it’s very late, you should rest early!” After thinking carefully, Avery said to Jun.

Although Jun felt very sorry, after thinking about it carefully, he felt that what Avery said made sense.

They have been divorced for so long, and now the troubled Avery has even sold the company. It is indeed difficult to reconcile.

In the first snow of this year, the daughter of Wesley and Shea was born. This kid looked very much like Wesley.

Nolan and Sandra were very excited because the child was born safely.

They all knew that this would be Wesley and Shea's only child and their only granddaughter.

"Shea, give your child a name!" Wesley said.

Shea said, "It's up to you to choose! I'm afraid the name I'll give her will not sound good."

"As long as it's your name, it will sound good." Wesley encouraged, "Don't worry about getting your child's birth certificate today, you can think about it."

"Yeah, Shea, it's up to you to name the child. This is the child you are trying to conceive, so you should name the child." Nolan thought of Shea's insistence, I have to protect this child, and I have suffered a lot of grievances.

Shea blushed slightly: "Maria Brooks, how is it?"

She thought the word 'Maria' is very cute.

Nolan and Sandra couldn't react in time, and Wesley immediately said: "It sounds so nice. Then call it Maria!"

"Maria's born was very smooth we should thank to Avery. If Avery hadn't come up with this good way, maybe Maria would have been knocked out long ago." Sandra sighed.

"Wesley, you called Avery and said that you are young and one year old. I hope she can come back." Nolan said to his son, "It seems that she never came back after her divorce. If she doesn't want to come back, don't force her."

"Well. I'm going to call her now." Wesley said and walked to the balcony.

He found Avery's number and dialed it.

At this time, it was daytime in Bridgedale, and Avery quickly answered the phone.

Avery was very happy to hear that their child was born smoothly, "Let's switch to video call! I want to see your child."

"The child is taken to care." Wesley said, "Avery, about this month, Can you come back when I have a birthday banquet for my child?"

Avery hesitated for a while.

"If you don't want to come back, then you don't come. When the child is brought back, I'll show you the video." Wesley is always like this, and will never force her to do something she doesn't want to do.

"Brother Wesley, I told you that I plan to study for a Ph.D. I submitted the application materials a few days ago, and I received a reply today. The tutor I applied for agreed with me to study for a Ph.D." Avery explained the reason.

"Congratulations, Avery! It's good to have a job you want to do."

"Well. It's just a pity that I can't see your child in person." Avery regretted, "Have you given your child a name? "

Chapter 1778

Sandra saw Elliot's face suddenly gloomy, and immediately said to Wesley and Shea: "You guys take Elliot out to dinner! Let's watch the children."

Wesley and Shea immediately invited Elliot out ward.

After they left the ward, Sandra immediately accused her husband: "What happened to you today? Didn't you bring your brains out at home? Which pot can't you lift? You clearly saw Elliot coming, but you asked your son. Can Avery come back? Forget it, you still asked Elliot about Haze... Oh my God! I'm going to be mad at you!"

Sandra said, taking her granddaughter from her husband's arms. come over.

Nolan also realized that his behavior was a little unusual just now. Not a bit, but very unusual.

He wasn't usually like that.

Nolan: "I... I may be too happy and excited, so I can't control myself." When Nolan said this, he showed a naive smile, "I feel like a dream. I thought our son won't get married and won't have children. In the end, they were confused, and the son got married and had a wife. Now even the child is alive in front of me, it's like a dream!"

"No wonder you are so bold! It's because of you. I thought I was dreaming. Didn't you see Elliot's face?" Sandra was frightened when she thought of it.

"I see! That's why I'm beating drums in my heart at the moment! Fortunately, he has a good relationship with Shea, and he will definitely forgive me for Shea's face."

"Husband, Haze is probably gone, you don't want it in the future. Let's use this incident to poke other people's wounds." Sandra urged, "If Haze is still alive, it is impossible for our son to not know about this incident. If we haven't heard about this child at all, then we must not have found it. A small child, if she is not with her parents, must be more fortunate!"

Nolan sighed, "It used to be a good home because of this child. Of course, Haze is innocent. You can only blame Rebecca. This bad woman. Fortunately, God has eyes, and she was taken away early."

...

outside the ward.

Elliot stopped Wesley and Shea and said, "It's very late, I'll go back first."

"I'm sorry. My father may be a little emotional, so it's a bit abnormal." Wesley apologized to Elliot on behalf of his father.

"Understood." Elliot's mood has calmed down, "Shea, let them take care of the children, you go back to rest or I will take you back.”

Shea was a little reluctant to leave the baby.

Wesley said: “Shea, you go back to rest first. Otherwise, so many people will stay in the ward, and the ward will not be able to stay. I will go back later.”

“Okay.” Shea left the hospital with Elliot.

Shea got into Elliot’s car and fastened his seat belt.

“Brother, didn’t you find Haze?” Shea asked the doubts in her heart.

“Well.” Elliot knew that she asked this question and had no other meaning.

“I really hope she’s still alive.” Shea murmured softly, “I always remember what she looked like. She looks a lot like Layla. I like Layla very much, so I hope she’s still alive.”

“It’s possible that she’s alive.” Elliot drove the car out and said in a low voice,

“There are many good people and bad people in this world. Instead of thinking that Haze might fall into the wrong hands, I would rather she is dead.”

This topic is too deep, Shea didn’t know how to answer.

“Brother, I haven’t seen Avery for a long time. Is she never coming back?” Shea looked at the passing scenery, and said sadly, “I miss her so much and Hayden, but I don’t even have a phone call and don’t dare to call them.”

“Call them if you want, and they won’t ignore you.” Elliot stared at the endless night ahead, his soul seemed to be separated from his body.

He’s been in such a trance lately. Since his divorce from Avery, his life seems to be getting better and better, but it’s actually not going well.

This final exam, Layla failed again. Not only did she fail the exam, but she also told him that she was going to play outside during the winter vacation. Not going home anytime soon.

Layla almost didn’t say it outright, ‘I’m going to Bridgedale to find my mother.’

Of course Elliot didn't allow her to play outside for too long.

So the father and daughter broke out in a violent quarrel.

Chapter 1779

Layla is going out to play for a month and a half, Elliot said it can only be half a month at most.

He didn't yell at his daughter, he just told her the time she could go out that he could accept, and then Layla cried endlessly.

After delivering Shea to Brooks villa, Elliot drove home.

When he got home, the snow had stopped.

The yard was covered with a layer of silver-white snow, filling the night with a bright color.

—Avery likes to build snowmen very much. If she was there, she would definitely pull Elliot to build a snowman in the yard.

The thought suddenly appeared uncontrollably, and Elliot couldn't help frowning.

Entering the villa, Elliot stood at the door to change his shoes.

Mrs. Cooper came over and reported, "Sir, Layla has left. Eric picked her up an hour ago."

"Did the bodyguards follow her?"

"Well." Mrs. Cooper said, "I'm really worried about Layla. She came back from playing outside for half a month and became more and more rebellious."

Layla didn't say where she was going, but everyone knew that she would go to Bridgedale to find Avery.

Elliot didn't want to think about the problems that haven't come yet.

"Where's Robert?" Elliot changed his shoes and entered the living room.

"Robert is sleeping. Originally, Layla and Eric also wanted to take Robert away, but I didn't let him to take Robert" Mrs. Cooper said, "Winter is too cold.

Bridgedale is even colder. What if Robert catches a cold?"

Elliot went to the child's room and glanced at his son.

"Sir, do you want to go to Bridgedale to see Hayden?" Mrs. Cooper followed behind him, "Hayden won't take the initiative to come to you. You can take the initiative to find him. Anyway, he is your son after all..."

"Hayden won't see me. I don't need to make him unhappy." Elliot knew himself. He did not appear in front of Hayden, and the father and son could still maintain a calm state. If he went to Hayden, he would just bring himself to shame.

"Okay! Sir, the Spring Festival is coming soon. Do you have any plans?" Mrs. Cooper asked.

"There is no plan." Elliot felt that Layla would probably not come back during the Spring Festival. At that time, only he and Robert will celebrate New Year's Eve together.

From the kid's room, Elliot went back to the bedroom.

On the bedside table, there is a calendar table.

He picked up the calendar to see how many days until the Spring Festival.

He only allowed Layla to go out for half a month, and the Spring Festival was only ten days away.

So Layla really won't come back to spend the Spring Festival with him.

He held the calendar, his body motionless. The whole figure resembles a hollowed-out body.

The time on the calendar, In the blink of an eye, becomes two years later –
Bridgedale.

Avery ended his doctoral career a year early because of his excellent performance during his Ph.D.

In the evening, she invited her mentor and several friends from her classmates to dinner.

“Avery, what’s your plan next? Go to a hospital or a university? Or go to a research institute?” Someone asked.

Everyone’s eyes turned to her, waiting for her answer.

Avery smiled and said, “I haven’t thought about this issue yet.”

Chapter 1780

Avery really didn’t think about this issue. When she started her Ph.D., She wanted to go to school with Hayden.

In the past two years, she has been very fulfilling and very tired. So she will take a short rest for a while.

“Avery, you are the only person I know who has successfully graduated with a doctorate after two years of study! I really envy you!” Someone raised a glass and wanted to toast her.

She immediately picked up the glass and touched it.

“I wish you all a smooth graduation too.”

“Good luck with you!”

...

In the open-air restaurant on a summer night, after a few glasses of wine, the breeze blows, and the wine is not intoxicating.

At ten o’clock in the evening, Mike drove over and took Avery home.

She was not good at drinking, and started talking drunk after drinking half a bottle.

“Mike... is it dawn? I have... something very important today...” Avery raised her head and narrowed her eyes, unable to tell what year it was. Day and night.

“Your instructor said that you only drank half a bottle... How come your alcohol intake is getting worse? I remember you used to drink a bottle to get drunk.” Mike turned the air conditioner low, and the air conditioner instantly filled the whole car.

Avery's breathing was heavy. She reached out and rubbed her face, trying to wake herself up a bit.

"I'm not drunk...I can still drink..." Avery murmured, "Wine is such a good thing... why didn't I find out before? I'm so happy now. uh..."

Mike heard that she seemed to vomit, and immediately braked suddenly and stopped the car on the side of the road.

As soon as the car stopped, Avery immediately opened the door, got out of the car quickly, and vomited.

Mike got out of the car right after, and went over with water and a tissue.

"Don't drink in the future! Look at what you look like now... I'm going to record it and send it to you. Watch it when you wake up." Mike took out his phone and turned on the recording function.

Avery became more awake after vomiting. She took the water and rinsed her mouth, then wiped her face with a tissue.

"Mike, what time is it?" Avery felt as if her body was empty.

"It's half past ten. Let's go back quickly! Hayden is waiting for you at home." Mike helped Avery into the car, "Do you remember what you just said in the car?"

Avery replied, "I'm really not drunk. If I'm drunk, I won't remember what I just said."

"You're drunk, but not to the point." Mike returned to the driver's seat and fastened his seatbelt, "Next time there's a liquor bureau, you call Me! I'll help you drink."

Avery: "I don't know them."

"You don't know them after two drinks? Are you doubting my social skills?" Mike boasted, "But after you graduate this time, you won't have much alcohol. It's over."

“Well. They didn’t force me to drink, I wanted to drink with them myself. In the past two years, they have taken special care of me. I am the youngest under our mentor, but they all call me Sister Avery.”

Mike sighed, “Because you are better than them, they will naturally respect you. This is how society is, either you have power or ability, or others won’t look at you at all.”

Regarding his concept, Avery disagreed.

She believed that there were truly kind people.

This world was far bigger than what they see, and there were far more people in this world than they could imagine.

She didn’t refute Mike. After she vomited just now, although she was a little more awake, she was in a daze and couldn’t keep her spirits up.

When Avery got home, she saw Hayden who was waiting for her in the living room.

“Mom, I bought you a sour plum soup.” Hayden pointed to the soup on the table,

“You drink some!”

“Well, mother will drink it. But mother is not drunk! It’s very late, you go to bed.

Let’s go!” Avery walked to the sofa with a smile and sat down, holding up the soup bowl.

There was a smell of alcohol on Avery’s mouth, and she said that she was not drunk, which was really unconvincing.

Chapter 1781

But it seems that she was in good condition, so Hayden was not so worried.

After Hayden returned to the room, Mike watched Avery finish the soup, helped her back to the room, and then left with peace of mind.

Avery felt more comfortable in her stomach after drinking a bowl of sour plum soup. She was lying on the bed, her body falling apart, unable to move.

Forget it, I won't take a shower tonight, and I'll take a shower tomorrow morning.

Thinking of this, Avery kicked off her slippers and moved her long legs onto the bed.

The bedside lamp was on, she wanted to turn it off, but her body was limp and she had no strength at all. She felt that she could fall asleep. The next second she closed her eyes.

Just sleep like this!

After reciting this sentence in her heart, she fell asleep in a daze.

In the middle of the night, she was awakened by the urge to urinate.

She got out of bed immediately and went to the bathroom.

After a while, she returned to the bed and lay down. The bedside lamp pierced her eyes and couldn't open her eyes, and there was a sharp pain in her temples.

After she took a deep breath, she found her mobile phone and checked the time.

She thought She had slept for a long time, but it was only 2:00 a.m.

There was an unread message in the notification bar of the mobile phone. She opened it and saw a news.

The news headline is: Neti Group will shut down mailbox services.

The Neti mailbox was the mailbox they used frequently in the past few years, but it was unexpectedly closed now.

This incident touched Avery a lot.

Through this incident, she remembered the company she had founded. When she was brilliant, she thought that the company would accompany her for a long time, but it turned out that she gave up.

She looked at the text of the news, which was the official notice issued by Neti Group early this morning.

Dear Neti mailbox users:

Due to business adjustment, we regret to inform you that Neti mailbox will be out of service in one week. In order to ensure that you can continue to access the historical mail information of Neti mailbox, please save the data migration within a week. If you forgot your email login password, you can click here to retrieve it.

After one week, all data in Neti mailbox will be cleared. We apologize for the inconvenience this has caused you. Thirteen years of wind and rain, thank you for having you.

After reading the news, Avery specially logged in to her Neti mailbox.

There was a lot of spam in it, and there were also many study emails from her previous master's degree.

After migrating some emails to another company's mailbox, she was about to uninstall the Neti mailbox, but when she pressed the uninstall button, her heart softened.

In another week, Neti mailbox will be shut down, so wait a week and then uninstall it.

She reached out and rubbed her temples, then glanced at the time, it was 3:30 a.m.

If she doesn't sleep, she won't be able to get up tomorrow morning.

If there was any big change in her in the past two years, it is that she used to stay up all night and sleep the next day. But now she stays up all night, and she has to sleep for a few days to recover.

The next day.

Avery slept until 10:00 in the morning.

If it weren't for the rumbling of hunger, she would probably still be able to sleep.

When she came out of the bedroom, she saw Mike playing games on the sofa in the living room.

“Are you so busy today?” She walked towards the kitchen.

“Breakfast must be cold. You put it in the microwave to warm it up.” Mike stared at the screen of his phone and spoke intently.

“Well.” Avery put the sandwich in the microwave, then looked at Mike, “I’m going to rest at home for a while. You don’t have to stay with me at home.”

“I’ll leave later.” Mike moved his fingers flexibly on the screen and didn’t forget to ask Avery, “What’s your plan next? Why don’t you travel around the world! Anyway, we’re not short of money now.”

“Do you think traveling is not tiring?” Avery hesitated for a while, and said her thoughts, “I kind of want to go back to Aryadelle.”

Chapter 1782

As soon as these words came out, Mike’s hand shook, and the phone in his hand fell to the ground with a ‘bang’.

“Ah...F*ck!” Mike quickly picked up the phone from the ground, and no accident, he was killed in the game.

Throwing the phone aside, he looked at Avery again.

“You really plan to go back to Aryadelle? Why did you suddenly have this idea? I want to know what you think.” The reason Mike was so surprised was that in the past two years, friends in Aryadelle had often called her back to Aryadelle, and she never wavered. The decision of ‘not to return to Aryadelle’.

But now, Avery suddenly wanted to go back to Aryadelle, not just because of graduation.

“Every year I can only see Layla during the winter and summer vacations, and Robert...I haven’t seen him for almost three years. Video meeting doesn’t count.”

Avery said this, her tone was a little choked, “If I go back to Aryadelle, I’ll definitely have the chance to see Robert.”

“Oh! I really miss children! But after you return to Aryadelle, Elliot won’t necessarily let you see Robert. I think Elliot deliberately didn’t let you see Robert. Because he hasn’t seen Hayden for almost three years. He’s not in a hurry, and you don’t need to be in such a hurry.” Mike was afraid that Avery would lose to Elliot in terms of momentum.

Avery thought about this question.

“Elliot has no right not to let me take care of the children. When we divorced, there was no such rule.” After she finished speaking, the microwave behind her made a ding, and the sandwich was hot.

Avery turned on the microwave, took the sandwich out, and put the milk in to warm it up.

“Then what do you mean, when you return to Aryadelle, go to Elliot to negotiate visitation rights first? Are you sure you want to see this nasty man? Aren’t you afraid that he will make you angry?” Mike thought it was incredible.

Avery took the sandwich and left. to the living room.

“I didn’t say I was going to find him.” Avery sat down beside him, took a small bite of the sandwich, which was a little hot, so she could only let it cool down first, “Since Elliot can let Layla come to me every winter and summer vacation, I don’t think he will let me see Robert.”

“Don’t speculate on his mind. How did he treat you before, you forgot? Would you like me to review it with you?” Mike teased.

“No.” Avery frowned, “I definitely won’t go directly to his house to find Robert. I’m not stupid.”

“Okay, since you’ve thought about it, then you can go back to Aryadelle.” Mike suddenly thought of a question, “You have to tell Hayden about this, right? What if Hayden doesn't let you go back to Aryadelle?"

"Do you think Hayden will stop me?" Avery blinked, not having any trouble at all.

Hayden never stopped her from doing anything.

Whenever she decides to do something, Hayden basically supports her fully.

Even if there is something Hayden doesn't want her to do, Hayden just feels unhappy for a while, and then asks her to do it.

Mike couldn't help laughing: "Hayden is going to spoil you!"

"You too." Avery didn't worry about anything in the past two years, only doing experiments and writing papers with peace of mind, not only because Hayden is more sensible, but also because Mike helped her.

Mike's cheeks were flushed: "Don't be so nauseous. Did you know that Neti mailbox is going to be closed? You must not know! You just woke up."

"I got up at 2:00 a.m. to go to the bathroom, and I saw it on my phone. I also specially logged into my Neti mailbox and transferred the emails in it. There are many emails between me and Professor Hough, these are my precious memories." Avery picked up the sandwich again, and it was not so hot anymore.

The microwave dinged again.

Mike got up from the sofa and went to get her milk.

"Do you know why the Neti mailbox is closed?" Mike asked.

"Because everyone uses Set mailboxes now." Avery replied, "No matter what product, as long as it can't keep up with the development of the times, it will be eliminated. This is the law of the market."

Mike: "Well, just a little emotional."

Avery: "What do you feel? Did you set up the Neti mailbox in the first place?"

Avery said casually.

Mike: "It's not Neti mailbox. It's my ex."

“Oh... No wonder! Did your ex-wife with a clear mind come to you again?” Avery teased.

Chapter 1783

Mike raised his eyebrows: “What do you think?”

“It’s fine if you don’t.” Avery finished the sandwich and wiped her mouth with a tissue, “I told you that I want to go back to Aryadelle, so don’t say it. I haven’t thought about it yet.”

“Then think about it, don’t worry. If you don’t go back to Aryadelle now, Layla should come to find you in a few days.” Mike picked up the phone from the sofa, “I’m going out first. “

Well.”

After Mike left, Avery sat on the sofa and drank milk slowly.

Avery felt that her brain was a little hot now.

If She really wants to go home, she has to calm down and talk about it. After breakfast, she went back to the bedroom, lay down on the big bed, and picked up her phone.

Today’s hot news was the news that Neti mailbox is about to shut down.

Everyone posted the first and last mailboxes in their Neti mailboxes on the Internet.

Avery thought it was very interesting, so she saw many pictures posted by netizens on the Internet.

A picture posted by a netizen made her fascinated.

The first picture posted by this netizen was that after registering her email address, she sent a love letter to the boy she had a crush on.

Because she was afraid of being rejected, she did not sign her love letter.

And the boy she had a crush on saw her email and quickly replied to her email.

The boy replied: Who are you?

After that, they used Neti mailboxes, sent hundreds of emails, and finally, they were together.

Seeing this result, Avery was sincerely happy for them.

After playing on the phone for more than an hour, she fell asleep.

In the evening, Gwen came over and was about to grab a meal, but seeing that Avery had just woken up, she took her mobile phone to order food.

“Avery, didn’t you sleep all day?” Gwen finished her meal, looking at her messy long hair and nightdress on her body.

“Forget it! I didn’t sleep well last night.” Avery took a glass of water and drank it all in one gulp, “Gwen, do you want to drink water?”

Gwen: “I’m not thirsty.”

Avery: “Oh, I’ll call Hayden, Let’s see if he wants to come back for dinner at night.”

“I called, but he won’t come back for dinner. He has a class at night.” Gwen took a lychee from the fruit plate and peeled it with difficulty, “Mike won’t come back for dinner.”

“Why didn’t you tell me earlier? If you tell me in advance, I won’t be able to sleep until now.” Avery said sternly.

Gwen: “I know you drank too much last night, and you must be uncomfortable today.”

“How do you know that I drank too much?” Avery woke up in the morning with a headache, but now she was much better.

Gwen easily betrayed Mike: “Mike sent me the video of you throwing up on the roadside when you were drunk last night.”

“This guy!” Avery cursed in a low voice, but was helpless.

“Avery, I plan to go back to Aryadelle.” Gwen told her planto Avery, “Two years ago, Ben Schaffer said to wait for me for two years, now the time is up.”

Avery’s mouth rose: “If you think about it clearly, then Go back! You are a famous supermodel now, and no one dares to look down on you.”

Chapter 1784

Gwen was amused by the word ‘supermodel’.

“Avery, thank you for making me a supermodel. To be honest, I really don’t want to go back to Aryadelle. You and Hayden are here, and I especially don’t want to leave you.”

“Hayden and I may not always stay here. You go back first and see how the working atmosphere in Aryadelle is. Didn’t you say that even if you marry Ben Schaffer, you will not quit your job? ” Avery gave her advice.

“Yeah. My agent, Lexie, couldn’t go to Aryadelle with me. She introduced me to her friends in Aryadelle. I’ll try it first. Sister Li said that the company here will be kept first, in case I My work in Aryadelle is not going well, I am welcome to come back at any time... The people around me are super nice to me, I am really touched.”

Gwen said about the moving parts, her eyes couldn’t help but get wet.

“Gwen, what you have achieved now is the result of your own efforts. The person you want to thank most is yourself.” Avery handed her a tissue, and continued,

“You went back to Aryadelle to live a better life. So don’t cry. If after returning to Aryadelle, life is not as good as here, then come back.”

Gwen responded.

Gwen said, “Avery, I’m going back to Aryadelle this time, and I won’t bring Adrian back. I don’t know if I can settle down when I return to Aryadelle. Plus it’s good for Adrian to live here, so after I leave, Remember to visit him when you have time.”

Gwen took Adrian over a year ago.

At that time, with the increase of exposure, Gwen's popularity greatly increased.

Appearance fees for various endorsement events have increased a lot.

Gwen used the money she earned to buy a villa in Bridgedale.

Considering that Shea was married and had children, she couldn't take care of Adrian very much, so she went to Adrian to talk, and asked Adrian if she would like to come to Bridgedale with her.

Adrian agreed.

After all, he and Gwen have had a relationship for 20 years. Although they are not brothers and sisters, they are now better than brother and sister.

After taking Adrian over, Gwen hired an art teacher for him to teach him how to draw.

Avery visits him once a month, and every time she sees Adrian, she is in good shape.

"Don't worry! Even if I can't see Adrian, I will let Mike or Hayden see him." Avery said.

After the two chatted for a while, the ordered dinner was delivered.

Aryadelle.

At 10:00 a.m.

Sterling Group.

Ben Schaffer pushed open the door of the president's office.

"Elliot, I'm going to ask for leave next." Ben Schaffer walked to the desk with a smug look on his face, "Gwen is going back to Aryadelle. It's for me!"

Elliot knew that the two of them had been in a foreign relationship.

Ben Schaffer would fly to Bridgedale to see Gwen almost every month. This perseverance, if not true love, what is it?

"You two are going to get married?" Elliot asked, looking at Ben Schaffer's blushing face.

“No! I haven’t proposed yet! The two of us haven’t reached this stage yet. After Gwen returns to Aryadelle, let’s get along well first. If there is nothing wrong with it, I will propose to her again.” Ben Schaffer has already made his plan, “So I will take at least half a month’s leave next.”

“Please stay with her for half a month?” Elliot asked doubts.

“Yes! Gwen has just returned to Aryadelle and is not very familiar with the country. I will accompany her to get used to it.”

Elliot: “Hasn’t she been here before? She is in her twenties, not a three-year-old child...”

“You mean don’t approve me for being fake?” Ben Schaffer frowned.

Chapter 1785

“Early retirement and one week leave, choose one.” Elliot didn’t disapprove, but felt that half a month was too long.

Right now, the company’s business is heavy. Ben Schaffer doesn’t want to help share the pressure. Instead, he chases women so happily. How does Elliot balance his heart?

Don’t say Gwen is his sister. Since he divorced Avery, Gwen has stood by Avery unswervingly, and she has long lost his brother in her eyes.

Ben Schaffer pursed his lips, unable to decide.

Sometimes he really want to retire early... After all, he has worked for half his life, and the wealth he has now can also support his early retirement.

“Or...” Ben Schaffer wanted to talk to him about early retirement.

“Retire early, don’t even think about it.” Elliot didn’t expect that Ben really wanted to retire. “One week off, not even one more day.”

Ben Schaffer sighed heavily: “Why did you go back on your word?”

Elliot: "Let's take a break from today!"

"No! Gwen hasn't arrived yet. I'm fishing for a day today, and I'll start a vacation tomorrow." Ben Schaffer deliberately angered him, "It's summer vacation, is Layla going to Bridgedale again?"

"You just speak well, why do you laugh?" Elliot looked at the smile on his face and asked.

The smile on Ben Schaffer's face froze: "I... just heard a gossip about Avery. Don't rush to interrupt me, what I'm about to say is not important! It's just a little funny. Haven't I been to Bridgedale many times before, but I never saw Avery, and several times I asked to see her, but she didn't see me either. People around her didn't tell me anything about her... ..I didn't know until yesterday that she went to study for a doctorate in the past two years."

"Hahahahaha! Isn't it particularly funny?" Ben Schaffer saw the indifferent expression on Elliot's face, so he laughed to himself.

The expression on Elliot's face became more serious. He really didn't understand where Ben Schaffer thought was funny.

"Don't you think it's funny?" Ben Schaffer rubbed his hands embarrassedly, "I think her IQ surpasses that of ordinary people. If you want to study for a Ph.D., go for it, and graduate casually. It's as simple as buying cabbage. "

Who buys cabbage for two years?" Elliot retorted, "Aren't you also a doctor?"

"I have no comparison with her. My major is a good graduate, her major is much more difficult, and the general medical major is better than other majors. The school system is long, so she finished her doctorate in two years, which is really good." Ben said, "If you are not convinced, you can also go for a doctoral test."

Elliot: "It's boring."

Ben Schaffer whispered, "Well, you should be right now. She is no longer interested in news. Are you interested in Norah Jones? As far as I know, she has been waiting for the top! I think Norah Jones is not bad. She is outstanding in every aspect. But the most important thing is that she is very professional and works just like you. If the two of you are together, it will be a strong alliance.”

Elliot: “Not interested.”

Ben Schaffer: “Don’t you plan to remarry? Elliot, your future is still very long, you don’t have to resist women and marriage because of your last failed marriage.”

Elliot: “I don’t need it.”

Ben: “Uh...don’t you have that need? It’s easier to find a woman...”

“I can solve it myself.” Elliot was reluctant to continue this topic, and said sharply, “You go out.”

Ben Schaffer didn’t expect to talk to him about women after two years. He is still so resistant to marriage.

When the office door was closed, Elliot reached out and rubbed his eyebrows.

After the divorce, he never returned to Aryadelle. He didn’t expect her to go to a blog.

Now that Avery has graduated, will she go back to Aryadelle to take care of the children?

Chapter 1786

Bridgedale.

Avery and Adrian took Gwen to the airport, and after Gwen passed the security check, the two came out of the airport.

“Adrian, I’m afraid Gwen won’t be back in a short time. Would you like to move to my house?” Avery asked, “I have a lot of empty rooms in my house, and I usually stay at home alone.”

Adrian shook his head: “I don’t want to move here. I can take care of myself.”

“Adrian, I don’t think you need someone to take care of you. I want more people to talk to.” Avery explained, “I know you can not only do housework, but also cook now. I don’t need a nanny anymore.”

“The teacher Gwen hired for me lives in a community with me. My teacher is very old and has a lot of time every day. So he often comes to me.” Adrian said this matter, “I like to learn to draw with him.”

Avery: “Well. Do you want to learn to draw with him today?”

Adrian: “We made an appointment in the afternoon.”

“Okay, we have dinner together at noon, and I will send you back.” Avery was happy for Adrian, “Not everyone can find something they like to do, you must persevere well. Maybe in a few years, you will be able to open a solo exhibition.”

Adrian: “I will do my best.”

After lunch, Avery sent Adrian home.

Avery specially waited for the old gentleman who taught Adrian to draw and chatted with him for a while before leaving.

The old man had just retired and was relatively leisurely. Before retiring, he was a college art teacher.

The old man liked to teach people how to draw. Although Adrian had zero foundation and lacks talent, but was careful and diligent enough, and the old man was very willing to teach him.

Avery drove home and walked straight to the bedroom.

Just as she was about to lie down, a phone call came.

She saw Eric’s name and immediately answered the phone.

Eric: “Avery, I took a show, and there was a very important supporting role in it, which was very suitable for Layla. I showed it to Layla, and Layla liked it very much. I want to bring her into the show. She is more confused now. Because she really wants to go to your side, she hasn’t made up her mind yet.”

Avery listened to Eric’s words, and her brain began to run at a high speed.

Seeing that Avery didn't speak, Eric continued, "This role has a lot of scenes. If you are in the group, it will take at least a month. If you agree to Layla going to film with me, then I can take her to find you after mid-August. What do you think?"

"Eric, does Layla really want to try?" Avery is all based on Layla's wishes.

"I think she likes it. It's just that the shooting time is a little long. She said that she had made a summer vacation plan before, and if I went to film without Layla, the plan would be disrupted."

Avery: "Then I will talk to Layla tomorrow. Now that I'm graduating, I can go back to Aryadelle to see her at any time."

Eric: "Are you sure you can go back to Aryadelle?"

"Why can't I go back to Aryadelle? I'm not a wanted criminal in Aryadelle." Avery couldn't help laughing, "I didn't go back to Aryadelle before because I...I'm quite busy with the subject, and I really can't get away."

"I thought you were planning to never return to Aryadelle because of some people!" Eric laughed.

Avery: "Do I look like such a coward?"

Eric said bluntly, "I don't think you are, but your behavior sometimes makes people incomprehensible. Do you know how the country talks about you?

Netizens who were full and panicked said that you took sky-high alimony from Elliot, and at the same time promised Elliot that you would never return to Aryadelle. If I were you, I would definitely kill and return to Aryadelle as soon as possible."

Avery said calmly, "Eric, there is no need to spread rumors. Take it to heart. Now, I'm a little sleepy, so I'll take a nap first. I'll call you back after I chat with Layla."

Eric: "Okay. If you go back to Aryadelle someday, remember to tell me in advance."

Avery: "Well."

After hanging up, Avery closed her eyes.

She thought she could fall asleep quickly, but she tossed and turned on the bed for an hour and still couldn't fall asleep.

All kinds of people and things flashed in her mind. Her head seemed to explode, and her heart couldn't settle down.

She scratched her messy hair, got up and got out of bed, walked to the window, and opened the curtains.

The scorching sun did not know when to hide in the dark clouds. Looking at the gray-blue sky outside, she suddenly wanted to go out to get some air.

In the past two years, she has been avoiding all news related to Elliot, and the people around her have a tacit understanding, never mentioning him and everything in front of her.

Now, Avery suddenly wanted to see the Tate Industries branch built in Bridgedale.

Chapter 1787

Avery searches for the company address on her mobile phone, and after finding the address, she drives out.

It takes about half an hour to drive from home. In terms of her usual living radius of no more than 10 kilometers, this part of the road is a bit long.

But at this time, she had an obsession in her heart. Even if his branch opened further away, she would drive to see it.

This point was not during the rush hour, and the road was unobstructed.

About half an hour later, she came to the address found on the Internet.

She got out of the car and stood in front of the company. She frowned tightly.

–This is Tate Industries Aryadelle branch?

–How does it feel weird.

The building was quite new, but it didn't have any relevant signs on it.

Moreover, looking in from the door on the first floor of the entrance, She could see that the inside seems to be emptied, and there was no one inside at all.

–What happened?

–Could it be that the Tate Industries branch... has closed down?

Avery took a deep breath and walked towards a restaurant next to her.

“Excuse me, is the next office building the Tate Industries’s Bridgedale branch?”

Avery walked to the cashier and asked the cashier.

The cashier: “Did you say that silver building?”

Avery: “Yes.”

“It used to be, but not now.” The cashier replied to her, “The company moved out two months ago. I heard that the company makes a lot of money every year. We have bought a whole building in the city center for office. After they moved out, our restaurant business now out of business.”

Avery breathed a sigh of relief when she got the answer.

–That makes sense.

–How could Elliot fail?

When Avery came out of the restaurant, the sky turned gloomy overnight.

Black clouds weighed down, as if the entire sky was about to collapse.

She ran quickly towards the car. Just as she ran to the side of the car, the pouring rain crashed down.

She was only a few seconds late to get in the car, and her skirt was actually wet by the rain.

She sat firmly in the car and wiped the water droplets from the hair on her face with a tissue.

The coolness brought by the rain pierced from the surface of the skin to the bottom of her heart.

She looked through the windshield, but couldn't see the road ahead.

She sat quietly in the car, listening carefully to the sound of the rain outside the window. Inside and outside the carriage are two worlds.

3 days later.

Avery planned to follow Mike's advice and go on a long trip first to change her mood.

Because Layla has already joined the group, she will not come to her for the time being.

Mike took her to the VIP business lounge at the airport. Later, she can go through the security check directly from the VIP channel without queuing.

"Let's go! It's time for me to play with my phone." Avery said to Mike.

After Mike left, Avery turned on the phone.

Her notification bar, showing a new email. And this email notification was sent by Neti mailbox!

Chapter 1788

Seeing the reminder of Neti's mailbox, she clicked into the mailbox in confusion!

But suddenly, She saw a familiar name, Xander.

Almost instantly, Avery burst into tears.

-Is Xander not dead? Otherwise, why would Xander send her an email?

Tears blurred her vision, and her fingers trembled so much that she clicked several times before clicking on the email from Xander.

Probably too excited, she accidentally touched the return button.

Looking at the main interface of the phone, she couldn't help but doubt the authenticity of the matter.

She wanted to call Xander to make sure it was real, not a prank.

She opened the address book, found Xander's number, and dialed it.

Although Xander died, she did not delete his contact information.

It's like her mother has been dead for several years, and her mother's contact information has always been in her phone.

When she called, she thought she would hear the system alert tone that she couldn't get through, but the phone got through!

She stood up from the sofa with a 'jump', tears sliding down silently.

–Is Xander really not dead?

A strong excitement surged from the bottom of her heart.

"Hello, is that Avery?" A male voice came from the phone.

But this male voice was not Xander's voice.

This was an old male voice. This was the voice of Xander's father.

After Xander's death, the relic was brought back to Bridgedale by his girlfriend and handed over to Xander's parents.

Now Xander's mobile phone can be connected, because Xander's parents keep it.

"Uncle...I...I thought Xander was still alive..." Avery choked up and raised her hand to wipe the tears from her face, "I just received an email, It was sent by Xander. So I called him to try..."

Maddox sighed deeply: "Xander died. He died three years ago."

Avery: "Uncle, I'm sorry, it was my imagination."

It's alright. You said that Xander sent you an email, what's the matter?" Maddox asked.

"I haven't checked the email...but I saw that the email was sent by Xander. Do you know the Neti mailbox? This mailbox is about to be shut down. I don't know if the system is down. I look at the content of the email later."

"Well." Maddox heard the voice of the airport broadcast coming from her side, "If there is nothing else, hang up first.”

Avery: “Okay.”

Click on Neti mailbox.

The unread email from Xander caught her eye.

After taking a deep breath, Avery immediately clicked into the email.

Avery:

When you see this email, please think back to the scene when we were in Yonroeville 18 years ago. Because this email was written to you 18 years ago by me sitting in my hotel room. Please be patient and read it before contacting me.

Whether you resent me or understand me, I accept it.

About a week ago, you said that your period was delayed. I took you to the hospital for a check-up, but you fell asleep on the medical bed. The doctor gave me your ultrasound form, and I was speechless in shock.

You have a tumor in your brain, the tumor is pressing on the nerves in your brain, and the tumor is still growing, you must have surgery as soon as possible. You also called me to come to Yonroeville to help you because of this. How can you get pregnant at a time like this?

Of course it is pointless to pursue this. I thought about telling you this, but your bodyguard told me that you like children very much, and you have a stubborn temper. After knowing the existence of this baby, you may risk your life to give birth to this baby. I feel desperate.

Between you and your baby, of course I choose to protect you.

So I decided to secretly abort your child while you were under anesthesia.

As a result, an accident occurred.

Chapter 1789

You shouldn't have forgotten that your son Hayden came to Yonroeville and killed Cristian with the hand of the housekeeper, so we were trapped in Yonroeville and couldn't leave, right?

I met Rebecca at the hospital. She was troubled by her pregnancy. Because Elliot refused to touch her or have children with her.

I think Elliot should have you in his heart, so he refused to touch her. At that moment, I immediately understood why you came to Yonroeville to look for him regardless of your life. Because the two of you are a match made in heaven, and no matter what happens, it will never let you separate.

At the time of writing this email, I still feel that you will end up together because I believe in true love.

You can probably guess what happened next. I transferred the embryo from your body to Rebecca, who promised to help us leave Yonroeville.

I am writing this email to you, firstly, to confess my mistakes to you and ask you to forgive me. The second is to tell you that the children of Rebecca and Elliot are actually the flesh and blood of you and Elliot.

If you want to find this child, then you go to Yonroeville to find him now! It is not known whether the child is a boy or a girl. But I believe that Rebecca should treat him well.

.....

With a 'bang' sound, the phone fell to the table, making a crisp and deafening sound!

Avery was like being cursed by someone, and the whole person stood still.

Her face was ashen, her lips pursed, as if she wanted to say something, but she couldn't.

Seeing her distraught expression, the waiter immediately stepped forward and handed her a tissue.

"Miss Tate, do you need help? Is there anything I can help you with?" The waiter asked in a low voice.

Avery held a tissue and quickly wiped the tears from her face.

“It’s fine...I’m fine...you don’t have to worry about me...” Avery said quickly, picking up the phone on the table with one hand, dragging the suitcase with the other, and quickly left the Vip waiting room.

When she came to the airport lobby, she found a corner with few people to stop.

She turned on her phone again and checked the email just now.

Mail is still there. She saw clearly this time.

It was sent by Xander. It was a regular email sent by Xander 3 years ago.

If Neti’s mailbox hadn’t been shut down, the email would have been sent to her 18 years later.

Now 15 years ahead.

She couldn’t help but burst into tears!

Haze is her daughter! No wonder Haze looks so much like Layla!

Xander actually did such a thing behind her back! No wonder Xander injected her with general anesthesia twice! She has always suspected Xander’s motive for doing this. It is because of this.

How could Xander do this? How could he do this!

She felt that her internal organs were about to cough up, and her heart was aching to death.

The last trace of reason was pulling in her mind, telling her that Xander was dead, and it was pointless to blame him now.

But her daughter Haze...Where did Haze go? Is she still alive?

If Avery knew from the beginning that Haze was her daughter, she would bring Haze to her side immediately, and Haze would not suffer with the Jobin family.

5 hours later.

Mike's alarm clock went off.

He turned off the alarm clock and dialed Avery.

The country Avery is going to is a five-hour flight from Bridgedale.

The alarm clock he set was when Avery got off the plane.

This time she went on a trip alone, and Mike would inevitably be worried.

She called, but prompted her to turn off her phone.

Mike put down his phone and planned to call her again in 5 minutes.

But 5 minutes later, her phone was still off.

Chapter 1790

Avery changed the itinerary.

After seeing Xander's email, she booked a flight to Yonroeville.

Now, she was on a flight to Yonroeville. She sat on the plane, looking at the scenery outside the window, tears kept falling.

The flight attendant called her, but she didn't answer.

After a while, the purser came over.

"Miss Tate, do you need help?" the steward said softly, "Are you feeling unwell?"

Or..."

Avery quickly wiped away her tears and looked at the blanket in the steward's hand : "It's a little cold, you can just give me the blanket."

"Okay. Do you need hot water?" The steward gave her the blanket and continued to ask.

Avery saw a stewardess next to her holding a glass of water, so she said, "Thank you."

The stewardess immediately handed her warm water.

"Miss Tate, the plane will land in four hours. If you have any questions during this period, you can call us at any time."

“Thank you.”

Avery drank the warm water, spread the blanket over her body, and closed her eyes. She wanted to force herself not to think, not to cry. But there was not a second in her mind that she stopped thinking about the bits and pieces that happened in the Yonroeville.

If it's really weird, it's up to her to blame herself.

Back then in Yonroeville, she had to have a relationship with Elliot. Even though she knew she didn't take contraceptive measures, she still took a fluke and didn't take the morning-after pill. caused an accident.

And Xander's death was probably also because of this child.

Rebecca wanted to completely occupy the child, so he killed Xander who knew the truth.

It's just that Rebecca never dreamed that Xander sent Avery an email before she died.

Thinking of this now, Avery heart still hurts in addition to pain.

Not only Xander and his girlfriend died, but everyone in the Jobin family also died.

All this, what a terrible death game.

And now, she's going to enter this terrible game to find her missing daughter.

She was not afraid, not at all.

If she is afraid, she will not go to Yonroeville alone.

What she is most afraid of now is that her daughter died three years ago.

...

In the evening, Maddox called Avery and wanted to ask what email Xander sent her.

As a result, she didn't get through.

Maddox felt uneasy in his heart, so he found Wesley's number and dialed it.

Wesley was very surprised when he received a call from Maddox.

“Uncle Jenkins, what’s the urgency for you to call so late?” Wesley calculated the time in Bridgedale, it was already very late.

Maddox sighed: “Today, Avery called and said that Xander sent her an email.

Then I called her to ask what email Xander sent her, but I couldn’t get through to her. Xander has been dead for three years, how can he still send her an email? your aunt and I are confused about this!”

“Xander sent Avery an email?” Wesley Shocked by this bizarre thing, he said,

“Don’t worry, uncle, I’ll contact Avery now to see what’s going on.”

Wesley hung up the phone and turned to Avery.

Just like what Maddox said, Avery’s phone couldn’t get through.

Chapter 1791

Wesley had to call Mike.

Mike’s phone got through as soon as he called.

“Mike, why can’t I get through to Avery’s phone?” Wesley asked.

“I can’t get through either. I took Avery to the airport at noon, and I haven’t contacted her yet. She was quite normal when she was at the airport. There’s no reason to get off the plane and never turn it on!” Mike was bald for most of the day.

He planned to fly to the country to find Avery where she traveled, if he couldn’t contact her after tonight.

“Avery received an email from Xander today. Didn’t she tell you?” Wesley told Mike that Maddox had called him just now.

“No! Isn’t Xander dead? He sent her emails? This is too strange! Is it possible that someone faked Xander’s account and sent her emails?!” Mike started the conspiracy theory, “Should she not be deceived?”

Wesley: "..."

Wesley didn't think like Mike. He thought that Xander might still be alive...

"Stop talking! Avery called me back!" After Mike exclaimed, he hung up Wesley's phone.

Avery got off the plane now and found a hotel to stay first. After turning it on, she saw Mike's serial deadly calls. She immediately called him back.

Mike was in a hurry, if he didn't make it clear to him. He may fry the pot in a hurry.

"Avery!" Mike shouted anxiously after getting on the phone, "Did you receive an email from Xander today? Where are you now? Tell me clearly! Send me the location!"

"I'm now in Yonroeville." Avery sat by the bed, exhausted physically and mentally, but couldn't close her eyes.

Mike: "What are you doing in Yonroeville? Is Xander still alive? Isn't the ashes sent back to Bridgedale? Avery, you..."

"Haze is my daughter." When Avery said this, her emotions broke down again,

"Mike, Haze is my daughter. Do you still have a picture of Haze in your phone?

Can you send me the picture? "

Mike was stunned.

"Xander sent me a timed e-mail three years ago. Neti's mailbox went bankrupt, so he sent me the timed e-mail he sent me in advance." Avery choked out the matter,

"Mike, I hate it! When I saw Haze's photo at the time, I clearly thought she and Layla were carved out of the same mold, but I didn't dare to think that she was my daughter at the time! Obviously Layla was like me! Not like Elliot! Why did I then Why don't you come to Yonroeville to find Haze?"

"Avery, don't cry!" Mike's mind was a little confused, "Isn't Haze already dead?

What can you do when you go to Yonroeville now?"

“Who said Haze died? Has this matter been confirmed? Haze’s body has been found?” Avery had never heard of this incident, so she was stunned.

The news she heard at the time was that Haze’s body could not be found, and Haze was missing.

Mike was also stunned, “I haven’t heard the exact news either. After you divorced Elliot, we both came to Bridgedale...”

“So Haze may not be dead.” Avery emotionally said, “I want to find Haze. I will definitely find her!”

“Avery, don’t be stubborn! If Haze was really still alive, she would have been found by Elliot! Even Elliot couldn’t find her, think you can find it?” Mike decided to go to Yonroeville to find her now.

Avery’s tone indicated that she was extremely unstable now.

Mike was worried that something would happen to her impulse.

“You subconsciously think that he is better than me, why do you look down on me? Why can’t he find it, so I can’t find it? I have to find Haze!” Avery said angrily and hung up the phone.

Mike was speechless. He knew he was wrong.

In his eyes, Elliot was a very powerful character. But Avery was equally powerful.

Just when Mike was struggling to call her to apologize, Avery called Mike again.

Mike picked up the phone immediately.

“Mike, Haze is my daughter, don’t tell me first.” Avery confessed, “If I can find Haze, I will definitely raise her myself.”

Chapter 1792

The reason why Avery called Mike to remind him was because she was afraid that Elliot would follow her to grab her daughter after knowing it.

Avery hadn’t seen Robert for three years. She doesn’t know if she will be able to meet Robert successfully when she returns to Aryadelle. She couldn't give him custody of Haze because she was worried that it would be difficult to see Haze in the future.

Although Haze may not be alive, it is better to have hope than to directly sentence the child to death.

Mike understood what was on Avery's mind. The reason for her divorce from Elliot was Haze.

If it was known early on that Haze was the child of the two of them, there would not have been so many incidents in the future.

Now they know that Haze is their child, but their relationship has long since broken.

After hanging up, Mike went to the bathroom to wash his face with cold water. Suddenly, Avery wanted a photo of Haze in his mind. He had saved Haze's photos in his phone before, but he didn't deliberately delete the photos, so he should still have them in his phone.

Mike came out of the bathroom, found Haze's photo on his mobile phone, sent it to Avery, and dialed Chad's number. He wanted to inquire about Haze's situation. Mike called Chad, and after a while, Chad answered the phone.

Chad: "Mike, I'm very busy today..."

Mike had never called at this point before.

"Chad, I have something very important to ask you, you go to the bathroom to hide first!" Mike demanded.

"What's wrong with you! Hurry up and say, what's the important thing?" Chad listened to him and went to the bathroom.

"I want to ask about Haze. Would it be convenient for you to tell me directly?"

Mike asked, "Didn't Elliot go to Yonroeville to find Haze? What was the final result?"

Chad didn't expect that he would ask this question.

"Why did you ask me this question during my time at the company? Who asked you this question?" Chad walked towards the bathroom.

In the past two years or so, Mike had not asked Haze any questions, but now he was suddenly anxious to ask this question.

"It just suddenly occurred to me that I don't seem to know whether the child has been found or not. You can think that I am too busy." Mike remembered Avery's reminder to him.

If he can't let Elliot know, then it's best not to tell Chad.

After all, the two of them work together every day, even if Chad can't stop telling Elliot when he's sober, what if the two of them drink together one day and Chad misses the point?

"Are you joking? What does this have to do with you! You're embarrassed to say it's important!" Chad scolded and chattered out of the bathroom, "I'll answer you now, I don't know. Because I didn't go to Yonroeville at that time, I didn't ask them."

Mike: "They?"

Chad: "Besides my boss, Brother Ben also went. If you really want to know the whereabouts of that child, go to Brother Ben and ask."

Mike: "Humph! I wouldn't ask Ben Schaffer directly! I'll let Gwen ask."

"You are so smart." Chad boasted, "but I think my boss didn't found Haze. I didn't hear any news or anything at all. If there is news, I am not completely unheard of."

Chapter 1793

"I remember that you didn't seem to have told me the follow-up of this matter. I thought I had messed up!" Mike's voice gradually decreased.

Now Avery ran to Yonroeville to find Haze. If she couldn't find the whereabouts of the child, she would definitely not stop.

If there is definite news that the child is dead, it's nothing, long pain is worse than short pain! I am afraid that there is no news, no whereabouts, and people have no direction, so they can only look for them like a headless fly.

Yonroeville.

After Avery rested overnight, the next morning, she took a taxi to the door of Nick's house. She didn't call Nick because the hotel she stayed in was not far from Nick's house.

When she came to the door of Nick's detached villa, she rang the doorbell.

Soon, the servant in the villa stuck his head out.

Seeing Avery, the servant strode to the gate of the courtyard.

"Who are you?" The servant looked at Avery's face and didn't recognize it for a while.

"I'm Avery. I've been here three years ago." Avery explained her purpose,

"because it's too early, so I didn't call Nick. I don't know if he's at home or not."

The door opened to let her in: "you came by coincidence. Our master went on a business trip for a while and only came back yesterday. He hasn't got up yet, so go to the living room and wait for a while!"

Avery: "Okay, thank you."

The servant looked at her and asked, "Why did you come alone?"

Avery sighed, "I divorced Elliot."

"Oh, I know! I'm asking why you didn't bring a bodyguard?" After Avery entered the living room, The servant poured her a glass of water, "Have you eaten breakfast?"

Avery: "I've eaten, you can do your job, don't worry about me."

At 10:00 a.m., Nick came downstairs slowly.

Seeing Avery sitting on the sofa in the living room, Nick's eyes widened, thinking that he hadn't woken up from his dream.

"Third brother." Avery got up from the sofa and walked towards the stairs, "I take the liberty to come to disturb you, I have some questions to ask you."

Nick looked at her in shock: "No, are you looking for Wrong person? Didn't you and Elliot never get along with each other? Elliot and I are still good brothers!"

Avery took Nick's arm and whispered: "Third brother, let's go to your study to talk " But I haven't eaten yet! I'm so hungry." Nick let go of her hand, "If you have something to say, just tell me! My family is full of people I can trust, and I promise not to let our chats go to waste or leak it out."

Nick said as he walked towards the dining room.

Avery followed him to the dining room.

Avery: "Third brother, I want to ask you about the Jobin family being destroyed three years ago."

The two sat down in the dining room, and the servant immediately brought the food to the table, and then retired.

"It's been three years since this matter, why did you suddenly care?" Nick looked at her in confusion, "Didn't you divorce Elliot three years ago because of this matter? Logically, you shouldn't want to the right thing to mention."

"I mainly want to know Haze's whereabouts." Avery explained her purpose, "I have been having nightmares recently, dreaming that Haze begged me to save her in a dream, I felt that I had to come over. You can't go, otherwise it will be very uncomfortable to have nightmares all the time."

"Is there such a strange thing?" Nick's appetite dropped sharply, "Haze didn't give you dreams three years ago, but now she gives you dreams? Did she just die recently?"

Avery: "What do you mean? Have you never found Haze?"

"That's right! Haze was taken away by the driver of the Jobin family at the time, and he managed to escape. But the driver was a gambler... After he rescued Haze, he sold Haze directly. After digging up this clue, Elliot took the entire criminal gang, but still couldn't find Haze." Nick told her the whereabouts of Haze. Avery's body became cold, and she held the chopsticks in her hand were nonstopable trembling.

Chapter 1794

–Sold!

–Her daughter was sold!

This made Avery more worried than hearing that her daughter was dead.

Haze was sold as soon as she was born, who was she sold to? No matter who it is sold to, She was afraid that the child would have to suffer a lot. She couldn't accept the result.

Nick was very puzzled when he saw her tears falling like a broken thread.

Nick: "Why are you crying? Isn't it good that this child is gone? You and Elliot divorced because of this child!"

Avery looks like Haze is someone very important to her.

She remembered that Elliot didn't cry in front of outsiders because of Haze.

"What? I divorced Elliot, not because of this child. This child is innocent." Avery said, choked up and asked, "Didn't you find out where this child was sold? Is it still there? Yonroeville, or was it sold to another country?"

"I think this child may have been sold to another country. Because we sent people to search across Yonroeville and couldn't find her. Either she died or went to another country." When Nick said this, he felt that Avery's mood was too wrong,

"Why are you so sad? You came to me, does Elliot know?"

Avery said, "He doesn't know. I haven't contacted him for a long time. Don't tell him that I came to you."

"Oh..." Nick narrowed his eyes, "Avery, I think you are hiding something to me. Haze is not your Child, even if this child entrusts you with a dream, you can completely ignore it. How can you take the dream seriously?"

"Because Haze and my daughter Layla look very similar. You have seen Layla and Haze, you should know How similar they are." Avery replied.

Nick suddenly realized: "It's because of this reason. The two children are indeed a bit similar. But I can't remember what Haze looks like. It's been so long, even if Haze is still alive, I'm afraid ..."

When Nick said this, he couldn't bear it in his heart, and he didn't continue to say the next words.

Avery's eyes were wet, and she held back her tears: "I'm afraid what?"

"Avery, I heard that your parents divorced when you were very young, and your stepmother passed the door soon. You had a hard time when you were young, right?" Nick's mouth curled into a smile, "You are still by your biological father's side, no matter where Haze is sold, it will definitely not be as good as your childhood life."

Avery's heart sank one by one.

Avery: "Where do the criminal gangs usually sell their children?"

"What are you asking about?" Nick was puzzled, "Avery, don't you want to find this child?"

"Didn't Elliot continue to look for this child?" Avery didn't answer and asked, "This is his own daughter, has he stopped looking for this child?!"

Avery's eyes were sharp and her tone was stern, as if she was going to slap the desk in the next second.

Nick had no appetite to continue eating, so he put down the tableware.

“After Elliot returned to Aryadelle, I didn’t ask him this question. After all, I think most of this child will never be found. Wouldn’t asking him pierce his heart? If he finds the child, I can’t be without any news! “

Nick’s voice was settled, Avery got up from the chair with a ‘teng’.

“You haven’t told me where that criminal gang usually sells children!” Avery’s voice was cold and she seemed determined.

Nick picked up the water glass and took a sip: “It’s usually sold to neighboring big countries. In countries with a good economy, children can also sell at higher prices. Aryadelle is also a big country closer to us.”

“Thank you.” Avery took a breath and was ready to leave.

“You came here specifically to ask me this question?” Nick also stood up from his chair, “Don’t you think Haze is your daughter?”

Avery stopped, but did not look back: “I want to To determine if she is my daughter, a paternity test is required. But I have never met her, so how can I be sure that she is my daughter?”

Avery: “Oh, I understand, you want to find this child and do a paternity test.”

Chapter 1795

“Third brother, how are you feeling recently?” Avery didn’t want to continue this heavy topic, so he changed the topic.

“I’m feeling a little bad. At present, the doctors in Yonroeville can still solve my medical needs.” Nick laughed, “I heard that you have been studying for the past two years... Now you are a doctor. “

Avery: “Huh.”

Nick said, “Would you like to spend a few more days here? I’ll show you around. You’re going to leave as soon as you come, right?”

Avery asked, "I want to go to Jobin's house to see."

Nick said, "What's so good about Jobin's house? After the killing of the family, the house has been vacant for three years."

Avery asked, "Then take me there. Look at the den of that criminal gang. Are there any people in that gang still alive?"

"It seems that you still want to find Haze." Nick narrowed his shrewd eyes and said, "The felons in that gang are all felons. They're locked up in jail. But he doesn't know anything about misdemeanors. You can't get any results if you ask."

Avery: "Then please take me to the prison to see if you have any questions in the future. If something needs my help, I must define it."

Aryadelle.

7 a.m.

Elliot was woken up by the phone ringing. Before he could reach for his phone, Robert next to him climbed to the bedside table and picked up his phone.

Layla was not at home recently, so Robert was very attached to him and always slept with him at night.

Of course Elliot would not refuse his son's request. Because Elliot has been sleeping with Robert recently, the relationship between father and son is getting better and better.

"Baby, give your phone to Dad." Elliot said in a hoarse voice.

Robert immediately held the phone and handed it to his father.

Robert: "Is it my sister?"

Elliot took the phone, glanced at the screen, and replied, "No. It's an uncle that you don't know."

"Which uncle?" Robert lay in his father's arms, looking curious.

Elliot: "It's your elder."

Elliot put his arms around his son and answered the phone with the other.

“Elliot, have you woken up yet?” Nick had just eaten dinner, and now he was lying in a rattan chair with a bird cage in his hand, talking on the phone while teasing the birds.

“It’s only seven o’clock. What’s the urgency, you have to come to me at this time?”

Elliot got out of bed with his son, planning to take his son to Mrs. Cooper.

“I also wanted to find you later, but I couldn’t help it! Something big has happened, you mustn’t guess hahaha!” Nick deliberately sold off.

Elliot frowned, and his brain opened wide: “Kyrie has been resurrected?”

“Pfft! How dare you guess!” Nick took the bird cage and got up from the reclining chair, “But I think this matter is more Kyrie’s resurrection is more interesting. You can continue to guess.”

“No guessing. You will hang up if you don’t say anything.” Elliot was awakened and felt dizzy.

“Hey, you’re boring like this.” Nick complained, “Avery told me at least twice, let me not tell you.”

Chapter 1796

The friendship between Nick and Avery came through Elliot. So of course Nick would not put Avery’s words first.

If Nick listens to Avery and doesn’t tell Elliot about her coming to Yonroeville, others will tell Elliot about it.

Nick didn’t want Elliot to know this news from others!

“You went to Bridgedale?” Elliot carried his son downstairs.

Mrs. Cooper heard the voice and came out, and immediately took Robert over.

Elliot took the phone and went upstairs again.

“Where do I have the energy to go to Bridgedale? I just came back from a business trip, and I didn't have enough rest for a day, so Avery came here!" Nick laughed, and continued, "Don't you know that I woke up this morning and saw her at my house, I...I thought I was dreaming!"

Nick deliberately exaggerated how shocked he was about this, but he didn't say what Avery was doing.

Elliot had an intuition that this was a bit strange, so he didn't care about his face, and asked in a deep voice, "Why is she looking for you?"

"I'm afraid you won't believe it... She came to me for Haze's business." Nick squinted his fox eyes and asked, "Did you continue to look for Haze after you returned to Aryadelle? Are there any new clues?"

"She came to you for Haze's affairs?" Elliot's Adam's apple rolled up and down, and he felt more Strange, "What does Avery want to do?"

"You haven't answered my question. You answer my question first, and then I answer yours." Nick said lazily.

"I didn't find Haze." After hesitating for a few seconds, Elliot replied, "What exactly does Avery want to do?"

Nick stopped going around in circles: "Avery said that she has been having nightmares recently, and that Haze asked her for help. So she came over to find Haze. Do you think her words are credible?"

Elliot said without hesitation, "No."

Avery hated Rebecca and Haze deeply, otherwise she would not have divorced him.

How could she come to Haze now because of a nightmare? Or, she came to Haze for another purpose?

"I haven't been in contact with her for nearly three years. Maybe she's changed now." Elliot corrected after a brief silence.

“But I don’t think she has changed. She still feels the same to me as before.

But...” Nick said here and paused.

Elliot was standing at the door of the master bedroom. Because of the pause on the phone, his footsteps also stopped.

He quickly thought in his mind the real reason why Avery did this.

“When we were talking about Haze this morning, she couldn’t help crying.” Nick would say from what he thought was strange, “It’s quite sad to cry. At least it took longer than your biological father to find out about Haze’s misfortune. It’s even sadder.”

Elliot frowned tightly: “Are you sure what you said is true?”

How could Avery cry for Haze?

This thing was outrageous!

“I don’t need to lie to you about this. I asked her why, and she said that Haze and Layla look alike, and she might suspect that Haze is her daughter. So she wanted to find Haze and do DNA with Haze. ” Nick explained.

“But now I can’t find Haze at all.” Elliot strode into the master bedroom, “Why did she doubt this issue now? Why didn’t she doubt it before?”

Nick: “I don’t know about that. Maybe Haze really gave her to her recently. It’s a dream. I thought about it, if I have the same nightmare every day, it’s really infiltrative.”

Chapter 1797

Yonroeville.

A five-star hotel.

After Avery parted with Nick, she returned to the hotel and saw Mike in the lobby at a glance.

Mike saw her and immediately got up from the sofa.

“Avery, didn’t you see I sent you a message?” Mike waited for her in the lobby for three hours, “I’m going to starve to death, let’s go to dinner first!”

“I was going to the prison, and the signal was not good there.” Avery saw that he was carrying his luggage, so she asked, “Have you reserved a room?”

Mike replied, “No. You didn’t tell me your room number. I want to live next to you. Or we live in one Presidential suite.”

Avery took him to the front desk and booked a suite for him and the bodyguard.

Avery: “You two live together. I won’t change rooms.”

Mike: “Is it on the same floor as you?”

Avery: “Yes.”

They booked a room, took their luggage to the room and put them away, then went to the hotel restaurant for dinner.

“What were you doing in prison? Haze couldn’t be in prison, right?” Mike chatted casually, “I asked Chad, and Chad said that Elliot probably didn’t find Haze.”

“Have you cried? Your eyes are swollen.” Mike sniffed and comforted her and continued, “Don’t be sad. It’s best to find that child, and it’s not your fault that you can’t find it. After all, this has already passed. It’s been three years. It’s been too long.”

“If we do everything, we start to find reasons for ourselves before we start doing it, and we can’t do anything.” Avery glanced at the menu and really lost her appetite, so she passed the menu to Mike.

“Then you can’t stay here all the time, can you?” Mike took the menu and glanced at her, “You set a deadline, if you can’t find it after a long time, forget it.”

“I won’t stay here for a long time.” Avery picked up the kettle and poured herself a glass of water, and said, “Haze should not be here anymore.”

“Oh? Do you know where she went?” Mike asked, and also handed her a glass of water.

"I don't know. I can only go to the nearby countries to find them one by one."

Avery said his plan, and continued, "I don't know how long I will be looking for, but I'll talk when I can't find it!"

"Okay, anyway, It's okay now...but we can send someone to look for it. We don't need to run around by ourselves." Mike suggested, "As long as we pay, more people will work for us. We can find better detectives."

Avery said, "We can use any method. First of all, we have to find out whether she is still alive."

"Well...you haven't said what you are going to do in prison today." Mike picked up the water glass, took a sip of water.

"When the Jobin family had an accident, the driver of the Jobin family took Haze away. So Haze didn't die in that shooting. But the driver was a gambler, and he sold Haze to a criminal gang. I was going to jail today, went to meet the people of the criminal gang."

"Oh... did you ask for any useful information?" Mike pressed.

Avery shook her head, "The felons are all dead. The people who are now in prison are all insignificant people in the gang. For example, I went to see today, there are very old people and middle-aged women who are in charge of cooking, and teenage children..."

Mike listened to her words and chuckled: "Avery, your thoughts are too naive. You said they were insignificant people, who told you that The guards in the prison?"

Avery: "Nick said the same thing."

"He's an a$$! They all talk about people and ghosts, you trust them, it's better to trust the roadside fortune-tellers.." Mike drank the water in the glass and put down the water glass, "Do you know what needs to be done in a criminal gang to join the gang?"

Chapter 1798

Avery has never been a member of a criminal gang, so naturally she doesn't know what to do when she joins the gang.

Mike whispered, "If you want to join the gang, you must show sincerity. Sincerity is to do a bad thing and prove that you are a bad person. So the old people and women in the prison are not insignificant people. Moreover, the criminals in a gang are not insignificant. Why do you think some people know and some don't?"

Avery felt that what Mike said was very reasonable, but she was a little puzzled:

"Why did Nick lie to me?"

Mike: "Then how do I know?"

"I understand why Elliot doesn't understand? This criminal gang was destroyed by Elliot." Avery continued to raise doubts.

"Maybe these people are more strict and refuse to confess!" Mike wrote lightly,

"From my experience, it is impossible to keep secrets in a gang."

"It's like you have been in that kind of gang." Avery saw that his water glass was empty, so she picked up the kettle and poured water for him.

"You forgot what I do? As the world's top hacker, I know a lot of unknown secrets in this world." Mike said eloquently, "What you can usually see on the Internet is not in the online world. Ninety-five percent of the content is invisible to ordinary netizens."

Avery asked, "Why can't ordinary people see the remaining ninety-five percent?"

"Because It's all things that the law does not allow ordinary people to see." Mike explained lightly.

Avery: "I see, you're talking about the dark web."

Mike: "Yes, you can understand that."

"Can you find Haze on the dark web?" Avery wanted to use all available methods to find the child's whereabouts.

Mike replied, "I'll try it later. I didn't tell Hayden about Haze. Then you can tell him!"

Avery: "Well."

Aryadelle.

Today was Gwen's first day of work after returning to Aryadelle.

Ben Schaffer drove her to the company.

Hendrix, Gwen's domestic agent, is Lexie's friend. Lexie explained the situation of Gwen to Hendrix on the phone. Hendrix said that he would definitely try his best to bring Gwen.

The car stopped at the entrance of the company, Gwen got out of the car and saw Hendrix standing in the lobby on the first floor.

They had seen each other's pictures, so they recognized each other at a glance.

"Brother Hendrix, hello. I'm Gwen." Gwen greeted Hendrix generously.

Hendrix took a look at Gwen and was quite satisfied with her appearance, body and temperament.

"Hello, you will follow me from now on. If there is a job that suits you, I will arrange it for you. If you have anything, you can communicate with me at any time. I have been friends with Lexie for decades, you follow me, no need Restraint." Hendrix said, looking at Ben Schaffer who came in with Gwen, "Who is this?"

"Hello, this is my business card." Ben Schaffer handed the business card over and introduced himself, "I'm Gwen's boyfriend."

Hendrix took a careful look at the business card he handed over.

After seeing the position of Chief Financial Officer of Sterling Group, Hendrix's eyes flashed with panic.

Lexie didn't tell him that Gwen had such an awesome boyfriend, could it be that Lexie didn't know?

"Are you guys a serious boyfriend or girlfriend?" Hendrix pulled Gwen aside and asked in a low voice, "Lexie didn't tell me."

"Because my relationship with him has not been settled yet." Gwen was embarrassed explain.

Ben Schaffer heard their conversation clearly.

Chapter 1799

"Oh, your boyfriend must be quite old, right? Is he married or unmarried? Do you have a future with him? You are young now, and it's time to fight for your career..." Hendrix said.

Ben Schaffer walked over and interrupted him.

"Mr. Hendrix, I'm not married, and Gwen and I are in a serious relationship. We are going to get married." As soon as Ben Schaffer said this, Hendrix looked at Gwen with a bewildered face.

"You go first! You don't have to pick me up later, I'll go back by myself!" Gwen sent Ben Schaffer away.

After Ben Schaffer left, Gwen walked up to Hendrix again: "Brother Hendrix..."

"Don't call me brother. I can't afford it!" Hendrix wondered, "Your boyfriend is so good, Did you come out to work to pass the time?"

"No... I'm really in a relationship with him, but I don't know if we can get married! Who can say better in the future, relying on men is better than relying on yourself. In the future, you can arrange the work for me. I am not afraid of hardship or fatigue." Gwen assured.

Hendrix breathed a sigh of relief: "If your work is just for ticketing, then I can give you to someone else to take you. Because I don't have time to play with you."

"Brother Hendrix, trust me, I will never treat work as a child's play."

Ben Schaffer drove to Sterling Group. He originally asked for a week's leave, but Gwen only took three days off, so Ben couldn't play any more and had to come to the new company to report.

He can only take leave early and go back to the company. Back at the company, he came to Elliot's office.

"Elliot, I have a question and I want to ask for your advice." Ben entered the office and saw the vice president was there."

The vice president smiled: "We're done talking. I'll go out first."

After the vice president went out, Ben Schaffer immediately walked to the chair opposite Elliot and sat down.

"Gwen has gone to work. I checked her new company in Aryadelle. It's not a big company, but its strength is not bad." Ben said, "Do you want me to directly buy shares, so that I can take care of Gwen."

Elliot glanced at him: "Why don't you just transfer the money to her and tell her not to go to work."

"Gwen doesn't agree. She said I used money to insult her." Ben Schaffer looked helpless, "I just don't want to let her go to work. She worked so hard, but she felt that I had ulterior motives. She said that I wanted to destroy her."

Elliot: "Is it so serious?"

Ben Schaffer explained, "Gwen said that their business is to eat young people. If she doesn't make money now, she will be old in the future. It's even more impossible to get ahead. She also makes sense. So I can only let her go to work."

"Since you respect her so much, you should ask her directly to see if she is willing to let her go to work. You are her boss." Elliot said.

Ben: "Oh...Gwen definitely doesn't want to."

"Since you know the result, why bother to ask me?" Elliot picked up the coffee cup and took a sip.

"Drinking coffee early in the morning, didn't sleep well last night?" Ben Schaffer leaned back in his chair and looked at him, "I asked Gwen about Avery, do you want to hear it?"

Elliot concentrated on drinking coffee, and said to him, Turn a deaf ear.

"There are no outsiders here, as long as you say what you want, I will..." Ben Schaffer teased.

"Avery is in Yonroeville now." Elliot put down the coffee cup and looked at him, "Gwen shouldn't know, right?"

The smile on Ben Schaffer's face disappeared: "Why did Avery go to Yonroeville? Gwen only told me about her. Now that she is rich, she will not have to work for the rest of her life. Gwen doesn't know how she got her money."

"Very rich?" Elliot murmured, "Gwen said that she is very rich. What we think is very rich is a concept?"

Chapter 1800

These words made Ben Schaffer slap the table and laugh.

"At first, I didn't suspect anything wrong with her words. I thought I knew a big secret. Now that you say this, I realize that I may be a little stupid. Gwen is very rich, how much money can she have? Ha? Haha! One million is a lot of money for her."

Seeing Ben laughing at himself, Elliot could feel that he was in a good mood.

"Elliot, you just said that Avery went to Yonroeville, what's the matter? You talk about it!" Ben Schaffer thought of this question and sat upright, "Well, why did she go to Yonroeville? I remember she was in Yonroeville has no relatives or friends!"

“She wants to find Haze.” Elliot said, and rubbed his eyebrows, “She suspects that Haze is her child. She wants to find Haze for a paternity test.”

“This...” Ben Schaffer had an unbelievable look on his face, “Haze has been missing for three years. Why did she only think of looking for Haze for a paternity test? Actually, when I saw Haze’s photo, I thought Haze looked like her, but I didn’t dare. After all, the child’s appearance is quite metaphysical. I heard that she can grow and change... It may be like her father and mother at a certain stage.”

Elliot whispered, “Why did Avery suddenly have this idea? She has seen pictures of Haze before. It stands to reason that if she wants to doubt, she can’t doubt it now.”

“Yeah! It’s been three years, and I almost forget what Haze looks like. Does Avery look at Haze’s photos every day?” Ben Schaffer wondered, “She is looking for Haze in Yonroeville now, who told you? Is it Nick?”

Elliot: “Well.”

“Then do you want to go over there?” Ben Schaffer raised his eyebrows and asked, “Didn’t we find Haze at the beginning? You must not have let go of this daughter. Since Avery is also looking for this child, you can go and find her together. Haze is really the daughter of the two of you...”

Ben Schaffer paused when he said this.

This thing is so exciting!

If Haze is really their daughter, Ben doesn’t know how they will end up. After all, the two of them got divorced for this child in the first place.

“Do you think this is possible?” Elliot was shocked by his assumption.

“Isn’t there a saying that aside from all the impossible, the rest, no matter how unbelievable, are facts. Haze is like Layla, and Layla is like Avery. After reasoning like this, how can Haze be Avery? how can Haze is Avery’s child?” Ben Schaffer’s tone became more serious, "Furthermore, Avery will not doubt Haze's life experience for no reason, is it possible that she knows some facts that we don't know?"

Elliot's eyes were deep, and his brain was running at a high speed.

"Elliot, you'd better go to Yonroeville to see! Whether Haze is Rebecca's daughter or Avery's daughter, this child has already been determined to be your daughter anyway." Ben Schaffer said.

"I can't let Robert go." Elliot thought about how lonely and pitiful Robert would be after he left, Robert was left alone.

"There's nothing to let it go. He's three years old now, and he can say that he can run. If you think he's too lonely, you can ask Shea to bring the child to accompany him more! It's really not good but I'll help you take care of the child that's fine."

"You help me take care of the child?" Elliot thought this sentence was ironic, "You can't even handle a woman, can you handle my son?"

Ben Schaffer shrugged helplessly, "Your son is much easier to handle than your sister. I'll take Robert to eat and drink. Having fun, I guarantee that Robert will like me. I am good to Gwen, and Gwen always thinks I have other plans. I know your heart has been shaken. You go first and see if you can figure out Avery. Why did Avery suddenly pay attention to Haze's affairs?"

Yonroeville.

The sun was rising, and the sun shone through the light-colored curtains into the hotel room.

Avery woke up from a nightmare. After waking up, she stared blankly at the strange things in the room, and beads of sweat fell from her forehead.

After a while, the doorbell rang.

She walked to the door and opened the door.

“Have you had a power outage here?” Mike was sweating profusely, and pressed the switch in her room, but the light didn’t turn on, “This is a broken hotel, and the power is still out! It’s killing me!”

Mike’s voice settled, There was a sound of fire truck sirens downstairs.

Chapter 1801

“Fire.” After Avery finished speaking, he immediately pulled Mike and ran outside.

Other guests on the same floor also came out of the room one after another.

Because of the power outage, the elevator was unavailable, and everyone had to leave through the safe passage.

Fortunately, there was no crowding.

When everyone descended to the first floor in an orderly manner, they smelled a pungent burnt smell.

“It’s a fire on the first floor.” Avery took Mike out of the hotel, and after breathing in the fresh air, he breathed a sigh of relief.

“It seems to be the restaurant we ate at last night.” Mike took a breath and coughed a few times, “Fortunately, it wasn’t a fire when we ate last night, it’s f*cking terrible!”

Avery: “Such a big fire, if it wasn’t made by humans, then there would be a big problem with the hotel’s firefighting.”

“I was sleepy to death in the early morning, but now I am completely awake.”

Mike said, looking at Avery, “Isn’t that the clothes you wore last night? You didn’t take a shower last night?”

Avery blushed: “I was so sleepy last night, I plan to get up this morning to wash.”

“Then why don’t we change hotels!” Mike thought Change hotel to catch up.

Avery: “But our luggage is still in this hotel. Let’s take our luggage out when the fire is out!”

“Okay! Let’s have breakfast first!” Mike dragged her away from the hotel door.

Now there are crowds of watchers and guests who escaped from the hotel at the entrance of the hotel.

They found a breakfast shop near the hotel and sat down.

Avery was hot and stuffy, worried about the fire in the hotel, so she had no appetite.

Mike brought her a bowl of porridge and put it in front of her.

“Many people came over for breakfast today, and there’s nothing left in the store.”

Mike was having fun, he continued, “We’re not too late, at least we still have porridge to drink. The people who come later have no more porridge to drink.”

In response, Avery lowered her head and drank the porridge.

At the next table, someone chatted about the hotel fire.

“I heard that the hotel wanted to fire an employee in the restaurant, but the employee didn’t want to leave. The two sides didn’t reach an agreement, so the employee deliberately set fire to it.”

“Why is this person so extreme? There is a place to stay, can this person find another job after leaving this hotel?”

“Yes! This person entered the restaurant by relationship. Because she looks a bit handsome, and she is with the chef. , so the head chef opened the back door for her.”

“Since this person looks a bit good-looking, why can’t she go and stay in this hotel?”

“Because this person has no identity and came from a criminal gang which is escaped from the criminal gang... More than two years ago, the criminal gang was wiped out, and only she survived and escaped.”

“D*mn it! No wonder the hotel wants to fire her! No wonder she was able to deliberately set fire to it. Such a terrible thing!"

...

Avery got up from the chair when she heard this. She quickly ran towards the hotel.

Chapter 1802

Mike tried to chase Avery, but didn't catch up.

She runs too fast.

When Mike ran to the door of the hotel, he saw Avery getting into an ambulance!

The bodyguard stood behind Mike and asked, "Should we chase her?"

"How? Chase four wheels with two legs, you can't figure it out." Mike turned around and walked towards the breakfast shop and said, "In the ambulance, There are doctors and police, so she will be fine. When she is done, she will come back naturally."

The bodyguard: "Oh, the boss is getting more and more self-willed."

Mike said, "Avery thinks Haze is still alive. So she wants to find this child quickly. Do you think this child is still alive?"

The bodyguard said firmly, "Of course not. But this is not ruled out. The child may still be alive. If I can imagine things like God, I will be a bodyguard. I will go directly to be the big boss."

Mike: "Actually, I also really hope that this child is still alive. If this child is still alive, it must be Layla 2.0. , when the time comes, there are four children, two on each side, so it will be fair."

The bodyguard: "You think this is dividing pork! What is fair and unfair, whoever raises the child should give the child to whomever. Obviously, Layla should be raised by our boss. Elliot is completely bullying others!"

Mike looked at him: "You can say that, why don't you go to Elliot to reason?"

The bodyguard confessed: "I don't dare."

The hospital.

After Avery followed the ambulance into the emergency room, she quickly learned from the police who the arsonist was.

After a series of rescues, the killer was sent to the ward.

About two hours later, the killer woke up.

Avery entered the ward with the attending doctor.

"Miss Tate, if you have anything to ask, ask quickly. Otherwise, it won't be easy if the police come in later." The attending doctor said to Avery.

"Thank you." Avery said thanks, walked to the hospital bed, and looked at the woman with gauze on her face, "Hello, my name is Avery. I am a doctor and a mother. About three years ago, Jobin's family was destroyed, but Rebecca's daughter was taken away by the driver and escaped. But the driver later sold the child to a gang... That child, not Rebecca's daughter, She is my daughter."

The woman on the hospital bed listened to her words, her eyes remained cold, until she said the last sentence, the expression in the woman's eyes changed slightly.

"I only recently learned that the child is actually my child. I missed that child for three years, and now the child may be long gone, but as a mother, I have to go to her, what if she is still alive? Avery said here, her eyes were wet, and she choked, "Can you tell me where The child was sold?"

"I know. But If I tell you, what benefits can I get?" The woman's voice on the hospital bed was weak.

"What benefits do you want?" Avery heard that she knew Haze's whereabouts, and her eyes lit up instantly, "As long as I can do it, I will satisfy you."

"Come closer."

Avery immediately put her head close past.

The attending doctor watched them beside them, curious about what they said.

But pricked up his ears, he couldn't hear what they were saying.

But it can be guessed that this arsonist must have asked Avery for money, or asked Avery to find a way to bail her and send her out of Yonroeville.

After listening to the woman's request, Avery looked embarrassed.

But in order to find out Haze's whereabouts, Avery nodded after thinking for a while.

Chapter 1803

"What you want, I will bring it to you before dark today." Avery promised her, "But now you must tell me, where is my daughter Haze sold? If you know more details information, it would be better."

"I don't know more detailed information." The woman answered quickly, "I just heard them talk about this child being Elliot's daughter...it should be the child you're talking about?"

"Yes! That's the child." Avery leaned over to her and asked, "Where has she been sold to?"

The woman told Avery the answer.

Avery seemed relieved after getting the answer. She turned around and walked towards the attending doctor.

The two came out of the ward.

Before waiting for the doctor in charge to ask, Avery said first: "Is euthanasia legal on your side?"

The doctor in charge was stunned for a moment: "Why do you ask this all of a sudden? That arsonist wants to be euthanized?"

Avery nodded: "She doesn't want to go to jail, She just want to die without pain. In our country, euthanasia is illegal. I don't know your side."

"Our side is not legal at the moment. Only conscious and critically ill patients can apply for euthanasia. This arsonist definitely does not meet the application requirements." The attending doctor said, "If she tells you the answer you want to know, then you should leave her alone."

Avery was very entangled in her heart.

But since it is illegal, she will definitely not do illegal things.

"Inject her with a small dose of sleeping pills and let her get a good night's sleep!"

Avery quickly made a decision, "Thank you very much for helping me. If you go to Bridgedale in the future, I will invite you to dinner."

The attending doctor: "You are going to leave. already?"

Avery nodded: "I hope you can keep it a secret about my visit to the hospital. I don't want too many people to know about it until the child is found."

"Okay. Then we will have a chance to see you later."

Attending doctor watched Avery. After Avery left, He went and prepared sleeping pills.

Avery came out of the hospital and took a taxi to the hotel. She came out in a hurry in the morning and did not bring her mobile phone.

Mike and the bodyguard were waiting for her in the lobby on the first floor of the hotel.

Seeing the two of them, Avery immediately grabbed her phone from Mike and went to pay for the taxi.

"I'm done? What's the result? Did you find any news?" Mike followed behind her and asked.

"Well. That person told me that the child should have been sold to Aryadelle."

Avery paid the bill and looked at Mike, "We will go back to Aryadelle now."

Mike reacted and went to the lobby to pick up his luggage.

Mike: "I've packed your luggage for you. I don't know if you missed anything.

Would you like to go back to your room?"

"No need. Except for my mobile phone and documents, nothing else matters."

Avery checked herself that the documents were all there, so she went to check out immediately.

"Why do I feel so smooth? It's really easy to come by! Avery, you are too good!"

Mike was beside her, blowing rainbow farts, "I thought Elliot was so good! Looking at it this way, he can't compare to you! He didn't bother to find Haze at all!"

Avery whispered, "Don't worry about others. Just do your own thing. I also think it's a little too smooth. I feel a little bit that it's not true."

"Yeah! It's really going well! We just came over and found out Haze's whereabouts." Mike said proudly, and said doubtfully, "Hey, if Haze is in Aryadelle, then what will we do? Definitely can't hide it from Elliot."

Chapter 1804

"Mike, if anyone can bring Haze to me safely, but the custody must be given to Elliot, I have no complaints." Avery's first concern was Haze, not the followed-up child custody issue.

"Since you said that, then we can look for it together with Elliot! There are many people and great power." Mike put forward his own suggestion, "After all, Aryadelle is Elliot's territory."

"I think Elliot should have looked for it in Aryadelle. He cares about this child very much." Avery put the fee returned by the front desk into her bag, turned and walked towards the hotel door, "Let's go back to Aryadelle first. If there is something Elliot can help in the future, it's not too late to find Haze."

Hospital.

According to Avery's request, the doctor injected a small dose of sleeping pills into the arsonist.

The arsonist quickly fell asleep.

In the evening, the arsonist woke up and looked at everything in the ward, stunned!

–Am I not dead? How come am I alive again?

She wanted to move, but the burns on her body hurt badly.

She was not dreaming! She really didn't die!

Avery lied to her!

After a while, the nurse came in to check her temperature and blood pressure.

When she saw the nurse, she immediately screamed, "Where is Avery?! Go and call her!"

"Don't scream, the police are outside!" The nurse voice was settled, and the policeman who was guarding the door of the ward walked in.

The arsonist immediately pursed her lips and did not dare to call out again.

"Miss Tate is not a doctor in our hospital. She has long since left." The nurse answered her question when she saw that she was quiet.

"Where's the doctor who came to see me at noon? Is she still in the hospital?"

The arsonist wondered why she didn't die.

She was now desperate for death!

The fire left her devastated. When she was discharged from the hospital, she would not only be disfigured, but also face a terrible prison. She would rather die than face such a result.

"I'm going to see if the doctor is here. Don't call me again!" The nurse said, and went out.

About five minutes later, the attending doctor entered the ward.

When the arsonist saw the doctor in charge, her eyes suddenly burst into flames:

“You lied to me with Avery! I want to die, why not let me die?!”

“We have no right to kill you. If we do, then we are breaking the law. I hope you can understand.” The doctor explained, “Miss Tate has something to do, she has already left.”

“Hahaha! I knew no one could believe it!” The arsonist laughed in despair, and said, “Fortunately, I’m not stupid. I didn’t believe her nonsense at all. I’m just using her.”

Although the use failed. Avery didn’t know where Haze was sold. The arsonist told Avery that Haze was sold to Aryadelle, which she said casually.

She lied to Avery that she knew, but just wanted to die.

“What are you talking about?” The attending doctor could hear an overtone in her words.

“It’s nothing... don’t talk to me anymore! I don’t believe anyone!” The arsonist gave the doctor a disgusted look, and then closed her mouth.

Aryadelle.

When Elliot came home from get off work, Robert hugged him warmly.

Children are like this, whoever spends more time with him will stick to him more.

Elliot: “Robert, did you have fun at home today?”

“Happy! Dad is home, I’m even happier!” Robert put his arms around Dad’s neck and kissed Dad’s cheek.

Elliot’s heart was about to melt.

Robert and Hayden are both his sons, but Robert and Hayden have very different personalities.

Robert is very lively and warm. Since he can talk more and more, he often asks for kisses and hugs to his father, and he will also say nice things to coax his father.

This is also an important reason why Elliot couldn't bear to leave his son to go to Yonroeville.

Chapter 1805

Among all his children, only Robert really likes Elliot, and the reason is with him.

Before the winter and summer vacations, Layla wanted to take Robert to find Avery in Bridgedale, but Robert was unwilling to go.

Robert prefers to stay at home and be by his father's side.

"Robert, Dad is very happy to see you every day." Elliot hugged his son and sat down on the sofa, "But Dad will be away from home for a few days. Dad is going to a distant place..."

"No!" Robert didn't think about it, frowned, and got angry, "Don't let Dad go!" Elliot knew that his son would react this way, so he took out the gift he brought back.

Elliot: "Look at this robot, it's missing a leg."

Robert's eyes were immediately attracted to the robot.

"Dad is going to a far away place to help the robot get the other leg back. When Dad gets the robot's leg, Dad will go home, okay?" Elliot coaxed patiently.

Robert nodded.

With his son's permission, Elliot dared to book a flight ticket.

Robert played with the robot that was missing a leg.

Mrs. Cooper came over and asked, "Sir, where are you going? How many days are you going to go out for?"

"I'm not sure how many days I will be going out now. I'm going to Yonroeville and I'll be back as soon as possible." Elliot booked his air ticket for tonight and was going back to his room to pack his luggage.

Mrs. Cooper: "Oh...Okay, please pay attention to safety on the road. Don't worry about Robert. I will take care of him."

"Well." Elliot quickly packed his luggage, carrying a small luggage. The box comes out of the master bedroom.

The driver was already waiting in the yard, ready to go.

Before going out, Elliot explained to his son the reason for going out again, and assured his son that he would come back soon.

After going out smoothly, the car drove towards the airport.

At the same time, Avery was in the airport hall of the capital of Yonroeville, waiting for the ticket check.

"I won't come here again in this crappy place." Mike stood beside her, chewing gum in his mouth, his tone was very dissatisfied, "Why don't we let us enter the VIP waiting room? There is no one in it, really I don't know how to be flexible!" Mike's credit card could enter the VIP lounge in Yonroeville, but Avery was not eligible.

So the waiter wouldn't let Avery enter.

Why is Mike so embarrassed to enter the VIP waiting room alone? So he accompanied Avery outside.

"I didn't ask you to come, you have to run here." Avery whispered, "If something happened in the future, if I didn't call you, it means it's not a big deal."

"If you go to another country, I really don't have to follow. It's mainly because I have a shadow on this place." Mike explained, "The Jobin family is such a powerful consortium, if they say they are destroyed, they will be destroyed. This place is too messy!"

Avery said, "So I let you usually Keep a low profile for this reason. It's about to check the ticket, you spit up the chewing gum."

“You can eat chewing gum on the plane.” Mike said and was stunned for a moment.

Avery explained, “It’s mainly because I don’t want to listen to you chewing. I’m a little sleepy. I’m going to sleep on the plane. You can eat it when I fall asleep.”

Chewing gum spit out.

After a long flight, the flight from Aryadelle to Yonroeville landed slowly at the capital airport of Yonroeville.

Elliot and the bodyguard came out of the airport and went directly to Nick’s house.

When Nick saw him, he was as shocked as when he saw Avery that morning!

“Elliot, why are you here?” Nick swallowed, “Avery has left!”

Chapter 1806

Nick didn’t receive the news that Elliot was coming over in advance, so he didn’t tell him that Avery was gone.

Elliot wanted to show that he didn’t come to Yonroeville for Avery, but he couldn’t hide his expression.

“Didn’t she come to look for Haze? No more?”

“I don’t know! She didn’t tell me when she left. I wanted to invite her to dinner, but I couldn’t get through to her phone, so I suspected that she might have left. So I called to the airport to check, and found that she really left.” Nick didn’t know where Avery was looking for Haze.

“Since you’re here, take a vacation and stay with me for a few days!” Nick enthusiastically pulled Elliot to sit down on the sofa, “You came here for Avery, or for Haze’s business.”

I want to know why Avery suddenly suspects that Haze is her daughter.” Elliot looked calm, “She saw Haze’s photo three years ago, not just now.”

“Oh... Then she probably didn’t tell me the truth! After all, I don’t know her that well. And she came to Haze, and she didn't want you to know. I explained it to me several times, and asked me not to tell you... If you ask her why, I'm afraid she won't tell you."

"Of course I won't ask her directly." Elliot had self-knowledge.

Since Avery blocked him more than two years ago and refused to have any communication with him, he knew that the two of them were completely strangers.

"Then what are you doing here? What if Avery didn't leave? Wouldn't the two of you meet?" Nick narrowed his fox eyes, "Since you're here, it means you're ready to meet Avery. In that case, when you return to Aryadelle, you can go to her."

"She has returned to Aryadelle?" Elliot inferred the result from Nick's tone.

"Yeah! She has returned to Aryadelle. I suspect she may have gotten the news from somewhere, thinking that Haze is in Aryadelle, so she flew to Aryadelle nonstop." Nick pondered, "Elliot, didn't you find it in Aryadelle?"

"I didn't find it." Elliot was saddened, "If Haze is still alive now, she is only two years old and less than three years old. If the people who raised her kept her at home, no matter how talented I was, It's impossible to find her."

Nick: "Yeah. You can ask the people around Avery to see what kind of stimulation Avery has experienced, so she insists on looking for Haze. I see her appearance, and she is very determined."

Elliot: "Wait for me to return. Let's talk about Aryadelle!"

...

Aryadelle.

After Avery landed, she returned to the Starry River Villa.

The home has been vacant for three years, but it looks as clean and tidy as when she left three years ago.

She put her luggage down and looked at Mike.

"Do you ask someone to clean every time you go back to Aryadelle?" Avery wiped the coffee table with her fingers, but there was no dust.

Mike shook his head: "No! Every time I go back to Aryadelle, I stay with Chad, but I never come here. Maybe Mrs. Cooper comes to clean from time to time. After all, Mrs. Cooper knows the password here."

Avery responded and dragged Luggage ready to go to the bedroom.

"I'll take a nap first, and I'll talk about everything when I'm asleep."

"Aren't you going to eat something?" Mike asked.

Avery: "I ate on the plane. I'm not hungry now."

"Oh, then you can go to sleep!" Mike slept on the plane, so he's in good spirits.

Avery went back to the room. After closing the door, Mike leaned on the sofa and sent a message to Chad: We are back home! Would you like to come out for a drink?"

Chad: "We're? Who are you with?"

Chapter 1807

Mike: Guess.

Chad was too lazy to guess, so he made a phone call.

Mike felt that his temper was getting more and more impatient.

"You and Hayden came back?" After Mike answered the phone, Chad's voice came.

Mike: "Hayden is still in school! How did he come back with me?"

"Oh... Avery never returned to Aryadelle? Why did she suddenly return to Aryadelle?" Chad pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose.

"When did she say she would never go back to Aryadelle?" Mike took the phone and went back to his room, "You haven't gone to work yet? Why don't you ask for leave today..."

Chad said, "No. I really can't ask for leave today. The boss sent me an email last night saying that he will not go to the company for the next few days. You said that my boss suddenly behaved like this, is it possible that it has something to do with Avery's return to Aryadelle?"

Mike: "How do I know what your boss is doing? I thought. Anyway, we came back to Aryadelle quite abruptly, and we didn't tell anyone."

"Oh, that might be a coincidence! By the way, how many days is Avery going back to Aryadelle this time? Why did she decide to go back?" Chad looked at the time, "Is it convenient for you to go out now? I'll invite you to breakfast."

Now the time in Aryadelle was less than seven in the morning.

Mike: "She's going to make up for her sleep. I can go out, but I'm a little tired. Come over and treat me to breakfast!"

Chad: "Okay."

About half an hour later, Chad came to the breakfast shop near the Starry River Villa.

Mike has already ordered breakfast.

Chad said, "On the way I came, I specifically asked Brother Ben, my boss is no longer in the country. If Avery wants to see Robert, today is a good opportunity!" "Chad, you are really a good spy!" Mike couldn't help laughing, "You used to be loyal to your boss, how has it changed now? If your boss knew about you, he would definitely fire you."

Chad scratched his head: "Avery and I are also good friends! Avery must have returned to Aryadelle this time to take care of the children, right? My boss has not traveled far for the past two years. It was Avery who took care of the children. It's a good time. Otherwise, if my boss is here, Avery may not be able to see the child."

Mike: "Your boss has no right not to let Avery see the child."

Chad: "I know, but the law between them is unclear."

"I'll wait. Go back and tell her later. You are responsible for bringing Robert out."

Mike arranged.

Chad: "I'm going to work, how can I bring Robert? Let Brother Ben take it!"

Mike: "Then tell Ben Schaffer. I have a normal relationship with Ben Schaffer."

"You're stupid! Wouldn't you let Gwen talk? Gwen is taking care of him." Chad laughed, "Ben is actually a very shrewd person, no matter what he does, it will count as a cost. But he overturned with Gwen. He paid the sunk cost, If he doesn't marry Gwen, it will be difficult to end."

Mike: "Cut! Didn't he pay more for Chelsea?"

"No." Chad said, "He didn't think he was worthy of Chelsea, so he didn't pursue it.

He has passed Chelsea. But he is different to Gwen. The day before Gwen returned to Aryadelle, he took a week off and planned to play with Gwen. Now that Gwen goes to work, he drives to pick her up every day. If he has a daughter in the future, It's just the same for his own daughter."

"Just be with an old man like Ben Schaffer and treat him as a donkey. If he can't provide emotional value, it's better to find a young and handsome guy who can at least be eye-catching." When Mike said this, he immediately took out his mobile phone and found Gwen's number.

Chapter 1808

Chad: "Don't talk about it. Brother Ben is quite handsome. Besides, Brother Ben is really nice."

"Yeah, your boss is also a great person in your eyes." Mike teased and turned the clouds away Gwen's number, "Don't talk, I'll call Gwen."

Starry River Villa.

Avery slept for about three hours and was woken up by the sound outside.

When she slept, she forgot to close the curtains.

The sun shines in through the window, shining like gold.

She opened her eyes and didn't get up immediately.

Until a child's voice came.

"Robert, don't tell your father that I brought you to see your mother today." Ben Schaffer hugged Robert and came to Avery's house, feeling uneasy.

Robert knew Ben Schaffer very well, because Ben Schaffer often visited him. So he proposed to bring Robert out to play, and Robert obediently followed him out.

After Robert heard the word 'mother', an unnaturally timid expression suddenly appeared on his little face.

In fact, Robert often communicates with his mother on video.

Sometimes when Layla and Avery in hit a video, they would drag Robert along.

However, Robert didn't dare to call his mother, and he didn't dare to face Avery.

After all, he hadn't gotten along in reality, and he felt very strange.

"I want to go home." Robert looked at Ben Schaffer, and said in a milky voice, "Uncle Ben, I want to go home!"

"We just came out! Can we go back later? I'll get some food for you to Eat." Ben Schaffer said, and took out a bag of baby snacks from the bag that Mrs. Cooper brought him.

When Robert saw the snacks, he stopped yelling and went home.

Avery came out of the master bedroom and saw Robert, who had grown a lot taller, and was stunned in place.

She didn't expect Robert to appear here.

"Robert!" Avery was unable to restrain herself, she strode towards Robert.

Ben Schaffer and Robert looked at Avery one after another.

Ben Schaffer immediately squatted down and explained to Robert: "Look at Robert, this is your mother. Your mother is so beautiful, just as beautiful as your sister, right?"

Robert was so frightened that he immediately hid behind Ben Schaffer, revealing only a pair of Curious eyes, looking at Avery.

Avery stopped when she realized that she scared her son.

"Ben Schaffer, why did you bring Robert here? Does Elliot know?" Avery sat down on the sofa opposite Robert, and although she was asking Ben Schaffer, she kept looking at Robert gently.

Robert held snacks in his hand, watching her while eating.

Robert looked like a miniature version of Elliot, but he was not as serious as Elliot.

Like other children of his age, he was full of cuteness.

"It's a long story. First Mike went to Chad and said you were back. Then Chad told Mike that Elliot has gone abroad and now is a good time for you to see Robert, so Mike asked Gwen and Gwen asked me to bring Robert to you..." After Ben Schaffer told the reason, Avery was very grateful.

"Thank you! I really haven't seen Robert for a long time. Even if I just look at Robert like this now, I'm very satisfied." Avery didn't expect to see her son so smoothly, so for a while, she didn't know what to do measures.

She especially wanted to hug Robert, and wanted to say sorry to Robert. But she knew that this would only scare Robert.

Chapter 1809

"Don't blame Robert. Robert is a child after all, and whoever is around to take care of him will kiss him." Ben Schaffer saw the loss in her eyes, so he comforted, "Robert and Elliot has a very good relationship. Just like Layla and Hayden did to you."

Avery: "How could I blame Robert. I didn't take care of him. To him, I was actually a stranger."

Ben Schaffer said, "Well, when you return to Aryadelle this time, How long do you plan to stay? If you stay longer, I'll bring Robert over next time. Even if Elliot knows about it, it's me to blame."

Avery said, "When I come back this time, I should stay for a long time. When Elliot comes back, I will talk to him about the child's visitation rights. I never let him see Hayden, so he can't stop me from seeing Robert."

"If you want to talk, you must talk calmly but don't say a word and quarrel again."

Ben Schaffer originally wanted to persuade Avery, but Avery retorted: "You should tell him this. As long as he doesn't quarrel with me, I naturally won't quarrel with him."

"Oh, good." Ben Schaffer touched his nose, then picked Robert up from behind and put it on his lap, letting Avery take a good look at him, "Robert, this is your mother What are you afraid of? If your sister sees her mother coming back, she will definitely jump up happily!"

"I'm afraid." Robert's soft and waxy voice came in a low voice.

Ben Schaffer laughed and patted his head: "You're a man, be brave."

"I'm afraid." Robert lowered his head, focused on the snacks in his hand, and didn't dare to face it.

Avery felt that her son's reaction was very real. It should be well protected.

"Robert, do you want to watch your sister's videos when she was a child?" Avery thought of a way to get closer to Robert.

She turned on her phone, found the video of Layla's childhood, and clicked it.

Layla's voice came from the phone, and Robert was immediately attracted.

Ben Schaffer carried Robert to Avery's side and watched Layla's video together.

After about ten minutes, Ben Schaffer walked away from Robert, and Robert stood beside Avery, not as scared as before.

When he sees excitement, he will laugh with Layla in the video.

“Robert, do you like your father very much?” Avery found a topic to chat with her son.

“Yeah!” Robert nodded without thinking, “Do you like my dad?”

Avery was stunned. She didn’t expect the little guy to ask back.

Avery: “I liked it before.”

“Oh...” Robert got the answer and continued watching the video.

At his age, he still doesn’t understand the meaning and difference between ‘before’ and ‘now’.

At about four o’clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Cooper called Ben Schaffer and asked Ben Schaffer to send Robert back.

At this time, Avery was busy in the kitchen. She wanted to cook a dinner for Robert herself, but after Ben Schaffer answered the phone, he immediately brought Robert to the kitchen and said goodbye to Avery.

“Avery, Mrs. Cooper called me and asked me to send Robert back now.” Ben Schaffer looked at Avery wearing an apron and knew that she would be very disappointed to do so, but Mrs. Cooper’s attitude was very firm, “Mrs. Cooper knows that I brought the child to you. She is afraid that Elliot will be angry. If there is a chance in the future, I will bring Robert here again.”

Avery couldn’t make it difficult for Mrs. Cooper and Ben Schaffer, so she quickly take off her apron and send them out.

Avery: “When Elliot comes back, let me know!”

“Okay.” Ben Schaffer hugged Robert into the car and apologized, “I’m sorry, I’m afraid that next time Mrs. Cooper won’t be so quick to let me take Robert out.

After all Robert is usually led by her, and Robert especially listens to her words.”

“Avery: I understand. Thank you very much for bringing Robert here today. It’s normal for Robert to be afraid of me. When I was determined to divorce Elliot, I thought of this outcome.”

“Do you regret it?” After putting Robert in the child safety seat, Ben Schaffer asked Avery.

Chapter 1810

“I didn’t understand the older generation, why did they always persuade divorced couples to endure for the sake of their children, until I saw you and Elliot’s children, I finally understood a little.” Ben Schaffer waited Avery replied and continued.

“I know that my insistence on divorce will hurt my children a lot. But if I don’t get divorced, I will live a very miserable life. I thought that if I was in pain every day, I would not be able to give my children a warm and loving family.”

Avery explained. Her explanation answered the previous question.

She doesn’t regret her divorce from Elliot.

After Ben Schaffer left, Avery returned home. She went straight to the kitchen, wrapped the prepared dishes in plastic wrap, and put them in the refrigerator.

If she eats dinner alone, she doesn’t need to start cooking now.

After cleaning up the kitchen, she went back to the living room and lay down on the sofa.

After a busy afternoon, her lower back was a little sore.

But she is sober now.

Before Robert was one year old, she had been by Robert’s side, and Robert liked Avery very much at that time.

But after not seeing him for more than two years, Robert didn’t remember the past.

Avery must find Haze quickly and let Haze return to her or Elliot’s side.

Seeing Robert today and seeing that Robert was well taken care of, her resentment towards Elliot was relatively relieved.

Ben Schaffer sent Robert home, and then went to pick up Gwen from get off work.

After Gwen knew that Avery was coming this morning, she agreed to see Avery tonight.

In the evening, Mike brought Chad over as well.

Everyone gathered at the Starry River Villa, drinking and chatting together. Foster family.

The black Rolls Royce slowly drove into the villa.

Elliot flew to Yonroeville last night, but he heard that Avery had returned to Aryadelle, so he rejected the enthusiasm of Nick and returned to Aryadelle.

When Elliot came home, it happened to be dinner time.

Mrs. Cooper didn't expect him to end his journey in Yonroeville so quickly. After counting the time, he arrived in Yonroeville and returned immediately.

Mrs. Cooper breathed a sigh of relief in her heart.

Fortunately, she asked Ben Schaffer to send Robert back early in the afternoon.

Otherwise, if Robert hadn't come back by this time, Mrs. Cooper would definitely not be able to help lie.

"Dad!" Robert jumped into his arms excitedly when he saw his father, "Dad, I miss you so much!"

The little guy's mouth was as sweet as honey, and Elliot's tiredness of running back and forth was swept away. .

"Dad misses you too. Do you want to sleep with Dad tonight?"

"Of course I will." Robert said, extending his small hand to Dad, "Dad, where are the legs of my robot?"

Elliot didn't expect his son's memory was so good.

Elliot: "It's in Dad's bag, Dad got it for you."

Elliot bought the robot in a store in Aryadelle. At that time, he specially asked the clerk to remove one of the robot's legs.

Children are relatively simple, and just coaxing and deceiving them can make them obedient and happy.

Elliot put his son on the ground, Robert followed his father with his hands and feet.

"Dad, I went out to play today." Robert suddenly reported his schedule to his father.

"It's so hot outside, who took you out?" Elliot touched his son's head.

"Uncle Ben took me out." Robert pursed his lips, and without waiting for Mrs. Cooper to stop him, he told everything, "Uncle Ben took me to my mother's house."

Elliot opened the suitcase, and after listening to his son's words, his body stopped, as if he had forgotten what he was going to do.

"Mom showed me my sister." Robert seemed to have not noticed his father's abnormality, and continued to talk to himself, "Dad, I like you, and my mother likes you too."

Chapter 1811

Robert looked at his father with a cute and handsome face, and said what he saw and heard from his mother today.

Avery said that he liked his father before, but after his communication, he now likes it.

These words made Elliot's heart arouse thousands of waves!

The son's serious appearance does not seem to be lying.

“Robert, who said this to you?” Mrs. Cooper asked Robert immediately when she saw Elliot’s body froze.

Robert raised her head, looked at Mrs. Cooper, and replied, “It’s what my mother said!”

Mrs. Cooper couldn’t help laughing and crying: “Your mother told you such a thing!”

“Mom did.” Robert was afraid that everyone would think that He was lying, so he repeated the point.

Mrs. Cooper saw that the atmosphere was really awkward, so she took out the other leg of the robot from the suitcase that Elliot opened.

“Let’s go and fit the robot’s legs.” Mrs. Cooper led Robert away.

Elliot closed the suitcase and carried it back to the master bedroom.

Avery actually said such things against her intentions in order to get closer to her son!

She didn’t expect her to be like this now.

After closing the master bedroom door, Elliot paced back and forth in the room, but his heart could not calm down!

Ben Schaffer actually carried him behind his back and took his son to Avery to see!

He turned on the phone, but did not see Ben Schaffer’s news or missed calls.

In a fit of anger, he dialed Ben Schaffer.

Starry River Villa.

Ben Schaffer’s cell phone rang, and seeing that it was Elliot calling, he immediately winked at everyone.

“Everyone be quiet first! I’ll take a call.” Ben Schaffer had expected the matter to be revealed, and he was about to be scolded.

Gwen was very gossipy and pressed his phone on the speakerphone, wanting to hear how Elliot scolded people.

Ben Schaffer looked embarrassed: "Gwen, can't you save me some face?"

Gwen: "What kind of face, if he scolds you, I will help you scold back."

With Gwen's words, Ben breathed.

After picking up the phone, Elliot's voice suddenly came: "Did you take Robert to see Avery today? Robert is my son, who allowed you to do this without my consent?"

Ben Schaffer cleared his throat: "The matter is like this...I took Robert to play outside today, and by coincidence, I met Avery..."

Elliot: "Is there such a coincidence?"

Ben Schaffer: "Yes! What a coincidence! How could I deliberately bring Robert to Avery's house? I wouldn't do that."

Ben Schaffer's eyes widened and he was talking nonsense, which fell into everyone's eyes.

Gwen didn't expect Ben to be so cowardly in front of Elliot, and was suddenly a little disillusioned.

When Avery saw that Ben was lying because he was afraid, she felt that she had implicated him.

"Give me the phone." Avery stretched out her hand towards Ben Schaffer.

Her voice clearly fell into Elliot's ears on the other side of the phone.

Elliot held the phone tightly with his fingers.

Unexpectedly, Ben Schaffer is now with Avery.

"Uh... Elliot... I'm at Avery's house now... She wants to talk to you on the phone..." Ben Schaffer said hesitantly here, see Elliot didn't respond, so he said, "Since you have no opinion, then I'll give her the phone... You two have a good chat.”

After Ben Schaffer finished speaking, without giving Elliot a chance to respond, he directly handed the phone to Avery.

After Avery got the mobile phone, he turned off the handsfree, and then walked out with the mobile phone.

After walking out of the villa, Avery exhaled and said, “I asked Ben Schaffer to bring Robert to my house. Robert is my son, and I have the right to see him.”

Elliot listened to her strong tone. He coldly Said: “If you want to see your son, do you need my consent first?! You still ignore me as always!”

Chapter 1812

“Have the two of them quarreled?” Mike has been paying attention to Avery’s figure outside the door.

He saw Avery clenched her fists.

“Maybe! Elliot doesn’t like others to kill first and then play.” Ben Schaffer said, “I brought Robert out today and didn’t tell him.”

“Then he can’t put his anger on Avery!” Mike said, put down Wine glass, I want to go out and help Avery speak.

Chad immediately dragged Mike back.

“They’re quarrelling, what are you doing? I don’t think Avery will lose. My boss is not good at quarreling.” Chad didn’t want to let the fool like Mike get into trouble,

“The two of them definitely didn’t talk about visitation rights before, but now If you don’t make it clear, it will be more troublesome in the future.”

Mike heard the words and sat back: “Am I afraid that Avery will suffer?”

“You are not such a powerful helper!” Chad teased, “You can do nothing but help?”

Mike glared at Mike: “I don’t like to hear you say that.”

“Whether you like it or not, it’s the truth. As long as Avery doesn’t ask you to help, you don’t care about the two of them.” Chad said, “You are the most righteous all day long.”

“Why are you two quarreling?” Gwen said, and stopped the fighting, “You two wait a while, I have something to say.”

Mike and Chad immediately shut up.

Ben Schaffer felt that Gwen was going to target himself.

“Ben Schaffer, you lied just now and didn’t even blink your eyes. Now I suspect that you didn’t have a word of truth in your mouth.” Gwen really aimed at Ben Schaffer.

Ben Schaffer was ashamed: “I can’t tell the truth with your second brother, can I? Do you want me to tell Elliot that Robert was brought to Avery’s house on purpose? What did he think? If I openly confronted him, he could still treat me as a friend? If he doesn’t treat me as a friend, will I still have a chance to bring Robert out to play in the future? Gwen, the world is not black and white. “

Gwen: “But I just can’t stand your cowardice.”

“Where am I cowardly? I told a white lie to maintain peace.” Ben Schaffer said in a straightforward manner, “Gwen, I know you must be suspicious. Are the words I said to you all false... I can swear that what I said to you is the truth!”

Ben Schaffer said, in front of everyone, raised his hands up, swear.

Chad was Stunned.

Mike: “The old man is playing tricks again!”

At this time, there was a flash of lightning in the sky! Immediately afterwards, a ‘boom’ sounded, and thunder began.

Gwen listened to the thunder and looked at the lightning, her face distorted with fright.

“Hahahaha! Eat well when you eat, what swear do you swear! You’ve hired Duke!” Mike almost burst into tears, “If you don’t leave tonight, I’m afraid you’ll be struck by lightning!”

Ben Schaffer angrily withdrew his hand and explained with a red face: “Today’s weather forecast has a thunderstorm! I didn’t invite the thunder!”

“There is no silver 300 taels here.” Mike picked up the wine glass and poured it for him, “It’s still a bar! When you’re drunk, she won’t question what you say to Gwen. After all, you tell the truth after drinking, hahaha!”

Ben Schaffer picked up the glass and took a sip.

Avery walked in from outside the house and returned the phone to Ben Schaffer.

“It’s raining outside.” Avery said calmly and sat down in her seat.

“How was your chat with Elliot?” Gwen asked, “Did you quarrel? How was the battle? Did you win?”

Avery looked calm: “It’s not a quarrel. I said I want to see Robert in the future, Elliot can’t stop me. Before he asks me to see Robert in the future, I should just tell him in advance.”

“Is it going so well?” Mike couldn’t believe his ears.

Avery responded, picked up the water glass in front of him, and took a sip.

Of course it didn’t go so well.

Elliot felt that when Avery saw Robert this time, she didn’t tell him in advance that she didn’t take him seriously.

At the same time, Elliot proposed that if he secretly went to Bridgedale to see Hayden, Avery would definitely be furious when she knew.

Since it was Avery’s charge of letting Ben Schaffer bring Robert out, she could only admit her mistake to him.

Avery apologized to him.

Chapter 1813

Elliot probably didn't expect her to apologize, so he was shocked and speechless for a long time.

When the lightning and thunder were roaring just now, Elliot suggested that Avery would need his consent to see Robert in the future.

Avery agreed.

....

Foster family.

After Elliot finished talking on the phone, he put down the phone and walked towards the bathroom.

He's been in the flight basically all day.

Because of Avery, a day was wasted. Of course, Avery can't be blamed for this. It was Elliot who was upset and had to go to Yonroeville.

He wanted to ask her about Haze just now, but he reminded him rationally that if he asked on the phone, he would not get any results.

When Avery wants to see Robert next time, he will take Robert to the appointment.

After taking a shower, he came out of the master bedroom.

Unexpectedly, Robert was standing at the door of his bedroom.

Robert had already finished dinner, holding the installed robot in his hand and showing it to him.

"Robert, are you happy to see your mother today?" Elliot took his son's hand and walked downstairs.

Robert pouted, thinking about how to answer this question.

"What did mom tell you?" Elliot continued to ask.

Robert couldn't remember what his mother said to him.

“There are a lot of sisters on my mother’s phone...” Robert raised his head, wanting to express that there are many videos of Layla on his mother’s phone.

“Does mom show you anything other than sister’s videos?” Robert thought for a while, then shook his head.

“Do you like your mother?” Today was the first time Robert saw her mother when he grew up. So Elliot wanted to know what his son was thinking.

Robert blushed shyly and decided to ignore this question.

He held up the robot and made a squeaking sound, pretending to be fighting.

Elliot saw his son avoid this question, so he thought of a way: “Do you like Aunt Norah Jones?”

Norah Jones would come to see Robert every one or two months.

Every time, She brought a lot of toys to Robert from abroad.

So Robert liked Norah Jones very much.

“I liked her!” Robert answered the question without hesitation.

“Then did you like your mother?” Elliot asked again.

Robert nodded shyly.

Although Robert was a little afraid of her mother, Robert knew that her sister liked her mother very much, so he should also like her mother.

After getting his son’s answer, Elliot was a little bit worried.

Robert’s personality is like Avery, he is gentle and well-behaved, and he likes whoever treats him well.

Unlike Hayden and Layla, who love and hate clearly, they are fierce like little wolf dogs.

Robert would only cry in front of Elliot when he was angry.

“Dad, do you like Mom?” Robert raised his head suddenly and asked this question seriously.

Elliot: "..."

He just heard this question, and his heart was completely confused. There was no way to answer the son's question at all.

"Dad, let's go and bring mom to our house! Sister will definitely be very happy like this, hehe!" Robert said. His eyes lit up.

Chapter 1814

Elliot looked at his son's silly appearance and laughed.

Robert was Layla's little follower and sycophant.

Because the age gap between the brother and sister was slightly large, Robert was always worried that her sister would not play with him, and usually flattered her sister in various ways.

"Then next time you see your mother, invite her!" Elliot said to his son.

Elliot knew that Avery would refuse, so he said that on purpose.

"Okay!" Robert happily followed his father downstairs, and began to look forward to seeing his mother next time, "Dad, when will my sister come back?"

"Let's make a video call for her!" Elliot didn't communicate with his daughter for two days, so he missed her especially now.

He carried Robert to the living room sofa and sat down, took out his mobile phone, and dialed Layla's number.

Called, no one answered.

It's past seven o'clock in the evening, so it's impossible not to finish work, right?

He asked Eric for Layla's shooting schedule, and Layla's shooting was basically arranged during the day.

Thinking of this, Elliot found Eric's number and dialed it.

It was Eric's agent who answered the phone.

Eric's agent: "Boss Foster, do you have anything to do with Eric?"

“Where is my daughter? Why can’t she get through on the phone? Let my daughter answer the phone.” Elliot said.

Eric’s agent looked embarrassed and said embarrassedly, “Boss Foster, Layla is crying right now, I’m afraid I can’t answer your call.”

When Elliot heard this, the blood in his body boiled instantly.

He put Robert in his arms aside, took the phone, and quickly walked towards the door. And asked, “What happened to Layla? What happened?!”

Robert didn’t even think about it, and ran quickly with his father.

“Robert, it’s raining outside, don’t run around!” Mrs. Cooper saw this and immediately chased after him and hugged Robert.

Elliot turned around, looked at his son with an anxious face, wanted to go out with him, and immediately explained to his son in a low voice, “Dad is going to pick up your sister. You stay at home.”

With his father’s words, Robert felt at ease.

Mrs. Cooper immediately handed Elliot an umbrella.

Elliot took the umbrella, opened it, and strode into the rain.

On the other side of the phone, Eric’s agent told Elliot what happened in the afternoon: “I already knew that Layla liked her mother, but I didn’t expect that Layla would not be able to tell the difference between the inside and the outside.

What’s more, when the heroine was a child, in the play, her mother was a sc*mbag who abandoned her husband and her daughter, and the lines required her to cry and say that she hated her mother, but she could not enter the state, which led to NG many times.”

The agent continued, “Originally, the director didn’t blame her, nor did the actors who played with her... But Frida, the heroine of the show, whispered to a staff member that Layla’s acting was not good, I got the role through relationships, and I was heard by Layla. Layla cried very sadly. Eric persuaded her for a long time, but she still hasn't persuaded her yet!"

Elliot finished listening. Cause and effect, his face was gloomy and terrifying.

With a 'bang', he slammed the door shut!

The car sped away quickly.

At the shooting set.

The director and Eric, including Frida, the heroine who complained about Layla's poor acting skills, surrounded Layla, trying to appease her.

Eric wanted to take Layla back to the hotel, but Layla held her knees with both hands and buried her head in her knees, unwilling to speak or get up.

Only her sad cries could be heard.

All along, Layla has lived under the applause and praise of the people around her.

Chapter 1815

Layla was very smart and could learn everything in one go, she had not suffered many setbacks.

Regarding acting, she also often heard people say she has talent.

This is not the first time she has acted. She has performed well in the past and also in crying scenes, but this time, let her express her hatred and resentment for the role of 'mother', she can't take the role.

She has never encountered such setbacks in the past few years.

She felt that she might not be able to complete this job, because what she loved the most was her mother, even if she knew it was a play or a fake, she couldn't act it.

Thinking that if she gave up halfway, she would fail Uncle Eric's care and make others laugh, making her heart even more uncomfortable.

"Layla, I'm sorry. I really didn't mean it. I didn't mean to say you're bad at acting... well, I probably did say something like that, but I said something else later...I was also a child star, and my acting skills were far worse than yours now.” Frida didn’t expect that a word she accidentally made would make Layla ‘strike’.

Frida worries about the progress of her work. Because Layla was upset, Eric stayed with Layla all the time, and they couldn’t continue filming their rival scenes.

At the same time, she was also worried that Elliot knew about it.

Layla is the apple of Elliot’s palm, and no one knows about it.

If it weren’t for this relationship, she would have publicly rebuked Layla for being unprofessional and poor in her acting skills, instead of privately complaining.

“Go away!” Eric turned his head and said to Frida.

Frida looked embarrassed and was taken away by her agent.

Not long after, Elliot arrived.

He pulled Eric, who was squatting beside Layla, away, and then said to Layla, “Layla, dad is here. Dad will take you home.”

Layla immediately raised her head when she heard dad’s voice.

Her crying scarlet and swollen eyes caught Elliot’s line of sight.

Elliot was very distressed. He never wanted Layla to enter the entertainment circle where the dragon and fish were mixed. It was Avery who said to respect the child’s wishes, so he let Layla follow Eric until now.

If Elliot could choose again, he would never let Layla enter the entertainment industry.

“I want mom.” Layla choked and said this, “I don’t want you.”

Elliot’s throat rolled, feeling a little uncomfortable.

But now his daughter was more uncomfortable, he could only follow her daughter’s request and contact Avery.

“Layla, I’ve already called your mother! She said she’ll be here soon!” Eric’s agent immediately spoke to Layla when he heard Layla’s request.

Hearing this, Elliot stood up immediately.

“Who is Frida?” Elliot asked the agent.

Eric’s agent coughed awkwardly, trying to pretend that he hadn’t made a snitch.

He can’t point to Frida’s face and say, this is Frida, she is the one who made your daughter cry.

How will we meet again after this?

Seeing that Frida couldn’t escape, she could only walk in front of Elliot and sincerely admit her mistake: “Mr. Foster, I’m sorry, it was me who talked about your daughter behind her back, causing your daughter to be sad... I’ve already apologized to Layla, I can go and apologize to her again.”

“Since it’s useless for you to apologize to her, let’s try another way.” Elliot’s voice was indifferent, “If my daughter can’t calm down tonight, you won’t want to hang out in the entertainment industry in the future.”

Frida was so frightened, she slapped herself in the face with a ‘pop’!

“I was wrong! I knew I was wrong!” Frida said, raising her hand again and slapping her face on the other side, “Layla! I’m sorry! I’ll never talk again! I really know wrong!”

...

When Avery came, the scene was full of chaos.

Chapter 1816

Avery saw a well-known actress sitting in a chair crying, and under the white aperture, she could see the tears in the eyes of the actress.

A doctor was applying ointment to the actress’s face.

Elliot and Layla were on the other side.

Layla didn’t cry, but she looked sullen.

Avery strode up to her daughter and held her daughter’s hands.

“Layla, your eyes are swollen from crying.” Avery said in pain, “Why didn’t you call mom earlier? After mom returned to Aryadelle, she told Uncle Eric, should Uncle Eric tell you?”

“Mom, hug me.” Layla threw herself into her mother’s arms, “Mom, I can’t act that scene well... I tried many times and couldn’t act it.”

“It’s not that you can’t act well, it must be the method.” Avery encouraged.

Elliot’s eyes looked at Avery for a moment.

After an absence of nearly three years, Avery looked more mature than before.

It may be because she had long hair, and the ends of her hair were permed in waves.

“Take Layla home first.” Elliot saw that Avery seemed to be teaching Layla how to enter the role, so he said, “Don’t you want Layla to continue filming?”

“Why not?” Hearing Elliot voice, Avery looked up, “My daughter didn’t say she wanted to give up.”

Their eyes met, and the smell of gunpowder suddenly rubbed in the air.

Because this was a set, there were people all around.

So the two of them didn’t speak very loudly, and they wouldn’t quarrel in front of their daughter.

“Daughter can’t act in that scene. Didn’t you see that she has collapsed?” Elliot had a chat with the director just now, and the director told him that if Layla had to act, the screenwriter could change the script for Layla.

For the sake of his daughter, Elliot can of course ask the director to do this. But he didn’t think it was necessary.

He didn’t want Layla to take this path in the future, and secondly, his daughter might not be suitable for this line of work.

“I said it just now, maybe the method is wrong.” Avery argued with him rationally, “Whether to continue, it’s up to my daughter. Not yours.”

If Layla wanted to leave, Layla would have left long ago.

Since Layla is still here, it means that Layla doesn't want to give up.

"Layla, tell your mother, do you want to give up filming? You can answer your mother after you have made up your mind." Avery asked, looking at her daughter's little face.

"Mom, I don't want to give up...but I don't know how to do it well..." Layla murmured, "That aunt said I wasn't good at acting, I want to act well..."

"Well, mom knows that you definitely want to act well." Avery already knew the main reason for Layla's collapse on the phone, "Tell mom, who do you hate the most?"

Layla lowered her eyes, After hesitating for a few seconds, she said, "I...I hate dad the most..."

Although Elliot was present, Layla bravely said the answer.

She blamed her father for the departure of her mother and brother.

"Then imagine your mother's role in the play as your father." Avery bit the bullet and tried to figure out a way with his daughter, "Your uncle Eric is in the play, marrying other women, and having children, does not mean that he is in reality. I really want to marry that actress. Your bad relationship with your mother in the play will not affect your good relationship with your mother in reality."

"Layla, your mother is right. You can play the role of mother in the play, Imagine being your father." Eric echoed, "I believe you can play well."

Elliot stood beside Eric, like a walking dead.

First, he was stabbed by his daughter, and then by Avery, and now even Eric's little white face has bullied him! How ridiculous!

"Then I'll try again!" Layla took a deep breath and stood up from her chair.

The staff immediately took Layla to touch up makeup.

The place suddenly became busy.

Avery is going to go to the filming of Layla with Eric.

Elliot blocked her way.

His sturdy body was an unavoidable wall of flesh.

Avery looked at his gloomy and cold face and said, "I didn't instigate my daughter to hate you. I came up with that method just now so that my daughter could finish filming this scene smoothly."

Elliot didn't answer her topic, but threw a sentence, "I went to Yonroeville to meet Nick."

Avery immediately understood what he was doing to block her.

Avery looked at Eric and said, "Go to see Layla filming first!"

After Eric responded, he strode away.

"Why did you suddenly look for Haze?" Elliot asked Avery in a low voice, looking at the back of Eric leaving.

Avery: "I'm looking for whoever I want. It has nothing to do with you."

"Haze is my daughter. Of course you have something to do with me when you look for her." Elliot put his hands in his pockets, his deep eyes fell on her face,

"Why do you suspect that she is your daughter? Is it just because Haze looks like you?"

"What answer do you want from me?" Avery looked at him calmly, "Either you bring Haze back, I'll tell you the reason."

"If I could find Haze, I would have found it long ago. She may not be here anymore."

"Even her biological father thinks so, even if she is still alive, what does she have to do with death? The difference." Avery's eyes were sullen and disappointed with him.

Elliot: "I haven't stopped looking for her. Until now, I still send people to look for her all over the world."

Avery: "Have you ever looked for her in Aryadelle?"

"Do you think I don't have one?" Elliot asked back, "She was just born when she disappeared. You know how small and fragile a newborn child is. Looking for her is like looking for a needle in a haystack."

"I have to find it!" Avery's eyes were slightly red, her chest heaved sharply, and her voice trembled, "What if she is still alive?"

Elliot looked at Avery's irrational reaction and understood what Nick said.

Avery may have already decided in her heart that Haze is her daughter.

"Avery, if Haze was our daughter, we would not have quarreled, let alone divorced." Elliot thought this was very ironic, so he made this assumption.

"You still don't know the real reason for the divorce between the two of us."

Avery's mouth raised a bitter arc, "It has nothing to do with Haze."

"What does that have to do with?" Elliot asked, "It was because of your eyes back then. I'm sick, I didn't go to you, but chose to go to Haze? Avery, you were sick with your eyes, this... No one told me."

Before Elliot could say the next, Avery cut him off.

Because of his intense emotions, his voice was getting louder and louder.

Avery was afraid that he would influence others to shoot.

Avery: "What's wrong with this? Elliot, if you think you're right, then you're right. I didn't blame you for this, and you don't have to mention the past of these old sesame seeds and rotten millet!"

Elliot clenched the fist tightly. His mind became blank after listening her words.

"I'm fine now. Judging from your appearance, I'm living a good life. Besides, you take good care of Robert, so you're a good father right now." Avery quickly adjusted her mood and boldly looked him up and down After looking at it again,

"It's good for us to maintain the relationship between our ex-wife and exhusband."

"I didn't say I would remarry you, so why are you in such a hurry to distance yourself from me?" Elliot frowned.

Chapter 1818

"Make it clear now to avoid unnecessary disputes in the future." Avery said calmly,

"It's very late, why don't you go back first? I'll accompany Layla when she finishes filming. "

Elliot originally wanted to wait for his daughter to finish filming before taking her home.

But thinking that her daughter said that the person she hates the most is herself, her mood is inevitably affected.

Elliot didn't want his daughter to hate him.

"How is Hayden?" Elliot asked Avery before leaving.

Avery replied, "He's fine. He is in good health and his academic performance is good. If you want to see him, you can go to Bridgedale to see him at any time.

You should know his new school, right?"

Avery expressed A generous look made Elliot particularly helpless.

Elliot wanted to find Hayden, although Avery would not stop him, Hayden would not see him.

Except during the previous time in Yonroeville, the relationship between father and son has eased. At other times, Hayden does not recognize his father.

"When will you go back to Bridgedale, let me know. I'll go with you." Elliot thought about it for a while and made his own request, "without you, he won't see me."

"I have no plans to go back to Bridgedale for the time being. Avery understood his mood, "As long as you let me see Layla and Robert at any time, I will help you see Hayden.”

Elliot pondered for a moment and accepted the exchange.

He doesn't hate Avery as much as he did when he first divorced.

After knowing that Avery was resolutely divorced because of illness, she didn't hate him so much.

It's just that the two of them had already torn their skins at that time, and it was difficult to go back to the beginning.

After talking about the child, the two of them fell into silence with a tacit understanding.

This tacit understanding made the atmosphere extremely awkward.

“You go first!” Avery felt uncomfortable breathing.

Elliot said, “When Layla finishes filming, I'll tell her before leaving. She will be filming tomorrow, so she won't be able to go home with you tonight.”

Avery: “I didn't say I would take her back to me. I just want to spend more time with her.”

“Have a party at your house tonight?” Elliot thought of calling Ben Schaffer at that time, and Ben Schaffer said that he was at Avery's house.

There must be other friends besides Ben Schaffer and Gwen.

Before the two of them got divorced, everyone liked to go to her house for parties.

“Well, what's wrong?” Avery asked softly.

“Nothing. Just ask.” Elliot realized that he was not qualified to ask her private affairs, so he could only put aside his curiosity.

Avery watched his Adam's apple roll up and down, as if he had something to swallow, so he asked with concern: “Before I returned to Aryadelle, I took a look at the Tate Industries branch you built in Bridgedale.”

Elliot stunned.

“I heard that the Tate Industries has made a lot of money in the past two years.”

Avery raised the corner of her mouth, looked at him with a smile in her eyes, and continued, “The person in charge you found is really good. The person in charge of the Tate Industries is called Norah Jones, right?”

“Yeah.” Elliot looked at the smile on her face and couldn’t see through her inner thoughts.

If the two of them hadn’t divorced, Elliot wouldn’t dare to change the head of Tate Industries easily.

Elliot thought she would be angry and question him, but the smile on her face clearly didn’t seem to care too much about these questions.

“If you want to find a stepmother for Layla and Robert, I have no problem,” Avery changed the conversation, which caught Elliot by surprise, “As long as your new love can get along with the child, even if it is only superficial politeness.”

Because Layla is not the kind of child who can be wronged.

Chapter 1819

If Layla was wronged at Elliot’s house, Layla would definitely run away from home.

And if Elliot remarrys another woman, he will definitely have another child. When he has a child with his new wife, he will definitely not be able to take care of Layla and Robert. Avery will find a way to get the custody of the two children back.

Even if the custody can’t be taken back, as long as the two children can live with her, that’s fine.

Avery had a wishful thinking in her heart, but Elliot looked at her coldly.

“You care so much about my life?”

“I mainly care about my children.” Avery said lightly.

“I want to give you Layla and Robert after I remarry!” Elliot saw through her inner thoughts at a glance, "Avery, don't dream anymore. Even if I meet a woman I like in the future, I want to marry her and have children. I won't give you Layla and Robert."

Avery's expression suddenly froze.

At this time, Layla successfully finished filming and ran towards them.

"Mom! I'm done shooting!" Layla grabbed Avery's hand and pulled her to the director's side to watch the replay, "The director said I did a good job, mom, go and see."

"Well." Mother and daughter quickly walked away from Elliot.

Eric stood in front of Elliot: "What did you two talk about just now? You won't see Avery and become thirsty again, right?"

"What did I talk about with my ex-wife and what does it have to do with you, an outsider?" Elliot refuted, "I think it's you who has always been a thief, isn't it?"

"I have long accepted the fact that I am not worthy of her." Eric saw Avery looking back at them not far away, so he lowered his voice again, "Elliot, I advise you to accept this fact as soon as possible. Otherwise, you will suffer in the future."

Elliot failed to understand the meaning of Eric's words.

"Go back first! Layla will be filming tomorrow morning, so she can only stay at the hotel tonight." Eric didn't wait for him to raise his doubts, and spoke again, "With Avery accompanying her, you don't have to worry."

Elliot knew that he Superfluous, so turn around and get ready to go.

"Also, who are you going to teach next time, can you not be in front of Layla?"

Eric recalled Frida's slap in the face, "Aren't you afraid of Layla's nightmare at night?"

Elliot was angry at the time, but he didn't So thoughtful.

"Got it."

After Elliot left, Avery took Layla to the hotel to rest.

Layla: "Mom, sleep with me tonight!"

"Okay." Seeing her daughter's obedient and docile appearance, Avery couldn't bear to refuse, "Layla, next time you encounter difficulties, you should call your mother first. People are crying secretly."

"I don't know what happened to me today. But I'm better now!" Layla smiled, and asked, "Is my dad gone?"

Avery: "Well."

"Mom, Isn't it good to say that I hate him the most in front of so many people?"

Layla sniffed, "Actually, I don't hate him that much, I'm just angry with him."

"Layla, I'm with you. Dad's divorce, don't put all the blame on him." Avery didn't want to intensify the conflict between their father and daughter, "I chatted with him just now, he won't stop me from seeing you and your brother, he's not as mean as I thought."

"Because he can't control me!" Layla shrugged, "I can go wherever I want, and see whoever I want. It's just that Robert is not very obedient."

"What's wrong with Robert Already?" Avery asked.

"Every time I want to take Robert to find you, but Robert doesn't want to." Layla complained.

Avery was startled: "Didn't your father stop Robert from coming to me?"

Chapter 1820

Layla shook her head: "No! Dad never told me to take Robert to find you. It was Robert who didn't want to come with me to find you. My brother was a little shy."

Before returning to Aryadelle, Avery always thought that it was Elliot who prevented Robert from coming to Bridgedale to find his mother, but Robert himself did not want to come.

“Mom, although Dad is very annoying, he listens to me a lot of the time.” Layla didn’t mean to speak for Dad, but the meaning of her words was obvious.

Avery knew that Elliot was very fond of children.

No matter how their relationship changes, the child is always his biological child, how could he not love the child?

“Layla, since you don’t hate your father so much, why did you say that in front of him just now?” Avery remembered the sadness on Elliot’s face when Layla said that she hated his father the most.

“I just want to be mad at him.” Layla frowned and took a breath, “Mom, maybe my rebellious period is over.”

“Layla, don’t make him angry!” Avery said.

Layla: “Why? Are you afraid that he will be bad to me and Robert?”

“No.” Avery blushed slightly, “Your father is quite old... If he gets angry, it will be bad.”

Layla was stunned.

In Layla’s mind, Dad has always been the same. He was tall and straight, as majestic as a mountain. Layla would never have thought about Dad’s age if Mom hadn’t reminded Dad that he was quite old.

She knew that people would grow old, but she never thought that parents would grow old.

“Baby, what’s the matter? Did your mother’s words scare you?” Avery immediately comforted her daughter when she saw that her mood was suddenly down.

Layla’s eyes were slightly red: “Mom, I don’t want you to grow old.”

“Everyone gets old.” Avery led her daughter into the hotel room.

Because Layla is afraid of living alone, she and Eric live in the presidential suite.

“You live here with Layla, and I’ll open another room.” Eric said after sending them into the room.

Avery: "Eric, did Layla have dinner tonight?"

Eric: "No. I'll order food now and have it delivered."

"Okay, I'll take her to take a bath first." Avery led Layla into the bedroom.

After the room door was closed, Avery went to find her pajamas.

Layla followed behind her: "Mom, is it really impossible for you and my dad?"

Avery tightened her fingers on the clothes: "Do you want me to be with your dad again?"

"I didn't really think about it...I want to go back to the way we were before when you were not divorced, how happy we were living together as a family!" Layla always thinks of the happy life before, "But I know it's my wishful thinking. You've both been divorced for so long, and I hope you find a better man than Dad..."

"Layla, there's so much to do Mom, and finding a man is definitely not on my schedule." Avery put the pajamas on the bed, and then took her daughter to remove her makeup.

"I know, I know! Uncle Eric said that no one is worthy of you. But I'm afraid you are lonely sometimes." Layla sat obediently in front of the dressing mirror and asked her mother to remove her makeup.

Avery wiped off the makeup on her daughter's face little by little.

Seeing her daughter showing no makeup, she couldn't help thinking of Haze.

Chapter 1821

"Layla, do you want a sister?"

Layla: "What's the matter? Are you going to give me a sister? Or is Dad going to give me a sister?"

"If there is one who looks like you The girl is your sister, will you like her?" Avery continued to ask.

“Oh, did you say Haze?” Layla had seen Haze’s photo.

If put Haze’s photo together with her newborn photo, it can’t tell who is who.

“Layla, Haze is your sister.” Avery told her daughter the truth after hesitating for a while, “Mom came back to Aryadelle this time to find her.”

“Mom!” Layla turned her head and looked shocked. Looking at Avery, “Isn’t she the child of my father and Rebecca? I don’t recognize this sister!”

“Layla, if Haze is Rebecca’s daughter, do you think Haze will look the same as you?” Avery said softly, “She is the child of your father and I. There were some misunderstandings in the middle.”

“Ah ah ah! Haze is the child of you and your father!” Layla went straight from the chair, jumped down and shouted excitedly in the room, “She’s my sister?”

“Well, Layla, she’s your sister.” Avery took her daughter back to the chair and sat down. She brushed her hair and said, “I haven’t told your brother yet. He’s been very busy these days.”

“Oh, tell him when I video call him!” Layla looked excited and fidgeted, “Mom, Dad knows Is this matter? Since Haze is not the child of Rebecca’s vicious woman and father, then you and father...”

“I divorced from your father, and there are other factors.” Avery gave her daughter After combing her hair, she walked towards the bathroom with her daughter, “My main task now is to find Haze. Whether I can find it or not, I can’t just give up.”

“Let dad and brother look for it together!” Layla pouted, “My sister looks just like me, so if she sees me on TV in the future, will she find out that I am her sister?!”

Avery did not expect Daughter will extend this idea.

“I’m going to be a big star! In the future, my sister will be able to see me!” Layla suddenly set this goal as if she had been beaten.

Layla got out of the shower and climbed onto the big bed, and when her mother went into the bathroom, she immediately dialed Hayden's number.

Hayden quickly answered the phone.

"Brother! Do you still remember Haze?! Haze is the child born by our mother and father! It's not that bad woman Rebecca!" Layla's tone was very excited, "We blamed my father before."

Hayden: "Are you sure?"

"Mom just told me! Mom is with me today!" Layla didn't hate her father that much, but now she heard that Haze is the child of her father and her mother, and her father did not. The bad woman is messing around, and the image of Dad in her heart instantly grows taller.

Hayden: "Didn't Haze disappear three years ago?"

"Yeah! Mom came back now, just to look for her." Layla sighed, "I don't know if my mom can find my sister. I really want to call my dad to follow her. Let's find her together!"

"Layla, calm down first." Hayden's voice came calmly, "Even with Haze, we misunderstood Elliot, but Mom's company was sold because Elliot suppressed her."

Layla suddenly calmed down.

"Mom has already quit Tate Industries, but Elliot still uses the brand of Tate Industries. His behavior is really disgusting! I won't forgive him!" Hayden will never forget the grievances his mother suffered.

Layla: "Brother, I see."

The next day, Avery accompanied her daughter to the set. Seeing that her daughter's condition had completely returned to normal, Avery left.

Sterling Group.

After Elliot got to the office, he drank a cup of black coffee and still had a severe headache.

He lost sleep last night.

Chapter 1822

Haze is his and Avery's daughter.

From Avery's reaction last night, he got this definite result. If he knew the truth back then, he and Avery would never have reached the point of divorce.

His heart, which hasn't hurt for a long time, has been hurting all night because of this misunderstanding.

When Chad came in to report his work, he glanced at the coffee cup on his table and looked at his complexion.

"Boss, did you rest last night?" Chad saw that his eyes were bloodshot, and said, "Why don't I take you back to rest!"

"I don't want to go back." Elliot said hoarsely. "As long as I go back, I will think of every bit of time I used to be with Avery."

It was an invisible torture.

"Chad, Haze is Avery's daughter and I." Elliot explained the reason that had troubled him all night, "Avery returned to Aryadelle this time to find Haze."

Chad was shocked and incoherent: "Why? Is that so? Mike didn't tell me...I thought Avery came back to Aryadelle because she graduated with a Ph.D., so she came back to see the child..."

"I saw her last night. Elliot pursed his thin lips and rubbed his brows with his long fingers, "If it wasn't for Haze, she probably wouldn't have returned to Aryadelle."

"I asked Mike, and Mike said that Avery never said that she would never return to Aryadelle." Chad said, paused, "Boss, how do you feel when you see her again?"

"How do you think I should feel?" Elliot retorted.

"For example, has she become more beautiful or something... I feel that she is more and more charming.” Chad boasted.

Elliot: “That’s because she permed her hair.”

“Oh...” Chad scratched his head, “Since it is clear that Haze is actually your child, then the two of you...”

Elliot: “Avery made it clear that she wants to keep the ex-wife and ex-husband with me. “

“Are you talking so directly?” Chad smiled awkwardly, “Then you want to find Haze together?”

“Avery is looking for her.” Elliot looked gloomy, “I can’t do it anymore. Please!”

A group of crows floated over Chad’s head.

“Boss, I can actually give you a stroke.” Chad made an assertion and sat down in the chair opposite him, “When there was an accident in the Jobin family, you and Brother Ben went to Yonroeville to find Haze, and Avery happened to be at this time. Something happened to the eyes. From your standpoint, it must be more important to find Haze, but from Avery’s standpoint, she didn’t know that Haze was her biological daughter at the time, so she was naturally angry that you went to Haze.”

“I never knew she had a problem with her eyes.” Elliot retorted him, “If she had told me on the phone that she had lost her eyesight, I would definitely not have gone to Yonroeville.”

“Are you sure you didn’t know about her illness?” Chad didn’t think it was necessary for Elliot to lie, but he still had to make sure.

Elliot frowned, “If I knew, do you think I could leave her and go to Yonroeville?”

She told you that I know, there must be a misunderstanding. I went to check the recording of our call at the time, and she was not there. She told me on the phone that she was ill. That’s why I insisted on going to Yonroeville.”

Chad did not expect the boss investigated it in private.

“Can you show me the recording?” Chad wanted to listen to this recording, not to satisfy his gossip mentality, but to use this recording to block Mike’s mouth.

When Avery’s eyes had an accident, Elliot didn’t come back to her to take care of her immediately, and went to Yonroeville to find Haze. Mike called Elliot a sc*mbag more than once.

Chapter 1823

Even Chad once thought the boss was a sc*mbag.

But for more than two years, the boss has been taking care of children in addition to work, and has not shown the appearance of a sc*mbag, so Chad’s heart has been shaken again.

“What do you want to record?” Elliot didn’t want to share such private things.

“I want to know, I have always believed in you, and my intuition is definitely correct.” Chad knew that it would be difficult for him to hand over such private things, but the words had already been said, and there was no way to take them back, “I don’t believe that you have little affection for Avery. I’m not righteous.”

“But Avery thinks I’m that kind of person.” Every time Elliot thinks of Avery’s cold face on the day of divorce, he is in a bad mood, “You can trust me, why can’t Avery?”

“Maybe she does have a relationship with her. You said something happened to her eyes... She wouldn’t deliberately throw dirty water on you. After all, she gave up custody of Layla and Robert, she must be heartbroken to make such a decision.” Chad doesn’t believe that Elliot is a scmbag who is ruthless, let alone that Avery is a scmbag who abandons her husband and children.

Elliot opened the drawer, took out a USB flash drive, and handed it to Chad and said, “The recording is in it, you can listern and later bring it back to me.”

Chad was flattered and immediately picked up the USB flash drive, "Okay. I promise not to leak it out."

Chad took the USB flash drive and went back to his office.

After closing the office door, he connected the USB flash drive to the laptop, opened the USB flash drive, and there was only one audio file, The call recording.

Chad put on his headphones and clicked the play button.

The scene at the airport three years ago came alive in Chad's mind.

After a while, Chad returned the USB flash drive to Elliot.

"Boss, I've finished listening. But why is there no sound from Avery?" Chad asked his own doubts, "I could hear her crying at first, but then she didn't even cry anymore."

Elliot also thought about this problem at the time. And he specifically asked people from the communication company what was going on in this situation.

The person from the communication company replied that the recording was the full version and was not damaged. The sudden absence of sound may be because the other party put the phone aside and stopped listening to the call.

"Maybe she was too sad, so she walked away." Elliot guessed, "I don't know the specific situation. But this recording is fine."

"Boss, why didn't you ask her to explain clearly?" Chad felt that since there was a misunderstanding in this matter, he should explain it clearly, "Avery has been blaming you all the time."

Elliot rubbed his eyebrows, "When I retrieved this recording, I had fired Vice President Locklyn and hired Norah Jones, and established a new company in Bridgedale. The previous thing can be said to be a misunderstanding, and the latter thing is all instructed by me. She will never forgive me no matter what."

Chad: "It's not that you fired Vice President Locklyn, It was Vice President Locklyn who was unable to do the job himself and resigned voluntarily. Moreover, theoretically speaking, it is not wrong for you to expand the Tate Industries. Besides, wouldn't the Tate Industries be given to Robert and Layla in the future?"

"Chad, You go out first." Elliot didn't want to continue talking about this topic. For more than two years, he has forced himself not to think about what is right and what is wrong, because it seems that everything is wrong, and it seems that everything is right.

Chad walked out of the president's office and took out his mobile phone. He secretly copied a copy of the recording in the USB flash drive to his mobile phone. He promised that Elliot would not leak the recording, but if it was used to slap Mike in the face, it should not be considered a leak.

Chapter 1824

At Night.

Chad passed by the winery and bought a bottle of good wine to go home. When he got home, he called Mike and told him to come back early for a drink. Mike is addicted to alcohol, and as long as his friends call to drink, he is always hard to refuse.

Half an hour later, Mike came to Chad's house.

"What's so good about today? You actually called me to drink!" Mike was in high spirits. Usually, he took the initiative to call Chad to drink, but Chad hardly ever took the initiative.

"It's a good thing for me, but not necessarily for you." Chad opened the chair for him and said straight to the point, "Didn't you always say that my boss is a scmbag? I was almost persuaded by you, and I thought He's a scmbag. But today, my boss showed the proof!"

"What proof?" The smile on Mike's face disappeared, he looked at him solemnly, and at the same time extended his hand to him, "Show me."

“Let’s go first. Review.” Chad sat down in the dining chair and poured him a glass of wine, “Did you tell me before that when my boss went to look for Yonroeville to find Haze, Avery called him, Said she couldn’t see. Is that the case?”

Mike took the glass and took a sip: “Yes.”

“Haze is the biological daughter of my boss and Avery, you should have known about this a long time ago. Right?” Chad said this, his expression instantly became cold, “Why didn’t you tell me about this?!”

“Hey, this is the evidence you said?” Mike put down the glass, “What kind of evidence can this be? Avery only recently found out that Haze is her biological daughter!”

“The evidence I said is not this!” Chad also put down his glass heavily, “You b*stard, every time I know something, I will tell you the first time but you are deliberately trying to hide such an important matter from me!”

“It’s not about you and her, what is this important thing to you?” Mike was puzzled, “Besides, even if I didn’t tell you, didn’t you know it so quickly? Who told you? Maybe Elliot also knows?”

Chad glared at him: “My boss told me!”

“Oh, how did he know?” Mike raised his glass and sipped it. Taking a sip of wine, “This guy is really well-informed! But no matter how well-informed he is, he is still not well-informed. Otherwise, why didn’t he know that Haze was their child three years ago?”

“But I don’t know why Haze is Avery.” Chad asked him, “Do you know the specifics?”

“Xander’s ghost.” Mike said, “I used to think that Xander’s death was so innocent and pitiful, but now that I know the truth, it is clear that he brought it on himself. He was too naive!”

“Xander?”

“All this is a chain reaction.” Mike narrowed his eyes and said, “When Avery was in Yonroeville, she found a tumor growing in her brain, because she couldn’t trust the doctor in Yonroeville, so she came to Xander. As a result, Xander found out that she was pregnant when he checked her. Xander didn’t want to force her to abort the child, so he chose to transfer the embryo. Who is not good, but gave it to Rebecca. Can Rebecca keep her alive?”

Chad was shocked: “This Xander is indeed too impulsive! How can you not tell Avery about this kind of thing?”

“Xander told Avery. But he didn’t dare to say it in person, so he told her by email.”

Mike raised his glass and clinked with Chad, “ Not long ago, Neti mailbox was announced to be shut down, and Xander’s regular email to Avery was sent out in advance. If Neti mailbox hadn’t been shut down, Avery would have to wait for countless years to know the truth.”

Chad was shocked!

“Didn’t you say you have evidence to show me? Where’s the evidence?” Mike tapped his fingers on the table. “If he really has hard evidence, why did he show it now?”

“Because the evidence can only prove that the day when my boss went to Haze, he really didn’t know that Avery had an eye problem. He told me face to face today that if he knew Avery had an eye accident at that time, he would not insist on going to Yonroeville. I believe my boss’s words.”

“Show me the evidence.” Mike didn’t want to hear Chad flatter Elliot.

Chapter 1825

Because Mike knew for a long time that even if Elliot farted, Chad would be able to blow it into incense.

Chad turned on his phone and turned on the recording.

“Why is there no sound from Avery in the back?” Mike finished listening to the recording and asked the question.

“I felt strange when I listened to this recording. I asked my boss, and he said that Avery might not have listened to Elliot’s phone call at the time.”

“I asked him if the recording had been edited.” Mike said.

Chad hesitated: “I secretly copied the recording. My boss doesn’t want people to hear this recording.”

Mike teased: “If the recording is ok, why is he guilty? If the recording is true, he Without eliminating what Avery said later, it is impossible for Avery to hate her so much.”

Mike’s words made Chad move on.

He sent the recording to Mike.

Chad: “You take it to Avery another day. I believe my boss must not lie.”

“I think your boss must lie. Avery has no voice at all after that. This is not normal at all!” Mike retorted.

Chad: “My boss said that the call was like this at the time!”

“What your boss said is what?” Mike frowned, “Can you have your own opinion?”

Chad: “I won’t argue with you for this.”

Mike: “Wait until I take the recording and ask Avery. Let’s see what Avery has to say.”

Chad: “Well. By the way, are you going back to Aryadelle specifically to find children? No other arrangements? You don’t need to find children. You have to travel through mountains and rivers to find it, just pay someone to find it.”

Mike: “I know! We are going to pay someone to find it.”

“What’s next? What are your plans?” Chad asked because Norah Jones had taken over the Tate Industries.

After Norah Jones took over Tate Industries, Tate Industries has become bigger and bigger. Now it is the No. 1 drone brand in Aryadelle, and it also belongs to the first echelon in the world.

In this case, Elliot had no reason to let Norah Jones leave the Tate Industries.

Furthermore, Norah Jones's outstanding ability is well known in the industry. In the past two years, many investors and companies wanted to poach her, but she did not choose to leave.

"It sucks! Anyway, the money from selling the company was enough for us to spend our whole life." Mike said eloquently.

"You can play it, Avery can't play it with you, right?" Chad mainly wanted to know Avery's plan, "Avery is quite self-motivated. She can't be like you."

Mike: "Why don't you ask her about your plan to come down?"

"I asked her, can she tell me the truth?" Chad sarcastically said, "Don't I care about you? It's not far. I'm afraid she will be stimulated."

Chapter 1826

"Hahaha! I'm dying of laughter!" Mike sincerely thought it was funny, so he patted the table and wiped his nose, "The new building of the Tate Industries in Bridgedale is just across the street from the previous AN Technology!"

Chad was ashamed: "I know. Norah Jones chose three buildings in total, and in the end everyone voted for the current building. Because that place has the best location."

"Do you think Avery has been stimulated a little in the past two years? You Instead of worrying about her, it's better to worry about your boss." Mike teased.

"What's my boss to worry about?" Chad couldn't understand Mike's brain circuit, but he remembered that when he saw Avery last night, Avery exuded peace and contentment, and it seemed that she was not affected by the divorce, " In other words, Avery's mental state is not bad."

"Yes! So I gave you the leisure to worry about her, so it's better to worry about your boss." Mike took a sip of his wine and gradually became more interested.

Chad said, "Let's not talk about my boss, let's talk about you! You really don't plan to work next?"

"Yes!" There was a smile in Mike's light blue eyes, " What, are you going to find me a job?"

Chad took a deep breath and reluctantly said, "Why not, you cook for me every day, help me with housework, and I will pay you a salary every month."

Mike With a 'puff' sound, the wine in his mouth almost spit out.

"I'm teasing you, are you serious?" Chad couldn't help laughing at his reaction.

Mike wiped his mouth with a tissue: "I was teasing you just now."

Chad: "What?"

Mike: "Too bad."

"Oh, if you are not bad, what are you going to do?" Chad asked, "In two years, what are you doing? Every time I ask you, you don't say anything. It's so mysterious, shouldn't you go back to your old job?"

Mike: "You can really guess. But it's similar to what you guessed. You think, Avery has no source of income now, and she still has to pay Hayden to study. Do you know how much Hayden costs? I don't have children to go to school, you may I have no idea. I can starve to death myself, but I can't starve my benefactor and the benefactor's son to death! So I have to make money."

Chad was very moved, but he had some doubts about Mike's words.

Mike: "You said just now that the money you sell the company will give you peace of mind."

"I just said nonsense. I have never seen the money. Because Avery saved the money and said it was for the future. Hayden is eleven years old this year, and in Bridgedale, he can get a marriage certificate at the age of eighteen, which means that in seven years, Hayden may be about to marry a wife!”

Chad was stunned.

Even Hayden is about to marry a wife... Time flies by so fast!

.....

Starry River Villa.

Avery wrote a day at home today. If she wants to find Haze, she must first write down Haze’s information.

She only had a photo of Haze when she was born, and she only had a photo of her when she was born, and there was too little information.

Now Haze is 3 years old, so she found the photo of Layla when she was three and put it in Haze’s folder.

As long as she can find girls who look similar to Layla, and then identify them one by one, it is also a feasible method.

As Elliot said, looking for Haze is like looking for a needle in a haystack.

After Avery wrote the supplementary information she could think of, she glanced at the time.

It’s past seven o’clock in the evening.

Chapter 1827

Avery hasn’t had dinner yet, no wonder there was a cramp in her stomach. She came out of the room clutching her stomach, and suddenly heard the doorbell ring.

She walked to the door and opened it.

Tammy brought her daughter, Kara and Robert together!

“Avery, I heard that you are back, I immediately brought two children to see you!”

After Tammy brought the two children into the house, she took Avery to look at it, “How can you keep doing this? Slim body? I really envy your physique without getting fat! Is your hair color the one I recommended to you last time?”

“It’s not quite the same as the one you recommended. But it’s not much different.”

Avery Because of the happiness, the pain in the stomach is relieved a lot.

“Your hair color is more beautiful.” Tammy said here, and then she remembered bringing her two children, “Mrs. Cooper knew that I was going to bring Robert to your place, so she didn’t say anything.”

“I saw Elliot last night. We’ve met.” Avery looked at Robert and Kara with a gentle smile, “I knew you were coming, I should have prepared a big meal for you.”

“We’ve had dinner! Come over now, I just came to see you. You haven’t told me why you want to dye your hair all of a sudden!” When Tammy said this, the conversation changed.

Tammy often changes her hair color and has dyed all kinds of colors but Avery is different.

Avery doesn’t like tossing her hair. In her impression, she has always had black hair.

“Because one day Mike found out that I had gray hair.” Avery said bluntly, “I thought to myself, I haven’t dyed my hair, and I have started to grow gray hair.”

“Actually, gray hair has little to do with age. I used to have gray hair. There is a classmate who has less gray hair, which I think is very cool! There is also a lot of pressure and nervousness, which can also lead to gray hair.” Tammy comforted Avery, “Jun also has gray hair, and I especially like to pull White hair out but he wouldn’t let it. He said he would pull out more and more.”

“It was a bit stressful in the past. It’s much better now.” Avery said with a relaxed smile, “The two little guys often play together, they have a really good relationship.”

Robert is one year older than Kara, the two younger Baby is squatting on the ground at the moment, trying to open the gift that Tammy bought.

Tammy: “I didn’t play together often. But Robert should always remember this sister.”

“Did we set a baby kiss for the two of them before?” Avery couldn’t help but raise the corner of her mouth when she thought of this.

“Yeah! But Robert is following Elliot now. Elliot will definitely not recognize this baby kiss.” Tammy said helplessly, “Is Robert a little afraid of you? When I took him out of the car, he was holding my leg tightly and don’t let go.”

“Well. Ben Schaffer brought him here yesterday, and he was quite afraid of me. I feel better today.” Avery said, and walked towards Robert, “Robert, do you still remember me? I’m your mother.”

Robert didn’t even think about it, and immediately moved behind his sister to avoid his mother’s enthusiasm.

An embarrassment flashed in Avery’s eyes, and then she smiled and said to Kara:

“Kara, you are getting more and more cute! Auntie likes you so much!”

Kara: “Kara also likes Auntie!”

In addition, Tammy often communicates with Avery in videos. Every time they communicate with Avery, Tammy will hold her daughter and show off to Avery that her daughter is getting more and more cute, so Kara is not unfamiliar with Avery.

Kara’s words amused Avery’s heart.

“Auntie hug you, okay?” Avery asked Kara for advice, and then hugged Kara.

Beside her, Robert’s brows suddenly wrinkled, and his small mouth shriveled.

Although Robert is a little afraid of his mother, Robert knows that this is his own mother, not someone else’s mother.

How can his mother hug Sister Kara?

Chapter 1828

“Mom...” Robert immediately walked up to Avery, raised his head and glared at Kara with big, dark, shiny eyes, “This is my mother, not your mother!”

“Just now your mother was with you Speaking, you hid behind Sister Kara yourself!” Tammy came over, said and laughed, “Since you don’t let your mother hug Sister Kara, then you can’t hide from your mother in the future! Otherwise! Your mother is going to hug other children.”

Tammy was afraid of making Robert cry, so she took her daughter from Avery’s arms.

Avery didn’t expect Robert to be so jealous.

It was obvious that Robert didn’t seem to want her mother on the surface.

“Robert, can mother hug you?” Avery squatted in front of her son and looked at him tenderly, “Mom wants to hug you very much. Just like sister Kara’s mother hugged her.”

Robert struggled Extremely, finally looked up at Tammy and Kara, and then stretched out his little arm.

Seeing this, Avery immediately picked up his son.

At this moment, Avery felt as if she owned the whole world.

Today was the second time their mother and son have met since she returned to Aryadelle. Unexpectedly, Robert was willing to let her hug him when they met for the second time.

This was going much faster than she imagined.

“Avery, if you miss Robert in the future, I’ll bring Robert to play with you.” Tammy put her daughter down and picked up the bag on the ground, “Didn’t you say you won’t be leaving for now, so I’ll give it to you I brought some soup tonics.”

Avery watched Tammy take the tonics out of the bag.

"If you think that stewing soup is too troublesome, you can find a nanny who specializes in cooking." Tammy said, "Hey, what about Mike? Didn't you two come back together? Did he already leave?"

Avery: "Not yet. He went to Chad's for a drink."

"Oh, have you eaten yet?" Tammy said, walking towards the kitchen.

Cold pan, cold stove, no sign of fire.

"I haven't eaten yet..." Avery hugged Robert and followed, "I have something to do today, so I didn't cook by myself."

"Hurry up and find a nanny! Otherwise, you won't be able to eat three meals a day. Be on time, be careful of stomach problems." Tammy said, "What do you want to eat? I'll give you some takeout."

"I'm not picky eaters, you can order whatever you want!" Avery hugged Robert and didn't want to let go.

"Okay, I knew you didn't eat, so I'll bring you dinner along the way." Tammy sighed, "I originally wanted to surprise you."

"I'm quite surprised." Avery was very moved, "This I didn't take the initiative to tell you the next time I returned to Aryadelle. In the end, you all knew that I was back."

Avery even thought that she would not see Robert so easily, but Ben Schaffer brought Robert to her place yesterday.

She used to think too bad about Elliot and the people around him.

Now it seems that she and Elliot are divorced, and everyone's attitude towards her is still the same as before.

"When you got your Ph.D, I had a hunch that you would go back to Aryadelle."

Tammy finished the takeout and put her mobile phone on the table, "When you come back to Aryadelle this time, stay for a while! At least you get to know Robert well.”

Avery nodded.

At this moment, Robert struggled in her arms for a while, as if she wanted to go to the ground.

Avery released him immediately.

Who knows, the little guy grabbed her hand: “Mom, our family has lack of food!”

Avery: “???”

Tammy was also stunned.

Is Robert’s reflex arc a bit long?

When he was talking about Avery’s lack of food just now, he didn’t open his mouth. Now they were talking about other topics, but he suddenly reacted.

“Robert, do you want to invite your mother to your father’s house for dinner?”

Tammy looked at Robert’s handsome face and asked with a smile.

“Mmmm!” Robert grabbed Avery’s hand and didn’t let go.

It seems that he is waiting for Avery to nod to agree.

Chapter 1829

“What if your father doesn’t welcome your mother to your house for dinner?”

Tammy laughed, and asked, “If you do this, you are not afraid that your father will spank you?”

“No!” Robert little face was wrinkled, his voice was clear, “Dad won’t hit me!”

Tammy: “But your father doesn’t want you to bring your mother home for dinner.”

“Dad wants to!” Robert felt that his wishes were his father’s wishes. Because he talked to his father yesterday, and his father had already promised his mother to go to their house to sleep, how could he not be willing to eat a meal.

Tammy turned back and forth with laughter and looked at Avery: “Avery, do you want to accept your son's invitation to go to your ex-husband's house for dinner?

If you want to go, I can cancel the takeout."

"Robert, thank you very much for inviting your mother to eat at your house, but Auntie Tammy has already helped your mother to buy food." Avery explained to Robert patiently.

Robert lowered his eyes and thought for a while, and then discussed with Avery:

"Then when my sister comes back, you can go to our house again!"

Tammy did not expect Robert to be afraid of his mother, and now he wants to abduct her directly. Only half an hour before and after.

"Robert, who asked you to tell your mother that? Did your father teach it?" Tammy asked.

Robert: "No!"

"Oh, I see, you want to help your sister abduct your mother home!" Tammy had an epiphany.

Everyone knows that Robert is Layla's little follower.

As long as Layla is at home, Robert will not stick to Mrs. Cooper and Elliot.

In the whole family, his favorite is Layla.

Robert's face turned red when he was told the central matter.

Avery looked at her son's cute and shy appearance and said to him, "when your sister comes back, your sister will bring you to your mother's place. I saw your sister this morning! Because I slept with her last night. "

Robert looked envious: "Did my sister say when to go home? I miss her so much."

Avery: "She will be back in about half a month."

Robert's concept of half a month is vague Not clear, but pretended to understand and nodded.

At about 8 p.m., the Foster family's bodyguards took Robert away.

“Avery, you said you had a busy day today, what are you doing?” Tammy planned to stay for a while.

Just when Avery was about to reply to Tammy, a text message came into her phone.

She pulled Elliot’s number out of the blacklist not long ago.

Similarly, Elliot also pulled her out of the blacklist.

Because this text message was sent to her by Elliot.

Elliot said he sent someone to take Robert back.

Avery glanced at the text message and put down the phone. She couldn’t remember what Tammy asked just now.

Avery: “What did you ask me just now?”

“I asked you what you are busy with today. Didn’t you just come back to Aryadelle? After a few days off, what are you busy with.” Tammy said.

Avery was going to tell her about Haze, but at this moment, another text message entered her phone. It was still from Elliot.

However, this text message made Avery think Elliot was dreaming. Because he asked—how much do Avery want for child support? One-time payment or monthly payment?

alimony? !

After being divorced for so long, why did Elliot suddenly think of paying Avery child support?

Chapter 1830

“Who is it?” Seeing that Avery was attracted by the phone, Tammy immediately leaned in front of her and glanced at her phone screen.

After seeing the words ‘Elliot’, Tammy sighed: “Didn’t you two lose contact? You started contacting after you returned to Aryadelle?”

Avery: "To be precise, now."

"Hahaha, I didn't expect to be I caught up with the scene. Show me, what did he send you?" Tammy didn't consider herself an outsider and Avery also didn't treat her as an outsider.

Tammy took her mobile phone and was stunned when she saw the two text messages sent by Elliot.

"Why did he suddenly want to pay you child support? Did you meet yesterday to talk about this?"

Avery shook her head: "No. We met yesterday because Layla had a little problem with her work. Apart from that, we didn't talk about anything else."

"Then did Elliot find out with his conscience? Or does he think you look shabby?"

Tammy looked Avery up and down.

Avery wore home clothes and has stylish curly hair tied behind her head.

Fortunately, her skin was very white, so even if she faced the sky, she would not look earthy.

However, Tammy knew that she had a considerable filter for Avery.

From Elliot's point of view, it might be different.

Avery couldn't help but doubt herself, and looked down at herself by the way.

"Even if I look shabby, I don't need to use money to insult me, right?" Avery took a deep breath, thinking about how to reply to Elliot.

"Since Elliot wants to give you money, why don't you accept it? If you don't want to accept it, you can talk to him!" Tammy gave Avery an idea, "You ask him for 100 billion, and let him give it all at once. He promises to be angry."

Avery felt that his current relationship with Elliot was not suitable for such a joke.

"I think it's such a serious thing, why don't you talk about it face to face? Or on the phone? He texted you and said, is he trying to test you? Or is he trying to entangle you when he has nothing to say?" Tammy saw Avery's face was embarrassed, so she diverged her thoughts and tried to understand Elliot's mental activities.

In fact, Elliot's mental activities are very simple.

About half an hour ago, Chad sent him a message saying that Avery was having a hard time now.

Chad told him that in seven years, Hayden would be able to marry a daughter-in-law. Before Avery sold the company's money, not a cent was moved, and she planned to leave it for Hayden to marry a daughter-in-law.

Now Avery has no company, no investment, and no job. Not only that, but she also has to support Hayden, who has huge expenses. Compared with the previous life, it is too miserable now.

If Chad hadn't been drinking, he wouldn't have given Elliot this kind of news without thinking.

After all, it wasn't Avery who told Chad that he was in financial difficulties and needed Elliot's help.

And when Elliot received the news from Chad, he took it seriously!

Elliot not only took it seriously, but also made Avery and Hayden's life more difficult. It was almost impossible to make up for the fact that the mother and son were suffering from hunger and cold, and went to the street to beg!

So after struggling for half an hour, Elliot sent Avery a message about alimony.

"I think you're right." Avery took the phone over and agreed, and said to Tammy, "If he sincerely wants to pay me child support, why didn't he tell me last night? He could have called me to tell me about it, instead of sending it to me. The news said. How did he know that I pulled him out of the blacklist? In case I didn't pull him out, I wouldn't be able to see the messages he sent me."

Tammy couldn't help laughing: "I used to quarrel with Jun and blocked him when he was angry. Later, he once said that I was too naive and said that mature people like you and Elliot would definitely not block each other in a fight.”

Avery: “Elliot didn’t block me, I don’t know. But I’m not as mature as I think.”

Tammy asked, “I scolded him at the time, and I was going to be pissed off. I still care about so much. If you really don’t know how to reply, just pretend you didn’t see it!”

“Well.” Avery put the phone on the table, “It’s very late, is it time for Kara to go to bed? Why don’t you take Kara back first, and come over to play another day.”

“Okay! Then I’ll go first.”

Send Tammy away Afterwards, Avery returned to the living room.

Chapter 1831

The takeaway that Tammy ordered for Avery has arrived, because the Foster family bodyguards came to pick up the strange text messages from Robert and Elliot, and she hadn’t had time to eat.

Her hungry chest was against her back, and her mind was full of white light.

She walked to the dining room with the takeaway and ate it happily.

Sometimes there are some truths that she understands in her heart, but the body will make mistakes in conditioned reflexes. For example, she always knew that when she was too hungry, she could not eat too hastily, otherwise it would hurt her stomach function.

She was probably so hungry that her head was dizzy, so she ate several mouthfuls of food in a row. If it wasn’t for the discomfort in her stomach, she would not stop abruptly.

Covering her stomach with one hand, she took a water cup to get some water to drink.

After a while, the phone rang.

She immediately went back to the dining room, put down her water glass, and picked up her phone. The call was from Tammy.

“Avery, Jun sent me a picture just now. It’s related to Elliot. Look! I think it would be too much if he really did this!” Tammy’s tone was very excited, as if Elliot had done heinous bad things.

After hanging up, Avery clicked on the picture sent by Tammy.

The picture is a screenshot of a short video. The content is about the news that Tate Industries is about to separate from Sterling Group and go public independently.

It also said that Norah Jones would become the big boss of the Tate Industries and would no longer be subject to Elliot.

The news itself is rather sensational, and what is even more shocking is that a user named Elliot liked the short video.

After seeing this short video, Jun immediately took a screenshot to Tammy, thinking it was funny.

But Tammy didn’t think it was funny at all.

It was too much for Elliot to take the Tate Industries as his own. But considering that all of Elliot’s properties in the future belong to Robert and Layla, it means that Tate Industries still has a relationship with Avery in the end, so he is not so angry.

But now, Elliot wants to give the Tate Industries to Norah Jones completely, how can this be done?

Just when Avery was about to reply to Tammy’s message, Elliot called.

Avery watched his name beating on the screen, and was a little lost for a moment.

Did Elliot call to talk about child support?

After all, they have nothing to say now except this matter.

Regarding the fact that he wants to completely throw the Tate Industries to Norah Jones, he doesn’t need to report to her at all, and he doesn’t need to care about her thoughts.

Avery wanted to hang up the phone, but she lost control of her fingers and pressed the answer button. Looking at the connected call, she took a deep breath and brought the phone to her ear.

“I thought you didn’t see the message I sent.” Elliot laughed at himself, “When did you pull me out of the blacklist?”

Avery listened to his strange tone and retorted: “Since you know that I pulled you in Blacklisted, then why do you need to call me again?”

“I won’t contact you, waiting for you to starve your child to death? Chad told me that you are having a hard time right now.”

Avery: “???”

very difficult? !

Where did Chad hear about it?

...Mike?

Chapter 1832

Mike and Chad were drinking together tonight. Did Mike tell Chad after he was drunk?

Why is Mike saying that?

Avery was puzzled!

“I had a sum of money from selling the company before...” Avery took a deep breath and planned to fight back for herself.

Elliot thought about it for a while, but he wouldn’t say such a thing. Even if Avery doesn’t have a job and no income now, she was a boss before and the company sold a lot of money. It’s only been more than two years, how could she have a hard time?

Not to mention that Avery has not worked for two years, even if she has not worked for ten years, it is impossible for her to live a difficult life.

If her life is really difficult, can’t she go to work to make money? As for being reduced to needing her to pay child support to live?

“Didn’t you say that the money is reserved for Hayden to marry a daughter-in-law?” Elliot asked in a tight voice, “Did Hayden fall in love early? And other words, it is judged that Hayden may have fallen in love early.”

If Hayden doesn’t fall in love early, how can it cost so much?

Elliot knew that his divorce from Avery would definitely have an impact on the children. For example, Layla is not as cheerful as she used to be, and her academic performance has dropped a lot.

He naturally thought that their divorce would definitely have an impact on Hayden.

Avery was shocked by Elliot’s words and almost choked on the air.

Hayden’s puppy love... Just like Hayden’s character who doesn’t like to talk to others, if he can fall in love early, Avery will be able to have fun for a while.

“Chad also told you?” Avery didn’t blame Chad, only Mike.

Even if you make up stories with Chad, it’s not like that, right? !

This was outrageous too!

“I guessed the puppy love.” Elliot said, “Has he changed a lot?”

“Yes, it has changed a lot.” Avery said bluntly, “I don’t know if it’s early or not. But I heard from the teacher that there are many female students asking him out. Go out and play.”

Elliot concluded in his heart that Hayden must be in a puppy love!

“What do you think?” Elliot felt that puppy love was not good. Puppy love affects learning.

Although he is not the kind of person who only relies on achievement, he feels that it is a pity that Hayden’s original talent has been reduced to puppy love and abandoned his studies.

Avery: “What do you think? Even if he falls in love early, that’s his decision.”

“How can you do this?!” Elliot said angrily, “He’s only eleven years old, and he’s not even fully developed, so how can he fall in love early?!”

Avery: "What are you thinking? Even if he is really in a puppy love, he won't be with a girlfriend..."

"Since he is in a puppy love, how do you know he doesn't? No matter what country you are in, getting married and having children at the age of eleven is too much early!" Elliot even imagined that he was about to hug his grandson.

Avery took a deep breath: "He goes home every night."

"Do you think it takes one night to do that kind of thing?" Elliot retorted.

Avery: "Hayden is not that kind of person!"

Elliot: "But at his age, he shouldn't fall in love early!"

"I didn't say he fell in love early!" Avery was red-faced arguing with Elliot.

Avery felt that she and Elliot were now in two countries... oh no, it should be two planets!

"Didn't you just say you're not sure if he has a puppy love? Since you're not sure, how do you know he doesn't?" Elliot could not wait to fly to Bridgedale immediately to talk to Hayden.

Avery felt that there was no way to go on this phone call.

Chickens talk to ducks, play the piano to cows, bullsh!t!

"Since you're so worried about his puppy love, go find him!" Avery wanted to end the call quickly.

Chapter 1833

But after saying this, Avery was worried that Elliot really went to Bridgedale to find Hayden.

She can't stand Elliot Hayden will definitely annoy him even more.

"I'm joking with you! Hayden doesn't have a puppy love, I'm sure." Avery immediately changed her words to reassure him, "I don't need your alimony for the time being."

“The alimony is not for you, but for Hayden.” Elliot Correct her.

“Hayden doesn’t need it either!” Avery was enraged by him, “As long as I’m still alive, I don’t need you to pay Hayden alimony!”

Elliot frowned upon hearing Avery’s angry voice. He didn’t want to quarrel with her by calling her this call.

Elliot wanted to communicate with Avery about her and Hayden’s current living situation. If their life was really not good, he was very willing to help them.

But his thoughts changed when he reached Avery.

Avery has strong self-esteem, and even if life is not very good, she will not talk to Elliot.

Avery quickly calmed down after listening to his breathing on the phone.

She was so excited just now. In fact, no matter what Elliot said, she didn’t need to be angry.

“If you have nothing else to do, hang up.” Avery said calmly.

“Avery, since you don’t have any money, leave it to me to find Haze.” Elliot was worried that Avery would spend too much to find Haze. Add a burden to a family that is not already wealthy.

Avery’s mood, which had already calmed down, was stirred up by stormy waves again because of his words.

Avery took a deep breath, took another deep breath, and hung up. She looked at Elliot’s number on the screen and wanted to blacklist him again!

But reason kept her from doing so.

For Haze.

What if Elliot finds Haze someday?

Even if she can’t get Haze’s custody, she will do her best to make up for Haze.

Tammy sent Avery a bunch of messages complaining about Elliot, but Avery didn’t reply.

Tammy guessed that Avery must have fainted.

Back home, Tammy gave her daughter to her mother, and then went to the master bedroom to find Jun.

Jun had just finished taking a shower and before he had time to blow his hair, Tammy pressed him on the bed.

“Is the user named ‘Elliot’ who liked it really Elliot?” Tammy was a little suspicious.

The user named ‘Elliot’ is not such a high-profile person.

Even if he really registered as a short video user, wouldn’t his account name really be Elliot?

“I don’t know! I don’t think so, but it may be.” Jun wiped his hair with a towel, “I don’t think this is important... I asked Brother Ben, and he said that he sent a short video. That account also said last month that the comet was about to hit the earth, didn’t brother Ben mean that the news of the short video was fake?”

“Oh... it’s best to be fake! You send the picture to After I did, I forwarded it to Avery. Since it is fake, I will explain it to Avery.”

Jun said, “Brother Ben didn’t explicitly say it was fake. He said that the future development of the Tate Industries is their company’s secret, can’t tell me too much. So what was said in the news may also happen. After all, Norah Jones’s ability is really too strong!”

“But the Tate Industries is Avery!” Tammy fights for Avery.

“The Tate Industries has nothing to do with her.” Jun said, “Avery has already come out, so don’t worry about it.”

The next day, in the morning.

Avery was still sleeping, but the door was pushed open from the outside.

Avery opened her eyes and saw Mike's face. What happened last night suddenly came to mind.

"Avery, it's almost nine o'clock, why are you still sleeping?" Mike walked to the window and opened the curtains, "I bought you breakfast."

"Who told you to break into my room without knocking on the door?" Avery got out of bed immediately and walked towards the wardrobe.

"I think you haven't gotten up so late, I'm afraid you'll have an accident." Mike sat down at the bay window and his eyes fell on her, "Actually, I didn't want to come over so early to quarrel with you, it was Chad who asked me to come to you now and ask to clear."

Avery went to the bathroom to change clothes, washed her face by the way, and walked out.

"How much alcohol did you drink last night?" Avery looked at him coldly.

"I didn't drink much, just... a bottle!" Mike was speechless when Avery saw it.

"What's wrong? Do I still smell alcohol? I came from a shower."

Mike lifted up his clothes, put it under his nose and sniffed it, and muttered, "It's tasteless!"

"Did you tell Chad last night that I am living in poverty? Elliot sent me a message last night and wanted to pay me child support." Avery exhaled, "Others have been drinking and like to brag outside, so why are you doing the opposite of others after drinking?"

Mike was stunned for a moment: "Have I ever said such a thing? I think about it. Ah!" After a pause, Mike slapped his head sharply, "I remembered, I didn't mean to say that. It's Chad who is particularly concerned about your future career development. I was annoyed by his questioning, so I made it up. "

"Why does he pay so much attention to my career development?" Avery got an explanation and became less angry.

“That’s how he is. He likes to worry about it. He said that he was afraid that you would feel uncomfortable when you saw the building of the Tate Industries.” Mike said here and asked her, “You must not see the Tate Industries’s building. Will it be uncomfortable?”

“Uncomfortable.” Avery replied, “I don’t care how they are developing in Bridgedale. But when I returned to Aryadelle and saw the familiar headquarters building of Tate Industries, I really felt bad.”

Mike: “... “

Mike didn’t expect Chad to be right.

“I know why Chad is worried about me.” Avery linked the news that Tammy showed him last night to this incident, “I saw news last night that the Tate Industries was going to be independent.

“independent?” Mike jumped down from the bay window, “How to be independent?”

“Separate from Sterling Group and go public independently. The news said that Elliot would give up Tate Industries to Norah Jones.”

When Avery was sleeping last night, Because of this problem, she tossed to sleep very late.

She couldn’t help recalling how she would feel if her father was still alive and knew that the company she had founded had ended up in the hands of outsiders. If Elliot and Norah Jones changed the name of the Tate Industries, they wouldn’t be so upset.

“How could Elliot cheap Norah Jones for nothing? He must have made a lot of money.” Mike frowned, “Last night Chad told me that Elliot admired Norah Jones very much. Because Norah Jones’s work ability is very good.”

“Look. It came out. When the Tate Industries was in our hands, the breakthrough was not so big.” Avery said calmly, “She is indeed quite business-minded.”

“Avery, we came back to find Haze, so don’t think about other things.” Mike didn’t know how to comfort Avery, so he could only distract her with other things.

“Well.” Avery turned around and entered the bathroom, “You said just now that Chad asked you to ask me...what to ask me? Why do you have to ask me in the morning?”

“Oh, last night Chad listened to a recording from Elliot. It was the one you called Elliot when you were blind. Elliot said he didn’t know about your blindness. Elliot also told Chad if he knew at the time that you are blind, so he definitely won’t go to Yonroeville.” Mike took the mobile phone and walked to the bathroom door, and added, “I have listened to the recording. The first half is normal, but the second half is without your voice.”

Avery squeezed toothpaste stopped.

Avery: “Elliot made the recording?”

“Yeah! He wants to prove that he is innocent, not a merciless man... Chad asked me to bring the recording to you to see if the recording is real.” Mike said, turned on the recording, and played it.

Chapter 1835

Avery stared at herself in the mirror, and her memory was brought back to the beginning.

At that time, her eyes suddenly became blind, and her mood fell to the bottom.

Nervousness, fear, and unease filled every nerve in her body. She thought that if she finally called Elliot, he would definitely come and take her to the hospital.

...

After listening to the recording, Mike pressed pause.

“Avery, why are you crying?” Mike saw that her eyes were wet, and immediately put the phone aside and brought her a tissue.

“Didn’t you just ask why I was silent in the second half?” Avery’s body was tense, and the hand holding the toothbrush couldn’t stop shaking.

“Yeah! Chad said he asked Elliot, and Elliot said he probably didn’t listen to your phone at the time.”

“He lied!” Avery threw the toothbrush in his hand to the ground, crying, “My voice was eliminated! I told him I couldn’t see! I begged him to come to me! How could he silence my voice and show this recording to prove himself?!”

Mike’s chest heaved quickly.

He didn’t expect that Elliot could be so shameless.

He took a deep breath, bent down, picked up her toothbrush, and threw it in the trash.

“Don’t cry, I’ll buy you a new toothbrush.”

After Mike left, Avery turned on the faucet. The sound of water rushing drowned out her cry.

She thought that she had forgotten the hurt Elliot gave her, but when the recording came, the pain came out from the bottom of her heart.

Mike came out of the villa with confusion in her mind.

At this moment, Chad sent a message to inquire about the result.

Mike dialed the phone, suppressed his anger, and asked, “Chad! Do you want to see Avery cry? I’ve never seen her cry in more than two years! You f*cking ask me to use the recording to ask her. After listening to the recording, she cried! She said that Elliot had silenced her voice! In the latter half, Elliot had manipulated her!”

Chad: “...”

Mike: “If you don’t believe it, come now. Avery’s home, she’s still crying!”

Chad was exhausted and very uncomfortable: “Forget it, there’s no need. Since the two of them don’t agree, then one of them must be lying. I thought that there must be a misunderstanding between the two of them. It looks like I was wrong.”

Mike: “Don’t mention that b*stard in front of me in the future.”

Chad: “Got it.”

...

Avery made an appointment with a famous private detective in Aryadelle at home.

She handed the information she had prepared to the other party.

“Haze is my daughter. After she was born, she was sold from Yonroeville to Aryadelle. You are a famous detective in Aryadelle, and I believe in your strength. I wonder if you can help me find my daughter. If you help me find my daughter, the price is not a problem.”

Who knows, the detective shook his head after seeing the photos she provided.

Chapter 1836

Avery’s eyes paled.

“Are you afraid that I can’t make a bid?” she asked suspiciously.

“Miss Tate, I’ll accept the information, but I don’t need the money.” The detective explained, “Mr. Foster has approached me. He gave me a photo of Haze. Because there is too little information, there has been no progress. Now I have you. I will look for the supplementary information. However, my team and I are not looking for it in Aryadelle now.”

Avery: “Why?”

“The information that Mr. Foster gave me, the child may be sold to small countries around Yonroeville. Not so far from Aryadelle.”

Avery: “But the clue I got was that the child was sold to Aryadelle.”

“Is the information you got authentic?” The detective asked.

“How can I be sure of this?” Avery frowned, “Go to Aryadelle to find it. I can give you as much money as Elliot gives you.”

A smile appeared on the detective's face: "Miss Tate, you know him, how much will you offer me?"

"I don't know. But I saw his worth from last year's rich list. I can also offer the price he can offer." Avery said firmly.

The detective's look at Avery suddenly deepened.

The detective: "Since Miss Tate is so arrogant, I will do my best."

Avery said, "It's hard work for you! Haze and my daughter Layla looked a lot alike when they were young. I don't believe she will change a lot when she grows up. Looking for the photo of my daughter Layla, it shouldn't go wrong."

"Okay."

After the two of them chatted, the detective came out of Avery's house.

After getting in the car, the detective called Elliot.

The detective: "Miss Tate is looking for me."

"I knew Avery would look for you." Everything was within Elliot's expectations, "Did you tell her?"

The detective said, "Yes. But she thinks that the child may be in Aryadelle. Let me find it in Aryadelle. Mr. Foster, Miss Tate said that she saw your ranking and worth on the rich list last year, and she said that it doesn't matter what you give me. She can charge the same price at any price. Is she really that rich?"

Elliot: "Aren't you a detective? If she has money, you can find out if you investigate privately?" Elliot retorted.

The detective said embarrassedly: "I haven't heard that Miss Tate is so rich. But I don't think she's joking with me when I look at Miss Tate."

Elliot: "According to the information I got, her life is very difficult now."

The detective: "Oh . . . That's it!"

Elliot said, "She asked you to look for it in Aryadelle, then you can look for it in Aryadelle. What else did she say to you?"

The detective: "She said to find it according to Layla's appearance."

Elliot: "Do as she said."

After Elliot finished the call, the office door was knocked open.

Chad walked in. He drank last night and had a headache this morning, so he didn't come to the company in the morning.

He just arrived at the company and felt it necessary to talk to Elliot in person.

"Are you feeling better?" Elliot asked immediately when he saw Chad.

Chad listened to the boss's concerned greetings, and his heart was very painful.

The boss is obviously a good person, why would he do such a despicable thing?

Did he ever think that Avery might hear the fake recording?

"What are you doing in a daze?" Elliot raised his voice a few times when he saw him in a trance. "After you sent me a message last night, I contacted Avery and planned to give her a child support payment, but she refused."

"Oh..." Chad was not surprised at all.

Chapter 1837

"What's even more ridiculous is that a detective I found just now told me that Avery asked him to meet and offered him a super high price to find Haze." Elliot couldn't understand Avery's behavior, "How could she take All the capital to go to Haze?"

Chad heard it, but the boss was still worried about Avery.

Otherwise, there is no need to worry about whether she will use all the capital to find children.

Chad: "Boss, although Avery is not as rich as you, she also wants to do her part."

Elliot: "I told her that I have been sending someone to look for Haze. She doesn't believe me, so she has to find it herself. "

Boss, don't worry about what she does. Anyway, you are divorced, and you will live your own lives in the future. Don't disturb anyone." Chad said calmly.

When Elliot heard her words, the expression on his face changed suddenly.

In the past, when Chad mentioned their relationship, he would try his best to match them up. The most common words were that he couldn't bear it for the sake of children? But now, Chad actually told them not to disturb anyone.

"Chad, you've changed." Elliot looked at Chad with deep eyes, "What did Mike say to you last night?"

Chad: "What I said, I sent a message to tell you. After that, we were drunk."

Elliot: "Who told you to tell me that Avery and I will not disturb anyone in the future?"

"I said it myself... Am I wrong?" Chad pretended to be innocent and asked, "Do you have any ideas or plans?"

Elliot: "Chad, you go out."

.....

In the evening.

Everyone had a formal gathering at Avery's house.

In this gathering, in addition to Jun, Tammy, Ben, Gwen, Wesley and Shea. And, of course, their children.

Avery was very happy to see Shea's daughter for the first time.

Shea's daughter Maria is two years old this year. She looks like Wesley and has a similar personality. She is very quiet.

Tammy told her that Maria didn't like to cry, so Avery immediately took Maria into her arms.

The little guy really doesn't like to cry.

Although she frowned and didn't want to be hugged, she looked at Avery very firmly, with an expression of "I don't want you to be hugged, if you don't let go, I will consider crying".

Tammy said, "Avery, I originally planned to bring Robert, but Robert was not at home. Mrs. Cooper said that Elliot took him out."

After Tammy said this, Shea suddenly remembered something.

She was about to say something when Wesley immediately patted her on the shoulder, then walked towards the door with the phone.

Shea understood.

"Shea, who usually takes Maria? Maria is really cute! Be obedient and obedient." Avery especially likes Maria.

"I also particularly like Maria. Don't you say that some babies are very good, like angels? I think Maria is an angel baby." Tammy echoed.

Shea was very happy that they praised Maria: "It's mainly my mother-in-law who takes care of Maria. If I bring children, their family will be worried to death." She laughed at herself.

"What's there to worry about. I see how well you hugged the child just now!"

Avery said, "But it is hard to take care of the child, and your mother-in-law is willing to help you take care of the child, so you can watch from the side.

However, why don't you ask a nanny to take care of the child?"

"I hired a nanny before, but Maria is so good, my mother-in-law thought she could take care of her alone, so she dismissed the nanny." Shea explained.

"Hahaha. So many of us are staring at it. If anyone in Wesley's family treats you badly, we will help you out." Ben Schaffer interjected with a smile.

Shea blushed slightly, and turned to look at Wesley.

Wesley stood outside talking on the phone. However, he was facing the room. After he and Shea looked at each other, the call was quickly finished.

Chapter 1838

After Wesley came in, he said to Avery with an apologetic expression: "Avery, Elliot is here."

Everyone was stunned.

"Maria wanted to play with Robert at noon today, so I called my brother, Elliot and asked him to bring Robert to our house after get off work. I forgot about it." Shea explained.

"I called him just now and told him not to bring Robert to our house, but he already knew from my mother that we were coming to Avery. He said he would be there soon." Wesley continued to explain.

"No wonder I went to pick up Robert, and Mrs. Cooper said that Elliot took him out." Tammy said, "It's just right for him to come, leave Robert behind, and let him go."

"Tammy, this is not good?" Jun glanced at the food on the table, "Brother Elliot eats together, just an extra pair of tableware. And maybe he won't stay to eat? Let's not show that we don't welcome him first! "

Jun's voice was settled, and outside the villa, the black Rolls-Royce stopped.

After a while, the bodyguard got off the car with Robert in his arms.

Wesley and Shea greeted him at the door.

Elliot entered the living room with them.

When Maria saw Robert, he immediately shouted cheerfully: "Brother, brother!"

It can be seen that Maria especially likes Robert.

Robert held a small gift box in his hand.

Every time Robert went to see Maria, Elliot would prepare a small gift for his son and ask his son to bring it to his sister.

So Maria especially likes to play with his brother.

“Kara, go and play with them!” Tammy took her daughter over there.

The three children, Kara, Maria and Robert never played together before. but after knew each other, the three of them quickly started playing.

“Elliot, have you eaten dinner yet?” Ben Schaffer asked Elliot, “We are just about to eat, why don’t you come and eat together?”

Chad saw Avery’s face ashen, and immediately said, “Brother Ben, this is not very good. Right? The boss must have food at home. Forcing the boss to stay here, the boss is embarrassed!”

Ben Schaffer: “???”

Elliot looked at Chad with cold eyes.

Although Chad argued in the afternoon that he was not brainwashed by Mike, it is now very obvious that he was brainwashed.

Chad coughed dryly in a guilty conscience, and pretended to find a cup to drink water.

Shea felt that since her brother didn’t refuse just now, it means that he hasn’t eaten yet.

Shea: “Brother, are you staying for dinner?”

Shea knew that Elliot and Avery were divorced, but Shea felt that with so many friends and children, it shouldn’t be too much to keep Elliot for dinner.

After all, Elliot brought Robert here, shouldn’t he have to take Robert away later?

Elliot looked at Avery. Since he came in until now, Avery has never looked at him directly.

“Shea, this is Avery’s house, let’s see what Avery has to say!” Wesley saw that Avery was in a bad mood, so he spoke immediately.

Mike had been silent all the time. Hearing Wesley's words, he couldn't help but say, "Wesley, it's no wonder Avery has always regarded you as a big brother.

You can really understand her feelings."

Mike's words are clearly true In praising Wesley, it was actually for Elliot.

Why couldn't Elliot hear what Mike meant, didn't he just let him go?

Just when he turned around to leave, Avery took the lead to stand up from the chair.

Avery didn't talk to anyone, didn't stop, and strode towards the master bedroom.

"What's wrong with Avery?" Tammy didn't know what happened, so she asked in a low voice in surprise.

Is it because Elliot planned to give the Tate Industries to Norah Jones?

If it wasn't for this incident, It felt that Avery didn't need to embarrass Elliot in the presence of so many friends and children.

Chapter 1839

Gwen answered: "What else can happen, there is someone she doesn't like."

Although Elliot is her brother, she is correct.

From the moment they divorced, Gwen stood firmly on Avery's side.

Shea blushed embarrassedly, "I'll go and see Avery."

"Don't go." Wesley pulled her back, "Let Tammy go!"

Shea's identity was too embarrassing.

Her relationship with Elliot is closer than that of her own siblings, and she has no idea of the grievances accumulated over the years between Avery and Elliot.

She went in to persuade Avery, no matter how she persuaded it, it was useless.

"Mike, go!" Tammy said to Mike, "I have something to ask Elliot."

Mike wanted to stay and watch the show, but he didn't want Avery to be alone in the room, so Mike walked to three children's side and brought the three of them to Avery's room.

Having a child, Avery dare not show it even if she is unhappy.

Seeing the smile on Avery's face, Mike came out of the master bedroom.

In the dining room.

Elliot was invited to sit in the dining chair.

Ben Schaffer brought tableware and poured wine for Elliot.

Jun gave Tammy countless glances to tell her not to make trouble, but she turned a blind eye.

Mike returned to the dining room, took a look at the scene, and fanned the flames: "Tammy, didn't you say you have something to say? Did you say it?"

Tammy immediately pushed Jun away and walked in front of Elliot.

"Elliot, look at this picture." Tammy opened the picture from last night, handed it to Elliot, and asked, "Is the 'Elliot' here you?"

Elliot glanced at the picture and said without hesitation, "No. Don't ask me this kind of boring question."

He didn't have an account for this kind of short video, and even if he did, he wouldn't use his real name!

"What Tammy mainly wants to ask is the news in this short video... Is the Tate Industries going to go public independently? Will Norah Jones become the big boss of the Tate Industries?" Jun questioned him directly.

Tammy: "Yes! Avery is so angry, it must be because of this!"

Jun pulled Tammy back to the seat and sat down.

The question that should be asked has already been asked, and it depends on whether Elliot will answer.

"I don't need to and can't explain any important decisions within my company to you. If Avery is angry with me because of this, it can only mean that she is narrow-minded. Since she can't let go of the Tate Industries, why did she pretend to be free and easy? " Elliot teased coldly.

Chad took a sip of his wine and dared to say, "She's not..."

As soon as Chad opened his mouth, everyone's eyes flicked towards him.

The words behind it were immediately blocked in the throat.

"What's she not?" Elliot looked at Chad and put pressure on him with his eyes, "Speak!"

Chad took a deep breath and squeezed the glass tightly with his fingers: "Mike knows! Mike, you said!"

Mike: "???"

Mike looked at Elliot contemptuously: "Of course Avery is not angry because of such trivial things! If you really want to know why she is angry, you can ask her! I can't tell you!"

Everyone's eyes fell on Elliot's face.

"Whether Avery is angry or not, why is he angry, I don't care at all! If it wasn't for Robert to come looking for Maria, I would never have come!" After Elliot finished speaking indifferently, he stood up from his chair and turned around!

His eyes immediately met Avery, who had just come over.

Chapter 1840

The three children want to drink water, so Avery came over to bring water to the children. Unexpectedly, as soon as she came over, she heard Elliot's remarks.

The moment Elliot saw Avery, a flash of surprise flashed across his eyes, and then his expression returned to calm.

"I'll take Robert away first." Elliot said coldly.

"You can go by yourself." Avery didn't give him face, "Let your bodyguard take him back later.”

Elliot, Robert and the bodyguard came in a car.

Avery asked Elliot to go first and let him take a taxi outside by himself?

Otherwise, he drove the car away, how would his son Robert get back later?

Elliot’s whole body was cold and cold, he pursed his thin lips, and strode away without saying a word.

Robert probably won’t go home for the time being.

After Elliot drives home, let the driver drive to pick Robert up.

After Elliot left, the atmosphere in the villa suddenly resumed lively.

“Avery, come here!” Tammy beckoned to her, “You’re not angry with him because of the Tate Industries, so why are you angry?”

Avery didn’t want to say.

It’s not a glorious thing after all.

“The children want to drink water, and I’ll bring it to them.” Avery took a pot of water and held several glasses in her hand.

“Do you want to drink water? I brought her a kettle.” Wesley immediately walked to the living room and took out the kettle from the bag he brought with him.

“I also brought a kettle for Kara.” Tammy went to get the kettle.

As for Robert, Elliot didn’t bring him anything.

Because Robert is relatively old, he can already drink water from a water cup.

Avery took two kettles and a glass of water and went back to the bedroom.

“Mike, Chad said you know why Avery is angry, tell me!” Tammy poured Mike a glass of wine and asked, “She was really angry just now. Since Elliot entered the room, her face became gloomy.”

Mike couldn’t tell her privacy without Avery’s consent.

“Tammy, you have such a good relationship with her, you can just ask her directly, why bother me? You are afraid of her, and I am also afraid of her! Besides, she is angry with Elliot, but it doesn't affect her relationship with us. Don't worry about them. I'll be leaving in two days, so take this meal as yours for me tonight!" Mike raised his glass and wanted to toast everyone.

"Are you going back to Bridgedale? Where's Avery reside in Bridgedale?" Wesley asked.

"She won't leave here." Mike explained to everyone, "Don't worry, I will arrange for bodyguards to live at home to protect her 24 hours a day."

In the master bedroom.

Maria and Kara each held their own kettles to drink water.

Avery held a water cup and fed Robert water.

Suddenly, her phone on the bed rang.

She picked up her phone and saw a video call from Hayden.

Without hesitation, she took the video call.

"Hayden, Robert is here with me now, do you want to see Robert?" Although Avery was asking, she couldn't help crouching beside Robert and asked the brothers to meet, "Robert, look! This is your elder brother, Hayden!"

Robert saw his brother's serious face, and nervously grabbed the hem of his clothes.

"Robert, call me brother." Hayden's voice came from a solemn tone, with the smell of an order.

Robert pursed his mouth and turned to drill into Avery's arms.

Originally, he was not so close to Avery, but because he was less familiar with his brother and more afraid of him, now his mother is also a good safe haven.

Avery hugged Robert into her arms with a happy smile on her face.

Kara took her little hand and walked over to the camera of the mobile phone, staring at Hayden in the video.

When Hayden saw the two little girls appearing, the expression on his face couldn't help softening.

"Kara, Maria, call me brother." Although Hayden had never seen them, he had seen their photos, so he recognized them both.

Kara has a more lively personality, so she shouted obediently: "Brother!"

"Maria, can you speak? If you can, then shout out to brother. When brother comes back to Aryadelle next time, I will buy you a gift!" Hayden coaxed.

Kara pouted: "I called you brother, do you have a gift for me?"

"As long as you call me brother, you will have a gift." After Hayden finished speaking, Robert in Avery's arms felt itchy.

Although he was hiding in his mother's arms, he stared at Hayden in the video with his eyes fixed.

"Brother." Maria shouted shyly and nervously.

Although it was not loud, Hayden heard it.

"Little Maria is really good. Your brother will definitely buy you a big gift!" Hayden promised to look at his brother hiding in his mother's arms, his expression suddenly serious, "Robert, you coward! Both sisters dare to call brother, You dare not! You are really a good son brought out by Elliot!"

Hayden didn't expect his younger brother to be so timid, not like him and Layla at all.

After being yelled at by Hayden, Robert's face flushed, and he quarreled with Hayden: "You are a coward! You bad brother! I don't want you to buy gifts! My father will buy them for me!"

"Then go find your stinky father! Don't hide in my mother's arms!" Hayden mocked.

Robert's eyes were wet with anger, he broke free from Avery's arms and went to find his father.

Avery didn't care about anything else, and immediately ran after Robert.

Avery: "Robert, your father is home."

"Woooooo! I want Dad! I want to go home! I don't like bad brother! He's so fierce!" Robert cried with tears streaming down his face very sadly.

Avery watched her son cry and felt very distressed.

She picked Robert up and strode outside and planned to send Robert back.

She had brought Hayden and Layla, and knew that the child would make a fuss, and if it was not coaxed well, the child would cry and gasp for breath.

Everyone heard Robert's cry and came over to check the situation.

"Robert and Hayden quarreled. I'll take Robert back first. Don't worry, let's go eat!" Avery said, and walked out with Robert in her arms.

When the Foster family bodyguard saw Avery come out with Robert in her arms, the bodyguard immediately greeted her.

"Go in and find Mike and get my car key." Seeing that the black Rolls-Royce had already driven away, Avery spoke to the Foster family bodyguard.

After the bodyguard entered the house, Avery hugged Robert and coaxed gently: "Robert, mother knows you are not a coward. How good you were with your two younger sisters just now! Youe elder brother didn't know because he didn't come back to see you. How good are you..."

Avery cooed patiently, making Robert stop crying quickly.

On the way back, Robert fell asleep in Avery's arms.

After a while, the car stopped in front of Foster's villa.

Avery took Robert to Mrs. Cooper, took the car keys from the bodyguard, and drove away alone.

Elliot came down from the upstairs and frowned when he saw the tears on his son's face.

Mrs. Cooper explained, "Sir, Avery said that Robert and Hayden had a quarrel. The two brothers probably haven't seen each other for three years. They must have no feelings. Hayden won't come back, you can take Robert to Bridgedale to see Hayden. You must miss Hayden too, right?"

Elliot hesitated for a while, then answered.

He really should go to Bridgedale to see Hayden!

Three days later.

Jewelry Auction.

Avery entered the auction site wearing a white casual fisherman hat and a light and elegant purple dress.

Chapter 1842

Soon, it will be Hayden and Layla's birthday.

Avery saw the promotion of this jewelry auction on the Internet.

Jewelry in this auction, there was a children's jewelry, particularly beautiful.

Avery took a fancy to it at a glance.

She thought that Layla would like it very much, so she wanted to take a picture and give it to her daughter.

"The next piece of jewelry is a children's jewelry. This jewelry was designed by the empress of the J-Kingdom for her daughter in the last century. This jewelry was made by hand by the top craftsmen of the J-Kingdom at that time. There were a total of 108 gemstones inlaid on it...Whether it's a good choice for taking pictures for my daughter or remodeling." The auctioneer introduced this jewelry on the stage, and after quoting the reserve price, the scene Start bidding.

When Avery was about to bid, the man sitting next to her immediately raised a placard: "$8 million."

Avery took a deep breath.

It seems that this man was determined to win.

Because the reserve price was $5 million.

The man added $3 million directly.

Avery glanced at the picture of the jewelry again, and still liked it very much, presumably her daughter would like it even more.

Thinking of this, she immediately raised her placard.

The default value of a raise is $500,000.

"No. 9 bid $8.5 million!" the auctioneer said immediately, "Is there anyone else?"

"I bid $10 million." Avery corrected.

The auctioneer was shocked and immediately corrected: "No. 9 bid $10 million.

Is there anyone else to follow?"

No. 10, who was sitting beside Avery, looked panicked.

He stared at Avery.

Avery lowered the brim of her hat, not wanting to be seen by outsiders.

"Wait a minute, I'll make a call." The man number 10 didn't see Avery's face clearly, so he didn't dare to increase the price rashly, and he didn't want to give up, so he made a request.

Auction suspended.

The man called Norah Jones and said, "Ms. Jones, the woman sitting next to me also wants to photograph that set of jewelry. I asked for 8 million, and she directly increased it to 10 million. She is wearing a hat, I can't see her face, and I don't know where she is. I don't know how much she can add. So I can only ask you."

Norah Jones's reserve price was $10 million. She wanted to photograph this set of jewelry, but also to give it to Layla at that time. Of course, she won't send a whole set directly. Too expensive gift, She's afraid Elliot will not allow Layla to accept it.

She can give a necklace this time and a bracelet next time. She didn't want to be disrupted by the plan she had made. But to increase the price, she felt that it was not worth it.

That set of jewelry, although precious and beautiful, is only worth 10 million at most. Any more, is the IQ tax.

"Ms. Jones, the organizer of this auction and Mr. Foster know each other. Would you like to call Mr. Foster and ask him to help?"

Norah Jones hesitated for a while, then said, "I'll call Mr. Foster and ask."

After a while, The man No. 10 finished the call and returned to the auction hall.

From the corner of Avery's eyes, she saw a triumphant smile on The man's face, as if everything was under control.

The man: "Give up this set of jewelry!"

Avery replied, "give me a reason to give up."

"My boss is going to make an order. And we won't increase the price. Just use $10 million to buy this set of jewelry." The man put his hands around his chest, and the corner of his mouth raised a smug smile.

A staff member in uniform walked in and called the auctioneer off the stage, and the two had a private chat.

Immediately, the staff left and the auctioneer took the stage.

"I'm sorry. The set of children's jewelry we are auctioning now has been reserved by important guests. So it will not be auctioned to the public." The auctioneer's voice was settled, and the relevant picture introduction on the big screen behind was removed and replaced with another one. A product to be auctioned.

“My boss is what the auctioneer calls an important guest. You don’t want to give up, you have to give up.” The man No. 10 completed the task, so it was very relaxed, “No matter how much money you have, you can’t compare to my boss’s connections.”

“Oh Who is your boss?” Avery was unwilling, but since the organizer said it would not be auctioned to the outside world, she had nothing to do. She just wanted to know who the person who photographed this set of jewelry is.

“You must be familiar with Tate Industries, right?” The man No. 10 said proudly, “My boss is the boss of Tate Industries.”

“Norah Jones?” Avery asked.

The man No. 10: “Look, I know that my boss is now famous! Even if you are rich, can you be as rich as my boss? Besides, my boss doesn’t even bother to have more money than you. Because my boss’s connections can reach the sky!

“Elliot?” Avery was stunned for a moment, “You mean Elliot?”

“It seems that you know a lot!” The man No. 10 looked at her with admiration, but unfortunately her hat was too low, so The man could only see her red lips.

“Elliot ordered this set of jewelry for your boss?” Avery asked.

“Yes! If you don’t agree, go to the organizer! Besides, since you are so rich, you go to the designer to customize high-end jewelry! Why do you have to fight with our boss for something?” The man No. 10 finished arrogantly, get up, leave.

Avery followed and left the auction site. She came here specifically for this set of children’s jewelry, but it was a pity that Norah Jones took it away by improper means.

Auctions, as the name suggests, whoever bids the most will go to whoever bids the most.

Norah Jones and Elliot's behavior violated the auction principle.

.....

Bridgedale.

After Elliot answered Norah Jones's call, he checked the time.

It's already 11 o'clock at night.

Robert was beside him, sleeping soundly.

Elliot came Bridgedale this time to see Hayden. But he hasn't contacted Hayden yet, so Hayden still doesn't know the news of his coming.

He didn't know how to contact Hayden. If he call Hayden directly, Hayden will definitely not want to see him.

The best way was to call Avery and asked Avery to tell Hayden.

Thinking of this, Elliot sent Avery a message: [I brought Robert to Bridgedale. I want them brothers to meet. Can you help to talk to Hayden?]

When Avery saw the message he sent, she was out of anger.

Without thinking about it, she rejected Elliot: [no.]

Elliot looked at the word she sent and fell into deep thought.

As for the matter of the Tate Industries, is she so angry?

Elliot lifted the thin quilt, lifted his long legs, and got out of bed.

He entered the bathroom, closed the door, and dialed Avery.

Avery answered in seconds.

She is in a bad mood now, like a walking dynamite keg. Elliot called her at this time, and they were destined to have a big fight.

"Don't you have the ability to reach the sky?" Avery answered the phone, without waiting for him to speak, she sneered, "You want to see Hayden, go see it yourself, I won't help you!"

“Avery, have you eaten dynamite?” Elliot frowned, his anger was successfully aroused, “About the fact that the Tate Industries is going to go public independently...”

“Don’t tell me this! I don’t care!” Avery’s voice became heavier and more angry than him, “Elliot, I have never seen a man more despicable and shameless than you. I really want to curse you to death!”

Elliot was holding the phone tightly, and everything in front of him was suddenly distorted.

“How despicable and shameless am I?!” Elliot roared, “Avery, I have warned you long ago about the consequences of divorce! You want me to die now, but I am not!”

Chapter 1844

His roar was so loud that he woke Robert who was asleep.

After Robert woke up, he burst into tears.

Elliot hung up the phone quickly and came out of the bathroom.

Avery heard her son’s cry, and her out of control emotions quickly calmed down.

She was so impulsive just now!

Elliot said that he took Robert to find Hayden. Even if she didn’t want to help Elliot, it was really necessary for Robert to meet Hayden.

Thinking of this, she sent Hayden a message and told him about Elliot and Robert going to Bridgedale.

At the same time, Avery hopes Hayden can find time to meet them.

The next morning.

While Elliot and Robert were having breakfast, they received a call from Hayden.

Hayden asked where he was.

After Elliot told Hayden his location, he asked, "Did your mother tell you?"

"Otherwise?" Hayden said coldly, "I'm going to find you now."

Elliot looked at the hung up phone, feeling like Like a dream.

Talking to Avery on the phone last night, they were arguing.

Elliot thought Avery really wouldn't help him, but he didn't expect Avery to be duplicitous, with a knife-like mouth and a tofu heart.

So Avery said that she cursed him to death, Elliot was afraid it's also fake.

About half an hour later, Hayden came to the hotel and met Elliot and Robert.

"Do you want something to eat?" Elliot handed the menu to Hayden, looking at his eldest son for a moment.

Hayden had grown a lot taller, his eyes were firm, and his expression was cold, just like an adult.

"No." Hayden refused.

Hayden's eyes fell on Robert's face.

Robert was so frightened that he didn't dare to move.

The little guy was deeply impressed by this fierce brother.

His brother called him a coward.

"Call me brother." Hayden ordered to Robert.

Elliot looked down at Robert, and said in a low voice, "Robert, this is your brother. Call your brother."

Robert pouted and made a small report to his father: "He said I was a coward. I didn't want to call him brother."

Elliot: "If you call him brother, he won't call you a coward."

Robert hesitated.

At this time, Hayden took out a black box from his bag.

"Calling brother, I'll give you a gift." Hayden tempted him with a gift.

Robert stared at the black box and opened his mouth: "Brother."

"That's good!" Hayden handed over the gift, "Open it yourself."

Robert held the box in both hands and carefully opened it. Inside was a A cute lamb.

Robert is a sheep, so Hayden chose this gift.

"Robert, Say thank you to your brother!" Elliot reminded his son.

Robert shyly said, "Thank you, brother."

"Can you be more courageous in the future? Like your sister, eh?" The more Hayden looked at his brother, the more he felt that although he was timid, he looked cute and not so helpless.

"Okay!" Robert closed the box and held it in his arms. He probably liked this gift.

Chapter 1845

Then, the atmosphere fell into an awkward situation.

Elliot said, "Hayden, you can often go back to Aryadelle when you have time to see Layla and Robert. I talked to your mother after she returned to Aryadelle. I have the same attitude as her about your three children. We hope that you will grow up healthy and happy, and not be affected by us."

Hayden listened patiently, and his thin lips lightly parted: "I came here for the sake of my mother and brother. You'd better not talk, I don't want to listen any more."

Elliot picked up the water glass and took a sip. Then he took out a card and handed it to Hayden and said, "You accept this card. The password is your birthday. I will make a payment every month. Tell me if you are short of money. Your mother is not working now, and I am afraid she will be stressed."

When the card came, the corners of Hayden's mouth couldn't help but rise. He accepted the card, not in the mood to stay any longer.

Elliot didn't expect him to accept the card, nor did he expect him to smile, nor did he expect that he would leave after accepting the card.

"Aren't you going to stay with your brother for a while?" Elliot retained. In fact, he wanted to spend more time with Hayden. He really wanted to chat with Hayden for a while, and wanted to know about Hayden's study and life in the past two years. Although he knew it was wishful thinking.

"I'm very busy. In the future, when Robert grows up, there will be many opportunities for the two of us to meet." After Hayden finished speaking, he finally glanced at Robert and left the hotel.

Looking at the back of Hayden's departure, Elliot felt lost.

"Dad." Robert raised his head and looked at his father's face, "Brother is left."

"Yeah." Elliot replied.

Robert: "He doesn't seem to like me."

"No. He doesn't like me." Elliot explained, "Look, he gave you gifts, but he didn't give me gifts."

"That's because I called his brother, and if you called him brother, he would also give you gifts." The little guy didn't seem to think there was anything wrong with saying that.

Elliot smiled bitterly: "Your brother is my son, how can I call him brother?"

"brother Hayden said that whoever calls him brother, he will give gifts to anyone." The little guy still doesn't think there is any problem with his logic.

Hayden came out of the hotel and threw the card given by Elliot into the roadside trash can.

He didn't need to rely on Elliot before, and he doesn't need to rely on him now!

The next day, the person in charge of the Tate Industries's Bridgedale branch invited Elliot to dinner.

The person in charge invited executives from major companies in Bridgedale to accompany him.

“Do you know the Dream Maker Company?” Someone asked, raising the topic.

“Is it the company that makes self-driving cars? This company has been very windy recently! It’s only been open for two years, but the momentum is very strong! I heard that the cars they make will interrupt the survival of traditional cars, which is unimaginable. “

“It’s an exaggeration to say that! Their gimmick is a self-driving safety system, but people can’t really trust robots. So they still have to drive it themselves!

Their most powerful OTA technology! Traditional cars, just The car, but the car made by the dream maker is more like a flexible AI robot, or a smartphone that we are accustomed to.”

“It seems that their car hasn’t been launched yet?” Elliot heard something.

He is not interested in the field of automobiles.

But because Jack Tate always wanted to develop a driverless car during his lifetime, he did not develop it until his death.

So after seeing this kind of news, he paid more attention.

“A small number of people have been invited for a test drive. For example, me.”

The person who said this was the one who had a high opinion of the Dreammaker’s car just now, “I dare to say that their car was driven by me.

Among all the luxury cars in Aryadelle, the most comfortable and high-tech cars.

Their cars will be launched soon, and I will definitely buy them when they are officially launched!”

“Who is the owner of this company?” Elliot asked.

Everyone looked at each other and finally shook their heads.

“We also inquired privately, but we didn’t get any useful information at all. We only heard that the boss is from Rishawaka. This person is very mysterious and very capable, but he doesn't seem to be planning to show up."

"Rishawaka?" Elliot was wondering because Rishawaka is just a small country.

But the dream maker's company was opened in Bridgedale.

"Yeah! Although that country is poor, there are also a lot of top rich people." The person in charge looked at Elliot and asked, "Mr. Foster, I have a quota for a test drive of a new car. Would you like to experience it?"

Chapter 1846

After Elliot thought for a while, he nodded.

After lunch, the person in charge took him to the Dream Maker Auto Factory.

"Mr. Foster, how long do you plan to stay this time?" The person in charge asked.

"I'll go back to Aryadelle in about two days." Elliot planned to take Robert around tomorrow and then leave.

"Are you here for a private matter this time?" The person in charge hesitated and said, "If your domestic affairs are not so urgent, why don't you stay here for a few more days? I wonder if Ms. Jones told you. We really want to cooperate with Dream Makers, and we are now in contact with their management. If you are here, I feel that the negotiation is more likely to be successful."

Elliot raised his eyebrows slightly: "What to cooperate with them?"

"President Jones is very optimistic about dreamers and wants to invest in shares." The person in charge said, "Because I haven't talked to the other side, Ms. Jones probably hasn't told you yet."

"Why is she optimistic about dreamers?" Elliot asked.

"You will find out when you go for a test drive later. Although Dream Maker has only been established for two years. It is not an easy company to get to the bottom of. The founder of Dream Maker should have laid out the plan very early.

The car manufacturing center of the company is the team of an old car company. Their technology research and development department brings together the world's top programmers. So don't look at the company's establishment for two years, but in fact they are a very mature team. They know what kind of product I want to make."

Elliot listened to the person in charge and became more interested in the founder of this company.

An hour later, the car stopped at the Dream Makers headquarters.

After the person in charge showed his test drive notice to the staff, the staff took them towards the car center.

"I heard that your car is already available for reservation, is it true?" the person in charge asked the staff.

"Yes. You can test drive first. Wait until the test drive is over to see if you need to book." The staff replied confidently.

The person in charge: "Okay."

Soon, Elliot saw the dreamer's car.

It looks like a normal car on the market.

The staff took out a proximity card and opened the car.

Elliot was startled.

The difference between the dreamer and the traditional car is opened.

The person in charge opened the door and asked Elliot to enter the driver's seat.

After Elliot got into the driver's seat, the staff simply told him how to use it.

Compared with traditional cars, Dream Maker's cars are simpler to use.

As the guy at the dinner said, the Dreamer's car is more like a large smartphone.

The person in charge: "Mr. Foster, how do you feel?"

Elliot didn't answer. Because he hasn't taken the car out yet.

He pressed the power button and drove the car out slowly.

"Mr. Foster, why don't we try the autopilot function?" The person in charge stared at the autopilot function button, itching in his heart.

Elliot also wanted to try, so he pressed the button.

After that, the big screen on the console showed a real-time scene in all directions outside the car.

Elliot stared at the big screen, completely unaware that he was driving now.

The car drove smoothly all the way from the car center and entered the main road.

Elliot set a destination, and after that, the autopilot system successfully drove the car to the destination.

Passing traffic lights, yielding to pedestrians, letting cars, etc., the cars seem to be more sensitive than real people.

"Mr. Foster, how do you feel?" The person in charge was a little excited, "Ms. Jones has not yet had a test drive, but Ms. Jones has a friend who has done it. So Ms. Jones asked me to try it anyway..."

Chapter 1847

"Do you think dream makers will accept investment from outsiders?" Elliot said, "I'm afraid not."

"It's hard to say. Although the car has been built, who knows how the follow-up maintenance and safety issues will be. You stay for a few more days, and I will ask their management to come out to meet. With you here, they will definitely give this face."

Elliot agreed after thinking for a while.

The return trip was his own.

He wanted to feel the difference between this car and a normal car more fully.

When the car starts, it's almost like driving a normal car. Because its control panel is simpler and more convenient to operate, it is easier to use than traditional cars.

It's no wonder that some people said at lunch that the dreamer's car was going to cut off the back road of traditional cars.

However, because the Dream Maker car is currently targeting the mid-to-highend market, it will not completely suppress traditional mid-to-low-end cars.

After the test drive, the person in charge ordered a new car in advance.

Elliot glanced at the brochures of the first batch of products and decided to order one for Avery. He chose a red car for Avery.

Although Avery gave up the Tate Industries, she certainly did not forget her father's wish during his lifetime.

What Jack Tate did not accomplish is now realized.

Elliot remembered that the people around him talked about Jack Tate, saying that he was unrealistic, daydreaming, and would fail in the end.

Jack Tate did not succeed, but he did not succeed, not because he was unrealistic and daydreaming, but because he died of illness.

If he hadn't died, maybe he would have succeeded before the Dreamer did.

After the two booked the car, they came out of the Dream Maker Building.

"Mr. Foster, don't be in a hurry to go back to Aryadelle. I'll contact their management later, and if the other party is willing to meet with us, I'll notify you immediately." The person in charge said excitedly, "I believe that the boss of the Dream Maker is not a fool, I'll talk to you. Cooperation is a win-win situation!"

Elliot didn't answer.

.....

Aryadelle.

Layla has a day off today, so Avery got up early to get Layla by her side.

“When will Dad and Robert come back? Look at this, I plan to give it to Robert.”

Layla took out a small hand-held electric fan from her backpack.

Avery couldn't help laughing: “This is your gift for Robert?”

“Yes! My brother will definitely like it. He has never seen it before, so he must be surprised!” Layla put the small electric fan back in her bag, “This is the crew. A sister gave it to me. I'm on the set every day, and I don't have time to go shopping, so I can only give him this as a gift.”

Avery: “Your brother will definitely like your gift.”

Layla: “Mom, when will they be back? Will Robert come back?”

Avery: “Mom doesn't know when they will come back. You can call your father and ask.”

Avery only knew through Hayden that they met once. She didn't ask more, since Hayden didn't say more, it means that the meeting was not pleasant.

“Forget it! I don't care so much about them! When my work is over, I will go to Bridgedale to find my brother.” Layla looked at her mother, “Mom, you can come with me when the time comes.”

Avery said, “Layla, When your work is over, your birthday is coming soon. Did your father say that he would give you a birthday party?”

“No!” Layla whispered, “I don't want to have a birthday party. Let's celebrate your birthday together.”

“Then celebrate at home. What gift do you want? Mom will buy it for you.” Avery said dotingly.

Layla had almost everything, so she thought distressedly.

At this moment, Avery's cell phone rang.

Chapter 1848

She took out her mobile phone from her bag and saw that it was an unfamiliar number. After hesitating for a while, she still answered it.

“Hello, Miss Tate, I’m the person in charge of Jade Auction. I just checked the information and found that you came to our auction site yesterday and wanted to auction a piece of children’s jewelry. However, for some reasons, this children’s jewelry was not sold during the auction process. I want to explain the reason to you.”

After all, Avery is Elliot’s ex-wife, and the person in charge of the auction house does not want to offend.

“I know the reason.” Avery said, “Norah Jones wanted that set of jewelry, but she didn’t dare to bid with me, so she asked Elliot to come forward and won the set of jewelry.”

The person in charge was embarrassed after hearing what Avery said: “Indeed That’s right. My boss knows Mr. Foster. Besides, Mr. Foster personally called my boss, and my boss would definitely save face. However, does it mean that Mr. Foster doesn’t know that you also want that set of jewelry?”

Avery said, “I don’t want it anymore...You don’t have to tell him about it.”

The person in charge: “Okay. I’m calling you mainly to apologize. I’m really sorry.”

Avery: “It’s okay, I don’t blame you.”

After talking on the phone, Avery met her daughter’s inquiring eyes.

Layla: “Mom, what kind of jewelry?”

Avery told her daughter what happened yesterday.

After listening, Layla blew the bangs on her forehead angrily.

Layla: “Dad is such an idiot. He actually helped other women to bully you. I really want to call and scold him.”

“He didn’t know that I went to the auction site too. He didn’t know that I wanted that set of jewelry too.” Avery had already quarreled with Elliot and didn’t want to be angry anymore about it.

“Mom, let’s just forget about it! I’m going to take back that set of jewelry.” Layla wasn’t mad at her, but she couldn’t be mad at her father. “What does the jewelry you want look like? Do you have any pictures?”

Avery turned on the phone and found the photo: “Layla, your mom wants to buy this set of jewelry for your birthday.”

“If that’s the case, then I’ll be even more angry.” Layla brought her mother’s phone over, glanced at the jewelry in the picture, “This set of jewelry is so beautiful! This should have been mine, a$$hole dad!”

“Layla, mom can buy you more beautiful jewelry.” Avery comforted her daughter, “If you tell your father, your father will only make it difficult. You can’t let him go to Norah Jones to come. Norah Jones is not only your father’s subordinate, but they are also partners.”

Layla snorted: “I don’t care what their relationship is. What! You are the most important thing in my heart! I don’t want to be wronged! I can’t let you be wronged like this!”

Avery: “Layla, I had a fight with your dad yesterday. I don’t want to fight with him anymore.”

Layla looked at her mother’s cold face. She didn’t want to make her angry, so she had to give up.

.....

Bridgedale.

After Elliot took Robert to play for a day, Norah Jones flew over from Aryadelle.

In the evening, Norah Jones went to the hotel to find Elliot and had dinner with the father and son.

“Elliot, I have done research on the company of Dream Makers. Their boss is from Rishawaka. This person is very mysterious. I don't know if he is a man or a woman...” Norah Jones explained what she knew and told Elliot about the situation.

“Have you asked someone inside their company?” Elliot believes that the company's top management must know the boss's information.

“Yes, I found it.” Norah Jones said, “I have a senior brother in there. Once I asked him to come out for a drink. When he was drunk, I asked about the situation of their company, and he said that there was no one in their company. I've seen the boss.”

Elliot frowned: “Who recruited the management of the company?”

“There are three people in charge of their company. These three people are in charge of different departments. They are all small shareholders of the company. It is said that these three people have never met the boss. I don't know the specific situation. The big boss of our company must have a difficult journey.” Norah Jones said this and looked at Robert, “Robert, you are listening so seriously, do you understand what we are talking about?”

Robert shook his head cutely.

Chapter 1849

“Robert, are you sleepy?” Seeing his son's expression, Elliot didn't seem to be in a good mood. “If you are sleepy, Dad will ask the bodyguard to take you back to rest first.”

Robert is not sleepy, but he doesn't want to continue listening. They chatted, so he reached out and felt in Dad's pocket.

Elliot knew what Robert was looking for. So Elliot took out his phone and handed it to Robert.

After Robert got his father's mobile phone, he obediently went back to the room with the bodyguard.

Norah Jones smiled and said, "He's so young, it's not good for him to play with the cell phone?"

"He called his sister." Elliot replied.

After the bodyguard brought Robert back to the room, Robert skillfully turned on his father's mobile phone, found his sister's number, and dialed it.

Layla answered the phone quickly.

"Sister! Sister, what are you doing?" Robert's voice came clear.

When Layla heard her brother's voice, she immediately responded: "Why don't you make a video call? Did you call your sister yourself?"

"Yeah!" Robert replied obediently, "Dad is outside...I'm having dinner with Aunt Norah...I miss you, so I'll be back first."

"Dad is having dinner with Aunt Norah Jones?" Layla's tone rose a few times.

Layla just found out that Norah Jones stole the jewelry that her mother wanted to buy for her, so she is full of anger at Norah Jones now.

"Well...I don't understand what the two of them said." Robert was very aggrieved, "I want to go home, but Dad won't."

Layla heard this and complained to her mother angrily: "Mom! Dad is dating Norah Jones now! He doesn't care about my younger brother! My younger brother wants to go home, and he refuses to bring my younger brother back in order to date Norah Jones over there! I want to go and bring my younger brother back!"

Avery listened her daughter speaks, immediately reach out and ask her to give her the phone to herself.

Layla handed the phone to her mother.

Avery picked up her daughter's mobile phone and put it in her ear.

The voice of the Foster family's bodyguard came: "Layla, it's not what you think! Your father didn't date Norah Jones! The two of them are talking about business! Originally, your father was going to bring Robert back to Aryadelle tomorrow, but there was a temporary business, so he delayed. You have to trust your father."

Avery listened to the bodyguard's explanation and asked, "How is Robert now?"

"Miss Tate?" The bodyguard suddenly stuttered when he heard Avery's voice, "Robert is, by my side...looking at me!"

"Oh...are you sure Robert is not wronged?"

"I'm sure! Otherwise, why would my boss give Robert the phone? Go back to the room." The bodyguard was afraid that Avery would misunderstand Elliot, so he couldn't help but talk, "Miss Tate, you have been living in Bridgedale before, you should know about the Dream Makers company, right? Norah Jones is telling the boss about the Dream Makers company. It's really not a date. They plan to meet the people from the Dreamer's side tomorrow to discuss cooperation!"

Avery didn't expect the bodyguard to explain so much to himself.

Avery: "Okay, I know, I will persuade Layla."

Avery returned the phone to her daughter after speaking.

Avery: "Layla, don't be angry. If your dad really wants to marry Norah Jones, he will marry her sooner or later."

"My dad told me that he wouldn't marry Norah Jones. I don't know if he is lying to me!" Layla suddenly remembered her father's previous promise to her.

Chapter 1850

“Layla, when I fell in love with your father before, he also gave me a lot of promises. But later, it became a joke.” Avery didn’t want to attack her daughter, but she was also afraid that her daughter would be disappointed by others’ words...

“If one day I find out that what he said to me is false, I won’t let him go.” Layla puffed her cheeks and said angrily, “If he doesn’t keep his promises, I won’t let him go!”

Avery patted her daughter’s head: “I don’t think so much. Mom will take you to play today.”

Layla: “Well.”

.....

Bridgedale.

Elliot and Norah Jones came to the Dream Building and talked with the executives of the Dream Maker Group about cooperation.

The two were invited to sit in the reception room, and the secretary poured water for them.

“Mr. Foster, President Jones, I didn’t expect you to be so punctual. I should have informed you in advance, but after thinking about it, it is better to tell you in person.” The executive smiled and informed them of the result, “Yesterday I told our boss about your ideas late, but he refused to cooperate with you.”

Elliot was not surprised by this result.

But Norah Jones obviously didn’t want to give up: “I want to know the reason for your boss’s refusal. Is your boss really rich enough to be rich? With our investment, dreamers can do even more.”

“I don’t know what he thinks.” The executive said, “You should have heard that our boss is quite special. His thoughts are often incomprehensible to ordinary people.”

“That is your boss is very rich, and no need of financing.” Norah Jones gave up completely.

“That’s not true.” The executive said truthfully, “Our company has been in business for more than two years, and we raised financing several times in the first year. If the boss is really not short of money, it won’t be like this in the early stage. But now our company is indeed not short of money. Many investment companies took the initiative to find them, and we have many choices.”

Norah: “Oh? Have you really never met your boss?”

The executive: “No. We all use his assistant, or email or phone to contact him.”

When Elliot heard this, he couldn’t help but ask, “What’s your boss’s name?”

“Mr. Foster, to be honest, I don’t know my boss’ real name. Billy is signed on his email. We call him Billy.”

The name was just a codename.

“If that’s the case, then we won’t bother.” Elliot got up from the sofa, not wanting to waste any more time.

Last night, the bodyguard told him that Robert called Layla to complain, which made Layla very angry.

He wanted to go back to Aryadelle as soon as possible to coax his daughter.

After the executives sent them away, they returned to the office.

“The boss really rejected Elliot’s investment?” The assistant asked.

The executive smiled sarcastically: “Not only that, the boss also told them to get out. How could I have the nerve to convey the boss’s meaning directly? I guess the boss has a grudge against Elliot.”

Assistant: “...”

A week later.

Layla finished all the filming work and was taken home by the Foster family bodyguard.

Layla did not expect that Norah Jones was also at home.

“Aunt Jones, have you moved to my house?” Layla looked at her with a wary expression.

After Norah Jones realized Layla’s hostility, she quickly explained: “No, no. I came here because I heard that you were going home today. Your birthday is coming soon, and your aunt has prepared a birthday present for you.”

Norah Jones Pick up a bag from the table and hand it to Layla.

Layla took the bag, took out a pink box, and opened it—

Inside the box was a necklace.

Chapter 1851

This necklace was very familiar.

It was the necklace in the jewelry set that her mother was going to buy for her last time, but was cut off by Norah Jones.

“Just a necklace?” Layla looked at Norah Jones and asked, “Aunt Jones, why are you hiding the bracelet in this set of jewelry? Or have you already given the bracelet to another child?”

With a swish, it turned red.

How did Layla know there was a matching bracelet for this necklace?

Guess?

Seeing his daughter being so impolite, Elliot immediately said, “Layla, you...”

“Elliot! Shut up!” Layla frowned and yelled at her father.

Norah Jones was shocked! Mrs. Cooper was also shocked.

It was very impolite for Layla to call Elliot's name directly. She was so angry at her father.

It was the first time that Elliot was scolded by his daughter in front of outsiders, and was a little confused.

“Layla, you shouldn’t speak to your father so loudly. Auntie does have a pair of bracelets there. I want to give it to you next time. Since you like it, I’ll go get it for you now.” Norah Jones wanted to calm down as soon as possible Layla’s anger, so hurried away and went back to get the bracelet.

After Norah Jones left, Elliot walked up to Layla and grabbed her wrist.

Layla didn’t even think about it, she pushed him away!

At the same time, Layla threw the necklace in her hand to the ground!

Layla: “If you let Norah Jones come to the house in the future, I’ll move out!”

Seeing that the situation was getting worse, Mrs. Cooper immediately stepped forward and stood in the middle of the father and daughter.

“Layla, why are you so angry? Norah Jones came here specially to give you a birthday present. She has never been to the house before. Have you misunderstood something?” Mrs. Cooper held Layla’s hand in both hands, hoping Layla can calm down.

Layla: “I didn’t misunderstand! Norah Jones is not a good thing! Neither is Elliot!”

“How can you say that about your father? Layla, what happened? There are no outsiders at home, so just say it directly.” Mrs. Cooper subconsciously felt that Layla’s fire must have something to do with Avery.

Before Avery returned to Aryadelle, although Layla often gave Elliot a face, the father and daughter had never had such a big fight.

“This necklace...it’s a set! My mother bought it for me. They took it away!” Layla pointed to the necklace on the ground, vented the anger in her heart, and then accused Elliot, “It’s all your fault that my mother divorced you. You made my mother wrong before. Now you also make my mother wrong!”

Elliot was stunned.

This set of jewelry was bought by Norah Jones at the auction.

Elliot was in Bridgedale at the time. Norah Jones called him and asked him to help the owner of the auction house to leave this set of jewelry.

Could it be that Avery also wanted to buy this set of jewelry at that time?

After Mrs. Cooper understood why Layla was angry, she immediately turned to look at Elliot.

Mrs. Cooper: “Sir, please explain to Layla! You must not know that Avery also wants to buy this set of jewelry, right? Otherwise, how could you help Norah Jones?”

Elliot pursed his thin lips, his Adam’s apple rolled up and down, and his face turned gloomy.

“He has a guilty conscience!” Layla said angrily, looking at the direction her father was leaving, “Grandma Cooper, Norah Jones will come to our house in the future, please don’t let her in!”

Mrs. Cooper took Layla and sat down on the sofa: “Layla, your father must not know that your mother also wants to buy that set of jewelry. Otherwise, he will not help outsiders. Your father and your mother are both tough-tempered, so it is easy Quarrel. As their daughter, you should mediate the misunderstanding between them, instead of making things worse.”

Elliot returned to the bedroom and closed the door. He took out his mobile phone, found Avery’s number, and dialed it.

Chapter 1852

Layla said that Elliot made Avery wronged. If what Layla said was true, then Elliot did make Avery wronged. Although he didn’t know that Avery also wanted to buy this set of jewelry.

After the phone was dialed, it took a few seconds and was connected.

“Hello.” Avery’s voice came calmly.

“A week ago, you cursed me to death, is it because I helped Norah Jones buy the set of jewelry you wanted?” Elliot pointed out the question, “Layla told me just now.”

Avery was stunned. She had told her daughter before that she should not tell him.

Unexpectedly, Layla said it.

“Yeah, are you trying to laugh at me for being naive?” Avery retorted.

“I’m sorry.” Elliot apologized immediately after her voice was settled, “I didn’t know you wanted to buy that set of jewelry. Norah Jones didn’t tell me.”

Avery: “Don’t blame Norah Jones. She wasn’t there at the time, so I don’t know. I was the one who made the bid with her assistant.”

Elliot wanted to explain to her that Norah Jones seldom asked him for help, so he only helped Norah Jones last time.

But Elliot felt that even if he explained it, Avery might not like to hear it.

“Layla is very angry, can you come over?” Elliot moved out of his daughter, “I want to apologize to her, but she is angry when she sees me now.”

Avery was a little embarrassed. She didn’t really want to go to his house, but thinking that her daughter was angry at the moment, she wanted to coax her.

Foster family.

Mrs. Cooper persuaded Layla bitterly.

“I know you must like your father a little in your heart. If you don’t like him at all, you can go to your mother and brother at any time, but you don’t. You have been by your father’s side for more than two years, and you can see very clearly what kind of person your father is. He doesn't interact with other women, and he goes home to accompany you and Robert after work every day. If he divorced your mother because of empathy, how could he treat you and Robert so good? "Layla pursed her mouth and lowered her head, feeling sullen in her heart and didn't speak.

Just now she yelled at her father's name and reprimanded him, but he silently admitted without saying a word. She was satisfied with his response.

If Dad had quarreled with her just now, she would have left home by now.

"In my opinion, there is a misunderstanding between your father and mother that has not been resolved. They must have each other in their hearts." Mrs. Cooper saw that Layla seemed to be listening to her, so she said, "If your parents can Reconcile, you and Robert don't have to separate from Hayden. Why don't you try to help them reconcile?"

Layla pouted: "My mom doesn't like him anymore. I asked my mom before."

"Don't look at what your mother said. The two of them got divorced. How could someone so proud of your mother admit that she still likes your father?" Mrs. Cooper said, "The way your mother looks at your father can't deceive anyone." Hours later, Avery drove over.

Elliot saw Avery driving into the yard on the second floor and immediately went downstairs.

"Mommy!" Layla saw her mother in the living room and ran out like a bird.

Avery pushed open the car door and got out of the car, holding a cake in her hand.

"Mom, are you coming for my birthday?" Layla asked, looking at the cake.

"Norah Jones came to give you a birthday present today. Does your father plan to celebrate your birthday today?" Avery asked back.

“He didn’t tell me again. As soon as I came back and saw Norah Jones, I immediately became angry.” Layla took her mother’s arm and whispered, “I quarreled with my father.”

Avery: “Your father called me now, and said you made a big fuss.”

“Oh... did he call you here?” Layla remembered what Mrs. Cooper said, so she asked, “You come when he calls you?”

Chapter 1853

Avery blushed: “Mom is worried about you! But I think you are very happy now.”

“Because I drove the annoying people away! I won’t let her come to our house again!” Layla took Avery mom into the living room.

Elliot stood in the living room, watching the mother and daughter come in.

There was a smile on Layla’s face, as if the unpleasantness had never happened before.

Elliot had already called Norah Jones and told her not to come here in the future.

And the necklace was also delivered to her by the driver.

Norah Jones apologized to Elliot on the phone and told him that she did not know that Avery was also at the auction that day.

Elliot believed that she didn’t lie, but he felt very sorry for his daughter and Avery for this result.

“Avery, did you still buy a cake?” Mrs. Cooper saw Avery and immediately said enthusiastically, “If you stay for dinner tonight, let’s celebrate Layla’s birthday in advance!”

“Mom, if you don’t say anything today, If you want to do something, then stay with me here.” Layla coquettishly, “Let’s go and get Hayden back later.”

“Okay, Where is Robert?” Avery asked.

“He went to Aunt Shea’s house. We’ll bring Aunt Shea over for dinner later.”

Layla suggested, “Just give me a birthday in advance!”

How could Avery refuse to speak after her daughter said so?

“Then I’ll go prepare the dishes now.” Mrs. Cooper smiled and breathed a sigh of relief, and immediately walked towards the kitchen.

In the living room, there were only Avery, Layla, and Elliot’s family left. They should have been harmonious, but at this moment, the atmosphere was a little awkward.

Layla wouldn’t be so awkward if Layla hadn’t had such a heated fight with her dad.

“Layla, it’s your father’s fault.” Elliot took the initiative to apologize to his daughter.

“What’s wrong with you? You make it clear.” Layla saw that Dad had such a good attitude, so she had to make a move.

Avery saw that her daughter’s attitude was a little aggressive, so she pulled Layla, and said, “Layla, don’t be angry. Talk well.”

“I can’t talk to him properly. I don’t think he knows what’s wrong with him.”

Although Layla was complaining, her tone was much calmer, “If he usually watched more The two idol dramas will not be disliked by us.”

Avery looked at her daughter’s serious appearance, and sighed in her heart, her daughter has really grown up!

She decided not to mind her own business and let her daughter teach Elliot a lesson.

“Dad, sit down and let’s have a good chat.” Layla looked at Elliot with a serious face.

Hearing this ‘Dad’, Elliot could only endure the helplessness of being ripped off.

Elliot sat down on the sofa opposite Avery and accepted his daughter's trial.

"You said, do you like Norah Jones? Do you want to marry Norah Jones?" Layla asked.

"Don't like it, don't." Elliot replied.

"In that case, why are you helping her? Before in Bridgedale, you ate alone with her. It's not right for you to do this!" Layla continued aggressively.

Elliot sighed in his heart: "I didn't eat alone with her. Robert was there at the time. Halfway through the meal, Robert was sleepy, so I asked him to go back to the room first. As for help, your uncle Chad will occasionally ask for help. I'll help, as long as I can..."

Layla: "How can Norah Jones compare to Uncle Chad?! Not only are you wrong, you don't know how to repent!"

Elliot: "..."

Elliot saw that the corners of Avery's mouth rise, is she watching the fun?

Chapter 1854

"Layla, Dad changed. Dad will not eat alone with Aunt Norah Jones in the future. He will not let her come to our house." Elliot assured his daughter, "In the future, if she asks me for help, I will say I can't help. "

It's almost the same!" Layla looked at her father's eyes, and it was a little pleasing to the eye.

"Avery, I hope you can tell me about anything in the future." Elliot coaxed his daughter, so he looked at Avery, who was sitting next to him and playing with her mobile phone, "For example, a week ago, you know that I helped Norah Jones rob him. After the jewelry you want to buy is gone, you can contact me as soon as possible. Whatever you call me, as long as you tell me what happened, I will thank you. "

Avery didn't expect that he would suddenly speak to himself and also Put on a righteous look.

“You help Norah Jones buy things, why should I contact you?” Avery asked back.

“If you don’t contact me, I will help Norah Jones steal what you want. Do you think I know the truth now, will I feel better?” Elliot looked at her with deep eyes, “Avery, I am with you. Norah Jones is just an ordinary colleague relationship, I will not deliberately make you and your children angry because of her.”

Elliot explained his relationship with Norah Jones clearly and clearly, if Avery talked about his relationship with Norah Jones again, It was her problem.

“Does Norah Jones know that you are in such a hurry to clear your relationship with her in front of us?” Avery couldn’t hold back and teased Elliot.

“Does she know that I don’t know and don’t care, but I see that you seem to care about my private life.” Elliot teased her in return.

Avery changed her face suddenly: “self-love.”

“Avery, I heard that you got a doctorate.” Elliot chatted with her, “Did you find a young boyfriend by the way?”

Elliot: “You are so gossipy.”

“Looking at your appearance, you probably didn’t look for it.” Elliot said. “If you did, you would definitely not care about me and Norah Jones.”

“Shut up!” Avery glared at Elliot, “If you insist on thinking that I care about you, then I also care about when you are unlucky.”

“What good will my unlucky do for you?” Elliot asked sincerely.

“In this way, I can take advantage of your troubles and take custody of the two children.” Avery answered truthfully, “I haven’t forgotten what you did to me before. So you must not be selfish.”

“How am I right? Yours?” Elliot murmured, “You gave up the Tate Industries. You gave up, can't I make it bigger?"

"No matter what you do, you can find a good one reason for yourself." Avery looked at him calmly and sarcastically said, "Including the reasons for our divorce, including the things you did later. What your daughter said to you just now, you said you were wrong, you apologize to your daughter. It's not from your sincerity. How could you make a mistake? You are Elliot, Elliot who is high above."

Elliot's face suddenly gloomy.

Layla glanced at Dad, then at Mom.

She knew they were arguing again, but they didn't quarrel without swearing or yelling.

It made Layla very embarrassed, not knowing how to interject, nor how to persuade him to stop.

"Layla! I cooked your favorite sparerib soup, come and try it." In the kitchen, Mrs. Cooper shouted.

Layla immediately got up from the sofa.

"Mom, if he bullies you, call me." Layla whispered to her mother, then walked towards the kitchen.

As soon as his daughter left, Elliot also stood up from the sofa.

Chapter 1855

Avery thought Elliot was going to walk away, but as a result, Elliot walked over to her and sat down.

Avery didn't even think about it, she moved to the side.

"What are you doing?" Avery looked at his familiar face close at hand, but she couldn't guess what he was thinking.

"Why did you say that I didn't apologize to my daughter just now?" Elliot voice was a little lower than before, “This is still me. When I was away, how did you tell your daughter about me?”

“What’s in your heart? I’ll say what I want. How confident are you to think that I will say good things about you in front of the child?” Avery raised her lips and sneered, “It’s not impossible if you want me to praise you. You give me custody of the child, I can praise you to the sky.”

The calm on Elliot’s face suddenly disappeared.

Elliot: “Avery, you said that no matter what I do, I will find reasons for myself. When did I find reasons for myself? No matter what I do, I am worthy of my conscience.”

“Conscience? You talk to me about conscience? You dare to say you have no humility towards me?” Avery said coldly.

“Haze is our daughter. She was so dangerous at the time. What was wrong with me going to her? You have an accident with your eyes and you are blind. You tell others that I know, but I really don’t know. Avery, I believe you I won’t be wronged for no reason, so I adjusted the recording of our call at that time.”

Avery stared into his eyes, trying to see if he had a guilty conscience.

“I have a recording on my phone, do you want to listen?” Elliot took out his phone, “Our last call before you filed for divorce. Because I really don’t know what happened to your eyes, I’m very angry about your divorce. “

I’ve heard it.” Avery glanced at his cell phone, “Elliot, is your recording really okay?”

“I asked someone from the communication company to tune it up. When I was talking to you on the phone, I heard the same thing.” Elliot held the phone tightly, “I couldn’t hear your voice when we were halfway through talking. The recording also shows that you lost your voice after two sentences.

“Are you sure?” Avery frowned tightly, “Are you sure you didn’t hear me at the time? Are you sure your recording is true?!”

“If I lie, if I make a false recording, when will you curse me? If I die, I will die anytime.” Elliot swore to her.

Avery looked at his determined eyes, her heart beating violently.

Is what Elliot said true?

Elliot doesn’t look like a lie.

“Avery, you hate me so much, is it because you told me on the phone that you had an accident with your eyes?” Elliot guessed countless times that the reason for the deterioration of their relationship was only this reason, which was the closest to the truth, “I don’t know. Is there a problem with your phone or my phone, I really can’t hear what you said after that.”

“I listened to that recording. In the recording, your voice is there throughout the whole process, but there is no me behind it. I heard it.” Avery took a breath, “If there is really a problem with my phone, it must be my phone.”

He thought of this misunderstanding, and it was only now that Elliot was stabbed in his heart.

Thinking that Avery couldn’t see at the time and called Elliot for help, but Elliot didn’t know it, and resolutely embarked on the flight to Yonroeville, how helpless and heartache would Avery feel?

“But... there is no problem with my mobile phone at all!” Avery picked up her mobile phone and said sadly, “I used to use this mobile phone. I still use it now.

For more than two years, this mobile phone has never had any problems.”

Avery said this to prove that she should have no problems with her mobile phone at the time.

Elliot couldn’t hear her at the time, either he was lying or something else.

Chapter 1856

At this time, at the gate of the courtyard, a blue car slowly stopped.

After a while, the bodyguard entered the living room and reported to Elliot,

“Boss, Miss Norah Jones is here. Said that she’s looking for Avery.”

Avery immediately looked out the door when she heard this.

She and Norah Jones have not met formally yet.

Now Norah Jones came to Elliot’s house to look for her, which was very strange.

Elliot didn’t say a word, and strode outside.

Avery followed behind Elliot. She wanted to know why Norah Jones came to her.

Norah Jones held a large jewelry box in her hand.

The moment Avery saw the box in her hand, she knew the purpose of her coming.

“Elliot, Miss Tate.” Norah Jones saw the two of them walking from the room together and looking at how they were a good match. It was impossible not to be jealous at all.

“Norah Jones, I made it very clear to you on the phone.” Elliot frowned, his voice unpleasant, “Don’t come to my house in the future. We should not talk about anything other than official business.”

Elliot’s tone can be described as is very welcome.

If Avery heard what Elliot said, Norah would definitely turn around and leave without thinking about it. But Norah did not do that.

The expression on Norah Jones’s face did not change.

“Elliot, I didn’t come to you. I didn’t plan to go into your house.” After Norah Jones finished speaking, she looked at Avery, “Miss Tate, I’m very sorry. I didn’t know you wanted to buy this set of jewelry. Since now say yes, then this set of jewelry is still for you. It belongs to you. I think this set of jewelry is very suitable for Layla. You can buy it and give it to Layla. This is the invoice I bought at the time, I know you won't be accepted for free, so you can just give me the amount above."

Before Avery could react, Elliot cut off the invoice in Norah Jones's hand.

"If that's the case, then it's hard for you to make a trip." After speaking, Elliot took the jewelry from Norah Jones's hand.

This is what Avery fancy and was going to give to Layla before, presumably this set of jewelry is really beautiful.

Elliot wants to make his daughter happy.

Since Norah Jones is willing to transfer, it would be better.

"I'll call you the money later." Elliot shoved the jewelry box into Avery's hand, and said to Norah coldly and politely, "Go away!"

Norah nodded, as if not aggrieved at all, and turned around car, drive away.

Avery was shocked by Norah Jones's strong psychological endurance. She has heard all kinds of remarks about Norah Jones. When everyone talks about Norah Jones, they will say how much Norah Jones likes Elliot.

But with Norah Jones's attitude just now, Avery really can't see how much Norah Jones likes Elliot.

It was even less obvious that Elliot had any personal feelings for Norah Jones.

Entering the living room, the two confront Layla.

Layla's eyes looked out, trying to see what was going on outside.

"Norah Jones brought the jewelry." Avery explained to her daughter, "She's left."

"Oh, what does she mean?" Layla looked at the jewelry box in her mother's hand and said coldly, "I just don't want her present!"

“Nora intends to sell this set of jewelry to me.” Avery put the jewelry box on the coffee table, then reached out to Elliot and asked for the invoice, “Give me the invoice.”

Elliot glanced at the invoice.

$10 million.

This money is not a small amount.

Elliot: “I’ll give her the money later...”

“Nora sold it to me, not to you.” Avery walked up to him and took the invoice from his hand, “$10 million ... She is so proud to spend so much money on gifts for Layla. Does she usually give gifts to Layla, but is it so expensive?”

Elliot shook his head: “No. Last year she gave Layla a dress. I looked at the price. It’s only a few hundred thousand dollars.”

“Hundreds of thousands?! Do you think a few hundred thousand is cheap? You dare to accept such an expensive gift from someone who gave your child for no reason!” Avery glared glanced at him.

Elliot pursed his lips, not knowing what to say.

The gift was received by Layla, not through Elliot’s hands at all.

He took a peek at the price tag after Layla had received the gift.

“Mom, I received the birthday present she gave me last year. The dress she gave me was very beautiful, I didn’t think it was very expensive...” How did Layla know that a dress cost hundreds of thousands.

“It’s okay, just accept it. Your father must have returned the gift.” Avery took a deep breath and returned to her daughter with the receipt, “Layla, look at the jewelry, if you like it, mother will pay the money to Norah Jones.”

Layla opened the box and glanced at it.

When Layla looked at the pictures before, She thought this set of jewelry was very beautiful, but now She sees it with her own eyes and She thinks it is very beautiful, but she doesn't like it that much.

"Mom, it's so expensive...I don't want it." Layla didn't want her mother to spend so much for herself, so she glanced at the jewelry and closed the box.

"Baby, it's fine as long as you like it. Mom can afford it." Avery reopened the box, "Mom will put it on for you, try it."

"$10 million! With so much money, you can buy a lot of jewelry..." Layla said, looking at Dad, "Dad, you pay."

Elliot responded and immediately transferred $10 million to Norah Jones.

"Elliot, I said I can afford it, who do you look down on!" Avery said in a sour tone when she saw that Elliot had paid the bill, "I'll transfer the money to you later.

This is a gift I bought for my daughter, I have to pay for it myself."

Elliot was stunned: "Didn't we just make the misunderstanding clear?"

"Have I accepted your explanation?" Avery retorted, "Even if you didn't lie, it was me who misunderstood you, and we already divorced. Friends still have to settle accounts, we are not friends, we have nothing to do with each other now."

Elliot saw her attitude was so strong, and said, "Then give me the money."

"Well." Avery take Layla to look in the mirror.

Avery: "Baby, you look so good in this set of jewelry. Money is spent, don't think it's expensive, mom can really afford it."

Layla whispered: "But you don't have a job now, if I spend all your money What should you do?"

"Mom will do what she can." Avery said, glanced outside the bathroom door, and lowered her voice, "Mom has money, don't tell your dad. Because it's mom's secret..."

Layla opened her mouth in an 'O' shape, looking surprised: "Okay mom, I won't tell him.”

Avery: “Well. Tell mom now, do you like this set of jewelry?”

“Yes.” A happy smile finally bloomed on Layla’s face. “But Mom, Dad just said that you made the misunderstanding clear with you. Did you really make it clear? Did you blame Dad?”

“Your father made it clear, but I don’t know if what he said is true. If I accept what he said, I can’t explain it myself. I don’t want to blindly listen to him, but I don’t hate him as much as I used to. It’s over.” Avery didn’t want to let the grievance between himself and Elliot affect the child, “Layla, if you think he is a good father, then you shouldn’t hate him because of your mother.”

“Look at his performance!” Layla said, “I think he wants to chase you again.”

Chapter 1858

“Nora intends to sell this set of jewelry to me.” Avery put the jewelry box on the coffee table, then reached out to Elliot and asked for the invoice, “Give me the invoice.”

Elliot glanced at the invoice.

$10 million.

This money is not a small amount.

Chapter 1858

“Layla, how did you see it? Why didn’t mom see it?” Avery really didn’t see it. After all, after she came over, what she said to Elliot was serious business.

Layla said firmly: "He always stares at you. If he doesn't like you, why is he staring at you? When Aunt Norah Jones came to our house, he didn't stare at Aunt Norah Jones very much."

"Layla, you can't just look at whether you like someone or not. I was confronting him just now, and of course I will look at him." Avery said, "I looked at him just now, do you want to say that I like him too?"

"Oh... Mom, don't you like him at all?" Layla was a little puzzled, "My dad is still handsome, right?"

Avery couldn't help laughing: "It's okay! But sometimes there are no feelings, it has nothing to do with looks. If two people quarrel frequently, no matter how good-looking the other person is, they will only get bored."

Layla: "But you two didn't quarrel just now."

"I can't quarrel with him anymore." Avery said, "All the chips he thought he could threaten me were ineffective."

"Mom, do you really want to teach him a lesson?" Layla looked at her mother and asked, "If there is anything I can do to help, just tell me. I'm definitely on your side!"

"Layla, your father and mother are adults. Even if I want to teach Elliot a lesson, I will teach him a lesson myself, and I definitely don't need your help." Avery said, taking her daughter from the bathroom come out.

Elliot knew that the two of them were whispering inside, but he didn't hear what they said.

After Layla came out of the bathroom, she went to the kitchen to show her jewelry to Mrs. Cooper.

Avery walked towards the living room and wanted to transfer the money to him.

"Why did you buy such an expensive birthday present for your daughter?" Elliot asked her after giving her the card number, "It was an auction. If Norah Jones had bid with you at the time, what was your reserve price?"

In his impression, Avery's spending money is definitely not like this.

Not only does she not spend money herself, but she also doesn't like his spending money like running water.

But now, it's just a birthday present, and Avery dares to spend tens of millions.

"People can change." After Avery handed the money to him, she replied, "When I first met you, I was a girl who was not deep in the world. Elliot, don't look at me now with the eyes of the past."

"You are now?" Elliot looked at her as familiar with facial features as before, and found it hard to accept her change. "What are you like now?"

"That's what you see now." Avery didn't want to continue with him look at each other. She always feels that his eyes are like an abyss, and if he continues to look at it, She's afraid it will be bad.

Avery took an apple from the fruit bowl and took a bite.

"Didn't you wash it?" Elliot took out a fruit knife from under the cabinet and handed it to her.

Avery embarrassedly swallowed the apple in her mouth, and then began to peel it: "you went to see Hayden, how was it?"

Elliot: "Did you not ask Hayden?"

Avery: "He didn't say it, I didn't ask."

Elliot: "He has grown a lot taller and looks like an adult. But his temper is still the same..."

Avery felt that she couldn't say anything good, so she turned her head to look at him.

Elliot stopped immediately and changed his words: "He still hates me as always."

But he is good to Robert. He bought Robert a gift. He is also willing to talk to Robert.”

“Of course, Robert is his younger brother. He has no grudge against Robert.”

Avery continued to peel.

“Do I have a grudge against him? Layla can forgive me, why can’t Hayden?”

Elliot was willing to hold both Layla and Hayden in the palm of his hand. But Hayden didn’t give him the slightest chance.

“Do you think that I must have spoken ill of you in front of Hayden?” Avery teased.

Chapter 1859

“No. No matter if you speak ill of me in front of Hayden, Hayden hates me.”

Elliot’s heart was like a mirror, “When we didn’t divorce before, you couldn’t make your son forgive me. He has himself and my thoughts are not affected by the outside world.”

“You are wrong. Hayden can’t naturally hate you because you make me sad again and again, and he thinks you are unreliable.” Avery corrected him, “but you don’t have to be sad, after all Robert likes you so much, so you should be content.”

Elliot: “You can really comfort people. Hayden is my son after all, how could I not care about him at all? I gave him a card. He accepted it. But I checked and he didn’t spend the money for the time being.”

Avery: “...”

Elliot saw her stop and asked, “What’s the matter?”

“Why did you give him money? He is with you. Are you saying he is short of money?” Avery felt that Hayden must be angry.

“Chad told me that he has a lot of expenses. I’m afraid he’s out of money, so I’m too embarrassed to ask you for it." Elliot expressed his thoughts, "What's your expression? Do you blame me? I'll pay you alimony, don't you? Hayden is my son, and I should give him the money."

"I'm really touched." Avery put down the fruit knife and took a bite of the apple, "You are such a good father. Layla said in the bathroom just now that you are a good father. "

Elliot: "Really?"

"Can I lie to you?" Avery glanced at him, "My daughter also said that you've been staring at me and you must want to chase me."

Elliot: "..."

Elliot seemed to be knocked out, and Avery felt much lighter.

"I think at our age, we should live more freely." Avery shared her feelings with him, "Let's let go of past grievances and grievances when we should. Enjoy in time. Who knows which will come first, tomorrow or the accident. "

Elliot understood her overtones.

What Avery means is that even if she chase after him, she will not promise you. Because she wants to be free.

In the afternoon, Wesley came to Foster's house with Shea and two children. Seeing her sister, Robert immediately turned into a sticky spirit, wishing he could hang on her sister.

"Brother! You don't even want to hug your sister! Your sister will laugh at you!"

Layla hugged Robert for a while and felt tired, so she forced her brother to the ground.

"Call Tammy and the others too!" Avery wanted more people and more lively, "and Gwen."

"I'll call Jun, you call Gwen." Elliot divided the work with Avery.

Avery: "Okay."

The two went to call.

Layla followed Wesley's gaze, looked at her mother's back, and said playfully, "My parents cleared up the misunderstanding today. My mother said that I don't hate my father so much."

"That's great." Wesley said, "Your parents are reconciled, and their three children can be reunited."

Layla: "They didn't reconcile! They just made the misunderstanding clear, but they still have their own ways."

Wesley stunned.

"My mom doesn't like my dad very much anymore." Layla leaned into Wesley's ear and said regretfully.

In the evening, everyone gathered at Foster's house to celebrate Layla's birthday in advance.

"If only Layla had her birthday every day." Chad sighed looking at the long-lost smile on Elliot's face.

"Do you want to come over to eat every day?" Ben teased.

"Brother Ben, even if I want to eat, I'll go to your place." Chad whispered in Ben Schaffer's ear when he said this, "I saw the two of them looked at each other just now, and there was no murderous light in their eyes."

Chapter 1860

Ben Schaffer didn't pay attention to them, so after listening to Chad's words, he looked at them: "You two are reconciled?"

Elliot: "Well."

Avery: "No."

The two said in unison, but the answers were different.

In an instant, the atmosphere of joy was replaced by embarrassment.

Elliot and Avery looked at each other.

Probably did not expect each other's answers to be different.

"When will we be reconciled?" Avery asked.

Elliot: "Isn't it clear?"

Avery: "To be clear means to be clear, but it does not mean that we are reconciled."

"In your opinion, what does reconciliation mean? In my opinion, reconciliation means that we will no longer be for the past. We quarreled about something."

Elliot expressed his understanding.

Avery said 'oh': "Then according to your opinion, we are indeed reconciled."

Seeing that the two of them reached a consensus, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

"In your opinion, what does reconciliation mean?" Elliot asked, "Remarriage?"

Avery got goosebumps when she heard 'Remarriage'.

Could this be a stress response?

"In my opinion, reconciliation means a good relationship. It has nothing to do with remarriage or not." Avery looked at his face and said word by word, "Now for dinner, if you want to argue about this issue, we will talk about it in private."

With so many eyes watching, Elliot didn't feel ashamed but Avery couldn't afford to lose this person.

Elliot took his eyes away from her, and took the chopsticks to serve Robert with vegetables.

"Mom." Robert suddenly picked up his head and shouted.

When Avery heard Robert's cry, her heart softened, and she immediately looked at her son: "Baby, are you calling Mom?"

Robert blinked her eyes and said clearly: "Is mom going to sleep at our house today?"

Avery Confused by this question.

"Brother, why did you say this to your mother?" Layla sat between her mother and brother, and because her brother asked this question, Layla poked her brother's little face with his hand.

"Sister, if you like mom, then let's let mom sleep in our house!" Robert said, looking at his father again, "Dad, how are you?"

Robert is really Elliot's good baby! No matter what, tell Dad.

"Elliot, shouldn't you be the one who taught Robert to talk like this?" Tammy felt that this move was too clever.

Avery likes Layla and Robert so much, and now facing Robert's request, she is probably hard to refuse.

Because Avery hadn't seen Robert in the past three years, she was full of guilt towards Robert.

Elliot shook his head: "I didn't teach Robert to talk like that."

"Father promised me." Robert remembered something, "Father promised to let mother come to sleep at our house."

Elliot did promise his son that. But he didn't think his son still remembered this!

Chapter 1861

Avery especially wanted to drill a hole in the ground. She knew that what Robert said was definitely not at Elliot's order.

Robert opened and closed his mouth to say that his sister liked his mom, so he must have kept his mom to sleep at home to make her happy.

"Robert, we can invite your mother to play at home during the day, but at night your mother has to go back to her house to sleep." Elliot touched his son's head, "Everyone has their own home and must go to their own home to sleep."

Robert Seems to understand but does not understand: "The cat wants to go to the cat's house, the dog to the dog's house, and the mother to the mother's house."

Everyone: "???"

Avery can't help laughing: "Robert, next time you go to your mother's house to play. Are you okay?"

Robert: "I'll go when my sister goes."

"Robert is really good." Avery is very pleased that the relationship between the sister and brother is so good.

After a while, the children were full and left the table, and the ladies who did not drink also left the table.

Tammy took Avery to the outside of the villa to breathe.

"Avery, are you two really reconciled?"

"That's right! Elliot explained what happened to me at the beginning. But I don't know if I should believe it or not." Avery took a breath of fresh air, "I've already had a feverish head once. Now I'm afraid of repeating the same mistakes, so this time I want to stay awake."

Tammy: "Actually, even if the two of you don't remarry, as long as you maintain the current relationship where you can eat at the same table, it's not bad. After all, the divorce between the two of you was too ugly. I thought that the two of you would never get along with each other for the rest of your life... The main thing is that you have a good temper and are generous enough. If I were you, I would never forgive Elliot in my life."

Avery: "Why?" "Only the fact that Elliot forced you to sell the company, I can't take this breath."

Tammy frowned, "As for Elliot's stinky temper, he is only suitable for being with a woman who loves him to the point of being irrational. He doesn't look down on those women.”

Avery chuckled softly: “Tammy, it’s my own decision to sell the company. It has nothing to do with Elliot.”

“It’s not because the Tate Industries opened a branch in Bridgedale. Did you sell the company if you wanted to bring down your company?” Tammy was puzzled, “The version I’ve heard has always been like this.”

Avery shook her head: “It’s not exactly the reason. It’s what I think. I was very tired and wanted to get the money in my hands, so I sold it.”

Tammy: “Okay! It seems that I misunderstood him.”

“Tammy, Elliot said he didn’t hear me on the phone when we were talking on the phone. Do you think it’s possible?” Avery asked doubts, “My phone is good. It’s been working fine for a few years.”

Tammy: “He can’t hear you?”

“Yeah! He was Recording the call at that time. In the second half of the call, there was no voice from me.”

Tammy scratched her head: “I don’t understand this either. Why did you two just talk about it now? Open, wouldn’t it be easier to find out?”

Avery was also very annoyed: “I had a problem with my eyes at the time, and I was very depressed. I was also very impulsive. After the surgery on both eyes, I couldn’t touch my phone for several months.”

Tammy: “Avery, no matter what you do, it doesn’t matter to you.”

“But if Elliot really didn’t know about my situation at the time, then I can’t blame him anymore. After all, we are both too proud. I’d rather sit down and part ways and I don’t want to say a few more words to make things clear. It seems that whoever says more, loses face.” Avery reflected.

Tammy: “Then don’t blame anyone, you can live a good life in the future, and raise three children together, so everyone will be happy.”

Avery said, "Yeah. In front of me and Layla today, he separated his relationship with Norah Jones. It's embarrassing. Although I know he didn't tell me."

"How do you know it's not? To put it aside for you? What if it was for you? He knows that you are still single, and maybe he wants to get you back." Tammy guessed.

Avery: "Layla said the same."

"What do you think?" Tammy asked.

Avery replied, "I don't have any idea. I just want to get back Haze quickly. When I get back Haze, I will be in the mood to talk about other things."

Tammy: "If Elliot gets Haze back, will you be able to? Let him redeem his merits? After all, you have four children! Four! My God, I can't even think about it!"

Chapter 1862

Avery didn't dare to think about it. Every time she thought about it, it felt like she was dreaming.

Fortunately, both Layla and Hayden have grown up, so they don't need her to bother much.

Otherwise, if the four children encounter problems together, she will not be able to take care of it even if she is incapable of doing it.

"Avery, I'm celebrating Layla's birthday today, so when will Hayden celebrate?"

Tammy asked, "Hayden hasn't returned to Aryadelle for so long, or let him go back, let's all celebrate him together!"

Avery said that she did not discuss this issue with Hayden.

In previous years, Hayden's birthday was spent at home. Buy a cake, make a table of delicious dishes, and have a meal together, even if it's a birthday.

Avery: "He may not be willing to come back."

“Why?” Tammy was puzzled, “Is it just because of Elliot? Wouldn’t it be better if we didn’t invite Elliot? I really miss Hayden. Last time I went to Bridgedale, I haven’t seen him, what is he busy with? Is he so busy with school?”

Avery took a deep breath and explained: “What he is learning now is the content of high school and college.”

Tammy: “...”

Avery: “When he was busy, he went out early in the morning and came back late at night. I told him many times that he should not give himself such a big pressure, but he doesn’t listen. Now that he’s grown up, he doesn’t listen to me so much.”

“Geniuses work so hard, yet let ordinary people live?” Tammy sighed, “I heard it before, Hayden’s goal is to surpass Elliot, and I guess he is striving for this goal.”

Avery nodded: “His personality is very similar to Elliot. Self-esteem and competitiveness are very strong.”

“That’s a good thing! In the future, when your son is promising, you can lie down completely.” Tammy was envious, “Your daughter Layla can make you lie down now, right? She earns money from winter and summer vacations every year. Did you give it all to you?”

Avery: “I kept it for her, I didn’t spend her money.”

Tammy: “I know you won’t spend her money, but your daughter has the ability and the heart, I’m going to die of envy. My daughter Kara will probably be the same as me in the future. The flowers in the greenhouse are not motivated, and they only eat old.”

Avery: “Tammy, children’s health and good behavior are the greatest blessings. What will they develop in the future? We don’t have to worry too much.”

Tammy: "Well. It's right that Hayden and Layla feel so sorry for you. After all, you brought them up with your own hands. Robert grew up beside Elliot, so he would love Elliot even more. If Haze is found, you'd better let Haze follow you."
"It's too early to say this, I just hope this child is still alive." Avery said worriedly.

.....

Airport.

Norah Jones was ready to fly to Bridgedale.

For the past two years, she had been flying back and forth between the two countries. She was used to flying.

But this time she went to Bridgedale, in addition to work, it was also because she was upset.

Layla's attitude towards her today was really rude!

The reason why Layla was so fierce to her must be instigated by Avery.

Avery's return to Aryadelle this time must be for the purpose of reuniting with Elliot.

What chilled her the most was Elliot's attitude.

Before Avery returned to Aryadelle, Elliot was polite to her and a gentleman.

Who knew that Avery would disrupt the peaceful relationship between them as soon as she returned to Aryadelle.

Chapter 1863

Norah Jones doesn't want to deceive herself. Now that Elliot does not allow her to go to his house in the future, the two of them seem to have no hope.

Unless Avery disappears or dies.

But Norah Jones would not do anything illegal. She will not ruin her bright future for anyone.

Like Chelsea Tierney, Zoe Sanford and others, she despised them in every possible way. This kind of sacrifice for a man is really stupid!

She prides herself on being smarter and more capable than Chelsea Tierney and Zoe Sanford. In the future, even if she can't find a man as good as Elliot, she can live a good life.

"Boss, I think you might as well change your goals!" Seeing Norah's frowning, the assistant comforted her, "Compared to oldmonkey like Elliot, I think newmonkey like the boss of Dream Makers Group is more suitable for you!"

"Do you think I don't understand this truth?" Norah Jones's eyes were cold and her tone was cold, "Do you know who the boss of the Dream Makers Group is? Do you know where he lives? Do you know where you can meet him? I work hard and still be able to stand beside Elliot, but the boss of the Dream Maker Group is like a phantom shadow. I can't even see him, let alone catch him."

The assistant said, "We can find a way. The more mysterious he is, the better! Ms. Jones, you think, we can't find him, and other women who covet him can't find him? If you can find a way to see him, is it possible to stand out among so many suitors?"

The assistant's words gave Norah Jones a new idea.

"Ms. Jones, I guessed in private with a few friends that rich, mysterious and capable people like the dream maker boss are mostly introverted and honest science men. People like them don't understand the style, it might be boring, but it doesn't matter, as long as they can make money."

Norah Jones nodded: "I also think he may be a nerd or a technical man with some psychological problems."

The assistant: "If you have a psychological problem, forget it!"

Norah Jones: "I'm definitely not talking about a serious psychological problem."

"Well, Ms. Jones, don't be unhappy. You should go to the new target, and after success, let Elliot have the guts. Go regret it!" The assistant said, laughed.

Norah Jones: "It's just your sweet mouth!"

The assistant: "Don't I feel wronged for you? Since you joined the Tate Industries, you have worked diligently every day to achieve the current glory of the Tate Industries. But Elliot doesn't know that he feels sorry for you."

"So this is also the reason why I proposed to let the Tate Industries go public independently. If Elliot can't give me a name, then I definitely don't want to continue working for him." Norah Jones's mouth rose slightly, "He should also know what I think. So he proposed A gambling agreement."

Elliot agreed to let the Tate Industries go public independently, but Norah Jones must make the Tate Industries's profit reach his target within three years. If Norah Jones can complete it, then he can split the equity and management rights to Norah Jones. If Norah Jones can't complete it, Tate Industries will continue to be subject to Sterling Group.

.....

Bridgedale.

After Norah Jones landed, she returned to her apartment.

She thought about it for a long time on the plane and decided to take advantage of this opportunity.

She must find a way to meet Billy, the Dream Maker's boss.

Only by seeing Billy one step ahead of the other women would she be more likely to succeed.

In her opinion, the Dream Makers Group will definitely achieve great success!

Because the first batch of cars of the Dream Maker Group were sold out immediately after they went on the market.

Since then, countless postings and positive reviews have emerged on the Internet. Real feedback and good reputation from users are more convincing than celebrity endorsements.

It took her one night to write an email and sent it to the mailbox of Billy, the owner of the dream maker.

Billy's mailbox was asked by her brother.

She assured her brother that she would never send Billy random emails.

But now what she sends Billy, how can outsiders control.

Chapter 1864

Aryadelle.

After dinner, Avery said goodbye to Layla and Robert.

"Mom, it's very late today. Be careful on your way back. When I finish my summer homework, I'll take Robert to find you." Layla whispered to Avery.

"Okay. You can take your homework to your mother to write. Mom can accompany you." Avery was reluctant to part with the child.

"I'll go to you after I finish writing. Then you'll play with us!" Layla had a plan in her mind, but she won't say it right now.

She wants to take Robert to find her mother, and then ask her mother to take them to Bridgedale to find Hayden, and then celebrate birthday with Hayden.

Avery got into the car and was ready to leave.

At this time, Elliot came out.

These men were drinking, so Avery only said goodbye to the child just now, and didn't go to say hello to Elliot.

Who knows, when Elliot saw that Avery was leaving, he strode towards her.

Avery could only press the window.

"Didn't you bring a bodyguard?" Elliot asked, standing beside her car.

"No." Avery smelled the alcohol from him, looked at his reddened face and eyes, and said, "Go back to rest if you drink too much. I'll call Layla when I get home."

Elliot: "Don't let the driver take you back!"

"I didn't drink alcohol, so I don't need someone to take you back." Avery refused, "Go back to the house! Everyone is watching! Those who didn't know thought our old relationship was revived."

After finished conversation, Avery closed the window.

Elliot took a few steps back and watched her drive the car out.

"Elliot, I'm too drunk to drive. You can either stay with me overnight, or let your driver take me home." Ben Schaffer walked to Elliot and negotiated with him.

"Didn't you come with Gwen? Let her drive." Elliot said.

"Hey, I don't live with her anymore. She drove me back, so what should she do? You can't bear to let Avery go back alone, so can't you bear to see your own sister go back alone?"

Elliot had a headache. So he waved to the bodyguard and asked the bodyguard to take them back.

The driver sent Wesley and Shea back.

At dinner, Wesley didn't want to drink, and Ben Schaffer was a person who was very good at persuading him to drink, so Wesley accompanied them for two drinks.

Finally, Jun got into the car with his daughter in his arms. Tammy walked up to Elliot and said, "Thank you for your hospitality tonight. Seeing how reluctant you were to Avery just now, do you want to be with her again?"

Chapter 1865

"You want to lie to me?" Although Elliot drank, he was not drunk.

"Why are you so vigilant? Even if I know your true thoughts, I won't laugh at you. For the sake of your four children, maybe I will help you?" Tammy said,

“Don’t look at me I usually scold you for scolding because I hate you!”

“I don’t need your help.” Elliot said arrogantly, “We will solve the matter between me and Avery by ourselves.”

“Don’t let me help.” Tammy glared at him and turned to leave.

It was probably because of alcohol, Elliot hesitated for a moment, and then stopped her.

Elliot: “What did you talk to Avery today?”

“Didn’t you want my help?” Tammy said with a smug smile, “I thought you were so powerful that you could handle Avery by yourself. Avery told me, what she is most worried about now is Haze. If you can find Haze, the two of you will have hope of remarrying. After all, with four children, how could she give up completely?”

“I’ve been looking for Haze.” Elliot’s eyes dimmed, “It’s just that the results are not optimistic.”

“You don’t have to be so pessimistic. Even if Haze is really gone, then you can rely on yourself! Take the initiative! You can explain the previous misunderstanding to her today, she is right. Is your attitude better?” Tammy teased, “Avery is the best talking woman I’ve ever met. If I were a man, I’d catch her in minutes.”

Elliot: “... “

Tammy got in the car and drove the car out of the Foster family compound.

Jun rubbed his temples and asked, “What did you tell Brother Elliot? I see that his expression is so serious, you shouldn’t make him angry, right?”

“Jun, I am Tammy in your eyes. It’s just a stupid pig!” Tammy glared at him, “You think I’m making a mess no matter what I do.”

Jun woke up most of the time: “Wife, you misunderstood me! If you do other things, I won't doubt you. It's because you always quarrel with Brother Elliot that I..."

"Today Avery told him about the misunderstanding, why am I still scolding him? I am encouraging him! Let him pursue Avery again!" Tammy said, "They were already in love with each other, and if there was no misunderstanding, they would not have divorced. Plus there are so many children, of course I hope they can reconcile!"

"Wife, you have changed." Jun looked at Tammy affectionately, "After you gave birth, you became more gentle and open-minded. It's more reasonable."

Tammy: "Don't be rude! I'm all for Avery, not for Elliot."

"I know. Avery and Elliot is good. The three children are also good. They are good, and we will follow them." When Jun said this, he thought of one thing, "Wife, do you know the Dream Maker car? It's a pity that it's only sold in Bridgedale. I really want to buy one."

"I know! I saw the news. I heard that its self-driving function is good, if you want it, we can order one in Bridgedale." Tammy also wanted to try the feel of the Dream Maker's car.

Jun sighed, "My friend from Bridgedale bought it. It's very exciting to say it. I knew the news when I pre-sold it before. I wanted to wait and see, but it was sold out. I don't know how long it will take for the second batch to go online."

"Don't worry! The first batch is a big sell. Now that they are full of orders, they will definitely expand the production line. It is a fool to have money and not make money. It will not exceed a month at most, and you will definitely be able to buy it. "Tammy said firmly, "This car company is quite good. Do you know that Avery's father wanted to build a driverless system in the past?"

"Of course I remember. It's a pity that her father was in poor health and died early. Otherwise her father may have succeeded. So we don't have to go to Bridgedale to book a car."

"What's this called, time is also fate! A person who can succeed not only needs a good brain, but also a good body." Tammy plausibly said, "There is a saying that it is necessary to get famous as soon as possible. A genius like Hayden is the sky. The son of the election. Do you know how good he is? He has already started taking college courses. I really don't know how good he will be in the future."

"Don't think about it. Let's raise our daughter well." Jun Squinting, his tone relaxed, "If Hayden is so arrogant in the future, won't he have to find a wife? Maybe, like his father, he will be pinched by women." Women can't be ordinary people. Let's just say Avery, is Avery an ordinary person? A hundred Norah Jones can't compare to one Avery."

Chapter 1866

When Avery came home, she first called her daughter to report her safety. Then she went to the bathroom, put hot water, and planned to take a bath. She put her phone on the bedside table and went to the closet to get her pajamas. Everything that happened during the day is automatically replayed in her mind. Overall happy today.

Because she is with Layla and Robert today, She feels that the emotions that she has been missing in the past two years have been greatly satisfied.

Then she remembered that at the dinner table today, Robert called her mother sweetly and asked her to stay at Foster's house for the night.

She actually had the idea of promising Robert.

She wants to sleep with Robert and Layla, and wants to chat with the two children.

She felt happy every minute and every second with the child. This joy comes naturally from the depths of the heart.

Now there is no news except for Haze, and other things seem to be happening in a comfortable state.

Could it be that this is the dark and bright, or is it extremely peaceful?

The other side.

The bodyguard sent Ben Schaffer and Gwen to Ben Schaffer's house first.

Ben Schaffer drank a lot this evening. Because he was a good drinker, although he drank a lot of alcohol, he was not very drunk. However, when he got out of the car, he grabbed Gwen's arm, as if he could not walk.

"Gwen, I...I'm dizzy..." After Ben Schaffer pulled Gwen out of the car, he winked at the bodyguard behind him.

The bodyguard slipped away immediately after receiving his look.

"I want to vomit..." Ben Schaffer returned home with Gwen's support.

Gwen heard that Ben wanted to vomit, and immediately helped him to the bathroom.

"Gwen, I'm so thirsty... Can you pour me a glass of water?" Ben Schaffer asked her, looking haggard, standing at the door of the bathroom because she couldn't spit it out.

Gwen looked at him with scarlet face, how could he suspect that he was pretending to be drunk.

"You said you have a lot of income, why did you hire a live-in nanny or bodyguard?" Gwen let go of him and went to pour water for him, "I'm going to say something ugly, in case something happens to you at home one day. No one will find you. The last time I saw the news, someone died in a rental house, and the body was decomposed and smelled before it was discovered."

Ben Schaffer went to the bathroom, turned on the faucet, and washed his face with cold water.

“Gwen, thank you for caring so much about me. I didn’t look for a live-in nanny and bodyguard because I liked being alone before and didn’t like having others at home. But now I’m going to listen to you and find a live-in nanny and bodyguard.”

Ben came out of the bathroom.

“Since you like to be alone, then don’t look for it.” Gwen handed the water cup to him, “It won’t be too late to look for it when you are sixty years old.”

Ben Schaffer took the water cup and drank the water, and said, “I don’t like being alone anymore, I seem to like more and more fun. Maybe I’m really old!”

Ben handed Gwen the empty water glass. Gwen took the water glass and looked at his blurred face, “Can you stop staring at me like that? I know you want to keep me as a free babysitter.”

Chapter 1867

“I can pay you, but you will say that I insult you with money.” Ben Schaffer staggered to the sofa and sat down, “Gwen, I’m really happy tonight, so I let myself drink too much. “

“What are you happy about?” After putting down the water glass, Gwen walked over to Ben Schaffer and sat down, “Because my brother and Avery explained the misunderstanding clearly?”

“Yeah! Isn’t this something to be happy about?” Ben Schaffer leaned On the sofa, he raised his head and breathed a little heavy, “When your brother stabilizes, we should be able to stabilize as well?”

Ben said, looking at Gwen.

“My job hasn’t stabilized yet!” After Gwen returned to Aryadelle, she was forced to marry by Ben Schaffer every now and then, with a big head.

She and Ben Schaffer have known each other for several years, and of course they have developed feelings. It was just not enough for her to make up her mind to marry him.

Gwen knew Ben was old, and she didn't want to hang Ben. She wanted to wait for her domestic work to improve before considering marriage with Ben.

"Gwen, I've been working for most of my life. Listen to me, work can never be finished. We can get married first, and then you can work hard for your career. This is not a conflict." Ben Schaffer advised, "Start a family and start a business. Get married first and then start a career, many people are like this."

"But after I marry you, your family will definitely urge me to have a child." Gwen was distressed, "If I become pregnant and have a child, my work will have to stop."

"Not necessarily!" Ben Schaffer answered.

"What is not necessarily? Are you saying that your family will not necessarily urge me to have a child?" Gwen blinked, "If this is the case..."

"My parents will definitely urge you to have a child." Ben Schaffer broke her fantasy, "I mean, you can continue to work even when you are pregnant. I will not stop you from working. You can work until the day you give birth."

Gwen: "..."

Ben Schaffer took a magazine from under the coffee table.

"Look, this cover model is an international supermodel. This is the cover of a magazine she took during pregnancy. I read her interview, and she said that after she became pregnant, she insisted on exercising and working hard. In fact, pregnant women are not what we imagined. So fragile."

Gwen took the magazine, glanced at it, and then looked at Ben Schaffer again:

"Have you prepared the trap long ago, waiting for me to drill into it?"

Ben: "I did make some preparations, but it's not a big deal. Can't be trapped?"

Gwen, I..."

"You feel lonely when you are old, and you want to find someone to accompany you and give you a baby by the way." Gwen stood up and barbed, "My domestic agent, Hendrix told me I'm not worthy of you. He makes me recognize the reality every day. He said that with your worth, you can find any kind of woman..."

"Why is this person talking nonsense?!" Ben Schaffer sat upright, "You know Chelsea Tierney? I used to chase her for so long, and she didn't even look at me directly. If I want to find any woman, I can find it. As for I'm not married yet?"

Gwen heard him mention Chelsea Tierney, when she heard that Ben had been chasing Chelsea for a long time, she was suddenly jealous.

She immediately stood up from the sofa, grabbed her bag and walked out.

"Gwen! Don't go! I...hey! I said something wrong just now!" Ben Schaffer realized that he had mentioned someone he shouldn't have mentioned, and immediately chased out angrily.

"Don't chase after me! I don't want to hear your explanation! You've been drinking too much, so stay home and calm down!" Gwen finished speaking, and quickly drowned in the dark night.

The next morning.

Avery was sleeping soundly when the ringtone of her mobile phone suddenly rang, waking her up from her sleep.

She rubbed her eyes, found her phone, and held it in front of her.

Seeing the unfamiliar number, she immediately put down the phone and closed her eyes, not wanting to answer.

But the bell kept coming, making her not only dizzy, but also her heart started to hurt.

She took a deep breath and answered the phone.

“Hello, are you Ms. Tate?” A polite and courteous male voice came from the phone, “I’m Manager Wu of Jetta Customs Broker.”

Avery was stunned: “What’s the matter with you?”

Chapter 1868

Avery woke up almost immediately, held her phone, got out of bed, walked to the window, and opened it.

The weather was sunny today, with a gentle breeze, but a little hot.

After explaining the reason for looking for her, Manager Wu on the other end of the phone asked, “Are you at home now? Do I send someone to take the car to you now, or will I send it to you when you are free?”

Avery was puzzled, so she said, “I’m at home now, please bring it to me now!”

Manager Wu: “Okay.”

After speaking, Avery put down the phone and went to the bathroom to wash up.

Manager Wu told Avery that she had two imported cars, and they could go to pick up the cars after completing the customs declaration at their customs broker.

Because Avery has two cars, it is inconvenient for her to carry it alone, so the car dealership plans to deliver it to her home.

After washing, Avery went back to the bedroom, opened the closet, found a dress and changed it at random, and then came out of the master bedroom.

She took the water glass, took a glass of water and drank it, then sat down on the sofa and dialed Mike’s number.

“Mike, you said you made a custom car for me, is that one?” Avery asked.

“Yeah! Is it here? Does it look good? Hayden said that you like pink, but I think pure pink is too childish, so I made silver pink for you. From a distance, it looks silver, and when you look closely, there is powder in the silver, and silver in the powder. There is cuteness in nobleness, playfulness in cuteness, and mystery in playfulness...”

Avery: “I got goosebumps.”

“It was the designer who told me that. He said that women will like this color.”

Mike is full of confidence, “I’ve seen the actual color of that car, it’s really good.

Because I wanted to surprise you, I didn’t take a picture for you. And I couldn’t take a picture at all. It’s beautiful.”

“Oh...but why did the customs broker say there are two cars?” Avery asked, “Who else bought me a car?”

Mike was also stunned: “I don’t know! We only customized one for you.”

Avery’s brain started running at high speed, and she began to think about who it was.

“Has the car arrived? Look at what the other car is. If it’s also the dreamer’s car, I can ask someone to check the order.” Mike said.

“Well. I’ll talk about it later when the car arrives.” Avery hung up the phone, opened the message, and saw no unread messages.

Someone booked her a car without telling her in advance.

After the car was delivered to Avery’s Starry River Villa, Elliot’s mobile phone received a message that the order had been completed.

The car he bought for Avery is now in Avery’s home.

He turned on his mobile phone, hesitating whether to call Avery and talk.

Avery received the car, didn’t she doubt it?

She doesn’t know who she thought gave her the car.

“Boss, everyone has already arrived at the conference room.” Chad knocked on the door of Elliot’s office and walked in. Seeing Elliot was holding his phone in a daze, Chad reminded him, “If you have something to do, you can ask them to have a meeting first.”

Elliot called the meeting this morning. things, forget everything.

“I bought a car for Avery, and now it’s at her house. Do I want to call her and tell her?” Elliot asked.

Chad was stunned for a moment: “What car? You didn’t tell her in advance, aren’t you afraid that she would refuse?”

Elliot replied, “Avery has already signed for it. Last time I went to Bridgedale to look for Hayden, and by the way, I visited Dream Maker. Then I ordered a car for her. I think she might like it. Because her father wanted to make such a car before.”

Chad suddenly realized: “It’s hard to buy a dreamer’s car now! If she bought it, she would definitely like it. If I were you, I would definitely call her and tell her, otherwise she thought someone else bought it for her, so isn’t your kindness a waste?”

Elliot wanted to call Avery at first, but Chad’s answer just gave him more courage.

“Boss, since Avery is at home now, why don’t you visit her house in person? In case she doesn’t know how to drive a new car, you can teach her!” Chad has seen that the boss still has an old love for Avery, so Bold proposal.

Elliot immediately accepted his opinion: “Then I’ll go first. Let the vice president go to the meeting, and call me if you have anything.”

“Don’t worry! There will be nothing wrong with the company.” Chad smiled and sent the boss out of the office .

Starry River Villa.

Avery looked at the two cars sent by the customs broker and fell into deep thought.

One of the custom models was specially built for Avery by Mike and Hayden, the only one in the world.

Not only is the color of the car body unique, but the interior of the cabin also costs a fortune.

Not only is it inlaid with beautiful jewelry, but the color matching is also unique.

Avery fell in love with this silver-pink car at a glance after seeing it.

No matter how old she is, it's hard to resist the charm of pink.

However, the red car next to the silver-pink car puzzled her.

This red car, also a dreamer's car, was the first new car to hit the market.

Avery took a photo of the red car and sent it to Mike, asking him to check who ordered the car for her.

In fact, after she sent the message to Mike, she already had the answer in her mind.

During the time when the new Dream Maker was launched, Elliot took Robert to Bridgedale.

She faintly thought that Elliot bought the car for her.

After having this guess, her heart was extremely tangled.

–If Elliot didn't call her or say that he bought the car, she wanted to pretend she didn't know.

–Otherwise, if he said it, would she accept it or reject it?

–Is there any reason to give such an expensive gift to someone casually?

–If she accepts the car from him, does she have to give him the gift?

–It's too troublesome to go back and forth like this.

–But if Avery refuses, will his self-esteem suffer?

–She doesn't know how Elliot thought of sending her a car.

After about ten minutes, Mike's call came.

“Avery, I found out that your red car was bought for you by Elliot.” Mike’s tone was a little gloating, “This old man secretly bought you a car, what does he want to do?!” Avery didn’t want to hear his laughter, so she hung up the phone.

The bodyguard bought breakfast. She took the breakfast and sat in the yard, eating breakfast while staring at the two new cars in the yard.

Sorrow!

Her villa has only two parking spaces.

One was parked with her previous car, and the other was parked with Mike’s car.

The cars of the two dreammakers in front of them had no place to park at all.

If she park directly in the front yard, it will greatly affect the viewing and traffic.

Avery finished her breakfast and was about to go back to the house to drink water. At this moment, Elliot’s black Rolls Royce appeared at the gate of the yard.

Avery watched Elliot get out of the car, the expression on her face suddenly stiffened, and her body became petrified.

What is Elliot doing here? He came to tell her personally that he bought the red car for her?

After Elliot got off the car, he stood at the door of her yard, looking at the silverpink new car in her yard, feeling that his eyes were going to be blinded!

–This shiny new car has a dream-maker logo!

–It’s like an arrogant princess, the red car that he gave her directly, compared to it! –This silver-pink dream maker car is unheard of, unseen, is it a limited edition customized model?

–Who gave it to Avery?

Chapter 1870

One of the custom models was specially built for Avery by Mike and Hayden, the only one in the world.

Not only is the color of the car body unique, but the interior of the cabin also costs a fortune.

Not only is it inlaid with beautiful jewelry, but the color matching is also unique.

Avery fell in love with this silver-pink car at a glance after seeing it.

No matter how old she is, it's hard to resist the charm of pink.

However, the red car next to the silver-pink car puzzled her.

This red car, also a dreamer's car, was the first new car to hit the market.

Avery took a photo of the red car and sent it to Mike, asking him to check who ordered the car for her.

In fact, after she sent the message to Mike, she already had the answer in her mind.

During the time when the new Dream Maker was launched, Elliot took Robert to Bridgedale.

She faintly thought that Elliot bought the car for her.

After having this guess, her heart was extremely tangled.

–If Elliot didn't call her or say that he bought the car, she wanted to pretend she didn't know.

–Otherwise, if he said it, would she accept it or reject it?

–Is there any reason to give such an expensive gift to someone casually?

–If she accepts the car from him, does she have to give him the gift?

–It's too troublesome to go back and forth like this.

–But if Avery refuses, will his self-esteem suffer?

–She doesn't know how Elliot thought of sending her a car.

After about ten minutes, Mike's call came.

“Avery, I found out that your red car was bought for you by Elliot.” Mike's tone was a little gloating, “This old man secretly bought you a car, what does he want to do?!”

Avery didn't want to hear his laughter, so she hung up the phone.

–This silver-pink dream maker car is unheard of, unseen, is it a limited edition customized model?

Chapter 1871

Elliot: "Built her a house in her hometown and pay her alimony every month."

"Well." Avery couldn't help but glance at him, "Elliot, I lived in Bridgedale before, how could it be possible? I don't know the company and products of the dream maker. I want it, I will buy it myself. But thank you for sending me the car."

"Can you tell me now, how did your pink car come to be?" Elliot had already asked her From what she said just now, he guessed that most of the car was not purchased by her.

“Don’t you already have the answer in your heart?” Avery said, “Someone gave it to me. Do you want to ask who gave it?”

Elliot’s eyes suddenly became cold. He didn’t ask who sent it, because even if he asked, Avery wouldn’t say it.

“It’s me being amorous.” Elliot felt extremely ironic, “Don’t you have no place to park at your house?”

“Do you want to take back the car you sent me?” Avery looked at him with a frustrated look, and her heart was like a mess numb.

She did not expect that the two cars would be delivered to her house at the same time.

It’s like stepping on two boats to be discovered, but it’s obviously not like that.

“What I send, I never take back.” Elliot clenched his fists with anger on his face.

He thought about it for a while, and the person who can send Avery a special custom car is definitely not an ordinary person.

After all, when he went to the Dream Maker Headquarters as him, the staff clearly told him that special customization would not be accepted.

So the person who sent her the car was either a senior inside the Dream Maker Company, or someone more powerful than him.

Others only know that Avery has been a doctor for more than two years, but now it seems that they underestimate her.

Avery watched him turn around and strode away, and her eyebrows were twisted tightly.

Just because someone gave her a special custom car, so Elliot was angry... why was he angry? The two of them are not in a relationship. Even if there are other men pursuing her, she accepts the pursuit of others, that is her freedom. Why is he angry?

Avery remembered the gloomy face before Elliot left, and felt inexplicably irritable.

After Elliot left, the bodyguard came in.

“Boss, where are the two new cars parked in the yard?” The bodyguard looked eager to try, “Why don’t you drive the car out of the garage first, and put the new car in the garage first?”

Avery hasn’t figured out what to do.

“Boss, you can also buy two parking spaces in the underground parking lot of the community.” The bodyguard saw her entangled, so he gave her advice, “It’s very convenient anyway.”

Avery replied, “We’ll talk about it later.”

Elliot came out of Avery’s house and drove back to the company.

The meeting was over, Chad was puzzled when he saw the boss’s face ashen.

“Boss, Avery refused the car you sent?” Chad guessed carefully.

“No.” Elliot’s heart was full of anger, burning brightly, “There were other men who gave her a car. It was also a new car for the Dream Maker. And it was a special customized model, silver and pink. The Dream Maker car on the market. There are only four colors of black, white, gray and red.”

“Silver pink...Is it possible that I took it to the 4S shop and remodeled it?”

“No. If it is remodeled, it can’t be so fast. I looked carefully, and the interior is also specially customized.” Elliot sat down in the boss chair, rubbed his eyebrows with his slender fingers, “Avery has already admitted that it was given to her by someone else.”

“Oh...you mean, someone is chasing Avery. And Avery intends to accept that person’s pursuit. Otherwise, why would she accept the car sent by someone else?” The man who pursues Avery is very good, otherwise how could Avery agree.”

Chapter 1872

Chad guessed that Elliot's face became even gloomier!

“Boss, I'll call and ask Mike later. Let's see who is the man who pursues Avery. Don't be angry, if Avery is determined to start a new relationship, you might as well accept it lightly. After all, even if you are so angry that Avery will not change her mind.”

“Avery told me before that she would not look for it again.” Elliot's Adam's apple rolled, and he was unwilling.

“You thought she wouldn't find her again, so you never thought about remarrying, did you?” Chad seemed to have suddenly discovered a secret.

Elliot: “Have you watched too many romance movies? In addition to falling in love, there are more important things to do in life.”

If Elliot hadn't fallen in love with Avery, Elliot would not have gotten married, would not have so many children, and would not have become kind father.

Chad was trained and immediately lowered his head: “Boss, I'm going out first.”

Chad came out of Elliot's office, returned to his office, and immediately found Mike's number and dialed it.

Mike answered the phone quickly.

“Mike, tell me the truth, does Avery have a new love?” Chad lowered his voice, his heartbeat couldn't stop accelerating, “My boss went to Avery just now, and saw that someone sent Avery a dream car. My boss felt jealous!”

Mike couldn't help but laugh when he heard Chad's last words.

Elliot felt jealous hahaha! very good. Just make him jealous!

Mike: “Uh... You also know that Avery is not only young and beautiful, but also has outstanding ability, is erudite, and has many men who like her. In Bridgedale, she has too many suitors. People who like her range from ordinary college students to the rich and powerful. As for who sent her the car, I really don't know."

Chad was very disappointed when he got this answer.

Chad teased, "I thought you and Avery had such a close relationship, how much would you know some insider information! Since Avery has accepted a luxury car from someone else, does that mean she has already agreed to date others? Don't you care about the important things?"

"I'm not with her now. I don't know what's going on with her. Since you told me, I'll call her and ask." Mike said with a chuckle, "Your boss is very interesting! Isn't it normal for Avery to have a new boyfriend? A woman in her thirties is like a wolf like a tiger. If she does have a boyfriend, we should celebrate for her!"

"Why are you laughing at my boss? He didn't want to get divorced at the beginning. He hasn't found another woman for more than two years. Who knows that Avery will let it go when he says let it go!" Chad said here, "You Hurry up and call Avery! Let me know when you get the result."

"Got it." Mike hung up the phone.

Mike didn't call Avery. Nothing to beat.

Because of Avery's private life, he knew it very well.

He took a glass of water, and drank it, then figured it out in his heart.

Now Avery just received a car, and overturned Elliot's vinegar jar.

Hehe, if Elliot knew that Avery had a boyfriend, he would be angry.

After a while, Mike called Chad back: "I've already asked, but don't tell your boss.

Avery has always been a low-key person. Unless she is sure to get married, she doesn't want people to know that she has a new love. This thing."

"D*mn it! Avery really has a new love?! Who is her new love?" Chad pushed his glasses and looked surprised.

This incident was beyond his expectations.

“Why can’t she have a new love?” Mike asked back, “She’s so young and her child is grown up. Although Robert is young, she is not allowed to take him with her. She doesn’t fall in love, how boring!”

Chad: “But my boss said that Avery had said before that she would not remarry.”

Mike: “Avery has no plans to get married. It’s just a relationship.”

Chapter 1873

“Oh...that’s it! I’m still shocked because Avery doesn’t seem like the kind of person who can play with feelings.”

Mike: “Chad, if you say that, it’s just prejudice! Don’t just because you think she has to be what kind of person she is.”

“Okay, I’m biased. Tell me, what is Avery’s new love?” Chad was very curious,

“My boss said that a dreamer car does not support special customization at all.

Why can Avery’s new love? Is her new love a high-level dream maker?”

“Yes! Her new love is the boss of the dream maker. I will follow you on this matter.

If someone said it, don’t say it.” Mike knew that Chad couldn’t keep this secret.

He deliberately told Chad to listen, and asked Chad to talk to Elliot. Furious Elliot!

“I see.” Chad was in a very depressed mood, “I’ll hang up if I don’t have anything else to do. It’s quite late on your side, you should go to bed earlier!”

“When did you come to Bridgedale to find me? I will buy a new car from the Dream Maker for you.” Mike teased, “Is it customized for you?”

“Didn’t you say you can’t customize it?” Chad wondered.

“Bridgedale is my home court. What Elliot can’t solve, I can solve it, is it strange?”

Mike said proudly.

Chad: “Okay! I’ll find you on vacation next time.”

After talking on the phone, Chad sighed—

—How should I tell my boss about this? If I tell the boss, the boss will definitely lose sleep.

.....

Bridgedale.

After Norah Jones sent a long email to Billy, the owner of the dream maker, it took more than a day for her to receive a reply from the other party!

After seeing the reply prompt from the other party, Norah Jones walked around the office excitedly.

The Dream Makers Group is now a hot topic in the business world.

Because it broke the traditional automobile industry and opened up a new industrial model.

Although the Dream Maker Group was established not long ago, it will definitely become a business giant in the future.

Before Norah Jones clicked to reply, she read the email she sent to Billy again.

When she was writing the email, she was very emotional. After writing the email, she sent it without thinking much.

She attached one of her most beautiful professional photos to the email, and at the same time wrote down her work and investment experience over the years, and finally briefly mentioned her views on the Dream Maker Group and the aspects that can be improved through cooperation. a bit.

The email was long and sincere, which moved Billy.

Norah Jones opened Billy's reply after drinking a glass of ice water.

His reply was brief, with just an address.

Norah Jones was stunned and excited!

Did Billy mean to ask her to meet? Otherwise, why did he send the address here?

In order to show off, Norah Jones took a screenshot of Billy's reply and sent it to her brother, asking: Brother, is Billy asking me to meet at this place? Do you know where this address is?

When the senior brother saw the message she sent, he immediately called her.

“Norah Jones, didn’t you say you wouldn’t send random emails to my boss? What did you send him? He actually replied this to you!” The senior brother was very curious and shocked.

Chapter 1874

“Senior brother, I didn’t send random emails, I sent him a cooperation intention email.” Norah Jones said confidently, “He replied to me with an address, should he ask me to meet and talk about it?”

“Yes. This address is not far from our company. If you don’t know the exact location, I can take you there.” Senior brother was a little excited, “I can accompany you to see my boss.”

“Senior brother, isn’t your boss unwilling to show his true face? I’m afraid I’ll bring someone over, and he won’t even see me.” Norah Jones couldn’t let anyone spoil this great event.

During this time, there must be countless people who want to work with Billy, but Billy only wants to see Norah, it must be because he is fascinated by her photos.

“Okay! No one in our company has seen our boss! Norah Jones, you are amazing! I really want to see what emails you sent to our boss.” The senior asked politely, “I don’t know if you are inconvenient. Show me the email.”

Of course Norah Jones wouldn’t show her email to her brother.

“Senior brother, after I meet your boss, I can tell you what happened after the meeting. I won’t tell anyone about this, I’ll tell you.” Norah Jones promised.

The senior brother was satisfied with her promise: “Okay, then I’ll wait for your good news.”

After speaking on the phone, Norah Jones immediately emailed Billy back to schedule a meeting time.

About an hour later, Billy replied to her with a detailed time.

Billy about to meet tomorrow morning.

Norah Jones looked at Billy's two reply emails and felt like she was dreaming.

In the past two years, she had wasted so much energy on Elliot, and it was all in vain. As a result, it is now completely effortless.

What does this mean?

It shows that Elliot is the wrong person, and Billy is her real person.

Norah Jones closed the notebook, grabbed the bag and prepared to go out.

She had to go out and buy a formal dress, get a look by the way, and meet Billy in the most beautiful way.

Try to make Billy fall in love with him at first sight!

When she went out, she called the assistant and asked the assistant to wait for her in the mall.

By the time she got to the mall, the assistant had already arrived.

"Ms. Jones, what's the happy event? You look so good today!" The assistant heard Norah Jones's tone on the phone just now, so he guessed something good happened.

"Billy asked me to meet." Norah Jones pulled the long hair behind her ear.

"Billy?"

"The dream maker's boss!" Norah Jones lowered her voice, "I sent him an email the day before yesterday, and he replied to me today. Ask me to meet!"

"Wow! Ms. Jones! You really are amazing! Didn't all the executives of the Dream Makers Company have seen the real boss? There are still many people who speculate that their boss is actually an alien! It's so funny! Those people are simply ignorant. Or Ms. Jones, you are amazing. You let the boss show his real body as soon as you go out!"

The assistant flattered wildly.

Norah Jones entered the mall with his assistant: "Thank you for reminding me, otherwise I would never have thought of sending an email to Billy. The more I think about it now, the more I feel that Elliot and I are indeed inappropriate. Why would you take me for such an excellent woman? Putting his hot face on his cold a$$? Not only is he divorced, but he also has so many children. Even if I am really with him, how much can he give me?"

Norah Jones said, with a shy smile on her face.

"Billy is different. Even if Billy is divorced and has children, the concept of foreigners is different from that of people in Aryadelle. As long as I can marry Billy, half of Billy's property will belong to me."

The assistant couldn't bear it. He was happy for her: "Ms. Jones, you must dress up nicely tomorrow, and try to win Billy. If the two of you are together, you won't have to look down on Elliot in the future!"

MS. Jones raised her chin arrogantly: "Yeah. I think so too. In the past two years, I have worked so hard for the Tate Industries, and Elliot can't see it at all. And I don't want to continue to bear the Tate Industries's company name. And how many people think that the Tate Industries belongs to the Tate family?!"

Chapter 1875

"That's right! If you are with Billy, you can jump directly to the top of the Dreamer."

"Let's see how we meet tomorrow!" Norah Jones narrowed her eyes, "I must win Billy!"

Aryadelle.

Starry River Villa.

Tammy came to find Avery.

“Avery, I heard that someone sent you two new Dream Makers’ new cars!

Where’s the car?” Tammy came here specially to see her new car.

Avery: “Who told you?”

“My husband told me.” Tammy looked at her with gossip, “they have a small group of men, as long as one of them knows any news, they will know all the rumors.

Come and show me your new car! When I went home with Jun last night, Jun also said that he wanted to buy a new car from the Dream Maker to try! It’s a pity that I can’t buy it now. I can only buy second-hand cars.”

Tammy added, “Do you know how expensive Dream Makers are now? The price has tripled!”

Avery immediately took Tammy to the garage.

Following the advice of the bodyguard, she bought two parking spaces in the underground parking lot of the community.

The previous two old cars were put in the underground parking lot.

“Avery, you can’t drive your two new cars? Would you like to sell me one?”

Tammy discussed with Avery before seeing the new car, “I heard that Elliot gave you one. The one that Elliot gave you to sell to me?”

Avery heard the overtone from her words.

“What else have you heard?”

Tammy laughed: “They said you were looking for a boyfriend. Your boyfriend gave you another new car.”

Avery: “...”

The garage door opened, Tammy saw the two new cars in the garage, and without thinking, ran directly to the silver-pink new car.

“Avery! This car is too beautiful, isn’t it?! The color is so poking at me! Is this what your boyfriend gave you? Oh my God! Your boyfriend is too good!” Tammy stretched out her hand in the new car and touched the body, “Hey, I really want a specially customized car like this! Can you ask your boyfriend to customize one for me? How much I will pay myself!”

Avery raised her hand and rubbed her head.

Elliot, this b*stard. How could he spread her gossip like this behind his back.

Avery didn’t say that this pink new car was given by her boyfriend.

“Tammy, I...” Avery wanted to explain that she didn’t have a boyfriend.

“I know all about it! Your boyfriend is the boss of the dream maker. They all know it. They told me not to tell you. If I told you, you would be angry. But I think this is a happy event. Tammy looked at her with envy, “Avery, seriously, I agree with this marriage! The boss of Dream Maker, how promising! I think Dream Maker will definitely surpass Sterling Group in the future!”

Avery: “...”

What does it mean to agree to this marriage?

Is the dream maker’s boss her boyfriend?

How could Elliot gossip behind his back!

Angered, Avery rushed out of the garage, planning to go to the living room to get a mobile phone and call Elliot to scold him!

Chapter 1876

“Avery! Are you angry?! Don’t be angry!” Tammy saw Avery leave the garage and immediately chased after her, “I thought we were not outsiders, so I’ll tell you be honest!”

“Tammy, I’m not mad at you, I’ll make a phone call first.” Avery was really not mad at Tammy.

After all, Tammy just wished her from the bottom of her heart.

“Who are you calling?” Tammy felt that Avery was going to get angry.

Avery found the phone, opened it, and saw the message from Mike.

She opened the message immediately.

—[Avery, Chad called me today and said that Elliot saw that someone sent you a car and was so jealous. I thought it was funny, so I told Chad that you have a boyfriend, and the boyfriend is the boss of the dream maker. Don't expose me]

After reading the news, Avery was in a mess.

It's not that Elliot is talking about her behind her back, but that b*stard Mike is making up her rumors behind her back!

Mike said so, Chad and the others must be convinced.

No wonder Tammy would say things like 'agree with this marriage'!

That's how outrageous rumors sometimes arise.

Maybe Mike just told Chad that she had found a boyfriend, and then when he arrived at Chad's place, Chad would tell others that she and her boyfriend were like glue, and the wedding was imminent.

"Avery, who are you calling?" Tammy walked over to her and stared at the screen of her mobile phone.

Her phone had returned to the main interface, and Tammy didn't see anything.

Avery went to the sofa and sat down: "Stop fighting. Tammy, how did I tell you about my boyfriend and I?"

"Let's just say you're with the boss of the Dream Makers Group. I and Jun both praise you for being amazing!" Tammy saw that Avery didn't seem so angry, so she walked over to her and sat down, "I came here. After thinking about it on the road, I actually kind of understand why you are with the dreamer's boss."

Avery was curious about the reason, so she asked, "Why?"

"Because your father wanted to develop a driverless car before, and he wanted to do but today's Dream Makers Group has done it... If your father is still alive, and seeing the success of the Dream Makers, and seeing you together with the Dream Maker's boss, your father will definitely be very happy!" Tammy looked at her without blinking, trying to judge whether her guess was right or not by her expression.

Avery's mood was like a roller coaster, going up and down.

If Tammy is not at her house now, she will call Mike immediately and give Mike a lesson.

Mike made such an outrageous joke, he was happy, but how was Avery going to face everyone's eyes and comments?

Avery doesn't care what others say about her, but Tammy is her best friend. If she is really in love, why would she hide Tammy?

Besides, Elliot was annoyed, and Avery would probably have some trouble seeing Robert in the future.

Who knows if Elliot will make a small stumbling block openly or secretly.

"Avery, it is almost certain now that Elliot still has you in his heart." Tammy said with an attitude of watching the fun and not taking it too seriously, "Chad told everyone about this, but Elliot didn't. Chad said that if Elliot knew about this, he would definitely explode."

Avery was a little shocked, and at the same time thought of what Mike said in the text message.

The reason why Mike said she had a boyfriend was to stimulate Elliot.

Now that the lie has been told, then... et it be!

Chapter 1877

Avery also wanted to see Elliot's reaction.

"Avery, who is the boss of the Dream Maker? How old is he? How does he look? He must be handsome, right? If he is not handsome, can you like him?" Tammy approached Avery and threw a series of questions.

Avery's face was slightly red, and the corner of her mouth was smiling, as if she was in love.

"Uh...he's quite handsome." Tammy couldn't help screaming with her answer!

"Avery! You're very promising. You even secretly fell in love and didn't tell me.

How did you stop telling me? What did you think?" Tammy stretched out an arm and placed Avery shoulders.

Avery took a deep breath, picked up the water glass from the coffee table, took a sip of water, and calmed herself down.

"It's... quite sudden." Avery replied.

"Oh, I understand." Tammy slapped her thigh, "You two just settled down, right?"

Avery: "..."

"Avery, you have a long face. I knew you and Elliot's departure is definitely not your loss. You are so good, no matter where you go, you can have a better life. And Elliot's life has already reached its peak, and he will only go downhill in the future, hum!" Tammy felt very special, "Let me drive the car he gave you!"

Avery was a little embarrassed: "Layla said that he would bring Robert to me for a few days. If I lend you the car he gave me to drive, I think with his temper, he will definitely be very angry. Why don't you drive the pink one?"

Tammy: "???"

"What's the matter? Do you have to drive the red one?" Avery Looking at Tammy, she was puzzled.

Tammy shook her head sharply: "No, no! I prefer the pink one. But that car was given to you by your boyfriend, how dare I talk to you!"

"That's it! Go and drive the pink one. The red one, I'll pay for it." Avery went to get the car keys.

"Didn't you say you don't need car keys?" Tammy followed behind her.

Avery said, "It can be equipped with car keys. I'm still more used to using car keys. If you like, you can drive home. I can drive my old car."

Avery said generously.

"Avery! Really?! Can I really drive home?" Tammy was so excited that she was about to cry, "But it was given to you by your boyfriend, how could I be so embarrassed to drive home... I..."

Avery said, "If you want to drive home, just drive home. What's the relationship between us! You don't have to be polite to me. You said you wanted to order one too, you turn around Tell me what color and style you want, and I'll go with..."

Tammy opened her eyes wide and looked at her.

"I'm going to tell my boyfriend!" Avery almost missed her mouth, but she corrected it in time.

"Avery, thank you so much! God knows how much I want a new car from the Dream Maker. Even if it's not specially customized, I'll be very happy." Tammy put her arms around Avery's neck and asked, "Can I take pictures while I'm driving later? Can I post on the Moments?"

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Of course! You can take pictures and post them as you like."

"Those men are still talking about you behind your back, saying that you are so low-key because you think your new love is not as good as Elliot, so you hid this matter! I'll go back later, and I'll name your boyfriend!"

Avery: "..."

"By the way, what's your boyfriend's name?" Tammy took the car keys and couldn't wait to drive the new car back to share such a hot gossip with Jun!

Chapter 1878

Every time Avery tells a lie, her heart beats faster.

Fortunately, Tammy left happily after asking this question.

Avery raised her hand to wipe off the sweat on her forehead, then found Mike's number and dialed it.

Mike answered in seconds, with a flattering tone: "Avery, have you seen the news?"

"You are so brave to make such a joke!" Avery took a deep breath and reprimanded, "The joke is not on you. It's a lot of fun watching it, right?"

"What's the fun I'm watching, I'm in Bridgedale, and I can't see Elliot's wonderful reaction at all!" Mike laughed, "Since I said that, don't demolish my stage. Let them misunderstand! If Elliot really wants to get you back, even if you marry another man, he can find a way to get you back! If he is not determined to you, it means that he does not love you that much."

Avery sneered: "I think I can help Chad pay attention to see if there are better people, and introduce him to him at that time, maybe he will realize who is more suitable for him."

Mike suddenly changed his face: "Avery! You don't have to do this, right? I'm all here to help you! Elliot secretly booked a car for you, and made it clear that he wanted to get back with you. But how could we let him go so easily? You forgot the grievances you suffered before Now? I'm just testing him out for you to see if you feel bad. If you feel bad for him so much, you should call him directly and say that I lied!"

"Why are you still wronged?" Avery asked, "I'm angry not only because you made fun of me, but also because you kill first and then play. Can't you discuss it with me first?"

"If I discuss it with you, this matter will be messed up. You will definitely not agree with me to do this" Mike said, "You can rest easy! Even if Elliot is jealous and angry, he can only bear it silently. Will he dare to trouble you?"

Avery: "I'm afraid he won't let me see the child when he gets angry."

"He dares." Mike didn't worry at all, "Layla doesn't listen to him. Don't worry! No one will stand by him if he doesn't care."

Avery's mood calmed down a little.

"By the way, there's something very funny that I haven't told you yet." Mike said this, and laughed, "Norah Jones sent Billy an email, and there were pictures of scratching her head in it."

"Who scratched her head?" Avery was taken aback.

"Norah Jones posted a photo of herself. There are a lot of sensational words in it. It can be seen that she did well in English language when she was in school."

Mike teased, "Hayden didn't want to care about her, but I don't think how can let her down?"

Avery heard Mike's words and knew that Mike had another bad idea.

Avery: "Mike, why are you so bad?"

"I'm really sad when you say that to me." Mike said in a pitiful tone, "I didn't take the initiative to provoke others, didn't they all come from others?"

Avery reminded: "Be careful and don't go too far."

"Don't worry, we'll tease her." Mike said, yawning, "I didn't sleep tonight, just waiting for your call. You just called me now."

Avery: "You won't take the initiative to call me and tell me?"

"I'm afraid you'll be angry." Mike said with a smile, "I'm relieved now, I feel like you want to watch the show too."

Avery: "Go get some sleep! I'm going to dinner."

"Well, call me anytime if you have anything. If Elliot troubles you, call me immediately and I'll fly back to help you deal with him."

Avery took a deep breath. She didn't dare to think about what would happen the next time she saw Elliot.

.....

Tammy returned to Lynch's house in a specially customized new car for Dream Makers.

After the car stopped, Mary came out with her granddaughter in her arms.

"Tammy, whose car are you driving? It's a beautiful car." Mary shouted, and Jun walked out of the living room upon hearing the sound.

"This is Avery's car! The car her boyfriend gave her! Isn't it beautiful?" After getting out of the car, Tammy took out her mobile phone and hurriedly called to Jun, "Husband, come and help me take pictures!"

With a sound of 'fuck off', Jun strode to Tammy.

Jun: "This is the luxury car that Avery's boyfriend gave her?! It's too dazzling!"

Tammy sneered, "Yes! Avery asked me to drive as long as I wanted. Avery told me, she was just with the dream maker's boss, so she didn't tell me. It's not that the boss can't do anything. They are very handsome!"

Mary looked at the silver-pink new car, and the more she looked at it, the more she liked it: "You guys are salty. Don't worry about eating radishes. Can Avery's eyesight be bad? The dream maker's boss must be a dragon and a phoenix! He will never be worse than Elliot!"

"Mom, you really know how to talk. Actually, I think the same as you, I knew that the boss of the dream maker is definitely not easy. Otherwise, how could Avery forget Elliot so quickly?" Tammy smiled and handed the phone to Jun, "Husband, help me to take a more beautiful photo, I will wait a while. I'm going to post it on the Moments."

Tammy stood by the car and took a few pictures, stood by the car with her daughter and took a few pictures, and then sat back in the car to take a few pictures...

After the photo was taken, Tammy immediately put her daughter on the ground, then took the phone back and looked at it one by one.

“Husband, do you really want to drive? Go for a drive!” Tammy took her mobile phone and focused on editing photos, “By the way, think about what kind of car you want. Avery said she could talk to her boyfriend and give us a special custom one.”

Jun’s eyes suddenly lit up: “Avery has a good boyfriend, and we will follow suit! When can we meet her boyfriend? I heard that her boyfriend is very mysterious, and no one has seen his appearance!”

“The relationship between Avery and him is confirmed. I will ask Avery next time. Don’t worry, as long as Avery talks to him, Avery will definitely arrange for us to meet him.” After Tammy finished speaking, Jun opened out for a drive in the pink new car.

After Tammy edited nine photos, they posted them to the circle of friends with the caption: [Super happy today! Dipped in the light of my home! I’m also customizing a pink... silver-pink dream maker!]

After Tammy posted the new news, she immediately received numerous likes and comments.

—Wow! Haven’t heard that Dream Maker released a new silver-pink new car? Is this a limited edition? how much? How to buy it?

——Are you referring to Avery? Is this Avery’s car? How did Avery buy it? Really cow!

How to customize it? ! I love this pink so much! Help!

...

Elliot finished dinner, turned on his phone, and saw a message from Ben

Schaffer: Look at Tammy Donut Circle!

Everyone around him knew that Avery was with the dream maker's boss, but Elliot was the only one who didn't.

They all wanted to tell Elliot, but they were afraid that Elliot would be stimulated.

After all, Elliot's intention to secretly deliver a car to Avery was too obvious.

Elliot didn't want to see Tammy's circle of friends, but he couldn't follow his fingers, so he involuntarily opened Tammy's circle of friends.

Chapter 1880

Seeing the nine photos posted by Tammy, and taking a look at the words above, Elliot's mood is like falling into an ice cellar.

What Tammy meant was that Avery could order a special new car for her too?

Thinking of this, Elliot found Jun's number and dialed it.

Jun parked the car on the side of the road and took Elliot's call.

"Brother Elliot."

"Avery promised to book a car for you?" Elliot asked.

"Uh...how did you know?" Jun wondered.

"I guessed it from Tammy's circle of friends." Elliot asked again, "Why can Avery help you? Sure, tell me everything you know."

Jun looked embarrassed, took a deep breath, and said "Brother Elliot, do you really want to listen?"

"What does Avery have to do with the dream maker?" Elliot's tone gradually became impatient.

Jun cleared his throat and said, "She is in love with the boss of the Dream Makers Group..." After a pause, he said quickly, "It was Chad who told us. Chad is listened to what Mike said. So this matter should not be fake.”

Elliot’s breathing suddenly became solemn.

“Brother Elliot, Tammy went to Avery today, and it was confirmed from her. Avery is indeed getting along with the dreamer’s boss. I think you should forget her and start a new life!” Jun Seeing that Elliot didn’t speak, he felt a little flustered.

Jun was worried that Elliot would do impulsive things after being stimulated.

After Elliot settled down, he hung up the phone.

“Dad! I’m going out to play with my sister...you go out with us!” Before Robert was taken out by Layla, his little hand grabbed his father’s big palm and wanted to take his father out.

Elliot followed his son out like a puppet.

Layla pouted and complained in a low voice: “Stinky brother, let’s go out to play, what are you doing with your dad?”

Robert looked aggrieved: “I want dad to play with us!”

“Robert, what do you want dad for?” Layla glared at Robert and dad with the drone and remote control in her hand.

Robert flattered and pulled his sister’s hem: “Dad, watch us play! Hey! Sister, teach me to play!”

Seeing that Elliot didn’t say a word, Layla took him as air and began to teach her brother to play no one machine.

After a while, after Robert was able to control the drone by himself, Elliot rolled his Adam’s apple and said to Layla, “Layla, do you know about your mother looking for a boyfriend?”

Layla said “ah! What did you say?”

“Your mother is looking for a boyfriend.” Elliot looked at his daughter, “She is on good terms with the boss of the Dream Makers Group. She has already told you Auntie Tammy. She didn't tell you. right?"

Layla's eyes stared like copper bells in disbelief.

Mom never told her about finding a boyfriend! Why does she suddenly have a boyfriend?

"I don't believe it! I'm going to call my mother!" Layla ran back to the villa angrily. Elliot looked at the back of his daughter running away with an incredible look on his face.

What did Avery think? This kind of thing is hidden from her daughter. Does she think her daughter will not promise her to find a new lover?

Looking at Layla's expression when she learned the news just now, Layla will definitely object!

The solemn expression on Elliot's face eased slightly.

When Layla got home, she took her cell phone and called her mother.

"Mom! Dad said you were looking for a boyfriend!" Layla said angrily, "Did Dad lie to me or are you really looking for a boyfriend?"

Avery was lying on the sofa just after dinner.

Avery: "Is your father with you?"

Chapter 1881

"Not here! He's playing drones with his brother outside." Layla said here, her tone suddenly aggrieved, "Are you really looking for a boyfriend? Who is your boyfriend? Is he handsome? How old is he? Where do you live?"

Avery listened to her daughter's voice and wanted to see her and tell her face to face.

Avery: "You asked the driver to take you to Mommy. Mommy told you in person."

"Oh... well." Layla hung up the phone and went to the driver immediately.

After a while, the driver took Layla out.

Mrs. Cooper strode towards Elliot.

Mrs. Cooper : "Sir, Layla was making a fuss to find Avery, so I asked the driver to take her there. Don't worry, I'll let the driver take Layla back later."

"Well." Elliot looked at the door.

He doesn't know how Avery will convince Layla.

However, the boyfriend of Avery was looking for must have passed the Hayden level.

As long as Hayden passes the level, Avery will have nothing to fear on Layla and Robert's side.

About an hour later, the driver brought Layla back.

Elliot saw the relaxed and natural expression on his daughter's face, and it seemed that Avery convinced her.

"How did your mother tell you?" Elliot asked casually.

Layla was stunned for a moment, then walked to Elliot's side and sat down next to him.

"Dad, my mother has already told me." Layla's face burst into a bright smile, "My mother said that Uncle Billy is young and handsome, not only intelligent, but also handsome. More importantly, Billy Uncle loves my mother, he not only gives my mother all the money he earns, but also listens to my mother."

Elliot's face turned red and black.

Billy really?

Have they really developed to this point?

Isn't it just a matter of confirming the relationship? Avery has already started to spend Billy's money?

Wait... Avery bought jewelry for Layla at the auction before.

10 million is just the price at the beginning of the auction. If Norah Jones had bid with her at that time, the price would definitely be higher.

Avery spends so much money now, is it because all he spends is Billy's money?

Thinking of this, Elliot's heart ached for a while!

When Billy fell in love with Avery, he was not stingy towards Avery.

He gave Avery a bank card, but Avery never spent his money.

Billy believed that he had never treated her harshly in terms of economics.

"Dad, did you hear what I said?" Layla raised her voice a little for fear that her father would not be stimulated, "Uncle Billy listens to my mother in everything, he is not like you, he always annoys my mother Angry. Uncle Billy has never made my mother angry!"

"Is this what your mother told you?" Elliot's face was black as carbon, and his voice trembled slightly. He clenched his Fist tightly.

If the person facing Elliot was not Layla, he would have had an attack long ago.

"Yeah! My mom didn't tell me earlier because she was still investigating Uncle Billy. Now that I know, she told me all about it." Layla winked at Dad, "Daddy, you look so angry! Are you jealous?"

Elliot's thin lips pursed into a line, and the lines of his body tightened.

"Who told you to be angry with my mother before. Now you regret it? If you regret it, you can get my mother back before my mother marries Uncle Billy.

Otherwise..." Having said this, Layla sighed, "Otherwise my mother and Uncle Billy will definitely have many babies."

Elliot: "!!!"

"Once they have a lot of babies, Mommy won't want us at all." Layla sighed, resting her head on Dad's shoulder.

Chapter 1882

"However," without waiting for Elliot to express her stance, Layla continued, "If my mother really wants to marry Uncle Billy, I am not unacceptable. My mother said that Uncle Billy will be very ill to me and Robert and Hayden. Okay. I really look forward to seeing Uncle Billy, maybe he listens to me more than you.”

Elliot’s anger reached its peak.

Elliot: “Layla, do you really want to recognize that man as your stepdad?”

Elliot voice trembled faintly. Layla felt her father’s anger, but she decided to bite the bullet and finish what she wanted to say.

Layla: “As long as my mother is happy, of course I can recognize that man as a stepfather.”

Elliot felt very sad when he got the answer from his daughter.

He got up from the sofa and walked upstairs.

Layla watched her dad go upstairs without saying a word, and her heart skipped a beat.

–Will Dad be mad at himself?

Thinking of this, she ran anxiously to find Mrs. Cooper.

“I made Dad angry just now.” Layla puffed out her cheeks as she looked at Robert who was already asleep on the bed.

Mrs. Cooper pulled Layla out of the room.

“I heard something. It was said that your mother found a new boyfriend.” Mrs.

Cooper sighed, “Is it true?”

Layla lowered her head, thought for a few seconds, and said, “If my mother really found a new boyfriend, what do you think my father will do?”

Mrs. Cooper shook her head: “I don’t know. It depends on what kind of boyfriend your mother is looking for. If it is a good person, your father may not interfere. If it is not a good person, you Dad shouldn’t watch your mother be dragged down by bad men.”

Layla: "My mother's boyfriend must be a good man!"

"Oh, I don't know what your father will do. But what is certain is that your father will be very sad." Mrs. Cooper couldn't help feeling sad for Elliot, "After he knew your mother, for so many years, he has never been right Other women have been moved. Even after you divorced your mother, he has always kept himself clean...

Layla, when you grow up, you will understand how rare a man like your father is."

After listening Mrs. Cooper's words, Layla became more and more guilty.

"I want my dad to go and get my mom back. But I'm too embarrassed to say it outright... so I'm mad at him. I complimented my mom's boyfriend." Layla said.

Mrs. Cooper patted her on the shoulder: "Everyone doesn't want to be angry.

Think about it, if you were your father, what would you do? Your father did his best to you and Robert, and couldn't find fault. If you want them to be reconciled, it's better to say good things about your father in front of your mother more often."

"If I said a few words, they wouldn't get divorced." Layla sighed, "I still I went back to my room to take a shower."

Layla said she went back to her room to take a shower, but after she went upstairs, she walked directly to her father's study.

She can't worry about her father.

What if Dad hides in the study and weeps?

A quarter of an hour later, Layla took her summer homework and pushed open the door of her father's study without knocking on the door.

In the study, Elliot was caught off guard and panicked.

He didn't hear his daughter's footsteps.

The door was opened like this, and there was no time to wipe the tears in his eyes!

Layla quickly walked to Dad, staring at the tears in Dad's eyes, her heart was touched, and her small mouth was suddenly deflated.

Elliot: "Layla, I..."

"Dad, I'm sorry." Layla took some toilet paper from the cardboard box on the table and handed it to Dad, "I was mad at you just now."

Chapter 1883

When Elliot heard his daughter's apology, he immediately took the paper from his daughter and wiped the tears from his eyes.

"It must be that I didn't do well enough, so you will be mad at me on purpose."

Elliot looked at his daughter, hoping to hear more from her heart.

Since Elliot divorced Avery, his daughter has been living by his side casually, but she has never said a single thoughtful word to him.

Now that his daughter can take the initiative to talk to him, he is very moved.

Layla put her summer homework on the desk, and after struggling for a while, she looked up and looked at her father again.

"Dad, I'm angry that you didn't coax my mother back. I've filmed several idol dramas, although they were all when the heroine was a child, but I know how those dramas were played. The man coaxed the woman back, why can't you coax my mother back?"

Layla complained.

"Do you think your father never kept your mother?" Elliot asked, looking at Layla's lost face.

Layla: "You didn't! At least I didn't see it!"

"I called and texted your mother, and I went to Bridgedale to find her. I tried every method I could. I don't want you three brothers and sisters separation, I don't want you to have a incomplete family of origin, but no matter what I do, your mother will never forgive me. I don't know what to do to coax her back."

When Elliot said this, he recalled the original All sorts of things, his eyes couldn't help but get wet again.

“Layla, Dad is not a hard-hearted person. Dad also wants you and your brother to be with mom and brother forever. Because Dad also wants our family to be reunited. It’s just a lot of things, it’s not what Dad wants to do. How’s it going?”

After listening to her father’s words, two lines of tears fell in Layla’s eyes.

She felt that she had misunderstood her father in the past few years. Not only did she misunderstand her father, but she also got a lot of anger at her father.

Dad had never blamed her, and she was still complacent.

As everyone knows, her father is not feeling well.

“Dad, I won’t be mad at you on purpose in the future.” Layla wiped away tears.

Elliot immediately took Layla into his arms and wiped her tears with a tissue.

Elliot: “Layla, dad never blamed you. You don’t have to apologize to dad.”

“But I still want you to coax mom back.” Layla raised her head, looked at her dad’s handsome face, and said aggrieved, “I don’t want to. If I want a stepfather, I don’t want a stepmother, I just want to be with my parents. Dad, will you go and get my mother back?”

This was the first time Layla had formally pleaded with Elliot.

Without thinking, Elliot agreed to his daughter’s request.

For his daughter, Elliot is willing to lay down his dignity.

Regardless of whether the final result can be achieved or not, at least let Layla see that Elliot has worked hard.

It was 9:00 p.m. when Layla came out of the study.

She went back to the bedroom, and instead of taking a bath immediately, she found her mobile phone and called her mother.

Avery answered the phone in seconds.

“Mom. My dad’s crying.” Layla sniffed, her voice hoarse.

Avery was stunned for a moment: “Did you cry? Mom seemed to have just cried when she heard your voice.”

“I cried too. Because I saw my dad crying secretly... so I was also very sad.”

When Layla said this, her voice became even more hoarse, “Dad heard that you were looking for a boyfriend, so he secretly hid in the study and cried. Mom, I really want to tell him the truth!”

Avery hesitated for a while and said: ” If you want to tell him, go tell him! It’s a good job for your Uncle Mike. He wants to test your dad’s feelings for me.”

Chapter 1884

Layla calmed down a little after listening to her mother’s words.

“Then I’ll just listen to Uncle Mike! Uncle Mike must be doing it for Mom’s sake.”

Layla muttered to herself.

“Layla, your father really cried?” Avery couldn’t believe it.

She always felt that Elliot was not such a vulnerable person.

“Really!” Layla replied loudly, “Mom how could I lie to you? I saw it with my own eyes.”

“Oh...” Avery still couldn’t believe it, “Layla, your father is crying because of something else?”

“Huh?” Layla was stunned, “I-I don’t know...but there’s nothing else in our family that can make him cry! Today, Robert is so good. He fell asleep after playing outside for a while. I was the only one who was angry with him.”

“Layla, don’t be sad. Your father will find out the truth one day.” Avery comforted her daughter, “It’s very hard now. It’s late, have you taken a bath?”

Layla: “Not yet...”

“Then you go take a bath first. Take a bath and get a good night’s sleep. When you finish your summer homework, bring your brother to find me. When the time comes. If there is anything, we can say it face to face.” Avery’s tone was relaxed, trying to relax her daughter.

“Mom, if Dad chases you again, will you still give him a chance?” Layla wondered if Dad still had a chance, “I like Dad, Robert also likes Dad, if we stay with him longer, we must be reluctant to abandon him.”

Layla expressed her attitude.

Avery understands her daughter’s emotional change.

The past two years have been neither long nor short.

Elliot can make the child develop feelings for him, which shows that he has spent a lot of time and energy on the child.

“If your father can get Haze back, maybe I will reconsider my relationship with him.” Avery told Layla her answer.

Layla made an ‘oh’, as if satisfied.

“Mom, then I’m going to take a bath. Bye.”

Avery: “Good night, baby.”

Avery’s heart beat heavily after speaking on the phone.

His daughter’s voice was still in her ears, but Elliot actually cried?

She frowned, turned on her phone, found Elliot’s dialog, and wanted to send him a message, but she didn’t know what to send.

If Elliot really cried tonight because Avery found a boyfriend, she would be embarrassed to find him instead.

Avery’s mood was completely disrupted. She lay on the bed and covered her head with the quilt.

Foster family.

After Layla left the study, Elliot began to think of a way.

Since he promised Layla to chase Avery back, his biggest obstacle now is Avery’s boyfriend Billy.

Who is this man?

Only by figuring out the details of the opponent can he know how much chance he has.

After thinking for half an hour, he called his subordinates and said his order.

.....

Bridgedale.

10:00 in the morning.

Mike was wearing his home clothes and eating breakfast in the dining chair.

He and Hayden live together, but their work and rest times are completely staggered.

Hayden still went to bed late and got up early, and it was rare for Mike to say a word to him in a day.

Halfway through breakfast, Mike saw some great news.

This news amused Mike.

Mike immediately found Hayden's number and dialed: "Hayden, Your father, there is a big move!"

Hayden digested it for a while before he understood who Mike was referring to as 'father'.

Hayden has always had a goal, and this goal is to surpass Elliot.

Now, he is getting closer and closer to his goal, but he rarely pays attention to Elliot, and he doesn't care about Elliot that much.

Chapter 1885

"What big move." Hayden said indifferently.

"He offered a reward of 100 million to find the detailed information and photos of Billy." Mike couldn't help laughing, "This 100 million is a good profit. I really want to make this money.”

Hayden: “It’s not promising.”

After Said these words, Hayden hung up the phone.

Mike is still happy. He just said that he could not make this 100 million.

However, if he doesn’t make this 100 million now, Norah Jones will be able to make this 100 million in a short time.

After all, Norah Jones will be able to see Billy’s ‘real face’ soon.

Norah Jones wore a dark red tight dress today, showing her slender figure to the greatest extent.

She put on a light make-up, and her hair was pulled back, concise and elegant.

She drove alone to the address provided by Billy.

This was the closest high-end club to the Dream Makers headquarters.

According to the senior brother, the executives of their Dream Makers had formed a team here before. However, when the team was built before, Billy did not participate.

Billy asked her to meet at this club today, and she doesn’t know what wonderful collision will happen.

Norah drove the car to the door of the clubhouse, and the clubhouse parking staff immediately helped her park the car.

Entering the lobby of the clubhouse, after she explained to the staff that she had an appointment with Billy, the staff immediately took her to the private room where Billy was.

Norah Jones’s heart started beating wildly. She’s going to see Billy soon. She doesn’t know what Billy looks like or how old he is.

Norah Jones lost sleep last night and thought about it all night. She could accept that Billy was ugly. After all, Billy is so low-key and never shows up, presumably because of his looks, he can't make a appearance.

Real handsome guys and beauties are definitely not ashamed to meet people, let alone express themselves in public.

Norah didn't care if Billy was ugly, as long as Billy wasn't too old and his character wasn't too bad.

Alternatively, Billy's age was acceptable.

This means that Norah doesn't have to serve Billy for many years before she can get Billy's inheritance.

Norah is afraid that Billy is not only ugly, but also young and has a bad personality.

After a short while, the staff stood in front of the private room, knocked on the door, and said respectfully, "Mr. Billy, Ms. Jones is here."

With a 'squeak', the bodyguard in the door opened the door.

"Ms. Jones, come in!" The staff said this to Norah Jones with a smile, and then walked away.

Norah Jones took a deep breath and strode towards the private room.

Looking into the room at a glance, She saw a wheelchair with its back facing the direction of the door.

–Billy is in a wheelchair? !

–Disabled?

With a 'bang', after Norah Jones entered the room, the door was closed by the bodyguard.

"Ms. Jones." A strange male voice came from the wheelchair.

Immediately, the wheelchair turned towards Norah Jones.

Norah Jones widened her eyes and saw the man in the wheelchair.

Norah Jones was stunned and Shocked for a moment, her brain went blank and stopped.

Insomnia last night, she thought about countless possibilities, but she didn't think that the reality was different from any of the possibilities she imagined.

Billy's appearance is really ugly, his nose and eyes seem to fly out at any time, especially when he talks.

And his voice was not good, too, quack like a duck, and it sounded harsh.

His age...not a good guess.

He doesn't look very old, but he might be.

The reason why Norah Jones couldn't guess his age was because he was the first man with dwarfism that Norah Jones knew.

Chapter 1886

Norah Jones was 1.65 meters tall, and the high heels she was wearing today made her at least 1.7 meters tall.

And this man in a wheelchair was about one meter away!

Norah Jones couldn't accept such a blow.

Even if she just came to discuss cooperation with him, she couldn't face this man with a normal heart.

"Why does Ms. Jones look at me like this?" 'Billy' looked at Norah Jones with a cold tone, "Is it because she dislike my physical disability and my ugly appearance?"

Norah Jones quickly came back to her senses and shook her head. : "No. I'm just shocked. I'm shocked by your perseverance, hard work and entrepreneurial spirit."

"Oh, I'm disabled, right?" 'Billy' opened his mouth with an ugly smile.

"Mr. Billy, I definitely didn't laugh at your disability. Besides, in my opinion, you are not disabled at all." Norah Jones explained quickly, "I don't know much about your situation, so it's inconvenient to say more. But I...I really didn't look down on you."

'Billy' jumped out of the wheelchair, seeing that she was being sincere.

He was standing on the ground, when the height difference between them really showed.

Norah Jones guessed that his height might be about one meter, but now he looked down at his real height, which was comparable to her guess.

Of course she couldn't marry such a man.

It's just...

the normal life expectancy of dwarfism patients, She doesn't know if it will be lower than normal people.

If so, she is not unacceptable.

.....

Bridgedale.

TV Building.

A black sedan stopped in front of the building.

The car door opened, and Wanda stepped out of the car.

In recent years, Wanda has been living in Bridgedale.

However, Bridgedale is very big, so Wanda and Avery never met.

Wanda has acquired a large amount of assets from Aryadelle. In the past two years, she has not thought about making a comeback, but the development momentum of the Tate Industries led by Norah Jones is too strong, so Wanda has been watching the changes.

Unexpectedly, at this time, the Dream Maker Group was born!

The appearance of the Dream Makers Group made Wanda think of her deceased husband.

Wanda knew Jack Tate's wish better than anyone else.

Like others, Wanda felt that Jack Tate was daydreaming. Even because Jack Tate insisted on investing money in the research and development of driverless chips, the two quarreled several times.

Wanda did not expect that someone had really researched this technology and put it into use in the automotive industry.

Before the Dream Maker's car was officially sold, Wanda ordered one in advance.

After the car arrived, she immediately drove on the road. Unexpectedly, the experience was much better than she imagined.

This technology is very mature, and She doesn't know how long the team has been quietly developing it behind the scenes.

She was very interested in the boss of the dream maker, so she dared to contact Billy, but the top management responded and could not help her contact the boss.

Wanda was not discouraged. She spent a lot of money to secretly find someone to inquire about Billy's identity.

Today, she accepted an invitation from a friend to record a talk show about entrepreneurs.

Although she has not worked for more than two years, her network in Bridgedale has been completely opened.

So life can be considered colorful and very moist.

At one o'clock in the afternoon, Wanda finished recording the program and came out of the TV building.

On the other side, Norah Jones looked ashen, and was helped out by the staff of the clubhouse.

The staff called a chauffeur for her and took her home.

When she got home, she immediately went into the bathroom, turned on the shower, closed her clothes, and rinsed.

Chapter 1887

The sound of water dripped down from the top of her head, mixed with her tears. Her cell phone rang. Her brother was curious about the outcome of her meeting with Billy, so he called her.

Her mobile phone was in the bag, and the bag was thrown on the ground by her. Half an hour later, she came out of the shower, the towel on her body tightly wrapped her body.

Her face was still pale, her eyes were dull, and she seemed to be greatly stimulated.

She went to the living room and picked up the bag from the floor.

She was very scared and wanted to find someone to accompany her, but she didn't know who to look for.

She took her phone out of her bag, opened it, and saw her brother's missed call at a glance.

While she was hesitating, senior brother's phone called again.

Her fingers trembled and she accidentally answered the phone.

Senior brother: "Norah, have you finished meeting my boss? How is it? What does my boss look like? Is he easy to get along with? What did the two of you talk about?"

Norah choked out a sentence: "He, he...is a pervert!"

The senior brother was stunned: "He bullied you? Is it because you are too beautiful? We usually exchange emails with him, and I think he is quite normal. "

Don't mention him to me again! Don't mention him again!" Norah Jones screamed frantically, as if she was going to go crazy in the next second. Her screams echoed throughout the apartment, as if she were in a horror movie set.

"Oh... well, where are you now? I'm a little worried about you. Would you like me to accompany you?" the senior brother said, "By the way, Elliot offered a reward for 100 million to buy my boss's photo and Detailed information."

When Norah Jones heard the words 'Elliot', her reason returned to her body.

Before meeting Billy today, she had already crossed out Elliot's name in her mind.

She compared Elliot and Billy, and felt that Elliot was inferior to Billy in every aspect.

Now, she feels like a joke!

Compared with Billy, Elliot is the God!

Don't say that Elliot only has one Avery in his heart, even if he has ten Avery in his heart, he is better than that perverted man!

Norah hung up her brother's phone, then found Elliot's number in the address book, and dialed it without thinking. Elliot wanted to know Billy's appearance and detailed information, and she could tell him now.

After the call was connected, Elliot's voice was displeased: "What's the matter?"

Hearing his cold and sullen voice, Norah suddenly realized that it was late at night in Aryadelle.

"I...I heard that you offered a reward of 100 million to find information about Billy..." Norah stumbled to finish the sentence.

"Do you know his information?" Elliot rubbed his aching temples.

"I..." Norah Jones wanted to say 'I know', but if she did, Elliot would definitely ask 'how did you know'.

How will she explain it then?

Billy didn't see anyone except her, and she couldn't explain how to explain it.

"I heard a little..." To be safe, Norah decided to obfuscate what she knew. "I have a friend who said she met Billy."

"What friend? How did your friend meet Billy? "What?" Elliot questioned.

“She didn’t tell me the specifics. She just told me that Billy was ugly and short... Said he might have dwarfism.” Norah Jones said this, her voice trembled, “Not only that, he also has special hobbies.”

Elliot stomped and sat up from the bed.

–Was Norah Jones lying and deliberately slandering Billy?

–How could Avery find such a boyfriend?

–Is Avery crazy? Even if she was stimulated, she wouldn’t spoil herself so much!

Chapter 1888

Elliot: “Norah Jones, this is just your hearsay. Unless your friend can provide clear photos and detailed information, my money is not so easy to earn.”

Elliot’s answer made Norah Jones wake up: ” Elliot, I misunderstood, I didn’t want to use this clue to exchange money with you. I just saw what you wanted to know about him, so I told you what I know.”

“What you know is not necessarily correct. I want to know exact news.” Elliot rubbed his eyebrows, “I’ll hang up if I have nothing else to do. It’s late at night here. Before you call me next time, please convert the time.”

“Isn’t it...” Norah Jones wanted to apologize. But before she could finish saying ‘I’m sorry’, the phone was hung up.

Norah Jones held back the tears in her eyes.

Do it yourself!

Everything is self-inflicted!

If it wasn’t for her delusional attempt to hook up with Billy, how could she be so humiliated?

She squeezed her phone tightly, walked to the bar, and took a glass of red wine.

She couldn’t just be overwhelmed like that.

Since she can’t accept Billy’s perverted request, she will continue to stay in the Tate Industries and work hard according to the original plan.

...

After Elliot hung up Norah Jones's phone, he didn't feel sleepy at all. He turned on the bedside lamp and got off the bed with his long legs.

After washing his face in the bathroom, he went back to the bed, picked up his phone again, and checked the time.

It's almost 2:00 a.m.

It's a little early to wake up now.

But Norah Jones's words kept circling in his mind.

Billy has dwarfism? Elliot really want to ask Avery to find out.

Avery has never disclosed her new relationship. Is it possible that it is because of Billy's physical defect?

Avery is not a person who judges people by their appearance. Otherwise, why didn't she stay with Eric? Why not with Mike? He doesn't need to say more about Eric's appearance, and Mike looks pretty good too.

Generally speaking, everyone has natural filters for successful people. Now Billy is a hot business wizard, and everyone is reasonably tolerant of his appearance.

But Norah Jones said that Billy was ugly, so he should be so ugly.

If Avery accepts such an ugly man, is she attracted by Billy's talent?

Elliot felt that a knife had been stabbed in his heart, and the pain was excruciating between his breaths.

How could Avery find such a man? Although He's not sure if what Norah Jones said is true or not, Norah Jones and her friends are definitely not ordinary people, so they won't make fun of Billy.

So this matter is probably inseparable.

In the morning, just before dawn, Elliot went out.

He stayed up all night. He tried to force himself to sleep, but he couldn't sleep. Lying down is no better than standing. If he doesn't go to Avery to ask clearly, this matter will always be stuck in his heart, making him uncomfortable.

Starry River Villa.

Avery was still in her sleep when the bodyguard hurriedly knocked on the door.

"Boss! Wake up!" The bodyguard lives at home 24 hours a day. After the doorbell rang, the bodyguard immediately went out to check.

Seeing that it was Elliot, the bodyguard did not dare to neglect.

After Avery was woken up, she walked to the door and opened the door.

"Boss, Elliot is here! Are you two reconciled? Start dating so early?" The bodyguard believed that the two of them had an appointment. If there was no appointment, how could Elliot come so early.

Avery was stunned for a moment, then strode out of the room.

Chapter 1889

Avery quickly walked to the gate of the courtyard, looking at Elliot's haggard face that had not slept all night, her eyebrows wrinkled.

"Elliot, what are you smoking? It's only after six o'clock, and the sun hasn't risen yet..." Avery felt her body light and airy, and her words were obviously out of breath.

"Open the door." Elliot glanced down at the locked courtyard door.

"...What are you doing here first?" Avery stared at his scarlet eyes, suddenly remembering what his daughter said on the phone to her last night.

Thinking of this, Avery opened the courtyard door and let Elliot in without waiting for him to answer.

"Do you know what I'm here for?" Elliot looked at the open courtyard door and teased, "Avery, don't you feel guilty?"

“What am I feeling? I didn’t do anything illegal, and I didn’t betray my relatives and friends.” Avery was enthralled by his anger.

Avery strode into the villa and Elliot followed behind her and walked into the house step by step.

“Boss, since you’re up, let me buy breakfast?” The bodyguards felt the low air pressure surrounding them, “What do you want to eat?”

It’s too early at this point.

Avery has no appetite, So she said, “I don’t want to eat, you can eat it yourself!”

The bodyguard responded and prepared to go out.

“Buy me a bowl of Chaos and a cup of soy milk. If you have pork noodles, bring me another bowl of pork noodles, not too spicy.” Elliot said bluntly.

The bodyguard was shocked.

Does Elliot eat so much for breakfast every day?

Avery was also shocked, “you want to eat breakfast, you can eat it yourself, what do you want my bodyguard to do?”

When her voice was settled, Elliot immediately took out his wallet, took out some banknotes, and handed them to the bodyguard: “Thank you.

“Wait a minute.”

After the bodyguard left, Avery looked at the man in front of her coldly.

Avery: “What do you want to say, say it quickly. Then leave. I have to go back to sleep.”

Elliot looked at Avery, “Someone told me that your boyfriend is short and ugly, so you can show me his picture. “

Avery was shocked by the words ‘short and ugly’.

Avery: “Who told you that my boyfriend is short and ugly?”

“I offered a reward of 100 million to find information about your boyfriend.

Naturally, someone told me.” Elliot didn’t mind that she knew this.

“A reward of 100 million?” Avery couldn’t help coughing, “You want to know, you just come and ask me!”

Elliot: “Didn’t I come to ask you?”

“You gave the 100 million?” Avery blinked and thought he was stupid!

Elliot: “Not yet. I have to check with you to see if the information I got is accurate.”

“Oh...” Avery breathed a sigh of relief and patted her chest, “You want to know my boyfriend’s information. What are you doing? Elliot, I haven’t inquired about your personal affairs, right? You are violating my privacy by doing this.”

“Last night, my daughter talked to me and cried very sadly.” Elliot saw her barbs all over his body, so he told the truth.

Avery didn’t expect him to mention this.

“I know. My daughter told me that you were hiding in the study and crying secretly.” Avery said this, lowered her eyes and dared not look at him, “Elliot, what are you trying to do? You embarrass me like this. ,I.....”

“Last night, the detective I commissioned called me and said that a human trafficking gang had been caught. With the gang caught, a corpse pit was exposed. In that corpse pit, there were many bones of young children. Detective tell me, our daughter Haze may have died in that corpse pit.”

Elliot explained the reason why he cried last night. Not what Layla thought.

The reason he didn’t explain it to Layla was because Layla had opened up to him because of a misunderstanding.

Chapter 1890

Avery listened to his explanation, and his psychological defense line collapsed suddenly.

“Where is that corpse pit?!” Avery choked up and stood up from the sofa.

Elliot also stood up. He walked up to her, pushed her body back onto the sofa and sat down.

“I’ve already sent someone to investigate.” Elliot sat down beside her and looked at her closely, “Avery, besides Haze’s affairs, I’m most worried about your affairs. I thought about it all night, Why does the boyfriend you’re looking for look like a shadow? Since the two of you are officially in a relationship, why don’t you bring him back to show us?”

“Elliot, are you my parent? I’m in a relationship, why should I bring my partner with you and come to show you?” Avery quickly adjusted her emotions and refuted him.

“Even if we are no longer family, we are still friends, right? Can’t we bring it back for friends to see?” Elliot retreated, “Even if we can’t bring the person back to see, show me his photo!”

“No.” Avery simply replied, “I don’t like taking pictures.”

Elliot: “Then is he dwarfism?”

“Elliot, this is someone else’s privacy. Why do you have to ask?” Avery took a deep breath, “When choosing a boyfriend, firstly, I don’t look at his looks, secondly, I don’t look at his body shape, and thirdly, I don’t look at whether the other party is disabled. As long as the other party is of sound mind and can be like me.”

Avery’s answer confirmed Elliot’s guess.

Billy is really as Norah Jones said!

“You’re doing it for his money, right?” Elliot’s eyes were scarlet, and he spoke viciously. “Otherwise I can’t understand why you are looking for such a man! I heard that he is not only ugly and physically disabled, but also has special hobbies. We after being together for so many years, why didn’t I know you had this hobby?!”

Avery: "..."

"Are you looking for money, or seeking excitement...or, to anger me?!" The anger emanating from Elliot's body enveloped her.

Avery stared directly at his sullen face, his aggressive voice echoed in her ears, and all reason disappeared.

"Elliot! It doesn't matter what kind of boyfriend I am looking for! If you are here to quarrel with me, then you go!" Avery ordered the expulsion, "I don't need anyone to tell me in my life!"

Avery words angered Elliot.

Elliot got up in anger and strode away.

After Elliot drove away, the bodyguard came back with a large bag of breakfast.

"Where's Mr. Foster?" The bodyguard put the breakfast on the coffee table and looked around, "Boss, where are the others?"

"Elliot is left." Avery's eyes fell on the breakfast.

Elliot can't eat so much for breakfast.

Elliot ordered so much, he should have ordered for Avery also.

"Oh... it's a pity. I bought so many... Boss, why don't you eat it? It's not spicy."

Otherwise, it won't taste good after a while."

Probably arguing with Elliot just now consumed too much energy, Avery was a little hungry now.

She picked up the pork noodles without hesitation and smelled it: "It's really fragrant."

The bodyguard: "Boss, did you quarrel with Elliot?"

Avery: "You guessed it?"

The bodyguard: "It's hard to guess, he originally planned to stay here for breakfast."

“Elliot’s going too far. I don’t know where Elliot heard the rumors that Billy is ugly, physically disabled, and has special hobbies. Who made this rumor, it’s too outrageous!” Avery said The more angry, the good thing is that the appetite has been opened, and it does not affect her eating breakfast.

“Oh... No wonder he came to you so early. The red blood in his eyes say Elliot must have not slept all night.” The bodyguard was eating Chaos and chatting with Avery, “However, this also shows that he still has something in his heart. If my exgirlfriend finds a b*stard now, I’ll die happy.”

Chapter 1891

Avery: “???”

Avery hurriedly finished breakfast, then went back to her room to sleep. But tossing and turning on the bed, she couldn’t close her eyes.

She thought that Mike told her yesterday that Norah Jones was going to see ‘Billy’, and she didn’t know what the specific situation was.

She picked up her phone and dialed Mike’s number.

“Mike, Norah Jones’s side, how did you arrange it? Didn’t she say she wanted to see Billy on her own initiative?” Avery asked suspiciously.

“Well, we have already arranged to meet each other. I think Norah Jones will have a nightmare tonight. Hahaha!” Mike laughed and couldn’t stop, “You don’t know how exciting it is! Do you want to watch the surveillance?”

Avery: “You even recorded Surveillance!”

“Of course, if Norah Jones is dishonest in the future, I will release the surveillance and discredit her.” Mike sneered, “Don’t forget that the Tate Industries is now in her hands.” Mike said.

“We gave up the Tate Industries voluntarily. No matter how the Tate Industries develops in the future, it has nothing to do with us.” Avery remembered that she told Elliot to stop meddling, and the Tate Industries is now Elliot’s, so she doesn’t

Will be busy.

Mike: "That's what I said. It's not bad for us to keep her handle. Don't worry, as long as she doesn't act like a demon, I won't release the video. Do you want to watch it? If you want to... .."

"No. I don't watch." Avery was afraid that her eyes would be hot, "You tell me directly what happened."

Avery: "I found a man with dwarfism..."

Dwarfism, as soon as the word came out, Avery's body was like an electric shock, and a numbness spread all over her limbs and bones!

Right! All right!

Elliot said that someone told him that her boyfriend was dwarfism, but Norah Jones was the one who didn't expect to tell him.

Elliot believed Norah Jones's words with confidence, otherwise he wouldn't have lost sleep all night and came to Avery so early.

Thinking of this, Avery took a deep breath.

"I asked that person to scare Norah Jones, but I didn't expect Norah Jones to be very courageous! Even if it's an old man with dwarfism, even if that person looks ugly, Norah Jones doesn't mind! This woman, in order to gain the upper hand, will do whatever she can. It's too awesome. That's it!" Mike spoke highly of Norah Jones.

Avery only met Norah Jones once.

Norah Jones gave her a very rational feeling.

So what Mike said did not surprise Avery.

"So I brought some pets such as lizards, pythons, mice, etc., and asked Norah Jones to serve these pets... She was quite afraid, but she still wanted to try to please Billy, and finally the python entangled it. She broke her body and scared her to wet her pants hahaha!" After Mike finished speaking, Avery's face became extremely gloomy.

Avery was once threatened with pythons by Elliot's subordinates. So she especially hates using this method to scare people!

Avery: "Mike, don't do this again!"

"Norah probably won't come here again." Mike heard her angry tone, so he restrained his smile, "She asked for it by herself. If she doesn't take the initiative to hook up.... .."

"I know. But don't treat people like this in the future!" Avery said, sitting up from the bed, "Has Hayden gone home?"

Mike: "Not yet! Do you have anything to do with him?"

Avery: "It's nothing. I'm just worried about his body."

"Oh, don't worry, I'll tell him. Avery, just wait for Hayden to surpass Elliot!" Mike was full of confidence, "By the way, after Elliot heard that you were in a relationship, Is there any reaction?"

Chapter 1892

"Thanks to you, Elliot now thinks I've found a boyfriend with dwarfism. He came to me early in the morning and had a fight, and he just left." Avery talked about this, and his anger came up again .

In addition to being angry with Elliot, he was also angry with Mike.

Mike was too assertive this time. If he continues to inflate like this, Elliot will definitely be able to find out the true identity of the dream maker's boss soon.

And Hayden wanted to wait for the Sterling Group, which completely surpassed Elliot, to reveal his identity to Elliot.

"No, it's none of his business what kind of boyfriend you're looking for. What's he excited about?" Mike laughed, "Norah Jones shouldn't use fake Billy's information to find Elliot for a reward of 100 million? Haha!”

“Mike, calm down in the future, and stop doing such messy things. Even if Norah Jones finds him again in the future, you can just ignore her.” Avery said, “I’m going back to Aryadelle this time to find a little girl. You have caused me so much trouble now, and my head hurts.”

Mike: “You will definitely be unable to avoid facing Elliot when you return to Aryadelle. If you have a headache, he will have an even more headache. If you don’t force him, how can he act? “

Avery: “His action is to fight with me as Chad fights with you every day. I don’t see if you will say such nasty things.”

“Can this be the same thing? The two of you have too many problems. It’s gone.”

Mike has his own theory, “I know you want to escape, but it’s shameful to escape. Elliot made it clear that he wants to continue the relationship with you but you seem hard-hearted, but you are actually soft-hearted. I urged him to act quickly. This is to add fuel to the fire for you. Of course, if he is not on the road, then you can pursue your own happiness as soon as possible.”

Avery sneered: “F*ck your heart! If we are not together, you will be able to spend your whole life in peace.”

Mike: “I didn’t bother you! I am doing it with my hands...”

Avery: “If you raise your hand again, be careful that I will chop off your hand.”

Mike: “...”

After talking on the phone, Avery lay on the bed, staring at the ceiling in a daze.

Elliot’s sullen expression and the words Elliot said appeared in her mind.

The bodyguard told her that most people don’t want their ex to be well. Hope your ex is doing well, either because you are doing better than your ex, or you still have thoughts about your ex.

The bodyguard believed that Elliot belonged to the latter.

However, what Elliot said was really irritating.

Besides, he believed Norah Jones's words so much, which made her panic.

When Elliot drove home, Mrs. Cooper immediately walked up to him: "Sir, why did you go out so early today? Have you had breakfast? It's just ready."

Elliot was full of Avery.

But seeing his son sitting in the children's dining chair and eating breakfast obediently, he felt unhappy and was immediately suppressed.

He walked up to his son, touched his head, and sat down in the dining chair.

Mrs. Cooper brought breakfast to him. Seeing that Elliot was not looking well, she asked, "You didn't rest last night, did you? Is it because Avery found a boyfriend?"

"Well." Elliot held up the milk glass, took a sip of milk, "I was told that Avery's boyfriend is not only ugly, but also dwarfism. I don't know why she is looking for such a boyfriend. If it was for money, then when she was with me, why didn't she ask me for money?"

Mrs. Cooper was shocked: "How could Avery find such a boyfriend? Impossible! It is absolutely impossible!"

"I went to question her just now, but she did not deny it." Elliot was questioning

Before Avery, she was in the same mood as Mrs. Cooper.

But facts speak louder than words.

Chapter 1893

"This... how can this be done. If you find a boyfriend like that, it's better to make up with you!" Mrs. Cooper accidentally said what was in her heart, "Avery's condition is so good, even if the other party is so good. No matter how rich she is, but her body and appearance are not suitable, that's not acceptable. Layla is so beautiful, how can she accept such a stepfather?"

Elliot: "What if she only falls in love and does not get married?"

"That's even more incredible. Since If Avery is only in love, why doesn't she find a handsome man?" Mrs. Cooper questioned, "Sir, there must be a secret here! You can't watch Avery jump into the fire pit!"

Elliot: "..."

Elliot is embarrassed to say that he was kicked out by Avery this morning. He wanted to save her from misfortune, but she didn't appreciate it.

At noon, Tammy returned Avery's pink car.

"Avery, when are you going to bring your boyfriend to meet us?" Tammy came here today for this question, "Did your boyfriend miss you these days when you returned to Aryadelle? I know he must be very busy. But no matter how busy he is, he can't forget hi girlfriend!"

Avery: "Tammy, this morning, Elliot came to me about this matter."

Tammy: "Ha? I thought I was active enough. I didn't expect Elliot to be earlier than me. Was he jealous and came to you to cry, hoping that you would change your mind and give him another chance?"

Avery: "..."

Tammy said and her brain circuit was simply insane.

It was not the first day that they both met Elliot. What kind of person is Elliot?

Does Tammy really have no idea?

Avery: "Norah Jones told him that my boyfriend was short, ugly and disabled, so he came and scolded me."

Tammy: "What's the matter with Norah Jones? Why is she slandering your boyfriend because she can't see you well? Does Elliot have water in his head? Why does he believe Norah Jones's words?"

Avery suddenly wanted to know about Tammy's attitude: "Tammy, what if Norah Jones's words are true?"

Tammy: "!!!"

Tammy quickly got up from the sofa, ran to find a water glass, took a glass of water and drank it, then she patted her chest, slowed and slowed, and finally rushed to Avery.

"Short, ugly, and disabled?" Tammy slapped Avery's face and asked loudly, "I don't agree. Even if the two of you are only in love and not married, that won't work!"

Avery pursed her lips, no say.

"Avery, what are you looking for for such a boyfriend? If you're lonely, you might as well find Elliot to fall in love. Anyway, it's just for use, not married!"

Avery: "...I'm not lonely. "

"Then you want your current boyfriend to be obedient?" Tammy wanted to understand what Avery was thinking, "Then why don't you get a dog. My aunt's Labrador, if you want to be more obedient, there will be Be more obedient! Not only obedient, but also good-looking! Do you want a dog? I'll give you one."

Avery: "...Tammy, thank you, I figured it out."

Tammy: "What have you figured out?"

Avery: "It's better to have a dog than to find a man. When I'm with Elliot, I have to see his face. If I have a dog, can the dog show me?"

Tammy laughed: "It depends on how you raise the dog. If you raise the dog too squeamishly, it will make you look like a dog."

Tammy walked over to Avery and sat down, urging: "Give me the photo of your boyfriend. Let me see how ugly he is."

Avery took a deep breath, picked up the phone, and opened the photo album

“Where is it!” Tammy looked at the screen of her mobile phone and dared not blink, “It’s all Hayden’s photos! By the way, Hayden is already so tall and handsome?”

Avery said, “Well. His height is almost catching up with me. He looks more and more like his father.”

Tammy: “Haha, I see it. But I think Hayden is more handsome than Elliot. He combines the advantages of Elliot and yours.”

“Hayden is quite handsome, but he lives alone and doesn’t interact with his classmates very much. I’m a little worried that he won’t have friends when he grows up. Although Elliot has a bad personality, But he has friends, and he has a good relationship with them.” Avery expressed her concerns.

Tammy: “It’s not a good thing to have many friends. After Hayden becomes famous, many people want to make friends with him. What kind of problem is this. I thought you were worried about him finding a wife in the future!”

“It’s too early to worry about this problem now.” Avery picked up the kettle and poured herself a glass of water, “Why didn’t you bring Kara here?”

Tammy said, “My mother took her to the kindergarten today. I want Kara to come with her. Robert has a kindergarten, so there is someone to take care of! But my mother thinks that Robert’s kindergarten is far away from our home. So I want to see more kindergartens.”

“Your mother’s worries are normal. Robert is working in middle school now. Now, Kara goes to a small class, even if they are in a kindergarten, they are not in the same class, why not let Kara go to a kindergarten close to home. This way, it is convenient to pick up and drop off, and the children can go to the school immediately if they have any problems.” Avery suggested.

“Well, my mother said the same thing. In the future, she will go to elementary school and let her share the same elementary school with Robert. Although they are not in the same class, but there is someone to take care of them, so I can rest assured.” Tammy is only such a daughter, so she can’t worry about her.

Avery understood Tammy’s mood.

“Hey, aren’t we talking about your boyfriend? How come you’re off topic!” Tammy took her mobile phone and flipped through many photos, but she didn’t see her so-called boyfriend.

Because her mobile phone was either pictures of flowers and plants, or pictures of Mike Hayden or herself.

There were no strangers at all.

“Didn’t you say you wanted to show me your boyfriend’s photo? Where’s your boyfriend?” Tammy asked.

“Where do I have a boyfriend?” Avery took the phone back. “That’s all you need to deceive other people. You believe it anyway.”

Tammy: “...”

Avery: “I’ve been studying for years, how can I have time to fall in love? As long as Elliot has a brain, he won’t be fooled by Mike’s words.”

“Hey...I don’t have a brain, because I believe it. What about Mike? That’s it. How could he deceive people, even Chad.” Tammy never imagined that everything was fake, “Why did Mike do this? Did he want to...”

“He wanted to be angry with Elliot.” Avery said.

“Oh! Hahaha! Mike...I really like him. He did something that I wanted to do but didn’t dare to do! What a great idea! It’s so great!” Tammy stood up and gave a thumbs up, “Avery, don’t worry, I promise not to tell your plan! Let Elliot feel uncomfortable hahaha!”

Avery: “This is Mike’s plan alone, it has nothing to do with me.”

“Since he thought about it. Let’s cooperate with this method. Let’s see what Elliot does in the future. You can just be a melon eater, watch the fun and eat melons.”

Tammy comforted her.

Tammy: “I’ll eat my own melon?”

Avery: “I don’t need you to do anything anyway. You can just wait and see. Do you want to go to Elliot and tell me that this is Mike’s prank? He’s still angry now.”

Avery was silent.

It’s true that Elliot is angry, and she is extremely restless right now. We’ll talk about this after a while.

In the afternoon, in a high-end community.

Gwen has an exterior scene to be filmed here. She and another model shoot a promotional ad for a lingerie company.

Another model in the cooperation is Coco, a well-known model from Aryadelle.

Brother Hendrix instructed Gwen in advance to let Gwen cooperate with Coco.

Because of this cooperation, Gwen will be able to rub off on Coco’s fame in Aryadelle.

Chapter 1895

Gwen rushed to the shooting scene after lunch. After making up and styling, She rested and waited in the simple rest shed. After a while, She heard someone talking on the phone outside.

“Coco is not feeling well? Why is she suddenly uncomfortable? Can she still come to shoot this afternoon? We didn’t shoot for long, at most two hours…”

Gwen came over an hour ago. I’ve been waiting here all the time.”

“No, I didn’t say that Coco is not dedicated to work. If Coco is really unwell, then of course I will not force Coco to work while sick. It’s just that we also have difficulties. Since we have made an appointment, it is not very good. There are so many staff here waiting.”

“Gwen…Gwen came back from abroad…she has won awards abroad. She has a good reputation abroad! Because our The underwear is going to be sold overseas, so I hired Gwen. I didn't sell someone's favor, I deliberately arranged an unknown model to cooperate with Coco."

...

Gwen listened to the staff's words. She already know what happened.

Coco disliked her not being well-known enough, and the coffee position was too low, so she was unwilling to cooperate with her.

But, in this case, why did Coco agree to this cooperation?

Signed the contract, took the deposit, can you push again?

At least Gwen would not do such a thing.

Gwen felt uncomfortable for a while, wondering if the shooting in the afternoon would go smoothly. It was hot and stuffy here, which accelerated the accumulation of negative emotions.

She turned on her phone, looking for someone to talk to.

Suddenly she saw the message Ben Schaffer sent her.

After the last quarrel, she has been ignoring Ben Schaffer.

But Ben Schaffer sends her several messages every day, asking her if she eats on time, whether her work is going well, and when she will rest...

She sometimes wants to reply to his messages, but she is reluctant to pampered and arrogant, wanted to test his patience.

Just when she was about to give Ben Schaffer a message, a staff member walked in and said, "Gwen, Coco will be here in about an hour. Let's take some solo shots for you first!"

Gwen immediately put down the phone and quickly went to work.

An hour and a half later, Coco was long overdue. But she has done her makeup and done her styling. The staff brought the clothes to be worn to her. She took over the clothes, but her eyes fell on Gwen.

“You are Gwen, right? I checked the competition you participated in abroad, but it was just a small competition. Just like that, you are too embarrassed to brag about your achievements abroad. It really is a big forest, and there are all kinds of cheeky birds. “

Gwen felt aggrieved in her heart, but did not dare to retort.

Because the competition she participated in abroad was indeed only a small competition. It was Hayden who spent money to hold a competition in order to promote her debut.

The staff member: “Sister Coco, although She’s not famous, The sponsor is still a bit famous. I heard that her sponsor is an executive of Sterling Group!”

Chapter 1896

Coco: “I hate this kind of incompetent relationship the most. It’s hateful to talk to each other and look contemptuous.”

Gwen’s cheeks flushed: “You can say that I have no strength, but you can’t say that I am a relationship. I don’t rely on my boyfriend.”

Coco: “Boyfriend? Isn’t it the gold owner?” he must be quite old, right? he must have a family, right? you are just a junior, and you talk like a real girlfriend!”

Gwen felt that her way of thinking was completely different from hers, even if she were theorizing, she would definitely The theory yields no results.

Besides, they were not familiar with each other, so Gwen didn’t need to fight her for life and death.

As long as the work is completed, there may be no chance to meet again in the future.

Gwen strode away and came to the location to be filmed later.

After a while, Coco changed her clothes and the shooting officially started.

Although Coco was dissatisfied with Gwen, she did not provoke trouble after she entered the working state.

Filming lasted about an hour.

After work, the person in charge of the filming invited Gwen and Coco to have dinner together.

Coco wanted to refuse, but Gwen took the lead and said, "I have something to do at night, so I won't go."

Coco glared at Gwen.

Who is this looking down on?

"Since Gwen won't go, then I'll try to participate in the dinner!" Coco said, and got into the commercial car with her assistant.

As soon as Coco left, the person in charge immediately pulled Gwen and persuaded: "Gwen, don't take Coco's words to heart. You can see that although she complained, she still completed the shooting with you very well. Our boss chose you, it's definitely not because of your relationship with President Schaffer, but because Coco doesn't know the inside story, that's why she misunderstand. I'll explain it to her when we eat later."

Gwen said, "The filming is over, you don't need to explain to her for me. I don't need to explain to her either."

"Yes, that is your personal business after all. Today's filming can be successfully completed, thank you for your hard work. You are here at noon, how could I be so embarrassed to let you go without inviting you to dinner?" The person in charge strongly retained it.

Gwen couldn't shirk, so she could only agree.

Dinner at a high-end restaurant in the city center.

After the group entered the private room, they took their seats in order according to their status.

Coco sat in the main seat, and the person in charge sat beside her.

Originally, the person in charge wanted Gwen to sit on his other side, but Gwen refused.

Gwen sat down on the side, asked the waiter for a pot of water, and then started drinking.

“Gwen, which executive of Sterling Group is your sponsor? I only know Elliot of Sterling Group.” Coco raised her noble eyelids and asked Gwen.

“Who is your sponsor?” Gwen was very angry, so she didn’t care about anything else, and asked Coco rhetorically.

Now there are ten or twenty people sitting in the private room, and when Coco asks her this kind of question in public, it is simply to embarrass her on purpose.

Cocoa’s face suddenly turned the color of pig liver.

Everyone also showed panic.

Anyone who has known Coco’s struggle history knows that Coco became popular by strength.

Coco is tall and has a unique temperament, and has won international awards. It’s just that she has a cold and arrogant personality, and if she doesn’t like it, she will be angry. But this does not affect her current influence in the modeling industry.

Chapter 1897

“Gwen! You are so ridiculous. Who is my sponsor? Who do you think my sponsor is?” Coco has never been questioned by anyone, so her mind turned around for a while, and she didn’t know how to reply.

“Who is your sponsor, how do I know? If you don’t ask me, how can I ask you? I’m not interested in you at all.” Gwen picked up the water glass and took a sip of water casually.

“Hehe, I’m not interested in you either, I’m just interested in your so-called boyfriend. Because I think you’re bragging and raising your own weight. Which serious executive can look up to you?” Coco rolling her eyes at her, “Do you know Elliot? I ate with him before, and people of that kind of status don’t look down on ordinary women at all!”

Gwen chastised her: “It’s not normal for Elliot to look down on you. What? People like Avery, so save it!”

“Hehehe! When did I say I like Elliot? Do you think that a man like Elliot is in the sky? I don’t care about him at all” Coco Spoke nonsense.

“Oh...” Gwen saw her blushing with excitement, and didn’t want to continue to expose her little thoughts.

“What are you? What are you?! I hate others in front of me the most.” Coco raised her eyebrows, furious, “Elliot, a stingy man, whoever marry him will lose eight lifetimes of blood mouth. Avery divorced him, not only did he not get any benefits, but he even got all his own property. This is the first time I have seen such a superb man. Whoever treats him as a treasure will kneel and lick him Come on! I really don’t care!”

Gwen did not expect that outsiders would misunderstand Elliot so much. Even if there are misunderstandings, they are still talking loudly in public.

“I don’t allow you to say that to him!” Gwen shouted angrily!

Everyone present was stunned.

Before Gwen got angry, her image in front of everyone was quiet and gentle.

Even when Coco belittled her face to face in the afternoon, she didn’t get angry.

Now Coco is talking about Elliot, but it makes Gwen fry.

“What are you yelling!” Coco clapped the table and stood up angrily, “Are you going to fight? I said Elliot, but I didn't say you, how excited are you? Or is it that your sponsor is actually Elliot?"

Gwen was so angry that her reason was gone, so he picked up the water glass in her hand and splashed it on Coco's face.

"You splash me? How dare you splash me! You're going to die!" Coco opened the chair and strode towards Gwen.

A dozen staff members saw that the two were about to fight, and immediately went to persuade them to fight.

The person in charge quickly slipped aside, found Ben Schaffer's number, and dialed it.

About half an hour later, Ben Schaffer came.

In the private room, the table was full of delicious food.

But no one moved the chopsticks.

The staff were divided into two groups, one group was holding Coco and the other group was holding Gwen to prevent them from fighting.

The person in charge persuaded Coco for a while, and persuaded Gwen for a while, so busy that her mouth was dry and her mouth was numb.

Seeing Ben Schaffer coming, the person in charge immediately pushed Ben Schaffer in front of Gwen.

"Mr. Schaffer, I really have nothing to do."

Ben Schaffer grabbed Gwen's wrist and looked at Coco coldly.

"You are Gwen's gold master?" Seeing Ben Schaffer, Coco's momentum decreased a bit.

Ben Schaffer has an extraordinary temperament, and the watch worn on the wrist is of great value. At a glance, everyone can see that Ben is either Wealthy or expensive.

"I know Gwen's temper. She usually doesn't quarrel with people, let alone fight with them. Tell me, how did you provoke Gwen?" Ben Schaffer's tone sounded negotiable, but his eyes were cold.

Coco was indignant: "I...I just talked about Elliot... Who would have known that she suddenly became so angry! She's sick!"

Ben: "Hehe, Elliot is her brother, who is she? Let you gossip in her face?"

Chapter 1898

In the private room, it was suddenly quiet. Silent!

Gwen didn't expect Ben Schaffer to say this.

Before everyone knew about it, everyone said that she took over the job by relying on her boyfriend.

After everyone knows that she is Elliot's sister, won't they say again that she relies on Elliot?

Obviously not so!

She will not rely on Ben Schaffer, let alone Elliot.

In anger, Gwen quickly left the private room.

Ben Schaffer wanted to teach Coco a lesson, but when he saw Gwen leaving, he immediately chased her out.

"Gwen is Elliot's younger sister?" Coco looked at the person in charge with a pained expression.

The person in charge frowned and looked surprised: "I don't know! All I know is that her boyfriend is President Schaffer. I never heard that Elliot has a sister.

Gwen's manager didn't tell us that she was Elliot's sister. Ah!"

"Should Ben Schaffer lie to us?" Coco felt guilty. She already had the answer in her heart, and there was no need for Ben Schaffer to lie to them.

"Ben is always the big celebrity next to Elliot. He doesn't have to lie to us about this kind of thing, right? Gwen may be Elliot's sister. The news didn't say that Elliot's biological father was a man named White... .. cloud or something..."

The person in charge guessed.

After he uttered the word 'cloud', everyone gasped.

Gwen is also surnamed White!

She and Elliot are indeed brother and sister.

"Coco, your attitude today is really detrimental to your image. And you talked about Elliot so much in the banquet just now. If Gwen goes back and complains to Elliot, then you are finished." The person in charge gave Coco a deep look, "You hurry up. Apologize to Gwen! Otherwise, if this matter gets too big, maybe the commercials we shot today won't be able to air."

Coco's face turned blue with fright.

It's not scary to offend Gwen, what's scary is that she said bad things about Elliot just now.

"Gwen has already left, where am I going to apologize to her?!" Coco has completely lost her appetite.

Coco took her bag and wanted to leave.

The person in charge: "You call Gwen...or her agent..."

Coco: "I don't have their number."

The person in charge: "I'll give you."

...

After Ben Schaffer chased Gwen, he pulled her into his car.

"Gwen, don't be angry. No one will dare to bully you in the future." Ben Schaffer helped her to the car and sat down.

Gwen glared at him angrily: "Who asked you to tell me about my relationship with Elliot? You're trying to make it difficult for me to work in the future, right?"

Ben: "Gwen, no matter where you work, it will be better if you have a backer.

When you were in Bridgedale, Hayden supported you, so your work was smoother. Now in Aryadelle, I don't want you to be wronged."

"Don't you mean that no matter where I work, it depends on relationships."

Gwen said and blamed him, but She felt that what Ben said is the truth, and She had no confidence to be angry.

"Do you think that Coco has nothing to do with it?" Ben Schaffer said, got into the driver's seat, and drove the car out, "Your brother and I will not bring you any substantial help, as long as you don't ask for help, Then your work is still up to you. You are not afraid of shadows, so you don't need to be angry about it."

"I'm annoyed listening to your babbling. When you're not talking, I find you more pleasing to the eye." Gwen glared at him again, "Where are you taking me?"

Ben: "You haven't eaten yet? Let's go to dinner."

Gwen: "I'm full of gas."

"Then I have to eat too. By the way, my parents plan to go back to Aryadelle for a while." Ben Schaffer gave her a careful look, "I told them before that we are in a relationship, so they want to see you."

Chapter 1899

Gwen's face turned red with a swish.

Gwen: "Didn't they return to Aryadelle yet?"

Ben: "They will arrive the day after tomorrow. I will discuss with you in advance, and you should not arrange work the day after tomorrow."

"Oh..." Gwen took out her phone and wanted to tell her manager.

As a result, the phone was turned on, and She saw a series of messages from her agent, Brother Hendrix:

[Are you Elliot's sister? ! You hide deep enough! Are you really here to experience life?]

[Gwen, I didn't scold you, did I? If there is, it is definitely not intentional. I am very optimistic about you, so I have high expectations for you.]

[Coco called me, crying and crying, saying that she wanted to apologize to you. when you see the message, give me a call back...and a message back...or you can call me back tomorrow.]

Gwen moved her finger on the screen: [I have something to do the day after tomorrow, so I need to ask for leave.]

Brother Hendrix: [No problem! So are you taking leave tomorrow? If you don't ask for leave tomorrow, then you can come to the company and we will have a good chat.]

Gwen: [Got it.]

Foster family.

Elliot made up a day's sleep at home.

When he woke up, it was completely sun set.

He came down from the upstairs, and the first floor was silent. He walked into the yard and asked the bodyguard, "Where are Mrs. Cooper and the child?"

The bodyguard replied, "There is an event at the nearby water park. Layla and Robert wanted to play in the water, so Mrs. Cooper took them there."

Elliot returned In the villa, looking at the empty house, his heart was infinitely desolate.

Thinking of the dispute with Avery at Avery's house this morning, his temples couldn't stop hurting.

Suddenly he wanted to drink.

Half an hour later, Chad came.

"Boss, I know you're in a bad mood, but drinking hurts your health. You'd better drink less." Chad was called by Elliot to accompany him.

Chad picked up the wine bottle and poured himself a glass of wine.

“Chad, I have promised Layla that I will bring Avery back. So I can’t give up.”

Elliot had already had two glasses of wine before Chad came over. So his face was already drunk.

“Boss, even if you don’t promise Layla, you won’t just give up, right?” Chad saw that his glass was empty, so he poured him a drink.

Chad: “Norah Jones told me that Avery’s boyfriend has a big problem...Norah Jones, just listen to it. If Billy really has a problem, do you think Avery would not know or would mind, Is it? Besides, the two of them are only in love, and they didn’t say they want to get married. Maybe they feel inappropriate for a while, and then they break up.”

“Chad, I think I should take action.” In Elliot’s deep eyes, a dark light flashed, “I asked her to bring her boyfriend back for me to see, but she won’t. She has been back to Aryadelle for a while, but that man hasn’t come back with her, since the two of them are not together here now, then I’ll take Avery away.”

Chad put down the glass and looked at the boss with a look of surprise, unable to guess what the boss’s plan was.

“How to take it away?” Chad choked his throat, “Forcibly kidnapped? Boss, if you do this, Avery will definitely be very angry! You should calm down and think of a solution when you are awake.”

Elliot looked Chad coldly: “You think I’m drunk? I’m not.”

Chad: “Oh...Usually drunk people say they’re not drunk.”

“Billy pretends to be a ghost and pretends to be mysterious. I want to see if I can force Avery to show up if I take him away.” Elliot’s eyes were cold and cold.

Chapter 1900

Chad thinks the boss’s idea is good.

But looking at the look of the boss, He always thinks he's going to screw things up.

Because Elliot looks like he's going to beat Avery or Billy. No matter who he beats, Avery will be angry.

"Boss, eat some food." Chad took the chopsticks and served Elliot with food,

"Why did n't you ask Brother Ben to come and have a drink?"

After drinking a cup just now, Chad was already dizzy.

Elliot: "He's with Gwen."

"Oh... have they made progress?" Chad asked with concern, "I asked him last time, and he said there was nothing he could do with Gwen!"

Elliot said: " Gwen gave up foreign work for him and returned to Aryadelle to develop. What can change between the two of them."

"Yes! Gwen has already expressed her attitude. I'm really happy for Brother Ben." After Chad finished speaking, he saw Elliot's gloomy face. His smile suddenly disappeared, "Boss, how are you going to take Avery away?"

"I have my own way." Elliot already had a mature plan in mind.

Chad: "Layla and Robert haven't started school yet. If you disregard Avery's wishes and take her away..."

"In your eyes, I am so clueless?" Of course Elliot would not force Avery to take her away. Whether it was before or now, he has never been so reckless to Avery.

Chad: "No boss...I think you seem to be drinking too much..."

Elliot: "I'm not drunk!" Elliot's eyes were full of anger, "Go away! I'm not drinking anymore."

With a look of guilt on his face, Chad picked up the glass and drank it all in one go.

“Boss, let me accompany you for a drink. Why is there no one at home? Where is the child?” Chad looked around.

Elliot: “They went out to play.”

“Why didn’t they take you there?” Chad felt that the boss was left at home alone, so pitiful. No wonder he was drinking at home alone, “Why is Layla still so ignorant?”

If Elliot was a little drunk just now, he is now awakened by Chad’s words.

“What do they take me to do when they go to the water park to play?” Chad said with an embarrassed ‘oh’: “When are you going to take action? Do you need my help?”

Elliot: “Help.”

Chad was even more embarrassed, “Boss, in fact, I really want you and Avery to be together. If I were a magician, I would definitely use all my red threads to tie the two of you together... .. No matter who comes, it can be solved.”

Elliot: “...”

After hearing Chad’s words, Elliot wanted to drink again.

An hour later, Mrs. Cooper took Layla and Robert home. As soon as she entered the living room, she smelled a faint smell of wine.

Layla rushes towards the dining room and sees Dad drinking and Uncle Chad lying on the table, seemingly asleep.

“Dad! What are you doing?” Layla walked over to Dad, staring at his blushing face, frowning, “What are you drinking for?”

Elliot didn’t actually drink much.

After opening a bottle of wine, Chad drank three glasses and poured it.

Elliot intends to finish the bottle of wine.

Because he made a phone call in the middle and answered another call, it took a little time.

Elliot racked his brains, thinking of a reason, "Uncle Chad came over to eat, so I'll accompany him to drink a little."

Layla's frowning brows stretched out: "That's it! Yes! What are you happy about? Uncle Chad is happily drinking."

Elliot: "Well. Your Uncle Chad is about to go on vacation."

Chapter 1901

"Oh...is he going to find Uncle Mike on vacation?" Layla's eyes lit up. Because she planned to take her brother to Bridgedale to find her brother.

If Uncle Chad also goes to Bridgedale, they can go to Bridgedale together.

"I didn't ask him." Elliot got up from the dining chair and held his daughter's hand, "Did you have fun playing in the water?"

Layla: "Robert is happier. I think it's too childish. Dad, I'm going to take a bath."

"Yeah." Elliot walked over to his son after seeing his daughter back to the room.

Robert became a drowning chicken. His dark eyes stared at his father, his mouth pouted, and he said in disgust, "Dad stinks."

This was the first time Elliot drank so much alcohol in his own home after Robert.

"Then you sleep with Grandma Cooper tonight. You should also go take a bath."

After Elliot finished speaking, Mrs. Cooper took Robert to take a bath.

Elliot returned to the dining room, Chad scratched his head, reached out and rubbed his face.

"Are you awake?" Elliot teased, "Your alcohol intake is getting worse and worse." Chad scratched his head: "I must be too sleepy. I didn't sleep well last night, and I didn't have a lunch break today."

"The driver will take you back." Elliot called the driver.

“Boss, is it possible that it’s not that my drinking has gotten worse, but that your drinking has gotten better?” Chad forced himself to regain his dignity, “I remember you used to drink two glasses...”

Elliot: “You used to be too. Do n’t drink three glasses and pour it.”

Chad: “I was really sleepy and fell asleep. If you don’t believe me, let’s keep drinking.”

“I’m sleepy. You go back.” After Elliot finished speaking, he went upstairs and went back to his room.

Chad was sent home by the driver. Because he slept on his stomach for an hour at Elliot’s house, Chad was very awake now.

Chad called Mike.

“My boss asked me to drink tonight. I poured it after three drinks. He even laughed at me for not drinking enough.” Chad was a little aggrieved, so he complained to Mike.

“When I go back next time, see if I can’t drink him.” Mike said, he couldn’t help but say, “You pour three glasses? It’s really getting more and more rubbish.”

Chad: “I was so sleepy that I fell asleep. I’m not drunk.”

Mike: “Oh, you’re so sleepy, you went to be a thief last night?”

“What are you a thief? I’m so busy right now. Isn’t it time to take a vacation? A lot of work has to be dealt with before the vacation!” Chad pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose, “My boss told me tonight that he wants to chase Avery back for Layla.”

“Did Elliot tell you how he plans to chase?” Mike asked.

“He was very defensive about me. He probably thought he told me, and I’ll tell you.” Chad was a little sentimental, “My boss was not like this before. He used to believe in me.”

Mike: "It's okay, you still have me."

Chad: "You can't be trusted! You listen to Avery's words the most, and you don't tell me a lot of things. I'm not human now!"

"Hey...you just get used to it." Mike really wanted to comfort him, but after thinking about it, it is better to make him stronger.

In a flash, two days passed.

Ben Schaffer's parents returned to Aryadelle. After Ben Schaffer picked up his parents at the airport, he took them to the restaurant he ordered.

Ben Schaffer called Elliot the night before and made an appointment with him to meet today.

As Gwen's brother, Elliot met with Ben Schaffer's parents on behalf of Gwen's elders.

In the restaurant, Gwen and Elliot were sitting at the table.

There are only the two of them in the private room now.

The awkward Gwen clasped her toes on the ground. If she knew it earlier, she would go to the airport with Ben Schaffer to pick up people.

Chapter 1902

"Didn't you say that your job comes first, so don't you think about getting married for the time being? Why did you suddenly figure it out?" Elliot asked after drinking a glass of water.

"It's just a meal together, don't think too much." Gwen replied.

"I've seen my parents, is it still a long way to get married?" Elliot said calmly, without any turbulence, "You'd better think clearly, whether to marry Ben Schaffer. It's too late to regret it now."

"Do you regret it after eating this meal today? Is it too late?" Gwen asked back.

"You can regret it anytime. You can get a divorce if you get married. It's just that I have a special relationship with Ben Schaffer, and I hope you are more careful.” Elliot clenched his fingers holding the water glass, “She really wants to be at this age. The marriage is settled...”

“How do you know that he won’t cheat after marriage?” Gwen retorted him, “Just because you have a good relationship with Ben Schaffer, you think Ben Schaffer is fine with everything. “

“Because I have a good relationship with him, he will look at me for my sake and will never treat you badly.” Elliot, sitting here today as Gwen’s relative, felt that there were some things that he needed to remind her.

“Do you want me to thank you?” Gwen dismissed, “Even if he treats me badly in the future, I won’t cry and beg him to treat me well. I won’t give up my job, I will support myself. From your failed marriage with Avery, I know that men are unreliable.”

Elliot said, “Gwen! I’m your brother, if you think Avery treats you better, you can ask Avery to be your elder!”

“Avery has always treated me better than you.” Gwen was frightened by his roar, but she held back her fear and talked back to him, “Avery never yells at me, and never dislikes me. What about you? Before I had this decent job, you didn’t want to recognize your sister at all. Now that I can support myself and find a boyfriend, you finally appeared in front of me as a brother!”

Elliot listened to her accusation, his heart was cold.

It’s true that Elliot didn’t greet Gwen like Avery did, but he definitely didn’t despise her as she said.

The private room door was suddenly pushed open, and Ben Schaffer walked in with his parents.

Ben Schaffer saw the faces of Gwen and Elliot at a glance, and immediately said with a smile: "There is a traffic jam on the road, so I came a little late. Are you hungry?" Turning his head, he said to the waiter, "Serve the food."

After that, Ben arranged for his parents to be seated.

Before Ben sat down, Gwen immediately walked to the seat next to him and sat down.

Ben Schaffer was very happy that Gwen took the initiative to come to him, but! Gwen didn't show respect to Elliot, which made Ben Schaffer very embarrassed. Now, Ben Schaffer, along with Ben Schaffer's parents and Gwen, are sitting next to each other, while Elliot is sitting alone on the other side.

This scene didn't look like they came to eat, but like the four of them came to interrogate Elliot.

"Gwen, did you quarrel with your brother?" Ben Schaffer asked Gwen in a low voice.

Gwen pretended to be casual and said, "He told me not to marry you."

Ben Schaffer and his parents, all were stunned.

"This, this is impossible, hahaha!" Ben Schaffer used laughter to hide his panic. He regarded Elliot as his own brother, how could his own brother stab him in the back?

"I just let her think clearly, don't make a decision in a hot head, and go back on it after a while." Elliot explained under the watchful eyes of Ben Schaffer and Ben Schaffer's parents.

Ben Schaffer breathed a sigh of relief: "I knew you would definitely not stop me from being with Gwen."

"Who doesn't get married by impulsiveness? The more you make me think about it, the easier it is for me to go back on it." Gwen answered.

"Uh...Gwen, what you said makes sense." Juniper said with a smile, "but even if you agreed to marry Ben Schaffer because you were too hot-headed, I think it's fine. Anyway, you should get married first. Now, have a child, if you don't like each other and get a divorce in the future, it's fine... We will definitely set you free."

Chapter 1903

Juniper's attitude was clear, she just wants them to have a child for the Schaffer family.

Elliot's face suddenly turned gloomy.

Ben Schaffer glared at his mother.

Juniper immediately added: "Of course, what I just said was the worst outcome. Of course, I hope that Gwen and Ben Schaffer can grow old together and love each other forever. Ben Schaffer, if Gwen promises to marry you, you must be nice to Gwen. If you dare If you bully Gwen, if you don't need Elliot to come forward, I and your dad will break your leg first"

"I know." After Ben Schaffer agreed, he looked at Gwen, "Gwen, I know we are together, I am the one who climbed high. After we get married, I will treat you more well. The reason why I called Elliot here today is to let him testify. If I treat you badly and make you wronged in the future, punish me how you want to punish me."

A blush appeared on Gwen's face.

This old man, when it comes to love words, one set after another, her heart is full of fawns, and her heart is full of joy.

The unhappiness when quarreling with Elliot was instantly cured.

Seeing her shyness, Ben Schaffer immediately took out the prepared diamond engagement ring and handed it to her. At the same time, Ben knelt down on one knee: "Gwen, marry me!"

Gwen looked at the diamond ring in front of her, her pierced eyes dazzled.

Such a big diamond ring is enough to witness Ben Schaffer's sincerity.

When she said that she was hot-headed, she was actually very clear-headed, but now, her head is starting to heat up.

Which woman can resist such temptation?

After a brief struggle, Gwen said the word, "Okay."

Ben Schaffer immediately took out the diamond ring and put it on Gwen's middle finger.

"Do you like the ring? I asked a female colleague from our department to help you choose it. I don't think you like the style. We will choose the wedding ring by ourselves." Ben Schaffer sat down in the chair and whispered to Gwen.

Gwen: "Oh...I think this kind of ring with no style is more attractive."

Ben: "As long as you like it."

...

After lunch, Elliot drove away. Just now, he witnessed Ben Schaffer and Gwen madly throwing dog food, and it was a lie to say that there was no fluctuation in their hearts.

He just remembered his sweet past with Avery more than once. When they are good, they are sweeter than Ben Schaffer and Gwen.

Starry River Villa.

After Avery finished lunch, she sorted out the fresh cut flowers from the garden and put them in a bottle.

The phone screen lit up, she took off her gloves, picked up her phone, and saw the photo sent by Gwen.

In the photo, Gwen wears a sparkling diamond ring on her finger, which is very eye-catching.

Avery immediately replied: [Ben Schaffer proposed to you?]

Gwen: [Hmm. He said today that the relatives of both parties would meet for a meal. I thought it was really just a meal, but he proposed to me.]

Avery: [Congratulations! The diamond ring is beautiful!]

Gwen: [I quarreled with Elliot today. He made me think hard so that I wouldn't regret it. His words stimulated me, so I agreed to Ben Schaffer's proposal.]

Chapter 1904

Avery couldn't help laughing: [Even if he didn't irritate you, you should agree to Ben Schaffer's proposal!]

Gwen: [Maybe not so fast. I really enjoy being pursued by him. What if he's less attentive after I promised to marry him?]

Avery: [Hahahaha...]

Gwen: [Avery, you laughed so hard that I was flustered.]

Avery: [Life certainly cannot be full of passion every day. In fact, ordinary days are the safest and best. Otherwise, if you think about the many quarrels after marriage, isn't it more scary?]

Gwen: [This is true. I just hope that after marrying him, I can continue to work. Otherwise, if I stay at home every day, I will definitely be cranky, and I will have to fight if I have nothing to do.]

Avery: [Enjoy the joy now, don't think so much.]

Gwen: [Hmm!]

...

Elliot planned to drive to Avery's house, but on the way, he received a call from Norah Jones.

He put on a bluetooth headset and answered the phone.

"Elliot, I heard that Avery is with the dream maker boss. Is this true?" Norah Jones asked.

Elliot: "Why are you asking this?"

Norah Jones hesitated, then said, "The friend I told you last time was actually a friend from nothing."

Elliot frowned, "Norah Jones, do you know what you're talking about? "

"Of course I know. Where are you now? Let's meet and talk about it!" Norah Jones knew that she was funny, like a clown, but even if she didn't say it, this matter might be used as a trick in the future.

That being the case, it is better to be honest.

Elliot turned the car around at the intersection ahead and headed for the Tate Industries.

Norah Jones was standing at the door of Tate Industries Building.

Elliot's car stopped in front of her. She walked to the passenger seat, opened the door, and got in the car.

"Take me a cup of coffee!" Norah Jones said lightly.

"When did you come back?" Elliot drove the car out.

"I came back yesterday." Norah Jones said, "Because of my meeting with B"illy, I was quite frightened, so I came back. I guess I won't want to go to Bridgedale any time soon.

"Has he disappeared? Why did you meet him?" Elliot wanted to know what method Norah had used.

"I'll show you the emails between me and him later." Norah Jones laughed at herself, "I asked a few friends from investment banks, and they spoke highly of the Dream Makers Group. I didn't want to give up, so I used Some selfrighteous little things. Looking back now, I was really stupid. Maybe Billy was too stupid, so he asked me to meet."

Elliot drove the car to a nearby coffee shop and stopped.

The two entered the coffee shop, and after ordering two cups of coffee, Norah Jones opened the mailbox and handed it to Elliot.

“Elliot, don’t laugh at me.” Norah said awkwardly.

Elliot took her phone and glanced at the emails between Norah and Billy.

Soon, he returned her cell phone to Norah.

He didn’t look carefully at the first long email Norah Jones sent Billy.

He didn’t care about the process of Norah Jones’s ‘seducing’ Billy, he just wanted to confirm whether Billy’s mailbox was real.

“Dwarfism, looks ugly, is it true?” Elliot said in a low voice, “Is there no merit in him?”

Norah Jones: “His merit is probably his business acumen. Besides that, he is really bad. I have never seen a man uglier than him. Elliot, if a person does not willing to show his true face, in fact, it is easy to guess that he must be ugly and defective, other than that, there is no other reason.”

Elliot’s face became gloomy.

“So I went back to Aryadelle, and when I heard that Avery was in love with him, I was shocked and didn’t close my eyes all night.” Norah Jones continued.

“What kind of boyfriend Avery is looking for is none of your business?” Elliot said rudely.

Chapter 1905

“I don’t care what kind of man Avery is looking for. But I’m worried about you.”

Norah Jones said bluntly, “because I told you about Billy. If I didn’t tell you, don’t worry so much. You will suffer because of it.”

“Isn’t it just ugly and short in stature?” Elliot pretended to be calm, “I won’t suffer because of it.”

“It’s not the most important thing. The important thing is that Billy is a pervert.”

Norah Jones’s face was suddenly in pain, “A person like him who has the ability but is disabled can easily become mentally abnormal. He has a lot of messy and terrible pets. Such as snakes, lizards, mice, spiders... When I think about it now, my scalp is numb... He told me that if I want to be with him, I have to get used to his pets.”

Elliot: “...”

“Probably Avery studied medicine, so she’s not very afraid of these terrifying animals... But I think he’s perverted, definitely more than that.” Norah Jones continued, “I really don’t know what Avery’s taste is and find such a man to fall in love with.”

Elliot clenched his fists, unable to continue listening.

He stood up abruptly: “Avery doesn’t necessarily know about his perverted behavior! You don’t need to confuse them! Avery hasn’t married him yet!”

He settled down and strode out of the cafe.

Starry River Villa.

After Avery sent a message to Gwen, her right eyelid twitched from time to time. She tossed and turned in bed and couldn’t sleep, so she got out of bed, went to the window, and pulled the curtains back.

The sky outside the window did not know when it changed.

The sun was still shining brightly at noon, but now it was overcast.

Layla called her last night and said she could finish her summer homework in a day at most. She decides to take Robert and go to Bridgedale to find Hayden for reunion. She didn’t tell Elliot about the plan. She keeps it a secret too.

Avery could imagine that if Elliot found out that she had smuggled two children to Bridgedale, he would definitely blame her.

She was very confused, should she tell Elliot now?

Think what comes.

When the sky started to rain, a black Rolls Royce appeared in front of her yard.

She came downstairs immediately. Her cell phone rang at the time. but she didn't care. She walked directly to the door, took an umbrella, and strode into the rain.

Now that Elliot's here, she thinks it might be God's will.

She walked quickly to the gate of the courtyard and opened it.

She tried to raise the umbrella in her hand and hold an umbrella for Elliot.

Seeing her clumsy appearance, Elliot took the umbrella in her hand without hesitation.

"I have something to tell you." Avery followed Elliot step by step, speaking to him through the rhythmic voice of raindrops.

"I have something to tell you, too." Elliot slowed down, afraid that Avery wouldn't be able to keep up.

"Oh... let me speak first!" Avery was afraid that if Elliot spoke first, they would quarrel. If there was a fight, she might forget what she had to say.

Elliot: "Let's talk after entering the house."

The rain was getting heavier and heavier. When they entered the house, their shoes were wet.

Avery was the first to change into a pair of shoes.

"I plan to take Layla and Robert to Bridgedale to play for a few days in two days." Avery looked at the back of his head and told the story.

Elliot changed his shoes, turned around, and said without a trace of emotion:

"No."

Chapter 1906

Elliot's refusal was so neat, making her furious.

He shouldn't have held an umbrella for him just now, and let him drown in soup.

Don't even open the door for him! Let him return without success, and she will not be angry with him.

But now that he has been put in, regret is useless.

However, how could Avery suffer this kind of grievance in vain?

“I didn’t want to quarrel with you until I notified you in advance. If you said no, I’ll take the child to Bridgedale too!” Avery said to Elliot, “This is Layla’s plan. If you don’t want the relationship with your daughter to deteriorate completely, You’d better leave us alone.”

Elliot saw her blushing with anger, turned around and walked towards the living room without answering her.

“It’s useless for you to escape.” Avery followed him, “I have the right to visit, I can take the child to play anywhere, as long as I finally send the child back to your home...”

“You don’t care how small Are you ready?” Elliot sat down on the sofa and looked at her at leisure, “Pour me a glass of water. I’m thirsty.”

Avery: “???”

Pour water?

Haze?

“What happened to Haze? How’s the corpse pit investigation?” Avery walked to him to inquire.

“I’m thirsty.” Elliot looked at her anxious face, and his tone was calm.

“Drink your own water when you’re thirsty!” Avery couldn’t stand her uncle’s attitude. “You don’t know where to put my water glass, or where is my kettle? Are you really treating yourself as a guest?”

“I’m not the guest, am I the master?” Elliot said, getting up, “since you think I’m the master, then I’ll drink water myself.”

Avery was defeated by him! Push him back on the sofa immediately!

“You should still be a guest!”

Avery was reluctant and went to pour water for Elliot.

Soon, Avery brought a glass of water to Elliot.

“Elliot, don’t go around in circles with me. What happened to Haze?” Avery asked worriedly, “Could it be that Haze is really in that corpse pit?”

Elliot held up the water glass and drank water slowly.

“Looking at how calm you are, you probably aren’t. If you aren’t, what are you going to say?” Avery had the urge to open his mouth and give him water.

Seeing that Avery was patient, Elliot put down the water glass.

“Don’t you want to go to that corpse pit?” Elliot explained his intention. “I heard that the situation there is very complicated. I’m afraid that the local medical staff are not skilled enough to transfer the bones out.”

Avery listened to Elliot. When Elliot said that, she sat upright and asked, “Where is the corpse pit?”

Elliot said, “Yonroeville. That corpse pit was used by the criminal gang who kidnapped and sold Haze to hide the corpse. It’s only been exposed until now.

I’m going to go there for a visit. Do you want to come with me?”

“Yes.” Avery didn’t hesitate to think, her voice was a little choked, “When are you going to leave?”

“Tonight.” Elliot replied, “You have figured it out. If it passes, definitely you have to stay there for a while. You can’t take your two children to Bridgedale.”

Avery understood why Elliot said no at first Because Elliot was sure that Avery would go to Yonroeville with him to see the corpse pit.

“Elliot, can you stop going around in circles with me in the future? If you said you were going to see that corpse pit from the beginning, could I scold you just now?” Avery’s cheeks were slightly hot.

“In the beginning, I said I had something to tell you, and you told me to tell you first.” Elliot corrected.

Avery was stunned for a moment.

Chapter 1907

“You go to Yonroeville with me, do you want to ask your boyfriend’s opinion first?” Elliot tentatively asked.

Avery: “Why should I ask others’ opinions about my affairs? Not to mention that he is just my boyfriend now. Even if he is my husband in the future, he has no right to interfere in my affairs.”

Elliot gritted his teeth.

Avery’s words just now revealed two meanings.

She and Billy, it’s true.

Second, Billy had no control over her.

So Avery should not suffer from her relationship with Billy.

“If that’s the case, then pack your luggage! If you don’t tell your boyfriend, should you tell Layla?” Elliot reminded.

“What should I do to prepare, I know in my mind. Take care of yourself.” Avery said here, and glanced at the rain outside the window, “The rain is getting heavier and heavier. Is it possible to cancel the flight tonight?”

Elliot turned on his phone and looked at the weather: “The rain will stop at 7 o’clock tonight.”

“Oh...are you going? You can take the umbrella outside the door.” Avery was going to pack up. So there is no time to entertain him.

Elliot: “It’s raining so hard, are you sure you’re going to drive me away?”

“I kindly borrowed your umbrella, and you said I’d drive you away... Just stay here if you like, I don’t care about you.” Avery strode back to the room.

Elliot didn’t follow. But he didn’t leave either.

He called Mrs. Cooper, asked Mrs. Cooper to help him pack his luggage, and asked the driver to bring it to Avery's house.

By the way, he told Mrs. Cooper that he was going to Yonroeville.

Mrs. Cooper was very happy: "Sir, if you go with Avery, then you must seize this opportunity. No matter whether Haze can get it back, you can't quarrel with Avery again. Although Avery has a good temper, she also likes to hear good things from others, so don't always say things she doesn't like."

"Do you think she has a good temper?" Elliot whispered.

Mrs. Cooper: "Yes, she has the best temperament among the women I've ever met."

"Isn't it Shea who has the best temper?" At least in Elliot's heart, Shea was the most obedient.

Mrs. Cooper smiled and said, "When Shea is stubborn, she can't be reasonable, but Avery is different..."

"Why do I feel that Avery is often unreasonable in front of me?" Elliot said.

"It is unreasonable for two people to fall in love. Otherwise, if she is unreasonable in front of you, can't you let her go?" Mrs. Cooper replied.

Elliot: "Tell Layla and Robert about my going out. I'll tell them later."

Mrs. Cooper: "Okay."

In the bedroom, Avery sat by the bed and called her daughter.

"Layla, I don't know when I can come back, so I may not be able to take you and Robert to find Hayden." Avery apologized.

"I can ask Uncle Chad to take us there. Uncle Chad will find Uncle Mike in a few days. What is he doing? Didn't he want to go to Yonroeville with you? When he goes to Yonroeville, he won't care about me and my brother." When Layla said this, the conversation changed, "Mom, are you going to go with dad? "

Avery was startled: "Well. Baby, what's the matter?"

“I’m curious...you two go together and stay in a hotel, will you two live in one room or two? Do you eat together every day? Then do you have to talk a lot every day...” Layla is more concerned about whether the two of them will reconcile, so she thinks a bit too much.

Avery couldn’t help blushing.

Chapter 1908

“Layla, your father and I are not enemies.” Avery said awkwardly.

Layla: “You mean you two are still good friends?”

“Of course not...” Avery didn’t know how to explain to her daughter, “I have no problem talking to him, but it’s impossible to sleep together, understand?”

“Understood.” Layla felt a little regretful, “Hey, Mom, then you have to protect yourself. You don’t want to sleep with him, what if he wants to sleep with you? “

Avery: “...”

After talking on the phone with her daughter, Avery quietly walked from the master bedroom, came out and planned to see what Elliot was doing in the living room.

Her daughter’s words made her feel uneasy, and she always felt that Elliot would do something secretly behind her back.

Who knows, when her head came out, Elliot looked at her.

His eyes seemed to grow on her head.

“Did you call your daughter?” Elliot saw her sneaky look just now, but didn’t reveal it.

Avery: “Well, have you told your daughter?”

Elliot: “Not yet. Since you said it, I won’t say it.”

“I said her, and you have to say her too!” Avery frowned, “It’s you and I’m me. If you need me to take care of your child’s responsibilities, then give me the custody of the child!”

Elliot: "..."

Under Avery's gaze, Elliot gave Layla the call up.

"Dad, you don't need to say it, my mother told me." Layla answered the phone and immediately said, "You have to take good care of my mother. If my mother is wronged or injured outside, I will not help you chase my mother."

Elliot: "Well. Dad knows. You and Robert stay at home obediently. If you want to take your brother to Bridgedale to visit Hayden, remember to bring bodyguards with you."

Layla didn't expect Dad to know what's on her mind.

She never told her father that she would take her brother to Bridgedale to visit Hayden.

Layla: "Oh... Of course I will bring bodyguards. Otherwise, I won't be able to bring my brother!"

"When you have any action, you must tell Dad as soon as possible. As long as it is a reasonable request, Dad will not be angry. I won't blame you." Elliot confessed lovingly.

Layla's face blushed: "I see."

Avery stood by to watch Elliot finish talking on the phone, and couldn't help teasing: "What a good father. Gentle and reasonable, kind and unrestrained... I only just today It turns out that you have two faces!"

Elliot: "You have two faces to the child and to me."

"That's because you are worthy." Avery followed his words and chastised him, "No wonder Layla and Robert like you. If you want to buy someone's heart, you can let go of your self-esteem and be good to anyone."

Elliot: "They are my children, and I am good to them, so you don't need to let go of your self-esteem."

“Okay, your mouth is on your face, you say What is what.” Avery turned around and planned to go back to her room to pack her luggage.

“What do you want to eat at night?” Elliot looked at her back and asked, “I won’t go back. The driver will bring my luggage in a while. Let’s have takeout tonight.” Avery thought about going with him out together, it’s better not to make trouble with him, so she responded: “I’m not picky eaters, I can do anything.”

“Okay. Go and clean up! Don’t worry about me.” Elliot could feel that Avery was here and she Seems a little uneasy.

But Elliot still didn’t want to go.

After Avery went back to her room, he walked to the window and watched the pouring rain outside.

Heavy rain made the sky dark. The dense rain formed a line, casting a layer of mystery on the distant scenery.

After a while, the driver brought his luggage.

Avery also packed her luggage.

“The ticket at 7 o’clock will get the airport at 6 o’clock. It’s raining heavily today, and the road conditions must be bad. We have to go out early.” Avery glanced at the time, it was almost five o’clock.

Chapter 1909

“I ordered takeout. It’s almost here.” Elliot glanced at the phone screen.

“When the takeaway arrives, take it to the airport to eat!” Avery was afraid that the time would be too late.

Elliot: “Actually, we don’t need to be in such a hurry. We can change the booking.”

“As long as the flight is not cancelled, then it will not be changed.” Avery couldn’t wait to go to Yonroeville, “Elliot, I need a result. It doesn’t matter whether Haze is alive or dead. I want to know the result as soon as possible.”

Elliot: “Me too.”

After a while, the takeaway was delivered.

The bodyguards loaded their suitcases into the car, and they got into the car right after.

The two sat in the back seat, and in the cramped space, the atmosphere was particularly awkward.

“You don’t have bodyguards?” Avery asked.

Elliot: “My bodyguard is already at the airport.”

“Oh, I thought you didn’t bring a bodyguard!” Avery said.

Elliot: “If you don’t want me to bring a bodyguard, then I won’t bring it.”

“Why do you always like to think differently? You can guess ten meanings of a word I casually say while looking for a topic.” Avery teased.

Elliot closed his mouth immediately.

“Did you go to meet Ben Schaffer’s parents at noon?” Avery thought of the diamond ring from Gwen, “How was the talk?”

“To be precise, I just went to have a meal.” Elliot narrowed his eyes, said lazily,

“Their affairs are their own decisions. Gwen is not a three-year-old child, and I don’t need to care about her affairs at all.”

Avery: “You are her brother after all.”

Elliot: “If I wasn’t her brother, you think I would go to this dinner?”

“Did they say when they would get married?” Avery asked curiously, “And the details of the wedding, etc., have you talked about it?”

“No.” Elliot simply replied, “I have been eating, and I didn’t hear what they were talking about. What do you say?”

Avery: “You don’t care about Gwen’s marriage at all.”

“The two of them are in a free relationship, what do you want me to care about?” Elliot said calmly, “I want to care too, but she doesn’t appreciate it.”

Avery said nothing.

Elliot was afraid that Avery would misunderstand that as Gwen’s brother, he really didn’t care, so he said, “I plan to give her a sum of money as a dowry when she gets married.”

Avery: “Oh...”

Elliot: “I’m afraid Others look down on her.”

Elliot’s cheeks were a little hot. He wasn’t going to talk about this. He doesn’t even plan to discuss it with Gwen. But he didn’t want Avery to misunderstand him again.

“Actually, I won’t say anything if you give money to Gwen or not. You don’t have to be so nervous.” Avery saw his blushing and became uncomfortable, “Also, Gwen probably won’t ask for your money. Her income is not low.”

“How she earns has nothing to do with me. She is my sister, and I just do my part. Whether she will live well or bad, it will depend on her own destiny.”

Avery: “Well.”

After arriving at the airport, the bodyguards took their luggage to check in.

Elliot and Avery are having dinner in the VIP lounge.

“Didn’t you say you’ve been eating at noon? I thought you wouldn’t be able to eat dinner. Are you having such a good appetite now?” Avery teased him.

“I’ve been eating it at noon, but it tastes like jue wax. Now I really have a good appetite.” Elliot didn’t blush or pant, looked her in the eyes, and replied, “Your boyfriend knows that we are going to Yonroeville together, are you really all right?”

“Are you afraid that he will beat you?” Avery asked back, “If you are afraid, you can choose to stay away from me.”

Chapter 1910

Elliot: “I’m not afraid. I’m afraid that you’re afraid.”

“Why should I be afraid? Did I have an improper relationship with you? or are you going to be with me? Is there something that will make me afraid?” Avery blinked her apricot eyes.

Elliot’s face swish, and a layer of blush was covered.

“You mention my boyfriend from time to time because you’re afraid I’ll forget him?” Avery was full, put down her chopsticks, and wiped her mouth with a tissue. “Aging has not made you mature.”

Elliot: “Avery, you say I’m naive, what about you?”

Avery: “No matter how naive I am, I’m still a little more mature than you. I didn’t openly or secretly inquire about your privacy.”

“It doesn’t matter whether I’m naive or not, it just means that you don’t love me that much.” Elliot corrected her.

Avery picked up the water bottle, twisted it open, took a sip of water, and moistened her throat: “How old are you, and you still talk about love, don’t you feel ashamed?”

Elliot: “How old is the right to pursue love.”

Elliot wanted to say something to yell at her, but he didn’t say it.

Indeed, no matter how old people are, they have the right to pursue love.

.....

The next day. At half past eight in the morning.

Layla was still asleep. She usually doesn’t sleep so late. The reason why she couldn’t wake up this morning was because she stayed up late last night to do her homework.

The phone rang, but Layla didn't hear anything at all.

When Robert heard the bell, he ran into the room.

Standing beside the bed, he saw his sister sleeping soundly, so he stretched out his short hand, picked up his sister's mobile phone on the bedside table, and answered the phone.

"Hey~" Robert said to the phone, imitating the appearance of an adult.

The person over the phone was stunned for a moment: "Are you Layla?"

Robert listened to the nice female voice over the phone and moved her mouth,

"I'm her brother, Robert. My sister is still sleeping! "

"Oh...you're Layla's younger brother?"

"Yes! Who are you?" Robert asked.

"Hello, kid, I'm the head teacher of Layla's new semester. I called your father, but I couldn't get through. I got your sister's number from another student, so I called." The teacher explained in detail, "I'm visiting your house today."

Robert didn't understand what the teacher said.

Robert was stunned for a while, and then said cutely: "Oh...oh...I woke up my sister...Can you tell my sister?"

The teacher couldn't help laughing: "Since you Sister is still sleeping, then let her sleep! Robert, are there any adults in your family?"

Robert: "Yes! Except for me, all are adults!"

"Then give your phone to a adult, and I'll come with you." The teacher said embarrassedly, "I'm lost, I don't know how to get to your house."

There are single-family villas here, and each villa is far apart.

At a glance, there are green plants and flowers.

Although the environment is good, the people walking are very confused.

Robert heard that her sister's teacher had lost her way, so he immediately said eloquently, "Teacher, I'll pick you up!"

Not long after, Robert rode his scooter and followed the bodyguard to pick up her sister's new head teacher.

About ten minutes later, the two were in a pavilion and received the female teacher.

When the female teacher saw Robert riding a scooter, she immediately smiled kindly: "Little boy, thank you for coming to pick me up!"

Robert smiled shyly, "Teacher, come with me, I'll take you to our house."

Chapter 1911

After finishing speaking, Robert rode a scooter and slipped out.

The female teacher came down from the gazebo and limped.

"Are you lame?" Seeing the female teacher walking like this, The bodyguard asked curiously.

The female teacher had never seen anyone speak so flatly, so she was shocked.

Concerned that he is the bodyguard of the Foster family, the teacher did not dare to attack.

The teacher: "I just accidentally slashed my foot, but I'm not lame."

"Really dedicated. You still have to go to work with your slashed foot." The bodyguard sighed in a low voice.

The female teacher didn't know whether to laugh or cry: "You misunderstood. I came here this morning with a swollen foot."

"Oh..." After learning about the situation, the bodyguard grabbed the female teacher's arm and put it on his shoulders, and pulled her. The weight of her entire body rests on the bodyguard.

The female teacher was at a loss, panicked, and was speechless. She opened her mouth wide in shock, but was speechless.

Her feet are injured now, and it hurts to walk, but before the bodyguard helps her, why not ask her if she wants to help?

Doesn't he understand that men and women are not kissing?

"Why are you looking at me like this? Aren't you a teacher? Why don't you know how to be polite?" The bodyguard glared at the teacher, "The last person who stared at me like that has already been beaten by me."

The female teacher was so frightened that she shivered. Immediately looked away.

"I, I'll go by myself... I don't need your help..." The female teacher couldn't stand the dark and rough aura emanating from the bodyguard.

The bodyguard saw that she didn't know what to do, so he let go of her quickly.

Robert, who was running far away on a scooter, suddenly stopped and turned to look back at them.

"Hurry up! Why are you so slow..." Robert pouted and urged.

The little guy can't wait to go home to see if his sister wakes up.

The bodyguard listened to the urging of the little ancestor, and without thinking, picked up the teacher by the waist, and strode ahead to chase.

The teacher: "My whole body is stiff and I dare not move."

Although she looked a little embarrassed, being carried forward was much more comfortable than walking on his own.

The group returned to Foster's house.

The bodyguard immediately put the teacher down.

"You have a sprained foot, won't you tell Robert on the phone?" The bodyguard was sweating profusely, so he complained.

The teacher blushed embarrassedly: "Did I ask you to drive to pick me up? How embarrassing.”

The bodyguard: “You’re embarrassed to be carried by me?”

The teacher: “I didn’t let you carry it, I can go by myself.”

“But you walk like a turtle crawling.” The bodyguard said in disgust, “It’s fine for you to bask in such a big sun, what should we do if our young master gets tanned?”

Mrs. Cooper came over with a glass of water and brought it to the teacher before.

Mrs. Cooper said to the Bodyguard, “Please be polite to the teacher.” Looking at the teacher’s appearance, Mrs. Cooper continued to ask: “It’s not too long after graduation, right?” Mrs. Cooper asked the teacher to sit down with a smile.

“Well, I’m studying abroad for graduate school, and I just graduated and returned to Aryadelle this year.” The female teacher took the cup and took a sip. “Before I came here, I really didn’t expect this community to be so big. I walked around for half an hour and couldn’t find the way.”

Mrs. Cooper: “You’re abroad, so you probably don’t know much about the domestic situation. This community is indeed quite large, and it’s very difficult to get in without driving.”

“Hmm, is Layla still sleeping?” The female teacher asked.

“I’ll go up and have a look.” Mrs. Cooper went upstairs, entered Layla’s room, and woke Layla.

“Layla, your homeroom teacher is visiting. It’s like a new teacher.” Layla stretched his hands and rubbed his eyes: “What home visit? Why didn’t you notify me?”

“The new teacher said he didn’t get in touch with your father. Your father’s mobile phone may have been turned off and not turned on.” Mrs. Cooper reminded, "You first come downstairs!"

Chapter 1912

"The teacher has never had a home visit before, why does she want a home visit now?" Layla whispered, got out of bed quickly, and went to the bathroom to simply clean up.

In the living room, the teacher took a look at Foster's living room.

The decoration style was simple and luxurious, and children's toys or daily necessities could be seen everywhere, but they were not messy.

Layla came downstairs and saw that the new teacher was a young and beautiful woman, her bright eyes suddenly glowed.

"Hello Layla, I'm your new head teacher for the new semester. My name is Katalina Larson, you can just call me Teacher Larson." Katalina walked up to Layla and introduced herself, "By the way, I'm your future foreign language teacher."

"Oh...Teacher Larson, where is my former head teacher?" Layla asked.

"She's been promoted." Katalina laughed, "Have you finished your summer homework?"

Layla was dizzy for a while, and replied, "It's finished. Do you want to check?"

"I'll ask. But if you want to give it to me Take a look, you can." Katalina smiled sweetly, "Aren't your parents at home? I called your father, and his phone was turned off."

"My parents are away. Do you have to see them?" Layla knew what the new teacher's home visit was going to do, so she asked cautiously.

"Since they're not at home, I'll just have a chat with you." Katalina sat down on the sofa and asked Layla to sit beside her, "I heard your former head teacher talk about your home situation, your previous grades are very good, but after your parents divorced, your grades have dropped significantly.”

Layla listened to the teacher's nagging, and suddenly showed a loveless expression, as if she hadn't woken up yet.

Mrs. Cooper saw Layla like this, sighed in her heart, and went to the kitchen to bring her breakfast.

The teacher: “Layla, learning is for yourself, not for your parents. You are responsible for your own learning.”

The teacher: “I know your family is rich. Even if you don't study well, you won't worry about food and drink in the future, but the teacher still wants you to be a useful person to society, not a lazy waste.”

The teacher: “By the way, I also heard about you. Every winter and summer vacation will be filming. Being beautiful is indeed a kind of capital, but being beautiful may not make you successful in the end. You see your mother is also very beautiful, but how good she studies. You treat your mother as A role model, isn't it?”

...

Layla looked at the new teacher with mixed feelings.

The previous head teacher also talked to her, but the last head teacher spoke very softly and implicitly, and would never directly say about her parents' divorce, nor about her entry into the entertainment industry, nor would she say anything to her. Words like 'delicious and lazy waste'.

After all, she is Elliot's daughter, even if she is really lazy, she can't stand being told that in person.

“Teacher Larson, you have some misunderstandings about our Layla. Layla usually study very hard, and her filming did not delay her study.” After listening to the teacher's words, Mrs. Cooper felt that the teacher's words were too harsh, so she quickly spoke for Layla.

“Are you Layla’s grandmother?” Teacher Larson asked.

Mrs. Cooper’s face was flushed: “No, I’m just a servant at home.”

“Oh... I’ll have a good chat with Layla’s parents when they come back. Layla is about to take the entrance exam. You may not know that students with good grades will participate in the internal assessment of key middle schools half a year in advance...” Teacher Larson said.

“Even if Layla doesn’t do well, her father can send Layla to the best middle school.” Mrs. Cooper explained.

“The meaning is different! Don’t you want Layla to go to the best school by her own strength?” Teacher Larson asked rhetorically.

Mrs. Cooper was speechless.

Layla couldn’t bear it anymore and stopped being silent: “Teacher Larson, my dad didn’t say anything about me. You care so much, it’s very annoying.”

Chapter 1913

Katalina was stunned for a moment. When she saw Mrs. Cooper, the bodyguard, and Robert all looking at her with hostile eyes, she was immediately embarrassed.

“Layla, maybe I’m too straight, but I really hope you study hard, because I had the same experience as you when I was a kid. When I was in elementary school, my parents divorced, and I lived with my dad. You should know Norah Jones, right?” Katalina’s sudden change of words caught everyone off guard.

After she mentioned Norah Jones, the expressions on everyone’s faces suddenly changed from cold hostility to shock and curiosity.

“I know!” Layla asked curiously, “Do you know her too?”

Katalina smiled shyly: “She is my cousin.”

Everyone: “....”

Katalina's home visit ended, She called Norah and went to Norah's house.

"I told you not to be a teacher, you have to go." Norah Jones saw Katalina and poured her a glass of water, "I forgot to tell you that my relationship with Elliot's family is not good. It's stupid for his family to mention my name."

Katalina was stunned: "I thought that when I mentioned your name, Layla would listen to me."

"Layla felt that I would influence her parents to get back together, so she was very kind to me. Great hostility. They don't even let me into her house." Norah Jones said indifferently, "I used to flatter this little girl in order to show off in front of Elliot, but she didn't expect her mother to treat me as an enemy when she returned to Aryadelle. "

"I can see it clearly now. Only when I am strong, I will not be despised by others." Norah Jones added.

"That's it!" Katalina and Norah didn't have anything to do with each other before, but now it's because Katalina returned to work in Aryadelle and their parents asked them to take care of each other, so they contacted each other, "Sister Norah, you are so good, you can definitely find a good man. For those who are married and divorced with children, forget it!"

"Well. I've figured it out. In the future, I'll have to rely on myself." Norah looked at Katalina, "You went to the house today and suffered a lot of grievances, right? That Layla is very rude."

Katalina: "Maybe she lacks the company of her parents. It's about it! Her parents are going away again."

Norah's eyes narrowed: "Did you go away? Where did you go?"

"I don't know. I called Elliot, and his phone was turned off." Katalina said. At the time, the phone rang.

It was Elliot who called.

Katalina immediately picked up the phone: "Hello, Layla's father, I'm the head teacher of Layla's new semester, just call me Katalina."

Elliot: "I'm sorry, I just got off the plane."

Norah Jones took Katalina right away grabbed her phone and pressed the speakerphone.

"I visited your home just now and had a brief chat with Layla. I have some questions. I want to talk to you or Layla's mother. When are you free?" Katalina asked, taking her phone back.

Avery heard a little sound, so she asked Elliot in a low voice: "Is Layla's teacher? What did she say?"

"Home visit... Said to talk to us." Elliot whispered back to Avery's words.

The whispered conversation between the two of them clearly fell into the ears of Norah Jones and Katalina.

"Hello Ms. Larson, I'm in Yonroeville with Layla's mother, and I won't return to Aryadelle for the time being. If you have any questions, you can tell us directly on the phone." Elliot said.

When Norah Jones heard his answer, Elliot immediately stepped aside and started planning in his heart.

Chapter 1914

Yonroeville airport.

Half an hour had passed after Elliot and Katalina finished talking on the phone.

Katalina expressed on the phone that she wanted to help Layla adjust her learning attitude, and hoped to get their support.

As parents, of course, they hope that their children can have a positive learning attitude, so the two of them agreed to Katalina's proposal.

After the call, Katalina told them about her relationship with Norah Jones. And truthfully explained that she and Norah Jones were not familiar with each other. After Elliot heard the news, he seemed to be petrified by someone's acupuncture point, so Avery brought the phone over to Katalina and said it was okay.

Avery said to Elliot, "Isn't there surveillance everywhere in the school? She said that she could use her breaks to help Layla with tutoring and ideological work, and then it would be good for the bodyguards to watch. I heard her tone is very sincere. And even if she is Norah Jones's cousin and has a good relationship with Norah Jones, she won't necessarily do anything bad to our daughter, right? You can hand over the Tate Industries to Norah Jones, and take your daughter to Norah Jones's sister, now?"

Elliot: "..."

He seemed to hear the unhappiness in her tone.

Elliot: "Work is work, daughter is daughter, how can the two be confused?"

"The Tate Industries is also like my child." Avery felt that the two could be confused.

Elliot: "Then I'll give it back to you?"

Avery: "Didn't you already give it to Norah Jones?"

"I signed a gambling agreement with her. To be precise, she has not signed the agreement yet and is still considering it. Because I set her an almost impossible goal. Even if the Tate Industries is not yours, it is mine. How could I easily give it to outsiders?" Elliot expressed his attitude, "Don't listen to other people's rumors, Don't watch the news and talk nonsense."

Avery glanced at him.

Elliot thought Avery was moved and had something to say to herself but Avery yawned unexpectedly.

“Go to the hotel first! I’m so sleepy.” After Avery finished speaking, she strode out of the airport.

On the plane, Avery never fell asleep.

Usually on such a long-distance plane, Avery can usually fall asleep on the plane.

But this time, because Elliot was sitting beside her, she felt awkward everywhere and couldn’t sleep.

The group came to a five-star hotel in the city center and checked in.

“Let’s live in one room!” Elliot discussed with Avery in a low voice, “It’s safer this way.”

Avery raised her eyebrows: “It’s safer to live with you? Do you think you are better than my bodyguard? With you Stay, I might as well live with my bodyguard.”

The bodyguard standing on Avery was flattered, and the corners of his mouth rose unconsciously.

The boss thinks highly of him so much and wants to live with him. I’m really happy.

Elliot’s face was gloomy and he glanced at her bodyguard.

The joy on the bodyguard’s face suddenly disappeared without a trace.

“We live in the presidential suite.” Elliot retracted his gaze and looked at Avery again, “It’s more convenient to make videos for the children every day. You choose which room you live in first, and which room I live in is up to you.”

He had a very good attitude, It makes Avery a little uncomfortable to refuse.

Generally, a larger presidential suite has at least several rooms, and the distance between rooms may be farther than the distance between single rooms.

“How many rooms are there in your hotel’s presidential suite?” Avery asked the receptionist.

After checking it on the computer, the lady at the front desk replied, “One has five rooms, and the other has nine rooms. There are only two presidential suites left in our hotel.”

Avery thought for a bit and said, “Then book five rooms! The four of us live together.”

Elliot: “...”

Chapter 1915

Two bodyguards: “.....”

“How is it?” Avery asked the three of them.

In Avery’s opinion, it is not safe to live in the presidential suite alone with Elliot.

Only two bodyguards must be added in to be considered truly safe.

But Elliot didn’t even think about it, and directly rejected her proposal.

Elliot said, “I don’t like so many people living together. The two of us live in one room, and the two of them live in one room, that’s all.”

Avery: “???”

What does it mean like this?

After Elliot’s voice was settled, Elliot’s bodyguard wisely handed the ID cards of himself and Avery’s bodyguard to the front desk.

“Open a double room.”

Soon, the lady at the front desk opened a double room for them and handed them the room card.

Elliot’s bodyguard gave Avery a fierce look and told him to go with him immediately.

“Boss...then I’ll go first...Call me if you have anything!” The bodyguard greeted Avery reluctantly, put down Avery's suitcase, and ran after him On the bodyguard of Elliot.

After the two light bulbs left, Elliot looked at Avery: "Didn't you just say you were sleepy? Let's go to sleep after opening the room, and then go to the corpse pit tomorrow to see."

Elliot wanted to prove that he lived with her, Definitely not to mess with her, really just to take care of each other.

Avery was also really tired, and her eyelids kept fighting, so she reluctantly agreed.

After opening the room, Elliot picked up her suitcase, and the two went to the elevator together.

Elliot booked the presidential suite with five rooms.

After the two entered the room, Avery first chose a room, and then chose a room for him that was farthest from her own.

"Do you have an opinion?" Avery asked.

Elliot shook his head: "Avery, are you guarding against a pervert?"

"If I really treat you as a pervert, I will definitely not live with you." Avery carried her suitcase, entered the room, and closed the door.

After a while, Elliot knocked on the door.

"Would you like to eat something before going to bed?" Elliot asked.

Avery had just taken a shower, and now she was wearing a light nightdress, so naturally she wouldn't open the door for him.

She wiped her wet hair with a dry towel, stood at the door, and turned back to him through a door: "I'm not hungry. You go and eat!"

"Then go to sleep. I plan to go to the corpse pit before I eat. When I come back, I will bring you food." Elliot told her his plan.

After listening to what Elliot said, Avery opened the door without thinking about it: "Didn't you say you want to go to the corpse pit tomorrow?"

Avery's eyes were filled with impatient emotion, and she wanted to go with him.

"I'm not sleepy now. I'm bored in the room, so I'll take a look first." Elliot said here, looking down and taking a look at her nightgown, "The style has indeed changed."

Her previous nightgowns all white or powder white, with lace or bows on the neckline or cuffs.

And at this moment, the nightdress on her body was a rose red suspender dress. There was no decoration on the skirt, it looks very textured and mature.

"Just talk when you talk, what are you aiming at?" Avery glared at him, turned and walked to the suitcase, and took a set of clothes out of it. "Wait for me, and I'll go to the corpse pit with you."

Elliot stood at the door and didn't enter: "Aren't you very sleepy? Take a good rest. I'll take a picture for you later. If you're really curious and can't sleep, I can make a video for you when I get there."

Chapter 1916

Whether it's a photo or a video, it's definitely not as clear as the naked eye.

"How long does it take to get there from the hotel?" Avery turned and asked him.

"It will take an hour at the earliest." Elliot replied.

"Why don't you find a hotel near the corpse pit?" Avery felt that the past time was too long, and it took two hours to come and go.

Avery is jet-lagged and dizzy at the moment. If she takes another two hours in the car, her body may not be able to take it.

"The bones removed from the corpse pit were transported to the hospital in the city center for identification." Elliot made inquiries before Avery came over, "The hospital is near the hotel.”

Avery took the clothes and stood up: “I’d better go and see with you!”

Seeing that Avery insisted on going, Elliot could only follow her.

.....

Bridgedale.

Chad took Layla and Robert out of the airport in Bridgedale.

Mike picks up at the airport.

Seeing the two little guys, Mike first gave Layla a big hug, and then picked Robert up.

“Hayden won’t be back until the evening. I’ll take you to a big dinner first!” Mike got into the car with his two children and glanced at Chad, “Thank you for your hard work. I should have picked them up.”

“What the h-e-l-l are you doing? I’ve never seen you so busy before.” Chad sat down beside the child and complained, “Aren’t you doing something bad?” Mike sneered, “What do you mean? I can only make money by doing bad things!”

“Who told you to keep secrets and refuse to talk about it!” Chad teased, “If I come here, will it affect your work?”

Mike: “It won’t affect me. I’ll just work from home.”

Chad: “Since you can work from home, why do you have to stay in Bridgedale? Can’t you go to Aryadelle?”

“Hayden is here. He’s alone, I’ll stay and take care of him.” Mike felt guilty and didn’t dare to look into Chad’s eyes.

Everyone knows that Hayden now not only does not need others to take care of him, but can take care of his family instead.

“Whatever you want! It’s fine if you don’t say anything. I’ll see how long you can bear it.” Chad took out his mobile phone, opened Avery’s dialog box, and sent her a message to report safety.

Mike: “Don’t worry, I won’t be able to bear it for long, and I will definitely tell you. You come here and have fun.”

“Can I have fun?” Chad glanced at the two children out of the corner of his eye, “If my boss knew about me that help him take care of the child, should you give me a few more days off? After all, taking care of the child is not as easy as going to work.”

Mike: “Then go back with them when they start school.”

Chad: “I think so too.”

“Then just do it.” Mike got into the driver’s seat, “In my opinion, Elliot is just looking for Haze. Under the guise, he actually took Avery to a tryst.”

Chad pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose, “Finding Haze is a very serious matter, don’t make such a joke.”

Mike immediately closed his mouth.

Chapter 1917

Layla leaned in the seat and pouted to Mike: “Uncle Mike, I have a new head teacher. She is Norah Jones’s cousin, I don’t want her to be my head teacher.”

“Norah Jones’s cousin is going to be a teacher in elementary school?” Mike was shocked, “If you don’t want her to be your head teacher, tell your father! Ask your father to change your head teacher.”

Layla snorted: “My father is away, I haven’t called him yet!”

“If you don’t want to talk to your father, then you can talk to your mother!” Mike gave her advice, “they are together now, if you tell your mother, it’s like you told your dad.”

Layla: “I’ll tell my mom later! I’m a little hungry.”

“Well, let’s go eat first.”

The car arrived at the hotel and passed the hotel lobby. There was a large screen in the hall, and a talk show was playing on it.

Chad passed the big screen and seemed to hear a familiar voice. So he turned back and looked at the big screen – there was a ‘boom’ in his brain, isn’t this Wanda?

No wonder the voice is so familiar, this virtuous woman sitting on the stage is the vicious woman who has retreated from the Wonder Technologies!

This woman threw all the charges on Elliot’s biological mother. If Elliot’s biological mother was not too stupid and greedy, and Elliot had no relationship with her, how could Wanda hide in Bridgedale and be happy?

Chad didn’t expect that Wanda would dare to appear in the public eye now.

He really didn’t take Avery and Elliot into her eyes.

“Isn’t this Wanda?” Mike stood beside him and followed his line of sight to see Wanda, “How did this old woman escape?”

“How do I know? Does she think everyone has forgotten her?” Chad sarcastically said, “I guess Wanda thinks that Avery has no power and no power to rely on now, so she has become more courageous.”

“Haha!” Mike sneered. Then he pulled Chad and planned to go to the private room.

“Let’s eat in the lobby. I’ll see what she said on the show.” Chad sat down closest to the big screen.

Mike can only go and tell the waiter to let the waiter bring the dishes here.

“I have done research on the Dream Makers Group. But the boss of this company is so mysterious! I only contacted their executives. And their executives said that they had never met the boss and all interviews were passed. Video calls, and the boss doesn't show his true face."

"I was just a little curious, but after hearing about this, I became even more curious. I specially sent someone to Rishawaka to inquire, hoping to inquire about their boss Billy. If I find useful information, I should choose what I can say and share it with you on the show."

"Everyone must not know that my ex-husband's wish during his lifetime was to build a car like the 'Dream Maker'. It's just that he is not in good health and his abilities are not as strong as the Dream Maker team, so he died of illness if the research and development was not successful. This is why I am so curious about the Dream Maker."

"I don't know the owner of the Dream Maker, Billy. Will I see this program? If I can, that would be great! I want to tell him that I really admire and admire him. I wonder if I can have the honor to meet him?."

He expresses his admiration and admiration for the dream maker boss Billy.

Mike looked coldly at her laughing flower branches trembling, and only felt disgusted.

"Did Wanda get too many injections? Her face is so stiff when she smiles." Chad took a sip of water and commented, "She looks like she is going to eat Billy. She even went to Rishawaka to ask.She did it secretly, and she even talked about it publicly. Could it be that the laws of your Bridgedale allow you to inquire about other people's privacy? What is the difference between her and a perverted stalker!"

"It's okay to inquire about information, but perverted Tracking won't work." Mike wrapped Robert's bib and sneered, "Let her find out! If she can find out the real information, I'll chop off her head and give her a kick."

Chapter 1918

Chad rolled his eyes at Mike: "Can you stop talking nonsense in front of the children? It's about to eat, who are you trying to answer."

Mike immediately covered his mouth.

"Uncle Chad, my brother and I are not three-year-olds." Layla reminded Chad.

"This old woman killed my grandmother. My brother said he would seek revenge from her. I believe my brother will definitely be able to avenge my grandmother."

Mike: "Don't worry! This old woman won't be happy for long."

Chad took a deep breath: "Is it appropriate for you to talk about this kind of topic in front of Robert? Aren't you afraid of planting seeds of hatred in Robert's young heart? This is not conducive to his physical and mental development..."

Robert blinked his clear eyes: "Uncle Chad, don't be afraid...I don't understand what you are talking about."

Chad: "..."

Robert didn't even know who her grandmother was. After all, she hadn't met, and even if she heard her sister talk about it, she didn't have an impression.

.....

Yonroeville.

After Avery changed her clothes, she went to the hotel restaurant with Elliot to eat something.

"Eat so little?" Elliot had a good appetite. Seeing that she ate so little, he was afraid that she would be hungry soon.

The location of the corpse pit was relatively remote, and it was estimated that there were no decent restaurants around.

"I can't eat it anymore." Avery wiped her mouth with a tissue.

Elliot asked the bodyguard to pack some desserts to take on the road.

Avery said, "I'm a little dizzy. I'm afraid I'll get motion sickness later, so I don't dare to eat more. You don't need to bring me food."

“Since you’re not feeling well, then you won’t go today.” Elliot replied, “We’re not going either. We’ll go together tomorrow.”

“Don’t...” Avery saw that Elliot had finished eating, she got up from her chair,

“Let’s go now! Go now, we’ll be back before dark.”

Elliot: “Why do you have to go now? You know you are not feeling well, so...”

“I just want to go.” Avery interrupted him, “If you don’t go now, you will lose sleep at the hotel.”

Elliot wanted to say, ‘I’m afraid that if you go to the corpse pit and watch it back, you will not only lose sleep but also have a headache.’

The group came out of the hotel and got into the car heading for the suburbs.

Avery leaned in the seat and planned to take a nap, but not long after closing her eyes, she suddenly remembered something.

“Isn’t that criminal gang taken over three years ago? Why is this corpse pit bursting out now?”

Elliot: “That gang was basically executed, but some accomplices were left out.

This corpse pit is s An accomplice was exposed to mitigate the crime.”

Avery nodded: “Is it possible for this person to know Haze’s whereabouts?”

“Let’s find this person when we return from the corpse pit!” Elliot glanced at the time, “If I have time at night, I’ll go find out where this person is locked up. If I don’t have time, I’ll find her tomorrow.”

“Don’t think too much, just close your eyes and rest for a while. I’ll call you.”

Elliot’s voice seemed to have a hypnotic effect.

Avery closed her eyes and fell asleep shortly after.

Elliot looked at her peaceful sleeping face and wished that time would stand still at this moment.

Avery has no boyfriend, only Elliot by her side. She would not ridicule him, and their relationship was peaceful and beautiful.

...

After the car arrived in the suburbs, Elliot wanted her to continue resting. But not long after the car stopped, she woke up from her sleep.

“Are you there?” Avery rubbed her eyes.

Chapter 1919

“Well. Just arrived.” Elliot took a bottle of water, unscrewed the cap, and handed it to Avery.

Avery took the water bottle and took a sip.

“Do you want to eat something first?” Elliot handed the dessert to her, “I’m afraid you won’t be able to eat it at night.”

Avery shook her head, opened the door, and got out of the car.

After getting off the bus, walk forward for a short distance, and she can see the fenced cordon. Inside the cordon, there are many staff members who are busy.

The location of the corpse pit was the cellar of a dilapidated brick house.

This cellar was originally used to store food, but it was turned into a corpse pit by a criminal gang!

Today, the brick and tile house was in dire straits, and the surrounding weeds were overgrown with one-person-high weeds, and on the ground, there were either complete or incomplete bones.

Avery stood at the cordon, watching the scene in front of her, her eyes couldn’t help but get wet.

Thinking that Haze might be buried here, mixed with so many bones, and what kind of torture she suffered before her death, her heart was in unbearable pain!

After negotiating with the staff who maintained the order, Elliot walked to Avery, took her hand, and crossed the cordon.

“Stop crying. Our daughter is not necessarily here.” Elliot took out a tissue and handed it to Avery.

Avery took the tissue, wiped away her tears, and strode towards the corpse pit. After approaching, a rotten smell mixed with mildew penetrated into the limbs and bones, making people dizzy.

Elliot didn't expect it to be so stinky, and immediately pulled Avery back.

“You need to wear masks.” A staff member handed them masks, “If you go into the pit, you have to wear protective clothing. It's one thing to smell inside, and more importantly, I don't know how many bacteria and viruses there are...”

Elliot put the mask on Avery, and then quickly put it on himself.

Although wearing a mask, the stinky smell still lingers.

Avery walked to the corpse pit and glanced down—the mosquitoes were flying around, and the dense white bones were faintly visible.

Avery made a ‘vomit’, and immediately took off her mask, and spit out all the water she just drank.

Seeing this, Elliot immediately handed Avery a tissue: “The situation here is much worse than expected. I told you to come and help take out the bones before, but now it seems...”

“I'm fine.” Avery wiped it with a tissue. After drying the water stains on the corners of her mouth, she quickly put on her mask, “I didn't wear protective clothing today, come back tomorrow.”

“Then let's go back first!” Elliot looked at her pale, as if she was about to faint at any moment.

When Avery was helped away by Elliot, she couldn't help looking back at the corpse pit.

For some reason, Avery always felt that Haze was in that corpse pit.

Back at the hotel, her face was dark blue, as if she had suffered a serious illness.

Elliot helped her to sit by the bed and wanted her to lie down and rest, but she sat stiffly.

“Avery, calm down.” Elliot squatted in front of her and looked into her eyes, “Our daughter is not necessarily in that corpse pit.”

“Even if our daughter is not there, the bones there are all alive. The life of her.” Avery choked, “Even if our daughter is still alive, she doesn’t know what kind of ordeal she is going through now...”

“Don’t think about it!” Elliot was heartbroken, “It’s all my fault! I failed to protect her!”

“Elliot, stop talking! I didn’t recognize my own child, and I can’t blame anyone!” Avery burst into tears. When she fell, she pushed him away with her palm, “I want to be alone! You let me be quiet!”

Elliot looked at the tears on her face, and pursed her thin lips tightly. He walked out of the room, closed the door gently, then stood at the door without leaving. After a while, Elliot heard her cry from the room.

Chapter 1920

At dinner time, the bodyguards came knocking on the door.

Elliot opened the door.

“Boss, do you want to eat now or later? Do you want to go to the restaurant or have the meal be taken to your room?” The bodyguard asked.

“Go eat first!” Elliot said.

Avery’s bodyguard stood at the door and looked inside: “Where’s my boss?”

“Avery locked herself in the room.” Elliot wanted to open the door several times to find her, but he didn't dare.

Hearing this, the bodyguard immediately broke into the presidential suite: "How can I not eat? I didn't say that Haze died! What is this!"

After the bodyguard walked in, he realized that the suite was like a labyrinth.

There are too many rooms, and he doesn't know which room Avery lives in.

Elliot's bodyguard wanted to drag the reckless Avery out. After all, without Elliot's consent, how could outsiders be allowed to enter casually?

But Elliot gave his bodyguard a look and told him not to act rashly.

At the same time, Elliot pointed out Avery's room to Avery's guard.

The bodyguard strode over, knocked on the door, and pushed in without Avery's permission.

Avery was startled when she saw the bodyguard come in.

"Boss, what are you crying for?" The bodyguard was stunned for a few seconds when he saw Avery's eyes were scarlet, "The name of Haze wasn't written in that pit? You can wait for the exact news of Haze's death. It's not too late to cry! In our village, people start to cry before they die, which is very unlucky. Why don't you expect Haze to be well?"

Avery: "..."

"You eat so little in the afternoon. Aren't you hungry now? I'm starving to death!"

The bodyguard said, pulling her arm and walking out of the room, "If you don't want to eat, the three of us want to eat. If you are sure not to eat, how can Elliot dare to eat? Elliot wouldn't eat it, and neither did his bodyguards. Do you want me to eat it alone? Why am I embarrassed?"

Avery took a deep breath and quickly adjusted the mood on her face when she stepped out of the door.

"Avery, your bodyguard is right. I know you feel sorry for the other children in that pit, but things have happened, the criminal gang has been caught, and the tragedy has stopped. All we can do is to find Haze as soon as possible.” Elliot comforted.

Avery pressed her grief to the bottom of her heart and nodded: “Let’s go to dinner!”

....

Aryadelle.

Katalina came to Norah Jones’s apartment and rang the doorbell.

When Norah Jones opened the door, she was talking on the phone with her mobile phone in her hand.

When Norah saw Katalina coming, a flash of surprise flashed in her eyes, as if she didn’t expect Katalina to come.

Katalina saw her cousin’s surprise and unwelcome in her eyes, and immediately said, “Cousin, you sent me a message yesterday and asked me to come over to play with you when I had time. I thought you were serious, so I came... I didn’t want to...” Without saying the word ‘come’, Norah immediately changed to a kind face.

“Come in! I’ll make a phone call first.” Norah brought Katalina a pair of shoes, then took the phone back to the room to talk on the phone.

Katalina changed her shoes, wandered around the living room bored, and finally stopped at the door of Norah’s bedroom.

She was very curious about this strange cousin.

The Jones family was originally poor. Later, because Norah had good academic performance and insisted on studying abroad, the Jones family’s parents couldn’t resist her, so they borrowed money to let her study abroad.

At the beginning, the Jones family still asked the Larson family to borrow money to let Norah Jones go to school.

Chapter 1921

Fortunately, all the Jones family's efforts are rewarded.

After Norah Jones graduated, one job is better than another, and the salary has gradually risen to the point where ordinary people can't keep up.

Until now, she has become an executive of the Tate Industries, and in addition to her salary, she also has huge bonuses every year.

Katalina's father is a businessman, and his family situation has always been good, but Katalina is not interested in business management at all.

Her dream is to be a teacher, but the treatment of a teacher is naturally not comparable to that of a big company executive.

Katalina doesn't envy Norah for making more money than herself, but is curious about her abilities and aspects.

Norah said, "I can get you out, but it's just a matter of money. I contacted you, and I spent a lot of money. Now the focus is not about money, nor whether I can get you out. If I can find a way to contact you, I will definitely be able to help you get out of Yonroeville..."

The voice over the phone questioned: "Are you sure you're not lying to me?"

Avery lied to me! She lied to me well. Miserable!"

"Avery is also worthy of being compared with me?! My success is completely dependent on my own ability! And Avery relies on men! She used to rely on Elliot, and then she divorced Elliot, and it was immediately revealed. She's nothing now!"

"I don't know...I don't know anything, all I know is that I'll never believe her bullsh*t again...and of course she won't come to me either. It's hard to say..."

"We haven't met, and no matter how much I say, you still have doubts about me.

It depends on your own choice. Except for me, do you have a better way to survive? If you don't try, how do you know that I can't help you escape?" Norah induced.

The other party fell silent.

About twenty minutes later, Norah finished talking on the phone and came out of the bedroom.

Katalina was sitting on the sofa in the living room, doing nothing, looking completely bored.

"Sorry, it took a long time to talk on the phone just now." Norah seemed to be in a good mood, "Have you had breakfast?"

Katalina: "I came here after breakfast."

"Oh, let's go out to eat at noon! I invite You eat a big meal." Norah pushed the broken hair from her ear behind her ear, "Have you started to work? Are you still used to work? If you can't do it, you can come to our company..."

"Your Company?" Katalina wondered, "Is the Tate Industries already your company?"

Norah Jones chuckled, "I'm ready to sign a gambling agreement with Elliot. As long as I complete his goal within three years, I will own half of the shares of Tate Industries."

Katalina was stunned.

"At that time, the Tate Industries will be my company." Norah Jones picked up the water glass and took a sip of water.

"But what if you can't accomplish the goal he set? He has given you so much benefit, the goal must be very high, right?" Katalina continued to raise doubts.

"Three years later, who can say for sure. Besides, I don't fight uncertain battles. Just like when I joined the Tate Industries, I said I could lead the Tate Industries to glory, and I did it." Norah said in high spirits, "As long as I decide to do, no one can stop me."

"Oh... cousin, you are really amazing!" Katalina looked at her with admiration, "Just now you're talking on the phone to whom? The voice is a bit loud, I heard a little..."

The calmness on Norah's face disappeared instantly, and her eyes became tense visibly.

"Of course, what did you hear? Is the door of my house so soundproof?" Norah raised a stiff smile.

"I only heard a little...I didn't hear much..." Katalina felt embarrassed seeing her so nervous.

"Oh... what did you hear?" Norah pressed.

Chapter 1922

Avery walked quickly to them and took Layla's hand.

"Layla, mom has something to tell your dad, you go inside the house! Your brother is inside."

Layla: "I'm not looking for my brother. I'm looking for my two aunts..."

"Well, they are inside, you go in!" Avery watched her daughter enter the house, and then her eyes fell on Elliot's face.

It was a fine day today, and the sun fell on Elliot's shoulders like shards of gold.

If Avery hadn't heard about his quarrel with Ben Schaffer, her mood would be brighter than this sunshine.

"Why did you and Ben Schaffer quarrel?" Avery took Elliot's big palm and walked towards the less crowded place.

This garden was very large, and the roads in it extended in all directions, which was especially suitable for strolling.

"He's in a bad mood." Elliot clenched her hand tightly and replied, "I had a casual chat with him about work, but because we disagreed, he lost his temper and left.”

“Shea wedding today, you guys were talking about work here? Did you think I'm so perfunctory?”

Avery retorted, “Tell me the truth.”

Without thinking, he decided to tell a white lie, “What I told was the truth. He told about Gwen.”

“Oh..even if you can't be a couple, you don't need to be enemies, right?” Avery was a little puzzled,

“Why is Ben Schaffer so disgusted? Did he not participate when Gwen was there?”

“Don't worry about them.” Elliot said calmly and changed the topic, “Do you want to take a picture? I'll take it for you? My daughter said that I took her beautiful.”

“That is Because my daughter is beautiful, anyone who takes pictures of her can make her beautiful, and it has nothing to do with your photography skills.”

Avery told the truth mercilessly, “Unless you make me beautiful, I can only praise you. The technology is good.”

Avery handed the phone to Elliot and asked him to help take pictures.

“Elliot, I don't think there's any need for you and Ben Schaffer to be unhappy about Gwen. The friendship between the two of you for so many years is not so fragile, right?” Avery found a peony bush and stopped beside him.

Elliot turned on the camera function of his mobile phone and said lightly: “I didn't quarrel with him, I suspect that he just didn't want to see Gwen, so he deliberately quarreled with me, so that he had a reason to leave here.”

“Oh, then go back and persuade him and let him think about it.” Avery tried to touch the petals with her fingers, “Is this posture okay?”

“Yes.” Elliot looked at her under the camera and said, “Look at the me here.”

“I’m going to pretend to look at the flowers. It will be more artistic in this way.”

Avery gave him a lesson, “If I look at you, it will be too blunt. When I look at flowers, there will be a feeling that the photos are taken by others. How dare you say that you are good at taking pictures. What?”

Elliot blushed: “Then you smile.”

“Forget it, I’ll look at you. It’s more funny to see you.” Avery couldn’t help laughing.

“Can’t you hit me? Give me some confidence. I’m learning now, and maybe I will become a professional photographer in my later years.” Elliot pressed the shutter and took a few pictures of her smiley.

No matter how he looked at it, he felt that Avery’s smiling face was prettier than the peony blooming next to her.

“I’ll take a look.” Avery walked up to him, took the phone, and looked at the photos he took. “It’s not bad, mainly because I’m naturally beautiful.”

“You just can’t bear to praise me.” Elliot said helplessly.

“You’re awesome. You don’t have to wait for your old age, your level will definitely improve by leaps and bounds, comparable to a professional.” Avery complimented him countless times, then leaned into his arms, “Let’s take a photo! It’s been a long time since I took a photo with you. Now it’s time.”

After taking a photo for a while, the two saw that it was almost time for the wedding ceremony, so they walked towards the venue for the ceremony.

Their eyes unexpectedly saw Ben Schaffer, and expressions of surprise appeared on their faces.

Ben Schaffer saw their eyes and looked back at them boldly.

Avery forced Elliot to walk towards Ben Schaffer, trying to ease their relationship.

Avery: "Brother Schaffer, today is a day of great joy, no matter what unhappy things you have with Elliot..."

"I just went out to smoke a cigarette, what am I unhappy about." Ben Schaffer explained Here, he asked Elliot coldly, "You spoke ill of me behind your back just now, didn't you? Everyone thought I was left."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Elliot didn't say you were left. It was Brother Wesley who thought you were left and was a little worried."

Chapter 1923

Elliot: "Well. They all seem to have died when you were young."

"My grandfather died when I was four years old, and my grandmother was griefstricken because of my grandfather's death, which caused the aggravation of various chronic diseases in the body, In the end, she died of pain." Avery said this, her eyes could not help moistening, "Before they died, I was protected by someone at home, and I didn't suffer any hardships. As soon as my grandparents left, Wanda was unscrupulous."

"Why did grandpa die?" Elliot looked into her eyes distressedly.

Seeing the tears in the corners of her eyes, Elliot stretched out his hand reflexively.

Avery pushed his hand away and wiped away her tears: "My grandpa suddenly fell and injured his brain, and he was not rescued. I remembered it very clearly, when my father took me to the hospital to see grandpa for the last time, I was hope that I can cure him. Let him continue to be by my side and protect me."

"Avery, don't be sad. Your grandparents must be watching you from the sky now and continue to protect you." Elliot held her hand and continued Going forward,

"There's bound to be a lot of dark things happening where we can't see, but on the bright side, there's also a lot of good things happening. If our daughter is alive and dead, and if the person who adopted her is a good person.. ...it's all possible.”

“You're self-deception and self-paralysis.” While exposing him, Avery pulled her hand out of his big palm, “I'm not cold, why are you holding my hand? “

“Can you pull me when it's cold?” Elliot asked back.

“Don't be a bull's-eye.” Avery gave him a deep look, looked at his face, and asked, “I have a boyfriend, and you are still like this, do you want to know what to do with you?”

“Aren't you and your boyfriend married yet? Since you are not married, your relationship is not protected by the law.” Elliot defended himself, “If other people fall in love, if they are in a different place, they basically keep their mobile phones with them and send messages and calls to their partners every day.

Why didn't I see your boyfriend calling you?

Avery didn't expect Elliot to be so scheming that he was secretly observing her 'love'.

“You should also know that my boyfriend is very busy. Unlike you, when it comes to love, you don't care about work. If I remember correctly, I said you were a love-brainer before.” Avery scolded him.

Elliot twitched the corners of his mouth, “If this makes you happier, then I won't refute you.”

“Don't talk like you are too big. The reason why you don't refute me is because you can't refute at all. “Avery raised her chin and confronted him, “You are the brain of love. At least Ben Schaffer said this.”

“Can Ben Schaffer's words count?” Elliot's cheeks were flushed, and his voice was a bit lower than hers.” He also scolded me. Could it be true if he scolded me? I have a good relationship with him and often joke around casually.”

“It is precisely because the two of you have a good relationship that he understands you better and evaluates you more truthfully.” Avery’s words blocked his next words.

“What’s wrong with the love brain?” Elliot couldn’t refute, but could only accept it reluctantly, “Love brain shows the importance of feelings.”

“Oh.” Avery felt that what Elliot said was not unreasonable.

Elliot’s face turned even redder. He couldn’t help but want to hold her hand again.

“Let’s go back!” Avery turned around, letting her outstretched hand be empty.

“The wind outside is a little cold. I don’t know if it’s the headache caused by the wind or the original headache. It’s better for me to go back and rest. Otherwise, if the state is worse tomorrow, then nothing can be done.”

“Well.”

The two walked back and arrived at the hotel not long after.

“Wait a minute to make a video call for the child!” Elliot said when he entered the elevator.

Avery: “They are in Bridgedale now.”

“I know. When the three brother and sister meet later, you can make a video call for them. I’ll just go to the side and take a look.” Elliot said humbly, “Hayden still didn’t spend the money I gave him. “

Chapter 1924

Avery: “...”

Elliot’s words made Avery almost choked.

“What’s the matter?” Elliot looked at Avery seriously, “Didn’t you say Hayden is spending a lot now? How much pocket money do you give him every month? How about I give you the money, and you transfer it to him?”

Elliot shook his head, pressed down on the floor where the room was, and took a deep breath.

Avery: "Elliot, you don't have to worry about my life with Hayden."

"I know you have money. You usually live a frugal life. The money you sell from the company is enough for you to spend all your life. It's really out of money. You can also take some surgical work, and you can earn enough for your own living expenses." Elliot said here, the conversation changed, "As for Hayden, I think with his ability, as long as he wants to make money, he can make as much money as he wants. But..."

Avery raised her head and stared at Elliot, wondering what he was going to say next.

"Avery, this time you came back to Aryadelle to find Haze and left Hayden in Bridgedale, isn't it good? I checked, Hayden's current age is the rebellious period of his youth, if he doesn't have his parents to look after him, he will make mistakes easily. Although Hayden has always hated me, but I always have this son in my heart. I hope he can finish his studies well and step into society in the future. No matter what he wants to do, as long as it is legal, I can support him."

Elliot told Avery his inner thoughts.

Avery felt Elliot's deep father's love.

Every time Elliot talks to her well and treats their children sincerely, her hatred for Elliot will naturally decrease a bit.

"Since you know he has the ability to make a living, why you give him money? For him, when you gave him money last time, you were insulting him." Avery analyzed Hayden's thoughts with him, "The card you gave him was an insult, maybe it was thrown away by him long ago. You should report the loss quickly when you return to Aryadelle. It is absolutely impossible for him to spend a penny on you."

Elliot: "Although I guessed the result, it's still a little uncomfortable to hear you say it."

Avery: "What's so uncomfortable, it's not the first day he treated you this way."

While speaking, the elevator reached the designated floor. The elevator door opened slowly, and they stepped out of the elevator.

"Our bodyguards, they live in one room?" Avery suddenly remembered this.

Elliot: "It seems like, what's the matter?"

"Isn't it inconvenient for the two of them to live together? After all, they don't need to take care of each other. Wouldn't it be better for them to have two rooms?" Although Avery did not explain why they lived alone 'Better', but Elliot made up his mind.

Elliot: "Your bodyguard has been with you for a few years, right? You are so considerate to him. And he seems to be more daring with you. Before dinner, I didn't dare to mess with you, but he rushed into your room..."

"Are you sure you want to eat the vinegar of my bodyguard?" Avery looked at him in disbelief, saw his thin lips move, but didn't say a word, so she said, "Take the room key to open the door!"

Elliot mechanically took out the room card, swiped the card to open the door.

Elliot: "Can I live in the room closest to yours?"

The two entered the room, and Elliot discussed with her.

Avery frowned: "what do you mean?"

Elliot: "Our room is too far apart. I'm afraid that if something happens to you at night, or if something happens to me at night, we can take care of it."

"Then Just call our two bodyguards to live together. My bodyguard lives next to me, and your bodyguard lives next to you, so that if we have anything to do at night, the bodyguard can take care of us. ” Avery smiled sweetly, ignoring his face. With a stunned expression, she strode into the room and closed the door. After entering the room, Avery held the lock button in her hand, wondering if she should lock the door.

Avery felt that Elliot was still outside the door at the moment. If she locks the door, Elliot may hear the door lock.

After hesitating for a while, Avery finally did not lock the door.

Elliot should not come in. Even if he wanted to come in with a fever, he would definitely knock on the door. If he hadn't knocked on the door and forced his way in...He shouldn't have done so.

Chapter 1925

Judging from his attitude towards her today, Avery felt that her judgment would not be wrong. But not necessarily.

Just like she had wrongly judged him.

If Elliot dared to force his way in without knocking on the door, Avery would move in next door to the bodyguard tomorrow.

About half an hour later, Avery finished taking a shower and made a video call to Hayden.

After Hayden received the video call, the faces of the three siblings suddenly appeared on the screen.

Looking at the warm picture of the three children sitting together, Avery couldn't stop the tears in her eyes.

This was the first time the three siblings had reunited since Robert grew up a little.

Avery felt that she was not a qualified mother, and she should have reunited the three siblings long ago.

Even if she divorces Elliot, she should find an opportunity every year for the three siblings to get together.

“Robert, did you call your brother?” Avery laughed and cried, making Robert a little bewildered.

“Robert is calling brother!” Layla answered first, “Mom, don’t cry! We are so happy!”

“Mom is so happy, so I can’t help it...” Avery took the phone, went to the door and opened the door.

“Mom, are you in the hotel now?” Layla looked at the picture on the screen,

“Mom, the hotel you live in is so beautiful! It’s golden, like a palace.”

“Well, the decoration style here is like this... ..” Avery said, adjusting the rear camera, intending to show the children the suite she lived in.

As a result, Elliot entered the picture like this.

Elliot had just finished taking a shower, and he was only wrapped in a bath towel. He was about to change into pajamas, but he heard Avery’s voice outside the door, so he walked out involuntarily.

Who knows, when Avery is holding her mobile phone, facing him...

“You...” Avery saw Elliot wrapped in a bath towel, and her cheeks flushed. “Why did you come out without wearing clothes?”

Avery immediately covered the camera of her mobile phone, walked quickly to Elliot, and pushed him into the room, “I’m doing a video call with the children!”

Elliot understood what happened After the situation, immediately walked to the front of the suitcase and looked for clothes to wear.

“...my pajamas...?” Elliot quickly rummaged through the clothes in the box, but didn’t see the pajamas.

Avery took a deep breath, took a hotel nightgown from the closet next to it, and threw it to him: "You can do it first!"

"Okay..." Elliot quickly put the nightgown on.

Avery released the camera when she saw that Elliot was dressed.

She turned the camera to the front and looked at Layla and Hayden who were also embarrassed on the screen.

Only Robert smiled beamingly because he saw his father just now.

"Mom, didn't you say you wouldn't live in the same room with Dad?" Layla looked at her mother and said suspiciously, "You two, are you living together!" Avery wanted to say no, but she felt she couldn't hide it.

Avery: "This is the presidential suite. I don't share a room with him."

"Dad came out with no clothes on...I don't think there is any difference between the two of you living in a suite, and living in a room." Layla bluntly expose.

Chapter 1926

Avery sighed lightly and wanted to explain to her daughter. At this time, Elliot spoke up. "Layla, your mother didn't want to live in the same room with me, but I insisted on staying with her. Because the security here is not very good, I'm afraid your mother is in danger..."

"I think you are the biggest danger." Layla gave her father no face at all.

Elliot blushed instantly. He could detect subtle changes in his daughter.

When Layla didn't go to Hayden's side, she was not so ruthless to him.

Avery couldn't help laughing, and walked to the living room sofa and sat down.

"What are you doing?"

"We're... playing around!" Layla took the phone and switched the camera, so Mike and Chad appeared.

The two of them were sitting aside, not knowing what they were whispering.

Layla cuts to the two of them, and they don't even know it.

“Brother Chad, thank you for sending Robert and Layla to Bridgedale, did they trouble you on the way?” Avery saw Chad, so she spoke politely.

Chad was so frightened that his soul flew away when he heard Avery speak to him. He suddenly looked at the camera, and when he saw that Layla was holding the phone facing him, he smiled: “Layla, you changed the camera, why didn’t you say anything?”

Chad walked over to Layla and turned the camera to into the front.

“Hello Avery! Layla and Robert are very obedient. Robert didn’t make any noise on the plane and didn’t bother me at all. Layla doesn’t have to worry about me.”

Avery: “That’s good, I should have taken them. Let’s go.”

“It’s alright, are you all okay over there?” Chad was more concerned about his boss.

This chapter is provided by naijdate.com. Visit naijdate.com for daily update.

Avery understood his mood, so he turned the camera to Elliot.

And Elliot didn’t want to look at his assistant at all. He just wanted to see the kids. But he was afraid that Hayden would see that he was unhappy, so he kept hiding from the camera.

“Talk to the child.” Elliot whispered to Avery.

Chad didn’t expect the boss to be so ruthless, so he could only walk away in despair.

Avery was a little tired after talking about the video call with the three children, so she took her mobile phone and prepared to go back to the room.

“Avery, I’m really worried.” Elliot said suddenly.

Avery stopped and looked at him: “what are you worried about?”

“Hayden and Layla don’t want to look at me. I’ve been waiting for Robert to call me, so that I can enter the camera openly, but Robert starts from the beginning.

He didn't call me at the end." Elliot was heartbroken, "I suspect now that when I finally raise Robert, Robert will follow Layla and run to Hayden, which is you."

Avery: "..."

"Chicken and egg beat, one shot and two scattered, both people and money are empty..." Elliot lamented.

Avery felt that what Elliot said was very likely, so she comforted: "If you can't change it, just accept the reality. It's very late today, go back to your room to rest!"

"You really don't want me to sleep in the room next to you?" Elliot got closer.

Avery: "Is there any difference between you living in the next room and living in your current room? Not both..."

"Yes! Since there is no difference, why don't you let me live in the room next to you?" Elliot said. When he reacted, he immediately walked towards the room next to her.

Avery: "..."

Forget it!

Seeing that in the near future, he will be slaughtered and scattered, let him sleep next door!

At night, Avery had some insomnia.

The scene she saw when she went to the corpse pit in the afternoon would pop up in her mind uncontrollably.

Even if she fall asleep because she's too sleepy, she will soon dream of those terrible scenes. That night, she couldn't count how many times she woke up.

At 7 o'clock in the morning, Avery couldn't bear the nightmare and simply got up.

After washing, Avery came out of the room.

The door of the next room was closed, Elliot should still be resting.

Avery was going to go down for breakfast first. Just as she walked to the door and was about to go out, Elliot's door opened.

Elliot was neatly dressed, with a fresh face, and walked towards Avery.

"Why did you get up so early?" Avery asked in surprise.

"Avery, didn't you get up too?" Elliot went out with her, "Look at your dark circles, you lost sleep last night?"

"No, I fell asleep, but I just kept having nightmares." Avery said, covering her mouth with her hands. She yawned, "Go see that accomplice after breakfast!"

Elliot looked at her with a worried look, and suggested, "If you don't eat breakfast, go back to your room and take a nap first? You might sleep better during the day."

Avery: "Is there any scientific basis?"

"No." Elliot was stunned, "Or take some medicine?"

"I don't have trouble falling asleep, so I don't need medicine." Avery declined his suggestion, "Don't habitually rely on medicine. It's medicine, three points of poison."

Elliot: "But there are many chronic diseases that require long-term medication."

Avery said, "If you have chronic diseases, you have to take medicine. If you are not sick, don't take medicine indiscriminately. It's like a minor illness and a pain, you can handle it yourself. No need to take medicine. It's the same for children. Don't turn my two children into medicine jars."

Elliot did not dare to answer.

Avery glared at him and threatened him with her eyes.

"Robert gets sick every time the season changes. I don't need to go into details about how pitiful the child is. He must be given medicine, otherwise he will cry.”

Elliot confessed truthfully, “Layla is fine. It looks like she is sick two or three times a year.”

Avery knew that the child was sick and pitiful, so she didn’t blame him for that.

Avery: “When Layla was by my side, I got sick at most twice a year.”

“Two or two or three times, isn’t the difference?” Elliot pondered for a few seconds, “I also get sick three or four times a year.”

Avery: “You’re weak, you’re still proud?”

“What about you? You don’t get sick all year round?” Elliot retorted, “You’re so good, so I’ll ask you to take care of me and my child?”

Avery felt she dug a hole for herself.

After breakfast, when she thought of meeting the criminal accomplice who broke the news about the corpse pit, she immediately became in high spirits, with no sign of distress.

“I’ll call the bodyguards.” Elliot took out his mobile phone and was about to call the two bodyguards down.

Avery said: “It’s still early. Since they are still resting, let them rest! We can go by ourselves.”

Elliot raised his eyebrows slightly: “It’s their job to protect us. We go out and they sleep in the hotel? Are you sure?”

Avery didn’t stick to these small details: “Didn’t you say that the person was detained in the detention center in the city center? We don’t go to remote places, and it’s fine without bodyguards. If you are so afraid, call your bodyguard!”

Avery picked up the milk cup and drank the milk. Of course Elliot was reluctant to admit that he was timid.

Elliot put away his phone and went to the detention center with her.

The two called a special car at the hotel and went to the detention center.

Arriving at the detention center, the police station staff immediately took the criminal accomplice out.

Avery was shocked when she saw the middle-aged woman with her hands shackled in front of her.

This...isn't this the woman she met last time she came to Yonroeville?

The two of them made a deal at the hospital.

The woman asked her for enough sleeping pills for euthanasia, she pretended to agree, and then the woman told her that Haze was sold to Aryadelle.

She didn't expect that they would meet again so soon.

Unexpectedly, this woman actually broke such a shocking surprise.

Chapter 1928

Avery took Elliot, walked aside, and whispered, "I have seen the woman. The last time I came to Yonroeville, she told me that Haze was sold to Aryadelle."

"There is no evidence that Haze was sold to Aryadelle. She may have lied to you." Elliot replied in a low voice.

"Why did she lie to me? Since she knows the corpse pit, it shows that she really knows a lot of things..." Avery said, "She should have recognized me too. She told me about Haze's News, in exchange, she asked me to give her euthanasia drugs, but I didn't give it in the end, she must hate me."

Elliot glanced at the woman.

The woman looked in Avery's direction with hatred on her face.

"Why don't you go out first and I'll chat with her." Elliot said to Avery.

"Okay. You can decide. If she doesn't want to say anything, then forget it." Avery said this because she felt that she had already asked the woman the answer she wanted to know.

After all the bones in the corpse pit have been tested for DNA, if there is no bones of Haze, then continue to go back to Aryadelle to find them.

After Avery went out, the door was closed.

Elliot sat down opposite the woman.

The woman said vigilantly, "You two are in the same group. She lied to me before. She was embarrassed to talk to me, right?"

"You asked her for a large dose of sleeping pills, how would she give you?

Euthanasia in Yonroeville is illegal." Elliot explained to Avery.

"Then why did she agree to me? You went back on her word, and you defended her! You two are indeed the same people!" The woman blushed with excitement, "Why are you two coming to me?"

"We want to ask you if you know the whereabouts of our daughter Haze. You told her last time that Haze might be in Aryadelle." When Elliot said this, the conversation changed, "You're lying to her, right? When I took down your gang, I asked all the people in your gang. And I gave a huge temptation, and I didn't ask my daughter's whereabouts."

The expression on the woman's face was a little embarrassed.

"Since you lied to her too, what right do you have to say she lied to you?" Elliot got the answer from her expression, "I'll ask you one last time, do you know the whereabouts of my daughter Haze! If you know, As long as you tell me the real clues, I will definitely keep you safe and rich, and if you dare to lie to me, I will make your life worse than death."

The woman's expression was a little tangled after hearing Elliot's words.

If only she knew Haze's whereabouts!

However, The woman really didn't know Haze... She didn't even meet Haze at all, so how could she provide Elliot with useful clues?

She really wanted to live, she wanted to leave Yonroeville and wanted to live a peaceful and rich life, but she didn't dare to deceive Elliot.

Now, she has only one path to choose. If she doesn't want to die, she can only take the risk.

"Elliot, you are really amazing." The woman looked admiring, "I did lie to her."

Elliot: "Don't mention this again. You just need to tell me whether you know my daughter Haze or not. "

"I know." The woman took a deep breath and lowered her voice, "If I tell you, can you really help me get out?"

Elliot narrowed his eagle eyes and looked puzzled. Avery asked her: "Since you know my daughter's whereabouts, why didn't you tell me before?!"

"Elliot, not everyone knows you. Besides, I already escaped, why should I believe you?" The woman said calmly, "It's my luck that I got caught anyway."

"Where is my daughter?! Where is she?" Elliot's uncontrollable cry came outside the door.

Hearing his voice, Avery immediately opened the door and strode in.

She walked to Elliot, glanced at the woman opposite, then looked at Elliot, wondering, "what's the matter?"

"Avery, you lied to me last time, but I also lied to you." The woman looked at Avery's face said word by word, "your daughter is still in Yonroeville. I know where she is. I can take you there, but I have a request."

"What request?!" Elliot and Avery in unison.

Chapter 1929

After thinking for a moment, the woman put forward her request.

After coming out of the detention center, Elliot received a call from the bodyguard.

Avery stepped aside, took out her mobile phone, and saw the missed calls and messages from her bodyguard. Before she came to the detention center today, she put her phone on silent mode.

It's out now, so she turns the mute off and called back to her bodyguard.

The bodyguard: "Boss! Where did you go?! You don't answer the phone and don't reply to messages, you're making me so anxious!"

"Don't worry, we just have something to do." Avery explained to the bodyguard, "We got up early today, so we didn't call you."

"How could you do this? Where are you now? Let's find you." Asked the bodyguard.

Avery hesitated for a moment and refused.

At the same time, Elliot also rejected the request made by his bodyguard: "You stay in the hotel. When I'm done with my work, if I need you to pick me up, I'll call you."

The woman made a request to the two of them. This afternoon, she will take them both to find Haze.

But not police station staff, nor personal bodyguards, the three of them went alone.

Elliot and Avery agreed without any hesitation.

The fact that the woman can reveal such a big clue of the corpse pit shows that she has many secrets of the criminal gang.

Now that she said she knew where Haze was, how could Elliot and Avery doubt her?

Besides, the woman is thin, even if Elliot doesn't go with her, Avery will not be afraid of her.

After talking on the phone, the two bodyguards looked at each other in the hotel lobby.

“What did your boss say?”

“What did your boss say?”

“My boss said she has something to deal with.” Avery’s bodyguard said, “What’s your boss’s reason?”

“Oh, my boss gave me a reason? You thinks my boss is Avery!” Elliot’s bodyguard said loudly, “My boss only gives me orders, does he need to explain to me? He is my boss, I am his subordinate, you stay by Avery’s side. Have you been a fool for a long time?”

Avery’s bodyguard sneered: “It’s my boss. There is only one person like my boss in the world. You can’t envy you.”

“I envy you! I don’t need it. My boss explained to me that as long as he pays me a salary!” Elliot’s bodyguard said arrogantly, “How much does Avery pay you a year?”

“How much does your boss pay you?” Avery’s bodyguard asked back.

“Look at your fellow, isn’t it too little? I’m sorry to say it.” Elliot’s bodyguard said, and took out his mobile phone, “Let’s show the salary slip together and compare it.”

“Compare it!” Avery’s bodyguard also took out his mobile phone.

In the afternoon.

Elliot took the woman out from the police chief’s office.

Avery sat in the driver’s seat and watched the two of them come out.

Chapter 1930

At lunch, the two of them discussed it.

In order to prevent this woman from having any unplanned actions, Avery drove while Elliot stared at the woman.

This woman is wearing handcuffs and shackles, and there should be no accident beyond her control.

After the two got into the car, Avery asked, "Can you tell us the address now?"

"Have you been to the corpse pit?" The woman asked.

"I've been there." Elliot's face suddenly gloomy, "You said Haze is in the corpse pit?!"

Avery's fingers holding the steering wheel tightened suddenly, ears pricked, waiting for the woman's answer.

"No, she's in another place." The woman replied firmly, "You drive the car over there first, and I'll show you the way when you're nearby."

Because the distance is a bit long, Elliot said to Avery: " Why don't I drive!"

"No, I can drive there." Avery turned on the navigation on her mobile phone, and drove the car on the road.

The atmosphere in the carriage was quiet and eerie.

Avery felt stuffy, as if someone was strangling her neck: "Is my daughter alive or dead?"

"If your daughter is still alive, do you think that with your carpet-like search, you can't find her whereabouts?" The woman's rhetorical question gave Elliot and Avery a heavy blow.

Avery's tears fell instantly. She immediately raised her hand and wiped away the tears.

Elliot's mood also became extremely solemn.

Elliot: "Avery, why don't you stop the car first!"

"It's okay... Even if she dies, I will take her bones home." Avery took a deep breath, holding back her eyes tears.

Elliot looked at the woman beside him and asked, "Is there another corpse pit?"

The woman hesitated for a while, and then let out a rough 'um' from her nose.

Avery's tears fell down again!

Elliot's back was numb for a while, and his voice trembled because he was too angry: "How many corpse pits are there?"

"Two." The woman saw Elliot's terrifying face, and immediately replied, "I'll take them later. There aren't many bones in the corpse pit you went to."

Elliot's Adam's apple moved up and down. It seems that he finally heard the news of the death of his daughter Haze.

Tears welled up in his eyes, his fists clenched tightly.

"Don't hate me... We didn't join that gang voluntarily. The women in that gang were basically deceived into it." The woman tried her best to explain, for fear that Elliot would turn his anger on himself. "After we went in, they first tried to lure us, and if the lure failed, they would coerce. If we would rather die than join us, we would be killed immediately."

"Who is not afraid of death!" The woman seemed to recall her tragic past, "I just left home. Running away, looking for a job... Who knew I was tricked into this criminal gang. What can I do? I don't want to die! I can only listen to them..."

"What's your name?" Elliot asked.

"My name is Kimora." The woman replied, "This is my name in the organization."

"What's your real name? Where is your hometown?" Elliot didn't know why he asked these questions.

Probably because she didn't want to hear her talk about her tragic experience.

Haze's death has made it impossible for him to care about the suffering of others.

"My real name is Sasha Johnstone, and I'm from another city in Yonroeville.

That place is close to the border of Yonroeville.”

Chapter 1931

“You came so far to find a job?” Elliot endured his grief, fearing that he would be too sad and affect Avery.

“My family forced me to marry an old man, and I didn’t want to... So I escaped. I thought about how far I could escape, so I escaped here...here Prosperity, many job opportunities...” Sasha said here, and did not continue.

Elliot looked at her with no killing intent.

Sasha breathed a sigh of relief. She didn’t want to reveal so much information about herself to outsiders. These are the deep wounds on her body. Telling them to others is equivalent to opening the wounds for others to see.

Avery listened to their chatting, and her heart was empty, but it was so painful.

In fact, she was already mentally prepared for the worst.

Now it’s just been confirmed.

After more than an hour, the car drove to the first corpse pit.

“Continue to drive forward, there will be a fork in the road, go to the fork on the right.” Sasha pointed the way to Avery, “I don’t know if the car can drive in that road, it is a dirt road, and it may not be easy to walk. If the car can’t get in, you can only go in.”

“How long will it take to get in?” Elliot asked cautiously.

“It’s estimated to take ten minutes to walk! That’s where the people of our gang live. It’s been abandoned for so long now that no one has lived there.” Sasha’s eyes were cold and unfocused, “Elliot, shouldn’t you? Repent, right? I will tell you the whereabouts of your daughter, I don’t ask you to give me money, just let me go free...”

“Wait until the bones are found and the DNA confirmation results come out.”

Elliot looked at her coldly.

Sasha began to feel uneasy again when she saw Elliot.

“Sasha, if my daughter is still alive, I will definitely keep you alive. But if my daughter is dead, even if you are forced to become a puppet of a criminal, you deserve to die! Including you who are still in prison. The gang, you all have to die!”

Elliot’s eyes were full of murderous intent, and he did not hide his determination at all.

Sasha’s face turned pale.

She thought that she had provided Elliot with this ‘clue’, and Elliot would keep herself alive.

Unexpectedly, Elliot and Avery were really the same thing, saying one thing with their mouths and doing something behind their backs.

“Yes... I don’t want to live for a long time! Last time I asked Avery for sleeping pills, when I wanted to be euthanized, I didn’t want to live anymore!” Sasha asked, “Can you euthanize me?”

Elliot glanced at the scenery outside the window and did not answer.

Avery had already driven the car into a fork in the road.

This fork in the road was overgrown with grass and rough, and the car stopped within two minutes of driving in.

“Get out of the car!” Avery glanced at Elliot, “Why don’t we both go over there!”

Sasha got off immediately: “You don’t know the location! I’ll take you there!”

Sasha was wearing shackles on her feet, she was in a hurry to get out of the car, so she jumped out of the car.

Elliot and Avery watched her get out of the car and were puzzled by what she said.

“Follow me.” Sasha quickly walked in front of them, “Do you think the core members of the criminal gang are ordinary people? They are all desperate madmen! Those houses are not ordinary houses.”

Elliot held Avery’s hand tightly.

It’s one thing that the road under their feet is not easy to walk. they always feel that there is an uncertain danger hidden in Sasha’s words.

Not an ordinary house, what kind of house is that?

After walking for about ten minutes, a row of dilapidated bungalows appeared in front of them.

There are six or seven houses in total.

These houses, surrounded by weeds, show no trace of human habitation.

“What do you mean by saying these are not ordinary houses?” Elliot suspected that there were traps or ambush in these houses.

Chapter 1932

Sasha looked back and smiled at Elliot and Avery.

“Do you think that row of houses looks like a prison cell?”

Elliot and Avery re-examined those houses.

Because those houses were surrounded by weeds, they didn’t look very carefully just now.

Now that they got closer, they could see that those houses were indeed a little different from ordinary houses.

Normal houses have doors and windows, but the houses in front of them have no doors.

“I’ll take you there, or you’ll get lost.” Sasha kept walking, moving forward quickly.

Elliot and Avery followed.

“On the ground, there is only one gate.” Sasha led them around to the gate.

The gate was on one side of the house, an iron gate.

Elliot held the handle and wanted to open the door, but couldn't.

Locked with a key.

"Don't worry, there is another entrance." Sasha said slowly, "There is another entrance, you can enter from the underground."

"Enter from the underground?" Avery exclaimed in shock.

"Yes. Criminals are extremely insecure in their hearts. We are afraid of the sun, afraid of the police, and hiding in the dark can make us feel safe. So there is a big basement here. It's better than the one you saw before. The corpse pit is much bigger."

Elliot held Avery's hand tightly and followed Sasha to the underground entrance.

They walked west for about two minutes and came to a manhole cover.

Sasha asked Elliot to remove the manhole cover.

"This is the entrance."

After Elliot removed the manhole cover, he saw a smooth board.

He moved the board away, and a large black hole appeared in front of him.

"Climb down this hole and you can reach the basement. Your daughter is in this basement. In addition to the bones of children, there are also the bones of adults. When the people inside us die, they are also thrown down. If you are not afraid of nausea, you can go down now. I will not go down with you because of my legs and feet."

Because Sasha has shackles on her hands and feet, it is really inconvenient to climb down.

"There's no lights down there, you'll have to turn on your flashlights. To the southwest of the basement, there's a door that opens, and you can go down the stairs to the house on the ground. But the house isn't anything to look at. If you see the child's corpse down there, it can prove that what I said is basically true.

You can go back the same way and ask others to remove the bones."

Sasha continued.

Elliot looked at Avery: "You stay upstairs, I'll go down and have a look."

Avery was worried that Elliot would go down alone, "I'll go down with you."

"No, what if there is danger down there?" Elliot thought The thing is, he goes down first. If there is danger below and he fails to come back within half an hour, she can call someone for rescue.

Sasha smiled contemptuously: "This place has been idle for three years, didn't you see the seal on the iron door just now? It was sealed by the police long ago.

It's just that they didn't know there was a basement below. Now there are only mice in the basement. For animals like cockroaches, the most dangerous thing should be ghosts. If you two are afraid, you can call someone to come and let them go down... But what you promised me before, don't go back on your word."

Sasha said this in one breath, and looked up at the sky: "It's too hot today, I'll go to the car to avoid it. Don't make me wait too long."

Sasha's voice was settled, and she turned back to the way she came.

Seeing Sasha leaving, Avery raised her eyes to look at Elliot: "I'll go down with you. It's too dark down there. It's a little scary to go down alone. We are together, and we have someone to take care of."

If Avery was left alone, she would definitely be afraid.

This basement was a completely unfamiliar environment to them.

They didn't know if it's really what Sasha said.

Elliot was not afraid of the dark, and if he went down alone, he would not be afraid.

But Avery's words moved him very much.

Avery said 'the two of us are together, we have someone to take care of'.

After walking a short distance, Sasha couldn't help but look back at the direction of Elliot and Avery.

They seem to have gone down.

Sasha's footsteps stopped, and a victorious smile appeared on his face.

Elliot, Avery, your time to die has come!

"Who would have thought that a big man in the business world would die in Sasha's hands so easily. Hahaha!" Sasha murmured, and after a while, a helicopter appeared in the sky.

On the ground, a group of men in black also appeared.

The group of men in black ran in the direction of the manhole cover.

Sasha walked over there.

"Weld the manhole cover to death! Then they won't be able to escape!" After Sasha walked over, he instructed the man in black, "There is no water below, no food, and within three days, they will starve to death inside hahahaha !"

The man in black was already prepared.

The manhole cover was welded to death shortly after.

The helicopter came to a slow stop not far behind them.

The shackles on Sasha's hands and feet were opened by the man in black with tools. After Sasha moved her hands and feet, she got into the helicopter.

"Is there a phone? I want to talk to Norah on the phone." Sasha made her request.

The person who came to pick up Sasha immediately dialed Norah Jones's number and handed her the phone.

After Sasha took over the phone, Sasha said to the person on the phone,

“Norah Jones, at the moment, you are reliable.”

“You have no choice but me.” Norah Jones’s tone was indifferent, “How is the situation over there now?”

Sasha said, “I saw Elliot and Avery enter the basement with my own eyes. Now the only exit has been welded. They will never get out. But they brought their mobile phones. I don’t know if there is a signal in the basement. I remember the basement signal is very strong The difference is very bad. But I’m not sure that there is a signal below.”

Norah Jones pondered for a few seconds before saying, “I’ll ask someone to set up a signal blocker.”

“Norah Jones, you help me like this because you have an enemy relationship with Elliot, right?”

“It’s not a grudge! But he’s not good enough for me either. Now that I have the opportunity to step on his shoulders and climb up, why would I not do it.

Moreover, Elliot only has Avery in his heart. One person, now I let them both go to hell together, and it’s not bad to be a ghost couple!”

Norah Jones’s voice was cold and ruthless. In her mind, various pictures of her past relationship with Elliot flashed.

The more she think about it, the more distressed she feels.

If Elliot was a little nice to her, she wouldn’t kill him now.

...

Basement.

After Elliot and Avery entered the basement down the hole, the light of the mobile phone flashlight hit a pile of bones at once.

The shocking picture and the rotten smell made Avery retching.

“Avery, don’t be afraid.” Elliot supported her and patted her on the back.

If he had known that he would come down to the ground, he would definitely bring a bottle of water.

“...I'm fine.” Avery quickly adjusted her mood, then looked at the light source,

“Why are all the bones of adults? I didn't see any children...”

Elliot: “Let's look carefully. Look, this basement is quite big.”

Chapter 1934

In the evening, the hotel.

The two bodyguards couldn't get through to their respective bosses on the phone, and they were in a hurry in the hotel lobby.

“It's so late, is it possible that they have come back?” Avery's bodyguard said,

“It's like they didn't tell us when they went out in the morning.”

Elliot's bodyguard frowned, and after a moment of thought, he said, “We have to go their presidential suite?”

“Okay.”

The two bodyguards took the elevator to the presidential suite.

Unexpectedly, there was a 'Do Not Disturb' sign on the door of the presidential suite where the two of them lived.

“D*mn it! I guessed it!” Avery's bodyguard exclaimed, “the two of them are back! I guess they are resting now!”

Elliot's bodyguard looked at the sign and nodded: “Then let's go to dinner first.

Let's go!”

“Okay! Since the two of them didn't look for the two of us, it means that the two of us are not needed for the time being.”

The two bodyguards walked towards the elevator and chatted.

Avery's bodyguard: “I don't know what they are doing during the day.”

Elliot's bodyguard: “Who knows! It's mysterious, and we won't let us follow... I don't know if Haze's whereabouts are found."

Avery's bodyguard: "Actually, I really want to go. Take a look at the corpse pit."

"I want to go too. I don't know if they went there today. The corpse pit is so far away, if my boss goes there, he will definitely ask me to go with him." Elliot's bodyguard said.

Avery's bodyguard sighed: "My boss is a bit stupid. Every time she goes anywhere, if I don't follow her, she won't call me. She's used to going by herself.

Although I'm her bodyguard, But more often, I feel like I show her the yard."

"That's why your salary is lower than mine." Elliot's bodyguard said, "But your salary is much higher than that of the yard. Avery is right. You are very nice."

Avery's bodyguard: "I know. I've always been very grateful to my boss."

Elliot's bodyguard: "I'm also very grateful to my boss. Although he's serious and looks hard to approach, he's very nice to the people around him."

"Secretly ask you something, your boss. In the past two years, have you found another woman?" Avery's bodyguard asked gossip.

Elliot's bodyguard looked vigilant: "This is my boss's private business, how can I say it?"

Avery's bodyguard: "Since you said that, then your boss must have been looking for..."

Elliot's bodyguard: "F*ck you! Your boss is not looking for it. Does she have a boyfriend? My boss is still single!"

Avery's bodyguard: "Some people have found a boyfriend, but they are still innocent, and some are single, but have fun in private life...It's your boss chasing my boss now. If you want to help your boss, then you should be more polite to me, and I can consider talking more about your boss in front of my boss."

Elliot's bodyguard: "Both of them are both now. They live in the same room, do you think they need your help to reconcile? Everyone is an adult, can you not be so childish. If your boss is not interested in my boss, can you give birth to so many children for my boss? What do I think?, it's because your boss can't do without my boss. My boss has been in Aryadelle, your boss won't go back to Aryadelle, can they meet each other?"

Avery's bodyguard: "You are the one who farts! My boss came back to find Haze."

Elliot's bodyguard: "No matter what the reason is, anyway, the two of them are hanging out together now! It's not dark, so 'do not disturb', guess what are they doing in the room?"

Avery's bodyguard: "It must be sleeping! My boss said she got up early in the morning."

Elliot's bodyguard: "You idiot! I think they probably won't be able to find Haze. But this trip can be regarded as a 'compound trip'. Maybe they will stay in the room for a few days."

Chapter 1935

Suburban, basement.

After Elliot and Avery found out that the exit was blocked, they searched for the exit to the ground-level bungalow in the basement.

Sadly, that door was locked from the outside. They can't open at all.

After finding that they could not get out of the two exits, they immediately took out their mobile phones and planned to call for help.

However, in the basement, the mobile phone has no signal at all.

They have realized how difficult the situation they are facing.

"Why did Sasha do this?" Avery leaned on Elliot's shoulder and said in a low voice, "Is it because I deceived her in the hospital last time?"

"It shouldn't be. She definitely has a helper." Elliot's voice was cold. "There are only two possibilities. Either this criminal gang was not cleaned up at the beginning, and more than one Sasha escaped. They wanted to kill us and avenge the accomplice who was executed before. Or Sasha was bought by others. "

"I think the latter is more likely." Avery pondered for a moment and said, "Sasha said that most of the people in that gang were forced. I think their hearts may not be aligned. Who bought Sasha? Elliot, did you tell your friends from Yonroeville about your itinerary this time?"

"No. After Haze's accident, I have very little contact with this side." Elliot's brain speeded up Running, thinking of ways to escape.

But the mobile phone had no signal, the exit was blocked, it was stuffy and damp, and he was already hungry.

"Avery, are you hungry?" Elliot asked.

"Well...Are you hungry too?" Avery asked back.

"A bit." Elliot's breath was a little dignified, "I didn't expect that we would be trapped here. Avery, I just thought of a way, we can only wait for someone to save us now. If our bodyguards are not in danger, they should find a way to find us."

"Yeah." Avery ate less at noon, and now she was too hungry to have any strength.

Elliot: "Avery, don't be pessimistic. Stay awake and don't go to sleep yet."

"But talking all the time is exhausting." Avery reached out and rubbed her empty stomach, "Actually, there is still good news."

"Huh?" Elliot didn't know what's the good news.

“There are no children’s bones here. Sasha lied. Haze may still be alive.” Avery felt much better when she thought of this possibility.

“I don’t know if we can get out alive.” Elliot really wanted to see Haze with his own eyes.

Now Haze’s life and death are unknown, and he and Avery are also on the line.

“Don’t think about it so much.” Avery comforted, “Life and death are destiny, death is not so scary.”

“Death is not scary, what is scary is that when you die, you will never see people you care about. I can’t bear our children.” Elliot said regretfully, “Don’t you want to be reluctant?”

“Of course I am. It’s just that we are trapped in this place with no signal. Even if our bodyguards find out that we are missing, they may not be able to find us here.” Avery said pessimistically, “Elliot, let’s have a heart-to-heart talk!”

Elliot: “Aren’t we talking heart-to-heart all the time?”

“We are already dying, so in every sentence that follows, we will only speak the truth, okay?” Avery raised her head and looked at Elliot.

His cell phone flashlight was always on.

Avery looked into his eyes through the faint light.

“Okay.” Elliot pressed her head on his shoulder again, “You ask first.”

“Aside from the child factor, do you still love me?” Avery asked.

Chapter 1936

“I never didn’t love you.” Elliot didn’t think about it, and said what he said in his heart, “Sometimes there is friction, if you don’t listen to my explanation, don’t listen to me, even if I hate you at the time, it will soon be Forget your hatred for you.”

Avery heard his answer, her nose slightly sour. She wants to talk, but she doesn't know what to say.

Elliot: "Avery, it's not because we have so many children and I want to give them a complete home, so I lowered my head and pursued you again. This causal relationship is just the opposite."

"Elliot, stop talking." The light flickered, and she held back, so she didn't cry.

In fact, Avery still has a lot of small questions she wants to ask him. But now, she felt that the latter issue was no longer important.

"Avery, I also have a lot of questions to ask you." Elliot said. Even if he dies, he still wants to be a clear ghost.

"I won't ask you, so don't ask me." Avery said, "If you think it's unfair, then I can answer a question for you."

"Okay." Elliot planned to think about it and ask her what question.

"Elliot, I love you too." Avery didn't give him time to think, "I only answer your question."

Elliot smiled bitterly: "Avery, I'm not going to ask you whether you love me or not. If you love me, of course it's the best result, but if you don't love me, I will do what I want."

"I only admit to answering your question. There is no need to ask other questions." Avery sniffed.

"Indeed. With this answer, other things are not important." Elliot put away his curiosity.

Elliot was going to ask her about Billy.

But judging from his attitude, Avery probably didn't intend to answer.

"Elliot, are you cold?" Avery felt a little hard to breathe, "I'm so cold all of a sudden."

Elliot heard that her breath was unsteady, and he immediately took her into his arms: "It's really cold here. Avery, Stay boil. As long as the rescuers come, we can be saved."

"I'm so hungry..." Avery leaned against his arms, her voice low, "I knew I would have eaten more at noon."

"It's okay.When we go out, we will bring you what you want to eat. What we don't want to eat now, let's think about the children... Is it possible for them to video call you tonight? If they can't get through your video call, they will be very anxious." Elliot whispered in her ear.

Avery's breathing was a little heavy. She heard his voice, but didn't answer. She wants to save her physical strength as much as possible and stay up until rescue arrives as long as she can.

"Avery, I saw a piece of news on my phone last time." Elliot continued to whisper, "There was an earthquake in one place, and some houses collapsed. There was a little boy buried in the rubble without water and food. The rescue was underway. On the seventh day, just when everyone thought that under the ruins, no one would be alive, the boy was rescued. The boy was still alive..."

Avery replied softly.

Bridgedale.

In the morning, after Robert had breakfast, he suddenly missed his father, so he was clamoring to make a video call for his father.

Layla couldn't beat him, so she dialed Dad's number.

"Huh? Is my dad's phone off?" Layla couldn't get through to her dad, so she dialed her mom's number. After a while, she frowned, "Why can't my mother's cell phone get through? Why did the two of them shut down together?"

After Layla finished speaking, Hayden frowned immediately.

“Brother, I can’t get through to my parents, try calling.” Layla put down the phone and looked at her brother.

Hayden went to get his phone.

After getting the phone, he dialed his mother’s number.

—Sorry, the number you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later.

Chapter 1937

“I can’t get through my mother’s number either.” Hayden did not continue to call Elliot’s number.

Layla can’t get through, so Hayden can’t get through either.

“What time is it over there now? Are they both sleeping?” Layla asked.

Hayden glanced at the time: “they probably haven’t slept yet. It’s eight o’clock in the evening on their side.”

“Oh...I’ll call the bodyguard uncle to ask.” Layla picked up the phone and listed in the address book, found the bodyguard’s phone number and dialed it.

Fortunately, the bodyguard quickly answered the phone.

“Uncle bodyguard, my brother wants to make a videocall for my dad, but my dad’s phone can’t get through.” Layla spoke first.

Bodyguard: “Did you call your mother? The two of them live together.”

“If I call, I can’t get through.” Layla glanced at her brother, “My brother has to make a video call for my father. But why are they both turned off? Is it?”

The bodyguard blushed: “Layla, don’t you really want your parents to get back together? The two of them are resting in the room now...The two of them put up a ‘do not disturb’ sign on the door, so they should not want to be disturbed. You ask your brother to stop arguing and wait for the two of them. I’ll make up with you, of course I’ll call you.” The bodyguard explained.

“Oh, I see.” Layla hung up the phone and coaxed her brother, “Mom and Dad are already asleep. When they’re asleep, they’ll call.”

“Call him.” Robert was angry.

“Dad is coaxing mum! When he coaxes mum, mum will stay with us.” Layla taunted, “Don’t you want mum to live with us? And brother... It’s great for our family of five to live together!”

Hayden: “Layla, if you help Elliot chase your mother, then don’t call me brother.”

Layla blushed and denied: “I didn’t help Dad! I really didn’t!”

Hayden: “I just remind you “

Layla: “Brother, don’t you believe me?”

“How can I believe you when you said that?” Hayden didn’t want to be too serious, for fear of scaring his younger sister, so he said, “We also have a younger sister named Haze. Counting Elliot, we are indeed a family of five.”

Layla pursed her mouth: “I think my mother will want my father.”

“Sister Haze. In this way, we have four brothers and sisters in our family, how lively!” Layla looked forward to the picture of family reunion.

Yonroeville.

The next morning.

After the two bodyguards got up, they first took a look at the presidential suite.

There is still a ‘Do Not Disturb’ sign on the door.

The two looked at each other.

“It’s nine o’clock. Did you say they had breakfast?” Avery’s bodyguard asked.

“How do I know that? Even if they’re hungry, they can order food and have it delivered to their room. They don’t even need to go to the restaurant.”

Guard Avery’s bodyguard sighed, “Why don’t we two go to the corpse pit?”

“Even if we go, we must tell the boss. What if the boss needs us later?” Elliot’s bodyguard touched his chin, “Call your boss and try. See if you can get through.”

Avery’s bodyguard immediately took out his mobile phone and dialed Avery.

Chapter 1938

The phone didn’t get through.

“You try to call your boss?” Avery’s bodyguard said.

Elliot’s bodyguard also wanted to visit the corpse pit, so he called Elliot.

“I can’t get through either! Did the two of them make an appointment to shut down together?”

“It’s possible. Why don’t we go to the corpse pit now! Come back after reading it, so that it won’t be too long.” The bodyguards are not very afraid of Avery, so they are more casual.

After thinking for a few seconds, Elliot’s bodyguard said, “I’ll send a message to my boss first.”

Avery’s’s bodyguard: “Then I’ll send a message to my boss as well.”

After the two bodyguards sent messages to their respective bosses, they left the hotel and drove to the suburbs. .

The weather is rather cloudy today, and it seems to rain at any time.

The scene was gray, with a hint of horror.

Two bodyguards, wearing masks, walked to the edge of the cordon.

“Idle people, please don’t get close!” A staff member came over and reminded them.

Avery’s bodyguard wanted to approach the corpse pit too much, so he said, “We are Elliot’s bodyguards. We came here to see the day before yesterday afternoon.”

Elliot's bodyguard looked at Avery's bodyguard in disbelief, and his eyes were saying: You are too shameless!

Avery's bodyguard whispered in his ear: "We finally drove over for more than an hour. It's a pity not to come and see."

The staff did not hear their whispers, but recognized them both.

Elliot and Avery came over the day before yesterday afternoon, and these two tall bodyguards also came.

"Why didn't Mr. Foster and Miss Tate come?" The staff asked them to enter the cordon.

"They are tired today, so let's come over and have a look." Avery bodyguard said in a serious manner.

"Oh, let's see! The work here is actually quite boring, that is, to bring up the bones below. There is nothing else to do except look at the bones." The staff chatted with the two of them.

"Yeah, but it's quite shocking to see so many corpses at once." Avery's bodyguard said.

"It's the first time I've seen such a scene in the past few years... It's no wonder that Miss Tate couldn't stand it the day before yesterday. Is she sick?" The staff said, "I remembered that Miss Tate said she wanted to help."

"Did they not come yesterday?" Elliot's bodyguard couldn't help but ask.

The staff was stunned for a moment: "Didn't come! Don't you know their itinerary?"

"They left early yesterday and didn't let us follow..." The bodyguard explained embarrassingly, "I knew they definitely didn't come here. They will definitely take us when they come so far away."

"Then they may have gone to the hospital yesterday! The workload of testing is still quite large. Like our side, it is basically manual work, but it is not really necessary. Miss Tate is here to help.” The staff looked at the two of them, “Did you come here today just to have a look?”

The two bodyguards were stunned.

“To be honest, we are a bit short of manpower here.” The staff sighed, “You see that the weather is not very good today, it may rain at any time. But there are so many corpses on the ground here, and they have to be transported to the car in front. ...that car can’t be driven ... our staff are exhausted a few batches ...”

The two bodyguards looked at each other and said, “Then let’s help. “

“Thank you, thank you! Thank you so much! I’ll get you protective suits!”

In this way, the two bodyguards went from running around to watch the excitement to becoming free porters.

The two of them hummed and spent a whole day in the corpse pit.

Returning to the hotel in the evening, the two walked to the lobby and sat down on the sofa in the lobby tacitly.

Chapter 1939

“My boss still hasn’t found me.” Avery’s guard glanced at his mobile phone, and the message he sent to Avery in the morning has not yet received a reply.

Before that, he sent Avery a message, and Avery would reply.

“My boss didn’t look for me either.” Elliot’s bodyguard glanced at his phone, feeling a little desperate, “It’s all your fault! What corpse pit! I’m exhausted!”

“Will you blame me? Others are too busy, let’s help What’s the matter... Helping them is equivalent to helping our boss. My boss said the day before yesterday that he was going to help in the corpse pit!” Avery’s guard was not so resentful in his heart, “Is my boss really sick?”

“Your boss is sick, why should my boss shut down? If your boss is sick, my boss will definitely send her to the hospital. It's impossible for two people to be locked in a room and completely lose contact with the outside world, right?" Elliot's bodyguard insisted, "The two are living in the two-person world in the room!" Avery's security guard frowned: "My boss is here to find Haze, unless she knows that Haze is dead, and she won't be in the mood to be locked in the room with your boss to be nice to me."

"Hey, it's so annoying! I won't go to the corpse pit tomorrow! I'm going to you!"

Elliot's bodyguard said irritably, "I really want to knock on my boss's door, no matter what they do, let us both know. We are like headless flies now."

"Go and knock the door." Avery's bodyguard said.

"You guy, I really despise you!" Elliot's bodyguard got up from the sofa and strode towards the elevator.

Avery's bodyguard: "If you dare to ring their doorbell, I'll call you brother!"

"I don't want your cowardly brother!" Elliot's bodyguard looked disgusted.

The two entered the elevator and pressed the floor where the presidential suite was located.

Not long after, they came to the door of the presidential suite.

There was still a 'Do Not Disturb' sign on it.

Elliot's bodyguard was stunned in an instant.

Avery's heart sank, stretched out his hand, and pressed the doorbell.

Elliot's bodyguard looked at him in shock: "F*ck, didn't you say you didn't dare?"

"When the door opens, I'll say you pressed it, okay?" Avery's bodyguard looked calm.

Elliot's bodyguard raised his foot and kicked his a$$.

As time passed by, the breathing of the two gradually became solemn, and the expressions on their faces gradually became tense.

After five minutes of waiting, they both looked at each other.

Avery's bodyguard: "What should I do? They won't open the door!"

"How do I know what to do? It's the first time I've come out with my boss, but I can't get in touch with my boss." Elliot's bodyguard looked distressed.

Avery's bodyguard: "Me too! My boss never turns off the phone as long as it has power."

"Didn't Layla call and ask in the morning? You call Layla now and ask Layla if her parents have called her back." Avery's bodyguard became wise in a hurry,

"The two of them ignore us, it's impossible to ignore Layla!"

Elliot's bodyguard immediately turned on his mobile phone and dialed Layla.

"Uncle bodyguard, do you have anything to do with me?" Layla's voice came clear.

"Layla, did your parents call you today?"

Layla: "No! I'm waiting for them to call me!"

"Oh oh oh..." Elliot's bodyguard was instantly anxious, "I haven't been able to contact them since last night. There's a 'do not disturb' sign on the door of their room. I rang the doorbell just now, but they didn't open the door."

"Huh?!" Layla exclaimed, "What's the matter with them?! Why can't they come out of the room? Why can't they open the door?"

Layla couldn't understand Mom and Dad's behavior.

Chapter 1940

"Layla, what's wrong?" Mike's voice came.

"Uncle Mike, the bodyguard uncle called me and said that my parents couldn't get through on the phone. No one opened the door when they rang the doorbell." Layla told Mike, "Will something happen to them?"

Mike looked puzzled, took Layla's phone and asked, "What's going on?"

The bodyguard told Mike everything.

“Avery’s bodyguard and I haven’t been able to contact them since last night.

Today we went to the corpse pit, and the people there said they didn’t go to the corpse pit yesterday. But they both went out very early yesterday. I can still get in touch, but I couldn’t get in touch at all in the afternoon. I don’t know where the two of them went yesterday? I can’t help but wonder if they are in the room at all...”

Mike: “Hanging at the door of the room The sign?”

“Yeah! If it wasn’t for the sign, we would have panicked!”

Mike thought for a few seconds, then said, “If they were in the room, they would definitely order a meal. Go to the hotel manager and check order information out.”

“Oh, what else?”

“You can also check the monitoring of their return to the room yesterday. See if they really returned to the room.” Mike continued, “Actually, the easiest way is to find the hotel manager. Open the door of their room and go in to see if they are inside.”

After Mike told the bodyguard the method, he was confused.

After hanging up, Mike found his mobile phone and called Avery.

The phone really can’t get through.

He sent another message to Avery.

“Uncle Mike, will something happen to my parents?” Layla felt anxious, “Why don’t we go find them?”

“Even if you want to go, you and Robert can’t go.” Mike said, “I’ve asked your dad’s bodyguards to check it out. We’ll know what happened to them soon.”

Layla pursed her mouth and looked at outside the door, her eyes are wide open:

“Why hasn’t my brother come back yet?”

“Layla, don’t be afraid. Even if something happens to your parents, it won’t be a big deal. Your father has many friends over there, and they’ll definitely take care of you.” Mike reassured Layla, but he was really not sure.

This thing was so weird.

Avery went to Yonroeville to find Haze, she has no reason to stay in the room with Elliot and not go out!

Yonroeville.

The two bodyguards went to the housekeeping manager, hoping that the other party would open the presidential suite.

The manager was a little embarrassed: “Generally, guests hang a ‘do not disturb’ sign on the door of the room, indicating that the guests are in the room. Because the sign is placed in the room. If the guests are not in the room, what happens outside their room? Is there such a sign?”

The manager’s answer left the two bodyguards not knowing how to answer.

“But we really can’t get in touch with them. Go and check their order information for us today? See if they have ordered. It won’t violate their privacy, right?”

Avery’s bodyguard said.

“This is also an invasion of guests’ privacy. But since what you said is so serious, then I will go to the food and beverage department to check. However, they may not necessarily order food in our food and beverage department.

There are also many restaurants outside our hotel, which also provide door-to-door service.” The manager replied.

“Then don’t check their order information today. You can go directly to check the surveillance of their return to the room yesterday! We want to know when they returned to the room yesterday.” Elliot’s bodyguard said, “We need to determine now whether they are there or not in the room.”

“Okay, I’ll send someone to check.”

“You can take us directly to your monitoring room, and we can check it ourselves.” Elliot’s bodyguard said, “Just show us the monitoring device at the door of their room.”

“Yes.”

The manager took two bodyguards to the monitoring room.

About two hours later, Layla’s number called again on the bodyguard’s phone.

Chapter 1941

The bodyguard’s eyes were almost bloodshot when he looked at the surveillance camera. He heard the phone ring and answered the phone immediately.

“Did you find it?” On the other side of the phone, it was Mike’s voice.

Bodyguard: “We asked the manager to open their door, but the manager refused. Now we are in the monitoring room to check when they returned to the room yesterday. I have watched the monitoring for two hours, but I still haven’t seen them come back.”

Mike said in his heart Even more disturbed: “Doesn’t your boss have an acquaintance in Yonroeville? You might as well find that acquaintance, ask that person to come forward, and go directly to their room to see.”

The bodyguard did not have Nick’s phone number, but knew where Nick’s house was.

It takes about an hour to go to Nick’s house from here.

“Okay! I’ll let Avery’s security guard check and monitor, and I’ll go to Nick.” After Elliot’s bodyguard hung up the phone, he immediately went to Nick.

40 minutes later, the bodyguard came to Nick’s house.

Nick was a little surprised to hear that Elliot and Avery came to Yonroeville.

“The two of them came over and didn’t even tell me.” Nick immediately went out with the bodyguard, "How could they both disappear... But it's a bit strange that they both shut down together."

Nick followed. The bodyguard came to the hotel where they were staying.

The hotel manager immediately swiped the door of the presidential suite open.

The room was pitch black.

The bodyguard reached out and pressed the switch, but the light didn't respond at all.

Their room card was not inserted into the power card slot.

They...not in the room!

The manager was a little panicked and immediately inserted his own card into the power card slot.

After turning on the light in the room, they could see the huge living room, without Elliot and Avery.

The two bodyguards immediately went to the suite to look for it.

There were five rooms in total, and they were quickly checked out.

The faces of the two bodyguards were ashen, as if they were greatly stimulated.

"They're not in the room! Where did they go?!"

Nick asked with a gloomy face, "Did you contact them yesterday morning? Did they say where they were on the phone?"

"My boss said they didn't go. It's very far away, so he didn't call me." Avery guarded back.

Elliot's bodyguard said: "My boss didn't tell me anything. He just said that he will call me when he needs me."

"Do you remember when they were on their way back last night, they said they were going to see the person who exposed the corpse pit the next day?!"

"F*ck! I remembered it! It seems so!"

They immediately walk out of the suite.

“Boss Nick, where are you going?!” Elliot’s bodyguard strode after him.

“Go to the detention center where the prisoner is being held, and check if Elliot really went there yesterday.” Nick glared at the bodyguard, “The two of you haven’t been able to contact them since yesterday, so why didn’t you tell me tonight?”

“It’s all his fault!” Elliot’s bodyguard threw the blame at Avery’s bodyguard, “We went to the corpse pit in the morning to watch the fun, and he insisted on agreeing to move the bones of others... We are over the corpse pit today. It’s been a day...”

“Outrageous!” Nick glared at both of them, “What are the responsibilities of the bodyguard, I don’t think you two have any idea at all! If something happens to the two of them, you two will follow Burial!”

Chapter 1942

The two bodyguards shivered with fright.

They thought Elliot and Avery were happy in the room, but who knew they were missing!

If they had known that the two of them were missing, the two bodyguards would have already exploded the pot, and they would not have the intention to see any corpse pits, let alone go there to be free porters for a day.

After a while, Mike’s phone called again.

The bodyguard told him about the disappearance of Elliot and Avery.

“We’re going to find their whereabouts with Boss Nick now. If I can’t find my boss and Avery, I won’t dare to go back.”

Mike hung up the phone after hearing the news.

Avery is missing!

She just went to Yonroeville and disappeared! It was absurd that he disappeared together with Elliot!

“What’s the situation?” Chad saw Mike’s pale face, and immediately pulled him aside.

“The two of them are missing! Elliot’s bodyguard said it.” Mike took a deep breath, “No, I have to go there!”

“My boss and Avery disappeared together?” “What the h-e-l-l is going on?! It’s only been two days since the two of them? Two days, right?”

“Two and a half days.” Mike gritted his teeth, “I’m going to Yonroeville now, and you stay here and watch the children.”

“What nonsense are you talking about! You stay at home and watch the child, I’ll go to Yonroeville.” Chad retorted him, “The child is more familiar with you, and besides, I can talk to Nick and the others.

“Then you go now.” Mike was very worried about whether the two of them had encountered an accident considering that it happened more suddenly and unexpectedly.

“Okay.” Chad took out his mobile phone and wanted to book a flight.

“We have very few flights to Yonroeville here! I’ll charter a special plane for you to fly there.” Mike opened the address book and found a number to dial.

After booking a special plane, Mike planned to send Chad out.

Hayden has returned, and Layla and Robert have been staring at them.

Several children already knew what was going on from their faces and from the words just now.

“My parents...” Layla’s eyes were already red, and she was crying.

“I don’t know what’s going on right now. I’ll take Chad to the airport first. Don’t rush to cry, I think they’ll be fine!” After Mike finished talking to the three children, he sent Chad away.

Layla immediately threw herself into Hayden's arms.

Robert followed her sister and rushed to Hayden.

Hayden was protecting the other in one hand, and his heart was very heavy, but he couldn't show panic in his younger brother and sister: "Don't cry first. I'll call my mother's bodyguard to ask what's going on."

"Oh... Okay." Layla let go of her brother and picked him up.

Hayden called Avery's bodyguard.

After the bodyguard answered the phone, the tone of guilt came: "I'm sorry Hayden. I didn't protect your mother. I can't contact her now, and I don't know where she went."

"Where did she go before she disappeared? Who did she go to see?" Hayden asked.

The bodyguard replied, "We are going to the detention center now. I suspect that she and Elliot went to the detention center yesterday to see the accomplice who exposed the corpse pit! The evening before yesterday, they agreed to go to see the accomplice yesterday. We have just arrived at the detention center. The boss went to the director here. I'll let you know as soon as there is any news later."

"Why didn't you follow when my mother went to see that accomplice at the detention center?" Hayden's eyes were cold with anticipation.

"She got up very early yesterday morning. When I woke up, she had already gone out with Elliot. I didn't ask her where she was, and she didn't ask me to find her." Hayden had a headache listening to his explanation.

His mom has been missing for over a day! If only they had found out that Mom was missing sooner!

Chapter 1943

Not long after, Nick came out of the director's office with a gloomy face and a gloomy wind all over his body.

"Boss Nick, what did the director say?" The two bodyguards approached Nick and asked.

"Elliot and Avery did come here yesterday. They met the female prisoner in the morning. They took the female prisoner away in the afternoon." Nick told them from the information from the director, "Yesterday afternoon, they took the female prisoner away. After that, they haven't come back yet. The director can't contact Elliot either."

"It means that the three of them disappeared together?" Elliot's bodyguard widened his eyes and said incredulously, "What the h-e-l-l is going on?"

Nick said, "I don't know what happened after they left. I have asked the director to check the license plate number of the car they drove yesterday afternoon. Find that car first. You two go back to the hotel first."

"We can't do anything when we go back to the hotel... Boss Nick, let's follow you!" Elliot's bodyguard was heartbroken.

Nick said, "Go back to the hotel and wait for them! What if they go back to the hotel. You should wait in their presidential suite!"

"Oh, okay!"

The two bodyguards left the detention center.

About half an hour later, Nick got the license plate number of the car that Avery and Elliot drove yesterday afternoon.

The car was at the hotel where they are staying, and it is the car that the hotel rents to the guests.

After Nick found the car information, he immediately contacted the hotel and asked the hotel to verify whether the car was rented by Elliot and Avery.

After a while, the hotel gave feedback: "This car was indeed rented by Mr. Foster. It has not been returned yet."

"Is the car he rented installed with a GPS positioning system? I can't contact him now, so we need to be found by finding the car."

"Mr. Foster rented a vehicle with a GPS positioning system. I'll ask someone to check the current position of the car right away."

"When you find it, give me a reply immediately!"

Nick was thinking, who was Elliot and Avery being plotted by!

They lost contact together, something must have happened.

If nothing happened, the two of them would never disappear together.

But Elliot and Avery have no enemies here, who will deal with them?

Nick couldn't figure it out.

After an unknown amount of time, Nick's cell phone rang.

He answered the phone –

"Mr. Nick, we have found the location of the car that Mr. Elliot rented. The location of the car shows that it is near the train station. We have already sent someone to look for it near the train station."

After the hotel gave an answer, Nick immediately took people to the train station.

Elliot and Avery drove the female prisoner to the train station?

What are they doing at the train station?

It always feels like things are getting farther and farther away!

It seems that someone is manipulating this matter, deliberately not letting them see the truth.

The next day.

Chad came to Yonroeville.

After coming to Yonroeville, he found Nick directly.

“Chad, the situation is more complicated now.” Nick didn’t sleep well all night, his eyes were full of bloodshot eyes, “The car that Elliot and Avery rented were found near the train station. But I think they definitely didn’t go.”

Chad: “Did you go to the corpse pit to find it? They came for this corpse pit.”

Chapter 1944

Nick yawned, “Not yet. I only found out that the two of them came to Yonroeville last night. The corpse pit is in the far suburbs, and there are always staff working there. Their bodyguards I spent a day at the corpse pit yesterday, and I didn’t say that Elliot and Avery had been there.”

Chad felt sad: “Boss Nick, who do you think will attack my boss and Avery?”

“I can’t guess. I thought about it all night last night and couldn’t sleep. I called my second and fourth brothers and they were shocked. Elliot and I have the best personal relationship, but the relationship between them is the best. It’s not bad! The two of them are not in Yonroeville at the moment, but after hearing about Elliot’s incident, if there is anything they can help, feel free to speak up.”

Nick said this to tell Chad – if anyone dares to come here This land attacked Elliot, and all he could think of was the second and fourth.

But in fact, the two of them had no motive to attack Elliot.

“I heard that there is also a female prisoner who disappeared together. Has the female prisoner not been found yet?” Chad got off the plane and turned it on, and saw the detailed information that Mike sent him.

He always found this to be rather odd.

If it wasn’t Elliot and Avery who were missing, Chad would definitely think it was a kidnapping case.

But how could a female prisoner kidnap Elliot and Avery?

Nick said, "No. There must be a conspiracy behind this. Elliot and Avery are together, and there may be a force on the female prisoner's side. If not, how could the three of them have an accident? The car they rented was found at the train station. But the console of the car was damaged. This can't be done by Elliot and Avery?"

After the news, his face turned pale.

If it weren't for sitting on the sofa, he would definitely be unsteady now.

After chatting with Nick, Chad called Mike back.

"Chad, what's the situation over there now?" Mike didn't sleep a night.

If it wasn't for Layla and Robert by his side, Mike would definitely go to Yonroeville with Chad.

"The console of the car they rented at the hotel was damaged. Although there was no blood on the car, they must have been kidnapped! The kidnappers didn't contact us, which means that the kidnappers were not for money... .. Nick suspects that they were killed." Chad said here, couldn't help choking, "I don't know what to do now! There is no clue, no one can find them..."

On the other side of the phone, After Mike answered Chad's call, Mike's cell phone was snatched by Hayden.

After Hayden heard Chad's words, his face was ashen and his expression was gloomy!

He returned the phone to Mike.

"You are watching my sister and brother at home, I will go to Yonroeville to find my mother!" After Hayden finished speaking, he immediately returned to his room to pack his things.

Not long after, Hayden came out of the room with a backpack on his back.

“Hayden, didn’t you implant a positioning chip in your mother’s mobile phone?”

Mike suddenly remembered this, “Have you searched her mobile phone for positioning?”

“There is no signal in Yonroeville. We have to go there and build a special one. Only the base station can find my mother’s signal.” After Hayden finished speaking, he left without looking back.

The reason why he didn’t go with Chad last night was because he needed to arrange everything in advance.

Now that he has fully deployed, he will be able to find his mother’s mobile phone in Yonroeville within three days at most.

As long as you find the mother’s mobile phone, you can see all the whereabouts of the mother in the past few days.

Even if my mother is no longer with her mobile phone, she can find out what happened to her through her whereabouts.

After Hayden went out, Mike called Chad.

“Hayden is leaving for Yonroeville now.”

Chad frowned: “What is Hayden doing here? Isn’t he going to school? He can’t help if he comes, you can’t let his temper come.”

“You don’t have to worry about snacks. Come on! He’s going, who can stop him?” Mike said lightly, “Besides, he passed and didn’t look for you again.”

Avoid other websites because I am the only one who worked hard. I’m providing the tra

Chapter 1945

“If Hayden doesn’t come to me, who will he look for? Even if he doesn’t come to me, I’ll find him! I can’t let him go his own way... In case something happens to him again, what should I do?” Chad thought of this, his head was big.

“You’ll know when you see Hayden.” Mike said, “Go to the hotel to rest first! If Nick can’t find out, it’s useless for you to worry.”

Chad: “D*mn it! I can’t sleep!”

Mike: “Go to bed if you can’t sleep! I’ll call you when Hayden arrives.”

Chad: “Okay!”

After Chad contacted Elliot’s bodyguard, he came to the hotel where they stayed.

Chad took a look at the presidential suite with a depressed expression.

“Chad, why don’t you come and live in this suite with us!” The bodyguard invited, “Boss Nick said he would find out, we’ll just wait here for the result.”

Chad glared at the bodyguard: “I...I really don’t want to scold people, but what stupid things did you two do?! I’ll hire a f*cking dog to watch them, so I won’t lose sight of them!”

The two bodyguards bowed their heads in shame.

“Chad, there is definitely someone behind this matter!” Elliot’s bodyguard said indignantly after being silent for a while, “We both come to check on the door of their room every day. There is a ‘do not disturb’ sign on the door of their room. This sign They didn’t let them go.”

“Have you checked the surveillance?” Chad roared.

“I checked. It was hung by a person in a cleaner’s uniform. The hotel went to check all the cleaners, but no one recognized them.”

With the bodyguard, the mood is even heavier.

He went to rest in the last spare room in the suite. A few hours later, the phone rang and he sat up in shock.

“Hayden is here.” Mike said, “You can call him!”

“Got it.” Chad had a severe headache.

After hanging up, he dialed Hayden's number.

The phone can get through, but Hayden didn't answer.

Hayden was at Nick's house. Nick looked at Hayden and looked at it for three minutes before he recovered.

"You are so big now?" Nick exclaimed, "You and your father are really carved out of the same mold."

"Uncle Nick, I want to build a base station in the city center. After I find my mother, I will put The base station is torn down." Hayden made his request to Nick.

"What base station? Is it a base station that our Yonroeville doesn't have?"

"Well. My mother has a chip in her cell phone. I can only find her signal by building a base station here." Hayden explained the situation to Nick, " If you go through the formal application channels of your country, you should not be allowed."

Nick: "You are here to open the back door for me!"

Hayden: "I want to find my mother."

"you want to find them too." Nick was worried, "Are you sure? If you build a base station, you can find your mother's whereabouts?"

"Sure." Hayden said firmly.

Nick looked at him differently: "How to build a base station? You are a child..."

"I brought someone here." Hayden said, "The corresponding equipment has also been shipped."

Chapter 1946

Nick was shocked: "Take me to see it."

"You promise me first and let me build a base station." Hayden stood there and didn't move.

“I’m afraid it won’t work in the center of the city. It’s too ostentatious, and it may disturb people I can’t figure out. Uncle Nick, although I have some ability, I can’t do whatever I want.” Nick said, “Is it okay to be in a slightly remote place? “

“Alright.” Hayden finished and walked out.

Nick followed behind him.

Obviously Hayden is a ten-year-old child, but Nick feels that he has become Hayden’s old follower.

Nick let Hayden get into his car and planned to take him to find a place.

Nick: “Hayden, what kind of chip is the chip in your mother’s phone?”

Hayden: “Location chip.”

“Oh, did you buy it? Was it something developed by Bridgedale? I’ve heard that mobile phones have a positioning system. But if the phone is turned off, it will not be able to locate.” Nick is very interested in this positioning chip.

“I didn’t buy it. The chip in my mother’s phone can be located even if the phone is turned off. The premise is that there is a corresponding base station.

Bridgedale has such a base station, but you don’t have one here.” Hayden’s answer made Nick confused.

Hayden: “It’s equal to this positioning system, which is different from the positioning systems on the market here.”

“Well.” Hayden didn’t want to continue to answer this question, so he took out his mobile phone and answered Chad’s call.

“Hayden! I called you several times, but you didn’t answer. ” Chad sighed heavily, “Where are you now? I’ll pick you up!”

“I’m with Uncle Nick, You don’t have to worry.” Hayden replied slowly.

“I didn’t say that your Uncle Nick is bad, but it’s better for you to stay with me.”

Chad was worried about Hayden, and always felt that Hayden was not safe anywhere. "Also, you should call him Uncle Nick. He is good at your dad."

"Uncle Chad, I have something to do right now. I'll contact you when I'm done."

Hayden said politely, and hung up the phone before Chad could respond.

Nick watched him finish talking on the phone, and smiled: "Chad came to me."

"I'll build the base station first." Hayden thought clearly and spoke in an orderly manner, took out an iPad from his bag, and opened the map of the capital of Yonroeville, "I've selected a few locations that can cover the whole city, you can see which one is available."

Nick took his iPad and glanced at the locations marked with red circles.

"It should be fine here. This piece of land belongs to a friend of mine, I just need to tell him." Nick pointed to a place and said.

"Okay. That's it." Hayden took the iPad back and told the people who came together and waited at the airport about the location.

Hayden's resolute work efficiency made Nick very emotional.

"You are so much like your father. If your father sees you like this, he will be very relieved."

"I'm not as stupid as him." Hayden retorted Nick, "If I came here with my mother, I would I will never let my mother go missing."

Nick: "..."

"If something happens to my mother, I will never forgive Elliot." Hayden clenched his fists and said coldly.

"If something happened to your mother, then something happened to your father, too. There's no such thing as you didn't forgive him." Nick said, "I hope they were kidnapped now, if the other party just For the sake of money, that's the best outcome."

"By the way, how many days will you need to build this base station?" Nick asked, "I want to discuss it with my friend."

Hayden: "About three days."

"Okay. Will you stay at my house tonight? My house is more secure. You may not be safe if you stay in a hotel." Nick invited, "If something like this happened to your parents, I'm afraid that someone will be watching you secretly. With you by my side, I can at least guarantee your safety."

"Uncle Nick, I have bodyguards." Hayden glanced in the rear mirror.

Chapter 1947

The doctor thought that after he raised his voice, Avery would be able to hear what he said and answer.

But after his words were settled, Avery closed her eyes.

After a while, the doctor came out of the intensive care unit.

"Doctor, how is my mother?" Hayden said first, "Doctor, did she speak? Is she conscious? When can she be transferred to the general ward?" Chad followed closely.

The doctor smiled and replied, "She opened her eyes and closed them again. However, her physical indications are already out of danger."

"Why did she close her eyes again?" Chad was worried, "Then when will she wake up again?"

"She will wake up again at any time." The doctor replied, "You can just leave one or two people in the hospital. Let the others go back to rest! When she wakes up again, it should be fine. I've been transferred to the general ward." After the doctor finished speaking, Ben Schaffer breathed a sigh of relief.

"Hayden, go back to the hotel and have a good rest. The doctor said that your mother will be fine."

This was the only surprise in the bad news.

In the past few days, Nick has sent people to raze the bungalow to the ground.

The basement below the bungalow was also demolished.

Everything that was dark was exposed to the sun.

The police carefully excavated every inch below, and there was no Elliot at all.

Avery was in a coma, Sasha and Elliot were left, and this case stopped.

"I'm right here." Hayden had to wait for her mother to wake up, to see her transferred to the general ward with her own eyes, and to talk to her mother before she could rest in peace.

Chad looked at Ben Schaffer: "Brother Ben, go back to the hotel to rest! Hayden and I are waiting here."

Ben Schaffer: "I'm not tired! I want to wait for Avery to wake up and ask her where Elliot is."

The two bodyguards saw them arguing, so they said, "Go back to the hotel to rest! We are here to watch. Let's go."

Everyone's eyes flicked to the two of them.

"If you two didn't talk, I could restrain myself from scolding you." Chad vented his anger, "If it wasn't for your negligence, this tragedy would never have happened!

As long as you can find out what happened to them earlier, things may turn around! You two should be d*mned!"

The two bodyguards bowed their heads in reproach.

"Okay, Chad, stop scolding. This is a hospital. It's noisy and it won't affect it well."

Ben Schaffer reminded him when someone looked at them.

"Chad, do you dare to disobey Elliot's order?" Avery's bodyguard dared to speak after a moment of silence, "We don't want this to happen either. We don't want to neglect our work. The next morning we came here, We both called them, and they both said in unison that we would not let us go to them. If it were you, what would you do?"

Elliot's bodyguard dragged him and told him to stop talking.

"My boss wakes up immediately. If my boss blames me for dereliction of duty, then I admit that I dereliction of duty. If my boss doesn't blame me, you have no right to blame me. I've been by my boss's side for so many years, and I don't want her to have an accident more than anyone else. I have the ability to predict and know that she will be in danger, so I will definitely be the first to rush in front of her." Because Avery is no longer in danger, Avery's bodyguard said this, and no one attacked him.

But Elliot's bodyguard was in a different mood.

Elliot was left, and he was more likely to be killed. Even if no one pointed at his forehead and scolded him all the time, he still blamed himself so much that he didn't dare to take a deep breath.

"Your boss is Avery, of course Avery won't blame you." Ben Schaffer said, "but the nature of our work is different from yours. This is not Aryadelle, and abroad, even if the boss offers to not need protection but as a dutiful bodyguard, you should also follow secretly. Of course, it's too late to say this now."

Ben Schaffer said this and looked at Elliot's bodyguard: "You come back to the hotel with me."

In the intensive care unit, Avery had a dream.

Not long after she closed her eyes, she dreamed that she was back in the basement. She was extremely cold because of hunger.

Chapter 1948

Even if Elliot hugged her, she still felt uncontrollably cold.

Finally, Elliot took off his shirt and put it on for her.

She smelled his familiar breath, which made her feel much better. But even with Elliot accompanying her, she couldn't help being afraid of despair.

She was unwilling to die like this. She finally cleared up all misunderstandings with Elliot. She wanted to go back to the sun with Elliot, to live with him and raise her children well... In her dream, she kept on Weeping, she kept calling Elliot's name, but in the end, she watched Elliot fall down in front of her.

Elliot gave her the clothes, so he froze to death.

Aryadelle.

The news that Avery was found had already reached Norah Jones's ears.

Although Norah is not in Yonroeville, she has been paying attention to the situation in Yonroeville.

On the day Avery was found, she did not receive any news.

She only got the news when the bungalow was razed to the ground. She heard that they only found Avery in the basement, but not Elliot, Norah Jones lost sleep for two days.

She let Elliot and Avery be trapped in the basement together, and blocked their way out, so how did Elliot disappear?

She couldn't figure out what happened. She contacted her bribe in Yonroeville and asked what the situation was.

The other party replied to her that everything was done according to what she said at the beginning, the matter was done, the money was received, and the rest was unknown.

Norah Jones believed that the other party did not lie, because apart from her, few people dared to kill Elliot.

But now Elliot is left, and she doesn't know who took Elliot away.

She doesn't know if the person who took him killed him or... saved him.

At present, the people around Elliot are looking for him in Yonroeville, which means that most of the people who took him were not to save him.

Leaving aside this incident, although Avery was rescued from the basement, she had been starving for six days in the basement...

People can go without food for six days, but can they go without water for six days?

Norah Jones consulted the doctor, and the doctor told her that the average person will die of dehydration without food and water for six days.

Norah Jones was very satisfied with the doctor's answer.

Although Elliot's whereabouts are unknown, Avery's death will be a happy event.

Even if Elliot came back after a while, for Norah Jones, the sky wouldn't fall.

At most, she will continue to curry favor with him.

Without Avery, which woman is more suitable for Elliot than her?

The phone rang, Norah Jones picked up the phone, saw that the call was from Yonroeville, and immediately picked it up.

"Ms. Jones, Avery is awake."

Norah Jones was stunned when she heard this. The delicate face, as if frozen, is very stiff.

"Ms. Jones, did you hear what I said? Avery woke up today." The person over the phone continued, "I didn't think she would survive, but after staying in the intensive care unit for a few days, she miraculously came alive."

Chapter 1949

Norah Jones was so angry that she wanted to smash the phone in her hand, but she held back.

She took a deep breath and asked, "Is Sasha arranged properly? Next, she must not appear in the public eye! Let alone let her appear in front of Elliot and Avery! If she confesses, I will over!"

"Ms. Jones, don't worry, she promised me that she would never show up in front of any one. If she doesn't hide well this time, there will only be a dead end."

"Why is Avery alive?" Norah Jones gritted her teeth, "After starving her for six days, she could survive!"

"I didn't expect this woman to be able to endure so much! Seeing how thin and weak she was, I thought she wouldn't be able to last long! I don't know where Elliot went... .. Maybe Avery knows."

"You pay close attention to Avery's situation. See if you can bribe the people in the hospital." Norah Jones instructed, "If you can get Elliot's whereabouts, I will definitely reward you!"

At hospital.

When Avery woke up again, the doctor came immediately.

"Miss Tate, how are you feeling now? Can you try to speak?" The doctor whispered, "Your son has been watching you in the hospital day and night for four days. He has been waiting for you to wake up."

Avery's gaze shifted from the distracted state to the doctor's face.

"Miss Tate, can you loosen this dress?" The doctor pointed to the men's shirt in her hand.

The nurse changed her into hospital uniforms as early as the first day she was hospitalized, but she kept holding on to the men's shirt and refused to let go.

There was Elliot's breath on it, so even if she wasn't fully awake, she wouldn't let go of this dress.

"I don't mean anything else. This dress is quite dirty. You can take it to wash for your family." Seeing that she didn't speak, the doctor could only find other topics to cut into.

Avery tried to move her arm.

She raised her arm holding the shirt, and when she saw Elliot's shirt, her eyes were lost, and her voice was hoarse: "I'm still... alive?"

"Of course. I heard that you were trapped under a bungalow in the suburbs. Your son rescued you. Your son is really capable." The doctor praised, "He not only has the ability, but also filial piety. Miss Tate, you must take good care of your body. Your blessings will not be enjoyed in the future. Exhausted."

She pursed her lips and asked, "How many days did I stay in the basement?"

"Six days."

Avery's eyes were flushed, and she was glad that Hayden had saved his life.

"Where's Elliot?" After confirming that she was still alive, she was most worried about him.

The expression on the doctor's face suddenly became stiff and unnatural.

Avery caught the subtle expression on the doctor's face, and the alarm bell rang in his heart.

"Doctor, what's wrong with him? You tell me..." Avery's face flushed with excitement.

She even tried to sit up on the bed, but was unable to succeed because her body was so weak.

"Miss Tate, it's up to your friend to tell you this!" The doctor couldn't bear to tell her the truth, "It's not that I don't tell you, it's about Mr. Foster, I really don't understand."

"Why don't you understand?" Avery asked with tears in her eyes, "Could it be that he has been assigned to another doctor?"

"Hey! Miss Tate, only you have been rescued. As far as I know, they haven't found Mr. Foster yet." The doctor said here, not daring to continue talking to her.

Because her tears had flowed down the corners of her eyes.

"Miss Tate, I'll transfer you to the general ward first. Your relatives and friends all want to see you very much.” The doctor said softly, “You are still very weak, so it’s not suitable for you to be so sad.”

Chapter 1950

Avery didn’t hear the doctor’s advice. All she heard was ‘you were the only one rescued’ and ‘they haven’t found Mr. Foster’.

Why is this happening?

She and Elliot were clearly trapped in the basement together. Why did they only rescue her but not Elliot?

After she was transferred to the general ward, Ben Schaffer and Chad stood by the hospital bed, looking at her expectantly.

Her bodyguard suddenly ‘thumped’ and knelt in front of her hospital bed.

“Boss! I’m sorry! I didn’t protect you! I almost lost your life!” The bodyguard said, crying.

Ben Schaffer and Chad looked at the bodyguard with a look of astonishment.

Avery’s attention was forcibly attracted.

“Boss, it’s fortunate that you didn’t die! Fortunately, you survived! Otherwise, I’ll be to blame!” The bodyguard cried and wiped away tears.

Chad glanced at Avery’s face, and then reprimanded the bodyguard in a low voice: “She has just been transferred from the intensive care unit, and no one is awake yet. You are so noisy, you are not afraid to scare her out?”

Ben Schaffer hair hurts: “You go out first. Don’t come in without orders.”

The bodyguard immediately got up from the ground and said to Avery with a look of guilt: “Boss, I’m going to guard outside. You can call me at any time if you have anything.”

After the bodyguard left, the ward door is closed.

Hayden was called by the doctor, so now only Ben Schaffer and Chad were watching Avery in the ward.

“The doctor said that you only rescued me out? What’s going on?” Avery looked at the two of them while holding back his grief.

Avery choked and said hoarsely, “Well. The woman who exposed the corpse pit is called Sasha. She tricked me and Elliot into that basement... She said that Haze was in that basement, so we both went down. After we went down, we found that we were cheated. When we wanted to go out, we found that the exit was blocked.

When Avery said this, tears fell.

“It’s almost as I guessed. There must be someone behind this Sasha. They must have taken Elliot away.” Ben Schaffer gritted his teeth, “Avery, take care of your illness, we will do our best to find Elliot.

The light in it dissipated little by little.

Now Avery doesn’t even know who is behind Sasha, how can she imagine Elliot’s current situation?

Thinking of the grief, Avery seemed to be strangled and breathless.

After seeing the doctor, Hayden entered the ward. Seeing that his mother was crying, he immediately trotted to the bedside.

“Mom! Don’t cry!”

Hayden took the tissue from Chad, trying to wipe his mother’s tears.

But Avery pushed his hand away.

“...I’m going to find Elliot...I want to see his person, but I want to see his body...”

Avery grabbed Elliot's white shirt, Put it on her lips and hide the cry.

Even though his clothes were already dirty, there was still his breath on them.

This was the only thing he had left for her before he disappeared.

"Mom, Uncle Schaffer and Uncle Nick have already sent someone to look for him." Hayden sat down beside the hospital bed, pulled his mother's hand away from his face, and gently wiped the tears on her face with a tissue in the other hand. "I've booked a special plane to return to Bridgedale today. I'll take you home first."

Chapter 1951

"I'm not going home...I'm not going anywhere..." Avery refused Hayden's arrangement without thinking, "I want to find your father...I want get him back!"

Avery's voice was hoarse and her emotions were out of control.

Ben Schaffer patted Hayden on the shoulder: "Hayden, you go to the hotel to rest first, we will persuade your mother."

Hayden didn't want to leave his mother, and was afraid that after leaving his mother, his mother would disappear again.

"You are obedient. Your mother can't be stimulated now, but your father's affairs have made her stimulated... No matter what she says now, we must follow her."

Ben Schaffer pulled Hayden to the door of the ward Outside, he whispered, "You go back to the hotel with the bodyguard to rest first. I and your Uncle Chad will definitely persuade her to recuperate."

"I want to take my mother back to Bridgedale for treatment." Hayden expressed his thoughts.

"Hayden, Aryadelle is your mother's hometown. Even if your mother wants to go home for treatment, she will return to Aryadelle. Your younger siblings have already returned to Aryadelle." Ben said, "I know you don't want to be separated from your mother, but you Respect your mother's thoughts."

Hayden pursed his lips, and after being silent for a while, he turned and left.

He is not good at coaxing people, and his mother's emotions are too intense now, and he is a little overwhelmed.

After Hayden left, Ben Schaffer returned to the ward and closed the door of the ward.

"Avery, we have already sent someone to find my boss. No matter what the result is, we will devote the greatest human and material resources to find him. So you can take care of your health and leave the rest to us." In the chair beside the bed, Ben comforted Avery, "It's a big surprise that you can turn the corner into safety now. Hayden hasn't slept well all these days after your accident. Mike didn't dare to tell Layla and Robert what happened to you."

"Avery, Nick has sent someone to Sasha's hometown to find Sasha's whereabouts. We also sent others to find Elliot in major cities in Yonroeville..."

Ben Schaffer looked at her, exhaled, "If we can't find Elliot, you probably won't find it either. Your children are still young and need your company. I told Hayden that when you get better, I will send you back to Aryadelle. Layla and Robert have already started school. They are used to having Elliot around, but now Elliot is not around, so you can go back and accompany them, okay?"

Avery closed her eyes, and her tears couldn't stop falling. She couldn't hear a word of their consolation.

She carefully recalled in her mind what happened before she fell into a coma. Did she miss any key clues...

The harder she thought, the more her head hurt.

From the first night they were trapped in the basement, her stamina couldn't hold up.

She only remembered that she had been lying in Elliot's arms, because she was afraid that it would not last long, so she tried her best not to speak and save her strength.

But even so, she fainted.

She didn't know that she passed out on the first few days of being trapped. At that time, she had no strength to look for her mobile phone, nor did she want to check it, because the mobile phone ran out of electricity on the second day they were trapped.

"If Elliot is dead...I can't live..." Avery opened her tears suddenly and said these words of despair.

She was always reminded of what they had said on the first day they were trapped in the basement.

At that time, she deliberately didn't tell him that there was a special positioning chip in her mobile phone. As long as Hayden knew that she was missing, he would definitely come to her.

Avery didn't tell Elliot because she wanted to test his sincerity.

At that time, he felt that their chances of survival were slim, and his sadness and despair could be seen in his pretended calm tone and sympathetic eyes.

She asked Elliot if he loved her, and he answered her without hesitation.

She will never forget his affectionate eyes and firm tone at that time.

She had never been so sure of Elliot's feelings for her, so she only asked this one question, nothing else mattered.

Now, she knows that Elliot's feelings for her are more real than real gold, but what about others?

It was a huge pity that Avery couldn't breathe.

Chapter 1952

Avery was so full of thoughts that she couldn't think of anything else except him.

“Avery, are you guys in the basement, clarifying the misunderstanding?” Ben Schaffer asked, looking at Elliot’s shirt in her hand.

“He said he has always loved me...” Avery burst into tears, her voice trembling, “Me too... Me too!”

Ben Schaffer was stuck in his throat, wanting to say something, but felt that he could say anything.

Now Elliot’s whereabouts are unknown, and his life and death are unknown.

Letting her know that Elliot’s love for her has never changed, it will only make her more miserable.

After Avery cried for a while, she fell asleep because of her weakness.

Ben Schaffer and Chad came out of the ward, and the two of them exhaled heavily.

“Brother Ben, what should I do?” Chad felt like a knife, “If I can’t find the boss, I’m really afraid that Avery won’t be able to come out.”

“I don’t know what to do.” Ben Schaffer had a splitting headache. “I feel that Elliot is no longer in Yonroeville. No one has contacted us for so many days since he had an accident, indicating that the person who took him does not want us to find him.”

Chad took off his glasses and reached out to wipe his tears.

Ben Schaffer leaned against the wall of the corridor, thought for a while, and then said: “You take Avery back to Aryadelle first, and when she returns to the child, maybe her mood will be better.”

“What if she doesn’t want to?”

Avery has to let her go back to Aryadelle if she doesn’t want to! Otherwise, in a few days, she will recover a little, and she will definitely try to escape from the hospital...” Ben Schaffer paused when he said that, “Hayden didn’t pack a special plane. Really? Let's send Avery back to Aryadelle today!"

Chad: "Brother Ben, let's calm down first! She's already uncomfortable enough. If we force her to return to Aryadelle, she will definitely do extreme things."

"I'm really not very calm now." As long as Ben Schaffer closed his eyes, the dark basement and Avery's grief-stricken cry would appear in his mind.

Chad: "Let's take her to that basement tomorrow! If we don't take her back to the scene, she'll be there too."

Ben: "Okay! We'll see how she is tomorrow."

The next morning, Avery woke up and saw Hayden sitting beside the hospital bed.

"Mom, do you want to go to that basement?" Hayden asked, "If you want to go, I can take you there."

Avery nodded after listening to Hayden's words.

"Then you eat breakfast first." Hayden took out the warm porridge he brought and fed her spoonfuls.

After breakfast, Hayden took Avery into a wheelchair and sat down, then pushed her out of the hospital.

More than an hour later, the car stopped at the crime scene.

The road to the bungalow was leveled, and along with it, there was the bungalow.

Avery looked at the ruins in front of her, and the expression on her face became stunned.

"Mom, I'll take you to see that basement." Hayden pushed the wheelchair and walked a few meters forward.

In front of him, a huge pit appeared.

It was the basement that trapped Avery and Elliot.

"Elliot is no longer here." Hayden looked at the pit in front of him and said to his mother.

Chapter 1953

There are almost no compartments, not even a few pieces of furniture.

Only the kitchen and toilet are separated.

With a 'bang', a bodyguard pushed down a cabinet on the other side of the kitchen.

Because there is not much furniture in this house, and now Avery's mobile phone cannot be found, all the furniture can only be pushed away.

As a result, after the cabinet was pushed open, something magical happened.

"Boss, there is actually a door here!" The bodyguard exclaimed after seeing the dilapidated iron door in front of him.

In an instant, everyone ran over.

"Break it!" Nick immediately gave an order after seeing the iron gate.

The bodyguard cleared his throat: "Boss, this door can be opened directly."

After speaking, the bodyguard pulled the latch and opened the iron door.

A dark entrance suddenly appeared in front of everyone.

Everyone gasped.

Ben Schaffer didn't expect that he guessed it right!

Chad had a strong premonition in his heart.

His boss was killed!

Just as everyone stared blankly at the entrance, Hayden directly passed them and walked towards the entrance.

"Hayden! Let the bodyguards go down to explore the way first!" Seeing this, Nick immediately stopped.

Nick is more cautious in doing things. He will never be the first to rush into such a strange and dangerous place.

His bodyguard heard his voice and immediately grabbed Hayden.

“We’ll lead the way, you follow!” The bodyguard walked in front with a flashlight in one hand and a pistol in the other.

The way to go underground is a dirt staircase. Although it is made of mud, it is easier to walk.

Not long after walking down, the bodyguard’s flashlight suddenly illuminated a pile of bones.

“F*ck! I guessed it right! I knew there must be a corpse pit here!” Ben Schaffer covered his nose with one hand, frowned, and said this.

After Ben Schaffer’s words were settled, Hayden immediately pushed aside the bodyguards in front and quickly ran towards the depths of the darkness.

“Mom!” After a while, Hayden’s exclamation penetrated the entire basement.

Ben Schaffer and Chad immediately chased after him.

Hayden’s footsteps stopped in one place. He saw Avery.

“Mom! Mom!” Hayden’s voice trembled, with a cry.

Hayden was extremely proud and conceited. He never loses his temper in front of outsiders. But now, he saw his mother leaning against the wall, her face was pale and bloodless, and she seemed to have passed away forever... He couldn’t control his grief at all!

Hayden dropped the iPad in his hand, squatted down, picked up his mother from the ground, and strode towards the entrance just now.

The moment he picked up his mother, his tears blurred his vision like a flood.

Mom’s body is cold.

Although Hayden didn’t think about the worst, the worst kept popping up and knocking all his sanity.

Hayden took Avery away, but the others were stunned and lost.

Until Chad asked: "Where's my boss? Where's my boss?!"

Nick's face was ashen, and after arranging a bodyguard to help Hayden, he said to the other bodyguards: "Elliot hasn't been found yet! Hurry up and find someone."

Chapter 1954

"Chad! Don't panic! Elliot's body hasn't been found yet! Maybe he escaped long ago!" Ben Schaffer said, wanting Chad to cheer up.

Chad took a deep breath and barely stood firm: "The door to go down from that house is locked from the outside. The other exit in the basement is welded to death, my boss... how can he... Escape?! His clothes were obviously given to Avery! It means that they were trapped in the basement together! At least they both stayed in the basement for a long time, otherwise why would he take off his clothes to Avery? If he really escaped, why didn't he contact us? Why didn't he save Avery?!"

Chad said more and more excited.

"But there's no body of him below!" Ben Schaffer pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose, "I don't believe he is dead! I don't believe it!"

Nick saw the two of them quarreling, and immediately said: "You two, stop arguing. I'll call the police and let the police investigate. I'll let the bodyguards keep an eye on it, and once I find Elliot's whereabouts, I'll notify you immediately."

"You two should go to the hospital to see Avery's condition!" Nick continued, "I want to know whether Avery is alive or dead. If she is still alive, then she can answer the questions you want to know."

Ben glanced at the bungalow behind him, which was surrounded by Nick's bodyguards.

If Elliot was still inside, Nick's people would definitely be able to find him.

"Didn't you say Avery is not dead? Let's go to the hospital then!" Ben Schaffer grabbed Chad's arm and pulled him away, "When Avery wakes up, I'll know where Elliot went!"

Chad tears, wet the lens.

He pushed Ben Schaffer's hand away and reached out to take off his glasses.

"Brother Ben, that's just what I said to deceive myself!" Chad didn't wipe the tears from his glasses or his face.

He stood in the mud, motionless.

"I know... I'm also deceiving myself." Ben Schaffer's eyes were scarlet, holding back tears, "As long as Elliot and Avery are together, they won't be so desperate."

There are few people, even if they want to check, they can't find anything.

Unless Avery wakes up... But, can she wake up?

After more than an hour's drive, Avery was sent to the largest hospital in Yonroeville.

Hayden watched his mother being pushed into the emergency room, watched the door of the emergency room close, and sweat and tears dripped down his angular facial features.

His heart was beating violently and his mind went blank.

He has been studying hard and making money all the time, not only because he wants to surpass Elliot, but also because he wants to protect his mother and prevent her from being bullied by anyone.

But now, Elliot's whereabouts are unknown, and his mother's life and death are unknown. He seems to have no support or motivation to continue working hard.

When Ben Schaffer and Chad arrived, Hayden was still standing at the door of the emergency room, his body stiff as if he had turned into a statue.

“He’s been there for almost two hours.” The bodyguard yawned, “If you talk to him, he doesn’t care.”

Ben Schaffer pulled Chad and told him not to disturb him.

“Let him wait at the door.” Ben Schaffer understood Hayden’s pain, “Avery hasn’t come out after being sent in for so long, does that mean there is still hope?”

Bodyguard: “What hope is there? Her body is cold... I touched it quietly.”

The bodyguard’s words were like a spell, making Hayden wake up from a rigid state. “My mother is not dead! She is not dead!”

Chapter 1955

“Chad! Don’t panic! Elliot’s body hasn’t been found yet! Maybe he escaped long ago!” Ben Schaffer said, wanting Chad to cheer up.

Chad took a deep breath and barely stood firm: “The door to go down from that house is locked from the outside. The other exit in the basement is welded to death, my boss... how can he... Escape?! Bodyguard: "What hope is there? Her body is cold... I touched it quietly."

The bodyguard's words were like a spell, making Hayden wake up from a rigid state. "My mother is not dead! She is not dead!"

Chapter 1956

The bodyguard saw Hayden's fierce look about to rush over, and immediately fled away in despair.

Ben Schaffer and Chad pulled Hayden to calm him down.

"Hayden, sit down for a while. Your mother must be fine. She is a doctor, and she knows how to save herself in such an extremely harsh environment. We have to trust her." Chad pulled Hayden into the chair and sat down.

Ben Schaffer took out a tissue and handed it to Hayden.

"I think the same as your Uncle Chad. Your mother is definitely fine. I just don't know your father..."

"I don't care about him, I just want my mother to wake up!" Hayden only has his mother in his heart now.

“But your sister and brother care about him.” Ben Schaffer knew about this topic, but Hayden didn’t like to hear it. “If the two of them knew that Dad had an accident, they would definitely be sad. Now you are the only one at home...

You...”

“Brother Ben, don’t talk about this for now. Let’s wait for Avery to come out and talk about it!” Chad felt that this topic was too cruel for a child of Hayden’s age.

Even if Elliot and Avery were really killed, Mike was still there.

Mike will definitely take care of them.

Thinking of Mike, as if there is a response in the dark, Mike’s phone calls.

Chad took his mobile phone and walked to the safety exit next to him.

After picking up the phone, Mike’s voice came: “What’s the situation on your side now? Call Hayden, but he didn’t answer. I sent you a message, but you didn’t reply...”

“I found it.” Chad put his hand on his forehead and said with a headache, “Avery is in the emergency room now.”

“Great! I knew Hayden would find them!” Mike’s voice came in surprise.

“Without them.” Chad choked his throat, “only found Avery.”

Mike: “What do you mean? Didn’t they both disappear together? Why aren’t they together?”

“I don’t know...I don’t know what happened. They both disappeared with the female prisoner. But now only I found Avery. Mike, where did my boss and that female prisoner go?” Chad had a severe headache.

“How can I guess this? Didn’t you say that Avery was rescuing? When she wakes up, ask her to find out.” Mike said, “I really want to go and see!”

“I don’t know if Avery can be rescued.Nick’s bodyguard said that her body was already cold.” Chad said this with tears in his eyes, “It’s just that we don’t want to accept this result. It's like all the facts show that my boss is definitely dead, but As long as I don't see his body, I can't accept the fact that he is dead."

"Fck! Fck!" Mike cursed twice, his fingers holding the phone, trembling.

Although he had imagined the worst possibility, but hearing Chad say it, the pain in his heart was overwhelming.

Chad told Mike everything he saw in the basement just now.

"I don't know who kept them in the basement? Nick said that this modus operandi is not like that of the criminal gang. But I can't guess who planned this." Chad said.

"If Nick can't guess, I can't guess! Have you read the information about the female prisoner? I think this matter must have something to do with the female prisoner! The two of them were led by the female prisoner!" Mike's words reminded Chad.

"I'll ask Nick to investigate the information about the female prisoner!"

In a blink of an eye, four hours passed.

It was completely dark outside.

Darkness shrouded the entire city, making people unable to see light and hope.

The door to the emergency room suddenly opened and paramedics came out.

"The patient is in a critical condition and must be transferred to the intensive care unit." After the doctor finished speaking, he asked, "Who are the family members? Come with me, you need to sign an informed letter."

Hayden immediately followed the doctor and walked towards the office and asked, "Doctor, how is my mother?"

Chapter 1957

"I don't dare to jump to conclusions now, it depends on her next recovery." The doctor said, "She is too weak. If she can survive the next week, there will be no problem.”

When Avery was pushed out, Chad saw the men’s shirt wrapped around her.

Chad’s mood collapsed again: “That’s my boss’s clothes! Brother Ben, look at the cufflinks above...that’s my boss’s!”

Ben Schaffer could see clearly now.

He immediately understood Chad’s collapse, because he was going to collapse too.

Elliot took off his shirt and put it on for Avery, indicating that they were originally in the basement together.

But what happened later? Why is Elliot left? Who was he taken away by?

The two hugged and cried.

Beside him, Elliot’s bodyguard and Avery’s bodyguard leaned against each other and wiped away tears.

“It’s all my fault... I didn’t protect my boss well.” Elliot’s bodyguard blamed himself.

“I didn’t protect my boss. I hope my boss wakes up! When she wakes up, maybe she can tell us where Elliot is.” Avery’s bodyguard said.

The next morning.

Nick sent the detailed information of the female prisoner Sasha Johnstone.

After Chad glanced at the information, he found nothing special.

The only special point is that this woman looks more beautiful when she is young.

Chad took photos of Sasha’s information and sent it to Mike.

After Mike received the message, he called him back: “I’m going to take Layla and Robert back to Aryadelle first. Layla’s head teacher called me and said that school is about to start.”

Chad responded, "Then you can send them back and be careful on the road."

Mike lowered his voice: "Is Avery still awake?"

"No. After she is transferred to the intensive care unit, we cannot visit. If she wakes up, the doctor will definitely tell us." Chad breathed a sigh of relief, "I asked After going to the doctor, the doctor said that the probability of her waking up is still very high. She didn't eat or drink for six days, and her body was exhausted to the limit... Fortunately, Hayden found her in time..."

"Well She woke up and told me. I'm about to board the plane." Mike was annoyed, "When I send the child back to Aryadelle. I'll go to you."

Chad: "Let's talk about it later! Maybe Avery will wake up soon. When she wakes up, maybe Hayden will transfer her to Bridgedale for treatment. I see Hayden is contacting the doctor in Bridgedale."

Mike: "Then let's talk about it later!"

Chad: : "Mike, this happened this time. The big thing, I found that Hayden is much braver and smarter than I thought."

"Everyone is forced out. Since he decided to leave Avery and study in Bridgedale, he is no longer a child." Mike said, "I haven't told Layla this yet, so I don't know how to say it."

Chad: "Don't say it yet. I'm afraid Layla won't be able to take it."

Mike: "Well."

...

Three days later, Avery was in The intensive care unit wakes up.

Immediately after she woke up, the nurse called the doctor to check on her condition.

"Miss Tate, how are you feeling now?" The doctor asked.

Avery stared at the intensive care unit for a while, eyes blank, unable to tell whether she was alive or dead for a while.

“Miss Tate, can you hear me?” the doctor increased his voice, “you are in the hospital now. Your son Hayden and many of your friends are waiting for you outside.”

Chapter 1958

The doctor thought that after he raised his voice, Avery would be able to hear what he said and answer.

But after his words were settled, Avery closed her eyes.

After a while, the doctor came out of the intensive care unit.

“Doctor, how is my mother?” Hayden said first, “Doctor, did she speak? Is she conscious? When can she be transferred to the general ward?” Chad followed closely.

The doctor smiled and replied, “She opened her eyes and closed them again. However, her physical indications are already out of danger.”

“Why did she close her eyes again?” Chad was worried, “Then when will she wake up again?”

“She will wake up again at any time.” The doctor replied, “You can just leave one or two people in the hospital. Let the others go back to rest! When she wakes up again, it should be fine. I’ve been transferred to the general ward.”

After the doctor finished speaking, Ben Schaffer breathed a sigh of relief.

“Hayden, go back to the hotel and have a good rest. The doctor said that your mother will be fine.”

This was the only surprise in the bad news.

In the past few days, Nick has sent people to raze the bungalow to the ground.

The basement below the bungalow was also demolished.

Everything that was dark was exposed to the sun.

The police carefully excavated every inch below, and there was no Elliot at all.

Avery was in a coma, Sasha and Elliot were left, and this case stopped.

"I'm right here." Hayden had to wait for her mother to wake up, to see her transferred to the general ward with her own eyes, and to talk to her mother before she could rest in peace.

Chad looked at Ben Schaffer: "Brother Ben, go back to the hotel to rest! Hayden and I are waiting here."

Ben Schaffer: "I'm not tired! I want to wait for Avery to wake up and ask her where Elliot is."

The two bodyguards saw them arguing, so they said, "Go back to the hotel to rest! We are here to watch. Let's go."

Everyone's eyes flicked to the two of them.

"If you two didn't talk, I could restrain myself from scolding you." Chad vented his anger, "If it wasn't for your negligence, this tragedy would never have happened! As long as you can find out what happened to them earlier, things may turn around! You two should be d*mned!"

The two bodyguards bowed their heads in reproach.

"Okay, Chad, stop scolding. This is a hospital. It's noisy and it won't affect it well." Ben Schaffer reminded him when someone looked at them.

"Chad, do you dare to disobey Elliot's order?" Avery's bodyguard dared to speak after a moment of silence, "We don't want this to happen either. We don't want to neglect our work. The next morning we came here, We both called them, and they both said in unison that we would not let us go to them. If it were you, what would you do?"

Elliot's bodyguard dragged him and told him to stop talking.

"My boss wakes up immediately. If my boss blames me for dereliction of duty, then I admit that I dereliction of duty. If my boss doesn't blame me, you have no right to blame me. I've been by my boss's side for so many years, and I don't want her to have an accident more than anyone else. I have the ability to predict and know that she will be in danger, so I will definitely be the first to rush in front of her." Because Avery is no longer in danger, Avery's bodyguard said this, and no one attacked him.

But Elliot's bodyguard was in a different mood.

Elliot was left, and he was more likely to be killed. Even if no one pointed at his forehead and scolded him all the time, he still blamed himself so much that he didn't dare to take a deep breath.

"Your boss is Avery, of course Avery won't blame you." Ben Schaffer said, "but the nature of our work is different from yours. This is not Aryadelle, and abroad, even if the boss offers to not need protection but as a dutiful bodyguard, you should also follow secretly. Of course, it's too late to say this now."

Ben Schaffer said this and looked at Elliot's bodyguard: "You come back to the hotel with me."

In the intensive care unit, Avery had a dream.

Not long after she closed her eyes, she dreamed that she was back in the basement. She was extremely cold because of hunger.

Chapter 1959

Even if Elliot hugged her, she still felt uncontrollably cold.

Finally, Elliot took off his shirt and put it on for her.

She smelled his familiar breath, which made her feel much better. But even with Elliot accompanying her, she couldn't help being afraid of despair.

She was unwilling to die like this. She finally cleared up all misunderstandings with Elliot. She wanted to go back to the sun with Elliot, to live with him and raise her children well... In her dream, she kept on Weeping, she kept calling Elliot's name, but in the end, she watched Elliot fall down in front of her. Elliot gave her the clothes, so he froze to death.

...

Aryadelle.

The news that Avery was found had already reached Norah Jones's ears. Although Norah is not in Yonroeville, she has been paying attention to the situation in Yonroeville.

On the day Avery was found, she did not receive any news.

She only got the news when the bungalow was razed to the ground. She heard that they only found Avery in the basement, but not Elliot, Norah Jones lost sleep for two days.

She let Elliot and Avery be trapped in the basement together, and blocked their way out, so how did Elliot disappear?

She couldn't figure out what happened. She contacted her bribe in Yonroeville and asked what the situation was.

The other party replied to her that everything was done according to what she said at the beginning, the matter was done, the money was received, and the rest was unknown.

Norah Jones believed that the other party did not lie, because apart from her, few people dared to kill Elliot.

But now Elliot is left, and she doesn't know who took Elliot away.

She doesn't know if the person who took him killed him or... saved him.

At present, the people around Elliot are looking for him in Yonroeville, which means that most of the people who took him were not to save him.

Leaving aside this incident, although Avery was rescued from the basement, she had been starving for six days in the basement...

People can go without food for six days, but can they go without water for six days?

Norah Jones consulted the doctor, and the doctor told her that the average person will die of dehydration without food and water for six days.

Norah Jones was very satisfied with the doctor's answer.

Although Elliot's whereabouts are unknown, Avery's death will be a happy event.

Even if Elliot came back after a while, for Norah Jones, the sky wouldn't fall.

At most, she will continue to curry favor with him.

Without Avery, which woman is more suitable for Elliot than her?

The phone rang, Norah Jones picked up the phone, saw that the call was from Yonroeville, and immediately picked it up.

"Ms. Jones, Avery is awake."

Norah Jones was stunned when she heard this. The delicate face, as if frozen, is very stiff.

"Ms. Jones, did you hear what I said? Avery woke up today." The person over the phone continued, "I didn't think she would survive, but after staying in the intensive care unit for a few days, she miraculously came alive."

Chapter 1960

Norah Jones was so angry that she wanted to smash the phone in her hand, but she held back.

She took a deep breath and asked, "Is Sasha arranged properly? Next, she must not appear in the public eye! Let alone let her appear in front of Elliot and Avery! If she confesses, I will over!"

"Ms. Jones, don't worry, she promised me that she would never show up in front of any one. If she doesn't hide well this time, there will only be a dead end."

"Why is Avery alive?" Norah Jones gritted her teeth, "After starving her for six days, she could survive!"

"I didn't expect this woman to be able to endure so much! Seeing how thin and weak she was, I thought she wouldn't be able to last long! I don't know where Elliot went... .. Maybe Avery knows."

"You pay close attention to Avery's situation. See if you can bribe the people in the hospital." Norah Jones instructed, "If you can get Elliot's whereabouts, I will definitely reward you!"

At hospital.

When Avery woke up again, the doctor came immediately.

"Miss Tate, how are you feeling now? Can you try to speak?" The doctor whispered, "Your son has been watching you in the hospital day and night for four days. He has been waiting for you to wake up."

Avery's gaze shifted from the distracted state to the doctor's face.

"Miss Tate, can you loosen this dress?" The doctor pointed to the men's shirt in her hand.

The nurse changed her into hospital uniforms as early as the first day she was hospitalized, but she kept holding on to the men's shirt and refused to let go.

There was Elliot's breath on it, so even if she wasn't fully awake, she wouldn't let go of this dress.

"I don't mean anything else. This dress is quite dirty. You can take it to wash for your family." Seeing that she didn't speak, the doctor could only find other topics to cut into.

Avery tried to move her arm.

She raised her arm holding the shirt, and when she saw Elliot's shirt, her eyes were lost, and her voice was hoarse: "I'm still... alive?"

"Of course. I heard that you were trapped under a bungalow in the suburbs.

Your son rescued you. Your son is really capable." The doctor praised, "He not only has the ability, but also filial piety. Miss Tate, you must take good care of your body. Your blessings will not be enjoyed in the future. Exhausted."

She pursed her lips and asked, "How many days did I stay in the basement?"

"Six days."

Avery's eyes were flushed, and she was glad that Hayden had saved his life.

"Where's Elliot?" After confirming that she was still alive, she was most worried about him.

The expression on the doctor's face suddenly became stiff and unnatural.

Avery caught the subtle expression on the doctor's face, and the alarm bell rang in his heart.

"Doctor, what's wrong with him? You tell me..." Avery's face flushed with excitement.

She even tried to sit up on the bed, but was unable to succeed because her body was so weak.

"Miss Tate, it's up to your friend to tell you this!" The doctor couldn't bear to tell her the truth, "It's not that I don't tell you, it's about Mr. Foster, I really don't understand."

"Why don't you understand?" Avery asked with tears in her eyes, "Could it be that he has been assigned to another doctor?"

"Hey! Miss Tate, only you have been rescued. As far as I know, they haven't found Mr. Foster yet." The doctor said here, not daring to continue talking to her. Because her tears had flowed down the corners of her eyes.

"Miss Tate, I'll transfer you to the general ward first. Your relatives and friends all want to see you very much.” The doctor said softly, “You are still very weak, so it’s not suitable for you to be so sad.”

Chapter 1961

Avery didn’t hear the doctor’s advice. All she heard was ‘you were the only one rescued’ and ‘they haven’t found Mr. Foster’.

Why is this happening?

She and Elliot were clearly trapped in the basement together. Why did they only rescue her but not Elliot?

After she was transferred to the general ward, Ben Schaffer and Chad stood by the hospital bed, looking at her expectantly.

Her bodyguard suddenly ‘thumped’ and knelt in front of her hospital bed.

“Boss! I’m sorry! I didn’t protect you! I almost lost your life!” The bodyguard said, crying.

Ben Schaffer and Chad looked at the bodyguard with a look of astonishment.

Avery’s attention was forcibly attracted.

“Boss, it’s fortunate that you didn’t die! Fortunately, you survived! Otherwise, I’ll be to blame!” The bodyguard cried and wiped away tears.

Chad glanced at Avery’s face, and then reprimanded the bodyguard in a low voice: “She has just been transferred from the intensive care unit, and no one is awake yet. You are so noisy, you are not afraid to scare her out?”

Ben Schaffer hair hurts: “You go out first. Don’t come in without orders.”

The bodyguard immediately got up from the ground and said to Avery with a look of guilt: “Boss, I’m going to guard outside. You can call me at any time if you have anything.”

After the bodyguard left, the ward door is closed.

Hayden was called by the doctor, so now only Ben Schaffer and Chad were watching Avery in the ward.

“The doctor said that you only rescued me out? What’s going on?” Avery looked at the two of them while holding back his grief.

“When we entered the basement, you were the only one inside.” Ben Schaffer said, “There are two exits in the basement. The exit on the manhole cover was welded to death. The other exit was locked from the outside. Avery, listen. What do you mean by what you just said, before you passed out, you were trapped in the basement with Elliot, right?”

Avery choked and said hoarsely, “Well. The woman who exposed the corpse pit is called Sasha. She tricked me and Elliot into that basement... She said that Haze was in that basement, so we both went down. After we went down, we found that we were cheated. When we wanted to go out, we found that the exit was blocked. “

When Avery said this, tears fell.

“It’s almost as I guessed. There must be someone behind this Sasha. They must have taken Elliot away.” Ben Schaffer gritted his teeth, “Avery, take care of your illness, we will do our best to find Elliot.

The light in it dissipated little by little.

Now Avery doesn’t even know who is behind Sasha, how can she imagine Elliot’s current situation?

Thinking of the grief, Avery seemed to be strangled and breathless.

After seeing the doctor, Hayden entered the ward. Seeing that his mother was crying, he immediately trotted to the bedside.

“Mom! Don’t cry!”

Hayden took the tissue from Chad, trying to wipe his mother’s tears.

But Avery pushed his hand away.

“...I’m going to find Elliot...I want to see his person, but I want to see his body...” Avery grabbed Elliot’s white shirt, Put it on her lips and hide the cry. Even though his clothes were already dirty, there was still his breath on them. This was the only thing he had left for her before he disappeared.

“Mom, Uncle Schaffer and Uncle Nick have already sent someone to look for him.” Hayden sat down beside the hospital bed, pulled his mother’s hand away from his face, and gently wiped the tears on her face with a tissue in the other hand. “I’ve booked a special plane to return to Bridgedale today. I’ll take you home first.”

Chapter 1962

“I’m not going home...I’m not going anywhere...” Avery refused Hayden’s arrangement without thinking, “I want to find your father...I want get him back!” Avery’s voice was hoarse and her emotions were out of control.

Ben Schaffer patted Hayden on the shoulder: “Hayden, you go to the hotel to rest first, we will persuade your mother.”

Hayden didn’t want to leave his mother, and was afraid that after leaving his mother, his mother would disappear again.

“You are obedient. Your mother can’t be stimulated now, but your father’s affairs have made her stimulated... No matter what she says now, we must follow her.”

Ben Schaffer pulled Hayden to the door of the ward Outside, he whispered, “You go back to the hotel with the bodyguard to rest first. I and your Uncle Chad will definitely persuade her to recuperate.”

“I want to take my mother back to Bridgedale for treatment.” Hayden expressed his thoughts.

“Hayden, Aryadelle is your mother’s hometown. Even if your mother wants to go home for treatment, she will return to Aryadelle. Your younger siblings have already returned to Aryadelle.” Ben said, “I know you don’t want to be separated from your mother, but you Respect your mother’s thoughts.”

Hayden pursed his lips, and after being silent for a while, he turned and left.

He is not good at coaxing people, and his mother’s emotions are too intense now, and he is a little overwhelmed.

After Hayden left, Ben Schaffer returned to the ward and closed the door of the ward.

“Avery, we have already sent someone to find my boss. No matter what the result is, we will devote the greatest human and material resources to find him.

So you can take care of your health and leave the rest to us.” In the chair beside the bed, Ben comforted Avery, “It’s a big surprise that you can turn the corner into safety now. Hayden hasn’t slept well all these days after your accident.

Mike didn’t dare to tell Layla and Robert what happened to you.”

“Avery, Nick has sent someone to Sasha’s hometown to find Sasha’s whereabouts. We also sent others to find Elliot in major cities in Yonroeville...”

Ben Schaffer looked at her, exhaled, “If we can’t find Elliot, you probably won’t find it either. Your children are still young and need your company. I told Hayden that when you get better, I will send you back to Aryadelle. Layla and Robert have already started school. They are used to having Elliot around, but now Elliot is not around, so you can go back and accompany them, okay?”

Avery closed her eyes, and her tears couldn’t stop falling. She couldn’t hear a word of their consolation.

She carefully recalled in her mind what happened before she fell into a coma.

Did she miss any key clues...

The harder she thought, the more her head hurt.

From the first night they were trapped in the basement, her stamina couldn’t hold up.

She only remembered that she had been lying in Elliot's arms, because she was afraid that it would not last long, so she tried her best not to speak and save her strength.

But even so, she fainted.

She didn't know that she passed out on the first few days of being trapped. At that time, she had no strength to look for her mobile phone, nor did she want to check it, because the mobile phone ran out of electricity on the second day they were trapped.

"If Elliot is dead...I can't live..." Avery opened her tears suddenly and said these words of despair.

She was always reminded of what they had said on the first day they were trapped in the basement.

At that time, she deliberately didn't tell him that there was a special positioning chip in her mobile phone. As long as Hayden knew that she was missing, he would definitely come to her.

Avery didn't tell Elliot because she wanted to test his sincerity.

At that time, he felt that their chances of survival were slim, and his sadness and despair could be seen in his pretended calm tone and sympathetic eyes.

She asked Elliot if he loved her, and he answered her without hesitation.

She will never forget his affectionate eyes and firm tone at that time.

She had never been so sure of Elliot's feelings for her, so she only asked this one question, nothing else mattered.

Now, she knows that Elliot's feelings for her are more real than real gold, but what about others?

It was a huge pity that Avery couldn't breathe.

Chapter 1963

Avery was so full of thoughts that she couldn't think of anything else except him.

"Avery, are you guys in the basement, clarifying the misunderstanding?" Ben Schaffer asked, looking at Elliot's shirt in her hand.

"He said he has always loved me..." Avery burst into tears, her voice trembling, "Me too... Me too!"

Ben Schaffer was stuck in his throat, wanting to say something, but felt that he could say anything.

Now Elliot's whereabouts are unknown, and his life and death are unknown.

Letting her know that Elliot's love for her has never changed, it will only make her more miserable.

After Avery cried for a while, she fell asleep because of her weakness.

Ben Schaffer and Chad came out of the ward, and the two of them exhaled heavily.

"Brother Ben, what should I do?" Chad felt like a knife, "If I can't find the boss, I'm really afraid that Avery won't be able to come out."

"I don't know what to do." Ben Schaffer had a splitting headache. "I feel that Elliot is no longer in Yonroeville. No one has contacted us for so many days since he had an accident, indicating that the person who took him does not want us to find him."

Chad took off his glasses and reached out to wipe his tears.

Ben Schaffer leaned against the wall of the corridor, thought for a while, and then said: "You take Avery back to Aryadelle first, and when she returns to the child, maybe her mood will be better."

"What if she doesn't want to?"

Avery has to let her go back to Aryadelle if she doesn't want to! Otherwise, in a few days, she will recover a little, and she will definitely try to escape from the hospital..." Ben Schaffer paused when he said that, "Hayden didn't pack a special plane. Really? Let's send Avery back to Aryadelle today!"

Chad: "Brother Ben, let's calm down first! She's already uncomfortable enough. If we force her to return to Aryadelle, she will definitely do extreme things."

"I'm really not very calm now." As long as Ben Schaffer closed his eyes, the dark basement and Avery's grief-stricken cry would appear in his mind.

Chad: "Let's take her to that basement tomorrow! If we don't take her back to the scene, she'll be there too."

Ben: "Okay! We'll see how she is tomorrow."

The next morning, Avery woke up and saw Hayden sitting beside the hospital bed.

"Mom, do you want to go to that basement?" Hayden asked, "If you want to go, I can take you there."

Avery nodded after listening to Hayden's words.

"Then you eat breakfast first." Hayden took out the warm porridge he brought and fed her spoonfuls.

After breakfast, Hayden took Avery into a wheelchair and sat down, then pushed her out of the hospital.

More than an hour later, the car stopped at the crime scene.

The road to the bungalow was leveled, and along with it, there was the bungalow.

Avery looked at the ruins in front of her, and the expression on her face became stunned.

"Mom, I'll take you to see that basement." Hayden pushed the wheelchair and walked a few meters forward.

In front of him, a huge pit appeared.

It was the basement that trapped Avery and Elliot.

“Elliot is no longer here.” Hayden looked at the pit in front of him and said to his mother.

Chapter 1964

Before going to bed at night, Hayden saw Wanda's video.

Unexpectedly, Wanda has some means to find it so quickly.

However, Wanda won't be able to dance for long.

He never forgot his grandmother's death.

The time is... ripe.

The next morning.

Wanda received a call from an informant.

The other party has found out who developed Billy Hadajette.

“Ms. Tate, a person from Bridgedale developed this robot. This person from Bridgedale is called Steven Lafrance. He is a professor at a university in Bridgedale. You can find his information by doing a little research in Bridgedale yourself.

“Steven Lafrance?” Wanda sat up from the bed, “Then I'll meet him today.”

“I'm still investigating the appearance of this robot... Before tonight, I'll put the details of the robot I'll send it to you.”

“Okay.” Wanda sighed with relief, “You're efficient enough this time.”

“You give the money fast, and I'll be fast. Do you still think this robot is the boss of the dream maker?”

How can a robot be the boss of the dream maker? The boss of the dream maker is the man behind the robot. This robot is just a shell! I suspect the man behind the robot, and it's not a good idea! Otherwise, why spend so much money on it?”

You have to move out of this robot to be the company boss?”

“Your suspicion is justified, but I can’t dig deeper information. I advise you not to dig further. What good is it for you to offend that kind of person? Don’t kill yourself.” The other party reminded.

“I’m measured! Even if I know the secret behind it, I can’t be stupid enough to share it with everyone for free.” After Wanda finished speaking, she hung up the phone.

After breakfast, Wanda dressed up and went out to find Steven Lafrance.

The two met at a coffee shop near the university.

Wanda was a little surprised after seeing Steven Lafrance.

Because Steven Lafrance is quite old, he does not seem to be someone who has the energy to start a business.

Therefore, the boss of the Dream Maker Group should be someone else.

“Ms. Tate, the robot you mentioned was indeed developed by me, but after I developed that robot, I sold it to a wealthy businessman in Rishawaka,” Steven Lafrance explained.

“Rich businessman? Which rich businessman?” Wanda asked.

“Sorry, I signed a non-disclosure agreement with the other party. I’m sorry I can’t tell you the other party’s information.” Steven Lafrance said politely, “Ms. Tate, why you suddenly interested in this robot?”

Wanda: “Because it is the name of the Dream Makers’s Boss! Don’t tell me you don’t know about this.”

Steven Lafrance: “Ms. Tate, I don’t care who the boss of the Dream Makers Group is. I’m about to retire, and I don’t have the energy to care about other things.”

“Since In this case, there is no need to drink that coffee.” Wanda got up from the chair and strode out of the cafe.

When she came out of the cafe, her phone rang.

The informant sent her pictures of the robot.

After she clicked on the photo and saw what the robot looked like, she screamed in fright, and then fainted!

Chapter 1965

Steven looked at everything in the cafe, but he did not go out. Because Wanda is really rude.

After a while, a well-meaning passerby called an ambulance for Wanda. As a result, when the ambulance arrived, she suddenly woke up.

Wanda refused the ambulance and strode towards the parking lot next to her.

Steven saw Wanda driving away, then took out his mobile phone and dialed Hayden's number.

Steven: "Wanda meet me just now and asked me about the robot."

"Why did you see her?" Hayden's voice came.

"I only heard about her evil deeds from her mouth before, but I saw her today and found that you didn't wrong her." Steven finished his coffee and went to the cashier to settle the bill.

Hayden: "The bad things she's done can't be said for days or nights. I'll just take my grandmother's death, because it's the most unforgivable thing."

Steven: "Well, when are you going to take revenge?"

Hayden: "Come on..."

...

Aryadelle.

Primary School.

Bodyguards come to pick Layla from school.

The bodyguards did not wait at the school gate, but came directly to Layla's classroom gate.

Katalina saw the bodyguard coming, and greeted him with a smile: "I told Layla's mother today that I will tutor Layla for 40 minutes every night from now on."

"You want to make money from my boss? You give Layla Tutoring, can I get a higher salary than outside?" The bodyguard said, "If you just want to earn my boss's money, well, if you have other intentions, I advise you to weigh yourself. Otherwise, I don't know how you died in the end."

Katalina was stunned by the bodyguard's words.

"I...I just want to help my students improve their academic performance...I don't want to collect extra money." Katalina defended herself, "If you don't believe me, ask Layla's mother, we don't talk about money."

The bodyguard: "Do you want her to take the initiative to send you money?"

Katalina: "No! If she takes the initiative to send me money, I definitely won't. Our school can't accept gifts, let alone red envelopes. .You really misunderstood me. I really want to help Layla improve her academic performance... Besides, my family is not here, I rent a house by myself, and it's boring after work every day... If you stay with me for one more hour, my life will be a little more fulfilling."

Bodyguard: "..."

"My family is quite rich." Katalina saw that the bodyguard still refused to believe in herself, so she could only tell the truth, "My family started a company in Bridgedale for decades. The pocket money my dad gave me every month was six figures."

Bodyguard: "..."

Katalina: "I choose to be a Teacher, it's because I love this industry."

"Sick." The bodyguard felt that she was either lying or that she was out of her mind.

Layla came out of the classroom with her schoolbag on her back and saw the bodyguard and the head teacher standing together. At that moment, she felt that they were a good match.

The two are tall and short, with black and white skin, one has a serious expression, the other has a lively expression... Obviously they are two completely different people, but they don't feel inconsistent at all when they stand together.

"Layla, if you don't want to tutor in my office, I can take you to my house for tutoring. My house is just outside the school, and it's just two steps away."

Katalina walked in front of Layla and spoke enthusiastically.

"Teacher Larson, why are you being so kind to me?" Layla was a little unnatural.

She didn't really want to let Katalina help her with tutoring.

The reason why she stayed at school for tutoring the week before was because of her father's affairs, which made her feel uncomfortable and did not want to go home to be emotional.

But now her mother has coaxed her.

Chapter 1966

Her academic performance looks poor, there is a reason why she deliberately failed the exam. As long as she takes the exam well in the future, her score will definitely improve.

"She said that her family is very rich, with six-figure pocket money a month. She came to be a teacher because she loves it, and she made up for you just because she was lonely and bored after get off work... Layla, do you believe it?" The bodyguard asked.

Layla was stunned for a moment, and then said, "I think Teacher Larson really looks rich."

“Why didn’t I see that?” The bodyguard’s eyes widened, and he looked Katalina up and down.

“I feel it. Because Teacher Larson has a good temperament and is completely different from Norah.” Layla said, “Teacher Larson, I don’t like your cousin, do you know about this?”

Katalina said with embarrassment, “Yes. My cousin said it.”

“Then you are still willing to make up for me?” Layla didn’t expect Katalina to be so honest.

“The time I spend with my cousin is not as long as the time I spend with you.”

Katalina took them to her rental house, “Since I can be your teacher, I think it’s a kind of fate. So I won’t Your relationship with my cousin affects how I think of you.”

“What do you think of me then?” Layla asked.

Katalina said, “You are very smart, you know everything. And you are beautiful and polite. A girl like you is very attractive.”

Layla was embarrassed to be praised: “Teacher Larson, what do you think of my uncle bodyguard? Katalina cleared her throat and said, “He’s a bit fierce, but I understand. His job requires him to be a little bit fiercer, so that the bad guys don’t dare to approach. He is responsible for his work and is a good bodyguard.”

Layla secretly Glanced at the bodyguard. The bodyguard blushed awkwardly.

After an hour.

The bodyguard took Layla home.

“Uncle Aqi, are you still single?” Layla turned on the gossip mode, “What do you think of Teacher Larson?”

Aqi, the bodyguard said, “Layla, she is Norah’s cousin, I look at her just like Norah, not pleasing to the eye.”

Layla: “But I think Teacher Larson is a good person.”

The bodyguard: "Layla, you are still young, your heart is very complicated, you can't understand."

"You can understand but you haven't found a girlfriend yet." Layla said. She glanced at the snacks at hand, "Teacher Larson gave me so many snacks, I don't like them, you can eat them!"

"You don't like them, why don't you refuse?" The bodyguards didn't like snacks very much either.

"Teacher Larson was kind enough to send me, why would I be so embarrassed to refuse?"

"Forget it, I'll eat it! What if it's poisonous?" The bodyguard spoke cautiously.

Back home, Avery took Layla's schoolbag over to watch her tuition tonight.

"Layla, doesn't your teacher Larson teach foreign languages? Why does she even help you with math?" Avery took the workbook and walked to the dining room.

Layla: "Mom, I'm in elementary school now. Maths shouldn't be too difficult for you, right?"

"Oh, yes." Avery flipped through her workbook again, "Teacher Larson gave you a lot of attention."

I think Teacher Larson may like Uncle Aqi a little."

Avery: "???"

Layla: "I saw her peeking at Uncle Aqi, Mom, so she likes it?"

Avery: "Aqi knows this something?"

"He said he didn't like Teacher Larson because she was Norah's cousin." Layla expressed her thoughts, "I think Teacher Larson is different from Norah. Teacher Larson looks very simple..."

At this moment, Avery's cell phone rang.

Avery strode towards the living room, picked up the phone, and saw Wanda's call.

Chapter 1967

Avery took the call from Wanda without thinking.

“Avery, tell me, what’s going on with that robot named Billy?! What the h-e-l-l is going on with it?!” Wanda’s roar was deafening.

Avery took the phone away.

“Avery! You talk! You f*cking talk!” Wanda didn’t hear Avery’s answer, as if she was crazy.

Avery was afraid that she would lose control by talking to Wanda, so she took her mobile phone and walked out.

“Wanda, what are you talking about? I don’t understand.” Avery replied.

“You don’t understand?! You’re pretending!” Wanda let out an angry shout from her throat, “You must know the Dream Maker Group! You must know the people there! Avery, I really underestimate you! If not I saw your father’s photo today, and I f*cking thought you were in such a miserable life!”

“Have you seen my father’s photo? Where did you see it?” Avery installed, ignorant of it and asked calmly.

“I found someone to investigate Billy in Rishawaka! I found out that the boss of the Dream Makers Group is probably Billy the Robot! And the person I was looking for showed me what a robot looks like... that’s clearly you Dad’s appearance when he was young! And this Billy’s full name is revenge, do you want revenge? Who are you looking for revenge for? Looking for me?!”

Wanda was frightened and fainted at the time, precisely because she saw the robot. Jack Tate looks exactly the same.

The person who developed this robot definitely knows Jack Tate!

Because Jack Tate has been dead for many years, who will remember him? It could only be Avery or someone around Avery.

If the boss behind the Dream Makers Group is really Billy the Robot, then the real boss of the Dream Makers Group may be Avery and the people around Avery. As long as she thought of this, Wanda felt her neck being restrained, and she couldn't breathe.

"Wanda, can you send me the photo? I haven't seen my dad's photo for a long time." Avery said casually, "Do you think it's possible that my dad was resurrected?"

"You... ..what nonsense are you talking about?! Your father is already dead! I saw him cremated with my own eyes, how did he come back to life?!" Wanda was shocked and dizzy at this bold assumption.

"It's also possible that you're hallucinating. I've never heard of a robot that looks like my dad. I've never seen it! You see my dad, and my dad must know about the crazy things you do. I'm here to ask you for your life." Avery cursed.

"Don't scare me! I, Wanda, didn't get scared! Your father is already dead! Now this robot, you deliberately designed it to look like your father... Your father's wish before his death was The driverless car was created, and now the Dream Makers Group has created it! So you used your father's appearance, which was a dream for your father! You are really a good and filial daughter!"

"Wanda, since you said that For this sake, I can only admit it." Avery said here, the conversation changed, "I am not only a good daughter who is filial to my father, but also a good daughter of my mother. Now I have fulfilled my father's dream. I came down to avenge my mother."

Wanda: "Hehehehe... It's really you! I didn't expect you to have such great ability! How do you want to avenge your mother?! You want to hit the car with a car. Are you going to kill me? Say it!"

"Guess it slowly." Avery hung up the phone after saying this.

She wants to make Wanda panic and fear, and to let Wanda taste the torment.

...

The next day.

After the bodyguard Aqi picked up Layla from school, together with Katalina, they went to her rental house for tutoring.

Layla didn't feel like a light bulb yesterday, but today they looked like a couple in dark clothes.

When they arrived at Katalina's rental house, Layla offered to write her homework first, and then show it to Katalina when she was done.

Chapter 1968

"You two don't look at me, or I'll be nervous and prone to mistakes." Layla spoke to them both.

"Okay...Aqi, come with me." Katalina said to The bodyguard.

"Who told you to call my name?" The bodyguard was very uncomfortable.

"I think Layla calls you Uncle Aqi, don't I call you Aqi? Then what should I call you?" Katalina walked out of the study and came to the living room, "I have a lot of snacks here, I can't finish them, you can get them later. Why don't you go? Just think it's helping me."

"You have too much money to burn? You can't eat it, why don't you buy so much?" The bodyguard remembered the snacks that Layla gave him last night. I find it awkward for men to eat snacks.

"I'm bored by myself, so I go out shopping, but I always have to buy things... I buy a little bit every day, so my family can't put them down." Katalina said, took out two large bags of snacks, put them away In front of the bodyguard, "Take these back!"

The bodyguard: "..."

“By the way, has Layla’s father found it? I think Layla is in a better mood.”

Katalina poured him a glass water, then sat down on the sofa and chatted with him.

“Are you looking for information for your cousin?” The bodyguard glared at her.

Katalina said, “...I care about the parents of the students myself, not my cousin. I swear!”

The bodyguard: “You want to imitate your cousin and seduce my boss, right?!”

Katalina: “...Actually, I prefer You’re like that.”

Bodyguard: “???”

Katalina: “Let me show you a movie I’ve been chasing recently, which is the story of a rich girl and her bodyguard.”

The bodyguard stepped back, feeling that this woman was poisonous!

“If you don’t think about me maliciously, I won’t tease you.” Katalina saw his blushing face, put away her phone, and defended herself, “I won’t be anyone’s pawn. Even if my cousin wants to use me, I won’t listen to her. I have my pride. I don’t even listen to my parents, so how can I listen to outsiders?”

Katalina continued: “Besides, my cousin has long since given up on Elliot. She only wants to pursue a career now. Need me to do anything for her. But...”

“But what?” The bodyguard looked at her defensively.

“Tell me what happened to your boss and when it happened, maybe I can help you go to my cousin’s place to find out.” Katalina said, “My cousin calls me to her place every weekend for dinner.”

The bodyguard: “You went to your cousin’s place to inquire about my boss? Why do you think your cousin knows more?”

“Why do you think my cousin doesn’t know? Of course, I’m not sure if my cousin knows, but I think My cousin is very good...she told me what happened to your boss.”

The bodyguard turned his head quickly, thinking, Norah, that scheming girl, might really know something.

An hour later, the bodyguard took Layla back to Foster’s house.

The bodyguard: “Miss Tate, I have something to report to you.”

Avery glanced at the bodyguard, then followed him to the yard.

Layla put down her schoolbag, washed her hands, walked to the dining room, glanced at the dishes on the table, and pouted: “Grandma Cooper, why are all vegetarian dishes today? I want to eat meat.”

“Layla, you can’t eat meat today.” Mrs. Cooper said, looking outside.

Chapter 1969

“Why can’t we eat meat? Our family eats meat every day!” Layla was puzzled and looked outside following Mrs. Cooper’s eyes.

“Today is your grandmother’s death anniversary. Your mother said to be vegetarian today to commemorate your grandmother.” Mrs. Cooper explained,

“Layla, do you remember your grandmother?”

“I... Of course I remember my grandmother.” Layla said so, but in fact, her grandmother’s appearance in her heart was very light.

Grandma died too long ago.

She was too young at the time, and although Layla cried for her grandmother’s death at the time, the grief had long since faded away.

“Although there is no meat today, I put sugar. You can try it.” Mrs. Cooper coaxed,

“I’ll make something delicious for you tomorrow morning.”

“I don’t like meat that much either.” Layla said, “I don’t need to eat meat.”

“Well. What did Aqi ask your mother for? It’s so mysterious.” Mrs. Cooper asked Layla in a low voice.

“I don’t know either. He didn’t tell me anything. I was doing homework in Teacher Larson’s study today, and he and Teacher Larson were staying in the living room. I heard the two of them chatting for a long time, I don’t know what they talked.”

Layla took a bite of her meal.

Mrs. Cooper: “Aqi and you, Teacher Larson, are so speculative?”

Layla: “Teacher Larson sent two big packets of snacks to Uncle Aqi today...Mrs. Cooper, does Teacher Larson like Uncle Aqi?”

Mrs. Cooper: “It should be! Aqi looks like a talent, but it’s a bit dark... Your Teacher Larson has a good eye.”

Layla: “I also think Uncle Aqi is very handsome. But Uncle Aqi doesn’t seem to like Teacher Larson. Because Teacher Larson is Norah’s cousin, Uncle Aqi hates it very much.”

“Aqi didn’t do what he did. He really should be more careful. What if your Teacher Larson really has bad intentions?” Mrs. Cooper said, “Layla, your father shouldn’t have had an accident. We must keep this lesson in mind. In the future, apart from your relatives, you must not trust anyone at will.”

The front yard.

Aqi relayed to Avery what Katalina said to him today.

“Miss Tate, I don’t know if I should believe what she said. I didn’t tell her everything about my boss.”

“Does Katalina really say that?” Avery was very surprised.

Katalina actually wanted to help them by going to Norah’s place to collect information.

“It’s absolutely true. She looks like she doesn’t understand anything, but she actually said such complicated things. I feel like she might want to lie to us.” Aqi’s conditioned reflex felt that Katalina was the bait thrown by Norah.

“Aqi, don’t rush to deny her.” Avery frowned slightly, “Even if this is Norah’s plan, I would like to see what Norah will do in the future.”

Aqi said, “You mean, let me go to Act with Katalina?”

Avery said, “Yes. If she continues to talk to you about this topic tomorrow, you can follow her words. Let’s see what information she can get from Norah.”

Aqi: “Oh, okay...”

“Aqi, you look a little nervous.” Avery said, “If Katalina really wants to help us, it must be because of you.”

Aqi: “Miss Tate, don’t talk nonsense.”

Avery: “She sent me a message about Layla the past two days, and she had a chance to tell me about it. But she didn’t tell me. She told you that she wanted you to remember it. She’s good.”

“Even if she doesn’t have bad intentions, she wants to help us find the boss, but with her ability, she may not be able to help.” Aqi calmly said, “Miss Tate, we don’t need to hold her too much confidence. Besides, who knows if the boss’s business has anything to do with Norah. When Katalina said those words to me, it felt like she was fishing.”

“If she’s just catching your fish, think about it carefully and don’t be affected by other factors. Katalina may or may not be with Norah. If you’re interested in her, you can decide after getting to know her.” Avery reminded.

Aqi: “Miss Tate, are you all so casual when you fall in love? I’ve only known her for a few days!”

Avery: “I met your boss after we got married.”

Aqi: “... “

.....

Bridgedale.

Wanda's mind is restless, and it is difficult to sit and lie down. She felt that the sky above her head was about to collapse.

Even if Avery is not the boss of the Dream Makers Group, she has a deep relationship with the Dream Makers Group.

She originally thought that without Elliot's backer, she would have a hard time in the future, but as a result, she climbed onto the thick thigh of the Dream Makers Group.

The most terrifying thing is that Avery said that she wanted to seek revenge on her.

Wanda felt as if there was a gun invisibly, with the muzzle pointed at her temple. She looked around and felt that nowhere was safe.

She walked quickly to the window, closed it, and locked it. She went to the door again and put the safety bolt on.

After confirming that the doors and windows were closed, a layer of sweat appeared on her forehead.

She picked up the water glass and took a glass of water to drink. But there was still a steady stream of hot sweat coming out of the back.

She put down the water glass, picked up the remote control of the air conditioner, set the temperature to the lowest level, then entered the bedroom, opened the wardrobe, took clean pajamas from it, and entered the bathroom to take a shower.

An hour later, her mood calmed down a little. She decided to make a will.

She has a lot of money in her hands, but her only daughter has long been killed.

She doesn't want her money to be taken away by people she hates after her death, so she must distribute the property before her death.

After coming out of the bathroom, Wanda changed into a long red dress, and took a pistol from the safe and put it in her bag before she dared to leave the house.

She took the elevator to the underground garage. She has an ordinary luxury car and a new dreamer's car.

Now she knows that the dream maker has a close relationship with Avery, so she doesn't plan to drive the dream maker's car anymore.

The Dream Maker's car is completely connected to the Internet and is controlled by the Dream Maker Group. If the Dream Maker Group wants her to die, it can directly drive the car into the river, or let the car hit other cars.

She got into her other car and drove it out of the underground garage. She came to the law firm and found a lawyer she knew well.

"Do you know Avery? She's going to kill me." Wanda's fingers holding the phone could not stop shaking, "She is now hooking up with the boss of the Dream Makers Group, and she wants to avenge her mother by killing me."

The lawyer: "Ms. Tate, do you have any evidence?"

"Yes!" Wanda slammed her mobile phone on the table and said excitedly, "I have a recording of the call. Avery said it to me herself on the phone. I'm coming to you, I just want you to testify for me. If I die next, it must be Avery who killed me. Even if Avery did not kill me personally, Avery must have killed me by others! I can do as much as you want. For you, as long as you can sue Avery after I have killed. Even if you can't let her die, you must let her be ruined and let everyone know that she killed me!"

The law firm stayed for about two hours.

When Wanda came out of the lawyer, it was already dark.

She got into the car and drove it back.

Five minutes after the car drove out, her cell phone rang. She narrowed her eyes and looked at the phone screen.

She saw that there was an unfamiliar number on the screen, and this number was 44444444...

Chapter 1971

Wanda looked at this number, her eyes were scarlet as if they were about to bleed.

Revenge... It was Avery who came to seek her revenge!

Wanda wanted to call a bodyguard, but she usually only brings bodyguards when she goes outside to attend events and places with many people.

Wanda wanted to hang up the phone, but her fingers seemed to be reluctant and pressed the answer button. After she pressed the answer button, it was too late for her to hang up the phone. Because...she heard Jack Tate's voice.

"Laura, today is our big day. It's also the fifth anniversary of our love. I'm so happy! Are you happy?" Jack Tate's voice was very penetrating and entered Wanda's ears.

Wanda stared at the phone screen absentmindedly.

"Jack, I'm as happy as you are." Laura's voice came from joy, "This is only our first five years, and we will have many more five years in the future."

Laura continued, "Thank you, thank you so much. You accompany me from nothing to the present! When I was most lost and suffering, you were by my side to comfort me and take care of me. Without you, I would not be where I am now. In front of all my relatives and friends, You solemnly promise that in my life, Jack, even if I fail everyone, I will never fail you! If I break my promise, let God punish me!"

...

This was Jack Tate and Laura's wedding, The two took the oath made by all their relatives and friends.

How ironic!

Jack cheated on Wanda shortly after marrying Laura.

Wanda's daughter was only a little younger than Avery.

Perhaps Jack Tate's death in middle age was God's punishment for him.

Listening to their voices, Wanda seemed to see bits and pieces of the past.

She saw how she seduced Jack, how she got pregnant out of wedlock, how she used the child in her womb to force Jack to divorce Laura and marry her.

She also saw how she drove Laura away from the Tate family, and how she treated their daughter Avery harshly...

"Today, it's Laura's death day... it's also you... Wanda.The anniversary of her death." A system mechanical male voice suddenly came, scaring Wanda's body out of control.

She stepped on the accelerator with one foot, originally trying to avoid the fuel tanker coming in front, but in a panic, she slammed into it!

'Bang' with a loud bang!

After the car hit the fuel tanker, it was hit and flew out!

The surrounding vehicles stopped one after another, and the surrounding pedestrians screamed and watched this scene...

When the ambulance arrived, the blood in the carriage had already stained the ground red.

The car was severely damaged and deformed, and it took some effort for the police to lift Wanda out of the driver's seat.

After a while, Wanda was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

.....

Hayden called Mike.

After Mike answered the phone, he looked at Hayden.

Mike: "Wanda was sent to the hospital for rescue."

“Not dead?” Hayden frowned, not satisfied with the result.

Mike said, “Don’t worry. Her car crashed like that. Even if she doesn’t die now, she probably won’t live for long. Your grandmother has been dead for so long, but Wanda has been happy until now. This time, even if she is lucky enough to get one back She will never be able to return to her normal life again. The rest of her life will be unbearably painful.”

“I prefer Wanda to die rather than make her feel unbearable.” Hayden pursed his thin lips tightly.

Mike said, “Let’s see if she can survive tonight! After dinner, I’ll go to the hospital to find out.”

Hayden took a few bites and put down the tableware.

Chapter 1972

Hayden has no appetite.

“You only eat this much? Wanda will definitely die, you have to be careful...” Mike advised.

“I miss my grandmother.” Hayden said the reason, “If my grandmother still alive, my mother would definitely be happier over the years. I would be happier too.”

Mike: “Do you remember your grandmother? I thought you have forgotten...”

“Of course I remember my grandmother. My grandmother was the best person in the world for me.” Hayden remembered a little more than Layla.

Hayden remembered all the fondness his grandmother had for him and Layla. At that time, his mother went out early and came back late every day, and it was his grandmother who took him and Layla at home.

Because he and Layla have different personalities from other children, they were not sent to kindergarten.

grandmother tried every way to cook delicious food for them at home and played with them. Even if they were different from other children, grandmother never thought they had a problem.

“You are better than me. Your mother hurts and your grandmother hurts. In my memory, the best relationship with me when I was a child was a little yellow dog... and it’s a stray dog...” Mike Sigid, “I can’t eat it either.”

Hayden: “My grandmother always praises me.”

Mike: “Every time that dog sees me, she always wagging its tail happily at me.”

“How can a dog compare to my grandmother?” Hayden glared at Mike.

Mike: “I didn’t compare the two of them together. Besides, all things have spirits.

We are human beings in this life, maybe we will be dogs in the next life. Don’t look down on dogs.”

Hayden: “...”

Three Hours later, news came from the hospital that Wanda had died because of the ineffective rescue.

Mike immediately called Avery about the news.

Avery answered the phone and asked the bodyguard to drive him to the cemetery.

After waiting for so many years, it is finally today.

Avery was going to tell her mother the news herself.

An hour later, the car stopped in the cemetery. Avery got out of the car holding a bunch of orchids.

She came to her mother’s cemetery and put down the flowers.

“Mom, I came to see you today.” Avery looked at the photo on her mother’s tombstone, as if her mother was standing in front of her, listening to her whispering kindly, “I’m here to tell you today that Wanda is dead. Bad news, she’s finally dead...but even if she’s dead, it won’t make up for the pain of losing you.”

“Mom, it’s a pity that you didn’t see Hayden and Layla as they are now. The two of them have already Not a problem child, Layla is now a well-known child star in Aryadelle, and she is smart and sensible, and never gives me a headache.

Hayden is also, not only does he not let me worry, but he is also very businessminded. Dad’s unfulfilled dream was rejected and It’s done by Hayden. If only you were alive! You will be proud of Hayden and Layla, and we can repay you well...”

Avery said here, her eyes couldn’t stop getting wet.

“Mom, I should have been very happy to get my revenge. But I feel so sad! Elliot has been missing for more than half a month, and he still hasn’t been found... Others think he is dead, but I don’t believe it! He said he wanted to take care of our children and bring them up. He couldn’t leave me and the children behind, how could he be willing? Mom, please bless him, bless him still alive...if He died, how should I spend the rest of my life.”

After staying in the cemetery for more than an hour, Avery returned to the car. Now that she has avenged her mother, she can concentrate on finding Elliot. Emilio asked her to meet, but she has not replied yet.

Because Emilio did not explain the reason for dating her.

After serious thinking, Avery decided to meet Emilio. She checked other special planes that stopped in Yonroeville when she and Elliot had an accident.

There was one plane for transporting goods, and another plane for transporting athletes to participate in the competition... After investigation, only the plane of MH Medicine was more meaningful for investigation.

Chapter 1973

Foster Family.

Several cars were parked in the yard.

After Avery got out of the car, Tammy and Shea came out.

Seeing them, the corners of Avery’s mouth rose unconsciously.

Recently, she was in a bad mood and didn't want to see people, and they didn't come.

The tacit understanding between good friends is sometimes deeper than the tacit understanding between lovers.

"Avery, have you gone to see your mother?" Tammy walked up to her, smiling brightly, "I heard that Wanda died, this is great news to celebrate."

"Well. When did you come?" Avery took Tammy with one hand and Shea with the other, and entered the room.

"Mike said in the group that Wanda was dead. I thought you must be in a good mood today, so I asked Shea to see you together." Tammy took Avery and sat down on the sofa.

Mrs. Cooper immediately came over with a bowl of tonic soup and handed it to Avery, "You can have lunch after sitting for a while."

"Do you two want soup? Mrs. Cooper's soup is very delicious..." Avery held the soup bowl and asked the two of them.

"As soon as the two of us came over, Mrs. Cooper gave us a drink. We're all full, so hurry up and drink!" Tammy said with a smile, "Mike said Wanda died in a car accident, but I think... ..There must be his and Hayden's credit. This Wanda should have sent her to h-e-l-l a long time ago!"

"Wanda was too snobby before, I'm afraid that it will be difficult to deal with rashly." Avery expressed her thoughts.

"How can it be so hard to deal with? You had Elliot backing you up before. Even if you kill Wanda yourself, nothing will happen." Tammy took her words and forgot the word 'Elliot' carry.

Avery's face suddenly turned cold.

Tammy realized that she had said the wrong thing and wanted to save her, but

Avery spoke first: "You are right. It's my own problem. If I had been softer to Elliot, don't always argue with him and treat him more with a little trust, I can absolutely ask him to avenge me."

"Avery, you..." Tammy didn't expect her to say that.

"Now that Elliot has gone, I've come to my senses. My feelings for him are far deeper than I imagined. If I could have predicted that he would have an accident this year, I would cherish every day in the past." Avery held Soup bowl, said.

"Avery, my brother is definitely not dead. He promised me that he would not die in front of me." Shea said. These days, Shea has lost a lot of weight due to poor appetite and lack of sleep. But she always believed that Elliot was still alive.

"Well, I also believe that Elliot is still alive. I will not stop looking for him." Avery said, pressing down the depression in her heart, "Let's talk about happy topics!"

"The little boys in the class are afraid of my daughter." Tammy shared, "She only went to school for a week, so she beat up the three little boys in the class and cried. Before she went to school, I was worried that she would be bullied. Now it seems that I think too much."

"Why did Kara beat someone?" Avery asked.

"For example, the little boy peeks at the girl going to the toilet. The little boy doesn't wash his hands and wipes others' bodies after eating, and the little boy takes off his pants when he takes a nap. She feels hot eyes..." Tammy couldn't help but laugh, "I really taught her not to hit people casually. But she reasoned with others, and others didn't like to listen to them, so she did it."

Avery: "It's quite your style."

Chapter 1974

"Avery, don't you think Jun was a little kid? According to my mother-in-law, Jun liked to fight when he was a child. My parents said that I was a little princess when I was a child... “

Avery really didn't expect such a contrast.

“Kara is a combination of me and Jun! It's reasonable to be reasonable, but she is too impatient.” Tammy said, took a banana from the fruit plate, and peeled it slowly, “Shea, last time my mother-in-law fell and hurt her waist. It seems that she can't be tired anymore. You can send Maria to the nursery near your home.”

Shea nodded: “I have already sent to the nursery. Every day Crying at school, crying after school...but the teacher said that she didn't cry so much when she was in school.”

“It's like this with children. After a while, she'll get used to school life.” Tammy comforted.

“Shea, when did your mother-in-law fall? Did she fall seriously?” Avery was completely unaware of this.

“What happened after you and Elliot went to Yonroeville. You've been in the hospital for a week!” Tammy said, “but don't worry, auntie has been discharged from the hospital now, so it must be less serious.”

Avery frowned deeply, “Shea, I'll go back with you later, and I'll go see your mother-in-law.”

Shea: “Okay.”

“How is Brother Wesley's work? Is it going well?” Avery realized that Wesley cared too little about his friends.

Every time Avery looked for Wesley, she only contacted him when she needed his help.

Shea said, “I don't know if his work is going well... Every time I ask him if he is working hard, he always says that he won't tell me bad news. I really miss it. If you can make money yourself, you don't have to work as hard as Wesley.”

Tammy patted Shea's head: "You really feel sorry for your husband. If you really don't want him to work, you can tell him. When the two of you got married, Elliot should have given their family a large sum of money, right?"

Tammy knew that Elliot could not be mentioned, and did not deliberately say anything about Elliot, but Elliot had already penetrated their lives.

"My brother gave me a sum of money, and asked me not to give it to my parents-in-law, nor to Wesley." Shea said truthfully, "The money is in my hands, I want Wesley to help me save it, but Wesley doesn't want to."

"You don't even listen to your brother's words. He asked you to take it yourself, so you can take it yourself... Even if Wesley treats you well, you can't keep the money for him." Tammy said. She was a little anxious after hearing her words, "I'll give you a safe the other day, and you can store your valuables in the safe. You just need to remember the password of the safe."

"But I believe Wesley, just like believing in my brother." In Shea's clear eyes, there was persistence that belongs to her.

Avery: "Tammy, every couple's situation is different. Love should always be like her and Wesley."

Tammy: "I'm afraid that Wesley will fail Shea in the future."

Avery: "If Wesley dares to fail Shea in the future, it belongs to Shea. I will definitely help Shea to get it back. Since they are in love and harmony now, we don't have to worry too much."

After lunch, the three went to Wesley's house together to visit Wesley's mother.

Wesley's mother still needs bed rest, but there is no problem getting out of bed.

"Avery, when such a big thing happened in your family, I'm really touched that you can still come to see me." Sandra said, "I'm fine now, I hope you can find Elliot's whereabouts soon. Wesley told me that Shea always wiped away her tears secretly, Shea was anxious, and Wesley was anxious too."

Avery wanted to say something, but suddenly the phone in her bag rang.

Chapter 1975

Avery took out her mobile phone and saw that it was a call from Bridgedale.

She immediately exited the room and answered the phone.

“Excuse me, are you Miss Avery?”

Avery: “I am. Who are you?”

“I am Ms. Wanda’s lawyer. Where are you now? Are you heard about Ms. Wanda’s death?”

Avery: “I heard, what’s the matter?”

Wanda’s lawyer: “Ms. Wanda said before she died that if she died, then the murderer must be you. I don’t know if you have anything to say.”

Avery: “It’s ridiculous, even if I’m not a student. As for the law, I also know that whoever advocates will give evidence. She said that I killed her. Do you have any evidence? Besides, Wanda is in Bridgedale, and I am in Aryadelle, how did I kill her?”

Wanda’s lawyer: “Although you are in Aryadelle, you can buy a murderer and kill someone.”

Avery: “If you can’t produce evidence to prove that I bought a murderer, I can sue you for libel. I’ll give you a week, if you can’t produce any evidence, then you can wait for the receipt. Lawyer’s letter.”

Wanda’s lawyer: “Miss Tate, since I dare to call you and say this, it is naturally because I have evidence in my hand...Miss Tate, as far as I know, your child is in Bridgedale, you should come to Bridgedale as soon as possible, otherwise, if this incident becomes serious, it may affect your child.”

Avery hung up the phone.

Tammy came out, saw her face was cold, and immediately asked with concern:

“Avery, whose phone is it? Could it be that Wanda has come back to life?”

Avery shook her head: “If she die, she will die, and if she die, she will come back to life. It’s only in TV dramas.”

“That’s good!” Tammy breathed a sigh of relief, “Who called you?”

“Wanda’s lawyer.” Avery said this, and quickly adjusted her emotions, “Wanda told her lawyer that if she died, then the murderer must be me. So her lawyer will sue me on her behalf. I have to go to Bridgedale to deal with this matter.”

“D*mn it! Wanda is a poisonous woman. Avery, why don’t you go to Bridgedale? You stay in Aryadelle, anyway, Aryadelle and Bridgedale There is no extradition agreement between countries. Before, every time Wanda committed a crime in Aryadelle, didn’t she immediately go to Bridgedale to take refuge?” Tammy didn’t want Avery to get in any trouble, so she gave her own advice.

“Tammy, I didn’t do anything wrong. I don’t need to hide. Wanda can ask a lawyer to sue me, or I can ask a lawyer to defend me.” Avery has decided to go to Bridgedale to solve this matter, and by the way, see wanted to meet Emilio, “Her lawyer said that there is evidence that I killed the person, but it’s just to scare me. I didn’t participate in the whole process.”

“But you didn’t participate, Hayden and the others may not have participated, right? If it is found out that it was Hayden Wouldn’t what they do... affect them too?” Tammy was suddenly afraid that this matter would make a big difference. If Elliot was here, Tammy would never worry about them.

But now without Elliot, Avery always feel that there is no one who can support the overall situation.

“Then I’ll go to Bridgedale.” Avery said, “Tammy, you don’t have to worry. Wanda is no longer the high-spirited Wanda we used to be, and we are not what we used to be.”

“Okay, okay! I know no matter what you do. Okay, you will go. Then you can solve the problem with peace of mind. Layla and Robert, we will watch them and you don’t have to worry about them.”

After coming out of Wesley’s house, Avery returned to Foster’s house and simply cleaned up Luggage, went out to the airport.

Listening to what Wanda’s lawyer said, if she doesn’t go to Bridgedale to resolve the matter as soon as possible, they plan to make it bigger.

Otherwise Wanda’s lawyer wouldn’t say that it would affect her child.

.....

In the evening.

The bodyguard picked up Layla from school, and by the way, he told Layla that Your mother went to Bridgedale.

“Why did my mother suddenly go to Bridgedale?” Layla frowned.

The bodyguard: “Wanda is dead.”

Layla: “Ah?! Really? Is this old w*tch really dead?!”

Chapter 1976

The bodyguard: “Yeah. So your mom went over to deal with a little thing. Come back when it’s settled.”

“Oh...my mom won’t be in danger?” Layla asked.

The bodyguard: “Probably not. She went to Bridgedale. Your brother and your uncle Mike will take care of her.”

Layla: “Teacher Larson got off work at one o’clock and she gave me the key to her house, let’s go to her house first.”

The two of them knew each other well and came to Katalina’s rental house.

The bodyguard opened the door and saw a person sitting on the sofa in the living room.

This person, by coincidence, they know each other.

Norah was entrusted by her aunt to come to Katalina's house to see Katalina's life.

Unexpectedly, Layla and Foster family's bodyguard would appear here.

Seeing Norah, Layla turned around and left without thinking.

But the bodyguard held her back.

The bodyguard still haven't figured out if the disappearance of the boss has anything to do with Norah. What if it does?

"Miss Jones, what a coincidence." The bodyguard led Layla, entered the room, and closed the door by the way.

After the two of them came in, Norah became a little uncomfortable.

Norah adjusted several times before finally letting herself pull out a smile.

Norah: "Layla, long time no see."

Layla pretended not to hear, took her schoolbag, and went to the study to do her homework.

Norah saw that Layla was so impolite, and the expression on her face was a little bit unbearable.

"Miss Jones, after my boss's accident, Layla is like this. You don't have to care about like a child." The bodyguard spoke up, leading to Elliot's disappearance.

"Well, I can understand. I'm also very sad when Elliot's accident happened. I wanted to come to visit, but I thought that Layla and Avery didn't welcome me, so I didn't go there." Norah said calmly, "By the way, how do you have the key to my cousin's house? She gave it to you?"

The bodyguard: "Yes. She helps Layla with tuition every night. Doesn't you know?"

"I thought it was at home." Norah was very surprised and could not hide her anger, "My cousin has just entered the society, she can be really stupid. She has no defense at all."

The bodyguard: "Miss Jones, you thinks that Layla and I are bad people for your cousin. Should you guard against us?"

"I didn't say that." Norah's expression turned gloomy, she picked up her bag and strode towards the door.

When the door opened, Norah happened to meet Katalina who was returning from get off work.

"However, what's the matter with you? You can make up lessons for Layla, why did you let them come to your house? Do you want to cling to Foster's house for your own benefit?" Norah closed the door behind her, but inside the room, there was still Norah's voice could be heard.

Norah continued, "The Foster family is no longer the beautiful Foster family it used to be! Elliot is dead, and now the entire Foster family has no leader, but you are so flattering to them, your brain is flooded, right? You said a word of the words I said to you. Didn't you listen?"

"Cousin, didn't you say that Elliot just disappeared?" Katalina blushed and retorted in a low voice, "You said he died, but he really died?"

Norah took a deep breath and lowered her voice: "I said he's dead, he's dead!

You go in immediately and drive them out!"

Norah's voice was settled, and the door behind her opened—

Chapter 1977

Her academic performance looks poor, there is a reason why she deliberately failed the exam. As long as she takes the exam well in the future, her score will definitely improve.

"She said that her family is very rich, with six-figure pocket money a month. She came to be a teacher because she loves it, and she made up for you just because she was lonely and bored after get off work... Layla, do you believe it?"

The bodyguard asked.

Layla was stunned for a moment, and then said, "I think Teacher Larson really looks rich."

"Why didn't I see that?" The bodyguard's eyes widened, and he looked Katalina up and down.

"I feel it. Because Teacher Larson has a good temperament and is completely different from Norah." Layla said, "Teacher Larson, I don't like your cousin, do you know about this?"

Katalina said with embarrassment, "Yes. My cousin said it."

"Then you are still willing to make up for me?" Layla didn't expect Katalina to be so honest.

"The time I spend with my cousin is not as long as the time I spend with you."

Katalina took them to her rental house, "Since I can be your teacher, I think it's a kind of fate. So I won't Your relationship with my cousin affects how I think of you."

"What do you think of me then?" Layla asked.

Katalina said, "You are very smart, you know everything. And you are beautiful and polite. A girl like you is very attractive."

Layla was embarrassed to be praised: "Teacher Larson, what do you think of my uncle bodyguard? Katalina cleared her throat and said, "He's a bit fierce, but I understand. His job requires him to be a little bit fiercer, so that the bad guys don't dare to approach. He is responsible for his work and is a good bodyguard."

Layla secretly Glanced at the bodyguard. The bodyguard blushed awkwardly.

After an hour.

The bodyguard took Layla home.

“Uncle Aqi, are you still single?” Layla turned on the gossip mode, “What do you think of Teacher Larson?”

Aqi, the bodyguard said, “Layla, she is Norah’s cousin, I look at her just like Norah, not pleasing to the eye.”

Layla: “But I think Teacher Larson is a good person.”

The bodyguard: “Layla, you are still young, your heart is very complicated, you can’t understand.”

“You can understand but you haven’t found a girlfriend yet.” Layla said. She glanced at the snacks at hand, “Teacher Larson gave me so many snacks, I don’t like them, you can eat them!”

“You don’t like them, why don’t you refuse?” The bodyguards didn’t like snacks very much either.

“Teacher Larson was kind enough to send me, why would I be so embarrassed to refuse?”

“Forget it, I’ll eat it! What if it’s poisonous?” The bodyguard spoke cautiously.

Back home, Avery took Layla’s schoolbag over to watch her tuition tonight.

“Layla, doesn’t your teacher Larson teach foreign languages? Why does she even help you with math?” Avery took the workbook and walked to the dining room.

Layla: “Mom, I’m in elementary school now. Maths shouldn’t be too difficult for you, right?”

“Oh, yes.” Avery flipped through her workbook again, “Teacher Larson gave you a lot of attention.”

I think Teacher Larson may like Uncle Aqi a little.”

Avery: “???”

Layla: “I saw her peeking at Uncle Aqi, Mom, so she likes it?”

Avery: “Aqi knows this something?”

“He said he didn’t like Teacher Larson because she was Norah’s cousin.” Layla expressed her thoughts, “I think Teacher Larson is different from Norah. Teacher Larson looks very simple...”

At this moment, Avery’s cell phone rang.

Avery strode towards the living room, picked up the phone, and saw Wanda’s call.

Chapter 1978

Avery took the call from Wanda without thinking.

“Avery, tell me, what’s going on with that robot named Billy?! What the h-e-l-l is going on with it?!” Wanda’s roar was deafening.

Avery took the phone away.

“Avery! You talk! You f*cking talk!” Wanda didn’t hear Avery’s answer, as if she was crazy.

Avery was afraid that she would lose control by talking to Wanda, so she took her mobile phone and walked out.

“Wanda, what are you talking about? I don’t understand.” Avery replied.

“You don’t understand?! You’re pretending!” Wanda let out an angry shout from her throat, “You must know the Dream Maker Group! You must know the people there! Avery, I really underestimate you! If not I saw your father’s photo today, and I f*cking thought you were in such a miserable life!”

“Have you seen my father’s photo? Where did you see it?” Avery installed, ignorant of it and asked calmly.

“I found someone to investigate Billy in Rishawaka! I found out that the boss of the Dream Makers Group is probably Billy the Robot! And the person I was looking for showed me what a robot looks like... that's clearly you Dad's appearance when he was young! And this Billy's full name is revenge, do you want revenge? Who are you looking for revenge for? Looking for me?!"

Wanda was frightened and fainted at the time, precisely because she saw the robot. Jack Tate looks exactly the same.

The person who developed this robot definitely knows Jack Tate!

Because Jack Tate has been dead for many years, who will remember him? It could only be Avery or someone around Avery.

If the boss behind the Dream Makers Group is really Billy the Robot, then the real boss of the Dream Makers Group may be Avery and the people around Avery.

As long as she thought of this, Wanda felt her neck being restrained, and she couldn't breathe.

"Wanda, can you send me the photo? I haven't seen my dad's photo for a long time." Avery said casually, "Do you think it's possible that my dad was resurrected?"

"You... ..what nonsense are you talking about?! Your father is already dead! I saw him cremated with my own eyes, how did he come back to life?!" Wanda was shocked and dizzy at this bold assumption.

"It's also possible that you're hallucinating. I've never heard of a robot that looks like my dad. I've never seen it! You see my dad, and my dad must know about the crazy things you do. I'm here to ask you for your life." Avery cursed.

"Don't scare me! I, Wanda, didn't get scared! Your father is already dead! Now this robot, you deliberately designed it to look like your father... Your father's wish before his death was The driverless car was created, and now the Dream Makers Group has created it! So you used your father's appearance, which was a dream for your father! You are really a good and filial daughter!"

"Wanda, since you said that For this sake, I can only admit it." Avery said here, the conversation changed, "I am not only a good daughter who is filial to my father, but also a good daughter of my mother. Now I have fulfilled my father's dream. I came down to avenge my mother."

Wanda: "Hehehehe... It's really you! I didn't expect you to have such great ability! How do you want to avenge your mother?! You want to hit the car with a car. Are you going to kill me? Say it!"

"Guess it slowly." Avery hung up the phone after saying this.

She wants to make Wanda panic and fear, and to let Wanda taste the torment.

The next day.

After the bodyguard Aqi picked up Layla from school, together with Katalina, they went to her rental house for tutoring.

Layla didn't feel like a light bulb yesterday, but today they looked like a couple in dark clothes.

When they arrived at Katalina's rental house, Layla offered to write her homework first, and then show it to Katalina when she was done.

Chapter 1979

"You two don't look at me, or I'll be nervous and prone to mistakes." Layla spoke to them both.

"Okay...Aqi, come with me." Katalina said to The bodyguard.

"Who told you to call my name?" The bodyguard was very uncomfortable.

"I think Layla calls you Uncle Aqi, don't I call you Aqi? Then what should I call you?" Katalina walked out of the study and came to the living room, "I have a lot of snacks here, I can't finish them, you can get them later. Why don't you go?"

Just think it's helping me.”

“You have too much money to burn? You can't eat it, why don't you buy so much?” The bodyguard remembered the snacks that Layla gave him last night. I find it awkward for men to eat snacks.

“I'm bored by myself, so I go out shopping, but I always have to buy things... I buy a little bit every day, so my family can't put them down.” Katalina said, took out two large bags of snacks, put them away In front of the bodyguard, “Take these back!”

The bodyguard: “...”

“By the way, has Layla's father found it? I think Layla is in a better mood.”

Katalina poured him a glass water, then sat down on the sofa and chatted with him.

“Are you looking for information for your cousin?” The bodyguard glared at her.

Katalina said, “...I care about the parents of the students myself, not my cousin. I swear!”

The bodyguard: “You want to imitate your cousin and seduce my boss, right?!”

Katalina: “...Actually, I prefer You're like that.”

Bodyguard: “???”

Katalina: “Let me show you a movie I've been chasing recently, which is the story of a rich girl and her bodyguard.”

The bodyguard stepped back, feeling that this woman was poisonous!

“If you don't think about me maliciously, I won't tease you.” Katalina saw his blushing face, put away her phone, and defended herself, “I won't be anyone's pawn. Even if my cousin wants to use me, I won't listen to her. I have my pride. I don't even listen to my parents, so how can I listen to outsiders?”

Katalina continued: “Besides, my cousin has long since given up on Elliot. She only wants to pursue a career now. Need me to do anything for her. But...”

“But what?” The bodyguard looked at her defensively.

“Tell me what happened to your boss and when it happened, maybe I can help you go to my cousin’s place to find out.” Katalina said, “My cousin calls me to her place every weekend for dinner.”

The bodyguard: “You went to your cousin’s place to inquire about my boss? Why do you think your cousin knows more?”

“Why do you think my cousin doesn’t know? Of course, I’m not sure if my cousin knows, but I think My cousin is very good...she told me what happened to your boss.”

The bodyguard turned his head quickly, thinking, Norah, that scheming girl, might really know something.

An hour later, the bodyguard took Layla back to Foster’s house.

The bodyguard: “Miss Tate, I have something to report to you.”

Avery glanced at the bodyguard, then followed him to the yard.

Layla put down her schoolbag, washed her hands, walked to the dining room, glanced at the dishes on the table, and pouted: “Grandma Cooper, why are all vegetarian dishes today? I want to eat meat.”

“Layla, you can’t eat meat today.” Mrs. Cooper said, looking outside.

Chapter 1980

“Why can’t we eat meat? Our family eats meat every day!” Layla was puzzled and looked outside following Mrs. Cooper’s eyes.

“Today is your grandmother’s death anniversary. Your mother said to be vegetarian today to commemorate your grandmother.” Mrs. Cooper explained,

“Layla, do you remember your grandmother?”

“I... Of course I remember my grandmother.” Layla said so, but in fact, her grandmother’s appearance in her heart was very light.

Grandma died too long ago.

She was too young at the time, and although Layla cried for her grandmother's death at the time, the grief had long since faded away.

"Although there is no meat today, I put sugar. You can try it." Mrs. Cooper coaxed, "I'll make something delicious for you tomorrow morning."

"I don't like meat that much either." Layla said, "I don't need to eat meat."

"Well. What did Aqi ask your mother for? It's so mysterious." Mrs. Cooper asked Layla in a low voice.

"I don't know either. He didn't tell me anything. I was doing homework in Teacher Larson's study today, and he and Teacher Larson were staying in the living room. I heard the two of them chatting for a long time, I don't know what they talked." Layla took a bite of her meal.

Mrs. Cooper: "Aqi and you, Teacher Larson, are so speculative?"

Layla: "Teacher Larson sent two big packets of snacks to Uncle Aqi today...Mrs. Cooper, does Teacher Larson like Uncle Aqi?"

Mrs. Cooper: "It should be! Aqi looks like a talent, but it's a bit dark... Your Teacher Larson has a good eye."

Layla: "I also think Uncle Aqi is very handsome. But Uncle Aqi doesn't seem to like Teacher Larson. Because Teacher Larson is Norah's cousin, Uncle Aqi hates it very much."

"Aqi didn't do what he did. He really should be more careful. What if your Teacher Larson really has bad intentions?" Mrs. Cooper said, "Layla, your father shouldn't have had an accident. We must keep this lesson in mind. In the future, apart from your relatives, you must not trust anyone at will."

The front yard.

Aqi relayed to Avery what Katalina said to him today.

“Miss Tate, I don’t know if I should believe what she said. I didn’t tell her everything about my boss.”

“Does Katalina really say that?” Avery was very surprised.

Katalina actually wanted to help them by going to Norah’s place to collect information.

“It’s absolutely true. She looks like she doesn’t understand anything, but she actually said such complicated things. I feel like she might want to lie to us.”

Aqi’s conditioned reflex felt that Katalina was the bait thrown by Norah.

“Aqi, don’t rush to deny her.” Avery frowned slightly, “Even if this is Norah’s plan, I would like to see what Norah will do in the future.”

Aqi said, “You mean, let me go to Act with Katalina?”

Avery said, “Yes. If she continues to talk to you about this topic tomorrow, you can follow her words. Let’s see what information she can get from Norah.”

Aqi: “Oh, okay...”

“Aqi, you look a little nervous.” Avery said, “If Katalina really wants to help us, it must be because of you.”

Aqi: “Miss Tate, don’t talk nonsense.”

Avery: “She sent me a message about Layla the past two days, and she had a chance to tell me about it. But she didn’t tell me. She told you that she wanted you to remember it. She’s good.”

“Even if she doesn’t have bad intentions, she wants to help us find the boss, but with her ability, she may not be able to help.” Aqi calmly said, “Miss Tate, we don’t need to hold her too much confidence. Besides, who knows if the boss’s business has anything to do with Norah. When Katalina said those words to me, it felt like she was fishing.”

“If she’s just catching your fish, think about it carefully and don’t be affected by other factors. Katalina may or may not be with Norah. If you're interested in her, you can decide after getting to know her." Avery reminded.

Aqi: "Miss Tate, are you all so casual when you fall in love? I've only known her for a few days!"

Avery: "I met your boss after we got married."

Aqi: "... "

.....

Bridgedale.

Chapter 1981

Wanda's mind is restless, and it is difficult to sit and lie down. She felt that the sky above her head was about to collapse.

Even if Avery is not the boss of the Dream Makers Group, she has a deep relationship with the Dream Makers Group.

She originally thought that without Elliot's backer, she would have a hard time in the future, but as a result, she climbed onto the thick thigh of the Dream Makers Group.

The most terrifying thing is that Avery said that she wanted to seek revenge on her.

Wanda felt as if there was a gun invisibly, with the muzzle pointed at her temple.

She looked around and felt that nowhere was safe.

She walked quickly to the window, closed it, and locked it. She went to the door again and put the safety bolt on.

After confirming that the doors and windows were closed, a layer of sweat appeared on her forehead.

She picked up the water glass and took a glass of water to drink. But there was still a steady stream of hot sweat coming out of the back.

She put down the water glass, picked up the remote control of the air conditioner, set the temperature to the lowest level, then entered the bedroom, opened the wardrobe, took clean pajamas from it, and entered the bathroom to take a shower.

An hour later, her mood calmed down a little. She decided to make a will.

She has a lot of money in her hands, but her only daughter has long been killed.

She doesn't want her money to be taken away by people she hates after her death, so she must distribute the property before her death.

After coming out of the bathroom, Wanda changed into a long red dress, and took a pistol from the safe and put it in her bag before she dared to leave the house.

She took the elevator to the underground garage. She has an ordinary luxury car and a new dreamer's car.

Now she knows that the dream maker has a close relationship with Avery, so she doesn't plan to drive the dream maker's car anymore.

The Dream Maker's car is completely connected to the Internet and is controlled by the Dream Maker Group. If the Dream Maker Group wants her to die, it can directly drive the car into the river, or let the car hit other cars.

She got into her other car and drove it out of the underground garage. She came to the law firm and found a lawyer she knew well.

"Do you know Avery? She's going to kill me." Wanda's fingers holding the phone could not stop shaking, "She is now hooking up with the boss of the Dream Makers Group, and she wants to avenge her mother by killing me."

The lawyer: "Ms. Tate, do you have any evidence?"

"Yes!" Wanda slammed her mobile phone on the table and said excitedly, "I have a recording of the call. Avery said it to me herself on the phone. I'm coming to you, I just want you to testify for me. If I die next, it must be Avery who killed me. Even if Avery did not kill me personally, Avery must have killed me by others! I can do as much as you want. For you, as long as you can sue Avery after I have killed. Even if you can't let her die, you must let her be ruined and let everyone know that she killed me!"

The law firm stayed for about two hours.

When Wanda came out of the lawyer, it was already dark.

She got into the car and drove it back.

Five minutes after the car drove out, her cell phone rang. She narrowed her eyes and looked at the phone screen.

She saw that there was an unfamiliar number on the screen, and this number was 44444444...

Chapter 1982

Wanda looked at this number, her eyes were scarlet as if they were about to bleed.

Revenge... It was Avery who came to seek her revenge!

Wanda wanted to call a bodyguard, but she usually only brings bodyguards when she goes outside to attend events and places with many people.

Wanda wanted to hang up the phone, but her fingers seemed to be reluctant and pressed the answer button. After she pressed the answer button, it was too late for her to hang up the phone. Because...she heard Jack Tate's voice.

"Laura, today is our big day. It's also the fifth anniversary of our love. I'm so happy! Are you happy?" Jack Tate's voice was very penetrating and entered Wanda's ears.

Wanda stared at the phone screen absentmindedly.

"Jack, I'm as happy as you are." Laura's voice came from joy, "This is only our first five years, and we will have many more five years in the future.”

Laura continued, “Thank you, thank you so much. You accompany me from nothing to the present! When I was most lost and suffering, you were by my side to comfort me and take care of me. Without you, I would not be where I am now. In front of all my relatives and friends, You solemnly promise that in my life, Jack, even if I fail everyone, I will never fail you! If I break my promise, let God punish me!”

...

This was Jack Tate and Laura’s wedding, The two took the oath made by all their relatives and friends.

How ironic!

Jack cheated on Wanda shortly after marrying Laura.

Wanda’s daughter was only a little younger than Avery.

Perhaps Jack Tate’s death in middle age was God’s punishment for him.

Listening to their voices, Wanda seemed to see bits and pieces of the past.

She saw how she seduced Jack, how she got pregnant out of wedlock, how she used the child in her womb to force Jack to divorce Laura and marry her.

She also saw how she drove Laura away from the Tate family, and how she treated their daughter Avery harshly...

“Today, it’s Laura’s death day... it’s also you... Wanda.The anniversary of her death.” A system mechanical male voice suddenly came, scaring Wanda’s body out of control.

She stepped on the accelerator with one foot, originally trying to avoid the fuel tanker coming in front, but in a panic, she slammed into it!

‘Bang’ with a loud bang!

After the car hit the fuel tanker, it was hit and flew out!

The surrounding vehicles stopped one after another, and the surrounding pedestrians screamed and watched this scene...

When the ambulance arrived, the blood in the carriage had already stained the ground red.

The car was severely damaged and deformed, and it took some effort for the police to lift Wanda out of the driver's seat.

After a while, Wanda was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

.....

Hayden called Mike.

After Mike answered the phone, he looked at Hayden.

Mike: "Wanda was sent to the hospital for rescue."

"Not dead?" Hayden frowned, not satisfied with the result.

Mike said, "Don't worry. Her car crashed like that. Even if she doesn't die now, she probably won't live for long. Your grandmother has been dead for so long, but Wanda has been happy until now. This time, even if she is lucky enough to get one back She will never be able to return to her normal life again. The rest of her life will be unbearably painful."

"I prefer Wanda to die rather than make her feel unbearable." Hayden pursed his thin lips tightly.

Mike said, "Let's see if she can survive tonight! After dinner, I'll go to the hospital to find out."

Hayden took a few bites and put down the tableware.

Chapter 1983

Hayden has no appetite.

"You only eat this much? Wanda will definitely die, you have to be careful..."

Mike advised.

"I miss my grandmother." Hayden said the reason, "If my grandmother still alive, my mother would definitely be happier over the years. I would be happier too."

Mike: "Do you remember your grandmother? I thought you have forgotten..."

"Of course I remember my grandmother. My grandmother was the best person in the world for me." Hayden remembered a little more than Layla.

Hayden remembered all the fondness his grandmother had for him and Layla.

At that time, his mother went out early and came back late every day, and it was his grandmother who took him and Layla at home.

Because he and Layla have different personalities from other children, they were not sent to kindergarten.

grandmother tried every way to cook delicious food for them at home and played with them. Even if they were different from other children, grandmother never thought they had a problem.

"You are better than me. Your mother hurts and your grandmother hurts. In my memory, the best relationship with me when I was a child was a little yellow dog...and it's a stray dog..." Mike Sigid, "I can't eat it either."

Hayden: "My grandmother always praises me."

Mike: "Every time that dog sees me, she always wagging its tail happily at me."

"How can a dog compare to my grandmother?" Hayden glared at Mike.

Mike: "I didn't compare the two of them together. Besides, all things have spirits. We are human beings in this life, maybe we will be dogs in the next life. Don't look down on dogs."

Hayden: "..."

Three Hours later, news came from the hospital that Wanda had died because of the ineffective rescue.

Mike immediately called Avery about the news.

Avery answered the phone and asked the bodyguard to drive him to the cemetery.

After waiting for so many years, it is finally today.

Avery was going to tell her mother the news herself.

An hour later, the car stopped in the cemetery. Avery got out of the car holding a bunch of orchids.

She came to her mother's cemetery and put down the flowers.

"Mom, I came to see you today." Avery looked at the photo on her mother's tombstone, as if her mother was standing in front of her, listening to her whispering kindly, "I'm here to tell you today that Wanda is dead. Bad news, she's finally dead...but even if she's dead, it won't make up for the pain of losing you."

"Mom, it's a pity that you didn't see Hayden and Layla as they are now. The two of them have already Not a problem child, Layla is now a well-known child star in Aryadelle, and she is smart and sensible, and never gives me a headache.

Hayden is also, not only does he not let me worry, but he is also very businessminded. Dad's unfulfilled dream was rejected and It's done by Hayden. If only you were alive! You will be proud of Hayden and Layla, and we can repay you well..."

Avery said here, her eyes couldn't stop getting wet.

"Mom, I should have been very happy to get my revenge. But I feel so sad! Elliot has been missing for more than half a month, and he still hasn't been found...

Others think he is dead, but I don't believe it! He said he wanted to take care of our children and bring them up. He couldn't leave me and the children behind, how could he be willing? Mom, please bless him, bless him still alive...if He died, how should I spend the rest of my life."

After staying in the cemetery for more than an hour, Avery returned to the car.

Now that she has avenged her mother, she can concentrate on finding Elliot.

Emilio asked her to meet, but she has not replied yet.

Because Emilio did not explain the reason for dating her.

After serious thinking, Avery decided to meet Emilio. She checked other special planes that stopped in Yonroeville when she and Elliot had an accident.

There was one plane for transporting goods, and another plane for transporting athletes to participate in the competition... After investigation, only the plane of MH Medicine was more meaningful for investigation.

Chapter 1984

Foster Family.

Several cars were parked in the yard.

After Avery got out of the car, Tammy and Shea came out.

Seeing them, the corners of Avery's mouth rose unconsciously.

Recently, she was in a bad mood and didn't want to see people, and they didn't come.

The tacit understanding between good friends is sometimes deeper than the tacit understanding between lovers.

"Avery, have you gone to see your mother?" Tammy walked up to her, smiling brightly, "I heard that Wanda died, this is great news to celebrate."

"Well. When did you come?" Avery took Tammy with one hand and Shea with the other, and entered the room.

"Mike said in the group that Wanda was dead. I thought you must be in a good mood today, so I asked Shea to see you together." Tammy took Avery and sat down on the sofa.

Mrs. Cooper immediately came over with a bowl of tonic soup and handed it to Avery, "You can have lunch after sitting for a while."

“Do you two want soup? Mrs. Cooper’s soup is very delicious...” Avery held the soup bowl and asked the two of them.

“As soon as the two of us came over, Mrs. Cooper gave us a drink. We’re all full, so hurry up and drink!” Tammy said with a smile, “Mike said Wanda died in a car accident, but I think... ..There must be his and Hayden’s credit. This Wanda should have sent her to h-e-l-l a long time ago!”

“Wanda was too snobby before, I’m afraid that it will be difficult to deal with rashly.” Avery expressed her thoughts.

“How can it be so hard to deal with? You had Elliot backing you up before. Even if you kill Wanda yourself, nothing will happen.” Tammy took her words and forgot the word ‘Elliot’ carry.

Avery’s face suddenly turned cold.

Tammy realized that she had said the wrong thing and wanted to save her, but

Avery spoke first: “You are right. It’s my own problem. If I had been softer to Elliot, don’t always argue with him and treat him more with a little trust, I can absolutely ask him to avenge me.”

“Avery, you...” Tammy didn’t expect her to say that.

“Now that Elliot has gone, I’ve come to my senses. My feelings for him are far deeper than I imagined. If I could have predicted that he would have an accident this year, I would cherish every day in the past.” Avery held Soup bowl, said.

“Avery, my brother is definitely not dead. He promised me that he would not die in front of me.” Shea said. These days, Shea has lost a lot of weight due to poor appetite and lack of sleep. But she always believed that Elliot was still alive.

“Well, I also believe that Elliot is still alive. I will not stop looking for him.” Avery said, pressing down the depression in her heart, “Let’s talk about happy topics!”

“The little boys in the class are afraid of my daughter.” Tammy shared, “She only went to school for a week, so she beat up the three little boys in the class and cried. Before she went to school, I was worried that she would be bullied. Now it seems that I think too much.”

“Why did Kara beat someone?” Avery asked.

“For example, the little boy peeks at the girl going to the toilet. The little boy doesn’t wash his hands and wipes others’ bodies after eating, and the little boy takes off his pants when he takes a nap. She feels hot eyes...” Tammy couldn’t help but laugh, “I really taught her not to hit people casually. But she reasoned with others, and others didn’t like to listen to them, so she did it.”

Avery: “It’s quite your style.”

Chapter 1985

“Avery, don’t you think Jun was a little kid? According to my mother-in-law, Jun liked to fight when he was a child. My parents said that I was a little princess when I was a child... “

Avery really didn’t expect such a contrast.

“Kara is a combination of me and Jun! It’s reasonable to be reasonable, but she is too impatient.” Tammy said, took a banana from the fruit plate, and peeled it slowly, “Shea, last time my mother-in-law fell and hurt her waist. It seems that she can’t be tired anymore. You can send Maria to the nursery near your home.”

Shea nodded: “I have already sent to the nursery. Every day Crying at school, crying after school...but the teacher said that she didn’t cry so much when she was in school.”

“Shea, when did your mother-in-law fall? Did she fall seriously?” Avery was completely unaware of this.

“What happened after you and Elliot went to Yonroeville. You’ve been in the hospital for a week!" Tammy said, "but don't worry, auntie has been discharged from the hospital now, so it must be less serious."

Avery frowned deeply, "Shea, I'll go back with you later, and I'll go see your mother-in-law."

Shea: "Okay."

"How is Brother Wesley's work? Is it going well?" Avery realized that Wesley cared too little about his friends.

Every time Avery looked for Wesley, she only contacted him when she needed his help.

Shea said, "I don't know if his work is going well... Every time I ask him if he is working hard, he always says that he won't tell me bad news. I really miss it. If you can make money yourself, you don't have to work as hard as Wesley."

Tammy patted Shea's head: "You really feel sorry for your husband. If you really don't want him to work, you can tell him. When the two of you got married, Elliot should have given their family a large sum of money, right?"

Tammy knew that Elliot could not be mentioned, and did not deliberately say anything about Elliot, but Elliot had already penetrated their lives.

"My brother gave me a sum of money, and asked me not to give it to my parents-in-law, nor to Wesley." Shea said truthfully, "The money is in my hands, I want Wesley to help me save it, but Wesley doesn't want to."

"You don't even listen to your brother's words. He asked you to take it yourself, so you can take it yourself... Even if Wesley treats you well, you can't keep the money for him." Tammy said. She was a little anxious after hearing her words, "I'll give you a safe the other day, and you can store your valuables in the safe. You just need to remember the password of the safe."

"But I believe Wesley, just like believing in my brother." In Shea's clear eyes, there was persistence that belongs to her.

Avery: "Tammy, every couple's situation is different. Love should always be like her and Wesley."

Tammy: "I'm afraid that Wesley will fail Shea in the future."

Avery: "If Wesley dares to fail Shea in the future, it belongs to Shea. I will definitely help Shea to get it back. Since they are in love and harmony now, we don't have to worry too much."

After lunch, the three went to Wesley's house together to visit Wesley's mother. Wesley's mother still needs bed rest, but there is no problem getting out of bed. "Avery, when such a big thing happened in your family, I'm really touched that you can still come to see me." Sandra said, "I'm fine now, I hope you can find Elliot's whereabouts soon. Wesley told me that Shea always wiped away her tears secretly, Shea was anxious, and Wesley was anxious too."

Avery wanted to say something, but suddenly the phone in her bag rang.

Chapter 1986

Avery took out her mobile phone and saw that it was a call from Bridgedale.

She immediately exited the room and answered the phone.

"Excuse me, are you Miss Avery?"

Avery: "I am. Who are you?"

"I am Ms. Wanda's lawyer. Where are you now? Are you heard about Ms. Wanda's death?"

Avery: "I heard, what's the matter?"

Wanda's lawyer: "Ms. Wanda said before she died that if she died, then the murderer must be you. I don't know if you have anything to say."

Avery: "It's ridiculous, even if I'm not a student. As for the law, I also know that whoever advocates will give evidence. She said that I killed her. Do you have any evidence? Besides, Wanda is in Bridgedale, and I am in Aryadelle, how did I kill her?"

Wanda's lawyer: "Although you are in Aryadelle, you can buy a murderer and kill someone."

Avery: "If you can't produce evidence to prove that I bought a murderer, I can sue you for libel. I'll give you a week, if you can't produce any evidence, then you can wait for the receipt. Lawyer's letter."

Wanda's lawyer: "Miss Tate, since I dare to call you and say this, it is naturally because I have evidence in my hand...Miss Tate, as far as I know, your child is in Bridgedale, you should come to Bridgedale as soon as possible, otherwise, if this incident becomes serious, it may affect your child."

Avery hung up the phone.

Tammy came out, saw her face was cold, and immediately asked with concern:

"Avery, whose phone is it? Could it be that Wanda has come back to life?"

Avery shook her head: "If she die, she will die, and if she die, she will come back to life. It's only in TV dramas."

"That's good!" Tammy breathed a sigh of relief, "Who called you?"

"Wanda's lawyer." Avery said this, and quickly adjusted her emotions, "Wanda told her lawyer that if she died, then the murderer must be me. So her lawyer will sue me on her behalf. I have to go to Bridgedale to deal with this matter."

"D*mn it! Wanda is a poisonous woman. Avery, why don't you go to Bridgedale? You stay in Aryadelle, anyway, Aryadelle and Bridgedale There is no extradition agreement between countries. Before, every time Wanda committed a crime in Aryadelle, didn't she immediately go to Bridgedale to take refuge?" Tammy didn't want Avery to get in any trouble, so she gave her own advice.

"Tammy, I didn't do anything wrong. I don't need to hide. Wanda can ask a lawyer to sue me, or I can ask a lawyer to defend me.” Avery has decided to go to Bridgedale to solve this matter, and by the way, see wanted to meet Emilio, “Her lawyer said that there is evidence that I killed the person, but it’s just to scare me. I didn’t participate in the whole process.”

“But you didn’t participate, Hayden and the others may not have participated, right? If it is found out that it was Hayden Wouldn’t what they do... affect them too?” Tammy was suddenly afraid that this matter would make a big difference. If Elliot was here, Tammy would never worry about them.

But now without Elliot, Avery always feel that there is no one who can support the overall situation.

“Then I’ll go to Bridgedale.” Avery said, “Tammy, you don’t have to worry. Wanda is no longer the high-spirited Wanda we used to be, and we are not what we used to be.”

“Okay, okay! I know no matter what you do. Okay, you will go. Then you can solve the problem with peace of mind. Layla and Robert, we will watch them and you don’t have to worry about them.”

After coming out of Wesley’s house, Avery returned to Foster’s house and simply cleaned up Luggage, went out to the airport.

Listening to what Wanda’s lawyer said, if she doesn’t go to Bridgedale to resolve the matter as soon as possible, they plan to make it bigger.

Otherwise Wanda’s lawyer wouldn’t say that it would affect her child.

.....

In the evening.

The bodyguard picked up Layla from school, and by the way, he told Layla that Your mother went to Bridgedale.

“Why did my mother suddenly go to Bridgedale?” Layla frowned.

The bodyguard: "Wanda is dead."

Layla: "Ah?! Really? Is this old w*tch really dead?!"

Chapter 1987

The bodyguard: "Yeah. So your mom went over to deal with a little thing. Come back when it's settled."

"Oh...my mom won't be in danger?" Layla asked.

The bodyguard: "Probably not. She went to Bridgedale. Your brother and your uncle Mike will take care of her."

Layla: "Teacher Larson got off work at one o'clock and she gave me the key to her house, let's go to her house first."

The two of them knew each other well and came to Katalina's rental house.

The bodyguard opened the door and saw a person sitting on the sofa in the living room.

This person, by coincidence, they know each other.

Norah was entrusted by her aunt to come to Katalina's house to see Katalina's life.

Unexpectedly, Layla and Foster family's bodyguard would appear here.

Seeing Norah, Layla turned around and left without thinking.

But the bodyguard held her back.

The bodyguard still haven't figured out if the disappearance of the boss has anything to do with Norah. What if it does?

"Miss Jones, what a coincidence." The bodyguard led Layla, entered the room, and closed the door by the way.

After the two of them came in, Norah became a little uncomfortable.

Norah adjusted several times before finally letting herself pull out a smile.

Norah: "Layla, long time no see."

Layla pretended not to hear, took her schoolbag, and went to the study to do her homework.

Norah saw that Layla was so impolite, and the expression on her face was a little bit unbearable.

“Miss Jones, after my boss’s accident, Layla is like this. You don’t have to care about like a child.” The bodyguard spoke up, leading to Elliot’s disappearance.

“Well, I can understand. I’m also very sad when Elliot’s accident happened. I wanted to come to visit, but I thought that Layla and Avery didn’t welcome me, so I didn’t go there.” Norah said calmly, “By the way, how do you have the key to my cousin’s house? She gave it to you?”

The bodyguard: “Yes. She helps Layla with tuition every night. Doesn’t you know?”

“I thought it was at home.” Norah was very surprised and could not hide her anger, “My cousin has just entered the society, she can be really stupid. She has no defense at all.”

The bodyguard: “Miss Jones, you thinks that Layla and I are bad people for your cousin. Should you guard against us?”

“I didn’t say that.” Norah’s expression turned gloomy, she picked up her bag and strode towards the door.

When the door opened, Norah happened to meet Katalina who was returning from get off work.

“However, what’s the matter with you? You can make up lessons for Layla, why did you let them come to your house? Do you want to cling to Foster’s house for your own benefit?” Norah closed the door behind her, but inside the room, there was still Norah’s voice could be heard.

Norah continued, “The Foster family is no longer the beautiful Foster family it used to be! Elliot is dead, and now the entire Foster family has no leader, but you are so flattering to them, your brain is flooded, right? You said a word of the words I said to you. Didn't you listen?"

"Cousin, didn't you say that Elliot just disappeared?" Katalina blushed and retorted in a low voice, "You said he died, but he really died?"

Norah took a deep breath and lowered her voice: "I said he's dead, he's dead! You go in immediately and drive them out!"

Norah's voice was settled, and the door behind her opened—

Chapter 1988

Chad replied, "No. Your father should not be in Yonroeville. Your father is such a big living person, as long as he is still alive, we will definitely find him."

"What if my father dies? Is he dead so we can't find him?" Layla was pessimistic.

"Layla, if your father really dies, then you must be strong. Because your mother will definitely suffer more than you. Besides your mother, you have to set an example for your brother." Chad didn't want to say this words, but these words blurted out.

As Layla said, they searched for Elliot for so long and couldn't find Elliot's whereabouts. Elliot might really be dead.

They just don't want to accept this reality.

Chad: "Although I say this, I still firmly believe that your father is still alive. Your father is a very smart and wise man. No matter how dangerous or difficult he encounters, he can always save it. I have worked by his side for so many years, I have seen that he has encountered all kinds of troubles, and he can always solve them easily."

Chad comforted Layla, and he was comforting himself.

.....

Bridgedale.

After Avery landed, she first turned on her mobile phone and dialed Layla.

Avery: "Layla, your mother came to Bridgedale. Because things were a little sudden, so your mother didn't have time to tell you."

"Uncle Chad told me." Layla said angrily, "Mom, I miss you so much."

"Mom I know. But your mother came here because there are some things to deal with. When mother mother is done, she will go back to Aryadelle immediately." Avery coaxed softly, "Layla, I will let Uncle Mike go back to accompany you, okay?"

"Forget it! we all have our own things to do, and I have to go to class every day."

Although Layla felt uncomfortable, she was not an unreasonable child, "Mom, Norah is a villain. She said that my father died and said So sure, as if she saw my dad's body! I think my dad may have been killed by her."

The expression on Avery's face was startled.

Avery: "Layla, we don't have any evidence right now, so don't startle the snake."

"But I've already scare the snake." Layla murmured, "I scolded her today. She's going to die of anger."

Avery: "It's okay...if She really did this thing, and we will definitely find evidence. As long as we find evidence, I will make her pay dearly!"

"Mom, you have to be careful. I'm afraid something happens to you too... If you Something happened too, then my brother and I are orphans." Layla thought of this, and sadness came from it.

Avery: "Mom won't make you orphans. Layla, trust mom."

Layla: "Well, mom, I trust you."

After talking to her daughter on the phone, Avery saw Mike who came to pick up the plane.

Mike received Avery and immediately said, "I have found the best lawyer in Bridgedale for you. You go home for dinner and have a good rest. I will accompany you to see the lawyer tomorrow."

"Mike, what do you think? Is it possible that Norah did what happened to Elliot?" Avery's mind kept echoing what her daughter said.

"Of course it is possible. Don't underestimate Norah." Mike said, "Norah has no family background to rely on. She has reached her current position by herself. Without a little brain and courage, she will never succeed. "

Avery: "Norah said that Elliot was dead. If she didn't know what was going on, how could she say such a thing? She is indeed suspicious."

"Norah can't run away. Finish this matter first, then go check Norah." Mike said, "You asked me to check the beauty and medicine a few days ago. I have already printed out the information that I found, and you can read it when you get home. But I suggest you go to bed and watch it again, because it is about this family. The dog-blood incident is really...too many!"

Chapter 1989

Mike said incessantly: "I have printed such a big stack. I don't know, I thought I wrote a book."

"Is it such an exaggeration?" Avery raised her eyebrows slightly.

"It's such an exaggeration. I used to think that the situation in Foster family was quite complicated. Now I checked the information of the owner of the MH Group, and I realized that the Foster family was nothing compared to the Jones family. The founder of the MH Group is Travis Jones. This man is awesome!"

Avery: "Are you talking about his business acumen?"

Mike: "No. I'm talking about his ability to reproduce."

Avery: "..."

She immediately understood what Mike meant...

She has seen in the news before that most wealthy families pursue more children and more grandchildren, so women who marry into wealthy families basically have to have children nonstop, including many well-known actresses who marry wealthy businessmen.

"This Travis Jones is 73 years old this year, but he is still very strong and still holds the position of chairman of the MH Group. He has married eleven wives... and gave birth to dozens of children..Do you think cattle are not cattle?"

Avery opened her eyes: "I have a classmate who is Travis Jones's son, and I only know that this classmate has an older brother."

"So what I said is that Travis was born dozens of years old. I didn't say that Travis still has dozens of children." Mike explained in a low voice, "When you go back and see the information I have compiled, you will know how bizarre this family's melons are."

Avery couldn't bear it anymore and went back On the way, took her mobile phone and searched for Travis Jones.

When she clicked on Travis Jones's introduction, it didn't say that he married eleven wives, nor that he had dozens of children, only that his eldest son was named Caleb Jones, the second son Emilio Jones, and several daughters later. The rest of the introduction is Travis's entrepreneurial experience.

Avery took a cursory glance. Travis has been participating in various activities and projects over the years. He seems to be very busy. However, he is now 73 years old and can maintain such a strong body. He must also pay attention to exercise and maintenance.

When Avery got home, the nanny brought the meal to the table.

Avery had no appetite at first, but when she smelled the fragrance of the vegetables, her stomach screamed immediately.

“It’s all your favorite dishes. Only when you’re full will you have the strength to find Elliot.” Mike pulled her into the dining chair and sat down.

“Can I get him back? It’s been almost a month.” Avery muttered while holding chopsticks.

“Definitely can be found! I don’t believe that someone took Elliot and just wanted to kill him.” Mike expressed his opinion, “Elliot is a recognized business genius in the world. Besides, in his brain, it is estimated that there are a lot of secrets. If we arrest him, just to kill him, then we will find his body long ago. As long as we don’t find his body for a day, it can show that he may still be alive.”

Avery: “I thought so too. But Norah’s words made me a little shaken.”

“Although Norah is powerful, she may not be as powerful as we think. If she is really powerful, why didn’t she start a company by herself?” Mike comforted.

“Well...” Avery picked up the chopsticks and took a mouthful of rice. She chewed slowly, but her brain was running at high speed.

“Mike, is Norah Jones related to Travis Jones? Because they are both surnamed Jones.”

Chapter 1990

Mike was stunned. According to the information he found, Norah Jones and Travis Jones were not related.

However, both of them are surnamed Jones, which is a bit of a coincidence.

Avery said, ““Maybe I’m thinking too much. There are so many people surnamed Jones in this world, how can they all be connected?”

“Don’t think about this for now. Eat! You didn’t tell me before that if you think too much while eating, it's easy to get indigestion." Mike said when her saw her brows furrowed.

Avery: "Um."

After eating, Avery went back to the room to wash up. On the plane, she couldn't sleep, she was very tired at the moment.

After taking a shower, she went to lie down on the bed, and before closing her eyes, she saw the large stack of documents that Mike said.

She wanted to reach out and take a look at it, but she was too tired to obey.

After a while, she fell asleep.

The next day, the sun was high and the sun was shining brightly.

Mike walked to the door of Avery's room and knocked on the door.

Avery immediately opened the door.

"I thought you were still sleeping!" Mike looked at her neatly dressed and in high spirits, and it looked like she had been up for a while.

"I went to bed early last night and woke up very early today." Avery came out of the room, "I was fascinated by the information you gave me about the Jones family."

"Isn't it particularly wonderful? I don't think professional screenwriters dare to make it up like this." Mike's eyes lit up when he talked about this topic.

"These things have not been announced to the public, how did you find out?"

Avery wondered.

Mike: "The official registration! I just need to sneak into the official system..."

"Understood...Did you have breakfast?" Avery asked, "Didn't you say yesterday that you were going to see a lawyer today?"

"I ate. I thought you were sleeping, so I didn't ask you to eat with me. I originally made an appointment with the lawyer to see you in the morning, but I postponed it until noon.”

Avery: “I got up at six o’clock this morning. I was afraid of disturbing you, so I stayed in the room all the time.”

Mike: “Haha, then I’ll call the lawyer to see if he’s free now.”

“Well.” Avery walked towards the dining room.

The nanny immediately brought the breakfast reserved for her to the table.

Mike finished the phone call quickly.

“Avery, the lawyer said that he come to our side right now. Come to the house to talk, are you alright?”

“It’s okay.” Avery finished breakfast, and not long after, the lawyer came over.

Chapter 1991

“Hello, Miss Tate.” The lawyer took the initiative to greet Avery, “I met Wanda’s lawyer yesterday. I understand that the evidence they have now is mainly the phone call between you and Wanda before she died. The phone confessed to killing her.”

“Bullsh*t. I know exactly what I said. I did tell her on the phone that I was going to avenge my mother, but I didn’t say I was going to kill her. Unless she admits that she killed my mother The murderer!” Avery said here and turned on the phone, “I recorded the call, you can listen to my conversation with her.” She turned on the phone, turned on the recording, and the voice suddenly flowed out Wanda: [I, Wanda, didn’t get scared! Your father is already dead! Now this robot, you deliberately designed it to look like your father... Your father’s wish was to create a driverless car, and now the Dream Makers Group has made it! So you used your father’s appearance to make your father’s dream come true! You are such a good and filial daughter!]

Avery: [Wanda, since you said it for this sake, I can only admit it. Not only am I a good daughter who obeys my father, I am also a good daughter to my mother.

Now that I have fulfilled my father's dream, the next step is to avenge my mother.]

Wanda: [Hehehehe... Sure enough, it's you! I didn't expect you to have so much patience! How do you want to avenge your mother? ! Are you going to hit me with your car? Say it!]

Avery: [Guess slowly.]

After the recording was played, the lawyer grinned: "Ms. Tate, you did not say by name that you wanted to seek revenge against Ms. Wanda, let alone kill Ms. Wanda with a car. Besides, you have evidence of your alibi. In this case, you don't have to come forward, just entrust me with full authority."

"Then it's hard for you." Avery didn't want to waste time on this matter, "Wanda wanted to hold me back, I understand her feelings, but this matter really doesn't depend on me. "

"Actually, the police have also conducted a detailed investigation. The result of the current investigation is that Wanda parked the car illegally on the road before she died... From the surveillance screen at the intersection, it can be seen that before she died, she picked up a car. The phone, after receiving that phone call, she was very frightened, which led to the car accident in the back."

"Have you found out whose call she answered?" Avery asked.

"No. But no matter who she answers the phone, her traffic violation comes first, and she doesn't care." The lawyer replied.

Avery: "Um."

After chatting with the lawyer, Avery sent the lawyer out.

The lawyer: "Miss Tate stay, and if there is any progress in the future, I will notify you as soon as possible."

After the lawyer left, Avery went back indoors against the scorching sun.

“I told you on the phone that there is absolutely no need for you to come here specially because of this.” Mike said lightly, “We’re doing business, don’t you worry?”

“I came here, not entirely because of Wanda.” Avery glanced at the time, “I used to be classmates with Travis’s second son Emilio. He has been asking me to meet, and I came here this time to meet him.”

“What did he ask you to do?” In Mike’s heart, the alarm bell rang, “Could this guy have plans for you?”

“Even if he has plans for me, I have to go see him.” Avery said word by word, “The information you found shows that Travis has a total of 31 children, but only 9 survived. Travis made a fortune very early, don’t you think it’s strange why the survival rate of Jones’s children is so low?”

“Strange! Of course I think it’s strange. But it’s not my family’s business, I’m strange, I won’t waste my precious time for this kind of thing.” Mike said casually, “It’s such a shameful thing in a wealthy family. There are more. Don’t think that only the Jones family is so scary...”

“I don’t want to care about other people’s family affairs. But when Elliot and I had an accident, Travis’s private plane happened to be in Yonroeville. Two days before I was rescued, his private plane just flew away. We couldn’t find Elliot anywhere. So, I can only suspect that Travis may have taken Elliot away.”

Mike nodded: “There are no other clues now. We can only investigate the Jones family first. But when you go to see the second son of the Jones family, I must accompany you.”

“No need. I’ll ask the bodyguard to accompany me.” Avery said, “If you have nothing to do, you can go back to Aryadelle.”

“I have a lot of work to do. You may not believe it. The company’s order volume has been lined up for two years... If we don’t expand the scale of production, there is no way to meet the market demand.” Mike said, his head has been started to hurt, “Forget it, I’ll go to the company!”

After Mike left, Avery was also ready to go out.

She and Emilio made an appointment for lunch today.

Chapter 1992

Aryadelle.

After Ben Schaffer returned to Aryadelle, he did not go home to rest.

He turned on the phone, saw the message from Chad, and immediately called Chad back.

After listening to Chad’s explanation, Ben Schaffer directly asked the driver to drive the car to Tate Industries.

Norah was a little surprised when she saw Ben Schaffer rushing in.

“Mr. Schaffer, what brought you here?” Norah put down her work and walked out from the desk, “What would you like to drink?”

“Nothing.” The corner of Ben Schaffer’s mouth raised an indifferent expression.

With a smile, “Norah, do you know why I came to see you?”

Norah saw that the smile on his face faded, and knew that it was useless to play stupid.

“I can probably guess.” Norah invited him to sit down on the sofa, “Is it about last night? I can explain it to you.”

“Okay, explain it to you.” Ben Schaffer sat down and looked at Norah’s face.

Norah lowered her eyes and thought for a few seconds, then said, “My cousin came to Aryadelle to find a job after graduating from college. My aunt told me a lot and asked me to take care of her. After she became the head teacher of Layla, I reminded her immediately that Layla hates me, so I told her not to do this job, but not only did she not listen, but she also took the initiative to get close to Layla and offered to help Layla make up lessons.”

Ben Schaffer: “You know, since Layla doesn’t hate your cousin as much as she hates you, you don’t care about them.”

Norah said helplessly, “Mr. Schaffer, you don’t know, my cousin’s situation is more complicated. It’s okay for her to make up for Layla, but it’s really inappropriate for Layla and Foster’s bodyguard to take her to her boudoir. My aunt’s house has arranged a marriage for my cousin. If I didn’t take good care of my cousin, my aunt would definitely blame me in the end.”

“Oh, are you afraid that your cousin and Foster’s bodyguard will get along?” Ben Schaffer asked back.

Norah: “...Regardless of this possibility, it would be absurd to let a stranger into my room! My aunt’s family has always been very strict. If my aunt was there, the consequences would be even more disastrous.”

“Norah, Is this why you told your cousin that Elliot was dead?” Ben Schaffer put the topic on the right track, “Where did you hear that Elliot was dead? Did you see it with your own eyes, or did you hear it from someone?”

Norah panicked and shook her head: “That’s what I said. I was so angry at the time, so I scolded my cousin to please Layla, was it to seduce Elliot...”

“You are such a person, so put Your cousin also wants to be this kind of person.” Ben Schaffer angrily said, “Norah, even if you were angry at the time, you shouldn’t curse Elliot like this! I’m very disappointed in you. However, since you have signed a gambling agreement, then we still follow the agreement. After three years, if you can’t complete the goals in the agreement, the Tate Industries will not keep you!”

Norah’s face was gloomy, her red lips were pursed, and her breathing became heavier.

Ben Schaffer sat for a while, and when he saw that she no longer spoke, he got up and left her office.

After the office door closed, anger appeared on Norah's face.

Her fists are clenched tightly.

It's all Katalina's fault. If it wasn't for her, she wouldn't have said anything wrong at all.

Now that she is being held by Ben Schaffer and the others, as long as she makes any mistakes in the future, she will definitely be rectified.

Thinking of this, Norah was upset. She couldn't take this breath, so she called her Auntie.

"Auntie, why don't you come over here. I think it seems to be in a period of rebellion now. I sent her a message last night, but she hasn't returned yet. I told her to stay away from the Foster family's bodyguard, only I'm afraid she doesn't take it to heart at all. If the two of them really get along, I see how she will get married!"

Norah was not happy, and she wouldn't let Katalina feel better.

She called her aunt to fan the flames and sow discord, just to get her aunt to come over and bring Katalina back to Bridgedale.

Chapter 1993

Norah never wants to see this stupid cousin again!

...

Avery came to the agreed restaurant and met Emilio, who had not seen each other for a long time. She didn't know him well before, so she had long forgotten what he looked like.

When Avery saw him today, she always felt that she had been a fake classmate with him for a year.

The feeling of being completely unfamiliar, as if the two of them had never met, made Avery frown.

“What’s your expression? Don’t you think I’m too ugly and unsightly?” Emilio took out his mobile phone and took a picture of his face with the screen, “It’s so handsome!”

“I just think I don’t seem to have seen you before. I’m not sure if you are my classmate.” Avery told the truth.

With a ‘puff’, Emilio almost spat out the breakfast he had this morning.

Emilio: “Avery, you are too insulting! I am Emilio, the second young master of the Jones family. You don’t even know me!”

Avery said calmly, “The beauty and medicine of your Jones family are your father and your two uncles. So I know what your father looks like, and I also know what your two uncles look like. When you can do your own business, you won’t care if others recognize you. You asked me to meet, what do you want to say?”

Emilio was embarrassed by what she said just now.

If she wasn’t Avery, Emilio would have been angry already.

“Avery, your stinky temper has not changed at all. You looked down on me before, and you still look down on me now. Can I ask you out for a meal? Let’s have a classmate...”

When Emilio said this, Avery got up and pretended to leave.

Avery is not familiar with Emilio, and she has no classmates to chat with. If she is looking for him just to talk sh*t, she might as well go home and continue to watch the Jones family’s gossip.

“Hey! Don’t go! I’m making fun of you!” Emilio stopped her, “Aren’t you looking for Elliot’s whereabouts? Let’s talk!”

Avery sat down again: “Did you hear anything?”

Emilio shook his head: "I have helped you to inquire, but there is not much information... After all, this matter is very important. If someone really kidnapped Elliot, it is impossible to leak the information easily."

Avery: "I haven't heard anything."

"Not exactly..." Emilio picked up the menu and handed it to her, "Aren't you hungry? Let's talk while we eat!"

Avery ordered Two dishes, handed him the menu.

"How many children does your dad have?" Avery chatted with him, "I heard that your family is relatively large, so I'm a little curious."

Emilio gave her a meaningful look: "You have to ask my dad about this kind of thing. He Gossip reporters can't even write about his romantic affairs. I guess he doesn't even know how many species he has kept outside."

Avery: "Oh, how many brothers and sisters do you have now?"

"Let me say it all at once, and I can't say it." Emilio casually ordered and handed the menu to the waiter.

After the waiter walked away, Emilio looked at Avery, squinted peach blossom eyes, and said with a smile, "Are you interested in our family's private affairs?"

Avery: "If there is nothing wrong with Elliot, I will not investigate your family."

"You may The investigation went in the wrong direction. My dad likes women, not men. What did he kidnap Elliot for?" Emilio said.

Chapter 1994

"I really analyzed it carefully." Emilio was afraid that Avery would not believe it, so he lowered his voice and said mysteriously, "My dad is in his seventies this year, and a while ago, he found another girlfriend. The two spread dog food at home every day... In his eyes, he was his new love recently. Even when he went to Yonroeville, he took his new love with him."

Avery listened carefully and did not interrupt... "My dad is addicted to women's p*rnography, and although he is also ambitious, the foundation of beauty and medicine was laid by my two uncles. Probably because my dad rarely works, he is in good health. Both my uncles are broken. I only tell you these words, don't say them." Emilio said.

Avery lifted her eyelids: "What you said is completely useless to me."

"Why is it useless? I'm using the exclusion method for you. Elliot is definitely not kidnapped by my dad. My dad doesn't like men, and even hates men." Emilio felt that the information he provided was very important.

Emilio's words puzzled Avery: "Why does your father hate men?"

"How do I know that? Some people are born to hate women, and some people are born to hate men, and there may be no reason." Emilio said.

"Is this the reason why only you and your eldest brother survived in your family?" As soon as Avery's words came out, Emilio couldn't be more shocked.

"Avery, how much private information did you find out about our family?" Emilio looked at Avery in surprise.

Avery gestured to a height with her thumb and forefinger: "There are probably so many documents. I have only read one-fifth of them."

"A lot of people have died in our family." Emilio took the water glass on the table and took a sip. "There are those who died of illness, those who died in car accidents, those who were kidnapped, and those who disappeared mysteriously... Before I was eighteen, my dad didn't recognize me as an illegitimate child. When I was an adult, my dad's son was only one eldest brother left, so he took me back to Jones's house."

Avery seemed to be listening to a story.

"It's said that three women are in one show. Thirty women is not a show, it's a farce. My dad used to like to date a lot of women at the same time, so our family has a lot of broken things.” Emilio explained the source of these tragedies.

Avery changed the conversation: “Who is your father’s new love?”

.....

Aryadelle.

Primary School.

After school, Layla came out of the classroom and saw Katalina who was waiting not far away.

Layla strode up in front of Katalina and said, “Teacher Larson, I don’t want to go to your home to do my homework anymore.”

“Layla, I’m sorry about what happened last night!” Katalina said apologetically.

“Teacher Larson, what I hate is Norah. It has nothing to do with you.” Layla didn’t blame Katalina.

“You go back and do your homework well. If you don’t understand anything about your studies in the future, you can tell me at any time.” Katalina was still enthusiastic, but her eyes were dull and completely different from usual.

Layla sensed her anomaly, but didn’t want to say more.

After calling her mother last night, Layla took a good look at it.

Layla felt that she shouldn’t let Katalina help her with tutoring in the first place, so that nothing would happen later.

“Teacher Larson, goodbye.” Layla saw the bodyguard walking towards her, so she waved to Katalina.

Katalina greeted with a smile: “See you tomorrow.”

Just as Layla was about to walk in front of the bodyguard, a strong wind blew past her!

A middle-aged woman walked up to Katalina very quickly, and when no one noticed her, she slapped Katalina in the face!

There was a crisp sound of 'pop', and everyone looked towards the source of the sound.

Chapter 1995

There were students around screaming and running away. There were also more daring students, standing by to watch the excitement.

Seeing that Katalina's head was beaten, Layla rushed over without thinking.

When the bodyguard saw that Layla was about to pass, he immediately grabbed her, took a step in front of her, and walked over.

"You resign immediately! Come back to Aryadelle with me!" Katalina's mother, Laurel Larson yelled at her daughter in public, "I have tolerated you to the limit! If I allow you to be so slutty, you will not even know who you are!"

With one hand covering the hot and sore cheek that was beaten, out of the corner of Katalina's eyes saw the surrounding children.

As a school teacher, at this moment, Katalina was disgraced.

"What's my identity?" Katalina looked at her mother with tears in her eyes, "I'm just one person."

"Katalina, what do you mean by that? What are you doing against me?" Laurel saw that her daughter didn't seem to want to obey her, so she was very disappointed, "You are now in front of so many people, tell me, are you going to fight against me?"

Her roar attracted more people to watch the fun.

The bodyguard didn't want to interfere in Katalina's housework, but when he saw Katalina's face, he couldn't bear it anymore, and he couldn't bear it.

He strode up in front of Laurel and lifted Laurel vigorously.

"This is a school, what's the difference between you making such a fuss and being a lunatic?! You want to educate your daughter, you can go home and close the door for further education!"

"Who are you?! Why do you talk to me like that?" Laurel stared at the man with her shrewd eyes, and then reacted, "Oh, you are the bodyguard of the Foster family? It's you, trying to seduce me. What are you? Don't think that you are working in the Foster family... You are just a dog of the Foster family, you are not worthy to carry my daughter's shoes."

The bodyguard did not expect the lady in front of her to speak so disgustingly. Regardless of whether Laurel was Katalina's mother or not, The bodyguard couldn't bear Laurel continuing to be arrogant. He walked to Laurel in two steps and knocked her to the ground with one punch!

If it wasn't for the concern that she was a woman and her body was relatively weak, it would not be overturned, but kicked to the ground.

After Laurel was pushed down, she suddenly cried out in pain.

Katalina immediately ran over with tears in her eyes when she saw her mother's dejected appearance.

Katalina: "Mom! Are you alright?"

Laurel was in a hurry, grabbed her daughter's arm, and after struggling to stand up, her eyes stared at the bodyguard like poison.

Laurel: "How dare you hit me! You b*stard without a tutor!"

The bodyguard was scolded again, his fists clenched, and he couldn't help but want to do it again.

Katalina cried and begged: "Aqi, don't beat my mother. My mother has high blood pressure! Please don't do it!"

"What are you calling him?! You shameless thing! Your cousin really didn't say anything wrong! You've gotten along with this wild man so quickly!" Laurel was so angry that she pushed her daughter away, “I don’t have a shameless daughter like you! In the future, don’t even think about taking a penny from home!”

Laurel said angrily and strode away.

Katalina looked at the direction her mother was leaving, and her tears couldn’t stop falling.

“Teacher Larson, don’t cry.” Layla took out a tissue from her bag and handed it to her, “Your mother may be good or bad. She not only scolds you, but also beats you. I don’t want this kind of mother to give it to me. “

Chapter 1996

“Teacher Larson, are not reluctant to give up your mother, but your family’s money.” The bodyguard returned to Layla.

Katalina raised her eyes, glared at the bodyguard, and hurriedly walked towards the school gate.

“Uncle Aqi, you talked too much just now.” After Layla said this, she followed Katalina’s direction, “Let’s send Teacher Larson home!”

“Layla, let’s not meddle in business, If we follow her, it might affect her to seek her mother for reconciliation.” The bodyguard was angry at what Laurel said just now, “Her mother has a dirty mouth.”

Layla: “Okay! I’m so sad to see her cry. If I get beaten by my mother...”

“How could your mother beat you? You don’t have to tell your mother to her mother Compared with each other, people are different.” The bodyguard took Layla out of the school and escorted her into the car.

“Uncle Aqi, after you take me home later, you can come and see Teacher Larson! If you don’t want to come, then you can call Teacher Larson and ask?” The bodyguard didn’t want to do this, so he said bluntly: “You are better to ask Teacher Larson than me because you're her student and familiar with her. I am not familiar with her at all."

"But Teacher Larson likes you!"

The bodyguard blushed: "Layla, do you know that you are right? The number of pocket money is real, then it is impossible for me to talk to her. Her mother called me a dog, and she favored her daughter..."

Chapter 1997

Uncle Aqi, don't care what that old w*tch said." Layla gave Aqi confidence, "You are handsome, your salary is high, your body is strong... If I were Teacher Larson, maybe I would like you too."

Aqi was speechless. Being so complimented by Layla, his heart flew up.

"I'm afraid Teacher Larson will be taken away by her mother. If that's the case, then we'll never see Teacher Larson again." Layla expressed her concern, "So you'll use my name later, Go and see Teacher Larson first."

The bodyguard: "Okay!"

Bridgedale.

After Emilio told Avery the name of his father's new love, the two began to eat.

Although the meeting was not much, it was much smoother than expected.

Emilio doesn't seem to be as smooth as before.

After eating, Avery decided to take care of him.

Avery: "Are you working in your company at home now?"

"Well. I didn't want to take over the company at home... Who knew that my eldest brother had a car accident half a year ago and was discharged from the hospital not long ago. Although he was discharged from the hospital, but his brain still affected."

Avery didn't expect such a dramatic thing to happen.

In this way, Travis Jones's heir is only Emilio.

What is Emilio lie to win? If nothing happens to him next.

When the two came out of the restaurant, Avery saw a large group of bodyguards coming up at the door and surrounded Emilio...

Avery: "You really have to pay attention to safety, if something happens to you, isn't your father? There is no successor."

Chapter 1998

"Don't be rude. I'm also afraid of my own accident! Do you know how much risk I took to come out to meet you? To put it in a bad way, I think our family is cursed." Emilio whispered.

"Aren't you more crow-mouthed? If I cursed you just now, then you directly cursed your whole family." Avery glanced at his bodyguard not far away, and then said to Emilio, "Let's talk here today. If something happens in the future, please call."

"Avery, I forgot to say something just now." Emilio looked at her profile and called to her, "It's been so long since I haven't seen you, you are still the same as before, young, beautiful and full of energy."

Avery asked A layer of goosebumps: "I thought you were a little different from before, but now it seems that I was wrong."

"I praise you, why are you talking about me?" Emilio didn't understand what was wrong with what he said.

"I will be very happy when others praise me. If you praise me, I feel sick all over." Her body reacted instinctively, and she was helpless, "If there is nothing else in the future, we will not meet again."

After Avery got into the car, the bodyguard quickly drives away.

Emilio frowned, watching her car disappear from sight.

"Boss, this woman is so ignorant! When have you ever been so angry? If you see her again in the future, don't pay attention to her." The assistant complained to Emilio.

Chapter 1999

"Don't compare Avery with other women! You don't know how powerful Avery is, I know. My elder brother's illness, maybe Avery can be cured." Emilio strode into the car, The assistant followed.

"Since Avery can cure your eldest brother, why doesn't your father ask Ms. Tate to treat your brother? Isn't your father partial to your brother?" The assistant asked.

The corners of Emilio's mouth rose, smiling without answering.

When Avery came home, she planned to go back to the bedroom to take a nap.

But as soon as she entered the room and saw the Jones family's information on the bedside table, she was instantly refreshed.

She took the documents to the window, sat in a chair, and looked at the bright sun outside the window.

Meeting with Emilio today made her more interested in the Jones family.

Although Emilio said that Travis Jones didn't like men, it was impossible to kidnap Elliot, but Avery wanted to read all the information before deciding whether to believe what Emilio said.

In the evening.

Mike and Hayden returned home together.

The nanny has already made dinner.

"Where's Avery?" Mike asked the nanny in confusion when he didn't see Avery.

The nanny replied with a smile, "Miss Tate went back to the room after she came back in the afternoon. She never came out. I don't know if she was resting or doing something else. I didn't dare to disturb her."

Mike went to Avery's room. Without thinking, he knocked on the door, and opened the door.

On the bay window of her room, the documents he printed for Avery were scattered.

It seemed that she had been in the room all afternoon watching gossip.

"Avery, come out to eat!" Mike said, walking to her.

Avery was looking at the notebook now, not knowing what she was looking up.

"Oh...Okay! Is Hayden back?" Avery closed the notebook and stood up from the chair.

"Mom, I'm back." Hayden stood at the door and answered Avery's question.

Avery put a smile on her face and strode to her son.

"I just saw the email that Professor Steven Lafrance sent me." Avery took his son's arm and said happily, "He praised you. He praised you in heaven and earth. He graduated there."

Hayden: "That's because he wants to retire. Now he has only me as a student."

Avery: "..."

Hayden: "Mom, let's eat first!"

Avery: "Okay."

The three sat down in the dining chairs.

Mike asked Avery, "Did you meet the second son of the Jones family, do you have any clues?"

Avery was about to answer when the bodyguard hurried in outside the door.

The bodyguard: "Boss, I have your express."

Avery looked at the express in the bodyguard's hand –

before the bodyguard delivered the express to Avery, Mike took the express in his hand and tore the seal.

Avery saw that Mike took out two photos from inside...

"Whose photos?!" Avery said alertly.

After Mike took a look at the photo, he stood up in a jiffy and exclaimed, "... Elliot!"

Chapter 2000

"Isn't this Elliot?!" After Mike rolled his Adam's apple, he immediately handed the photo to Avery.

Avery's eyes turned red and moist almost instantly.

She took the photo and recognized Elliot lying on the hospital bed at a glance.

His eyes were closed. There were many tubes inserted into his body, and on the ECG monitor beside the hospital bed, the line was a straight line...

This meant that his heart had stopped beating. And if the heart stopped beating, he had died.

Avery's hand holding the photo shook violently. Her tears fell like bursting dykes.

She held on, holding the second photo in front of her.

The second photo is...

Mike saw her crying shoulders shaking up and down, and immediately took the photo from her hand.

"Don't watch it!" Mike was afraid that Avery would cry again, and she wouldn't be able to eat dinner tonight.

"Give me... the picture!" Avery's eyes were scarlet and tears were streaming down her face. She stared at the photo in Mike's hand, and her voice exploded from her body.

Mike was so frightened by her roar that he didn't dare to breathe, and immediately returned the photo to her.

After she got the photos back, she quickly looked at the two photos again.

The first photo shows Elliot's heart stopped beating and medically dead.

The second photo was taken in the cremation chamber. The photo shows a cremated skeleton.

These two photos are to tell Avery that Elliot is dead and cremated.

Avery: "In the past, I often heard male and female protagonists say things like 'Even if you turn into ashes, I can recognize you' and so on, but the reality is that if a person really turns into a bone, as long as the height difference is not big, it is impossible to tell with the naked eye. Who the hell is this skeleton!"

Avery's phalanx turned white because she was holding the photo too hard. She felt as if she was being held down by something, making her breathless.

She wanted to pick up the courier bag on the ground and look at the sender's information, but before she squatted down, a burst of dizziness came... With a 'boom', her body fell to the ground.

"Avery!"

"Mom!"

Mike picked her up from the ground, hurried into her bedroom, and put her on the bed to lie down.

Avery fainted because of excessive sadness. She should be able to wake up after she rests for a while.

Hayden took the photo in her hand and glanced at it, feeling extremely depressed.

Did Elliot really die like this?

Who moved him out of that basement? Why did they only take Elliot and not Avery?

Looking at the photo, it seems that Elliot was taken to an emergency room. Since they wanted to save Elliot, why didn't they tell Foster's family and friends about Elliot's news?

Furthermore, even if Elliot is dead, what qualifications do outsiders have to directly cremate Elliot's body?

No matter how he thinks about it, the person who took Elliot away was definitely not a kind person!

They rescued Elliot, but it wasn't out of good intentions.

Chapter 2001

Chapter 2002

Mike walked to the dining room, picked up the courier bag on the ground, and glanced at the sender's information.

Mike: "What's the matter? It shows that the courier was sent from a garbage station."

Hayden walked over to Mike and glanced at the information on the bag: "The person who sent the photos to my mother didn't want my mother to find out about them. How come?"

"But it can be said that the photo was sent from Bridgedale. Your father may have also been brought to Bridgedale." Mike's brain was running at a high speed, "Is it possible that, as your mother guessed, it was done by the Jones family? But why did the Jones family take your father? Now that your father is dead, they don't want to take responsibility, so they use this anonymous way to tell your mother the result."

Hayden: "I don't know. I only know that they sent my mother a message. This kind of photo is useless. If Elliot was really cremated by them, why didn't they send Elliot's ashes together?"

Mike nodded: "Your mother won't let it go until she sees your father's ashes. Can the ashes be identified?"

Hayden: "Well."

"Let's eat first!" Mike was a little hungry, although he had no appetite, but if he didn't have enough to eat, how could he find Elliot's ashes? "Until you find your father's ashes, don't publicize this matter. The enemy is in the dark, we are in the open, we still don't know who the enemy is, and we don't know what the enemy wants to do. Maybe these two photos are fake?"

Hayden took another look at the photo.

The reason why his mother was stimulated by these two photos was because there was no trace of synthesis in these two photos.

Aryadelle.

After the bodyguard sent Layla home, he drove to Katalina's rental house.

When the bodyguard got out of the car, he saw Norah's car.

So the bodyguard returned to the car and drove the car to a stop elsewhere.

In the rented house.

Katalina sat on one side of the sofa, while Norah and Katalina's mother, Laurel sat on the other side.

"Of course, you should go back to Bridgedale with your mother!" Norah saw that neither mother and daughter were talking, so she broke the silence, "You have only been at work for half a month, and you have lost a lot of weight.

You've passed the addiction..."

"Cousin, did you call my mother here?" Katalina interrupted Norah, "Did you tell my mother that I had a relationship with the Foster family's bodyguard?"

Improper relationship between men and women? Otherwise, why would my mother talk nonsense at school?”

Norah’s cheeks turned red with a ‘swish’. But she was righteous and didn’t feel guilty about it.

Her father would definitely criticize her severely, which was not the most difficult thing for her to accept.

They should marry her off soon.

“Mom, I want to be self-willed for a while.” Katalina had an idea in her mind, “I won’t go back with you. If you want to sever ties with me, then sever ties! If you need me to cooperate in any formalities, I will cooperate at any time...”

“You want to be beautiful!” Laurel yelled, “You white-eyed wolf! We worked hard to raise you, and you finally graduated and can return to your family, but you have to cut ties with us?! How can there be such a good thing?!”

Katalina was stunned: “Then how can you let me go? I won’t marry a man I don’t like, even if you kill me, I won’t marry that man that you choosed for me.”

“Haha, then you want to marry that bodyguard of the Foster family? Are you not wronged by marrying that bodyguard?” Laurel was disheartened, but she didn’t expect her daughter to be so disobedient.

Katalina: "Mom, I just don't want you to control my life anymore."

'Clap!' Laurel quickly gave a slap on Katalina's face.

"Give me ten million, and I will set you free!" Laurel gritted her teeth and said word by word.

Katalina knew that this was an astronomical sum, but she still tearfully agreed.

Chapter 2003

Laurel was heartbroken and left in anger.

Norah stood in front of Katalina, looked down at her, and said disappointedly:

"Of course, you will regret it. My aunt and uncle love you so much, and your future husband's family they found for you is definitely not an ordinary family. You are their own daughter. How could they harm you? You don't understand their painstaking efforts..."

"Cousin, when you were urged to marry by your aunt and uncle, I never persuaded you to listen to them. You yourself don't like being told by others. Interfering in life, why do you want me to obey my family's arrangement and marry a man I don't like?" Katalina retorted.

Norah's lips moved, and then she said: "Although it is very common to talk about money, but in this society, it is absolutely impossible without money. If I were you, I would never disobey my parents' orders. An in-law's family who can make me happy..."

"Cousin, I know I'm bad, I don't have the ability, I don't have the ability to make a lot of money, but let me face a man I don't like at all, I'd rather go there Ordinary life." Katalina said here, exhausted, "Cousin, my mother fell just now, go see my mother! I want to be alone."

Norah picked up her bag and strode out of her rental house.

After Laurel and Norah left, the bodyguard knocked on the door of Katalina's rental room.

Katalina opened the door. She thought it would be her mother or Norah, but it turned out to be Aqi.

“You...” Katalina glanced behind him, thinking Layla was coming too.

Aqi immediately explained, “Layla asked me to come. She wants to know if you will resign.”

Katalina let out a smile, but she didn’t expect that Layla would care about herself.

Katalina: “I won’t quit my job. I’ve cut ties with my family.”

“No pocket money?” Aqi was a little surprised.

“Not only do I have no pocket money, but I still have to pay it back.” Katalina walked to the living room and poured a glass of water for Aqi, “My mother asked me to pay them back 10 million before releasing me. Otherwise, they would force me into the future to marry a man which I don’t like.”

“The man they forced you to marry should be a rich man, right?” Aqi took the water glass she handed over and took a sip.

Katalina: “Well.”

“Then you can just find a rich man yourself.” Aqi sincerely thought of a way for her.

Katalina: “In addition to being rich, you have to get along in all aspects. Where is it so easy to find? Emotional matters depend on fate. I have been in aristocratic schools since I was a child, and my male classmates are very wealthy. They are classmates and friends, but they won’t be their husbands.”

Aqi: “Why?”

Katalina: “Because women are like beautiful clothes to them. They think it’s stupid to take feelings seriously.”

“Men without money, maybe it’s the same. If you want to find the rich and dedicated man in idol dramas, you may be single for the rest of your life.” Aqi shattered her illusions.

Katalina: “I know that I have high requirements, so I don’t expect my future husband to have more money, as long as I can agree with my three views and have a harmonious relationship.”

Aqi: “Will you give 10 million to your parents?”

Katalina immediately shook her head in embarrassment: “Where do I have so much money... I may not earn 10 million in my life.”

Aqi: “It’s miserable.”

Katalina: “Can you earn it? If I can’t earn it, why are you laughing at me.”

Aqi said lightly, “Why can’t I earn it? I can’t earn it in a year, but I will definitely earn it in a lifetime.”

Katalina was shocked by his arrogant tone and asked, “Do you have a high salary?”

“What do you think?” Aqi asked back, “Before I was hired by my boss, I was an international martial arts champion. Every year, I won more than one million in prize money from participating in various competitions. Do you think my boss will offer me less than this Reward?”

Katalina: “...”

Aqi continued, “Before Layla returned to my boss, I was my boss’ bodyguard. Last year was the tenth time I worked at Foster’s house and My boss gave me a reward.”

Chapter 2004

Katalina: “What reward?”

Aqi: “Stocks of Sterling Group.”

Katalina: "..."

Aqi said, "Although there are not many shares, it is enough to give me financial freedom for the rest of my life."

Aqi didn't know Katalina well, why did he reveal his old story to her?

Aqi: "Teacher Larson, why don't you talk?"

Katalina blushed restrainedly: "Aqi, I didn't expect you to earn such a high income as bodyguards... The wealthy second-generation friends around me don't seem to have the same family background as you."

She must know that the shares of Sterling Group are very valuable.

In addition, Elliot offered Aqi such a reward, which shows that he trusts Aqi very much, and if Aqi has any difficulties in the future, presumably he will not sit idly by.

"Ordinary bodyguards have average income. My income is high because my boss is rich, and my boss values love and righteousness. Whoever is loyal to him and who pays for him, he sees it in his eyes and keeps it in his heart, and others treat him the same. If it is divided well, he will definitely treat others very well." When Aqi said these words, he was in a particularly uncomfortable mood. He don't know where the boss is now, if he is doing well or not.

"I'm really happy for you." Katalina smiled and turned away, "By the way, is your boss whereabouts?"

Aqi shook his head: "I didn't contact Miss Tate. If Miss Tate finds out the whereabouts of my boss, she will definitely tell..."

Katalina responded.

"Teacher Larson, are you ripping off your face with your cousin now? I was expecting you to go to your cousin's place and see if you could get the whereabouts of my boss from her..." Aqi regretted, "If you can help find my boss, if my boss is still alive, don't say that your parents want 10 million from you, even if they ask you for 100 million, my boss can give it to you."

Katalina was moved by Aqi's words, and her heart shook.

Her head was a little hot, and she knew she was extremely irrational right now.

"Aqi, I'm in a bit of a mess today. I want to take a bath and be quiet." Katalina said bluntly, "Thank you for visiting me. You go back and thank Layla for me."

"Got it." Aqi got up and left the rental.

After the door was closed, Katalina was the only one left in the room. She sat blankly on the sofa, hesitating.

The first time she went to Norah's house was the day before Elliot and Avery had an accident. She heard Norah talking on the phone at Norah's house.

She still remembers what the call was.

She doesn't know who Norah was talking to at the time, but what is certain is that the other party is in Yonroeville. Norah used helping that person escape as a bait and asked him to do things for her.

And what Norah wanted the other party to do... related to Avery.

Elliot had an accident with Avery, so the two of them had an accident in Yonroeville, and 80% of them had something to do with Norah.

If she told Aqi about this, Norah would definitely be unlucky...

Katalina is hesitant now because although she and Norah have no relationship, the two are very close relatives after all.

If something happened to Norah, her aunt and uncle would definitely be in pain.

One side is pulling her with affection, and the other is pulling her rationally.

If Norah dares to do illegal or criminal things, she should consider the consequences of it being exposed.

Chapter 2005

At the same time, Norah's apartment.

Norah took her aunt to her residence and asked her mother, Madelyn Jones to persuade her.

Madelyn took her sister, Laurel's hand and said, "Don't be sad. In terms of marriage, Katalina has never heard from me or her father."

"How can this be compared? Katalina is so good! Even if Katalina is so good, we won't worry about her at all. Let alone her unwillingness to marry the husband we chose for her, even if she wants to be single all her life, we have no problem!" Laurel said aggrieved, "She and that Foster family bodyguard seem really tricky. You don't know how rude and savage that bodyguard is! He knows my identity and dares to push me to the ground in public... If Katalina dares to marry him, I...I don't want to live anymore!"

"Auntie, I don't know what happened to her and that bodyguard. Maybe it's not as serious as we think." Norah looked at the aunt sadly, and continued, "I don't think Katalina's vision is so low. But I really don't know why she wants to please Elliot's daughter so much."

"You don't understand. But No matter how you look at it, she is determined not to listen to us." Laurel said with a headache, "I can't take care of this matter, let her father take care of it!"

"How can my uncle take care of it? Saying things like letting Katalina pay 10 million, I'm afraid that my uncle will come forward, but he won't bow his head. Now both of you are angry, why don't you talk about it after a while!" Norah suggested, "I'll go and talk to Katalina in a few days."

"Norah, then it's hard for you. I didn't expect Katalina to be obedient all the time, but after graduation, she was like a wild horse that ran away. I dared to love her previous obedience was a disguise. Now she has the ability to make money by herself. She just doesn't look at our faces anymore...The scheming is too deep!" Laurel said, and she burst into tears.

"No matter how confused Laurel is, it's impossible for Katalina to be with the bodyguard. The profession of bodyguard is so low!" Madelyn said.

"Katalina can become a teacher with that meager income. Sister, do you really think that her current status is qualified to dislike the Foster family's bodyguard?" Laurel teased, "If Elliot hadn't died, how would I dare to insult the Foster family's bodyguard? There is a saying that the dog fights against people, and now the person who supported the dog is dead, and the glory days of this bodyguard are over."

"Auntie, how do you know that Elliot is dead?" Norah's face paled, and a trace of concern flashed in her eyes.

Laurel was stunned for a moment, then glanced at her sister with a guilty conscience.

"Norah, I told your aunt about this." Madelyn was not flustered at all, "It doesn't matter if we share gossip between our sisters? What I told your aunt, your aunt will definitely not say it."

"Yes. Norah, what your mother told me, I didn't even tell your uncle." Laurel quickly echoed.

"Mom, Auntie, this matter is no trivial matter. Don't spread it out. Elliot's confidants have already begun to suspect me, and I don't want to make trouble again." Norah was upset, but couldn't show it, "It's very late today, Auntie, I'll take you to the hotel to rest!"

After delivering the aunt to a nearby hotel, Norah and her mother walked back.

Norah complained : “Mom, how can you tell me what I told you? I told you, no one can tell you about this! I really regret it, I shouldn't have told you in the first place. “

Madelyn: “Your aunt is our own...”

Norah asked: “When our family was poor, did my aunt treat us as her own? Did you forget the grievances our family suffered in the past?”

Madelyn shook her head: “I didn't forget. It was your uncle who looked down on us at the beginning. Your aunt never treated us harshly. When you wanted to go abroad, we asked your aunt to borrow money. I borrowed money from your aunt. Your aunt is my sister, how can she be an outsider?”

Norah exhaled, showing a vulnerable side on her face: “Mom, do you know how stressed I am during this time? If Avery also died together, I would not be so afraid. In case Avery finds out what happened What I do, then I'll definitely die! Mom, do you want to see me die?”

“What did you say! You are my only daughter, I can't let you die!” Madelyn held her daughter's hand and give her an idea, “Since you are so afraid of Avery, then think of a way to get rid of Avery as well.”

“Do you think I am really omnipotent? Last time was the right time and place.After what happened last time, ordinary people can't approach Avery at all now, so how can we deal with her?” Norah rejected her mother's suggestion.

“Norah, don't be afraid.” Madelyn said calmly, “If Avery dares to bully you, I have a way.”

Chapter 2006

“Mom, do you have a solution?” Norah raised her eyebrows, puzzled, “What can you do? Mom, are you hiding something from me?”

Norah was so shocked because her mother was just an ordinary woman. After her mother and father got married, she has been a housewife at home, and she has not worked a day at work.

Madelyn looked into the distance, and after a few seconds, nodded: "Norah, I do have something to hide from you. The reason why I didn't tell you is because you don't have to know about it... But if you are really in danger."

Norah stopped and waited for her mother to finish her words.

"Norah, have you heard of Travis Jones?" Madelyn was afraid that she would not know, so she continued, "Boss of MH Group."

Norah nodded and asked, "Do you know Travis Jones? What is your relationship? Or...you have a relationship with him?"

"Norah, you are so smart, you can guess right... You are Travis Jones's daughter."

Norah's body tensed up, and the look in her mother's eyes became unfamiliar!

"When you said you wanted to study abroad, I asked Travis for help. The reason why you can go to such a good university is because of his help. He originally wanted to pay you tuition fees, but I didn't. I'm afraid your father will be suspicious. With your later work in Bridgedale, and Travis to help."

Norah's belief completely collapsed after hearing this.

For a long time, she thought that she was admitted to such a good university and got an offer from a big company because of her own strength... She didn't expect it to be because of Travis's relationship!

"Travis is so kind to me, why doesn't he recognize his daughter?" Norah asked sarcastically.

"He prefers sons over daughters. And the relationship between the Jones family is too complicated. If I send you to the Jones family, I don't know if you will survive until now." Madelyn said, "Now if you are in danger, I will let him save you and he will definitely save you. After all, you are his biological daughter.”

.....

Bridgedale.

Avery felt ill.

After she fainted, she fell into a terrible dream, and it was difficult to wake up from the nightmare.

When Mike came in to see her, he reached out and probed her forehead and found that she had a fever.

Mike immediately went to the doctor to give her an injection.

When the doctor gave her the needle, she could feel it. She could even hear their conversation, but she couldn't open her eyes or get up.

She didn't want to wake up either.

Elliot died, and so did her heart.

Chapter 2007

“The fever has subsided, why hasn't Avery woken up yet?” Mike stayed by the bed for more than an hour. Seeing that Avery's fever had subsided, he asked the doctor.

The doctor walked to the bedside and lifted Avery's eyelids with his hand.

The Doctor: “Miss Tate is probably... sleeping.”

Mike breathed a sigh of relief: “Are you sure she's not life-threatening?”

The Doctor: “This...I can't say for sure. Unless you take Miss Tate for a detailed body examination...”

Avery was probably frightened by the doctor's words, so she opened her eyes.

“Miss Tate, you're awake!” The doctor saw her awake and immediately said,

“I just gave you a fever medicine, how are you feeling now?”

Avery glanced at the doctor, then looked at Mike.

“You have a fever. I don’t know how you got a fever. It’s not cold!” Mike muttered.

“It may be a bacterial or viral infection, not necessarily a cold.” The Doctor said.

“Well, it’s hard for you to make a trip. I’ll take you out.” Mike said.

“No, no. Take care of Miss Tate! If you have any questions, please call me at any time.” The doctor said politely and left.

After the doctor left, Mike used Avery’s water glass to get her a glass of warm water.

Mike: “The doctor said you should drink more water.”

Avery looked at the water handed by Mike coldly, and his body remained motionless.

“Why don’t I get you a straw so you can drink while lying down.” Mike accommodated her in every possible way.

“What time is it?” Avery asked, her voice hoarse as if it was from another person.

“It’s past 9 o’clock now. I came to call you for breakfast in the morning and found you had a fever.” Mike put the water glass on the bedside table.

“Fortunately, the fever is gone, but you are sweating, why don’t you go take a shower?”

Avery’s thoughts gradually returned to her mind.

“Where’s the photo?” There was nothing in her hand. She remembered that she was holding the photo.

What if you faint again?" Mike didn't plan to take the photo for her, "Why do you think the photo is real? If Elliot really died, After being cremated, why didn't that person send Elliot's ashes? Didn't you say that the ashes can also be tested for DNA?"

Mike's words made Avery's dull eyes shine a little bit.

"Avery, why are you such a smart person being fooled by two photos? Now I can be sure that the person who sent you the photo should be in Bridgedale. So Elliot should be in Bridgedale regardless of whether he lives or dies. Before your guess may be right, Just follow your previous plan and continue to investigate..."

Avery listened to his words, and immediately lifted the quilt and sat up.

"You drink water first." Mike picked up the water glass and put it in her hand, "I checked the sender's information on the courier bag yesterday. The name is fake, and the number left is also fake. The sender's address is also fake. It's a garbage station, which will be closed at the end of this year, and now there are no staff there."

"Mike, you just said why I'm being played around...because I care about him. The photo could be real or it could be fake. But as long as there's a 1% chance it's real, I...I can't accept such a result." Avery drank the water in the water glass after giving an explanation, "but you reminded me that even if he dies, I have to see his ashes with my own eyes. Only I can be sure that he is really dead."

"It's not just two photos to pronounce a person dead!" Avery put the water glass on the table, then walked to the closet and took out a clean set of clothes.

Chapter 2008

"You go out and drink porridge after taking a shower. Eat something and then have a good night's sleep." Mike said, walking towards the door, "Don't close the door, in case you fall in the bathroom and don't make a sound, at least I can save you."

Avery: "I'm not a fool. Can I keep silent when I fall?"

Mike: "When you fainted last night, there was no warning at all. Hayden was so frightened that he wanted to send you to the hospital... I tried you to breathe, and it was normal, so I didn't send you to the hospital."

Avery: "Hayden is probably frightened."

Mike: "Can you not be scared? He refused to go to school this morning. I forced him to go to school. If he doesn't go to school, the two of us will be watching by your bed... I don't think you're too sick to die, it's a bit silly for us to make you look like you're going to die."

Avery went into the bathroom with pajamas. She was so sad last night. She thought that Elliot was really dead, and she didn't have time to think about whether this might have been done by someone else.

Aryadelle.

Norah returned to the apartment with her mother. She did not live with her parents. She bought a small house for her parents in the city center, and the two old people lived together.

Today, because her aunt came over and her mother came to her side. Just now her father called and asked her mother when she would go back.

Her mother probably saw that Norah was in a bad mood, so she told Norah's father that if she didn't go back today, she would stay with her for the night.

After Norah entered the room, she walked to the coffee table and took out a box of ladies' cigarettes and a lighter from the drawer.

"Norah, why do you smoke?" Madelyn was shocked to see her daughter lit a cigarette skillfully.

“Mom, it’s just smoking, do you need to be so shocked?” Norah exhaled a cigarette ring in front of her mother, “Is the matter between you and Travis more outrageous than my smoking? Does my dad know that I’m not Travis’s daughter?”

The expression on Madelyn’s face was tangled and rich.

–Who didn’t make mistakes when they were young?

–When Madelyn was young, although she was a mistress to Travis, she resolutely left the seemingly intoxicated, rich and glorious life after realizing that following Travis was dangerous.

“I don’t know.” Madelyn lowered her eyes and her cheeks were a little flushed. “But Travis should be clear in his heart. He has been pursuing me for many years, and even if he is to be the pick-up man, he is willing.”

“Hehe... My dad is also surnamed Jones. Mom, are you unforgettable about Travis’s old love, so you deliberately found an honest person surnamed Jones to take over the order, so that you and Travis’s child can also be named Jones.” Norah tried to analyze her mother’s psychology, “You can’t stay by Travis’s side, but you want to benefit from Travis, so doing this is the best way you can think of.”

Madelyn was a little embarrassed when her daughter said the central thing.

Madelyn: “Norah, anyone can laugh at me, but you can’t. Everything your mother does is for you.”

Norah: “Mom, stop talking! Don’t instill your thoughts on me! You’d better go back and confess to Dad! What if Dad can’t accept it?”

“What do you mean by that? I’m a lot of age with your father, do you want to see us divorce?” Madelyn was heartbroken.

Norah: "What happened to the divorce? Can't you live without a divorce? What is it that you lied to my dad like this? You don't feel disgusted, I am disgusted! There is only one dad, and he can never be Travis!"

"Hehe, what are you pretending to be arrogant? When Avery wants to kill you, can you be so arrogant?" Madelyn reprimanded.

Chapter 2009

Of course Norah didn't want to die. It's just that she didn't think Avery could find her so quickly.

As a result, Avery is now going to Bridgedale to deal with Wanda's affairs. Second, after she set up a trap to deceive Avery and Elliot into the basement, someone intervened and took Elliot away.

Even if Avery checked, she would only find out who kidnapped Elliot.

After Norah returned to the bedroom, Madelyn entered the adjacent room. Madelyn was restless, and always felt that after telling the truth to her daughter, her daughter seemed to be getting further and further away from her.

This was not the result she wanted.

She can lose her husband, but she cannot lose her daughter.

Besides, Avery is now in danger to Norah, and Madelyn must find a way to help her.

Just like when her daughter went abroad to study and find a job after graduation, Madelyn secretly helped her daughter.

Her own child, only her feel distressed.

Although Travis has lost many children, which of the descendants of the Jones family who are still alive is not a brocade and jade food?

Madelyn wanted her daughter to be no worse off than her half-brothers and sisters.

Therefore, what should be fought for from Travis, Madelyn will definitely fight for it.

Madelyn thought about this, took a deep breath, and then dialed Travis's phone.

Travis took a while to answer the phone.

"Travis, it's me. I'm calling you now because our daughter is in a little trouble."

Madelyn said straight to the point, "Didn't Norah design Elliot and Avery a while ago? They died tragically in a foreign country, but Avery was finally saved."

"What trouble is she in? Avery found Norah on the head?" Travis's voice came from a strong voice.

"Norah said that some of Elliot's confidants have already suspected her.

When Avery finds out about her, I'm afraid it will be a matter of time." Madelyn said unwillingly, "Travis, Norah is your flesh and blood, you have tested DNA. Norah is like you and has a business sense. As long as you can ensure her safety, she will be able to complete the gambling agreement in three years and win the Tate Industries. When she wins the Tate Industries, and if you're willing to recognize this daughter, I'd be happy for your father and daughter to recognize each other."

Travis hesitated after listening to Madelyn's words.

Although Norah relied on his connection, so she found a good job after graduation, but she jumped to Tate Industries, completely relying on her own ability.

Later, Tate Industries became stronger and bigger in her hands, which was enough to prove her ability.

Travis moved with compassion for this daughter.

If Norah can really win the Tate Industries in the future, it will be worth her risk to deal with Avery.

After Madelyn finished talking on the phone, she breathed a sigh of relief. She walked to the door of Norah's room, knocked on the door, and then pushed the door open.

"Norah, I just called Travis." Madelyn stood at the door and didn't go in.

"Travis said he would help you deal with Avery, you just need to work with peace of mind."

Norah sat beside the bed, staring blankly at her mother.

"Norah, everyone uses different means to achieve success. I hope you succeed, and you want to succeed too, right? You work hard and try to win the Tate Industries. After you succeed, we will do nothing in the future. Don't be afraid." Madelyn said softly, "It's very late, so I won't disturb you. I'd better go home, I'm not used to living with you."

Norah immediately stood up after hearing what her mother said.

Norah: "I'll take you."

Although Norah hates her mother's actions, she can feel that her mother loves her.

"What do I want you to bring? You hurried to take a bath and rest. I asked your father to pick me up." After Madelyn said this, she closed the room door for her.

Bridgedale.

Travis dialed the number of his second son, Emilio Jones, and asked him to come to the office.

After a while, Emilio appeared in his father's office.

Chapter 2010

“Dad, are you looking for me?” Emilio closed the office door after entering the office.

Travis sat in the leather swivel chair and looked at his son: “Emilio, how did you feel when you met Avery?”

“Just meeting an old classmate...it doesn't feel like it. But I feel that she still looks down on me as before.” Emilio complained, “This woman is outspoken, and she never saves face when she speaks. But I like her character very much.”

“Tell me her contact information. I want her to see your elder brother's illness.” Travis explained the reason for looking for him.

The smile in Emilio's eyes dissipated immediately: “Dad, Aunt Gomez didn't say eldest brother's illness, will she help to cure it?”

“Your aunt Gomez has other things to do. She can't take care of your elder brother's illness for the time being.” Travis said, “Give me Avery's number, and I will ask my assistant to contact her.”

Travis was not discussing with him, but an order.

Emilio did not dare to disobey his father's order, and immediately wrote Avery's number on the white paper.

“Dad, Avery is arrogant. Not everyone who asks her for surgery will agree to it. Would you like me to talk to her?” Emilio was afraid that his father would come forward and have a conflict with Avery.

Because they both have similar temperaments.

“You don't need to come forward about your eldest brother.” Travis's eyes were a little cold, “Go out!”

Emilio nodded and backed out.

After coming out of his father's office, Emilio immediately took out his mobile phone and wanted to call Avery, but he didn't know whether to say it or not. Because his father just said very clearly, don't let him intervene in the affairs of the eldest brother. It was clearly agreed before that the elder brother's illness would not invite outsiders to treat him. He don't know why his father changed his mind.

Could it be that the relationship between the father and the new love Aunt Gomez has changed?

Aunt Gomez's full name is Margaret Gomez. She is in her early sixties this year. Because of proper maintenance, she looks much younger than her peers.

Margaret Gomez is a medical student and once had high attainments in medicine. She said that she would help his eldest brother heal, and his father agreed without thinking. But now his father suddenly changed his mind, making Emilio puzzled.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Avery woke up from a deep slept. This time, she slept for several hours.

After sleeping well, she feel that her body's vitality has recovered by 70 to 80%.

She only ate a bowl of porridge in the morning and nothing at noon. She was very hungry at the moment.

After getting out of bed, she took her mobile phone and came out of the room.

The nanny saw Avery and immediately asked her if she was hungry.

The nanny said with a smile: "I cooked porridge at noon and made dumplings. If you want to eat noodles, I can make noodles now."

Avery: "No noodles. I'll just have some porridge and dumplings."

"Okay, the porridge is ready-made, I'll go make dumplings." The nanny said, and went to serve her porridge.

Avery walked to the dining room and sat down, turned on her phone, and saw two missed calls. When she slept, she put her phone on silent, so she didn't see the incoming call.

The number was an unfamiliar number, but the other party called her twice, indicating that she was looking for something.

Without thinking, Avery called back.

The opponent picks up in seconds.

"Hello, Miss Tate, I'm Gianni Costa, Assistant director of MH Medicine. My boss, Mr. Travis Jones, has an appointment with you. When are you free?"

A string of question marks popped up in Avery's mind.

What did Travis Jones ask her to do?

Chapter 2011

Because it is relatively late today, Hayden is expected to be back in a while, so after thinking about it, she said, "Tomorrow morning."

Gianni: "Okay, see you at 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning. You decide the place."

Avery reported to a coffee shop near her community.

After making an appointment for a time and place, the phone hangs up.

The nanny held the porridge and put it in front of Avery. Another plate of freshly sliced fruit was placed in front of her.

The nanny: "Miss Tate, you eat first. I'll cook the dumplings."

"Where's Mike?" Avery remembered that Mike was at home with her in the morning.

“He said that the company has something to do, so he went to the company first. He’ll come back when he’s done.” The nanny replied.

“Well.” Avery took two mouthfuls of porridge to suppress the discomfort in her stomach, then picked up her mobile phone and sent a message to Mike.

After her message was sent, Mike immediately called her back: “Travis asked you out? What did he ask you for?”

Avery: “It was his assistant who called me, I didn’t ask.”

Mike said, “Oh... I’ll accompany you to see him tomorrow. I’m on my way home right now. Do you want something to eat? There’s a cake shop at the intersection ahead, where I was last time. The cake you bought from a cake shop is delicious...”

Avery: “I can’t eat it. You don’t buy it.”

Mike: “Okay! How is your body?”

Avery: “Much better. My throat hurts a bit, so I can’t eat anything too sweet.”

Mike: “Then I’ll buy some fruit.”

About half an hour later, Mike came home with a bag of fruit.

Avery was full of food and drink, and her spirit was better than when she just woke up.

“I know what Travis asked me to do.” Avery said to Mike, “I asked Emilio just now, and Emilio told me.”

Mike: “What did Travis ask you to do?”

Mike walked up to Avery and touched her forehead. The temperature of her forehead was a little cold.

“Emilio has a elder brother named Caleb Jones. Half a year ago, Caleb had a car accident and hurt his brain. Originally, part of the Jones family’s property was managed by Caleb, but now Caleb can no longer do any work. So Travis wants me to help his eldest son heal.”

Avery told Mike the reason for the question.

Mike touched his chin: “Emilio should be reluctant for you to treat his eldest brother, right? Brothers and sisters like this kind of wealthy family have no relationship at all, only competition. The heirs of the Jones family are now their two brothers, now that something happened to Caleb, Emilio has become the biggest winner.”

Avery: “Emilio didn’t tell me that.”

Mike: “Because it’s useless for Emilio to tell you this. It’s your business whether you want to help his elder brother heal. He can’t stop you.”

“Do you think I will promise to help Caleb heal?” Avery couldn’t help laughing.

Mike: “Of course. This is a good opportunity. It will allow you to get close to the Jones family.” Mike glanced at her, “How much are you going to ask Travis?”

Avery: “I don’t make an offer. Besides, I may not be able to cure Caleb. We have to see Caleb.”

The next day, 10 o’clock in the morning.

Avery met Travis in the cafe.

In the Jones family information that Mike sorted out for Avery, there are photos of Travis.

She didn’t expect to see him in person. Travis was more energetic than he looked in the photos.

Chapter 2012

“Hello, Mr. Jones.” Avery said hello to Travis.

“Miss Tate, I have admired your name for a long time, and I finally saw you today.” Travis sat down in the seat opposite her, “I asked you out today because I have something to ask for.”

Avery: “Okay! say it.”

“My eldest son Caleb Jones injured his head in a car accident half a year ago. I have been to many experts, but he couldn’t cure it. Someone recommended you to me... I wanted to contact you a while ago, but you returned to Aryadelle.”

When Travis said this, Avery nodded: “Did you bring your son’s medical records? I have to look at his medical records before I can answer your question. Not all brain diseases can be cured.”

Travis did not expect Avery to be so friendly and easygoing. He immediately asked his assistant to hand over the medical records to Avery.

Avery took the medical records and asked, “Is your son at home now or in the hospital?”

Travis: “At home. Staying in the hospital is just basic care.”

Avery: “Well.”

Avery took out Caleb’s brain film from the bag and looked at it carefully.

After Travis ordered a cup of coffee, he began to look at Avery.

“Miss Tate, I heard about the grudge between you and Wanda a few days ago...”

Avery watched the film intently and replied to Travis’s words: “Have you heard about me and Elliot?”

Everything about Wanda and Wanda has been settled, and Avery doesn’t want to waste her time on this matter.

Travis chuckled: “Why didn’t I hear about it? I heard about it when I came from the Tate Industries to open a new company in Bridgedale. It’s just that I’m in a different industry than you, so I don’t have an intersection...”

“Yeah. The last time you took a special plane to Yonroeville, at that time, Elliot and I had an accident in Yonroeville. Do you think it was a coincidence?”

Avery looked at Travis’s face after watching the film, “If I was back then Died in Yonroeville, now there is no way to treat your eldest son.”

Travis didn’t know how to take her words.

Her words did not sound painful or itchy, but they carried a strong pertinence.

“Ms. Tate is blessed with great luck, and there will be no accident.” Travis said politely, “Ms. Tate, can you help my son heal?”

“I can try it.” Avery agreed, “I won’t charge you until it’s cured.”

“How does this work? I invite other experts to treat the disease. No matter whether they can cure the disease or not, the money will be taken.” Travis calmly said, “Miss Tate, please make a price! I know my second son, Emilio is your classmate, so I can’t take advantage of you.”

“This is my rule.” Avery said, “Mr. Jones, take me to meet your eldest son later! I’ll check his condition.”

Travis: “Okay. I’ll take you after coffee.”

The two chatted here, and everything was very harmonious and smooth.

The waiter brought the coffee that Avery ordered.

Avery took a sip of coffee and asked, “Mr. Jones, I heard that you and Margaret Gomez were in a relationship recently. Why didn’t you ask Ms. Gomez to help your son heal?”

The expression on Travis’s face stiffened for a few seconds, and then he laughed: “Miss Tate, you’re really well informed.”

“Mr. Jones, you have won the award. It’s not that I am well-informed, but that you are in a relationship with Ms. Gomez, which is also quite high-profile. And Ms. Gomez is not an unknown junior... I am still a little familiar with her.”

Avery looked at Travis deeply.

Travis has never seen any younger generation dare to look at him with such bold eyes.

Travis: "Miss Tate, listening to you, I'm afraid I don't know her as well as you."
"How is that possible? If you don't investigate her clearly, how can you fall in love with her?" Avery lowered her eyes, looked at the coffee in the cup, and said casually, "Ms. Gomez is the junior of my mentor, Professor Professor Hough. I complimented her, saying that she is very talented, a rare medical genius."

Travis listened quietly.

"Ms. Gomez is very obsessed with my teacher. But my teacher is a family man, so my teacher has always avoided her." Avery pointed to her left face when she said this, "Ms. Gomez rewarded her at the beginning. I slapped."

Chapter 2013

Travis was stunned.

"Ms. Tate, I really don't know what you said. If she doesn't mention these old things, I can't find out. "

Avery: "Well. It's all little things."

"It's not a trivial matter, is it? Why did she hit you?" Travis's tone seemed to be an injustice to Avery.

It has been many years since this incident, and Avery recalled that it was no longer painful.

Avery: "Ms. Gomez insisted on seeing my teacher, but my teacher didn't want to see her. So I helped my teacher stop her and tried to persuade her to leave, but she called me a v!xen and slapped me. I'm not sure if she still Remember me, but I remember her deeply because of it."

When Emilio told her Margaret Gomez's name, Avery immediately thought of this woman.

“My son has studied under Professor Hough like you, so why doesn’t my son know about this?” Travis wondered, “When I brought Margaret to meet my children, it was the first time they saw Margaret. “

“Your son wasn’t in the laboratory at all. I haven’t seen him a few times.”

Avery’s answer pierced Travis’s heart.

Travis said, “Margaret and I have known each other since early years, but we just nodded. Margaret never mentioned you in front of me. I think she just took her anger at Professor Hough on you. But her behavior is still wrong, and I apologize to you on her behalf.”

“No need. I didn’t take it to heart. Professor Hough said that she was fine except for her bad temper. I believe that Professor Hu will not see the wrong person.”

“Yes, it’s not that she has a bad temper, but that she has a weird temper. As long as she follows her temper, she can say anything.” Travis continued to defend his girlfriend, “We plan to have a simple wedding, I don’t know Ms. Tate. Will you be able to show your face then?”

“Okay!” Avery responded immediately.

After the coffee was finished, Avery followed Travis to his villa.

In order to facilitate chatting, Travis asked Avery to get into his car.

“Originally, Margaret also wanted to help treat Caleb’s illness, but she is now older and her energy is far less than you. Besides, we are planning to get married. Margaret values this wedding very much.” Travis explained to Avery.

Avery: “Well. Mr. Jones, I heard that you are still working normally now. I really admire you for having such a good body.”

“Haha, that’s just an outside rumor! I’m old now and I only work two or three hours a day. The main affairs of the company have been handed over to my children and professional managers.” Travis said truthfully, “Ms. Tate, What’s the situation of your ex-husband now?”

Avery didn’t expect that Travis would take the initiative to ask.

Avery: “I got an anonymous courier last night with two pictures in it. It said my ex-husband was dead.”

“Oh...that’s a pity! Elliot is a famous business genius, and I’m really jealous!”

Travis sighed regretfully, “But I heard that you and him divorced before and it was very unpleasant.”

“Well, Mr. Jones, I heard that you have had many marriages. When each term ends, did you break up peacefully?”

Travis shook his head: “Most of them break up peacefully. Because most women marry me for my money. As long as I give enough money, they naturally have no complaints. But there are also a few women who are more difficult... There is a big disadvantage, that is, it is easy to like the new and dislike the old. Sometimes I know that some women don’t want my money, but once I don’t love them, I can’t continue to live with them.”

Avery didn’t answer.

They were completely different people, and she was afraid of angering him by her words.

Before finding Elliot’s clues, she had to endure.

“You seem to have several children. Now that your ex-husband has passed away, your children will be raised by you.” Seeing that Avery didn’t answer, Travis continued to return to the previous topic.

Chapter 2014

Avery: “Yeah! I don’t want to be raised by myself, so I have to keep looking for him. Even if he dies, I have to find his remains. What if he hides somewhere happy? I don't want to die from exhaustion. Live, with so many children alone."

Travis: "Haha! Ms. Tate is joking. Elliot is dead, doesn't all his inheritance fall into your hands? You can find as many babysitters as you want... You take his Money, as long as you are happy."

"Mr. Jones, what you said really makes sense. I didn't even think of this." Avery didn't want to continue chatting with him, so she took out her mobile phone and pretended to play with it.

After the car arrived at Jones's villa, Avery got out of the car with the help of bodyguards.

"This is Caleb's house, so I won't go in!" Travis stood beside Avery and explained, "Caleb is my favorite son, he is smart and capable, I thought he could take over my position, but I didn't expect him Such a thing happened. Now every time I see him, my heart aches. So I try not to see him."

Avery couldn't understand that he could be so different from Travis.

Basically every word Travis said, Avery wanted to refute.

And Travis didn't care about Avery's feelings at all.

After saying these words, Travis got in the car and left under the protection of the bodyguards.

A man who looked like a housekeeper came out and invited Avery into the room.

"Ms. Tate, our eldest young master is in the room, come with me."

Avery immediately followed the housekeeper and walked towards the master bedroom on the first floor.

The bodyguards followed Avery step by step.

The housekeeper looked back at the bodyguard and seemed to be very unwelcome to come with him.

“What’s wrong?” Avery asked the housekeeper.

“That’s right, our eldest young master has been reluctant to meet strangers since he had a car accident.” The housekeeper explained.

“That can’t be helped. Mr. Jones asked me to treat him.” Avery replied.

“Ms. Tate, that’s not what I meant. I mean, your bodyguard may be able to wait outside.” The housekeeper said.

Without waiting for Avery to speak, the bodyguard took the lead: “Where is my boss, where is he? If young master can’t see strangers, but he has to see my boss, then seeing another stranger won’t kill him. “

“Since I promised to treat your eldest young master, it is definitely not at home.

He will still go to the hospital in the future. No one can guarantee that every medical staff in the hospital is an acquaintance of your eldest young master.”

After speaking Avery, the housekeeper said nothing to her.

The housekeeper opened the door and let Avery and the bodyguard go in.

The bedridden eldest young master Caleb saw Avery and his bodyguards come in, and the gloomy mood on his face deepened.

“Young master Jones, I watched your film, you can walk on both legs, it’s better to stay in bed less.”

Caleb: “The doctor made me stay in bed more.”

“Excessive bed rest will only make your body less functional and not beneficial.

Either you are lying or your doctor wants to harm you.”

Caleb’s face suddenly turned red.

“Young master Jones, I can cure your illness, but you must give me what I need. I don’t know if you are willing to make a deal with me.” Avery walked to the hospital bed and whispered to Caleb.

Chapter 2015

Avery told Travis just now that he would not charge any money, just to come to negotiate directly with Caleb.

Caleb didn't expect Avery to say these words to him. He was stunned.

"I heard from your father that you are the son he values the most. He said that your family had such a big family business, and he said that he originally planned to let you inherit it because you were his most intelligent and capable child... But now He is very distressed by your appearance. If you can recover, he will definitely re-entrust you with important responsibilities." Avery said, "You must also want to return to your original life, right?"

Caleb hesitated for a moment, and then asked: "What do you want? Do you think I can meet your requirements as a waste person?"

Avery: "I want to bet once. You are Travis's most important son. If you can't do it, it's even more impossible for others to do it."

Caleb: "What do you want?"

Avery: "I want Elliot's whereabouts."

"Oh! I don't know!" Caleb gave the answer without thinking, "I don't know Elliot! I haven't seen him, let alone where he is! Why do you think I would know?"

"I didn't say you knew." Avery corrected him, "your dad might know."

"Even if my dad knows where Elliot is, I can't help you find out such important news!" Caleb said in a hoarse voice, with his throat rolling, "You really don't know my father! He said I was the most important son, do you believe it?"

"Why don't I believe it? He is your father, and you are his eldest son. The eldest son is generally favored and relied upon by his parents..." Avery speculated.

"Ridiculous!" Caleb looked at Avery with the eyes of a fool, "Do you think that all parents in this world are good parents who love their children? You must have never met a bad person, right? Naive and stupid woman!”

Avery was scolded for no reason, her cheeks flushed instantly, and anger ignited in her heart.

But considering what happened to Caleb, it is understandable that her temperament has changed, so she did not argue with him.

“Be careful what you say! My boss is your doctor now. If you can agree to my boss’s request, you will agree. If you can’t, you will pull it down! Don’t waste my boss’s precious time!” The bodyguard roared harshly.

Caleb glared at the bodyguard.

After all, this is the Jones family! Not the Tate family!

“I’m talking to Caleb, you don’t need to interrupt. If I’m really angry, I’ll scold me back myself.” Avery whispered to the bodyguard.

“Oh...Caleb said that to you just now, aren’t you angry?” The bodyguard wondered why Avery had such a good temper.

When Avery was with Elliot in the past, sometimes Elliot’s casual words could make her frizz.

“You go out first, I want to chat with Caleb alone.” Avery said to the bodyguard.

“No... I can’t go out. I swear, I have to follow you wherever you go in the future.” Having learned from the previous lessons from Country Yonroeville, the bodyguard never dared to leave her for half a step.

“You wait outside the door. I’ll call you for something. He’s sick now, so he can’t do anything to me.” Avery said to bodyguards. Considering that the bodyguards are here, might make Caleb unable to say something directly.

After listening to her words, bodyguards had to go out the door reluctantly.

In the bedroom, only she and Caleb were left.

“You said just now that I have never met a bad person, and if I had never met a bad person, I wouldn’t have nearly lost my life in country Yonroeville!” Avery retorted what Caleb said just now, “if your father doesn’t love you, why would he ask me to do it for you? Are you healing?”

“Then do you know, who did I suffer like this?” Caleb showed a strange and terrifying smile on his face.

It was obviously daytime, but his smile made Avery feel gloomy and evil.

“Who did it?” Avery asked, following his words.

“Who are you? Why should I tell you?” Caleb suddenly changed his face and said irritably, “Get out of my room! Get out of my room!”

Chapter 2016

Seeing that his emotions were out of control, Avery immediately said, “You can think about the deal I just proposed. As long as you can help me get Elliot’s whereabouts, I promise to cure you.”

“Go away!” Caleb covered his ears with his hands, not wanting to hear her voice.

Listening for one more second seems to kill him.

Avery was very surprised by his reaction, but in order not to continue to stimulate him, she quickly came out of the room.

“Boss, why did you come out so soon?” The bodyguard stared at her face to see if she had any trouble.

“Go out and talk.”

Avery quickly left the house.

On the way back, Avery kept reviewing everything that happened after seeing Caleb today.

The words Caleb said were very strange. He seemed to be implying something to her, but it wasn't obvious.

His reaction was completely different from what she expected, and she wanted to know why.

Back at home, Avery picked up the water glass and drank a large glass of water.

When the nanny saw Avery's return, she immediately brought out the prepared lunch.

Avery had no appetite, but went to the table and sat down anyway. She turned on the phone and wanted to send a message to Emilio, but the moment she turned on the phone, she saw Mike's missed calls and messages.

She dialed Mike's number, and the call was answered in seconds.

"Why didn't you answer the phone?" Mike asked anxiously, "You and Travis have been drinking coffee for so long?"

"No, we finished drinking soon. I went to see Caleb. That is, Travis's eldest son." Avery said doubts in her heart, "He's a little weird..."

Mike: "Weird? You say he is still his son?"

"Both of them are to blame. It seems that I have obstacles when I talk to them both." Avery frowned.

Mike helped her analyze: "Travis is 73 years old this year, and the generation gap between the two of you has been separated several times. It is normal for you to not speak. His eldest son had a car accident before, and it is estimated that there is a psychological problem. It's normal if you can't tell. You don't have to doubt yourself, it's their father and son's problem."

"You can really comfort people. But I don't think it's what you said." Avery felt a hunger in her stomach, "Wait when you come back, I'll eat first."

After talking on the phone, Avery suddenly forgot that she opened her phone to send a message to Emilio.

She put down her phone and quietly started her lunch.

Her sixth sense told her that Elliot was very close to her, and as long as she continued to look for him, she would definitely be able to find him.

The purpose of the two photos sent by anonymous express last night was to make her give up and stop looking for Elliot.

There must be someone behind the scenes who knew she was looking for Elliot, so she was scared.

After lunch, she returned to her room with her phone.

She thought of Emilio and wanted to verify something from him immediately, so she called him.

Emilio answered the phone quickly, and before Avery could speak, he joked, "You met my dad and my elder brother... Now you are calling me non-stop, what do you want to say?"

"Your brother's car accident wasn't an accident, it was man-made." Avery threw the question out, "Emilio, shouldn't you have caused his car accident?!"

Chapter 2017

Emilio gasped and said, "My eldest brother told you that?!"

Avery: "no."

"Since it's not, why do you think I did it? Just because my eldest brother fell, I can become the heir to the Jones family?" Emilio asked.

Avery didn't answer, it was the default.

"Haha! You're not the first to guess like this. I don't care what others think of me, because their narrow-mindedness can't affect me. But you say that, I'm a little sad." Emilio's tone was aggrieved.

Avery pondered for a moment, then expressed her own analysis: "your eldest brother did not say that you did it, but what your eldest brother meant was that someone planned this car accident and deliberately harmed him. Apart from Jones family, I do not meet other people.”

“How come you don’t know other people?” Emilio did not accept her explanation, “Margaret, you should know her, right? I haven’t forgotten the surprise on your face when I told you about Margaret. You must have been chasing her after asking, where did this woman come from, why did my father stay with her...but you didn’t ask anything.”

“I’m also very surprised. Margaret went to school to find Professor Hough before, but your father said that you and Margaret met for the first time at your family banquet. Have you really never met Margaret at school before?” Avery asked question.

Emilio: “Avery, these are not important...”

“I always feel that the people in your family don’t tell the truth.” Avery followed her own feelings and said, “It’s because you are all guarding me and afraid that I will find Elliot, right?”

“What do my dad and my brother think, I don’t know. You don’t look at us as a family, but we are not as unified as you think. I was only recognized by my dad when I was an adult. ..so you should believe that the probability of me telling the truth to you is probably higher than the probability of telling the truth to my dad.”

Avery: “So your brother’s car accident, did you do it?”

“No.” Emilio answered her question without hesitation, “If I did it, mr father would not give me the property that was originally entrusted to my eldest brother. If it was done by me, I might be dead now... ...Even if I don’t die, I’ll definitely crippled.”

Avery: “...”

Emilio’s answer subverted her imagination.

“My eldest brother told you that someone harmed him... Hehe! Why did my eldest brother tell you this? Avery, what kind of magic do you have to make someone as cautious as my eldest brother unable to resist? You tell the truth.”

Emilio wondered.

Avery was stunned: “You said your elder brother was telling the truth, and the car accident was not planned by you. Who is that?”

“You answer my question first, and I’ll answer yours later.” Emilio said lightly.

He seemed sure that Avery would answer his questions in order to get the answer.

“I told your eldest brother that I can cure him, but he needs to find Elliot’s whereabouts for me.” Avery told Emilio after thinking for a while, “Unfortunately, youy eldest brother did not agree to my request.”

“Haha! Avery, you are so ridiculous! My elder brother heard your words, did he laugh?” Emilio’s laughter made Avery feel extremely harsh.

Because of her anger, her fingers tightened while holding the phone.

Avery: “He didn’t laugh instead he was angry.”

“Oh... angry! It’s really annoying! Because you... can’t cure his disease.”

Emilio laughed again when he said this. After he laughed enough, he asked back, “I told you so much, haven’t you guessed who made him half-dead?”

“Margaret?” Avery guessed.

Emilio: “...I thought you were so smart! I didn’t expect you to be an idiot.”

After Emilio finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Avery: “...”

She was sleepy at first, but after talking on the phone with Emilio, not only was she no longer sleepy, but she kept getting angry all the time.

The playboy Emilio even laughed at her for being an idiot!

Chapter 2018

The reason why Avery guessed Margaret was because the two of them mentioned Margaret at the beginning of the call.

But since it's not Margaret, it can only be... Travis?

After thinking of this possibility, Avery broke out in a cold sweat! But after guessing this, she felt more and more that her guess was close to the truth.

Normal parents will never despise their children like Travis when their children are injured and become 'criminals', and they will not even meet once.

This shows that Travis has no normal father-son relationship with his 'most beloved eldest son' Caleb.

Moreover, Emilio said that she could not cure Caleb's disease. It was definitely not because Emilio questioned her medical skills, but... someone would not let her cure Caleb's disease!

Thinking of this, Avery gasped for breath as if lacking oxygen.

Why did Travis abolish his eldest son?

If he hated the eldest son from the beginning, how could he hand over the property in his name to the eldest son?

What happened in between.

The next morning, Avery brought his bodyguards to Travis's residence.

Travis lives in the famous wealthy area of country Bridgedale.

Without saying hello to Travis in advance, Avery successfully entered the community and came to the location of Travis's villa.

This made Travis's housekeeper very puzzled.

"I have a friend who lives in this community, so I came in very smoothly."

Avery explained to the housekeeper after being invited to the house by the housekeeper.

In fact, Avery asked Emilio to bring him here.

She thought about it all night last night, thinking that she had not seen Margaret, so she came to visit this morning.

“Doctor Tate, my master usually doesn’t get up until after ten o’clock in the morning. You are early.” The housekeeper said.

“I saw your master yesterday. I mainly came to find Ms. Gomez today.” Avery sat down on the sofa after entering the living room.

The housekeeper has never seen such a guest who doesn’t treat himself as an outsider.

“Ms. Gomez usually goes downstairs with my master.”

“Then I’ll wait, anyway, I have more time.” After Avery’s voice was settled, a shadow appeared at the corner of the stairs.

Margaret walked downstairs step by step wearing a silk nightdress.

“I said who was making a fuss at home early in the morning! It turned out to be my brother’s proud disciple.” Margaret chuckled and walked to Avery.

“Hello, Madam Gomez, I thought you didn’t remember me, so I came to visit...”

“Hehe, I don’t remember you. It was Travis who told me that he asked you to treat Caleb’s illness, so I searched for your information on the Internet, and then I remembered your appearance.” Margaret beat Avery. After the measurement, she sat down lazily on the sofa, “You said you came to me, what are you looking for me for?”

“I have something that I can’t understand.” Avery raised her doubts, “My teacher has praised your ability in front of me more than once, saying that you are extremely talented and a medical genius. Mr. Travis said that you are going to arrange a wedding, I can't devote my energy to treating Caleb's illness. But Caleb's illness is not a sudden one. You can wait until the wedding is over before treating him... Why does Mr. Travis insist on inviting me?"

Chapter 2019

Avery saw that Margaret's face became dark blue, and her eyes became cold and fierce, as if she could blast herself out in the next second.

"Ms. Gomez, the reason why I raised this doubt is because I went to see Caleb yesterday." Avery was anxious, and explained, "After Caleb saw me, he hated me very much. With felt disgusting I left from him."

"When people encounter this kind of blow, their temperament is easy to change. I heard his father say that he used to be more stable and sensible than Emilio. Now it's like this, it's a pity." Margaret said, and then she changed the conversation, "I thought that I would treat him, but now I have more than enough strength."

Avery was puzzled.

"My hands...have been shaking uncontrollably for the past two years...it used to be only a slight tremor, but the impact was not very big. Recently, it was probably overworked, so the tremors became more and more serious. You are still young, and you may not understand that an elderly person like us may wake up one day and find that there is a new problem with your body."

Margaret raised her right hand and glanced.

Avery immediately said with embarrassment: "I'm sorry, I didn't know there was something wrong with your hand. I came here today mainly to visit you. I promised to treat Caleb yesterday, so I won't regret it."

"You come to see me. Are you here to ask me for guilt?" Margaret raised her brows and teased, "Travis came back yesterday and asked me if I had slapped you before... You really hold a lot of revenge! If it wasn't for you to mention it, I would have forgotten about it."

"Ms. Gomez, if I was so upset because of the slap that you slapped me in the first place, I would have gone to you for revenge, why should I wait until now?" Avery continued in a calm tone, "Every time my mentor mentioned you before his death, it was always a compliment. I naturally won't be angry with you because of this trivial matter."

Margaret heard the word 'mentor', and the expression on her face suddenly turned cold.

Margaret: "Don't mention that dead man in front of me again and again!"

Avery: "Although my mentor is dead but he will always live in my heart."

"He is just a sc*mbag! You worship him so much, don't you know his true colors?" Margaret glanced at the diamond ring on the ring finger of her right hand, and said, "He accepted my confession on the front foot, and married another woman on the back foot."

Avery was stunned: "What you said is true?"

"Otherwise, why did he not dare to see me? Because he did not dare to face me!" Margaret said more and more angrily, "I, Margaret, have always been open and upright, and I'm definitely not someone who can't get involved with others, but Professor Hough...he owes me an explanation! I have an opinion! I call him a sc*mbag, right?!"

"If what you said is true, then Professor Hough must have something to hide."

Avery was reluctant to accept that her teacher was a sc*mbag.

From her contact with Professor Hough to the sudden death of Professor Hough, she has always respected him very much in the whole process of getting along.

Avery: "Even if he has something to hide, it's a fact that he hurt me! I just want an explanation but he doesn't explain it to me, and he doesn't make it clear to others, so that others think it's me. Ms. Gomez, who is entangled with him! Who is he? You don't pretend to be a gentleman in front of you, but with me, even if he jumps into the Yellow River, he can't clear the fact that he is a sc*mbag! Ms. Gomez, Professor Hough died of a sudden illness. If he didn't die, maybe he would explain to you..."

"Avery, you are exactly the same as your teacher, it's disgusting!" Margaret's mouth rose and she mocked, "If you don't mention him, I can still talk to you. In the future, if you dare to come to me again and ask him, I will directly ask the Jones family's bodyguard to throw you out!"

Avery saw Margaret's anger and her face burning, and immediately stood up from the sofa and strode away.

After Avery left, Travis walked downstairs.

Travis: "Margaret, why are you losing your temper so early in the morning? Who made you angry?"

Margaret stood up from the sofa and said with a charming face: "except Avery, who else would dare to be so presumptuous in front of me! If I knew earlier, I should have killed her directly in the basement. I didn't expect her life to be so big, and she would be so arrogant. I can escape."

Travis walked to Margaret's side, wrapped his arms around her waist, and said dotingly, "It's not that Avery has a big life. It can only be said that she has a good life and can give birth to such an excellent son. This point, I I really admire it."

Margaret: "Hayden Tate is really good. But he is usually elusive, and I haven't even found a single photo of his face until now.”

Chapter 2020

“He is a top hacker. He has the intention not to let others find his photos on the Internet, then we will definitely not see his photos.” Travis took his girlfriend’s hand and walked towards the restaurant, “Let’s go have breakfast. Let’s go!”

“I don’t have any appetite...but, I’ll accompany you to eat!” Although Margaret was mad at Avery, she felt a lot less angry when she thought that she now had a trump card in her hand.

...

Avery came out of Jones’s house and got into the car.

The bodyguard asked, “Boss, where are you going?”

Avery didn’t know where to go. She was very upset.

“Come on!” Avery replied.

“Oh... Then let’s go to the Dream Maker Factory?” The bodyguard was particularly interested in the Dream Maker Factory. It would be nice if he could follow Avery to go inside.

Avery didn’t listen to the bodyguard carefully, so she didn’t answer.

The bodyguard thought Avery agreed, so he happily drove the car towards the Dream Makers Group.

Avery took out her mobile phone, opened the address book, and found the phone number of Professor Hough’s son.

She was afraid that she would rashly call and disturb the other party, so she chose to send a message to ask for the contact information of the wife.

After seeing her message, the other party didn’t ask her what to do with her mother’s contact information, but directly sent her her mother’s contact information.

Avery dialed the number after thanking him back.

“Avery, are you looking for me?” The person over the phone spoke first.

Avery: “Master, I didn’t disturb you, did I?”

“How could it be? I’m retired now, and I have a lot of free time every day. It’s a pity that I’m not in Bridgedale now, otherwise I’ll definitely call you to come and sit at home.”

Avery: “Master, when I have time in the future, I will definitely visit you. I called you today because I saw Margaret today. She told me that Professor Hough had lost her, and I don’t believe it.”

“Margaret? How did you meet her?”

Avery: “Margaret is now with Travis, the owner of MH Medicine. And I was investigating the Jones family recently, so I met her today.” Avery explained, “Master, what Margaret said is false, right? You and my teacher are in love and harmony...”

“What she said is true.” The mother interrupted her, “I told Professor Hough. It’s the life of my parents, it’s hard to disobey.”

Margaret’s anger suddenly appeared in Avery’s mind.

“Your teacher is a filial son, so he married me. But he did bear Margaret, so he never knew how to face her.” The mother continued, “For several years after I got married to your teacher, Margaret often called me can’t be bothered to insult me. This woman is terrible, Avery, you’d better not provoke her. “

Chapter 2021

Dream Maker Group.

Avery got out of the car and saw the Dream Makers Group Building, and was a little stunned: "Why did you come here?"

"Boss, didn't you say you came here?" The bodyguard was stunned for a moment.

"Have I said that?" Avery rubbed her temples, not remembering it at all.

"You said you can go anywhere, I said come to the Dream Makers Group to see, you had no objection!" The bodyguard restored the matter.

"Oh... I was playing on my phone at the time, and I didn't hear what you said after that." Avery didn't want to come here, but since she's here, let's go and see Mike.

"Boss, I think you've been unhappy every day since you met with the Jones family. Are there people poisonous?" The bodyguard teased, "If you really think Elliot is in their hands, you can find someone to kidnap Travis and let him release Elliot."

Avery: "I just guess that Elliot is in his hands. I don't have any evidence to prove this, so I can't be too aggressive for the time being. The enemy is in the dark, we are in the light, so don't act rashly. I feel that Elliot is still alive, otherwise they wouldn't send me those two photos. What's the use of them wanting a dead person? If Elliot is really dead, they can completely return his bones to me."

"Boss, I think your analysis is reasonable. Since Elliot is not dead, then you shouldn't keep your face." The bodyguard was in a very good mood, "This building is really magnificent! If I don't become your bodyguard in the future, can you let me come to work here? I'm willing to even look at the door."

Avery: "Don't jump like that."

The bodyguard scratched his head embarrassedly: "I really think this place is very beautiful and has a sense of space and art."

Avery: "Then From today, you will be here to guard the gate!"

The bodyguard: "No no! Boss, what I said is that I will not be able to work by your side in the future..."

"Since you can't work by my side, how can you guard the gate here?" Avery retorted, "Are you dissatisfied with me? Would rather come here to guard the gate than follow me."

The bodyguard: "Boss! I didn't mean that! I'm loyal to you, how can you doubt me like this?"

Avery: "I'm kidding you. Do you want a new Dream Makers car?"

Bodyguard: "..."

Happiness comes so quickly that people are caught off guard.

The bodyguard wanted to refuse. After all, when he was in Yonroeville, Avery was almost killed due to his dereliction of duty. How could he dare to accept Avery's gift now?

"Thank you, boss!" Although the bodyguard was ashamed to receive the gift, but he really wanted it too much.

Avery took out her mobile phone, dialed Mike, and explained to him that he wanted to send a new car to the bodyguard.

Mike was puzzled: "That bodyguard of yours, used to be in Yonroeville..."

Avery: "I bought it for him with my own money, I didn't say it was free."

Mike: "Is it a question of money? It's a question of his work attitude..You treat him so well, but he neglects his duties..."

Avery: "He followed me everywhere for work. Never cry when tired, never complained. Never back down when faced with danger."

"You pay him such a high salary, what is there to shout about being tired."

Mike retorted.

Avery: "If it wasn't for money, why didn't he stay with his wife and children in

Aryadelle?"

Mike was persuaded, so he allocated the manager below to have them receive them.

Originally, Mike wanted to receive them in person, but Avery refused.

Avery didn't want to be too high-profile.

After a while, a supervisor found Avery and the bodyguard and took them to the car factory.

"Miss Tate, what kind of car do you want?" The supervisor asked hurriedly.

Avery looked at the bodyguard: "Aqi, what color does your wife like?"

"My wife?" The bodyguard was stunned, "Boss, what are you asking my wife for?"

Chapter 2022

Avery: "I'll give your wife a car! It suddenly occurred to me that you work by my side most of the year and rarely have time to take care of your family, so I bought a car for your wife."

After listening to Avery's explanation, The bodyguard's eyes suddenly turned red: "Boss, I thank you for my wife! In fact, she has always supported my work and is very grateful to you."

Avery: "What color does your wife like?"

Aqi: "Just white! White is simple and elegant."

The two chatted and followed the supervisor to the car factory.

Avery thought that she would see Emilio here.

She reached out and rubbed her eyes, and looked in Emilio's direction again

"Isn't that the second young master of the Jones family?" The bodyguard also saw Emilio, and did not doubt that he was blindsided, "Why is he here?"

“Mr. Jones booked a car with us a while ago. I guess he came to see the car today.” The supervisor replied, “Do you know each other?”

Avery replied.

Not far away, Emilio heard the movement on their side, so he looked towards them. Seeing Avery, his eyes lit up and he immediately walked towards her.

“Avery, why are you here?” Emilio seemed to be very familiar with Avery, and the smile on his face was very confusing.

“Buy a car.” Avery replied, “Are you here to buy a car too?”

“Yes! Isn’t my dad going to marry Margaret? I ordered a car for Margaret as their wedding gift. Emilio said, “What color car do you want to order? I know their executives...”

“No need. I’ll just order an ordinary white car.” Avery accepted his kindness,

“Thank you!”

“You went to my dad’s house in the morning, are you happy to meet Margaret?” Emilio received a call from Avery early this morning, and Avery asked him to help lead the way to Travis’s residence.

Emilio didn’t want to help, but Avery begged him.

“Margaret said that her hands are shaking now and she can’t have surgery anymore. Have you heard of this?” Avery asked.

Emilio shook his head: “I only see Margaret at dinner occasionally. I didn’t hear she say this.”

“...Have you eaten lunch? I’ll invite you later! Thank you for your help this morning.” Avery invited.

“Okay! I happen to be hungry.” Emilio agreed. His narrow fox eyes turned for a moment, and he said again, “I heard that the canteen of this company is good, why don’t you invite me to eat here!”

Avery was stunned for a moment, then nodded.

“Then let’s go eat now! I got up too early in the morning and ate breakfast too early, so I’m very hungry now.” Emilio said, reaching out and grabbing Avery’s arm.

“You go to see the car with this supervisor, and I’ll go to the cafeteria with Emilio first. When you’re done with your work, go to the cafeteria to find me.”

Avery explained to the bodyguard.

The bodyguard didn’t dare to be careless: “Boss, just order a white car. I don’t need to look at the car. I’ll go to the cafeteria with you.”

Emilio saw her bodyguard follow and teased: “Your bodyguard is really responsible. During the day, can I still eat you?”

“Before my boss had an accident in Yonroeville, it happened during the day.”

The bodyguard rushed back.

“Yes, it’s better to be careful.” Emilio retracted his gaze.

After the group arrived at the cafeteria, Avery and Emilio took their plates and went to cook.

“Why did your father hurt your elder brother, can you tell me?” Avery asked Emilio in a low voice.

Chapter 2023

“Avery, do you know why I asked you to invite me to the cafeteria?” Emilio asked back.

Avery: “Why?”

“Because I know you will ask me about these sensitive topics.” Emilio’s eyes read, “I have seen you through a long time ago, “The bodyguards who protect me have my dad’s eyeliner in them.”

Avery: “.....”

This is what she never thought of.

“My dad sent someone to monitor me under the guise of protecting me. Do you still think it’s weird that he attacked my eldest brother?” Emilio said in a low voice, the corners of his mouth raised.

He seems to have long looked down on such an abnormal father-son relationship.

Avery: “But there has to be a reason, right? Although I don’t talk to your dad much, but your dad is a normal person after all...”

“You don’t think of him as a normal person, then everything that happened in the Jones family, you can understand.” Emilio said and started cooking.

Avery’s eyes moved from his face to the vegetable cooking window in front.

After preparing the dishes, the two found a corner and sat down.

The two of them knew nothing about it, and found a place where people were sitting at the adjacent tables.

Chapter 2024

In this way, Emilio’s bodyguard can only sit a little farther away.

“You said that your father is abnormal, what kind of abnormality? Does he have a mental illness? Does Margaret know?” Avery felt like a melon eater at the moment. She originally investigated the Jones family to find out the whereabouts of Elliot. But now, she felt that what happened to the Jones family was completely beyond her imagination.

If Travis is not a normal person, then Elliot’s situation becomes even more dangerous!

“It’s not as exaggerated as you think. I don’t think he’s mentally ill. He should have become more inflated and extreme after he became rich... He thought he was omnipotent... Probably it’s also because the people around him are holding him, so his behavior is getting weirder.” Emilio said.

“Since Travis’s not mentally ill, why did he kill your elder brother? There must be a reason, right?” Avery breathed a sigh of relief.

As long as Travis is not a psychopath, then Elliot may still be saved.

Emilio: “My eldest brother fell in love with someone he shouldn’t...”

“Women?” Avery frowned.

“Yes. That woman used to have a good relationship with my father. But there is no distinction. My eldest brother had a good relationship with that woman half a year ago... In fact, my eldest brother also knows that once my father finds out about this, my father will definitely want to get angry. So they fell in love secretly, but my dad found out.”

Avery thought it was outrageous and absurd: “That woman had a good time with your dad, but she didn’t have a name or distinction. Later, she broke up and talked to your eldest brother. Falling in love...I think it’s a bit awkward, but as long as they don’t feel inappropriate...your dad won’t be...”

“After my dad found out about this, he let the bodyguards beat my eldest brother and I was there at the time.” Emilio smiled bitterly, and continued, “what does this have to do with me? He called me specifically to let me see my eldest brother’s fate with my own eyes... A beating is not enough. When the driver took my eldest brother to the hospital, he sent a bodyguard and rammed my eldest brother’s car.”

Avery was horrified, and her back was sweating: “Your father is definitely sick...this is sick! I used to think Elliot was a devil...but he is far less cruel and ruthless than your father!”

“He didn’t kill my elder brother. It shows that he still thinks about father and son in his heart. Love it! Otherwise, my eldest brother would have died long ago.” Emilio ate with relish, as if he was not disgusted by this at all.

Avery has completely lost her appetite. She unscrewed the cap of the water bottle and took a sip of water.

Chapter 2025

“But I still can’t figure it out... If what you said is true, why did your dad come to beg me to cure your elder brother?” Avery murmured, “Do you regret the initial atrocity?”

“You think too much. There is no word regret in my dad’s dictionary. I don’t know why he asked you to save my elder brother, but it must not be what you think.” Emilio said firmly.

Avery looked at Emilio’s face and was fascinated.

“If you keep looking at me and don’t eat, my bodyguard will be suspicious.”

Emilio reminded her in a low voice, “If you want to continue the investigation, you’d better not be angry.”

Emilio reminded her to let her Avery immediately recovered.

She gave Emilio a smile, then picked up the chopsticks and started to eat.

Avery: “After hearing you say so much, it feels like your life is not easy! If you make a mistake one day, will your dad treat you like your elder brother?”

Emilio: “Yes.”

“Your dad should be cautious. Think about it? You are his last son. If you are tossed away, who will his family property be left to in the future? Didn’t you say that he prefers sons to daughters?”

“He’s not the kind of person who cares about things after death. Maybe he will squander his property as much as possible before he dies.” Emilio shrugged, “But as long as I don’t make mistakes, he won’t touch me either. At least he hasn’t looked for me in the years I went back to Jones’s house. To me, he can be regarded as a kind father.”

“That’s good, so when you find a girlfriend in the future, you must first inquire clearly to see if the other party has any relationship with your father before.”

Avery reminded kindly.

Emilio: “Hahaha...I’m not interested in women.”

Avery was stunned: “You, do you like men?”

“How can you make up your mind so much? I don’t like women and also don’t like men. Born in such a family, it’s not bad that I’m not tired of the world. If I change to someone with less mental capacity, I’m afraid I’ll go crazy early.”

Emilio said, the food on his plate has been swept away.

Avery felt a little embarrassed about this topic, so she changed the topic:

“You have such a good appetite.”

“The food here is really good. Maybe I’m too hungry. Can you tell me in advance when you ask me for help next time? When Emilio said this, he yawned, “I’m going back to catch up on sleep.”

“Well, let’s go! If I have any questions I don’t understand in the future, I’ll ask you again.” Avery saw him getting more and more pleasing to the eye.

Probably the more she knows about his family, the more pitiful she feels.

Or maybe it was because Emilio said that he was not interested in women, so he let go of his guard.

“Avery, although I’m not interested in women, my mother keeps forcing me to start a family. So I should still find a woman to start a family. I think you’re good... First of all, you have nothing to do with my father, this is greatly reduced my troubles...”

“Shut up!” Avery’s affection for him disappeared in an instant.

“Hahaha! Then I’m leaving!” After Emilio turned around, his bodyguards immediately followed.

Seeing them disappear in front of her eyes, Avery was always uneasy.

“Boss, what are you talking about with him, I see you being happy for a while and frowning...” The bodyguard sat down in Emilio’s place.

“Nothing to talk about.” Avery took chopsticks and dialed it unconsciously on the plate.

Avery was thinking why Travis wanted to find herself to treat Caleb.

What kind of medicine is in Travis’s gourd?

After a while, her cell phone rang.

It was Travis who called.

Chapter 2026

Avery gave the bodyguard a wink and made the bodyguard quiet.

She took her mobile phone, came out of the cafeteria, and answered the phone.

Travis: “Miss Tate, I sent someone to take Caleb to the hospital today. I heard that he lost his temper with you yesterday, so don’t talk to him in the same way. After he had a car accident, he had a mental problem. I hired a psychiatrist for him but it didn’t work very well. Now it’s up to you to see if you can cure him.”

“Okay, I’ll go to the hospital later.” Avery calmly replied.

“Well, then my son will leave it to you. If you have any needs in the future, feel free to contact me. If I can’t get through on the phone, you can call my assistant.” Travis said kindly.

“Okay. I took the liberty to visit Ms. Gomez this morning, and I’m very sorry.” Avery said.

“Haha, after I got up, Margaret told me. But she didn’t blame you, she only hated Professor James Hough.” Travis said cheerfully, “Professor James Hough is dead, the past is over. As long as you stay away in the future She met Professor James Hough in front of her, and she was still very easy to get along with.”

“Well. Today, I am abrupt. I don’t know what they were like before, so I made the wrong thing to make Ms. Gomez unhappy.” Avery said, then she changed the topic, “I came to buy a car today and met your second son.”

The reason why Avery took the initiative to say it was because Emilio said that Travis arranged eyeliner to be by his side. Presumably Travis already knew about this.

“Yeah! I also had a meal with him.” Avery wanted to chat more with Travis, she wanted to know more about this person.

“Haha, you are both peers and classmates. The most important thing is, are you both single now? In fact, If you are with Emilio, I will support it. Emilio has a very high vision, and ordinary women can’t get in at all but when I saw him mentioning you, there was light in his eyes, he must have liked you very much.”

Avery pondered for a moment, and said, “I have to find my ex-husband before I can think about other things. I also think that Emilio is not bad, I had some misunderstandings about him before, but now I get along with him, and I feel that he is not what I imagined.”

“Isn’t your ex-husband looking for him? Could it be that you can’t find your exhusband, and you have been living your own life?” Travis wondered, “If I had a personality like yours, I would be exhausted. I have a lot of ex-wives. After divorce, they don’t interfere with each other...”

Avery: “I have two children and they are raised by Foster. My situation is not the same as yours. My two children like him very much and can’t live without him..."

Travis said, "Hehe, what's the difference. I have children too. The ex-wife raises them, and I give them living expenses every month. You don't only have those two children. You want as many children as you want, and it's better if you continue to have children in the future. Why bother your exhusband to affect your future? "

"Mr. Jones, you are right. But I already have some clues now." Avery said this deliberately, wanting to see how Travis would react.

"Really? Miss Tate, You're really amazing." Travis said calmly, "Where is your ex-husband now?"

Avery: "There are only a few clues now. When I find my ex-husband, I will tell you. If you're interested."

"Oh..." Travis didn't say anything else.

Avery felt like a stone was blocked in her heart, which was very uncomfortable and panicked.

After hanging up, she saw a message from Mike.

Mike asked where she was now.

After she called Mike back and told him her location, Mike quickly found her.

"Emilio is left?" Mike called her when they're together at noon. Avery said that she and Emilio had dinner together, so Mike could only give up.

Chapter 2027

"Well." Avery glanced at the time and said, "I'm going back for lunch break."

"Hey, it's hard to come here and you don't even meet me, are you too heartless?" Mike now has a two-hour lunch break.

Aver: "I'm afraid you'll disturb your work and you keep saying you're busy..."

"There's still time to meet and chat with you." Mike took her to his office and sat down, "Order the car.Are you alright?"

Avert: "No! When we were going to see the car, we happened to bump into Emilio, so we were delayed."

"Leave this to me." Mike said, looking at the bodyguard, "Tell me your address. The car will be delivered directly to your house."

Aqi: "Thank you, Mr. Mike!"

Mike looked at Avery again: "What did you talk to Emilio?"

"Caleb's car accident was caused by Travis. Travis must be a psychological problem." Avery whispered,

"There are so many children in the Jones family who died, I suspect that Travis killed them."

With a 'puff, Mike almost vomited out his lunch at noon the bodyguard left, Avery looked over in his office, and then sat down on the sofa.

"I think your guess is too scary. Did you tell Emilio? What did he say?"

"I didn't tell him this...I think he must have no idea, He said his father is good for him." Avery had a headache, "If Travis is really a pervert, then Elliot will be more fortunate. I can't guess the reason why kidnapped Elliot."

"You said that Travis was a pervert, then How can you guess his motive?"

Mike stood with his hands on his hips and stood in front of her, "According to the information I found, I didn't say he was a pervert!"

Avery said, "You didn't find out that Travis did Caleb's car accident. Many things, From the surface, there is no problem. I remember reading a report of a perverted murderer a few years ago. The murderer killed many people more than ten years ago, and the police have not found the murderer, Do you know why the murderer couldn't be found?"

Mike: "Because there was no surveillance installed more than ten years ago."

Avery glared at him: "Because the murderer is a well-known honest person from the neighbors. No one thought of it. He turned out to be that perverted murderer.”

“But Travis's image in front of outsiders is not an honest person.”

“I’m just making an analogy. There must be a problem with the Jones family dying so many children. If it were another rich man. Family, whenever there is one or two murders in the family, security will be strengthened to prevent similar incidents from happening again. But the Jones family does not. It means that Travis doesn't care.”

“Avery, you are right. There must be something wrong with this Travis.” Mike didn't think about it at first, but after listening to Avery's analysis, his mind opened instantly.

“ So I want to rescue Elliot as soon as possible, Jones's family is a devil's den, more terrifying than the basement in the suburbs of Yonreeville!” Avery was stuck in her throat.

Chapter 2028

Aryadelle.

Norah has been restless these days and can't do anything to lift her spirits.

Since her mother told her that

Travis was her biological father, she felt her beliefs collapsed and began to doubt herself.

Along the way, if Travis hadn't helped her secretly, she would never have achieved what she is now.

She used to mack Avery privately for being a woman who relies on men, but now, what's the difference between her and Avery?

“Ms. Jones, have you encountered any troubles?” The assistant asked carefully when she saw that she was gloomy.

Norah picked up the coffee cup and took a sip.

“If one day your mother tells you that you are not your father's biological child, and that your father is someone else, what would you do?” Norah confided, “The premise is that your father has always been kind to you, and He doesn't know that you're not his biological daughter.”

The assistant was stunned for a moment, then looked tangled and contradicted: “This is too bloody! I've only seen such a situation in TV dramas. Ms. Jones, if this happened it on me, I will definitely feel bad... because my father loves me very much. I think the relationship between people. Blood is only a factor, what affects the relationship between people, the more important thing is the day after tomorrow *

“What I said just now is what I'm experiencing now.” Norah pulled out a mocking smile, “I am not afraid that you will laugh at me, I always thought my mother was a virtuous housewife. Since then, my mother has never gone to work. Occasionally, I go to work because it is so boring at home. My father has always supported our family.”

The assistant: “Ms. Jones, why would I laugh at you? You can't control this kind of thing. In fact, you don't need to be too sad. If you don't like your biological father, then don't pay attention to him.

“Is your father rich?” Norah asked the core question that troubled him, “One is rich but has no feelings, and the other has no money but has feelings.”

“Then have both! As long as your original father doesn't money then it's fine.”

The assistant started thinking, “Ms. Jones, how rich is your biological father? If he is willing to recognize you, you can agree. Why do you have to deal with money?”

Norah: "He has many children and he didn't want to recognize me that much. He already knew my existence and helped me secretly. But he never came to see me..."

The assistant took a breath and asked curiously: "Ms. Jones, who is your biological father? As you said he is very rich, he must be very rich..."

"He doesn't recognize me, what's the point of knowing his name?" Norah Putting her head on her hands, she was a little troubled, "I'm probably thinking of it. Today, I want my biological father to help me complete the gambling agreement I signed with Foster, so that I can win the Tate Industries."

"Ms, Jones, I think your idea is very good. Even if you don't go to him as a daughter, you can go to him and talk about your ideas, As long as the benefits you give are big enough, I'm not afraid that he won't be moved." The assistant gave Norah a message idea.

Norah: "Do you think I haven't thought about it? I just can't hold my face... He knows that I'm his daughter, but he has never come to see me for so many years. I'm very chilled."

"Ms. Jones, You also said that he has many children. In a wealthy family, children compete with each other to please their parents. You don't have to be embarrassed, as long as this matter is beneficial to you, it is not shabby to be embarrassed. You are better than your biological father's other children, and your biological father will naturally treat you differently." The assistant enlightened.

After Norah was relieved, he felt much more at ease.

Afternoon.

Norah received a call from her uncle.

"Norah, are you free this evening? I'm here with your aunt, and you're there with Katalina now. If you have nothing else to do at night, let's have a meal together!" Katalina's father, Lincoln Larson said.

"Okay, I'll book a hotel, and I'll treat you in the evening." Norah said enthusiastically.

Lincoln: "Hey, it would be nice if you were half sensible."

"Uncle, don't be angry yet. However, she haven't married that bodyguard yet! It's still too late. But don't be so tough with your auntie. " Norah said, "Of course, she is no longer a child. It's useless for you to threaten her."

Lincoln: "I'll listen to you."

In the evening.

Primary School.

Katalina was arranging the documents on the desktop in the office, and she didn't want to get off work for a long time.

Chapter 2029

Katalina saw a message from her father, saying that he is now waiting for her in her rented house with her mother.

She thought that after breaking up with her mother last time, her father would not take care of her anymore.

Because her father's mind has always been on his younger brother, and he has never cared and educated her much.

Katalina couldn't guess what her father's attitude would be when she came over this time. Will she be scolded, and then forcibly take her back to Bridgedale?

Thinking of this, her headache rose.

"Teacher Larson." Layla's voice suddenly came from the door of the office.

Katalina looked towards the door, saw Layla, and immediately walked over.

“Layla, why are you here? Are there any questions that you can't do?”

Layla shook her head: “Teacher Larson, yesterday was Teacher's Day, I was at school yesterday. I made a small gift for you late.”

Layla said, and handed the card in her hand to Katalina.

Katalina took the card, opened it and glanced at it.

Katalina: “This is the most beautiful greeting card I've ever received. I'll definitely keep it well.”

Aqi mocked: “It's the first time you've been a teacher, this is the first time you've received a gift from a student in your teaching career!”

Katalina: “This is the most beautiful greeting card I've ever received. I'll definitely keep it well.”

Aqi mocked: “It's the first time you've been a teacher, this is the first time you've received a gift from a student in your teaching career!”

Katalina: “Some parents started wishing me a happy Teacher's Day a week ago. Others asked their students to bring me gifts, but I took them away. I prefer handmade gifts like Layla's.”

Aqi laughed again: “ You see, the card has Layla's signature on it. Do you know how much Layla's autograph sells for? If you sell this card, you can get a lot of money.”

Katalina: *...”

Layla: “Teacher Larson, don't sell it yet. I will definitely become more popular in the future. When I become more famous, this card will be more valuable.”

Katalina: *...”

Katalina was a little embarrassed, wanted to laugh, and moved.

After sending Layla and Aqi away, Katalina received a call from her father.

Katalina carried her bag and walked towards the rented house.

Both her parents and Norah were there.

Katalina was upset, thinking that they would carry out a crusade against her father.

At this time, her father said, "Of course, your mother talked a lot last time. I have already told her. Let's go to dinner first and chat while eating."

Katalina followed them to the restaurant they ordered.

After arriving at the private room, the waiter quickly served the dishes.

"Of course, don't get angry with your parents. They love you very much.

Otherwise, your father wouldn't leave his job and come to you." Norah acted as a middle person, and said to ease the atmosphere, "If you don't want to go back with them, Okay, you quit your current job and come to work in our company. With me taking care of you, your parents won't force you to go back or get married."

Katalina: "Cousin, I'll talk to my parents, Okay?"

"Well." Norah thought she would thank herself. Who knows, she changed her face instantly.

Chapter 2030

"However, what is your attitude? Your cousin knows that you want to stay in Aryadelle, so she wants you to stay in Aryadelle. we've decided not to be too cruel to you. If you don't thank her, it's fine. How can you keep your face? Do you think your cousin is forcing you to work under her? She's helping you! Can a cat or a dog go to work in your cousin's company? If you were not our daughter, with your ability, you would not be able to join your cousin's company!"

Lincoln couldn't bear it any longer and reprimanded his daughter.

Laurel wanted to hold back and not speak, but her daughter's attitude really made people angry.

Laurel asked, "Katalina, you look like a different person! Who turned you into this? Is that the bodyguard?"

"Mom! Since the last time you came to my school to make trouble, Layla no longer wants me to tutor. Her bodyguards don't meet anymore, why do you still pour dirty water on others?" Katalina said angrily.

"Oh, it's such a pity to hear your tone! You're quite proud of you for free tuition for others! No one else wants you to teach, so don't show that kneeling and licking look! I can't afford to lose you and your mother." The blue veins on Lincoln's forehead swelled with anger, if it wasn't for Norah's presence, he might have had a seizure.

Katalina felt the dislike of her parents, and was very heartbroken: "Dad, Mom, do you think it looks good when you kneel and lick my cousin?"

"Of course, how can you talk like that!" Norah frowned and said seriously, "They are your parents, not your enemies!"

Katalina said, "Cousin, I'm telling the truth. How many times have they said in front of me that I'm not as good as you and if I could have half of you? They think my self-esteem is worthless, as long as I can please You, they can belittle me at will. I sometimes felt that I had no heart, so that I can happily take the pocket money they gave, and I can happily think that this is not compensation, but because they are sincerely love me."

Norah was irritated, her cheeks flushed: "Since you have such strong selfesteem, don't take the pocket money given by your parents! You question their feelings for you while taking the money they gave you. Do you think you have no conscience?"

"I kept all the money they gave me..." After Katalina replied to Norah's words, she took out a card from her bag and put it on the table, "Dad, this is the card you gave me before, this is the card with your ID card, and the password is also set by you. You can find out how much money is in it at any time. Now it's back to you."

Lincoln did not expect his daughter to become saying these words in front of an outsider. All of a sudden, his face blushed.

Norah was also a little embarrassed.

This cousin seems to be different from what she imagined.

"However, do you really want to cut ties with your parents when you do this?"

Norah said calmly, "Even if they hurt your heart sometimes, you can't only think about their bad things. They also have when I'm nice to you."

"It wasn't me who said I wanted to cut the relationship. It was my mother."

Katalina said firmly, "You all blame me, as if I made a big mistake."

"No one said you made a big mistake. You're working at school, it's too hard, your parents are worried, it's normal. If you work under me, I will definitely not make you feel wronged, why do you have to refuse?" Norah asked.

"Cousin, I don't want to get too close to you." Katalina said coldly.

"Why?!" The two elders of the Larson family and Norah said in unison.

Katalina looked at Norah's delicate face and said word by word, "When I went to your house for the first time, I heard you talking on the phone. Avery and Foster were in danger in Yonroeville and you did it. Cousin, I...I will never be able to be as successful as you. Because I can't be like you, I can get my hands covered with blood."

The two elders of the Larson family: *..."

Norah; "!!!!"

Katalina finished speaking, before they recovered from the shock, they left the private room with their bags.

Not long after, the two elders of the Larson family chased out of the private room and chased after their daughter's rented house.

“However, you must not say anything about your cousin!” Laurel pleaded with tears in her eyes, “You can't hurt your cousin! After your cousin's success, she has always been willing to stay close to our family. If she develops better in the future, she will definitely help us.”

Lincoln and his wife were in the same mood. How can there be a reason not to help parents?

Chapter 2031

“If you want to stay in Aryadelle to teach, then you continue to teach here. | and your father will not force you But you can't mess around with important matters in your life.” Laurel compromised, “Of course, you and Avery are not related to each other, so you can't understand it clearly! If you harm your cousin, it will become curse to our family.”

“Let's go!” Katalina didn't want to hear their threats and curses, “If you don't leave, I'll call Avery right away!”

Katalina took her husband away immediately.

Bridgedale.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Avery came to the hospital to visit Caleb.

Avery pushed open the door of the ward and met Caleb's gaze.

“Miss Tate, | have something to tell you alone.” Caleb was lying on the hospital bed and said calmly, “I have figured out the transaction you mentioned.”

Avery glanced at the bodyguard beside her and asked him to wait outside the door.

The bodyguard walked out the door and closed the door of the ward.

“Young Master Jones, tell me!” Avery walked to the bedside and stood still, waiting for him to decide.

Caleb's eyes fixed on Avery's face, and he said slowly, “Miss Tate, my waist is a little sore. Please help me put the quilt behind my waist!”

Avery can naturally help him with this small request.

She held the quilt at the end of the bed to his side, trying to lift his body up a bit, but only when her hand touched his body, she felt something sharp against her waist.

She lowered her eyes in astonishment and saw Caleb's hand holding a sharp dagger.

The dagger pressed against her waist, as if to say, as long as you move again, | will kill you at any time!

Avery was a little surprised, but not so surprised.

“Caleb, | have no grievances with you...” Avery's heart beat faster, but she wasn't so scared.

“Avery, you have offended someone.” Caleb stabbed the dagger into her light clothes.

She felt pain.

“Who did | offend?” Avery had already guessed that it was not Caleb who wanted to take her life, but...Travis.

Because it wasn't Caleb who invited her to heal, it was Travis.

And what Travis did, just confirmed that Elliot was in his hands!

At noon, she deliberately told Travis that she already had some clues, and now Travis couldn't wait to kill her.

Caleb: “You know who you have offended! Miss Tate, | have no choice but to kill you right now.”

After Caleb's voice was settled, Avery exclaimed: "Aha Help!....Help me Aqi..."

Outside the ward, the bodyguard heard Avery's cry for help, and immediately kicked the ward door and tushed in!

Chapter 2032

The bodyguard saw the knife in Caleb's hand and inserted it into Avery's body.

Avery's clothes were stained red with blood! But luckily it's not in the heart!

The bodyguard picked up the vase on the table and was about to smash it at Caleb.

Avery immediately grabbed the bodyguard's arm and stopped him.

"Take me to stap the bleeding!"

After the bodyguard came in, Caleb let go of the dagger. Now that the dagger was stuck an Avery's body, she felt the blood kept flowing out.

The bodyguard threw the vase on the hospital bed, then picked Avery up and took her away quickly, "Boss, are you okay?" The bodyguard was vaguely uneasy.

"Flesh wounds...it won't kill me."

Avery's mood was unusually calm. As if it wasn't her who was hurt.

"Boss, why are you so calm? Why don't you let me teach that o*stard? He actually assassinated you, I really want to go and kill him!"

The bodyguard was angry.

"If he really wanted to kill me, he wouldn't put a knife in my stomach."

Avery whispered, "It was Travis who wanted to kill me, not Caleb."

"Boss, this Travis is too arrogant! We can't be bullied for nothing!"

The bodyguard could not wait to Dring a large group of people to Jones's house to seek revenge on Travis.

"Elliot is in his hands."

Avery said firmly, "I can't trouble Travis now. I have to rescue Elliot first..."

"Let Elliot's men come down and surround the Jones family and force them to let them go!"

The bodyguard said anxiously.

"I don't have any evidence to prove that Elliot is in their hands. So I can't do it."

Avery was also anxious, but it was of no avail.

"Now I rashly question Travis, he will not admit it. Once he admits it, he will surely die. If he doesn't admit it, he can seek police protection."

"What a headache!"

The bodyguard quickly went to the emergency room with Avery in his arms.

The doctor pulled out the dagger from Avery's body, quickly cleaned the wound, stopped the bleeding, and then bandaged it.

"Prescribe some medicine and take it back to eat. Rest in bed for the past few days, be careful of the wound tearing."

The doctor advised.

Avery: "Um."

The bodyguard took the order from the doctor and went to get the medicine.

After taking the medicine, the bodyguard helped Avery out of the hospital.

At this time, it was already dark, but the blood on Avery's clothes was clearly visible.

"Go to the clothing store and buy a set of clothes to change."

Avery didn't want to go home like this.

"Boss, lie down in the car, and I'll buy you clothes."

After the bodyguard helped Avery to sit in the car, he asked her the size she was wearing, and then went to a nearby clothing store.

The bodyguard was very upset.

Looking at Avery's appearance, he definitely didn't intend to let Mike and Hayden know about it.

The bodyguard was out of breath, took out his mobile phone, sent a message to Mike, and told everything that happened just now.

Jones family.

Caleb's assassination failed, and the news quickly reached Travis's ears.

Travis was furious and scolded the trash, "I can't handle such a trivial matter. I don't think he has to live!"

Travis calmed his killing intent.

Margaret walked up to Travis and patted him on the shoulder: "Avery must be very careful now after her accident in Yonroeville last time.

Caleb didn't succeed, so I can't blame him completely."

"I will not let the people who betray me have a good end."

Travis sneered, "Even if I keep him alive, I will let him live rather than die."

Chapter 2033

"Travis, don't be angry about such a trivial matter."

Margaret brought him a glass of water and handed it to him, "For who are you going to kill Avery this time? I didn't say you were going to kill her.

Travis: "I have a daughter named Norah. She did what happened in Yonroeville. I want to kill Avery because I was afraid she would find out about my daughter."

Margaret chuckled and said, "Don't you like to pay attention to your daughters?"

"Norah is different. She is now the head of the Tate Industries."

When Travis said this, a proud look flashed on his face, "She is even more capable than my two sons. I want to help her get rid of Avery."

In this way, she can successfully take down the Tate Industries.

"That's it. But if you help her get rid of Avery, what benefit can she give you?"

You haven't recognized this daughter, have you? If you helped her and she didn't recognize you in the end, wouldn't you be doing your job in vain?"

Margaret reminded, "Killing Avery, you have to bear a lot of pressure!"

Travis: "Isn't this unsuccessful?"

"Are you still planning to continue?"

Margaret looked at his profile, "Don't affect my plan for your daughter. I don't allow anyone to destroy my good deeds."

Travis: "Margaret, don't worry.

Even if I want to kill Avery, I won't let anyone else catch anything."

When Avery came home, it was already 7:00 p.m. This time was neither too early nor too late.

In the yard, Mike's car was parked, as well as a car specially designed to pick up Hayden.

Avery glanced at the bodyguard.

The bodyguard pretended not to see her sight and turned his head to the other side.

Avery immediately understood that the bodyguard had told Mike and Hayden about the matter.

Mike and Hayden immediately walked out of the living room after hearing the sound of parking in the yard.

"Mam!"

Hayden quickly ran to Avery and took a look at Avery's stomach.

"Small injury."

Avery pulled out a smile, "It will be fine in a few days."

Bodyguard: "As long as you're not dead, you're talking about minor injuries. With so much blood, you'll have to rest at home for the next few days, the doctor said."

"What's the matter with you?"

Mike asked the bodyguard, "I asked you to protect Avery, but you hurt her again!"

"I..."

The bodyguard was speechless.

"It has nothing to do with Aqi. I asked Aqi to wait outside the ward. Caleb didn't want to take my life, it wasn't the point of injury."

Avery said, walking towards the living room, "If I am seriously ill, The doctor will put me in the hospital directly. Don't worry."

"How can I not be worried? Caleb didn't take your life, but Travis will definitely not give up."

Mike followed behind Avery and entered her room, "I've found ten other bodyguards, and starting tomorrow, they will take an inch Follow you incessantly."

Avery: "..."

Mike: "This is the decision I made after discussing with Hayden. Your resistance is invalid. Travis wants to kill you, and you must continue to investigate the Jones family. It is inevitable that you will continue to contact the Jones family....One bodyguard is not enough to keep you safe."

Avery walked to the closet and took out a set of pajamas from it.

"Understood, you go out! I want to rest."

Avery was very tired, probably due to blood loss.

"Avery, why don't you eat dinner? The nanny cooked porridge for you. You finish the porridge anyway."

Mike was afraid she would starve, Avery: "I'll take a shower and then eat."

"Oh...then pay attention when you take a bath, don't touch the wound. Or I'll ask the nanny to wash it for you."

Mike worried.

Avery sighed silently: "I really just have a small injury. If the injury is serious, I can't walk at all."

"Okay! Then go and wash! I'll bring the porridge out for you to cool down."

Mike came out of her room after explaining.

Chapter 2034

As soon as Mike came out, he ran into Hayden.

The two of them walked towards the dining room tacitly.

"Your mother said it's fine, but her face is all white. There must be a lot of blood out from her body."

Mike whispered.

"I won't let Old Man Jones go!" Hayden said coldly with a gloomy expression on his face.

"This matter needs to be well planned. Because your father is still in his hands, we are very passive now."

Mike analyzed, "Your father is your mother's heart disease now, we must first find out where Elliot is hidden, and then find a way to get rid of it. He was rescued. As long as he was rescued, there is no need to worry about how to deal with Travis in the future."

In the bedroom.

Avery washed her body casually, then put on loose pajamas and walked out.

The phone rang, she walked to the bed, picked up the phone, and saw that Travis was calling. She took a deep breath and answered the phone.

"Miss Tate, are you okay? I heard that Caleb suddenly went crazy and hurt you with a knife, he's crazy!"

Travis scolded and chattered and apologized to Avery, "Miss Tate, I'm so sorry. Are you OK? Where are you now? I'll go see you! "

"Mr. Jones, I'm fine. It's very late now, you should rest at home!"

Avery sat down beside the bed, her emotions calmed down, "Then I'll see you tomorrow. Where do you live? Is it convenient to tell me the address? I'm really sorry."

Travis spoke with sincerity.

After Avery told Travis her address, she hung up.

Travis's current achievements are absolutely inseparable from his invincible face.

After adjusting her emotions, Avery came out of the room.

Hayden was making a video call with Layla.

Seeing Avery coming, Mike immediately walked to her and supported her.

"We didn't tell Layla about your injury." Mike whispered.

"There's no need to tell Layla about such trivial matters."

Avery said, walked to Hayden, entered the camera, and greeted Layla,

"Layla, didn't you go to school today?"

"Mom, today is the weekend!"

Layla smiled cheerfully when she saw her mother, and then her face sank, "Mom, let me tell you, Ms.Larson's mother is so fierce! She ran to the school and took Teacher Larson Also Teacher Larson was slapped.She even forced Teacher Larson to resign but Teacher Larson didn't listen to her.Uncle Aqi said that Teacher Larson might have to cut ties with the family.She has to pay her parents money."

Avery was stunned for a moment: "Is Teacher Larson so miserable?"

"I want to find Teacher Larson again for tutoring.I want her to make some money." Layla said softly.

"If you want to help her, your mother will support you.But you don't want ta be alone with Teacher Larson.No matter where you go, you must be with Uncle Aqi, do you hear?"

Avery was afraid of her daughter's accident.

"Mom, I know."

Layla felt that her mother was a little nervous, so she instantly thought of her father, "Mom, have you found your father soon?"

"Yes, soon."

Avery replied without hesitation, "Mom has a strong premonition that your father is very close to me,"

Travis must be scared because he can't wait to kill her.

Layla laughed suddenly: "Mom, you are amazing! Others say that my dad is dead, but you are the only one who said that dad is not dead.Dad really listens to you.If you say he is not dead, I'm sure, he is not dead."

Avery: "Um."

Layla was in a good mood after talking to her mother about the video call.She dialed Katalina's number and asked Katalina to meet.

Chapter 2035

Katalina readily agreed to Layla's invitation.

Layla: "Teacher Larson, why don't you come to my house? I didn't treat you well during my last home visit!"

Katalina: "Will it be bad?"

Layla: "Teacher Larson, you can come! Uncle Aqi is resting today, and it is not convenient for me to go out. My mother said that if I go out, I must let Uncle Aqi follow me."

Katalina: "Is there only one bodyguard, Aqi, in your family?"

Layla: "Of course not! But I have the best relationship with Uncle Adi. If it wasn't for Uncle Aqi to protect me, I wouldn't like to go out."

"Okay! Then I'll find you."

Katalina was very honored to be invited by Layla.

An hour later, Katalina came to the community where Foster's family was with a bag of fruit.

Aqi picked her up at the gate of the community.

Katalina was stunned when she saw Aqi: "Didn't Layla say you are resting today?"

"Yeah. After Layla invited you, she called me to entertain you." Aqi said, and brought the fruit in her hand.

Katalina: "Will this bother you too much? If Layla is not free today, I can go back"

"It's all here, let's play for a while and then go!"

Aqi strode ahead and led the way.

Katalina quickened her pace and followed him.

"Aqi, can you wait for me?"

Katalina was sweating on her back as she walked.

Aqi stopped and looked back at her, frowning slightly: "How about...I'll carry you?"

Katalina: "..."

"Or wait here and I'll drive to pick you up?"

Aqi walked faster, so he forgot about Katalina's poor physical strength.

Katalina shook her head sharply, her face flushed: "You just need to walk a little slower. This weekend, there is nothing urgent, so you don't have to walk so fast."

"Layla wants you to continue tutoring her with her homework. She pays you. Think of a price first!"

Aqi Slowed down.

"Layla wants to help you, so you can pay a higher price."

Katalina's calm mood was instantly impacted after hearing Aqi's words.

Her nose was sour, and her eyes were wet.

"She knows that your parents are asking you for money, and she insists on helping you."

Aqi looked at the tears in her eyes and was a little overwhelmed, "Layla has always been so kind, you met her, Good luck to you."

Katalina turned around and wiped the tears from her face with both hands.

"You don't have to be so moved. Your parents asked you for 10 million, but Layla couldn't give you 10 million."

Aqi was a little stunned by her crying.

"Aqi, I feel so bad."

Katalina couldn't hold back her tears, so she turned around and looked at Aqi,

"Layla treats me better than my parents and cousin, but I hide this things from you."

The bewilderment on Aqi's face turned into a thick frost.

He gritted his teeth, waiting for her to continue, "Avery and Elliot had an accident in Yonroeville...I suspect my cousin did it.I went to her house as a guest at the time, she was talking on the phone in the bedroom, and I heard her talking to others...

..

She wants to fish out a person, help that person leave Yonroeville, and at the same time she wants that person to do things for her...At first I wasn't sure it was her, but the time matched.And after that, my cousin mentioned Elliot in front of me a few times...She told me for sure that Elliot was dead.She hated Elliot and Avery...So this matter, She must have done it."

After Katalina said the statement that she was holding in her heart, her whole body became lighter.

Chapter 2036

Even if she becomes the sinner of the family, at least she has a clear conscience! After hearing Katalina words, Aqi immediately took out his mobile phone and dialed Avery.

"Miss Tate, Katalina told me just now that you and my boss were designed by Norah in Yonroeville."

Aqi told her about it, "Katalina heard Norah talking on the phone with a person and colluded with Yonroeville.The time was just before the accident between you and my boss."

Avery was lying on the bed, her fingers holding the phone suddenly tightened.

Although she had long guessed in her heart that this matter might be related to Norah, but now that she heard the definite result, she still felt the pain of a knife twisting in her heart.

It was Elliot who single-handedly pulled Norah out.

Let Norah become the head of the Tate Industries. But Norah wanted to kill them both: How ironic! How absurd! If Elliot knew that everything was done by Norah, Avery doesn't know how Elliot would feel.

"Go and catch Norah immediately! Interrogate Elliot's whereabouts!"

Avery growled.

"Yes!"

After Aqi took the order, he strode towards Foster's house.

On the way back, Aqi told Ben Schaffer about this again.

After Ben Schaffer heard the incredible news, he gritted his teeth: "Aqi, I'll go find her with you. I know where Norah lives!"

Aqi: "I also know where she lives. Her cousin is with me now. I asked her cousin to take me there."

"Okay, you go first, I'll come later!"

Ben Schaffer was furious.

Norah is so brave! How dare she do this? Did she think her conspiracy was seamless and would never be discovered? Aqi directly started the car and took Katalina to Norah's house.

"You just need to take me to her community, and I'll go find her alone."

Aqi drove the car out quickly and spoke to Katalina.

Katalina told him about this, and he would not expose her.

After all, Norah is her cousin, and the two parents are relatively close.

"You go to my cousin, even if I don't show up, my cousin knows that I betrayed her."

Katalina didn't regret telling him about it, "In their eyes, I've been with you for a long time..."

Aqi: "What trouble do you have next, just tell me, I will make sure you won't be Dullied."

"I'm fine..."

Katalina lowered her head, feeling very depressed.

Norah will definitely not be able to get rid of the relationship, and she will definitely be regarded as an enemy by her parents and aunt's family.

Bridgedale.

Avery sat up after receiving the call from Aqi.

At this time, she was so anxious that she wished she was in the country, wished she could go to Norah to find out! She doesn't know how long it tooks, Aqi's phone called again. She answered the phone quickly.

"Miss Tate! Norah is not at home! She can't get through an her phone either! I suspect she may have run away!"

Avery felt dizzy when Aqi's voice came.

Just a little bit of eyebrows, but Norah ran away?

"Don't worry...I'm looking for someone at the airport to investigate to see if Norah has gone abroad...If Norah goes abroad, no matter where she goes, as long as she hasn't gotten off the plane, We can all intercept it."

Ben Schaffer's voice came.

"Miss Tate, I'll tell you when we have more news from our side." Aqi said.

Katalina stood beside him and wanted to talk to Avery.

Aqi looked at her expectant eyes and handed her the phone.

"Miss Tate, I'm Katalina. I'm sorry, I heard my cousin's call long ago, but I didn't tell you right away."

Katalina said with guilt, "If I had spoken earlier, maybe my cousin wouldn't have had time to run away."

Chapter 2037

Avery: "she is your cousin after all.I understand that you didn't tell me right away.When I return home, I will thank you in person."

Katalina: "No, no.I hope you can find Mr.Foster soon.That way I can feel better."

Avery: "Well, we'll definitely find him."

After a while, Ben Schaffer learned of Norah's movements from the airport.

Ben Schaffer called Avery: "Avery, Norah has gone to Bridgedale! She will land in an hour.Take someone to the airport to intercept her."

Avery took the mobile phone and walked out of the room.

The nanny heard the movement and came out.

"Miss Tate, where are you going? Aren't you injured?"

The nanny asked Avery in confusion when she saw that she was holding the car keys.

After the nanny asked, Mike walked out of the room.

Mike: "Avery, are you going out?"

Avery: "I'm going to the airport! Norah will land right away!"

"Norah? What are you looking for her for?"

Mike took her arm, "Have you forgotten your abdominal injury? You can't go out!"

"I have to go out! Elliot and I almost died in Yonroeville, and Norah did it! Her cousin heard her talking on the phone, and set this trap!"

Avery walked to the door and quickly changed her shoes.

Mike followed her into changing shoes.

"Norah...she should be Travis's daughter."

Mike told Avery the news he had just found, "I just found Norah is Travis's daughter tonight.I was going to tell you tomorrow."

"It's not surprising..."

Avery felt as if her heart was being clenched tightly, and it was about to be crushed, "I and Elliot were trapped in that basement, and most people couldn't find it there.Unless it's the one who set the trap!"

"Avery, you wait at home, I and the bodyguards will go to the airport to find Norah!

Mike was afraid that her wound would be torn, so he took her arm and wanted to keep her at home.

"No! I have to go and catch Norah myself! I want to know where Elliot was hidden by them! I don't want to wait for a second!"

Avery finished speaking and shook off Mike's arm.

Mike exhaled: "Okay, let's go together!"

After Mike helped her into the car, he started the car, and at the same time called the bodyguards and asked them to wait at the airport immediately.

After an hour, Norah's flight landed slowly at the airport in Bridgedale.

After Norah got off the plane, she turned an the phone.

Several missed calls jumped out.

There was a call from Ben Schaffer and a call from Katalina, The two of them called her together...something must have happened.

Norah gritted her teeth.

She knew that Katalina, a little b*tch, didn't like her, and she would definitely shake her affairs out! Fortunately, she runs fast, otherwise, if she stays in Aryadelle, it's not because they want to treat her as they want! Norah stood there and found Travis's phone and dialed it.

"Why hasn't Norah come out yet?"

Mike glanced at the time.

"Her flight has long since landed. Did she know that we were blocking her here, so she didn't dare to come out?"

"Shouldn't she ask Travis to protect her?"

The bodyguard expressed his guess.

"Travis doesn't seem to recognize her."

Mike felt uneasy in his heart.

Although Travis did not recognize Norah, over the years, Travis has secretly helped Norah several times. It shows that Travis has this daughter in his heart. Now Norah is in trouble, maybe Travis will really help.

After they don't know how long they waited, Norah's figure finally appeared!

She dragged a white suitcase and gave them a weird smile.

Chapter 2038

"Ms. Tate, what a coincidence? Are you also coming to the airport to pick up someone?" Travis's voice suddenly came from behind.

Everyone turned back and saw Travis came with a large team of bodyguards.

"Mr. Jones, why you brought so many bodyguards to the airport? Are there any gangsters at the airport?" Mike sneered.

Travis smiled and said, "There are many people at the airport. When I go to places with a lot of people, I always bring a lot of bodyguards." Travis glanced at the bodyguards they brought, "Mike, you also brought a lot of bodyguards!" During their conversation, Norah stood in front of Travis and shouted in a low voice, "Dad, thank you for coming to pick me up."

Travis gave his next man a look, who immediately took Norah's suitcase over.

Travis held Norah's hand: "You are my daughter, why is it so hard to come to pick you up?"

Avery listened to their words, and felt like she was stabbed hard in her heart!

Norah was taken away by Travis like this, Avery was not reconciled. She broke through her reason and rushed up to hold Norah's arm tightly and asked angrily, "Where is Elliot? Where is he?"

Avery's hysterical cry exceeded everyone's expectations. She was slender and had a wound in her abdomen. But she dragged Norah out of Travis's protection range!

Seeing this, the Jones family bodyguards rushed over to bring Norah back.

However, the bodyguards brought by Avery blocked the Jones family bodyguards.

The two forces confronted each other, and the atmosphere at the scene was like an arrow on the string, and it was about to explode.

Travis immediately stopped his bodyguards: "What are you doing? Ms. Tate must have misunderstood. This is the airport, and Ms. Tate will definitely not mess around."

Out of the corner of Norah's eyes, she saw the Jones family bodyguards returning to her father and she panicked...

"Avery! I don't understand what you're talking about! I don't know where Elliot is. If I knew where he was, I would have rescued him long ago!" Norah said and denied it.

"Norah, I thought you would have the courage to admit it if you had the guts to do it. It was I who looked down on you." Mike walked up to the two of them, stared at Norah's face, and scolded, "Avery and Elliot were arrested in Yonroeville. You did everything by cheating into the basement!"

“It wasn’t me.” Norah screamed in horror, “Did Katalina tell you?! She hates me, so she deliberately poured dirty water on me. She cut ties with her family, and she blamed it all on me, I can’t believe what she says!”

Norah continued, “Avery, you are in Bridgedale, so you may not know what’s going on in the country. Your daughter’s head teacher is my cousin. My cousin sees that I’m doing better now, and my aunt has been criticizing her for being ignorant and inferior to me, so she holds a grudge against me...”

Norah’s explanation resounded throughout the airport hall. Many people looked their way. For Norah, the more people she attracts now, the safer it is for her.

What if Avery knew that she did what happened in Yonroeville.

Avery has no evidence, so she can’t do anything to her.

Furthermore, in the presence of Travis, Avery didn’t look at the monk’s face and looked at the Buddha’s face, so she didn’t dare to mess around no matter what.

Chapter 2039

“I didn’t say that this matter was told to me by your cousin!” Avery would not betray Katalina, “I Since I dare to block you here, it means that I have the exact news... Norah, you want to kill me and Elliot, and you want to swallow the Tate Industries! Your wishful thinking is really good! Only It’s a pity, I didn’t die!”

“It wasn’t my cousin who told you, so where did your news come from?!”

Avery, since you have evidence, show it! If you have evidence that I did it and then you will kill or slash me. But if you have no evidence and bring your bodyguards to arrest me, it is illegal!”

Norah used her loudest voice, and shouted the word “illegal”. Heaven ringing.

Avery listened to her arrogant voice, and all reason shattered in situ!

As long as Avery thinks about the suffering that she and Elliot have suffered in Yonroeville, and that Elliot is still alive or not. Avery doesn't know what kind of torture Elliot is suffering, and the mastermind behind the scenes is right in front of her, but she doesn't have enough evidence to bring her to justice. ...she can't calm down!

"What about the law! Didn't Norah also do illegal things?! Avery was not afraid of law and Norah. She quickly grabbed Norah's neck with one hand, and she couldn't restrain herself from intensifying her efforts!

Norah's face suddenly became dark red, and her breathing became rapid! Mike saw that many people around took out their mobile phones to take pictures, fearing that the situation would not end well.

They have no evidence. If Avery really strangled Norah in front of everyone's eyes, it would definitely cause controversy and lawsuits, which was really not worth it.

Even if they want to kill Norah, they can go back and make arrangements.

"Avery, let go first. If you have to kill her, you shouldn't do it." Mike whispered in Avery's ear, "Aren't you afraid of getting your hands dirty?"

"Where is Elliot? Don't you tell me?!" Avery turned a deaf ear to Mike's words. She looked at Norah with scarlet eyes, and the world around her seemed to have nothing to do with her, "If you don't tell me, then don't say and I'll give it away now. You go to hell!"

"Avery, how dare you! I'm...I'm Travis's daughter..." Norah held Avery tightly and pinched her arm, trying to push her Hand pulled away.

But Avery's palm seemed to grow on her neck!

No matter how hard Norah struggled, she couldn't get rid of it.

"Avery! You let her go!" Travis saw that Avery seemed to have lost her mind, so he shouted, "You want Elliot's whereabouts, I can help you find it! This is the airport, so many people are watching you. Aren't you afraid that you will be in the headlines tomorrow?"

After Travis roared, Mike immediately pulled Avery's hand back.

"Now is not the time to start. It's like you know that Elliot may be in Travis's hands, but we can't find Travis to ask for someone." Mike clenched Avery's stiff fingers and whispered, "It's very late today, Let's go home first. When we go back, we will find a solution."

"Boss, your wound is bleeding." The bodyguard stood beside Avery and saw Avery's clothes stained with blood at a glance.

Before Avery could react, The bodyguard immediately picked her up.

Norah quickly ran back to Travis, gasping for breath.

After Avery and her party left, Travis took Norah back to Jones's house.

On Norah's neck, Avery pinched a circle of red marks, and the feeling of suffocation made her heart still beat fast.

"Fortunately, you ran fast. If you were still in the country, I'm afraid you would have been caught long ago." Travis leaned back in his chair and spoke lazily.

"Dad, thank you." Norah didn't want to recognize him so quickly, but the reality forced her to bow her head, "I was not careful enough to make my cousin hear me talking on the phone..."

"Norah, you have offended the Tate and Foster family now. If I didn't protect you, you would definitely die under Avery's hands." Travis calmly said, "In the future, if you listen to me, I can keep you safe. Otherwise..."

"Dad, I will listen to you." Norah immediately expressed her loyalty, "The Tate Industries is a big piece of fat, if you want, we can cooperate."

“It is not cooperation.” Travis corrected her, “It is you who do things for me. If you do things well, I have a reward. If you screw things up, whoever wants to kill you in the future, ask yourself for more blessings.”

Norah swallowed her breath, her heart skipping a beat, and she was speechless.

No wonder her mother left Travis at first.

Why doesn't her mother weigh the pros and cons? It must be that staying by Travis's side is more likely to encounter danger than gain.

“Why don't you talk?” Travis looked at her sideways.

The flattery and flattery on Norah's face disappeared. She looked so calm now that she couldn't see what she was thinking.

“Travis, I did set a trap to kill Elliot and Avery, but Avery didn't die. If you didn't take Elliot from that basement, Elliot and Avery would be rescued together. If I told Avery that it was you who was taking Elliot away, do you think Avery will only trouble me alone?”

Norah couldn't say 'Dad'.

“Are you threatening me?” Travis narrowed his eagle eyes, shocking her.

“Do you know the Dream Makers Group?” Norah looked at his wrinkled old face and said word for word, “The Dream Makers Group was created by Avery. You are in Bridgedale now and don't think that you are better than Avery. Underestimating the enemy will only make you die faster. Wanda's death is not an accident. Wanda died in Avery's hands. The day Wanda died happened to be Avery's mother's death day.”

Travis listened Norah words very carefully.

“Now Elliot is in your hands, although I don't know if Elliot is dead or alive, but looking at you, you definitely don't want to give Elliot back to Avery. If Avery counts the day she lost Elliot as the anniversary of his death, guess what? Will your death date be today, next year or the year after?" Norah made her threat even more weighty.

How could Travis not be afraid at all?

He has been looking for ways to stay young and live longer, precisely because he didn't enjoy it enough!

Moreover, Travis didn't know that the boss of the Dream Makers Group was Avery.

"Are you sure that the boss of the Dream Makers Group is Avery?" Travis asked in a low voice.

"Sure." In fact, Norah wasn't sure at all.

She only determined that Avery had a close relationship with the Dream Makers Group. Even if Avery was not the boss, then the boss must be Mike by her side.

The two of them have such a good relationship that they eat and live together, and Mike's things are equivalent to Avery's things.

Travis's spirit diminished and he began to think about what to do next.

If Avery is really the boss of the Dream Makers Group, then it would be a pity to kill her...

Travis brought Norah back to Jones's house. At this time, Margaret and Emilio were sitting idle in the living room.

Seeing the two of them coming back, Emilio immediately stood up from the sofa.

"Dad, it's very late, I should go back to rest." Emilio didn't want to stay here, but Travis asked him to wait here for Norah to come and meet.

Emilio was not at all interested in this extra sister.

In addition to the indifferent relationship between the Jones family brothers and sisters, it was also because Emilio knew that Avery and Norah were at odds.

“This is your sister, Norah. She will stay in Bridgedale for a while.” Travis introduced Emilio directly as if he didn’t hear his son’s words.

Emilio looked at Norah and said coldly, “Sister, aren’t you tired yet? We will have more time to meet in the future. If you want to see me, you can contact me at any time.”

Norah nodded, not taking this younger brother seriously.

The Jones family’s children are all trash. Norah looked down on them.

...

Avery returned home, and after treating the wound, lay on the bed, staring at the ceiling in a daze.

Chapter 2041

Probably when Avery was at the airport, she spent too much physical strength. Now she is cold and tired, and her mind is dizzy almost.

She wanted to rescue Elliot as soon as possible, even if she lost her life.

But there was no evidence, and she didn’t know where Elliot was hiding, she couldn’t move an inch. She doesn’t know how long it took.

Her cell phone rang suddenly, She picked up the phone dumbly and answered the call.

“Avery, I heard that you were stabbed by my elder brother. Are you alright?”

My dad called me to the old house in the evening, and I’m only returning home now.” Emilio always wanted to call her to ask, but he couldn’t find it in the old house.

“It’s not so much that your elder brother stabbed me, it’s better that your dad wants to kill me.” Avery’s voice was cold.

“I know. Margaret chatted with me tonight, teased me, and made me pay attention to Norah. Said that my dad was full of praise for Norah and praised her for being smart and capable... I don't quite understand, This Norah, how did she subdue my dad? You should know Norah better, right?” Emilio asked. Avery was in a fierce mood, and accidentally touched the mute button with her finger.

“I do know Norah better. She's ambitious, sinister and vicious. She couldn't court Elliot, so she wanted to kill him and also wanted to kill me even more, swallow Tate Industries in one fell swoop, and become the big boss of Tate Industries. Elliot almost died in Yonroeville, she planned it!”

Avery said, the pain of tearing again came from the wound.

She spoke too hard just now, and her abdominal injury was involved. She stopped and exhaled in pain.

“Avery... Why don't you talk? Did I disturb your rest? It's really late now, or I'll find you tomorrow and talk to you face to face.” Emilio's voice was clear.

It was heard that Avery's body seemed to be enchanted by someone, and the whole person froze.

But her brain was running at high speed.

What a familiar bridge!

She spoke to Emilio so loudly just now, but Emilio didn't hear it!

She immediately took the mobile phone in front of her and checked the phone call interface. She saw that her mute button was on. She accidentally pressed mute.

She took a sharp breath, continued to speak loudly, and shouted as if asking for evidence: “Emilio! Emilio! Can you hear me?!”

Emilio: “Avery, why are you so quiet all of a sudden? Did I say that Norah made you unhappy? I didn't mean to mention her... I know the relationship between the two of you is not good. If you don't want to mention her, then I won't talk about her in front of you in the future. "

Emilio obviously didn't hear the last sentence she said.

Avery's tears rustled and dripped on the screen. With trembling fingers, she pressed the mute button, and the mute was canceled instantly.

Emilio heard her sobbing.

"Avery? What's wrong with you? Which sentence did I say wrong? Don't cry!"

Emilio was confused and panicked.

Avery held the phone and couldn't stop crying: "I just accidentally pressed mute button..."

"Oh... No wonder I couldn't hear your voice just now, so it was. When Emilio said this, he was even more puzzled, "Then why are you crying?"

"I was wrong, I blamed Elliot..." Avery cried out of breath, her voice was intermittent and fragmented, "I misunderstood him before... I hated him so much before, I blamed him, scolded him... I even broke up with him... He explained to me that I didn't listen, I only believed in myself, I didn't believe in him..."

"Avery, what are you talking about?" Emilio was confused by her thoughtless words.

Chapter 2042

Avery should be able to hear Emilio's words, because Emilio can clearly hear her cry.

But Avery didn't answer his question.

Emilio listened to her heart-wrenching, painful cries, and there was nothing else he could do but listen.

After Avery cried for a while, she probably realized that the call was still open, so she hurriedly said, "It's none of your business..."

After saying this, Avery hung up the phone.

Emilio had a headache looking at the interrupted call.

From what Avery said just now, it is not difficult to guess that she had misunderstood Elliot before, and tonight, she discovered the misunderstanding.

If Elliot was by her side, she would definitely apologize to Elliot and find a way to make up for him.

It's just that now she can't find Elliot, so the misunderstanding is solved, which just aggravates the guilt in her heart.

Mike stood outside Avery's door for a while, and then knocked on Hayden's door with a sullen face.

When they went out to the airport, Hayden came out of the room.

But Hayden did not go to the airport with them.

Mike knew that Hayden must not have slept.

Hayden Opened the door, he really didn't sleep.

"Your mother is crying in the room." Mike walked over to Hayden and said helplessly, "I didn't expect her to have such a deep affection for Elliot. When Elliot was not in an accident, I really couldn't see it."

When Elliot was not in an accident, Avery said Elliot's attitude is quite tough most of the time.

"I don't understand." Hayden's voice was muffled.

"Of course you don't understand. You've never spoken to a girl, have you?"

Mike sat beside his bed, teasing, "Can you imagine, are you afraid of your mother getting hurt? Do you want to be with your mother forever? If you meet a woman you like in the future, you will also want to protect her and stay with her for the rest of your life.”

“Nasty.” Hayden’s fingers twitched on the keyboard, his eyes staring at the computer screen without blinking. He didn’t want to talk about this strange subject.

“Are you checking Travis’s information?” Mike leaned in front of his computer and glanced, “I checked him, I can send you his information.”

“No.” Hayden knew that Mike checked Travis, So how can it be useless? “I’m looking for his girlfriend.”

Mike: “Margaret?”

“Margaret must know Travis’s secret.” Hayden wanted to start with Margaret to see if he could catch Travis’s handle, “So many people died in the Jones family, sure There’s a secret.”

“Do you think you can threaten Travis if you find out the reason?” Mike shook his head, “Even if the Jones family’s children were all killed by Travis, do you think he would be afraid of your threat? He’s all perverted. That way, it won’t matter what people say about him.”

Hayden: “How do you know if he’s afraid if you don’t try?”

Mike: “I didn’t say he wouldn’t be afraid. If you let him know that you exposed his privacy, he will become angry and try to kill you.”

Hayden said contemptuously: “Will I be afraid of that old b*stard? If I hadn’t found Elliot, I would have just found someone to kill him. He dared to assassinate my mother. I won’t let him go!”

“This old man really doesn’t know how to live or die! It’s a pity to let him die like this. It’ll be fun to let him die and then die!”

Hayden: “Well. Go to sleep! Don’t disturb me. “

Mike blushed: "I can't sleep...Aren't you curious what your mother did at the airport today?"

Hayden picked up the phone and said coldly, "I saw it. Passersby secretly took a video and posted it online. It's gone."

Mike: "...These people are really cheap!"

Chapter 2043

Hayden: "If you can't sleep, go and block these online videos. I don't want to see my mother make headlines tomorrow. "

Mike: Okay. I'll deal with it now."

.....

When Norah came out of Jones's house, it was already 1:00 a.m.

Travis asked Norah to live at Jones's house, but she refused.

Travis will marry Margaret soon. Besides, Norah hates Travis very much, but now she needs Travis to protect herself, so she can't make her disgust too obvious.

If Norah lived under the same roof, she was afraid that she would die.

She asked Travis to send someone to send her back to her home in Bridgedale.

When she got home, it was almost 2:00 a.m. She didn't sleep at all. Her mother sent her several messages asking how she was doing, so She called her mother.

"Mom, Travis just wants the Tate Industries, he doesn't take me seriously at all." Norah was indignant, "In his eyes, I'm just a tool for his interests. He is 73 years old. But he still values interests so much and doesn't care about family affection at all, why?!"

Norah couldn't figure out this question.

The 73-year-old man has one leg in the loess, but he can't see a trace of sincerity and compassion.

"Norah, I still had a good time with him 30 years ago, and I never saw him again." Madelyn hesitated for a while, then said, "Travis is very horny, but... he has a hidden illness. I read a popular science before, and this kind of person is more prone to psychological distortion."

Madelyn continued, "If it wasn't for your difficulties, I would never let you go to him. I didn't expect that he would not become normal as he got older."

Norah: "Mom, you said he had a hidden illness, but it didn't affect him. He gave birth to so many children... It means that this disease is not serious, how could it make his mind distorted?"

Norah had a cold sweat on her back. She was afraid that Travis was a pervert with a twisted mind. If so, she might as well not turn to Travis.

"Norah, you've never been in a relationship, you don't understand... His illness is quite serious. When I was with him, if he hadn't been willing to spend money for me, I wouldn't have been with him together at all. I dare say that he has had so many girlfriends, but none of them truly love him.

Including the wives he married, all for his money. He is twisted because he knows this. So he can easily give up on anyone."

"Haha..." Norah couldn't say anything other than sneer.

"As for his many children... I don't think they are all his own, because he is weak... These words, your mother only tells you, you must not spread them out. Otherwise, he will know and definitely kill me and you." Madelyn was afraid to remind.

"Who else can I tell this kind of scandal?!" Norah roared, "I can't trust him, so I have to find another way!"

"Norah, don't be so pessimistic. He is already over 70 years old. Maybe one day he will die. If you can share some of his property, you can take the money and fly away to a place where no one can find you, and then you will not have to be afraid of anything.”

Madelyn's words, let Norah's irritable mood eased slightly.

A small leak will sink a great ship.

Emilio can endure it, and she can adapt to changes.

The next day, ten in the morning.

Mike knocked on Avery's bedroom door.

Avery was lying on the bed with her eyes open, but there was no luster in her eyes, as if she had lost her soul.

Mike went to the bed and reached out and touched her forehead.

Avery pushed his hand away and wanted him out.

“Your son stayed up all night last night, and found an important clue!” Mike's mouth rose and told her the news.

Chapter 2044

Avery also stayed up all night. She couldn't help recalling every bit of her time with Elliot in her mind, the more she thought about it, the sadder she felt.

Time seemed to be paused, and if Mike didn't come in, she would keep her eyes open in a daze.

“Hayden is really very good. I didn't even think to check Margaret, but Hayden immediately thought of this.”

Mike sat down beside Avery's bed and said excitedly, “Avery, you know how Travis and Margaret intersected. Is that right?”

Avery: “Travis said that the two of them knew each other a long time ago.”

“Travis invested in Margaret and built a company. Not only does this company make no money, but also has to invest a lot of money in this company every year. But Travis is willing to give Margaret so much money every year, why? You must know that Travis is a very realistic person. He is not so good to his own son, why is he so good to a woman?"

Avery listened carefully, no interrupt him.

Mike: "Hayden focused on checking this company. This company is mainly for medical research."

"Medical research? Research what?" Avery asked when she saw that Mike did not continue to speak.

Mike shook his head: "I didn't find This company. This company is rather mysterious. The company's network security should cost a lot of money, and Hayden didn't intrude. Under normal circumstances, ordinary companies will not spend a lot of money on network security. So, this company is definitely not simple."

Avery nodded: "Travis respects Margaret very much. Although it is obvious that Margaret spends Travis's money, it seems that Travis is asking for Margaret. This shows that There must be something wrong with Margaret's company!"

"Yes, Hayden and I think so too." Mike guessed, "Travis only likes women, not men, so he kidnapped Elliot only for money. But after he took Elliot away. He didn't use it at all which means that Elliot may not be in Travis's hands."

Avery's thinking changed with Mike's, and suddenly felt enlightened.

Avery: "Elliot is not in Travis's hands, so it is in Margaret's hands!"

"According to the information we have found, this is the most likely answer."

Mike stretched out his hand to her, "You get up and eat some food first. How is the injury on your body? If the injury is bad, how can you find Elliot? Margaret is blocked by Travis."

"Tsk...why are you bleeding again?" Mike frowned as he looked at the dark red blood on her pajamas, “I don’t think you wanted to take good care of your injuries.”

Avery lowered her eyes to look at the dry Blood stained, she said lightly: “The wound doesn’t hurt much anymore. You go out first, I’ll change clothes and go to eat.”

“Forget it, you stay in the room. I’ll ask the nanny to bring you breakfast.” Mike Get up and get ready to leave her room.

“Mike, is Hayden still at home?” Avery stopped him.

“No, he went to school.” Mike replied, “I asked him to take a day off today, and he said he wasn’t sleepy. It’s good to be young, and he can go to school as usual without sleep. I was like him when I was young, but now I can’t stand it anymore...I’ll go get some sleep.”

“Mike, thank you.” Avery got off the bed and said gratefully

“If it wasn’t for you and Hayden to be with me, I might have fallen down long ago...”

She remembered what happened at the airport last night. She lost her mind last night, and if no one stopped her, she couldn’t imagine what the consequences would be.

“What’s there to thank. You treat me as an outsider!” Mike turned around and teased, “You cheer up, don’t let us worry, that’s the biggest thank you.”

Avery: “I didn’t mean it last night.Emilio called me last night, and I accidentally pressed mute. He couldn’t hear me talking, but I could hear him talking. Three years ago, Elliot and I were like this... ..I said I was blind, but he said he never heard me say that, probably because I hit the mute button, so he didn’t hear anything I said.”

Mike looks incredible: “So, you accidentally touched the mute button, causing such a big misunderstanding which led to mutual resentment for three years! This is not the worst, the worst is that you gave up the Tate Industries, and that fellow Elliot handed over the Tate Industries to Norah! In the end, the two of you almost died in Norah’s hand! Who can’t admire the two of you after hearing the truth?!”

After Mike finished speaking, he felt that his mouth might be a little poisonous, and immediately added: “It’s all over. There’s no need to shed tears for these things. Even if this misunderstanding didn’t solve it, didn’t the two of you reconcile? What does this mean? It means that no matter how big setbacks and difficulties the two of you encounter, they will not be separated because of it. “

Avery didn’t answer. She took the clothes from the closet and walked towards the bathroom.

Mike came out of her room, went to the living room, and saw a group of people standing outside the courtyard gate. Mike strode out. It’s Emilio. However, the bodyguards stopped Emilio outside the courtyard gate and prevented him from entering.

“Let him in.” Mike said, “Let him in alone.”

The bodyguard immediately opened the courtyard door. Emilio said to Mike:

“Please carry these gifts in, I can’t carry them alone.”

“What are you bringing these things for?” Mike looked at the gifts on the ground with disgust.

“Didn’t my eldest brother stab Avery yesterday? My dad asked me to apologize to Avery.”

After Emilio finished speaking, he walked into the yard, “Where is Avery? Is she okay?"

"She nearly strangled your sister Norah at the airport last night. Haven't you heard about it?" Mike replied coldly to her, "Avery is very good. You can bring these gifts back later, we don't need them."

"She's fine. But I called her last night, and she cried so badly that I didn't sleep well all night." Emilio said worriedly.

"She's crying for Elliot. Don't you think it has anything to do with you?" Mike replied with a poisonous tongue.

Emilio: "She's crying for Elliot, so I can't care about her? She and I are old classmates..."

"What's old? Avery doesn't know you at all. If it wasn't for your father kidnapping Elliot, she wouldn't have thought of you. She has been in Bridgedale for so many years, has she ever contacted you? I have no point in my heart."

Emilio was disgraced and didn't want to talk to Mike anymore.

"Avery! I'm here to see you. If you're okay, come out!" Emilio stretched his neck and shouted.

Mike was shocked by his actions.

Just when Mike was about to cover his mouth and blast him out, Avery changed his clothes and walked out of the bedroom.

"What are you two doing?" Avery strode up to the two of them, "Mike, let him go."

Mike was unwilling to let go of Emilio: "I let you in because I have something to ask you. If you don't answer the question properly, I'll ask the bodyguard to throw you out immediately."

Emilio frowned and said with disgust, "I'm talking to Avery, you go away."

Chapter 2046

“Mike, didn’t you say you want to make up for sleep?” Avery said, “Go and rest! I’m staying at home today, I won’t go out. You don’t have to worry.”

“Okay, I’m really sleepy.” Mike said, walked to the bodyguard and confessed, “You here Stay in the living room, and you won’t leave if anyone tells you to go and you must keep an eye on Emilio.”

The bodyguard loudly replied, “Understood!”

He stared at Emilio without blinking, for fear that he would run away.

Emilio felt uncomfortable, but did not intend to leave. He sat down on the sofa and the nanny asked him what he wanted to drink.

“Water is enough.” Emilio looked at Avery and wondered, “Have you not slept all night? Your face is pale, and your red eyes are full of red blood... It looks a bit scary.”

Avery Ignore his rants.

After the nanny brought Emilio a glass of water, she brought Avery's breakfast. Avery picked up the milk cup and took a sip of milk.

Avery: “You asked me about Norah yesterday. Does your dad plan to let her inherit your Jones family’s property with you?”

Emilio shook his head: “No one can guess what my dad is thinking about. But he went to the airport to pick up Norah in person last night. His other children have never enjoyed this treatment.”

“Last night was a special situation. If your dad doesn’t pick her up at the airport, she will fall into my hands.” Avery put down the milk cup, took a bun in her hand, and took a bite.

Emilio: “Oh.....”

Avery: “She laid the trap that Elliot and I encountered in Yonroeville.”

Emilio: “I heard that. Norah is quite like Travis and will do anything to achieve her goals. I heard news about her before that she and Elliot were together. I didn't expect her to kill Elliot."

Because of this, Emilio would not get too close to Norah. If one day Norah was assassinated, he didn't know how she would die. What a shrewd person Elliot was, wasn't he also tricked by Norah?

Emilio boasted that his brain was one ten thousandth less than that of Elliot.

"Travis protects Norah so much, it's definitely not because the father and daughter are deeply in love." Avery said calmly, "Travis should be for the Tate Industries."

"Haha, my dad's intentions are too obvious. If Norah is incapable of, my dad will never protect her like that." Emilio said, "You are pitiful no matter how you look at it now. If you can't find a man, Tate Industries may be swallowed up by my dad and Norah. What are you going to do?"

Looking at Emilio's gloating look, Avery glared at him: "Are you sent by your dad to spy on me?"

"Hahaha, my dad really wants me to do this. But I don't necessarily listen to him. After all, one day he may be treat me like my eldest brother."

"How is your eldest brother?" Avery finished eating the buns and wiped her mouth with a tissue.

"My dad originally wanted to kill him, but Margaret stopped him." Emilio felt a little chill in his heart when he talked about this, "My eldest brother is his biological son."

Avery: "Not all of your Jones family's children. Does he have children? Why do you emphasize the word biological?"

Emilio coughed, "Avery, it's not important."

"Some of these children in your Jones family were not born to Travis? The children were killed because Travis found out that they were not his biological son?"

Avery grasped the topic tightly, trying to figure out what was going on.

Chapter 2047

Although this incident seems to have nothing to do with Elliot's kidnapping, Avery feels that through this incident, she can understand Travis better psychology.

Emilio: "You guessed half right. Those children who died for no reason were indeed not born to Travis. But how could this kind of thing be hidden from him? DNA testing is so convenient. Those children who were not biological were born with permission of Travis. It is estimated that he allowed those children to be born with the same mentality as raising animals!"

Avery fell silent.

"What I can be sure of now is that my eldest brother and I are his own. And Norah, she should also be his own, otherwise my dad wouldn't take such a risk for Norah." Emilio continued, "My dad's body is not as good as you think. Otherwise, he wouldn't be so dependent on Margaret."

Avery didn't expect Emilio to take the initiative to mention Margaret.

"Your father invested in Margaret to open a company. What exactly does this company do?" Avery asked nervously, "Emilio, tell me everything you know."

"Tell you, what's the benefit of me?" Emilio negotiated terms with her.

Avery fell silent.

"Avery, I don't know much." Emilio saw that Avery was really thinking much, so he joked. "It's okay to tell you directly."

Avery: "Then you say it!"

"I'm afraid that if I tell you, you run away and Cause trouble." Emilio was a little embarrassed, "You almost strangled Norah at the airport last night, you were too impulsive! And what I want to tell you is just my own guess, I have no evidence, and I am not sure."

"You said. I promise not to be impulsive!" Avery took a deep breath, making herself look as calm as possible.

"Come here a little bit." Emilio glanced at the bodyguard, then stretched out his hand to tick Avery, "This kind of matter concerns the secret of our Jones family, I can't just let a bodyguard listen to it."

Avery glanced at the bodyguard, then walked to Emilio.

"Boss, why don't you have a heart?" the bodyguard walked over quickly, pulled Avery away, and pulled Emilio up from the sofa with both hands, "Boss, in case he has a knife hidden on his body, wait for you to approach, I'll give you a shot, if you die, how can you seek revenge from Travis?!"

Avery: "The bodyguard is right."

Then the bodyguard started to search Emilio with both hands.

Emilio: "Hey! I'm the second young master of the Jones family. You treat me like this. Be careful with me... Be careful with me..."

"Be careful with you? What are you talking about? Stuttering?" The bodyguard pushed him up. After searching up and down, he did not find sharp objects, so he released him.

"Be careful, I hold revenge!" Emilio's cheeks were flushed with anger, and his eyes were full of anger.

"Childish!" The bodyguard rolled his eyes at him and returned to the position just now.

Avery walked up to Emilio and explained, "I'm sorry, because of what happened yesterday, Mike blamed the bodyguard.”

“Forget it, let’s get down to business!” Emilio leaned into Avery’s ear and whispered, “ My dad has been looking for ways to prolong his life and keep his youth forever. The company he invested in Margaret specializes in this. I don’t know the specific situation of that company, but from my dad’s attitude towards Margaret, I can be sure Margaret made something.”

Avery also had this guess in her heart, and after hearing Emilio say it, she was shocked.

Birth, old age, sickness and death are the laws of nature. And Travis wants to break this natural law. His heart is higher than the sky.

“I asked someone for consultation. No matter what medical research is done, it requires animal or human clinical trials... Can you guess what I want to say?”

After Emilio said this, he took water glass on the table and take a sip.

Chapter 2048

Emilio did not stay at Avery’s house for a long time. After he drank the water, he came out not long after.

After getting in the car, Emilio called his father to report: “Dad, Avery is in good condition.”

“Oh? Did she say what she will do next?” Travis asked.

“I asked, but she was wary of me, and asked me if I was assigned by you to come to talk to her.” Emilio said truthfully, “Last night my elder brother assassinated her, which caused her and her bodyguards to distrust me. She returned all the gifts I brought today.”

“Haha, did she say anything about Norah?” Travis’s answer to this was not surprising.

“Yes.” Emilio replied, “she told me that she and Elliot were almost killed in Yonroeville, which was done by Norah. She also asked me if you planned to make Norah your heir.

“Borrow Avery’s words for me?” Travis heard the overtones.

“Dad, you’re too worried. She really asked me this question. The reason why she cares about this question is because she thinks that you called Norah to join forces to swallow Tate Industries. Although Avery is not the the boss of the Tate Industries, but she rebuilt the Tate Industries.” Emilio continued, “Because I don’t know your mind, I told her I don’t know.”

“Don’t tell me you know my mind. Have you told outsiders?” Travis questioned.

“Of course I won’t tell her. She now treats the entire Jones family as an enemy. If I stand by her side and help her bring down the Jones family, I will have nothing.” Emilio expressed his attitude, “Dad, Avery knows about the company you invested in Aunt Gomez. She asked me what the company you invested in Aunt Gomez did, and I said I didn’t know.”

Travis frowned: “Why did she ask this all of a sudden?”

“I don’t know. She has been investigating you. Maybe she has finished investigating you, and she thinks there is no problem, so she started investigating Aunt Gomez again!”

He clearly pretending to be confused, “I heard that Aunt Gomez’s company does medical research, and I don’t know exactly what the research is, but if there is a problem with Aunt Gomez’s company, you should notify Aunt Gomez as soon as possible, so that Aunt Gomez will not be caught by Avery. There is a flaw.”

Emilio’s tone was very sincere. It seems that he is really worried about Margaret Gomez and the entire Jones family. After all, Margaret is now tied to the entire Jones family.

“Got it!” Travis hung up the phone after saying this.

After talking on the phone, Emilio sent Avery a message.

Avery turned on the phone and saw word from him: [OK.]

Although Emilio didn't say anything for sure, Avery guessed what he was talking about almost immediately.

Before he left, he said that Elliot might be in Margaret's laboratory.

Now, the word 'confirmed' is sent again, indicating that his confirmation is Elliot's business!

Avery was so excited. She dreamed of finding Elliot's whereabouts, and now she finally has an eye! She knew where Margaret's company was, but if she rushed in rashly, she would definitely not be able to break in.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Avery dialed Margaret's number.

Margaret already knew from Travis that Avery doubted her, so when Margaret saw Avery's call, she became wary. After hesitating for a while, she answered the phone.

“Ms. Gomez, your wedding date with Mr. Jones is approaching. Mr. Jones invited me to your wedding, so I have been thinking about what gift to give you these days. Today, I finally thought of a good gift for you.” Avery's tone was soft, with a hint of joy.

Margaret guessed that there was a fraud, so she pretended to ask: “What gift?”

“After Professor James Hough died, his wife gave me all the books in his study.” Avery replied, “I found a notepad in his bookshelf. There are diaries written by him. There are records about work and life. It is written about you. I don't know if you want this notepad.”

Margaret: “...”

“I've already found this notepad. If you want this gift, let's meet! I'll give you this gift with my own hands.” Avery continued, “I'm injured and can't move. It's too convenient to meet at a coffee shop near my house, how about that?”

Chapter 2049

After a moment of silence, Margaret sneered: “Avery, Emilio has already told us. You are now suspicious of Taoism. The company that Travis invested in... You can't find anything suspicious, so you found me? Then why didn't you find out that my company has already closed due to losses?”

Avery : “...”

Loss closing?

Margaret: “Let's meet and talk! Just go to the cafe near your house.

Remember to bring the gift you want to give me. I won't chat with you until I see the gift.”

Margaret finished speaking and hung up the phone quickly. Avery was stunned.

Margaret's company has closed? Where did Elliot go?

Obviously Emilio said something was confirmed, why did something go wrong?

Did Emilio lie to Avery, or is there some mystery in it?

Avery went back to the room, changed her clothes, and took the bodyguard out the door. The ten bodyguards Mike said last night followed her out with Avery's bodyguard, Ali.

These ten people were all wearing plain clothes, with a relaxed expression on their faces, as if they were going to follow her on an outing.

Avery and Ali were in a car and the ten bodyguards in the back were in a van.

Avery couldn't help sighing.

"Boss, what are you sighing for? With them protecting you, you are safer."

Ali said, "Travis also brought a group of people out last night."

"I'm not sighing for this." Avery looked out the window, feeling uneasy rather.

As long as Elliot is not found for a day, Elliot will be in more danger.

Avery clearly felt that she was very close to Elliot, but he was in a place that she couldn't touch.

The car quickly stopped at the coffee shop.

Avery and Ali sat down at one table, and the rest of the bodyguards sat down at the other two tables.

About twenty minutes later, Margaret came to the coffee shop. She only brought one bodyguard.

After she came in, Ali and other bodyguards sat down at another table with interest.

"What about the notepad you're talking about?" Margaret questioned Avery before she could sit down.

Avery reached into her bag, took out a silver pistol, and aimed it at Margaret's body!

"Take me to your company now, right now!" Avery's eyes became fierce and indifferent.

Margaret stared at the gun in her hand, and sneered sarcastically: "I made it very clear on the phone that my company has closed..."

“Since it’s closed, why are you here? Scared?!” Avery stood up.

The bodyguard brought by Margaret immediately stood up from the chair after finding out that the situation was not right. Soon, Avery’s eleven bodyguards also stood up and looked at him with a ‘you want to die’ expression.

When Margaret’s bodyguard saw this battle, he immediately froze.

“Avery, you brought so many people here!” Margaret gritted her teeth, then picked up her handbag and gritted her teeth, “Put your gun away! I’ll take you there!”

Chapter 2050

Avery glanced at her bodyguards, and she really felt very secure. She put the gun back in her bag and left the cafe behind Margaret.

“Avery, you said that you have Professor Hough’s notepad, is it fake?! How could you lie to me like that?” Margaret felt that her feelings had been deceived and was very angry.

“It’s not entirely a lie to you.” Avery took Margaret into her car.

The two sat down in the back seat and Ali drove the car.

“Professor Hough does have the habit of writing diaries. There are dozens of his diaries, but they are all with his wife.” Avery glanced at Margaret, “I only have some of his courseware notes here.”

“Avery, you are really hateful. I knew that he would never mention me. Even if it was just written on paper, it would never be possible.” Margaret gave up completely.

“Margaret, Professor Hough did mention you to us.” Avery took out a yellowed piece of paper from her bag, “Look for yourself, I wonder if you can recognize Professor Hough’s handwriting.”

Margaret took the paper and saw the word 'Margaret' written on it.

This word is definitely Professor Hough's handwriting.

"He... how could he write my name?" Margaret looked at this word, and her eyes suddenly turned red.

"He wrote your name to ask me to look at your paper. I told you before that he praised you in front of us. He said you were a very gifted medical genius." Avery saw Margaret's emotions Excited, she said, "It's useless for me to keep this piece of paper, I'll give it to you."

Margaret carefully folded the paper and put it in her handbag.

"Margaret, don't you feel guilty?" Avery looked at her face and said sarcastically, "What exactly is the company you asked Travis to invest in, do you really think others can't guess?"

"Why should I lose my heart?" Margaret said confidently without blushing or panting, "Any medical research, as long as it is beneficial to the sustainable development of mankind, that is a good thing. Did your teacher not tell you about this?"

"I don't care what research you do, if you don't affect my life, I can't control you. But if your research affects me... Margaret, I don't care what you are doing behind your back, I will turn your world down!"

"Why are you so excited? I told you that my company has long since closed. If you don't believe it, I can't do anything about it." Margaret said, looking at the road ahead, "Turn left in front of you, then keep going, then turn right, and you're there."

Ali glanced at Margaret in the rearview mirror: "Professor Hough is dead, you still can't let him go?"

"What nonsense are you talking about?!" Margaret Pearl was furious.

“Didn’t you see how you carefully folded the piece of paper and put it in your bag just now. If you didn’t know, you thought that piece of paper was worth a lot! Isn’t that what Professor Hough wrote?” Ali sneered...

“Ali, you don’t need to mock her like that. There are many people who admire Professor Hough. Because Professor Hough is very charming.” Avery said.

Ali: “Oh, okay!”

“Avery, listen to me, do you admire Professor Hough too?” Margaret teased.

“Professor Hough was my mentor, and I only had respect for him. Margaret, if I have dirty thoughts towards Professor Hough, do you think I will give you the piece of paper just now? Don’t say his handwriting, just I won’t even tell you what he said about you.”

Margaret was speechless.

Not long after, the car stopped at the entrance of Margaret’s company.

Chapter 2051

As Margaret said, the door of the company was closed and the door was not opened.

“Open the door of your company, I want to go in!” Avery took Margaret out of the car and asked her.

“I don’t have a key! I have to find someone...” Margaret rolled her eyes.

“Then you immediately call someone to open the door.” Avery did not doubt Margaret’s words.

Ali saw Margaret’s expression in his eyes and said to Avery: “I don’t need her to call someone, I can open the door!”

After Ali finished speaking, he took out a gun, pointed it at the door lock, and pulled the trigger!

After two loud bangs, the door was broken open!

Margaret was so frightened that her body suddenly retreated a few steps.

Avery didn't care about her, and after the door opened, she strode into the company.

Ali bet on Margaret and followed closely.

"When did your company close?" Avery saw that the office equipment was still there, but no one was there.

"Just a while ago! I can't remember exactly when. I haven't managed this company for a long time. You know how much money it costs to do research. Travis is no more famous than your ex-husband. He can't help me. I have been losing money every year, and I have long wanted me to continue to open this company."

Margaret had a bright and open expression, "Since you have come in, what do you want to see, you can see it yourself. Our company has three floors in total. The fourth floor is someone else's territory."

Avery heard the words and immediately took the bodyguard to find someone.

Although she felt that Elliot might not be here anymore, what if there were traces of his existence here?

After Avery and the other bodyguards walked away, Margaret found a chair and sat down.

Ali stood in front of her, staring at her.

"Margaret, did you hide Elliot?" Ali was impatient, he wanted to pry Margaret's mouth open and cut Margaret's heart to see what the truth was.

"Why are you full of nonsense? Do you have evidence? Shut up your mouth if you don't have any evidence!" Margaret shouted, "Don't think I'll be afraid of you if you hold a gun, I'm a powerful person in Bridgedale anyway... .."

“Haha! You have a head and a face? Do you mean that Elliot has no head and face? You are really more famous. Do you think Elliot is more famous or yours?” Ali’s roar overshadowed hers. “If you don’t want to die, return Elliot as soon as possible! If you are obsessed, wait for my boss to find Elliot. If this matter really has anything to do with you, just wait to die!”

Margaret’s mouth raised a quirky touch. She smiled and said: “Death is a threat to others, for me, it is a gift, a relief...”

Ali: “???”

Ali couldn’t understand at all What Margaret said. He thought about it in his heart, and suddenly there was a chill on my back.

Ali: “Aren’t you going to marry Travis? Why do I feel like you are seeking death?”

“You are seeking death. You threatened me with death, and I followed your words! Since you know that I am going to marry soon Travis, how dare you treat me like this?” Margaret stared at Ali as if he had been greatly wronged.

“You’re talking about that old man Travis, it’s better to say that you are Professor Hough’s sister!” Ali said arrogantly, “My boss has no strong evidence right now, once there is evidence... “

“You dare to arrest people without any evidence at all?” Margaret sneered, “You guys are really brave! Are you not afraid of calling the police after I go out?”

Ali was stunned: “Although my boss has no evidence , but I know that this matter has something to do with you! If you dare to call the police, then you should report it. When this matter gets bigger, maybe you can help us find Elliot!”

Margaret sneered and didn't answer.

"You dare not answer my words because you are afraid. Margaret, just wait!

Your wedding with Travis may have to be held in the underworld." Ali continued to threaten.

The smile on Margaret's face faded, and she couldn't help reaching into her bag.

"What are you doing?!" Ali shouted violently when he saw Margaret's action.

Margaret's body trembled, and she frowned: "I look at the note written by Professor Hough! I haven't been caught for breaking the law, are you guarding the prisoner? You are so bold!"

"Don't look!" Ali snatched her handbag away, "Before my boss allows you to be free, you are a prisoner!"

Margaret gritted her teeth, but there was nothing she could do.

The bodyguard Margaret brought, shrank away secretly, wanting to pretend that he wasn't here. What is more and more afraid of what.

Margaret soon saw her useless bodyguard and asked, "What are you doing hiding there?"

The bodyguard flinched: "He has a gun...I don't have..."

"Then get out of here! Look, you will be an eyesore!" Margaret yelled.

After the bodyguard glanced at Ali, his body quickly moved towards the door.

"You two are playing double reeds here!" Ali took out his pistol and pointed it at Margaret's bodyguard, "Are you running out so you can report to Travis?

Before my boss speaks, neither of you want to leave!"

Avery took the bodyguards and searched every room of the company inch by inch!

She didn't find Elliot's figure.

In the laboratory, the equipment is still there, but there is no medicine.

Avery stood in the laboratory and looked around.

This laboratory looked relatively ordinary, and the space was not large.

After staying inside for a while, she came out and planned to go to another room.

“Let’s go and see if there is a hidden space such as a secret compartment.”

“Miss Tate, have you ever thought that even if Elliot was here before, but now it’s closed, how could they leave Elliot alone here?” A bodyguard asked suspiciously.

“Yeah, Miss Tate! There’s no one here at all. Elliot is definitely not here.”

Another bodyguard also said, “We have turned over the three floors and called Elliot’s name countless times. If he is still here or alive, he will definitely respond to us.”

“What if he is imprisoned here, what if he is in a coma and can’t hear our voice? Look for it!” Avery didn’t want to give up.

She finally found this place, and she was unwilling not to turn it upside down. Not long after, Mike drove to find here.

After Mike came over, he first pulled Avery aside and sat down in the chair.

“You really don’t remember that you were injured! You can just call me for this kind of thing, why did you come here yourself?” Mike frowned, angry that she didn’t know how distressed her body was.

“My wound doesn’t hurt anymore.” Avery explained, sitting in a chair.

“You know whether it hurts or not.” Mike’s eyes swept across her face coldly.

Avery lowered her head. Mike looked at the bodyguard and said, “Did you find Elliot?”

“I didn’t find Elliot! Miss Tate asked us to find out if there was any hidden secret. We... didn't find it." The headed bodyguard replied.

"Organization secret?" Mike glanced at the house, the decoration was quite new, "Just ask the original decoration company, will the company know?"

Margaret wanted to end this boring game as soon as possible, so she took the initiative to say the name of decoration company.

Chapter 2053

Margaret: "Hurry up and ask! I'm starving to death!"

Mike glared at Margaret, then took his mobile phone and walked aside to find someone to contact the decoration company.

Half an hour later, the decoration company sent Mike Margaret's decoration structure diagram and final decoration renderings.

Mike glanced at the picture, and then handed the phone to Avery for Avery to see.

After seeing the picture, Avery got up from the chair with a pale face.

"Avery, you've made enough trouble, can I go with the bodyguard?!" Margaret roared at Avery's back with a gloomy face.

Avery clasped her hands tightly, turned around, and looked at Margaret's face with cold eyes: "You can go, but this matter is far from over!"

"Then you can continue to investigate! Later, you will give me a call, if you'll come out!" Margaret has suffered this loss, and will never suffer a second loss!

After coming out of the company, Margaret thought of what Avery gave her, and her anger disappeared little by little.

She thought that Professor Hough was a merciless sc*mbag, but she didn't expect that it was actually different from what she imagined.

Of course, just a handwritten name cannot erase the hurt Professor Hough had done to her back then.

Margaret's bodyguard said, "Boss, I'm sorry! I didn't protect you today."

The bodyguard and Margaret took a taxi on the side road. Their car was still at the previous cafe.

"What's the use of me blaming you? Avery brought eleven people with her. Even if you are very skilled, you can't fight eleven people alone!" Margaret didn't blame the bodyguard.

The bodyguard: "You yelled at me like that in there just now, I was really scared to death..."

"I want you to get out first and go to the rescue! Who knew that Avery's bodyguard was so shrewd!" Margaret cursed in a low voice.

The bodyguard stopped a taxi on the side of the road.

After the two got into the car, Margaret called Travis.

Margaret: "Travis, guess what Avery did to me just now?"

Travis: "I called you, but you never answered, so I guessed that something must have happened to you."

"Avery has no evidence! Her bodyguard is with me. So we don't have to be afraid of anything for the time being." Margaret smiled proudly, "She found my company. She was incompetent and furious inside! Seeing her so sad and incompetent, I feel so good! If Professor Hough is still alive, seeing his good disciple being played around by me, I don't know if I will feel distressed hahaha!"

Travis laughed and said, "Margaret, since she suspects you now, you should avoid the limelight! "

Margaret: "Wait until I go back. I'm starving to death."

...

After Mike sent Avery to her house, he immediately called the doctor and asked the doctor to come and give Avery an infusion.

Avery ran out and tossed for a few hours today, and the wound ripped apart without any accident.

Mike can't remember how many times the wound has been lacerated since her injury.

He's really worried that if things go on like this, her wound will get infected, making her condition worse.

"You have to recuperate at home for the next three days. Even if I don't eat or sleep, I have to watch you at home!" Mike stood at the door of her room and warned her.

Avery ignored his warning. She seemed to be immersed in her own world.

Mike knew that there must be Elliot in the world she was immersed in.

After half an hour, the doctor came.

After Mike told the doctor about Avery's situation, the doctor immediately took the medicine and entered Avery's bedroom.

"Miss Tate, what are you doing? You know that you are injured, so you should rest at home." The doctor put the medicine box on the bedside table.

Avery's eyes turned to the medicine box, and out of the corner of his eyes, he caught a glimpse of the suitcase that he had placed beside the bedside table.

Chapter 2054

Avery got out of bed.

When the doctor saw her getting out of bed, he was startled and said, "Miss Tate, what are you doing?"

"I'll take something." Avery walked to the suitcase and squatted down.

"Miss Tate, you have a stomach injury, so don't squat! I'll help you get what you want.” The doctor quickly put down the medicine in his hand and helped her up.

Avery: “please help me open the suitcase, there is a men’s white shirt in it, you can help me take it out.”

The doctor immediately opened her suitcase.

That men’s white shirt, in a more conspicuous position.

The doctor picked up the shirt and asked, “Is it this one?”

“Yes.” Avery took the shirt and went back to the bed to sit down.

“Miss Tate, this dress is a little dirty.” The doctor glanced at the white shirt and reminded kindly, “Can’t the stains be washed off?”

“I don’t wash it.” Avery held the shirt in both hands with a serious expression.

The doctor dared not say much. Prepare the medicine, give her the needle, and exit the bedroom.

“Miss Tate is holding a dirty shirt.” The doctor came out and told Mike about it.

“That’s what Elliot wore during his lifetime.” Mike replied.

The doctor: “No wonder she looks so sad.”

“You haven’t eaten yet? Let’s eat here!” Mike invited, “How many bottles of medicine does she want?”

The doctor: “Two bottles.”

“Then come over for dinner!” Mike took the doctor to the dining room.

“Miss Tate hasn’t eaten yet?”

“I asked the nanny to bring her food.” Mike guessed that Avery would not be able to eat.

“Elliot is really dead?” The word ‘before his death’ that Mike said just now echoed in the doctor’s mind.

“Not necessarily! But there is no news about him yet. I thought he should still be alive, but it's more difficult to lose contact for so long." Mike only dared to tell outsiders these words.

If he said this in front of Avery, Avery would definitely be greatly stimulated.

"By the way, do you know what the pharmaceutical company opened by Margaret does?" Mike remembered this, so he chatted with the doctor.

After thinking for a few seconds, the doctor said: "I heard from my colleagues. Margaret's company actually mainly serves Travis. It can also be said that it serves the two of them. Both of them are relatively old, one is in his sixties and One of them is in their seventies, but do they both look much younger than their peers? It's because Margaret's team has been researching medicines for eternal youth."

Mike: "Haha, Avery told me that birth, old age, sickness and death are the laws of nature. No one can go against it. There is no way to keep youth forever in this world."

"I think the same as Miss Tate, but Margaret is more powerful. Maybe she has really developed a way to delay aging. Otherwise, what would Travis look So young?" The doctor said.

Mike was silent for a few seconds, then asked: "Doing this kind of research, shouldn't people die?"

The doctor said, "Theoretically not. Any medical research will use animal experiments first. Only after the safety of animal experiments will be used in clinical trials. "

In that case, why did they arrest Elliot? Besides, according to what you mean, they should have already developed a drug to delay aging, and they don't need to arrest Elliot to test it!"

The doctor asked, "Did they arrest Elliot?"

“It should be.” Mike whispered, “The clues we have so far are this.”

Mike picked up the wine bottle and poured the doctor.

“I don’t drink. I have to drive back later.” The doctor refused.

Chapter 2055

“You drink less, I will ask the bodyguard to take you back later.” Mike poured the doctor’s wine and the wine glass was brought to the doctor, “I definitely won’t let you get drunk. You will have to change Avery’s medicine later!”

The doctor reluctantly took the wine glass and took a sip.

“I don’t know Margaret very well, but I have friends who admire her very much. She is often mentioned in front of me. I heard that her biggest wish in her life is to win the March Medical Award. Do you know the March Medical Award?”

Doctor asked.

Mike shook his head and nodded again: “I heard of it, but I didn’t understand it. It seems to be a very good award.”

“The March Medical Award is the most authoritative award in our medical field. The last winner of the March Medical Award was Professor James Hough. Margaret likes Professor James Hough, and everyone in the circle knows this. So Margaret naturally wants to win the March Medical Prize, even if it’s not to compete with Professor James Hough, but also for himself In the medical field, I have the best explanation in my life.”

Mike: “Avery didn’t win this award, but Margaret can get it? I don’t believe it.”

“Since Margaret boasted that She would win this award, she must have privately do her homework.” The doctor said here, picked up the phone and glanced at the calendar, “In another month, it will be the four-yearly March Medical Award. I don’t know what Margaret will do this time.”

Mike: “Oh... If she really makes a drug that can delay aging, will she also be awarded an award?"

The doctor shook his head: "I don't know that. The judges are all the most authoritative people in the medical field. It has its own set of award rules.

However, according to the research results of the winners over the years, the March Medical Award is more inclined to award the award to the research that can cure major diseases. If Margaret wants to win steadily, this may be difficult her to get the prize."

"Oh..." Mike murmured, "It's complicated!"

After Avery lost her medicine, she hugged Elliot's shirt and fell asleep.

Today, she was running around outside for a long time, and she didn't eat much, so her physical strength was obviously weak.

With the breath left on Elliot's shirt, she felt as if she was holding him.

After falling asleep, she had a sweet dream.

In the dream, Elliot was lying beside her, hugging her back like she was hugging him.

She could feel his hot body temperature and his familiar and unique breath.

She could hear his low, hoarse voice, so clear and so vivid.

He said he was fine, he was just lost... He also said that with her and the child, he would never die.

This dream made all the pain Avery experienced during this period disappear.

Although it only disappeared for a short time, it allowed her to have a moment of relaxation.

After some time, Avery woke up from her dream. Her face was cold, she reached out and touched it, tears all over her face.

She sat up and looked out the window. Its daybreak. She immediately lifted the quilt, hugged Elliot's shirt, and came out of the room.

The nanny just got up and didn't have time to make breakfast when she saw Avery come out of the room and came over immediately.

"Avery, why did you get up so early? The doctor said you need to rest in bed."

"I'll go to Mike." Avery strode towards Mike's room.

An hour later –

Mike and Avery appeared at the door of Margaret's company.

Along with them, in addition to eleven bodyguards, there was also a special police officer and a search and rescue dog.

The special police smelled Elliot's shirt to the search and rescue dog, and then brought the search and rescue dog into the company!

Avery strode behind them.

Has Elliot ever been here? There will be an answer soon!

Chapter 2056

"Avery, do you think this method will work?" Mike walked beside her and asked in a low voice.

"Why not?" Avery asked back, "Search and rescue dogs are designed to do this kind of work."

"I'm afraid Elliot has never been here before." Mike said, "It's so close to us, if Elliot was here before, that's too heartbreaking!"

Avery: "Sometimes the most dangerous place is the safest place."

"Well. If Elliot has never been here, you should rest at home for a few days, and then move on to the next plan when the injury is healed." Mike discussed with her.

"I know. I had a dream about him last night, and he said he wasn't dead. I'm sure he wasn't dead." Avery got a little emotional, "Mike, I've made up my mind. If he's really dead, I'll die. Mike, You will take care of our children, I'll leave it to you.”

Mike: “???”

“Boss! How can you say such a thing?!” Ali said excitedly, “Even if Elliot really died Now, you can’t die! You have to avenge Elliot anyway!”

“I will definitely avenge him. I will kill Travis and Margaret, and then I’ll die.”

Avery had already made up her mind.

Mike glared at Ali.

Ali said excitedly again: “Boss! You can’t die! You still have three such lovely children! Ah, no, four! You haven’t found Haze, how can you die?!”

Mike echoed: “Yes, still I didn’t find Haze, what would you do if Haze died?”

Avery, can you calm down a bit?”

“If Haze is still alive, there should be no problem for her to grow up alive. If Haze is dead, no matter how I look for her, it is impossible for me to find her again.”

Avery said calmly, “My children and grandchildren will have their own children and grandchildren. Elliot and I think about it earlier, and Elliot won’t die.”

In the past, Avery put the child first, no matter which child she was, she was always in front of Elliot.

But during the time when Elliot disappeared, there was not a moment in her heart that was not painful.

Once a person loses the belief and meaning of living, every second will become extremely tormented.

This kind of pain cannot be shared with outsiders. Even if it is said, outsiders will not understand.

Avery didn’t want to say these words now, but the suppressed emotions in her heart accumulated to the extreme. If she didn’t say it, she couldn’t express her emotions.

“If you want to die, Hayden and I won’t let you die.” Mike’s face was gloomy and he poured cold water on her, “Once I tell Hayden what you just said, even if Hayden doesn’t eat or drink, he will die. Time is a good medicine to heal pain. After a year and a half, you will definitely come out. If a year and a half is not enough, is ten or twenty years enough? We will always with you.”

Avery didn’t answer him.

She knows that time is a good medicine. When her mother was killed and left her, she seemed to have come out of that grief in order to avenge her mother. Furthermore, she can come out once, but it is impossible for her to come out every time.

Mike and Avery stayed on the first floor and waited.

Mike sent several bodyguards to follow the SWAT upstairs.

After a while, the bodyguard hurried downstairs: “Miss Tate! The search and rescue dog found Elliot’s smell on the second floor!”

Avery rushed out like an arrow after hearing this sentence!

Tears welled up in her eyes, and she murmured excitedly: “I knew...he must not be dead...I knew my guess was correct...it was Margaret Kidnapped him...”

Mike quickly followed her pace: “Avery, run slowly! Be careful of the wound!”

Although Mike was worried, he was not so anxious.

After all, they finally found strong evidence!

Chapter 2057

Now Avery could feel at ease. She could also breathe a sigh of relief.

She ran to the second floor, and the bodyguard immediately supported her and helped her to the room where the search and rescue dog was.

“This should be a utility room.”

After Avery entered the room, the SWAT pointed to a single folding bed that was pulled out by the search and rescue dog.

“Mr. Foster should have been lying on this folding bed. There is Mr. Foster’s breath on it.” The special police officer said.

Avery’s eyes were scarlet, she opened the folding bed, and sniffed it.

Mike cleared his throat: “Avery, since the dog has already smelled it, you should stop smelling it. We can take this bed away. This is the evidence!”

Avery choked her throat and said, “Let’s find Margaret now! Let Margaret give me an explanation!”

“Avery, I don’t have Margaret’s number, you can call her. But she said yesterday that she would never see you again. I’m afraid she won’t answer your phone.”

Mike said, “Why don’t I send someone to Travis’s house now to see if Margaret is at home.”

“I’ll call her first!” Avery took out the phone from her bag and dialed Margaret with trembling fingers.

Sorry, the user you dialed has been turned off, please try again later.

Margaret’s phone was turned off!

Avery took the mobile phone in front of her and glanced at it, because Margaret’s phone was turned off, the system has automatically hung up.

After taking a deep breath, she dialed Travis.

As a result, Travis’s mobile phone also couldn’t get through.

Mike took everything in his eyes, “I’ll send someone to Jones’s house to take a look!”

“Yeah.” Avery answered and dialed Emilio.

Emilio answered the phone very quickly: “Avery, do you have anything to do with me?”

“Your dad and Margaret don’t answer my phone, do you know where they are?”

“They don’t answer your phone?” Emilio said, his brain started running at a high speed, “Did they block you? I heard that you kidnapped Margaret yesterday...”

“Since you don’t know, then I’ll go find them myself.” Avery endured Furious, she said indifferently, “Margaret kidnapped Elliot, I’ve got the evidence! If Margaret is in front of me now, I wouldn’t kidnap her so easily!”

When Elliot came out, Avery couldn’t guess what impulsive things he would do.

“Oh...I’ll ask! Don’t worry, I’ll ask for you.” Emilio felt the seriousness of the matter, “By the way, how did you find the evidence?”

“The evidence is in Margaret’s company!”

“Oh! Good! Now that you have found the evidence, they will definitely return Elliot to you.” Emilio called his father’s assistant immediately after talking to Avery on the phone.

“Where’s my dad?” Emilio asked, “I have something important to do with him.”

The assistant immediately said, “Wait a minute. I’ll call the boss right away.”

After a while, Travis took the assistant’s phone and said, “What’s the matter? “

Dad, Avery called me and said that she had found evidence that you kidnapped Elliot. She couldn’t get through to you and Aunt Gomez, so she came to me.”

Emilio said, wanting to hear from his father. As a result, his father just breathed a little harder and didn’t speak immediately.

“Dad, I know that Aunt Gomez must have done it. You and Aunt Gomez are not married yet. You don’t have to fight against Avery and the Foster family for Aunt Gomez’s sake. It’s not good for us.”

Chapter 2058

“Are you teaching me to do things?” Travis sneered.

“Dad, I’m just afraid that this incident will involve our family. Avery said on the phone that she would never let Margaret go. Avery can mobilize the huge forces behind Elliot. Do you really want to confront them?" Emilio persuaded, "Even if we face it head on, we're afraid we won't be able to win. Why do we do this when we know we'll lose?"

"Emilio, you are too self-righteous. Your elder brother is better than you because he believes in me more. Because of this, he is stupid. He is not as smart as you."

Travis rudely berated his two sons, "If what I see develops as you expected, do you think I will face it head-on? I'm 73 years old, stinky boy, I've eaten more salt than you have eaten rice, do you think I'm so confused, that's why you just said that to me?"

"Dad... I didn't. I didn't question you. I was just afraid that our Jones family would fall into unnecessary disputes." Emilio said this, guessing what his father's words meant in his heart, "Dad, if you and Aunt Gomez are now If you don't reply to her, she will definitely stop at our door."

"I'll get back to her later. I'm a little busy right now, so I don't have time to talk to her." Travis seemed to be in good spirits.

Emilio couldn't guess what chips his father had in his hand. It should be said that Margaret has any chips in his hand.

If Margaret simply kidnapped Elliot, she would not dare to be so arrogant.

"Emilio, you don't need to worry about this matter. I'll give you a new task now."

Travis pondered for a while, then confessed, "I have promised Norah to help her complete the gambling agreement with Elliot. When the time comes, she will get the shares of Tate Industries, and then transferred the shares that belonged to her to my name."

"Oh, since you've already talked, what do you want me to do?" Emilio was puzzled.

"Norah has the same temperament as when I was young, proud, sensitive and impulsive. Her ability is higher than you and your elder brother, but it's a pity that she is a woman, if she were a man, you and your elder brother would have nothing to do with her. It's gone!" Travis's tone was contemptuous.

Emilio knew very well that this was his father's usual trick.

Travis does not want his children to have a close relationship, nor does he want them to have a harmonious relationship.

Travis is afraid that they will work together to overthrow his hegemony at home!

That's why he often says this kind of sobering words.

Travis's method is very successful. The children of the Jones family usually do not communicate with each other, and their relationship is very indifferent.

After Emilio finished talking with his father, he called Avery.

"My dad said he would call you back later. I'm not sure when he said it would be later." Emilio said, glanced around, and lowered his voice, "He is in the company now, If you can't wait, you can go to the company to find him immediately. As for Margaret, I don't know where she is."

"Thank you." Avery hung up after saying this.

She looked at Mike and said, "Go to MH Medicine."

"Are you sure?" Mike hesitated, "You can't just go to MH Medicine. That's Travis's business empire... I'll call more bodyguards."

"Well." Avery's emotions were intense now, but she was also calm.

Now comes the most critical time, whether it can successfully save Elliot back.

Chapter 2059

After half an hour, Mike mobilized enough bodyguards to go to MH Medicine with Avery.

At this time, Travis's call came to Avery's mobile phone.

Avery answered the phone without thinking.

"Avery, I heard that you have found evidence that Elliot is with us. Tell me, what is the evidence?" Travis calmly ignited Avery's anger.

"You brought Elliot from Yonroeville to Bridgedale and put it in Margaret's company. I was in Margaret's company and found the folding bed where you put Elliot. Travis, what else do you want to argue?!"

"Oh! How can you be sure that Elliot slept in that folding bed?" Travis still didn't know how the matter was exposed.

"The search-and-rescue dog smelled Elliot on the folding bed. Margaret's phone was turned off, do you intend to let you face it alone?" Avery asked, "I'll give you a day, before it gets dark today, if you don't give Elliot back to me, and I will kill you and Margaret at all costs! If you are not afraid of death, you can try it!"

How could Travis not be afraid of death?

In Avery's words, Travis heard a strong murderous aura. So his tone softened:

"Avery, let me tell you the truth! I can't contact Margaret today. I had to try on the wedding dress that I had ordered, but I couldn't get through to her."

Avery: "What do you mean?"

"Margaret is missing. It's true that she kidnapped Elliot, and it has nothing to do with me." Travis immediately dumped the blame, "Margaret secretly brought Elliot to my plane in Yonroeville at the time. I only learned about this when I returned to Bridgedale. She told me to leave her alone, or she would stop my medicine. "

Avery frowned, not expecting such a situation!

"You also found out about my investment in Margaret. I invested in her, and she developed anti-aging drugs for me. I have to take medicine every day. So I can't live without her. I can't anger her." Travis said that he was also a victim, and left himself clean. "What do you think I'm arresting Elliot for? I don't like men, and I didn't use him to get you half a penny... This matter has nothing to do with me! Go to Margaret if you want!"

"Where did she go?!" Avery had a splitting headache.

She thought She had found a clue and would be able to rescue Elliot soon, but who knows, Margaret is left!

Without Margaret, she couldn't find out Elliot's whereabouts!

"I told you from the beginning that I can't contact her. My wedding to her is approaching, I can't find her, and I'm also anxious!" Travis spoke faster, "Avery, go find Margaret! If you find her, please let me know as soon as possible!"

"Travis! You old rascal!" Avery yelled, "Tell me, what happened to Elliot when you saw him?! Is he still alive? What did Margaret kidnap him for? Did Margaret hurt him? How is his health now?!"

Avery couldn't wait to know the answers to these questions.

She can't see Elliot's figure, and she can get the definite news that he is still alive!

"Avery, haven't you met Margaret herself? Don't you think she's a bad person who does all kinds of evil? Didn't you say that your teacher praised her? You don't even believe what your teacher said?" Travis asked here, relieved, "I still won't say it, because I don't know what the specific situation is. I can only tell you that when you find Margaret, you will definitely not hate her so much."

Chapter 2060

Travis seems to have said something, but it seems that he didn't say anything.

What Travis meant was that Margaret didn't hurt Elliot? But in this case, why did Margaret take Elliot away? Avery: "Margaret took Elliot away for no reason, no matter what her purpose or motive was, I can't forgive her! Travis, you can get rid of yourself now, but don't let me catch you! Let me find out that you have something to do with this matter, I swear, I will never let you go!"

"Avery, since I dare to tell you that this matter has nothing to do with me, then I am not afraid of your investigation. You can't think of a reason yourself? I never ask about Margaret's laboratory. Even if I ask, she won't tell me. You may overestimate my influence on her. I made up my mind that I depend on her, so every time she asks me for money, she doesn't have to worry that I won't give it. Of course, she is not completely afraid that I will not support her, so she proposes to marry me.

"Travis told Avery about the matter. Travis: "Do you still think that I have something to do with your Elliot? Hahaha!"

"This matter may have nothing to do with you, but you must know where Margaret is!"

Avery just wanted to find Margaret and ask her to marry Travis immediately...

"Avery, stop being aggressive! I told you to find it yourself. Don't ask me! I won't tell you if you ask me!"

Travis hung up the phone after finishing speaking. The car stopped on the road. Mike said, "Avery, do you know about the March Medical Award? There is still a month before this award will be announced. I heard that Margaret's biggest dream is to be awarded this award."

Avery followed Mike's words and guessed: "Do you think she went to the March Medical Award?"

"Yes. Let's go back first. I'll check to see if she really participated in the selection of this award."

Mike said, "If she does participate in the selection of this award, it will not be difficult to find her in person..."

Avery nodded.

...

After Travis and Avery finished talking on the phone, the assistant stepped down.

Travis picked up his mobile phone, turned it on, and dialed another number from Margaret.

"Margaret, Avery ran to your company with a search and rescue dog today, and found Elliot's scent in your company."

Travis told Margaret everything, "I didn't expect her to do this."

"What else did she say?" Margaret asked calmly.

"Death threat! She said that if we didn't hand over Elliot, she would kill us."

Travis wanted to make a teasing smile, but the corners of his mouth were stiff and he couldn't smile. He never underestimated the power behind Avery.

Behind Avery is not only the Dream Makers Group, but also Elliot's forces. If this was in Aryadelle, Travis would have been dealt with long ago.

"Haha! Don't pay attention to her. Let her worry. I have suffered no less than her over the years. What is she?"

Margaret said calmly, "Travis, don't be afraid, Avery's mouth is ruthless. She didn't dare to do anything to you. If she was really as powerful as she said, she would have taken action long ago. She didn't suspect us only today."

"Margaret, why are you so calm?" Travis replied.

Margaret's research and Margaret's inner thoughts are indeed not well understood.

"Elliot is in my hands, what should I be afraid of?"

Margaret said lazily, "Do you believe in her or in me?"

Travis: "Of course I believe in you."

Margaret: "Well."

Travis: "Well, then you should be clean, I won't disturb you."

Margaret: "Hmm."

Mike sent Avery home, and after having lunch with her, he began to check the shortlist for the March Medical Award.

In the afternoon, Mike knocked on Avery's bedroom door.

Avery did not rest, but sat by the window to bask in the sun, with a very quiet expression on her face.

Mike knocked on her door and walked in, and asked, "Why didn't you sleep?"

"Can't sleep."

Avery looked at him, "You didn't sleep either?"

Mike: "Well, it stands to reason that such a famous award must have its own official website and intranet. However, I...I didn't find anything. I suspect that they may not use the Internet, but the most traditional way of writing documents."

Avery: "It is indeed possible. To apply for this award, you need complete information...When Professor James Hough applied for this award, he prepared several cartons of materials. Maybe they did complete the entire selection process in a traditional way."

Mike: "Then we can't find out if Margaret has applied."

"She should have applied."

Avery guessed, "She kidnapped Elliot, and she must have used Elliot to complete her experiment."

"What's wrong with Margaret? She wants to find someone to experiment with. There were so many people in the world, but she only chose Elliot, why? and She was not afraid that Elliot would be free in the future and kill her?"

Mike felt horrified. It can't guess what Elliot has become now.

"Margaret hates Professor James Hough, and she also hates me. So Elliot...I was dragged down by me."

Avery blamed herself, "Margaret should have transferred Elliot to a new place after I came to Bridgedale."

Mike: "If all this is Margaret's plan, and it is to win the Award, she will definitely not let us find Elliot easily." Avery didn't answer. She was thinking about what Margaret did to Elliot. But she can't guess. She could live in the basement and wait for rescue. It stands to reason that Elliot was taken away by Margaret before she was rescued, so Elliot must be alive at that time. What research does Margaret do with a living person, and can he win the March Medical Award jury?"

Avery didn't want to wait for a moment.

"You got up so early today, take a rest first. I'll go and find out the list of judges. The list of judges should be easy to find. I've got the list and I'll give it to you immediately."

Mike put his hand on her shoulder, "This matter will come to light soon, you must recover quickly."

"Then you go to the list."

Avery's eyes flashed with anxiety, "I feel like I will see you soon. Elliot's gone, I can't sleep... As soon as I close my eyes, I can't help thinking about him..."

Mike: "I understand how you feel. Ben Schaffer will be here soon. We will be sure when the time comes. I can rescue Elliot."

Avery: "Well."

Avery lay down on the bed and stared at the light outside the window without blinking.

After watching it for a while, her eyes were so stinging that she couldn't bear it, so she closed her eyes.

After a while, her breathing gradually became even.

Mike saw that she was asleep, so he was relieved to leave her room.

In the evening.

Mike got the list of the judges of the March Medical Award and handed the list to Avery.

Avery looked at a name on the list, and her eyes gradually lit up.

"Do you know the people in there?" Mike asked.

"They're all old professors."

Chapter 2062

Avery nodded: "There is a professor inside, I have seen it before."

Mike: "Then do you still have his contact information?"

Avery shook her head: "I met him with Professor Hough at the time. The professor Hough has his contact information, but I don't."

"Then let's go to the old professor directly!"

Mike said, "Which professor are you talking about?"

"Mike, I'll find him myself. I can find him."

Avery put away the list and changed to a light topic, "I slept well in the afternoon."

"You haven't slept for a few hours, so you slept now?"

Mike glanced at her, "but you look good. It is indeed better. The doctor will come to give you an infusion later, and you can rest well tonight. Even if you want to go to the old professor, it will be tomorrow."

"Well. I won't go out tonight."

After a nap in the afternoon, Avery's mood was much calmer.

Anyway, there were important clues.

Margaret could hide for a while, but not forever.

After a month at the latest, Margaret will appear.

After dinner, Avery made a video for Layla.

Layla quickly picked up the video.

Layla: "Mom, I had a dream last night, I dreamed about Dad!"

Layla received the video with excitement on her face, "Dad said he would be back soon! He said he was hiding on purpose, making us anxious, Let us know how important he is...if only everything in the dream was real."

"Layla, even if the dream is not real, it must be infinitely close to reality."

"Did you dream about Dad at night?" Layla asked curiously.

Avery: "Yes! Your dad dreams of me every day. Sometimes he says he's lost, but he tries to get back to us, and sometimes he tells me he misses us."

Layla frowned, "Ah? How could Dad get lost? I really want to bring Dad back."

"I'll bring him home."

Avery's mouth raised, "Is Robert wake up? Mom is missing him very much."

"Mom, my brother has caught a cold these two days and hasn't gone to school. He must still be sleeping."

Layla took the phone and walked towards Robert's room, "It's been cooling down here for the past two days, so my brother has a cold."

"Does Robert have a fever? Did you give him any medicine?"

Avery was worried.

"No fever. Just a runny nose and a cough."

Layla walked to the door of Robert's room, opened it carefully, and glanced inside.

"Mom, my brother is still sleeping!"

Layla turned the camera to the back and showed her brother a look on the big bed.

"When I get back from school at night, I'll make a video call for you. Mom, don't worry for brother. It's just a small cold, and it'll be fine in two days."

"Well, Layla, how is your Teacher Larson?"

Avery was a little worried that Katalina would be embarrassed by her family or Norah for exposing the truth.

"Teacher Larson is very good! Mom, why do you care about Teacher Larson all of a sudden?"

Layla thought for a while, and a smile appeared on the corner of her mouth,

"Uncle Aqi has been good to Teacher Larson these days!"

Avery: "Well, Teacher Larson has helped us a lot."

"That's it! Then I have to thank Teacher Larson."

Layla said, wondering, "What kind of help did Teacher Larson help us?"

"Didn't Aqi tell you? Teacher Larson told us a few days ago that Norah did the accident with your father in Yonroeville."

Avery said to her daughter, "I've almost found your father. If we can find your father successfully, we will thank Teacher Larson."

Layla: "Wow, Teacher Larson is so nice. I knew she was definitely different from a bad woman like Norah!"

"Layla, at present, you, Teacher Larson, have indeed helped us a lot. But your mother still wants you to remember that it is essential to be wary of others. My accident with your father in Yonroeville is a painful lesson."

Avery taught, "At any time, you should never be alone. You are different from ordinary girls. There are countless pairs of eyes staring at you in the dark, some kind and some malicious."

Chapter 2063

"Mom, I know. A classmate invited me to her birthday party these days, but I refused. You and Dad didn't come back, I'm in a bad mood. And I don't want to play outside. I leave school every day and come home in time, it's safe, don't worry about me." Layla said obediently.

Now that Avery is exhausted trying to find Dad, Layla doesn't want her mom to worry anymore.

"Mom knows you're good. It's mom and dad who made you suffer the grievances you shouldn't have to bear."

Avery said in pain, "When I get your dad back, I will persuade your brother to come back with us. At that time, our family will never be separated again."

Layla: "Mmmm! Mom, hearing you say that makes me so happy all of a sudden."

Seeing her daughter's cheerful face, Avery also laughed.

After talking about the video call, Avery turned around and saw the doctor standing behind her with a medicine box.

She cleared her throat in embarrassment: "When did you come? My injury is all right... I can take anti-inflammatory drugs, no need for drips."

"Is there any blood oozing from the wound today?"

The doctor ask.

"No, I'm resting at home today, I'm not running around."

Avery got up and wanted to pour a glass of water for the doctor.

"Miss Tate, Don't get. Please sit down, I don't drink water this time."

The doctor said with a smile, "If you don't ooze blood today, you don't need to have an IV. But remember to take your medicine."

"Yeah. I want to get better soon. Thank you for your trip. You told Mike about the March Medical Award, right? Thank you for telling us about such an important matter." Avery thanked him.

"Miss Tate, you're too polite. But I really didn't expect Margaret to be so bold. She dared to kidnap such an influential person as Mr.Foster.I really don't know what's on her mind.She shouldn't think she Being relatively old and being Professor James Hough's junior sister, you can do whatever you want, right?" Avery shook her head: "I got in touch with her, and I felt that she did not rely on the old to sell the old.On the contrary, I think...Her thinking is very clear and her energy is relatively strong.She must be doing something terrible behind the scenes."

The doctor: "You haven't found Margaret yet."

Avery: "She's hiding."

The doctor: "It's not like her style.Since she dares to do it, why doesn't she dare to face it? Does she think that she can escape? "

... At the same time, a high-end apartment.

Norah stayed at home for two days, and today she heard that Avery was targeting Margaret.

In the past two days, she has not answered other people's calls except Travis's.Her mood fell to the bottom, and she didn't expect to be stabbed in the back.

In addition, she is also thinking about her next way out.She doesn't want to be Travis's pawn, and she doesn't want to be retaliated by Elliot and Avery... She must find a way to escape.

Also, she felt that Katalina must have betrayed herself secretly.

Just thinking about it made her teeth itch with hatred.

Even though the two of them were cousins, she would never let this cousin go.

Even if she was going to die, she had to pull Katalina back.

Chapter 2064

Before she made up her mind, she called her mother.

"Norah, are you alright? I've called you in the past two days, but you don't answer, and I'm so anxious!"

Madelyn said anxiously, "I can't reach you, so I can only call Travis. He said you're fine, I can sleep well now."

"Mom, but I'm in such a bad mood! I hope you understand."

Norah picked up the glass in front of her and took a sip, "Did you talk to Auntie on the phone?"

"I told your aunt about your situation, and your aunt called Katalina, but she didn't answer."

Madelyn sighed, "Maybe Katalina really told Avery what you did. Katalina is really ignorant. How dare she speak out about such an important matter?

Doesn't she know that doing so will kill you!"

"Mom, you're still talking for her at this time? She's going to kill me. Call her Katalina?! She's not a three-year-old, she's already in her twenties! She knows what she's doing, and what kind of danger I'll face if she does, but she still chooses to betray me! There is no such cousin. My aunt's family, I will never come back!"

Norah expressed her attitude.

Madelyn choked out: "Norah, what does Katalina do, what does it have to do with your aunt? Your aunt will never hurt your mind. You know, Katalina seems to be in a period of rebelliousness recently, and she wants to make trouble with you. your Auntie cut off her relationship..."

Norah: "Mom, I only have one life. Now Avery wants my life, do you think I still have time to have a good relationship with my relatives? I'm not that generous. Who hurt me? If it becomes like this, I will do my revenge again! I will be punished, and I don't want to take any small losses! I'm going to die, and I will definitely not let the person who harmed me feel better!"

Madelyn: "Then what do you want to do? Do you want to kill Katalina? Norah, don't be like this...Don't worry...Avery can't kill you.I asked Travis, Travis said that you are safe for the time being..."

Norah: "I'm only temporarily safe, not forever.Mom, as long as I close my eyes these two days, I'll dream that Elliot and Avery are coming to ask for my life.I've been fighting for all these years, but I'm going to rot in Katalina's hands! The heart of hate is dripping blood!"

Madelyn sobbed, not knowing how to answer her daughter's words.

Norah: "Mom, don't worry.Even if I want to seek revenge from Katalina, I will do it without leaking, and I will never let my aunt suspect me.I tell you because I am in too much pain!"

Madelyn compromised, "Norah, I know your pain and I don't blame you.Do whatever you want.Mom won't tell you! No one's daughter is as important as my own!"

"Mom, if I die, I don't recognize this father.I have only one father, and that is your current husband."

Norah finished what she wanted to say as if she was explaining his funeral, "I have a bank card.I saved a sum of money.I'll tell you the password later.If I really die, you will take the money out and retire later."

"Norah...you won't die.I will call Travis every day.If he says that he can't protect you, you will run away... The world is so big, there is always room for you to alive!"

"Mom, I can't escape."

Norah shed two lines of tears, unable to speak properly, "I never say regret... This time, I don't want to say regret either."

.....

Bridgedale.

Sunshine kicks off a new day.

At eight in the morning, Avery heard the sound of a car stopping downstairs, so she got out of bed and went to the balcony to take a look.

Then she quickly turned back to the wardrobe, took a thin coat and put it on, then went to the bathroom to wash quickly.

After finishing her grooming, she came out of the bedroom.

Ben Schaffer entered the living room to change his shoes, and when he saw Avery come out, he immediately smiled at her.

Chapter 2065

Ben: "Avery, have you been okay lately?"

"Well. Why did you suddenly decide to come here?"

Avery asked, "The matter here is about to be sorted out, and we will be able to find Elliot in a short time.

"It's been hard for you these days. I came here because you were sure that Elliot was here, so I had to come. Besides, Norah is hiding here now, as long as I think of the disgusting things Norah has done, it's uncomfortable."

Ben Schaffer said this, his thick eyebrows furrowed, "Her contract was signed with Elliot, so I can wait. When Elliot comes out, let Elliot teach her a lesson!"

Avery nodded : "What time did you get here?"

"I arrived at 2:00 a.m. I rested at the hotel for a night. I thought you should get up now, so I came here."

Ben Schaffer gave her a look, "I heard that you were injured, how's the injury?"

"It's better now, it's not in the way."

Avery glanced at the kitchen.

The nanny was waiting by the side, and when she saw her looking over, she immediately said, "Breakfast is ready."

Avery looked at Ben Schaffer: "Have you eaten breakfast?"

"Yes, I have eaten at the hotel. But I can have a little more..."

Ben Schaffer walked towards the dining room with her, "Has Hayden gone to school? Mike is still sleeping?"

"It should be. Mike ran around with me these days, and didn't sleep well." Avery blamed herself, and continued, "And Hayden, who also spent a lot of energy in order to help me check the details of Jones's family."

Ben: "Avery, don't blame yourself."

Avery: "I know. I misunderstood him before, and I always like to think of his feelings for me as I think. I always feel that his love for me and my love for him are not the same."

"Just get rid of the misunderstanding. When he comes back, you must not break up casually. Maybe next time you break up, you will never get back together again."

Ben Schaffer sighed, "Between people and people The feelings we have for each other won't change forever. If you get hurt a lot, you won't be able to get back to the past even if you repair it. Besides, no one knows who will come first tomorrow or the accident."

Avery took his words into her heart, after a while she asked, "How are you and Gwen?"

Even if Ben didn't say that, she'd already figured it out. She can want nothing in the future, but she must be with Elliot.

"If nothing happened to you and Elliot, we should all start preparing for the wedding now."

Ben Schaffer shrugged, "Gwen still cares about Elliot. Of course, I do too. Before Elliot came back, I'll talk about my marriage with her later!"

Avery lowered her head.

"Don't talk about us. Finding Elliot is the most important thing now."

Ben Schaffer looked at her, "Is there anything I can do? Looking for Margaret?

Or find Elliot in the whole Bridgedale?"

"It's enough to find Margaret. Elliot is in her hands. You send someone to look for it in secret, I think Margaret shouldn't hide too far."

Avery picked up the milk cup, took a mouthful of milk, and said slowly, "I'm going to see an old professor today, to see if I can find out what Margaret was doing to capture Elliot."

Ben Schaffer was very interested in what Avery said: "I'll go see the old professor with you."

Chapter 2066

After breakfast, Avery went back to the room to change clothes.

When she got dressed and came out, Mike was already woken up, and he didn't know what Avery was talking about with Ben Schaffer.

"Mike, I'm going out with Ben Schaffer today. You have a good rest at home."

Avery walked up to them and spoke to Mike. Mike scratched his head: "I had a good rest last night."

"If you don't want to rest at home, you can go to the company! I have made an appointment with Ben Schaffer."

Avery looked at Ben Schaffer, "Let's go.!"

Mike sent them out.

Mike: "If there is any situation, remember to tell me as soon as possible!"

"Got it. You'd better rest at home, you look too haggard."

Avery got into the car, and before closing the door, she glanced at Mike again.

"It's not the first day you met me. You think, I have dark circles under my eyes after I slept... No, it should be called bags under my eyes."

Mike closed the car door for her, and then asked ten other bodyguards to follow her.

After they went out, Mike returned to the house, had a leisurely breakfast, and drove to the company. At Dream maker group.

After Mike stopped the car in the ground parking space, he strode into the company. There was an exclusive elevator on the first floor, and he needed to swipe a special card to ride.

Only he and Hayden can sit in this elevator. He took the elevator to his office, only to find that Hayden was there.

"Is there no class in your school today?"

Mike immediately leaned over to Hayden to see what Hayden was doing.

"No class." Hayden said, looking at the computer screen intently.

"Who are you sending an email to?"

Mike looked at his computer interface, "What's in the attachment?"

"This is a great gift from me to Travis."

In addition to taking classes and occasionally checking the company's official business these days, Hayden, The rest of the time was spent digging for the Jones family's fierce materials.

Travis is a well-known entrepreneur in Bridgedale. He has done a perfect job of face saving projects.

Every year, the company donates medical supplies to medical institutions in poor areas, and regularly donates money to charity associations.

Although his private life is dissolute, he has married many wives, and when he has a wife, he often makes new friends at the same time, but when people mention him, they still praise him more than criticize him.

After all, he is not the only rich man with a chaotic private life.

Travis's private life style, as long as his wife and new love don't mind, will have no impact on others and society.

These cannot hide his outstanding contributions to the whole society.

"You send me the video." Mike was very curious.

"Wait."

Hayden is adding the mailbox numbers of famous media people in Bridgedale.

After adding recipients, Hayden pressed the send button without hesitation!

After sending the email, Hayden opened the video and showed it to Mike.

Inside the video is a burly middle-aged man.

Facing the camera, he began to introduce his identity, as well as various documents and materials that could prove his identity.

Mike: "This is Travis's bodyguard captain?"

Hayden: "Former bodyguard captain. He resigned the year before last because of his injury."

Mike: "Oh...how did you find him?"

Chapter 2067

"Searching Travis's previous pictures can often see this person."

Hayden said, "It means that this person must know the secrets of Travis. So I found him and bought him with money."

"It should cost a lot of money. Right? Travis is also a ruthless character in Bridgedale, and a little money will definitely not impress his former bodyguard. After all, once this video is exposed, Travis will definitely find someone to kill him."

Mike's guess was right.

"I helped his family go abroad. In addition, I gave him a lot of money, enough for his family to live a prosperous life in the future." Hayden returned.

"Hayden, you've been quiet these past few days. I didn't expect you to do such a big thing secretly! You really are someone who has achieved great things. You are too strong!" Mike fell into the ground in admiration.

"He bullied my mother, of course I won't let him go."

Hayden closed the notebook and asked, "Where is my mother? Why didn't you stay with my mother today?"

"Your uncle Ben is here. Today your mother is with uncle Ben."

Mike sat down in the chair next to him, "I don't know if they went to the old professor and could ask for some inside information."

... Avery and Ben Schaffer went to a bookstore... Avery got the contact information of the old professor through his wife last night. She sent a message to the old professor last night, asking the old professor to meet, the old professor agreed, and set to meet in this bookstore.

After arriving at the bookstore, Avery recognized the old professor who was reading a book by a row of shelves.

"Professor Greens."

Avery walked over immediately and greeted the other party, "Hello, Professor. I am Avery, a student of Professor Hough."

Professor Greens saw Avery and immediately put the book in his hand on the bookshelf.

"Hello, Avery. After you messaged me last night, I quickly remembered you."

Professor Greens reached out to Avery.

After the two shook hands, they began to chat.

Professor Greens: "When James Houg died, I wanted to go to his funeral, but I was sick and hospitalized at the time, so I couldn't go to see him."

Avery: "Professor, my teacher's funeral was in accordance with his wishes, everything was simple, and there was no banquet and Guest."

"I heard, but even so, if I hadn't been hospitalized at the time, I would have gone to see him."

There was a trace of silence in Professor Greens' eyes, "He is my best friend."

Avery: "Professor, don't be sad. My teacher has been gone for so many years, but I never feel that he has really left me. What has left is only his body, his spirit, and his soul, which have always been there."

Professor Greens listened to her words and said softly and laughing loudly: "Do you have anything to do with me? Is it about the March Medical Award? Do you want to participate in the selection?"

Avery shook her head repeatedly: "No. I want to ask you something about Margaret Gomez, the Professor Hough's junior sister, have you heard of it?"

"Margaret, of course I know her. I had dinner with her not long ago."

Professor Greens walked to a desk and sat down.

Avery sat down beside him. Ben Schaffer wanted to walk over to say hello, but there were only two seats there. If he passed, there would be no place for him to sit at all. He could only endure curiosity and wait patiently.

"She did participate in this award selection and was shortlisted."

Professor Greens whispered, "How do you know about this? Before the results were announced, this information was not disclosed to the public."

Avery took a deep breath, said awkwardly: "Margaret kidnapped my ex-husband. I suspect that she used my ex-husband for experiments."

Professor Greens: "This..."

"Professor Greens, can you help me? I can't find Margaret now, she is hiding. If I can't find Margaret, I can't find my ex-husband. My ex-husband is very important to me. I can't lose him."

Avery's eyes flushed and she prayed.

Professor Greens looked serious and asked, "What's your ex-husband's name? What does he look like?"

"His name is Elliot Foster."

Avery turned on her phone and showed her Elliot's photo, "Do you know what research results Margaret used? Did you participate in the selection?"

Chapter 2068

Ben Schaffer tried to walk near them and pricked up his ears to eavesdrop.

But the two of them didn't speak very loudly, even if Avery was in pain and emotional, her voice was still controlled so as not to disturb other people.

Ben Schaffer failed to eavesdrop, returned to his original position, picked up his mobile phone, secretly took a picture of Avery and Professor Greens sitting on the side chatting privately, and sent it to Mike.

Ben Schaffer: [I am superfluous.]

Mike: [Hahahahahaha!]

Ben Schaffer: [Looking at Avery's expression, I feel that the matter is serious.]

Mike: [Shouldn't Elliot be dead?]

Ben Schaffer: [Shut up!]

Mike: [You said it was serious...]

Ben Schaffer: [I thought she was a little emotional.]

Mike: [That's because you haven't been with her lately. She has been emotionally intense every day recently.]

Ben Schaffer: [Oh! I wish I thought more.]

Mike: [There's a good show to watch today.]

Ben Schaffer: [What a good show? where to look?]

Mike: [You are such a gossip! If you accompany Avery, just accompany her well, what are you doing!] .

Shengbei: [? ? ?]

Mike: [When I know what Avery talked about with that old professor, I'll tell you what a good show.]

Jones family.

In the master bedroom, Travis woke up from a nap and rang the service bell next to him.

Soon, the servant entered the master bedroom and waited for Travis to get up.

Travis took the glasses from the servant and put them on.

The world in front of him suddenly became bright and clear.

The servant: "The second young master is here.He has been waiting in the living room for more than an hour."

Travis immediately stood up after hearing this.

Travis: "What's he doing here?"

"He didn't say anything.There should be something else, or it wouldn't have been so long."

The servant helped Travis to the door.Then Travis strode into the living room.

Seeing his father coming, Emilio immediately stood up from the sofa: "Dad, have you seen the video?"

"What video? I was taking a nap, and I didn't watch anything."

Travis felt the situation was serious on his son's face.

Emilio picked up his mobile phone and planned to transfer the video to his father.

At the same time, Travis opened his mobile phone and saw several missed calls.

Travis frowned and dialed one of the numbers.

After the call was made, the other party didn't know what to say, and Travis's face changed drastically.

Travis: "Send me the video!"

"Okay, I'll send it to you."

The person over the phone said, "By the way, as far as I know, in addition to this video I have, there are many media and everyone has received this video. I have a good relationship with you, so I told you privately. I don't have to publish it, but I am afraid others will publish it... Someone has already posted, saying that it will be on time at 8 o'clock tonight Breaking news."

"F*ck!"

Travis yelled, "Do me a favor, see who has this video in their hands, tell me their contact information, and I'll find them!"

"Okay, I'll go check it out for you."

Travis hung up the phone with a look of anger.

"Dad, take a look at the video!"

Emilio opened the video and brought it to his father, "It was sent to me by a friend who is a media practitioner.

It was said that at the same time, many people received this video."Chapter 2066 After breakfast, Avery went back to the room to change clothes.

When she got dressed and came out, Mike was already waken up, and he didn't know what Avery was talking about with Ben Schaffer.

"Mike, I'm going out with Ben Schaffer today.

You have a good rest at home."

Avery walked up to them and spoke to Mike.

Mike scratched his head: "I had a good rest last night."

"If you don't want to rest at home, you can go to the company! I have made an appointment with Ben Schaffer."

Avery looked at Ben Schaffer, "Let's go.

!"

Mike sent them out.

Mike: "If there is any situation, remember to tell me as soon as possible!"

"Got it.

Chapter 2069

Travis squinted his eyes and watched the video carefully.

"I worked by Travis's side for fifteen years. I quit my job the year before last due to injury and returned to my hometown. For more than a year, I have been tormented in my heart. Every time I close my eyes, there will be a line of dead souls calling me wrong..... In the fifteen years I worked with Travis, I helped him kill 18 people in total, his lover and Jones's children. Of course, these Jones's children were not Travis's real children. Travis declared that these were the children of Travis. His child, because he wants to cover up that he has no reproductive function!"

'Bang!' Travis slammed Emilio's phone to the ground! But the video on the phone was still playing.

"Eighteen lives, it's just that he ordered me to kill, he has many bodyguards, and he also assigned his other bodyguards to kill people... The women and children who have died in Travis's hands over the years, it is estimated that Travis can't remember how many."

"Shut up, b*stard! Shut up!"

Travis said violently, raised his foot to Emilio's phone, and stepped on it several times until the phone stops making any sound.

Emilio saw his mobile phone scrapped at his father's feet, and a layer of cold sweat broke out on his back.

"Dad... calm down."

Emilio looked at his father's swaying body and immediately helped him to sit down on the sofa, "These videos have not been exposed yet. We can buy them back with money."

Travis raised his hand to support his forehead, panting heavily: "Emilio... this matter, you can do it! If it is done, I will definitely leave the bulk of the Jones family's property to you in the future. If it can't be done... then I can only find someone who is more capable..."

"Dad, I'll do it now."

Emilio finished speaking and put the scrapped mobile phone on the ground. Pick it up and stride away.

As soon as Emilio left, Travis immediately called his confidant.

"Hurry up and find that b*stard, the traitor! When he left, I gave him a large amount of hush money! He actually treated me like this! I think he is tired of living!"

Travis planned to kill and silence him, "If you find him, Kill him immediately!"

"Yes!"

Travis: "Wait a minute! Bring some more people! If he dared to do this, he must have been bought at a higher price."

"Don't worry, I will act carefully!"

... About two hours later, Emilio gave a report to his father.

This is the price of the recycled video that he contacted the major media that received the video.

This is the so-called 'sealing fee'.

After Travis glanced at the report, his blood pressure was soaring.

"F*ck! The lions are talking loudly! I'm slaughtering me like a fool!"

Emilio: "Dad, this matter must not be exposed. If the police intervene..."

"What the h-e-l-l are you doing?! The boss of the police station has a good relationship! Besides, this is my family's private matter, who dares to control me?"

Travis's tone was arrogant and arrogant.

Emilio did not speak.

If his father really didn't care about the exposure of the video, he wouldn't be so angry.

"Can't the price on this be lower?"

Travis questioned Emilio after a moment of silence.

"Dad, I bargained with them. You know, these people usually rely on this to eat. The content in the video is too exaggerated... So they will inevitably charge high prices."

Emilio explained.

Travis: "Okay! Very good! I have written down this hatred! I will let people call them money, and see if they are lucky in the future!"

Emilio understood the meaning of his father's words.

But for now, it's business to get the scandal down first.

At 6 o'clock in the evening, the finance department called Travis and said that all the money had been paid out according to the information on the list.

Travis lost a lot of money for no reason, and his heartache was unbearable. He couldn't even eat dinner.

"Travis, it's just a little money, it's a trivial matter."

Margaret comforted, "When I get the March Medical Prize, I will have more money in the future."

"Are you sure you can get the March Medical Prize?"

Travis looked very surprised.

Margaret nodded: "I received the exact news today.It should be me."

Chapter 2070

Travis's mood suddenly improved.

Lost money is treated as bankruptcy.

In the future, he will double his earnings.

.....

After Avery and Professor Greens finished chatting, they came out of the bookstore without saying a word.

When she got home, he locked herself in the bedroom.

Ben Schaffer wanted to ask her what happened several times, but he was too embarrassed to ask.

After Ben Schaffer sent Avery home, he called Mike and asked Mike to come back quickly.

As a result, Mike rushed home and knocked on Avery's door.He didn't get a response, so he didn't dare to bother.It was so evening.

"Go and call her out to eat!"

Ben Schaffer urged Mike.

Mike shook his head: "I don't dare.I think Elliot is probably dead.If not, why didn't she say a word?"

Ben Schaffer: "You keep saying that, I'm really unhappy! "

Then go and ask! What's the use of you standing in front of me?"

Mike pushed Ben Schaffer towards Avery's door, "If you don't ask, you probably won't be able to eat dinner."

Ben Schaffer took a deep breath. With a sigh of relief, his face was red and his ears were red, he raised his hand in a guilty conscience, and knocked on the door.

After a while, the door opened. Avery appeared in front of them.

"Avery, it's time to eat!"

Mike stood behind Ben Schaffer and said to Avery.

Avery responded and walked out of the room.

"Avery, what did that old professor tell you? I've been worried all afternoon since you were gloomy."

Ben Schaffer followed her and walked towards the dining room.

Avery's face was gloomy, and she opened her mouth with a trembling tone:

"Professor Greens told me that Margaret's research direction is resurrection."

Mike: "???"

Ben Schaffer: "!!!"

"Margaret may be Take Elliot to do her resurrection technique."

Avery sat down in the dining chair and looked at the table full of delicacies, without the slightest appetite.

"What do you mean? Elliot is dead? He was rescued by Margaret? Is that what you mean?"

Mike was at a loss.

"How could Elliot die? Avery was rescued behind him and she was all right, how could Elliot die?!"

Ben Schaffer couldn't accept Mike's statement.

Even if Elliot was rescued in the end, Ben Schaffer still couldn't accept that he died! Mike was stopped by Ben Schaffer's question.

But Mike repeated Avery's words several times, and that's what she meant!

"I had this doubt before. Until today, Professor Greens told me that in this predicament, people who are weak are more likely to endure longer. Because people with weaker bodies need food and water every day. It's not that big on the contrary..."

A man with a strong physique like Elliot could starve to death for three days without food and water.

However, Professor Greens is not yet sure that Margaret's experimenter is Elliot.

Professor Greens told Avery that he would go and find out for her.

Although Avery hasn't got a definite answer yet, she is already desperate in her heart.

When Ben Schaffer heard Avery's words, his heart ached so much that he couldn't breathe.

"Is there really a resurrection technique in this world?"

Ben Schaffer didn't believe it.

Chapter 2071

"I've never heard of it."

Mike replied, "If there is such a powerful medical skill, then Margaret can be consecrated! There will be no more dead people in this world! If Margaret is so awesome, she can collect experimental corpses at will, and you don't have to travel all the way from Yonroeville to bring Elliot back to life!"

Ben Schaffer nodded, then looked at Avery: "Avery, we don't understand medicine, you understand? What do you think about this matter? Is it true?"

Avery took a breath and shook her head: "I don't know. It's beyond my knowledge. I don't understand Margaret's abilities at all. So this matter may be true or false."

"You didn't ask that old professor?"

Ben Schaffer asked worriedly, "That old professor must have read Margaret's detailed research materials... This March Medical Award is not a pheasant award..."

"Professor Greens said he hasn't read Margaret's research materials. Because there are too many materials."

Avery lowered her eyes, "Let's eat first!"

"It means that Elliot is alive now?"

Ben Schaffer continued to ask, "If you don't understand this problem, I can't eat it."

"If you can't eat, then go back to the hotel! Don't interfere with our meal."

Mike said bluntly, "Avery doesn't know much now, she must have told us everything you know. If you didn't say anything, it means she doesn't know. You keep asking her, it will only make her more uncomfortable."

"I heard that it is alive."

Avery's eyelashes trembled before picking it up.

Putting down the chopsticks immediately, "But even if it is alive, it is not the same Elliot as before. Margaret must have moved his body."

Ben Schaffer received this answer and couldn't eat it anymore. His distressed face turned pale.

"Are you all right?"

Mike saw that something was wrong with him, and immediately said with concern, "Actually, as long as he's still alive, that's a good result."

"Elliot is dead... Can't you understand what Avery said just now? The real Elliot is dead. The Elliot who is alive now is just a man made by Margaret."

Mike listened to his words, With grief, he lost his appetite.

The three sat at the table, none of them in the mood to eat dinner.

The nanny watched from the side, and her heart became heavy.

Not long after, the gate of the yard opened, and a black car drove in. The nanny immediately reminded: "Hayden is back!"

Mike heard this sentence, remembered something, and said to Avery, "Hayden helped you get revenge on Travis."

He wanted Avery to be happy.

"What? Will Hayden be in danger?"

Avery was only worried about Hayden's safety.

"Don't worry! Travis is not Hayden's opponent at all!"

Mike turned on his mobile phone and showed Avery the picture, "This is the Dream Maker Group Building, and today I will let people broadcast live at the entrance of the building. Wait for eight o'clock, good show Let's start!"

"What's the name of the live broadcast room? I'll go take a look too."

Ben Schaffer asked, "What kind of good show is it?"

At that time, Hayden walked in.

"Hayden, come and eat!"

Ben Schaffer greeted.

"Uncle Ben."

Hayden put down his schoolbag, walked to the dining room, called Ben Schaffer, then walked to the faucet next to him and washed his hands.

"Hayden, what did you do to Travis?" Avery asked, looking in her son's direction.

"Let everyone know what kind of person Travis is."

After Hayden finished calmly, he walked to the dining table and sat down, "Eat! I'm hungry."

Since Hayden said that he was hungry, others had no appetite and had to accompany him to eat.

At 8:00 p.m.

The Dream Maker Group Building suddenly lights up! The entire wall of the building turned into a giant LED screen, and began to play a video of Travis's former bodyguard accusing Travis of killing countless women and children over the years.

This sensational news quickly reached Travis.

Travis turned on his mobile phone and saw the live broadcast on the Internet.

On the wall of the Dream Maker Group Building, the video was playing in a loop!

Chapter 2072

Travis's blood pressure 'swish', rise!

In the afternoon, he spent so much money to buy all kinds of media. He thought the video incident was over. Who would have thought that the Dream Maker Group even had this video! Or, is this video sent to various media by the Dream Makers Group?

Emilio seemed to understand something when he saw the video played on the Dream Makers Group Building. So he immediately dialed Avery.

Avery answered the phone quickly.

"Avery, what is your relationship with the Dream Makers Group?" Emilio's tone was not angry.

If Travis will finish, Emilio doesn't care about it.

Emilio has no feelings for this father. All he cares about is the future of the Jones family.

He is now tied with the Jones family, and both are prosperous. But even if the Jones family is finished, Emilio will not follow him.

It's just that, without the halo of the second young master of the Jones family, his future life is bound to be much poorer.

Avery was watching the video on the Dream Makers Group Building just now, and she was only halfway through the video.

What Travis did was far beyond her imagination. Bridgedale “Emilio, did Travis ask you to call me?” Avery asked.

Emilio said, “No. My father is probably losing his temper at home now. He spent a lot of money in the afternoon, bribing the media and taking back the video.

Because the well-known media in Bridgedale have all received this video. I thought it was this incident. That’s it, who knows that the Dream Maker Group also has this video... Now this video is being broadcast on the building, and it is also being broadcast live on the Internet...”

Emilio added, “Obviously, the Dream Maker group is determined to ruin my father’s reputation. And you are the only one who has a grudge against my father.”

Avery: “Yes. The only enemy your father can think of now is me.”

“Avery, I don’t blame you. It was my father who messed with you first.” Emilio said helplessly.

Avery explained, “Emilio, the only people I want to deal with are your father and Margaret. Your father has committed a serious crime. He committed such a heinous crime, but he has been free to this day. Do you think this is fair to the deceased? Is it right?”

Emilio smiled bitterly, and said, “There has never been absolute fairness in this world. Before I was recognized by Travis and returned to Jones’s family, do you know what kind of life I lived? It’s an extravagant hope to have a full meal. What is the second young master of the Jones family? It’s ironic! Don’t you think I’m incompetent? Do you think I don’t want to study as hard as you? It’s ridiculous, I don’t understand at all...The education I received before and the education I received after returning to Jones's house are two completely different things!"

Avery was so shocked that she didn't know how to answer.

"What's your relationship with the Dream Makers Group? It is said that the boss behind the Dream Makers Group is very mysterious. Could that mysterious person be you?" Emilio asked again.

"Do you know AN Technology? This is the company I started before. I sold the company a few years ago and put all the money into the Dream Maker Group." Avery has never told anyone about this thing.

As Emilio helped her, so she could tell him.

Emilio laughed, "Hehehe... Avery, do you know what Norah said? Norah said that you have a close relationship with the boss of the dream maker. Norah is more inclined to make "

The boss of the Dreamer is someone else, and you are a waste who can only rely on others." Emilio couldn't help laughing, "If Norah knew that the owner of the Dreammaker Group was you, she would probably be killed."

"I just don't contribute money. The boss of the Dream Makers Group can't be counted as me." Avery replied.

"I see... Avery, do whatever you want! Even if my dad is sentenced to death, he will still die. I won't shed a single tear for him." Emilio breathed a sigh of relief.

Chapter 2073

Avery wanted to say something, but she didn't know what to say. No matter how much Emilio hated Travis, Travis was always his biological father.

And Avery would never let Travis go no matter what.

After speaking on the phone, Avery breathed a sigh of relief. Before she could completely calm down, Travis called.

"Avery, are you messing with me?" Travis gritted his teeth and was furious, "You know that Elliot is in our hands, but you dare to do this, aren't you afraid that I will kill Elliot?"

Avery: "Until Margaret wins the March Medical Prize, Elliot will be fine."

Travis: "You—"

"And before Margaret wins the March Medical Prize, I will rescue Elliot. And you, wait for your retribution!" Avery hung up the phone after finishing speaking.

The same moment.

March Building.

Professor Greens found a CD in the materials that Margaret submitted for trial.

He put the CD into the computer, and Margaret's face suddenly appeared on the computer screen.

Margaret first introduced herself, and then began to introduce her experiment.

Professor Greens stared at the computer screen without blinking until Elliot's face appeared on the screen... Professor Greens immediately bounced out of his chair!

"Absurd! It is so!"

Professor Greens paused the CD, picked up the phone, and dialed the jury leader.

"Greens, I asked Margaret about this." The team leader answered Professor Greens' doubts, "Margaret said that she had obtained Elliot's consent before using Elliot for the experiment. Elliot personally agreed before he died. Let Margaret revive him."

"Is there any evidence?" Professor Greens's mood was slightly suppressed.

The team leader said calmly, "No. Margaret said that the situation at the time was too special, everything happened so suddenly, and she didn't have time to record the scene with her mobile phone. Margaret didn't need to tell this lie.

Who do you think earned it by resurrecting a dead person at zero cost? We have decided to award this year's March Medical Prize to Margaret."

"Ironic! Are you sure her experiment is safe and effective? We didn't even read the materials she sent. Did you decide to award her the award?" Professor Greens blushed because of his excitement, "We haven't seen Elliot..."

"Greens, don't be excited. I have met Elliot. He was indeed resurrected by Margaret." The team leader said indifferently, "The award must be awarded to Margaret. Because it will bring us huge benefits... If we want to continue this award, there must be someone, who will pay?"

Professor Greens was extremely disappointed, "It turned out to be for the money... So even if Margaret's experiment is fake, you decided to award the award to her. Because this gimmick is big enough, it will cause heated discussions. You can also let the rich take the initiative to send money to you... If this is the case, then I will withdraw from the jury."

The team leader: "Greens, you are too lofty."

Professor Greens: "You are in vain. Physician!"

The team leader: "Then stick to your beliefs and eat it!"

At eleven o'clock in the evening, Avery received a call from Professor Greens. "Avery, I'm sorry. I may not be able to help you." Professor Greens sighed heavily, "I have withdrawn from the jury of the March Medical Award."

Chapter 2074

After Professor Greens explained the reason, Avery was not surprised.

Avery: "You haven't met Elliot?"

Professor Greens: "No. Margaret made a private agreement with the leader of our organizing committee. Margaret's award should be a sure thing."

"How can I find Elliot?" Avery murmured.

Professor Greens: "Sorry, I've already told you everything I know, and I don't know anything else."

Avery: "It's okay... Thank you very much."

After speaking on the phone, Avery raised her head slightly to prevent tears from falling.

Elliot is still alive.

Elliot is still alive! But, Avery doesn't know what he looks like now.

Avery couldn't guess whether Elliot still remembered her and their children.

On the Internet, because the Dream Maker Group Building kept playing videos, it immediately caused heated discussions.

This melon directly fed me! If what the video says is true, then this is too scary!

Dreammaker Group and MH Medicine are not the same industry! How did these two get hooked up? By the way, who is the boss of the Dream Maker Group?

Never heard of it!

The boss of the Dream Maker Group is very low-key. After the Dream Maker's car caught fire, the boss didn't come out for an interview! But now, in order to tear Travis apart, he directly uses the company building to expose Travis's old bottom! I suggest that Travis also come out and explode the old bottom of the dreamer's boss!

The one upstairs is really lacking in great virtue! But I like it!

Will this wave of Travis be jailed? His former bodyguard captain reported it with his real name! I can't help but watch the video more than a dozen times, Travis is really a beast!

I don't think it's entirely Travis's problem. If it wasn't for those women who gave birth to children and lied to him that it was his, he wouldn't have killed them, right? Those women deserve it! Of course, the child is innocent.

Simply answering the question of whether Travis will go to jail. According to the laws of our Bridgedale, Travis is over 70 years old. Even if he breaks the law, he can use many means to escape prison. However, if the crime he committed was particularly egregious and was condemned to death, then it wasn't a matter of jail time, it was the death penalty. All in all, he won't go to jail. He is either deadly guilty or has no effect.

I suggest that the families of the victims unite and deal with Travis together! Fight for the death penalty! This kind of person who has lost his conscience has let him live to his seventies. If he has no influence, does that mean that as long as he has money, he can do whatever he wants?

...

The Jones family.

Travis took his mobile phone and checked the trend on the Internet, his blood pressure rose with anger.

After Margaret measured his blood pressure, she brought him antihypertensive drugs.

"Travis, don't watch it." Margaret advised, "Even if everything in the video is true, it won't really affect you."

"Those mindless things on the Internet are fanning the flames." Travis doesn't want to think badly, but the people who want to deal with him are the dream maker group.

Travis could not be afraid.

"Margaret, didn't you say that Elliot is in your hands, aren't you afraid of Avery?"

Can you call Avery and ask her to remove the video?" After Travis took the antihypertensive medicine, he looked at Margaret, "Margaret, I'm not mean to you, right? How much have I spent on you all these years? Even if you don't love me, you wouldn't want to see me die, right?"

“Travis, what are you talking about?” Margaret held his hand and comforted him,
“I just think Avery can’t bring you down.”

“She and the Dream Makers Group are one, she is possible Down with me!”

Anxiety and irritability emerged in Travis’s eyes.

Margaret doesn’t need Travis now, nor will she need his money in the future.

Chapter 2075

It’s just that Margaret lives in his home now.

If Margaret doesn’t help him now, is it possible for Travis to call the bodyguard to kill Margaret like he killed his former girlfriend?

Margaret can’t die now. She hasn’t won the March Medal yet!

“Then I’ll call Avery now, don’t be afraid.” Margaret turned around, walked to the other side of the bed, and picked up the phone from the bedside table.

Travis immediately walked to Margaret’s side and stared at Margaret on the phone.

Under the pressure of Travis, Margaret dialed Avery’s number.

Avery answered in seconds.

“Avery, Elliot is in my hands now. If you don’t want him to have any accident, then remove all the things that are not good for Travis!” Margaret was afraid that Travis would be worried, so she turned on the speakerphone.

“Didn’t you hide? I thought you were all waiting for the award and wouldn’t care about anything.” Avery said, “I heard that your greatest wish in life is to win the March Medical Award. Going to Travis is just to take advantage of him! When you get the award, you will definitely not marry him. You have also seen the video exposed today, such a murderous old man is not attractive to you at all...”

Margaret’s fingers holding the phone couldn’t help shaking!

Every word Avery said was the truth. But Margaret can’t tear up with Travis now, if Travis is crazy, he will really kill her. So she didn't dare to look at Travis's face, and immediately yelled at the phone: "Avery! Travis and I are truly in love, so we decided to get married. No matter whether I win the March Medical Award or not, I will marry Travis. If you talk nonsense again, do you believe that I will let you never see Elliot in the future?"

"Really in love? What do you love Travis? Do you love him for being ruthless, murdering without blinking, or for his physical defects? Margaret, it's enough to lie to Travis with such pretty words, what are you lying to me for? If you dare to touch Elliot, I will make it impossible for you to leave the March Building alive when you get the prize!"

Avery's words made Travis feel angry. Squirting a mouthful of old blood. He couldn't help coughing violently!

Seeing this, Margaret immediately hung up the phone.

...

Avery didn't expect to hear Travis's voice.

Although it was just a cough, this sound made the blood in Avery's body boil!

So late, Margaret and Travis are together.

Does it mean that Margaret is at Travis's house?

Avery immediately got off the bed, knocked on Mike's door, and told Mike of his plans.

.....

Jones family.

Travis coughed violently for a while because he was in a hurry and coughed up blood.

The servant was very frightened when he saw it: "Ms. Gomez, do you want to send the master to the hospital?"

Margaret knew that Travis was just angry, and the problem was not serious.

“Travis, do you want to go to the hospital?” Margaret approached Travis and said, “What Avery said was just to satirize me. She can’t see your goodness, but I can see it. I really want to marry you and live with you in the future.”

Travis looked at Margaret’s face and discerned the truth of her words.

“Then let’s get married before you win the award.” Travis said of his decision, “This way I can believe that you really love me. Instead of taking advantage of me.”

Chapter 2076

Margaret cursed Avery a thousand times ten thousand times in her heart. If it wasn’t for Avery’s words just now, Travis would never doubt her suddenly.

If Margaret knew earlier, she wouldn’t hide in Travis’s house.

Bridgedale is so big and Margaret can hide anywhere. She can stay safe until the day of the March Medical Award!

Thinking of this, Margaret was so angry that her temples hurt.

Margaret: “Travis, you don’t believe me, I’m very sad.”

“It’s not that I don’t believe you. Margaret, you can’t be too greedy. Over the years, I have unconditionally supported your cause. Although it is also for my own selfishness, but you can’t cross the river and demolish the bridge! You’re about to realize your dream, if you really won the prize and kicked me out, wouldn’t I make a wedding dress for others?”

Travis would like to thank Avery for reminding himself.

He has always believed in Margaret in particular.

The medicine he took every day was provided by Margaret, so he subconsciously did not allow himself to doubt Margaret.

If Margaret really wanted to poison Travis, he would have died long ago.

However, he also knew that Margaret's kindness and gentleness to him before were all because he could still provide her with research funds.

Margaret is about to receive an award soon, and she may not continue to do research in the future. Furthermore, after she got the award, she really wanted to invest, and there must be a lot of rich people willing to invest in her.

"If that's the case, then do as you said." Margaret agreed immediately, and then changed the subject, "Do you want to go to the hospital for a checkup?"

"No need. You agreed to my request, and I feel much better." Travis held Margaret's hand with both hands, as if he was afraid that she would be unhappy, so he explained, "Margaret, in the video that was exposed tonight, that bodyguard The words...not exactly true. The reason I'm getting rid of those women and kids is because I've been deceived. They've been cheating money and care from me since pregnancy, and I was really stupid and I foolishly believed their words, thinking that the child they were carrying was mine. I only found out how cunning and shameless these women were after I divorced a certain ex-wife!"

Travis scolded those d*mn women.

Margaret was not interested in these at all, but nodded in understanding.

"Travis, it's already very late, you should rest early. I still have something to talk to my assistant. I'll come to sleep with you when I'm done." Margaret took Travis to his master bed room.

As soon as Margaret came out of the room, Travis immediately picked up his mobile phone, called the bodyguard at home, and instructed the bodyguard that Margaret would not be allowed to step out of Jones's house without his permission in the future!

Before getting married, Travis couldn't let Margaret run away.

Margaret walked into the yard with her mobile phone and dialed the assistant. In fact, she had nothing to tell the assistant, she just wanted to come out and get some air.

But not long after she came out, several bodyguards suddenly appeared at the gate of the courtyard. Their eyes stared boldly and directly in her direction, obviously to guard her.

Travis is trying to put her under house arrest?

Margaret hung up the phone angrily.

Her life has been affected because of Avery!

Although winning the award is no problem, but her mood has been destroyed.

Avery couldn't deal with her, so she dealt with Travis. Avery guessed that Travis was having a hard time and wouldn't make her feel better, right?

About 40 minutes later, a dozen black sedans stopped in front of Jones's house.

When the Jones family bodyguard saw this battle, he immediately reported to Travis.

Travis was helped off the bed, walked out tremblingly, and looked at the gate of the courtyard –who sent this?

Chapter 2077

Margaret did not come out with Travis, but she knew who was coming.

She was in the master bedroom, relying on the curtains to cover up, paying close attention to the situation at the gate of the courtyard.

After more than a dozen black sedans stopped, the doors were pushed open, and people in black came out of the cars and surrounded the gate of Jones's house.

After a while, Avery's face appeared in Margaret's eyes.

The street lamps illuminate Avery's face and the hatred in her eyes!

Margaret knew that she could not escape.

During the phone call tonight, Travis coughed, revealing that Margaret had been hiding in Jones's house.

"Avery! Why did you bring so many people to my house at night?! I thought it was the police who came to arrest me! Haha!" Travis said sarcastically, pushing away the servant who was supporting him, wanting to show himself.

"You will naturally have the police come to you." Avery's eyes fell on Travis's face indifferently, "Hand over Margaret! Otherwise, don't blame me for tearing down your home tonight!"

Avery's voice settled, the bodyguards beside her showed their weapons one by one.

Travis looked at the scene in front of him, his eyes were as round as a tambourine.

If he were a few decades younger, he would definitely fight with Avery!

Probably because he is older, he is not as impulsive as when he was young.

"Margaret is not with me! Don't you believe me?" Travis yelled loudly.

Travis wanted Margaret to hide quickly. If Margaret is really handed over, what Avery will do to Margaret is not certain.

"Travis, you don't have to speak for me anymore." After Travis's voice was settled, Margaret put on her coat and strode out.

Margaret swayed and walked to Avery with a calm face.

Travis walked to Margaret's side and asked in a low voice, "Why did you come out? Aren't you afraid of death?"

"Travis, Elliot is still in my hands, how could I die? Unless Avery doesn't want Elliot anymore..." Margaret said, smiling at Travis, "You arrange our wedding well, don't worry about other things. And your scandal, I will let Avery solve it for you."

Travis looked suspicious, but seeing Margaret's full of confidence, he decided to believe her.

"Avery, don't you just want to see Elliot? I originally planned to wait until the March Medical Award is over before letting you meet, but I didn't expect you to be so anxious! Since things have turned out like this, I'll take you there now to see Elliot."

After Margaret finished speaking, she walked out of the Jones's compound. Avery watched Margaret come out, and the stone hanging in her heart fell quietly.

Tonight, she will be able to see Elliot! And it's not just about seeing.

Because, she will definitely take Elliot back from Margaret!

Margaret got into Avery's car.

Margaret sat in the back seat, and Bodyguard, Ali sat beside her and monitoring her.

Avery sat in the front passenger seat, looked at Margaret from the rearview mirror, and asked, "Where is Elliot?"

"There is a blue building on the street behind MH Medical Building. Elliot is in that blue building." Margaret replied, "Avery, if Elliot doesn't want to go with you, you can't force him to take him. Let's go?"

"Why doesn't he want to come with me?" Avery frowned and shouted,

"Margaret, what did you do to him?"

Chapter 2078

Margaret stared at Avery, and asked, "What did I do to him? If it wasn't for me, I'm afraid he has become a pile of rotten flesh now. I saved his life."

"Margaret, if you were so kind and really saved his life, why did you hide it and not inform me?" Avery didn't believe Margaret's words at all.

Margaret seemed to have expected her to say this, so she answered calmly:

“This is the first time I have conducted an experiment on a human body. Even if it is successful, I have to observe his follow-up situation. If I tell you, you will definitely be taken him away immediately...So I decided to use him.”

Avery: “Aren’t you sure you can get the award now?”

“How do you know?” When Margaret talked about this, she was in a better mood.

Avery: “I know Professor Greens.”

“Oh, that old man! I asked him to meet him before. He’s a tough guy. And he doesn’t believe I can bring people back to life... All I can say is, He is very ignorant.” Margaret said arrogantly, “The world is constantly changing, and medicine is constantly improving...”

Avery sneered, “Since you can bring people back to life, why do you only have a successful case of Elliot? In this world, so many people die every day, you revive them all or did you use a lot of dead people, but only Elliot succeeded?”

Margaret: “No. I used animal experiments before. Elliot is the first human body for my experiment. Do you think the cost of resurrecting a person is very low?”

“Are you asking me for the resurrection fee? Okay, wait until I see Elliot and confirm that he is ok, then how much you want, I’ll give it to you.” Avery didn’t believe that Elliot was intact, so she said this on purpose.

If Margaret was sitting upright, how could she be afraid that she would take Elliot away?

If Elliot really died, and Margaret really resurrected him, Avery couldn’t thank her in time, how could she tear her face off with her?

“All the expenses of my laboratory come from Travis. Including the money I spend on Elliot, also comes from Travis. Avery, take down that video! Otherwise, you will retaliate.”

“I haven’t seen Elliot yet. Based on your one-sided words, how can I be sure that you are kind to Elliot?” Avery said, looking towards the road ahead.

In a short while, They will arrive at the MH Medical Building.

There was indeed a blue building on the street behind the building.

Avery had seen this blue building. But never noticed what the house was for.

“Margaret, doesn’t Elliot remember what happened in the past?” Avery’s anxiety made her more and more breathless.

“To be honest, I don’t know what’s going on in his mind. I’m only responsible for resurrecting him, and the rest are out of my control.” Margaret looked indifferent.

“But you said he might not be willing to come with me, why?” Avery asked the biggest doubt in her heart, “How did you resurrect him? What’s the reason?”

“It’s not clear in a few words. Let’s talk about it after you meet Elliot!” Margaret said slowly, “When you meet Elliot, let’s see how he reacts!”

Avery also wanted to know how she would react after seeing Elliot.

Mike sat in the driver’s seat and glanced at Avery.

“No matter what, he is alive, it is always a happy event. Don’t frown, can he still mutate? Isn’t he still a person?” Mike comforted.

Margaret couldn’t help laughing.

“Why are you laughing? If we are not satisfied with your resurrected Elliot, we won’t be able to eat you.” Mike glared at Margaret.

The smile on Margaret’s face suddenly disappeared.

After a while, the car stopped in front of the blue building.

Avery immediately opened the car door and prepared to get out of the car.

“Avery, wait. Let Margaret get off first.” Mike said cautiously, “We haven’t been here before, so it’s better to be careful.”

Avery took a deep breath and looked at Margaret: "Get off!"

Avery immediately pulled Margaret out of the car and escorted her to the front.

"Avery, you will regret being so rude to me." Margaret sneered.

"Stop talking nonsense. If Elliot is not here, if you play any tricks, I will send you to see the King of H-e-I-I tonight!" Mike threatened sharply.

Chapter 2079

Margaret pursed her red lips and strode towards the entrance door.

The others followed and entered the blue building together.

When entering the elevator, Avery's heart was beating violently.

All the excitement turned into nervousness, anxiety and fear.

Avery clearly wanted to see Elliot so much, but now she was afraid to see him.

Afraid that Elliot is different from what she imagined, and that the situation after the meeting is beyond her control.

For example, if Elliot insisted on being with Margaret and refused to go with her, what should she do?

With a 'ding' sound, the elevator stopped at the designated floor.

The elevator door opened slowly, and Margaret took the lead and walked out.

This should be a residential building.

After getting out of the elevator, they came to a door.

Margaret pressed the doorbell, and soon, someone came to open the door.

It was a young girl who came to open the door. When she saw Margaret, she also saw Avery and her party.

"Mom, you...Are you okay?" The girl called Margaret 'Mom'.

Avery immediately guessed that this might be Margaret's home?

"I'm fine. They're here to find Elliot. Is Elliot asleep?" Margaret pushed open the door and entered the room.

Avery followed with big strides into the room.

“He just fell asleep.” The girl supported Margaret and asked in a low voice,

“Mom, are they here to take Elliot away? They look so fierce.”

“Don’t be afraid. They dare not do anything to us.” Margaret comforted, turned around and looked at Avery, “Elliot is asleep, why don’t you come back tomorrow morning?”

“Which room does he live in? I want to see him.” Avery couldn’t just leave like this.

She managed to find it here. What if Margaret secretly hides Elliot when she leaves tonight?

Margaret stretched out her hand and pointed to a room: “Go and see!”

Avery almost rushed over without thinking.

Mike and Ali took Avery by one arm and stopped her.

“Let Ali go first.” Mike said.

Avery exhaled and watched Mike walk towards the room.

“What are you afraid of?” Margaret’s daughter quickly walked to the door of the room and pushed it open, “There is no one else in it except him.”

The light from the living room entered the guest room.

Avery saw a person lying on the big bed in the guest room.

Even if the person was lying down, she could recognize it at a glance, it was Elliot.

Avery’s defenses collapsed. With tears in her eyes, she pushed Ali away and rushed into the room.

Avery’s footsteps were too fast, which woke the person on the bed.

Elliot opened his eyes and looked at Avery –

Ali saw that Elliot opened his eyes, so he quickly turned on the light in the room.

Chapter 2080

The light was dazzling, Elliot raised his palm in conditioned reflex to block the light in front of him.

Avery burst into tears when she saw his familiar face and his movements.

“Elliot, I finally found you. Do you still remember me?” Avery stood by the bed, looking at him, his voice choked, “I’m Avery.”

Elliot removed his hand from his eyes, his eyes were calm and indifferent looking at Avery.

In his eyes, there was no longer a deep star. His eyes seemed to be covered with a layer of mist, making it impossible to guess what he was thinking.

He seemed to be isolated from everyone, he didn’t seem to be able to feel joy or sorrow, he seemed to be... a dummy!

“Elliot! Don’t you f*cking remember anything?” Mike couldn’t help but curse when he saw this scene, “You’ve been missing for the past two months, do you know how Avery’s life was? She looked for you in Yonroeville, she went back to Aryadelle to find you, and after she searched both countries, she came to Bridgedale to find you... She opens her eyes and thinks of you every day, and it’s you when she closes her eyes. In order to find you, she was going crazy, but you were lying here happily, enjoying the care of a young woman, you are really comfortable!”

Avery frowned, looked sideways, and used her eyes to stop Mike from continuing to speak.

Mike pursed his thin lips and exhaled heavily. He said so much to Elliot just now, but Elliot didn’t respond.

He continued to yell at Elliot, but nothing would come of it. He clenched his fists and strode out of the room.

As soon as Mike came out, he met Margaret, who was standing at the door watching the excitement.

He grabbed Margaret's neck with one hand, tightened his fingers slightly, and roared, "Why did he lose his memory?! Did you cheat on him?"

"Let go of my mother! Elliot didn't lose his memory. He didn't lose his memory!" Margaret's daughter exclaimed.

In the room, Avery was stunned when she heard these words.

Elliot didn't lose his memory...he didn't lose his memory! But why, his eyes, his expression, so unfamiliar?

Avery quickly walked to the door of the room, closed the door, and locked it.

Outside the door, everyone watched this scene and gasped.

The two of them are locked in a room now, what will happen? No one can guess.

"Margaret!" Mike aimed at Margaret, dragged her to the sofa, trapped her, and forced her to ask, "What the h-e-l-l is going on with Elliot now? Since he doesn't lose his memory, why does he seem to be a different person?"

"I told you very clearly in the car before that Elliot was already dead." Margaret explained, "Now this Elliot was resurrected by me using special methods."

"What did you do? Bring him back to life? If you don't make it clear, I will kill you now! No one will know that this Elliot is not the old Elliot." Mike showed murderous intent.

Margaret looked at Mike's furious appearance, and alarm bells were ringing in her heart.

Mike is not Avery. If Avery threatened her like this, Margaret would definitely not be so afraid.

Margaret is not familiar with Mike, and if Mike is really someone who is not serious, and her life is ruined in his hands, it is not worth it!

“You let go, let go! I...I say!” Margaret grabbed Mike’s wrist with both hands, trying to push his hand away.

Chapter 2081

Mike heard her words and immediately let go: “Hurry up! I’m not as good at talking as Avery!”

“I developed a technology that activates the nerves of the brain... This technology is to place a special device in the brain stem of the brain... Through this device, it stimulates his brain stem to recover Normal function... This technology, only I understand. I can remotely control the device in his head, I can end his life at any time... So, you better be polite to me! Otherwise, I can kill Foster at any time!”

“Then I will kill you now. The big deal is to keep your device in Foster’s head...”

Mike showed murderous intent again.

“If the device fails, who will fix it for him? If you kill me, you will kill him indirectly. After all, my technology is not mature. There may be problems at any time.”

Margaret complained loudly, “Elliot did not lose his memory! After I resurrected him, I told him about his situation, he just couldn’t accept it. Now that Avery is here, maybe Avery can revive him!”

Margaret shouted, for fear that Mike would get angry and say yes.

In the room.

Avery sat by the bed and held Elliot’s big palm tightly.

His hands were warm. Feeling his warm body temperature, she was filled with gratitude.

“Elliot, they said you didn’t have amnesia, then you should remember that we went to Yonroeville to find Hazel together, but we were designed by Katalina and trapped in the basement in the suburbs. Do you still remember that you told me in the basement at that time? What did you say?" Avery took his big palm with both hands and put it to her mouth.

She wanted to cry so much, but she resisted it.

"We made an agreement that if we can escape from the basement, we will never quarrel again. We will live a good life and raise our children together. No matter what misunderstandings we encounter in the future, we will unconditionally trust each other and we agreed. Did you forget?"

Elliot's eyes gradually filled with emotion. He looked at the tears in her eyes, and the memory in his mind seemed to be awakened.

"Elliot, I'm here to take you home. Would you like to come with me? The children miss you very much, and Layla and Robert have been waiting for you to go back. Hayden doesn't hate you so much anymore. This time to find you, Hayden also helped a lot." Avery begged in a low voice, "Can you say something? Elliot, I beg you...you talk to me...I haven't seen you for a long time. Hearing your voice, I really miss you."

Speaking of emotion, her tears fell on his fingers.

Elliot was scalded by her hot tears. He wanted to withdraw his hand, but his body did not move.

"Avery, I'm already dead." His Adam's apple moved up and down, making a hoarse voice, "I'm just a useless body now."

"You nonsense!" Avery interrupted him crying, "Your voice is still the same as before, and your breath has not changed. You are a living person! I said you are, you are! Follow me, we will not work in the future, I will accompany you every day, we'll stay at home together and no one can break us up!"

Avery took his arm, trying to pull him out of bed. But his body didn't move.

As Margaret said, Elliot didn't seem willing to go with Avery.

"Elliot, I brought a lot of bodyguards here today. If you don't get out of bed and follow me, I will let someone in and tie you back!" Avery threatened Elliot with red eyes.

Elliot raised his eyes and looked at Avery.

Avery's eyes told him that she was here for real. She does what she says!

A few seconds later, she lifted the thin quilt on his body, lifted his long legs, and got out of bed.

Avery held his big palm tightly and took him out of the room.

Chapter 2082

"Mom, why do you have to buy a house? Is it not good to live in this old house? I want to live here." Emmy Confused.

Margaret laughed: "I want you to live in a better house. It's very late today, you go to bed!"

Emmy: "Mom, do you want to go back to Jones's house? If you go back to Jones's house, then I'll take you there."

Margaret shook her head, "It's too late, I don't want to move. I'll just call Travis and say it later."

...

On the way back, Avery and Elliot sat in the back seat of the car, Mike drove, and Ali sat in the passenger seat.

"I didn't expect Margaret to be married for the second time." Ali said, breaking the dull atmosphere in the carriage.

"Margaret is in her sixties. Who knows whether it will be a second or third marriage... Fourth marriage is also possible." Mike answered.

Avery replied, "Margaret should be the first marriage. I heard that she never got married because of my mentor. And her daughter is so old, if she was married, no one would say she was never married. Her daughter doesn't look like Margaret. It should be Margaret's adopted child."

"It makes sense for you to say so. That girl and Margaret have nothing in common." Mike said, looking from the rearview mirror and glanced at Elliot, "Elliot, what are you thinking about now? I'm very curious... You have been resurrected for so long, why didn't you contact us? If we don't find you, you will live forever in that blue house?"

Avery has been holding Elliot's hand tightly. After Mike's voice settled, she felt his hand move slightly.

"Mike, go to the hospital." Avery was worried about Elliot's physical condition. She must go to the hospital now and give him a brain examination to see if it is really what Margaret said.

"Oh, yes!" Mike responded immediately.

Elliot quickly took his hand out of Avery's hand. The expression on his face became tense and apprehensive.

Avery watched the expression change on his face.

"Elliot, don't be afraid. No matter what your current situation is, I will accompany you." Avery reassured her softly.

"Don't go to the hospital." Elliot frowned, tears welling up in his eyelashes, and said with difficulty, "I won't go."

"Then I won't go." Avery tried to understand the fear in his heart, and said distressedly, "Elliot, we have to go home first. When you are willing to go to the hospital in the future, we will go to the hospital."

Twenty minutes later, the car arrived home.

Avery took Elliot out of the car.

In the living room, Hayden came out. When he saw Elliot, a subtle feeling made him feel uncomfortable.

The once mighty, proud and conceited man seems to have left. Now Elliot has become a completely different person.

When Hayden looked at Elliot, Elliot also saw Hayden.

The eyes of the father and son met in the cold night, there was no edge and no fire.

Avery was worried that Hayden would make Elliot look bad or say something ugly, so she let go of Elliot's hand and strode towards Hayden.

She pulled Hayden to the side and whispered, "Hayden, your father's condition is very bad. He doesn't even want to come back with me. I forced him to come back. Please, don't speak harshly to him."

Chapter 2083

"What happened to him?" When Hayden asked this sentence, the corner of his eye glanced at Elliot.

Avery told his son the truth, "Margaret said that your father died before, and what we see now is your father who was resurrected by Margaret. I want to take him to the hospital for examination, but he is very resistant to going to the hospital now. Someone so proud of him will definitely not be able to accept what he is like now."

Hayden said with mixed feelings: "Even if he died before, isn't he alive now?"

Avery: "He has a special device in his brain. It is controlled by Margaret."

Hayden's lips moved, what he wanted to say, but he didn't say anything.

This is too incredible, beyond Hayden's acceptance range.

If the future life is controlled by others, it is better to die.

Hayden was in a chaotic mood.

When Elliot became like this, of course Hayden would not oppose Elliot again.

It's just that Hayden didn't know how to deal with it.

He turned around and entered the room, hurried back to the room, and closed the door.

Avery walked up to Elliot and held his hand again: "Hayden has to get up early for school tomorrow, so he will go back to his room to rest first. He won't hate you as much as before. If you stay with me in the future, I won't let you leave me, and I won't let you be wronged."

After the two entered the room, Mike watched them enter the master bedroom.

When the door to the master bedroom closed, Mike breathed a sigh of relief.

It seemed like a long nightmare, and now, the nightmare finally woke up.

Mike went back to his room, turned on his phone, and sent Chad a message:

[Your boss is back. Do you want to see his photo?]

When Chad saw his message, he excitedly replied: [Hurry up! How is my boss?

Is he good?]

Mike: [It's no use thinking about it. He has been returned to his room by God.]

Chad: [Are you kidding me? Forget it. I don't care about you in general! Can you answer the phone now?]

Mike: [Tired...don't want to talk.]

Chad: [Isn't typing more tiring than talking on the phone?]

Mike: [Speaking requires moving my entire chest, while typing only requires moving my fingers. Of course, speaking is more tiring.]

Chad: [Oh...I think you're trying to whet my appetite. You'd better hold back, I'll buy a ticket right away and go to Bridgedale to see my boss.]

Mike: [I advise you not to come. Your boss doesn't want to meet people at all.]

Chad: [Why? What's wrong with my boss? Please talk on the phone.]

After Chad sent this message, he called Mike.

Without thinking, Mike hung up the phone. Then posted a video.

Chad answered in seconds.

It was 11:00 p.m. in Aryadelle, and Chad was still at work.

“What the hell is going on? Why doesn’t my boss want to meet people? Could it be that he is disfigured?” Chad’s brain was wide open.

“He is not ruined, but he is still so handsome.” Mike leaned on the head of the bed, teasing, “I guess he will not be able to go to work in the future. I heard from Avery that he will not be allowed to work in the future.”

“Why?” Chad can’t wait for now Just fly to Bridgedale and figure things out.

Mike: “Because he’s not the Elliot he used to be.”

Chapter 2084

“What are you talking about? Why can’t I understand?” Chad suspected that he had auditory hallucinations, so he reached out his hand and slapped himself in the face.

Mike: “???”

“Why isn’t my boss the former Elliot? Mike, if you don’t make it clear to me, I’ll really buy a plane ticket to go to Bridgedale right away.” Chad’s cheeks hurt, and he was sure he wasn’t dreaming.

Mike: “Margaret said he died before. Now he was resurrected by Margaret.”

“Pfft!!” Chad was shocked and dumbfounded.

Mike said lazily, “Your boss is like a robot now, and the remote control is in Margaret’s hands. Isn’t it scary? So your boss is a bit autistic now. If I were him, I guess I wouldn’t be much better. “

It’s so scary?” Chad was saddened to death, “What should I do? It won’t work like this. My boss hates being threatened the most. Is there any way for Avery to help him?"

"Avery has never heard of Margaret's resurrection technique. She said that there is never any way to bring people back to life... So, she should not be able to help your boss." Mike told him to give up his fantasies. "Look for the best. At least your boss is still alive. It's better than dead. If he died, he would have nothing.

"I won't feel happy anymore." Chad said and put down the phone.

Chad took off his glasses and reached out to wipe his tears.

"Chad, you can't be!" Mike put away his joking attitude, "He is alive now, although I don't know how medically determines his condition, but with the naked eye, he is not mentally normal. He doesn't look any different from before."

"A man is alive, if he is not breathing, he is alive. Besides, as you said, it is not clear how the medical science determines his condition, in case the medical science does not recognize him as alive. What should I do?" Chad said more and more sadly.

Mike: "Don't cry. I told you to reassure you, not to make you cry. I think Avery is much stronger than you. Avery doesn't cry like you do."

In the bathroom of Master bedroom, the sound of water clattered.

Warm water fell down Avery's head, flushing the tears from her eyes.

Elliot was lying on her bed, but Avery was getting more and more sad.

The current Elliot was incomplete, even if he looked like a normal person, he was not the Elliot he used to be after all.

Avery wanted to turn him into the former Elliot, but after thinking about it, she didn't have that ability.

She couldn't do it at all. She couldn't do it even if she looked at Elliot in such a state of depression.

Time passed by, and after half an hour in the bathroom, she was afraid that Elliot would be suspicious of waiting too long, so she quickly dried her body, put on her pajamas, and walked out.

She saw that the sheets on the bed were crumpled into a ball, Elliot held his head in his hands, choked painfully in his throat, and his whole body was curled up...

“Elliot! What’s the matter with you?” Avery quickly ran to the bedside, took his arm, and cried out anxiously, “Do you have a headache? Why is this? Do you have a headache every day?”

Shortness of breath, chest heaving rapidly.

Elliot was in so much pain! Couldn’t answer her question at all.

“Elliot, don’t be afraid. I’ll contact Margaret right away. She must know what’s going on.” Avery released his arm, found the phone, and turned it on.

Margaret sent her a message 5 minutes ago –

Margaret: [Avery, I asked you to take down the video, don’t you take what I said to heart? That will only make your man suffer a bit.]

Avery looked at Elliot with tears in her eyes. Before that, she really didn’t take Margaret’s words to heart. Because she didn’t expect that Margaret could really control Elliot!

Chapter 2085

Ali came out and saw that the two people at the door had never seen each other, so he shouted at the door of the courtyard: “Who are you? What are you doing here?”

The leader replied: “Hello, this is Miss Tate’s house? I’m Professor Greens...”

Before the man finished speaking, Avery ran out of the house wearing slippers.

After she came out, she quickly ran to the gate of the courtyard and opened the door.

“Thank you for helping me deliver the things. Come in and drink a glass of water!” Avery wanted to pick up the cardboard box from one of them after putting them in.

“Miss Tate, the cardboard box is a little heavy, let’s help you move it in!” The two of them carried the cardboard box and walked towards the front quickly.

“You don’t need to change your shoes, just go in.” Avery immediately followed their pace.

“Boss, what are they holding?” Ali followed Avery and asked, “Is that what the old man gave you?”

“Well. Professor Greens is a very respectable professor, even if you Can’t remember his name, and then don’t call him ‘that old man’ you can call him just ‘Professor’ casually.” Avery corrected.

“Oh... well!” Ali was stunned.

After the cardboard box was moved to the house, Avery immediately went to pour water for the two people sent by Professor Greens.

“Miss Tate, you don’t need to pour water, we have water in the car.” The two were ready to leave.

Avery immediately put down the water glass and sent them out.

After Avery sent the two out, Elliot came out of the room.

He walked out and his eyes suddenly fell on the two large cardboard boxes in the living room.

Ali saw that Elliot was interested in the cardboard box, so he explained to Elliot:

“Professor Greens gave it to the boss Tate. Do you know Professor Greens?”

Elliot shook his head.

“Professor Greens is... I don’t know this old man either... Seeing my boss respects him so much, he must be a very powerful person. Do you know the March Medical Award?” Ali continued to ask.

Elliot knew about the March Medical Prize.

Because Margaret used him to apply for the March Medical Award, and she should be able to win this award in the end.

“This old man is one of the judges of the March Medical Award. I don’t think there are any valuables in these cardboard boxes. Do you want to see what’s inside?” Ali wanted to see it, so he asked Elliot if he wanted to see it.

Seeing that Elliot didn’t refuse, Ali immediately took out the dagger he was carrying, and cut open the two cardboard boxes.

The things in the two cardboard boxes were really not valuables.

Here were two boxes of paper documents.

Ali hated to see this kind of stuff written with dense text.

Outside the villa, Avery sent the two away and was walking towards them.

Ali felt a chill, so he immediately took two pieces of paper out of the carton and stuffed them into Elliot’s hands.

“Mr. Foster, wait and say it’s what you want to see. Otherwise, the boss will scold me.” After Ali finished speaking, he immediately walked behind Elliot to hide.

Elliot lowered his eyes and looked at the two pieces of paper that Ali forcibly stuffed him.

The title column on this piece of paper was written with relatively uncommon medical terms. In layman’s terms, it is the feasibility of artificial brains to prolong life.

An artificial brain...literally understands what it means.

Just like the artificial heart seen in the TV series before, the body's heart could not continue to work, so it was replaced with an artificial heart.

Chapter 2086

After the concept of artificial heart appeared and artificial heart research was launched, the technology of artificial brain had never been heard of.

Presumably because this technology was more difficult to solve than the heart of a newcomer.

He have never heard of anyone who can live for a long time with an artificial heart, and the artificial brain he was using now may not last long.

He could die anytime, anywhere, the next second, and die again, forever.

Avery entered the room and saw that the two cardboard boxes had been opened, and Elliot was holding two pieces of paper...

She put away her stunned expression, raised the corner of her mouth, and explained to him: "This was Margaret sending you for trial. The materials of the Organizing Committee of the March Medical Award... but they were all copies. I asked Professor Greens to secretly print it for me."

Ali was stunned for a moment: "Boss, Professor Greens did not quit March Medicine. Is the Organizing Committee of the Award?"

Originally, Professor Greens had broken up with the leader of the Organizing Committee and announced his withdrawal from the March Organizing Committee.

But after Avery begged him last time, he agreed and return to the organizing committee.

Professor Greens has served as a member of the March Organizing Committee longer than the current team leader, so when he said he would return to the organizing committee, the team leader did not say anything.

It took Professor Greens.

Three days to get the assistant to copy the two boxes of documents.

There were many more materials, which would be printed and sent later.

If the organizing committee hadn't decided Margaret for the sake of money, Professor Greens would never have done such a thing against professional ethics.

Although Avery would probably not leak this incident and these materials, once the incident was leaked, Greens' reputation would be ruined for most of his life.

"He can go back anytime he wants." Avery said lightly, "This matter must be kept strictly confidential, even if he dies, he can't say it."

Ali immediately covered his mouth and nodded sharply.

"Elliot, I will study Margaret's research results. It's better to ask for yourself.

What Margaret can do, I can definitely do it too." Avery looked at his emotionless face, her brows and eyes curved with full of hope.

She was like a ray of bright light shining into his dead heart.

These few days, Elliot hardly spoke to her, but Avery said a lot to him.

Every time Avery asked something, Elliot either answered casually, shook his head, or didn't answer.

But she was never discouraged.

She took the paper in his hand, put it in the cardboard box, and dragged him towards the kitchen: "Elliot, the nanny has made soup, let's go drink some soup!"

"Avery." Elliot opened his mouth and called out her name.

Hearing Elliot's voice, Avery was pleasantly surprised.

She knew that Elliot was not a cold machine, let alone an emotionless wood. As long as she regards him as the former Elliot, he will definitely realize that she is the same Avery who loved him before.

“Elliot, what do you want to say?” Avery turned around and held his hand tightly with both hands.

“I don’t want you to pay so much for me.” Elliot told her his inner thoughts, “because you may pay a lot, but in the end there is no result.”

“How do you know that there is no result? Until the end, how do you know that I will not succeed?” Avery said word by word, gentle and firm, “As long as you believe me, I will definitely think of a way.”

Elliot’s throat moved, but in the end he didn’t say anything.

Avery: “I like to work on challenging projects like this. Don’t think I’m doing it all for you, it’s just to satisfy my own curiosity.”

“I’m afraid others will threaten you with me.” How could Elliot not be able to tell which of her words was true and which was false.

When Avery was in the basement before, she said that if the two of them could escape, they would not work in the future and could retire with peace of mind.

She studied Margaret’s project just for him. Not for her so-called curiosity.

Chapter 2087

Avery was moved beyond words when she heard Elliot’s words.

These few days, Elliot has been silent and closed himself up, Avery thought he would not open his heart easily.

Unexpectedly, Elliot was just afraid of involving her.

“I talked to Margaret, and she said she was only interested in that award. She said she wouldn’t deliberately embarrass us. So you don’t have to worry. No one has troubled me since you came back.” With a relaxed tone, Avery said, “Elliot, we don’t need to worry about the difficulties that haven’t come yet...”

“Margaret will marry Travis.” Elliot explained this matter.

"I know. Are you worried that Travis will trouble us?" Avery raised her head and looked at him, "They will get married in half a month. At least in this half month, Travis has no energy to trouble us."

Chatting in a low voice, the nanny was in the kitchen and brought them two bowls of chicken soup and brought them to the dining room.

Avery immediately took Elliot to the dining room.

"You've lost a lot of weight. I want to restore your body to its original shape."

Avery pushed him into a chair and sat down, "Elliot, do you want to see Layla and Robert? They both miss you very much."

Elliot picked up the soup bowl and sipped the soup quietly.

"If you don't know how to deal with them, you can do without video." Seeing that Elliot didn't speak, Avery added, "When you want to contact them, we can contact them at any time."

"When are you going back home?" Elliot asked.

"I'm waiting for you to adjust your state." Avery took the spoon and drank the soup slowly, "If you go back to Aryadelle, you will not only face Layla and Robert, but also Shea and many of your friends. Let's go back in no hurry and wait for a while."

Avery was very thoughtful.

Elliot really did not adjust his mood for the time being. He finished the soup in the bowl and put down the bowl and spoon.

"Do you want to add another bowl?" Avery asked.

Elliot shook his head and wiped his mouth with a tissue.

"Elliot, besides being afraid of me being threatened, what else are you afraid of? I especially want to know what's in your heart." Avery put down the bowl, intertwined his hands, and supported his cheeks with the back of her hands,

“I’m actually very peaceful now. As long as I’m with you, I’m content. I haven’t been able to find you for the past two months, so I keep that shirt you’re wearing in the basement with me.”

“If you dare to be me out of fear and if you choose to leave me, or leave this world, I will definitely not forgive you.” Avery added.

She didn’t mean to say such unpleasant remarks.

It was the words Elliot just said that made Avery vaguely uneasy.

“I can promise you, but you must also promise me. If someone uses me to threaten you, you must tell me immediately.” Elliot negotiated with her, “If you can’t do it, then I don’t have to listen to you.”

Seeing Elliot’s firm attitude, Avery could only nod in agreement.

“Elliot, I haven’t seen you smile for a long time, can you smile at me?” In order to adjust the atmosphere, Avery made this little request.

“Another request.” Elliot couldn’t help laughing.

“Then can you let me accompany you to the hospital for a detailed examination?” Avery changed her request, “Aside from your mental state, I feel that your body is actually very healthy. So I really want to take you to the hospital. “

Elliot: “What if I refuse?”

“You added the word ‘if’, which means you don’t want to refuse me so strongly.”

Avery analyzed his eyes and his tone thoroughly, “Elliot, I said, don’t be afraid.

No matter what you become, you are the man I love the most. I will not treat you as an alien, let alone a monster. When we return home, I will marry you.”

“No.” Elliot said coldly without hesitation, “I may die at any time, and I don’t even dare to see the child, let alone give you any promises.”

His words made her fall into silence.

All the disguised strength collapsed at this moment.

Elliot could die at any moment...just because he thought he could die at any moment, so he didn't dare to see the child or go out.

"You won't die." After a brief silence, Avery regained her courage, "Elliot, let's take a nap! When we're asleep, let's go to the hospital together."

Avery was not discussing with him. She had put him on hold for a few days, and there was no escaping this matter.

Tate Industries, branch in Bridgedale.

After Katalina's parents were driven away by their daughter in Aryadelle, they flew back to Bridgedale.

Because Norah was in Bridgedale.

When Norah was in the meeting room, the assistant came to tell her that her aunt and uncle were here. She had a hunch in her heart why they came, so she didn't go to see them immediately.

she deliberately delayed the time for more than an hour before returning to the office.

"Norah, I went to Aryadelle to see Katalina with your uncle. However, she was seriously injured and was hospitalized in the hospital." Laurel spoke first.

Norah picked up the water glass on the desk, took a sip of water, and asked leisurely: "If that's the case, why don't you take care of her in Aryadelle?"

"Katalina said she was forced to jump into the river. Norah, this matter is not you. Did you do it?" Laurel said worriedly, "I know that Katalina is sorry for you first. Your mother told me that Katalina must have told Avery what you did in private, but aren't you safe and sound? Why do you still want to? Katalina is forced to die? she's is the only our daughter!"

“Auntie, do you have any evidence?” Norah put down the water glass and looked cold, “It’s like I have no evidence to prove that Katalina betrayed me, so I never cried in front of you. Tell me how aggrieved I am.”

Laurel: “Norah, it’s boring for you to say such a thing. Of course, there is no enemy in Aryadelle. No one wants to harm her except you...”

“You said so, that’s me!” Norah simply admitted, “I’m not dead now, it’s not that I’m talented. It’s my biological father Travis’s ability! Elliot and Avery haven’t settled with me now, maybe they will settle with me in the future. I’m walking a tightrope on a cliff now, and your useless daughter lives a stable life, why?”

“Norah! You vicious woman! I didn’t believe it was you! But you actually admitted it! I was blind, I shouldn’t have lend you money to study at university! You want to kill my daughter, I’ll kill you, I’ll kill you!” Laurel collapsed, picked up the things on the desk and smashed it at Norah.

Norah clenched her fist tightly and did not fight back!

The woman in front of her was her aunt, and she couldn’t do it with her elders.

With a ‘bang’, Laurel took the water cup and smashed Norah’s head.

Blood dripped down her forehead!

Norah felt that the world in front of her had turned into a scarlet.

“Have you had enough trouble?! If you don’t leave, I’ll call the security guard!”

Norah roared with a grim face.

Lincoln immediately took his wife away.

After they left, Norah wiped the blood on her face with a tissue, then left the company with a bag and drove to the hospital.

When she arrived at the hospital, she saw two familiar figures not far away.

It seems to be Avery and Elliot.

Norah thought she was dizzy and hallucinated, so she reached out and squeezed her arm.

Chapter 2089

There was a sober pain in Norah's arm and she realised that she was not in dream.

She didn't want to meet them head-on, so she turned sideways immediately, wanting to wait for them to leave before registering.

Unexpectedly, Avery suddenly turned her head and chatted with Elliot, only to catch a glimpse of Norah out of the corner of her eye.

Elliot saw that Avery was looking straight at a certain place, so he followed her gaze.

For Norah, Elliot felt a little strange for a while.

Norah originally thought that the two of them would come towards her, warning and threatening, but she didn't expect that they just looked at her, except Avery's fierce eyes, there was no other action.

Norah turned a blind eye to Avery's eyes. After all, Travis was protecting her now, so she didn't need to be afraid of them.

So after a brief struggle, Norah strode towards them.

Avery saw Norah's coming, and immediately held Elliot's hand tightly.

Norah walked up to them quickly, and stopped before Avery's bodyguard walked in front of her to block her.

"It's a coincidence that I met you in the hospital." Norah's eyes fell on Elliot's face, "Elliot, long time no see. I heard that you were resurrected by Margaret, I really envy you for having such good luck. Now, you can still be resurrected. Besides, you look like a real person, and the current medicine is really amazing."

Avery looked at the wound on Norah's forehead, listened to her teasing tone, and said coldly, "Norah, I have never forgotten what you have done to me and Elliot. You should have heard the saying that it is not too late for a gentleman to take revenge in ten years."

"You don't need to remind me. You remind me, it will only make me feel how incompetent you are now. Showing your weakness to the enemy is not a smart thing." Norah saw that Avery dared not do anything to herself, she felt relieved.

"What did she do to us?" Elliot didn't know what Norah did, so he asked Avery. Without waiting for Avery to answer, Norah spoke first: "You were in Yonroeville, and you were locked in the suburban basement. Avery said I did it. Elliot, do you think I have such great ability? I will kill you all, I can't get your Sterling Group, I still have to complete the gambling agreement... So what is my motive for killing you?"

"Norah, how dare you argue!" Avery did not expect Norah to be so brazen, "Do you think Elliot is not the old Elliot, so he will listen to your words? You should save your energy! Because he is still the old Elliot!"

"You said he is still the old Elliot. Elliot, why don't you go back to Aryadelle? What are you two doing in the hospital? Are you checking your body? Or is there something wrong with your body? You look normal! It must be Elliot's body, right?" Norah said arbitrarily while laughing, "If you want to prove that I did the murder of the two of you in the Yonroeville before, you have to show evidence. There is no evidence, and children understand the truth, don't you understand it?"

Avery saw Norah wanted to walk away, so she quickly said: "What happened to the injury on your forehead? You fell? Or was someone beaten? Did you bleed a lot? I see if there is any blood on the corner of your mouth.. ...Does it hurt?"

"What's your business?!" Norah said angrily.

“I just remind you that you will suffer more than that.” Avery said coldly, and led Elliot away.

Norah gritted her teeth and watched the backs of the two of them leaving. Her chest heaving quickly.

When the nurse cleaned and bandaged her wound, she took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Travis’s assistant: [I just met Avery and Elliot. Avery told me that she would not let us get the Tate Industries. She said that when she had dealt with Elliot’s matter, she would take revenge on us. You can remind my dad and let him plan ahead.]

After seeing her news, the assistant replied: [What is Avery going to do with Elliot?]

Norah: [She brought Elliot to the hospital. I think she will let Elliot get out of Aunt Gomez’s control as soon as possible.]

Assistant: [I know. what are you thinking?]

Norah: [Isn’t Dad about to marry Aunt Gomez? Since Aunt Gomez can control Elliot now, why not use Aunt Gomez to get what we want directly? Dad wants Tate Industries, so why don’t we just ask Elliot to send Tate Industries over?]

Assistant: [Your Dad’s target is more than a small Tate Industries.]

Norah: [Isn’t the Tate Industries not small? Dad really wants the Tate Industries!]

Chapter 2090

Assistant: [If we can get the Dream Maker Group, will you still like the Tate Industries?]

Norah: [...]

She didn’t expect that Travis’s ambitions would be so great.

Assistant: [Norah, I know you are high-spirited and have your own ideas, but based on my experience, I advise you to listen to your father’s words. Only by listening to him can you be more successful.]

Norah: [Sincerely, if you listen to my father like this, how much does he pay you every year?]

Assistant: [...]

Assistant: [You said you met Avery and Elliot in the hospital, what are you doing at the hospital?]

Norah: [I was beaten.]

Assistant: [Who dares to hit you? Are you convenient to answer the phone now?]

Norah: [My aunt called it. But from the moment she hit me, she was not my aunt.]

Assistant: [I said who was so bold and dared to hit you. Are you free at night? I invite you to dinner.]

Norah hesitated.

Travis's assistant was in his 40s. He was a divorced middle-aged man. He looked very greasy, but he spoke and did things very well, and won Travis's trust.

Norah was now facing the enemy from both sides. On the one hand, Avery and Elliot might retaliate at any time, and on the other hand, Travis's contempt and suppression. She couldn't use her talents at all.

Her current life, looking bright and beautiful, was actually extremely useless.

She had to find a way out of this predicament.

...

Avery took Elliot for a brain CT.

"Elliot, don't be afraid, you will be fine soon." Avery sent him to the CT room.

Elliot's mind was not on this.

He asked, "We were framed by someone in Yonroeville. Is it really Norah who did it?"

"Norah's cousin, Layla's teacher, said that Norah did it. She heard Norah talking to others on the phone." Avery looked at him, "We'll talk about this later. Let's leave her alone."

Elliot knew that for her now, the most important thing was the special device in his head.

It's like a ticking time bomb that will explode someday.

After doing the CT, after five minutes, his results came out.

The doctor who performed CT scan on Elliot glanced at his list, and a surprised expression appeared on his face.

Avery took the order from the doctor, and then took Elliot out of the radiology department first.

"Isn't there another film?" Elliot asked.

"It will take about an hour for the film to be picked up. The doctor's computer already has the image." Avery said, picked up the CT report and glanced at it.

Chapter 2091

CT prompt, there was a metal foreign body in his brain.

There was a flash of disappointment in Avery's eyes.

Originally, she still had a glimmer of fantasy, hoping that Margaret's resurrection technique was fake.

But now that the CT results came out, her illusion was also shattered.

"What's wrong?" Elliot looked at the expression on her face and asked, "Is the situation not very good?"

Avery immediately shook her head: "No. This report only says that there is a foreign body in your head. I'll take you to another examination first, and when the other examinations are done, your film should be ready to be taken.” After a pause, Avery added, “Elliot, don’t be too pessimistic. When Professor James Hough praised me before, he said that I am more powerful than Margaret. The research Margaret can do, I will definitely be able to solve it quickly.”

Elliot: “I’m afraid you are too tired.”

“I’m not tired, not at all. Without you, I...I feel tired. I am tired from eating, sleeping, and breathing. Now that you are by my side, I am motivated to do anything.” Avery took his arm, grabbed his big palm, and squeezed hard, “You’re warmth, and the smell on your body is still the same as before. You are clearly the same Elliot from before. Norah deliberately said that you looked like a real person to anger us. Don’t take her words to heart.”

“If you don’t mention it, I don’t even remember her saying this.” Elliot followed her forward, “You care more about other people’s opinions.”

“Really? It’s fine if you don’t care.” Avery let out a smile, “When we go back later, let’s buy a cake and go back. I haven’t eaten cake for a long time, and I suddenly want to eat it.”

Elliot: “Well.”

In the evening, Jones’s family.

Travis was in a good mood today, so in the afternoon, he called his second son Emilio and asked him to come to the old house for dinner in the evening.

Emilio came to the old house at half past five in the afternoon.

After drinking a cup of tea, Travis came back.

“Dad, you called me over for dinner today, do you have anything to explain?”

Emilio held his father’s arm and helped him into the room.

“I have nothing to say, so can’t I call you to come and accompany me to dinner?” Travis let go of his hand, “You are my only son now, Emilio, I have high hopes for you, you can't let me down."

Dad, since I belong to the Jones family, I must be devoted to the Jones family and to you." Emilio followed his father and walked to the dining room, "Where's Aunt Gomez?"

"She's been watching the house with her daughter these two days. Her house is too old, and she wants to buy a new one for her daughter." Travis returned, "You don't seem to have seen her daughter yet?"

Emilio: "No. Aunt Gomez has never brought her daughter to our house."

"Also I did not see her daughter." When Travis said this, his thick eyebrows were slightly wrinkled, "Margaret said that her daughter is more introverted and doesn't like to deal with others very much. Moreover, her daughter is not her own, she adopted her, so it doesn't matter if we meet or not. "

Emilio: "Aunt Gomez is so kind to this adopted daughter."

"How do you say Margaret is different from ordinary people. If she really wants to get out of my control, she can completely get rid of me. After all, I'm sure she can win the March Medical Award. Now I want to make friends with her rich people, I'm afraid I can't count them with ten fingers. But she still willingly stayed by my side and helped me stop the scandal. I really want to thank Margaret."

Travis was moved.

Emilio analyzed, "Maybe Aunt Gomez really likes you. Dad, you are actually a very attractive man."

Travis laughed and said: "Hehe, you don't have to flatter me, You're my son and you are also a smart boy. You certainly won't be as confused as your big brother..."

"Dad, I didn't flatter you." Emilio interrupted his father's words, "It's not that you can achieve success just by yourself. Some people say that you got the beauty and medicine after you died of a brother. I think those people are all farting. If you don't have the ability, how can you make MH Medicine stronger?"

The expression on Travis's face froze.

"Dad, let me have two drinks with you!" Emilio said, and instructed the servant, "Bring a bottle of champagne."

Chapter 2092

Travis: "Emilio, you told me this, do you think I did something wrong before? You think I am not confident enough, So kill those d*mn women and children."

Emilio: "Dad, the past is over, I tell you this, I hope you and Aunt Gomez can be loving and loving, and be beautiful. "

"Ha ha ha! As long as Margaret doesn't betray me, of course I won't kill her. I called you here today for your life event. Travis's face was full of smiles again, "Emilio, you are matured boy, and it is time to start a family. I want to hug my grandson. "

Emilio was sitting on pins and needles: "Dad, why do you suddenly want to hug your grandson?"

"Why can't I want to hug my grandson? Isn't it normal to want to hold a grandson? You don't get married, do you plan to be single for the rest of your life?" Travis picked up the chopsticks and put the chopsticks green vegetables in his mouth, "Do you have a woman you like? "

Emilio: "No."

"Emilio, you are lying." Travis glared at him, "Don't you like Avery? I see it all."

Emilio was stunned for a moment, "Dad, Avery and Elliot are a couple, and they have given birth to many children."

Elliot is already dead, and now this Elliot is just an air at our mercy." When Margaret marries me, I can use Margaret's control over Elliot to let Avery marry you.” Travis said his plan, “Emilio, I praised you for being smart just now, you won’t be as confused as your eldest brother, will you?”

Emilio pursed his lips and didn’t speak.

His thoughts were a little confused.

He did have a crush on Avery. Who doesn’t like a young, beautiful and capable woman like Avery?

Even if Avery was married, divorced and had children, Emilio would still be with her.

The problem was, Avery couldn’t possibly fall in love with Emilio at all.

“Dad, didn’t you say that Aunt Gomez is different from ordinary people? If Aunt Gomez really wanted to use Elliot to threaten Avery, she would have threatened Avery long ago.” Emilio asked suspiciously, “Can you convince her to stand on your side?”

“Didn’t you just say that Margaret loves me? You also said that I am very attractive.” Travis felt that his plan was unstoppable.

After Margaret married him, whether Margaret loved him or not, she had to listen to him.

At this time the servant came with champagne.

Emilio took the wine and poured it for his father. Two hours later, Emilio accompanied his father to dinner and returned to his residence.

He thought about it, and felt uneasy, so he sent Avery a message.

...

Avery took Elliot to the hospital this afternoon for an examination and went home, and she began to study Elliot’s various examination reports.

The most important thing was his brain film.

At 8:30 in the evening, Elliot came to the study and reminded Avery to take a bath.

Avery immediately put down the documents at hand and followed him back to the master bedroom.

Back in the master bedroom, Avery took the pajamas and entered the bathroom.

The phone she was laying on the bed suddenly lit up.

Elliot looked at the screen of Avery's mobile phone and saw the message Emilio sent her.

Chapter 2093

–Avery, my dad wants us to get married. I guess he wants the Dream maker Group. He thinks that if you marry me, he will get the Dream Maker Group.

–He said that after he married Margaret, he would implement this plan. If you don't want to marry me, then you should find a way! Because I can't fight against my dad.

Emilio sent two messages in total.

These two pieces of information were seen by Elliot.

Elliot stared at the phone screen for a while, wanting to see if Emilio would continue to send messages, but after the phone screen went black, it never turned on.

Not long after, Avery came out of the bathroom after taking a shower.

“Buy me a mobile phone.” Elliot leaned against the bedside, holding a book that Avery bought for him, and made this request to her.

“Okay. Should I still use your old mobile phone brand? Is the mobile phone number a replacement for your previous number, or a new one?” Avery walked to the bed and stared at his face.

He offered to use her cell phone, indicating that he wanted to be in contact with someone other than her.

This was a good thing.

Sooner or later, he will open his heart and slowly walk out of the haze.

Avery didn't ask him to fully recover to the proud man he was back then, as long as he didn't close himself up, that would be a great thing.

"Use a new number!" Elliot thought for a while and replied.

"Okay, let's go shopping together tomorrow!" Avery wanted to go out with him to have a look.

The two of them were in the hospital together this afternoon, and Avery felt fulfilled every minute and every second.

She could feel that Elliot was real, flesh and blood, no different from that Elliot back then.

"I don't want to go out. I'm a little tired today." Elliot rejected her proposal. "If you want to go out, you can ask the bodyguard to accompany you out."

"Elliot you must have exceeded the standard. Then go to sleep! I have to go to the study for a while. I can't sleep so early." Avery's mouth was hooked, and she discussed with him softly.

Elliot nodded: "Don't be too late."

"I'll definitely be back to sleep before midnight. You don't have to worry about me." Avery whispered and kissed him on the cheek.

For her sudden kiss, his body suddenly felt like an electric shock, sending an electric current.

"Elliot, I'll be busy next time, and I may not have much time to accompany you. If you want something or want to say something to me, you must take the initiative to tell me. Otherwise, I may not be able to take care of your mood."

Avery pressed his forehead and discuss with him in a low voice.

She could feel his body temperature heating up and getting hot in an instant.

What an interesting response.

How could Elliot be a fake?

“Well, you’re busy with your own business, don’t mind me.” His breathing became hoarse and heavy, probably because he wasn’t used to such an atmosphere. He pushed her body slightly.

Avery was not aggrieved, she looked at him with her eyebrows bent, and said softly, “Then go to sleep! I’ll buy you a mobile phone tomorrow morning. You can see the new phone when you sleep and open your eyes.”

“Well.” Elliot put the book in his hand on the bedside table and put it down,

“Take your mobile phone to the study, what if someone calls you?”

“Oh, good.” Avery picked up her mobile phone and turned off the headlights in the room and left the bedroom.

She took her mobile phone and came to the study. Unexpectedly, Mike stayed inside.

Chapter 2094

“What are you doing in my study?” Avery strode up to Mike.

Mike held Elliot’s inspection report sheet in his hand and looked at it very intently.

Avery dared to say that Mike didn’t take Elliot medical report so seriously.

Mike: “I’ll look at his test results! You didn’t tell me...”

“Elliot was there at dinner at that time. You asked other people’s test results directly in front of others like this. Is it?” Avery took the checklist from Mike’s hand and put it on the table, “Elliot has indeed been implanted with a special device in his brain. Apart from that, there is nothing wrong with his body. It can be said that except for I can’t understand this thing in his brain, his other indicators are normal.”

“Isn’t this good?” Mike was a little surprised by the result, “Margaret’s resurrection technique, is it so powerful? After installing this device, it can really make the dead live like real people.”

“What is the real life? Mike, don’t say such things in front of me!” This is the second time Avery has heard such words today. It was Norah who said it for the first time.

Whether it was malice or ridicule, Avery felt uncomfortable when she heard it.

“I didn’t mean to... I just wanted to say that Elliot is actually no different from a normal person now. Let him not put on his face all day.” Mike put a hand on Avery’s shoulder, “You every day...Don’t you feel uncomfortable facing his cold face?”

“Elliot’s not cold to me in private.” Avery pushed Mike’s hand away, “you go out, I’m busy.”

Mike: “I can go out, but What time are you going to go to bed? It’s 9:00 p.m.”

“Don’t worry about me. I’m not a 3-year-old.” Avery gave him a look.

If Mike didn’t leave, Avery considered pushing him out.

“Have you noticed that Hayden has been in a bad mood these two days?” Mike took two steps to the door, then stopped, “After returning from Elliot, Hayden didn’t talk much.”

“Why can’t I feel it? I...I understand my son. He probably couldn’t accept Elliot becoming like this. Although he looked like he hated Elliot before, Elliot was his biological father after all, and after Elliot knew that Hayden was his own son, he was almost obedient to Elliot. It’s impossible for Hayden to completely ignore what happened to Elliot.”

Mike: “Yes. Hayden is actually a cool kid who is cold on the outside and hot on the inside.”

Avery: “He hates people saying he is a child the most.”

“Uh...I went to find him. He has a heart-to-heart talk. Don't stay up too late. I'll come to the study at midnight to check.” Mike finished and walked out.

Avery took a sigh of relief and sat down in the chair. She held the phone in her hand, as she was accustomed to, and before putting it down, she turned it on and glanced at it.

So, she saw the message from Emilio.

After she took Elliot back, she didn't contact Emilio. After all, the two of them had nothing to do with each other in private.

After seeing what Emilio sent, her complexion suddenly changed, and her inner peace no longer existed.

With trembling fingers, she dialed Emilio.

Emilio answered in seconds: “Did you see the message I sent you?”

“Yes! Your dad really intends to do this?!” Avery was so dizzy with anger that she held her head with the other hand, so that she could hold on. “Margaret promised me that she would not embarrass me and Elliot...”

“What I'm telling you is just my dad's thoughts. Margaret hasn't been with my dad for the past two days. She's buying a house with her adopted daughter, so she probably doesn't know what my dad thinks!” Emilio said, “Avery, if you really have to marry me for Elliot's sake, don't blame me.”

Avery almost wanted to blurt out ‘I won't marry you’, but she could not speak.

For Elliot...for Elliot, Avery will do anything.

“I'm going to find Margaret.” Avery's eyes were scarlet. After saying this, she hung up the phone.

Chapter 2095

Just when Avery was about to call Margaret, Emilio's message came: [Calm down, please? If you look for Margaret now, won't you expose me?]

Emilio told Avery the news as soon as what Travis said to him. If Travis knew about it, he would definitely question Emilio's loyalty to him.

Because Travis had not told Margaret about this, and Avery was going to Margaret to talk about it, Margaret would definitely ask Travis.

Avery looked at the text message, and her emotions gradually calmed down.

No one could stop Travis's ambition.

Avery didn't talk about Emilio and she was afraid Margaret couldn't change Travis's decision.

Travis made up his mind that Avery would be controlled by Margaret.

If Margaret wanted to get rid of their control, Avery could only find a solution as soon as possible. If there was no way to find a solution before Travis threatened Avery, she can only be at the mercy of Travis.

After thinking about this, Avery's heart froze for a while.

If Travis planned to implement this plan after marrying Margaret, then no matter how hard Avery tried, she would not be able to solve Elliot's problem in such a short time.

Avery breathed heavily, feeling like a huge stone was pressed in her heart. She couldn't tell Elliot about this.

If She told Elliot, how sad Elliot would be.

What Elliot was most worried about was that Avery was threatened because of his affairs, and Avery comforted Elliot at the time, saying that Margaret would not embarrass them.

Who would have thought that Margaret didn't embarrass them, but Travis didn't plan to let them go.

Margaret's willingness to marry Travis showed that Margaret agreed with Travis, and most of them agreed with Travis's actions.

Avery had to plan for the worst.

....

In a hospital of Aryadelle.

After three days of hospitalization, Katalina felt that her body was almost recovered, so she wanted to be discharged.

After she told Aqi last night that she wanted to be discharged from the hospital today, Aqi came early this morning.

Aqi didn't come alone. He brought a strange man over.

Katalina looked at the strange man beside Aqi with a surprised but polite smile:

"Aqi, is this your... brother?"

"No." Aqi replied, "This is what I gave to you is a bodyguard. He will protect you and make you safe from danger in the future."

Katalina: "..."

"Hello, Miss Larson, my name is Frank Hicks. You can call me Frank." Frank introduced himself to Katalina.

Katalina had a hard time accepting the sudden bodyguard. She pulled Aqi and walked outside the ward to talk alone.

Katalina said, "Aqi, why are you looking for a bodyguard for me? Didn't I tell you, my parents have gone to my cousin. Now that my family and my cousin's family have broken up. My cousin should not bother me anymore..."

When Katalina found out about this, she was very shocked. She didn't expect that her parents would go to Norah for a big fight for her, and because of this, she would tear up her face with her aunt's family.

Originally, Katalina's mother, Laurel wanted to come over to take care of Katalina, but Katalina refused her.

Katalina quarreled with her mother before, and now meeting her parents was too embarrassing.

“Don’t use your thinking to speculate on Norah’s thinking. Since I found a bodyguard for you, you can use him as your bodyguard and you don’t need to pay to him.” Aqi was cold-faced and soft-hearted, “And from now, don’t argue with me anymore.”

Katalina said, “How dare I ask you to pay me for a bodyguard? Maybe the money you pay for this bodyguard is higher than my salary.”

Aqi: “That’s for sure.”

Katalina: “Then I might as well stay at home. What kind of work do I need to do?”

“It’s okay. Then go and resign your job.” Aqi followed her words.

Katalina supported her forehead: “I’m young, it’s so boring not to go to work. I still have to go to work...”

Aqi: “Then let Frank protect you when you commute every day.”

Chapter 2096

“I can’t tell you.” Katalina compromised, “Aqi, you are so good to me and I don’t even know what to do.”

Aqi cleared his throat embarrassingly and changed the subject: “Are you and your parents reconciled?”

“Forget it! They have made such a big change for me, which shows that they have me in their hearts. And they said that they will never force me to marry someone I don’t like in the future...” Katalina jumped into the river this time, although she was forced, but it was a blessing in disguise.

If it hadn’t happened, the deteriorating relationship between Katalina and her parents might not have resolved so quickly.

“Then...Have you been working here for a while or Are going back to your parents?” Aqi continued to ask.

Katalina couldn't help laughing: "You ask this, are you reluctant to let me go?"

Aqi's face changed, and he denied it: "No. No. You can leave if you want..."

Katalina: "You still lie...Look at how red your face. You don't feel ashamed if you like me."

Aqi didn't expect her to speak so directly and couldn't resist, so she turned her head and left.

Katalina looked at the back of his leaving, and smiled even more cheerfully.

Such a mighty and tall man was so shy because of her words.

After laughing, Katalina thought about it seriously.

After reconciling with her parents, she did consider returning to her parents, but she was a little bit reluctant to Layla.

So she planned to continue to work here. As for whether he would stay in the future, it depended on Aqi's performance.

.....

Bridgedale.

A flash of lightning split the clouds, through the floor-to-ceiling windows, into the bedroom.

Immediately after, a thunderous 'boom' woke up Elliot on the bed.

He opened his eyes and looked out the window.

The window was covered with dark clouds, the wind was howling, and the rain was crackling against the window.

With a 'pop', Avery turned on the room light.

"The weather is not very good today." Avery rubbed his eyes and looked at the time, "It's 8 o'clock in the morning. Are you hungry?"

Elliot looked out the window, a little lost.

Avery got out of bed, walked to the window, and completely opened the curtains. This would make the outside scenery clearer.

“Elliot, I’ll go out and buy a mobile phone for you when the rain has eased. I didn’t read the weather forecast yesterday, so I didn’t expect it to rain today.”

Avery stood by the window and murmured.

“Don’t go out when the weather is bad.” Elliot lifted the quilt and got out of bed,

“I’m a little hungry, let’s have breakfast!”

“Yeah. I checked the weather forecast, it’s impossible to rain heavily all day.”

Avery returned to the bed. At the bedside, she picked up the phone and checked the weather forecast.

The weather forecast showed that the rain would subside by 10 o’clock.

At 9:30 a.m., the rain stopped.

Avery and the bodyguard went out to buy a mobile phone for Elliot.

Not long after, Ben Schaffer came to visit Elliot.

Ben Schaffer came to see Elliot every day, even if Elliot didn’t talk to him, it didn’t matter.

Ben asked, “Where’s Avery?”

“Avery went out to buy a mobile phone for Mr. Foster.” The nanny replied.

“Elliot, do you want a mobile phone? Just tell me, I’ll buy it for you!” Ben Schaffer was excited, “On my way here, I happened to pass by a mobile phone store.”

Elliot: “I don’t have a mobile phone. but why I tell you to buy for me a mobile phone?”

“Haha! You can use Avery’s cell phone to contact me!” Ben Schaffer didn’t expect that he would be willing to talk to him today, “I originally thought, if you ignore me again, I will go back to Aryadelle...”

“Go home.” Elliot interrupted him.

Chapter 2097

Ben Schaffer was stunned for a moment and then said, "I'm worried about you?"

"Why are you worried about me?" Elliot asked, "Are you worried that I'll be hungry and have nothing to eat, or if I'm cold and have no clothes to wear? Or when will I die and won't see the last one?"

Ben Schaffer was choked by him and didn't know how to answer.

"Elliot, of course I didn't mean that... I said I worried about you because I haven't seen you for a long time, so I want to chat with you more..."

"You are worried that we won't have a chance to talk again in the future!" Elliot continued to analyze the true meaning of his words.

Ben Schaffer said calmly, "Of course not! I have confidence in Avery. Since you bought a new phone today, I will go back to Aryadelle tomorrow."

"You already know about Norah, right?" Elliot asked.

"Yes, Norah framed you and Avery in Yonroeville." Ben Schaffer said seriously,

"This Norah is really ruthless. You can't tell from her appearance that she is such a person. She used to be so flattering. To please you, I thought she was the same as those women who pursued you before, who knew that she would want to destroy her if she didn't get it."

"Norah now relies on Travis, and Travis is about to marry Margaret, so we can't touch Norah for the time being. However, we must not let the Tate Industries fall into the hands of Norah and Travis." Elliot was brooding about this matter.

The Tate family's surname is Tate, and it belongs to Avery.

"Elliot, do you mean to abolish the gambling agreement and make Norah out of the game?" Ben Schaffer considered his words and guessed, "If this is the case, we will have to pay her a lot of money. It's really not worth it. "

"Then do you have a better way?" Elliot asked rhetorically.

“I’ll go back and think about it... If there is really no other way, then according to what you said, abolish the agreement. In fact, even if we kick Norah out, Norah will not be too bad, She is the daughter of Travis and coupled with her outstanding personal ability. Travis will definitely take Norah to work with him.” Elliot didn’t answer. If it wasn’t for Margaret now controlling his brain, he would definitely not just kick Norah out.

Ben Schaffer knew what he was thinking, so after pondering for a moment, he said, “Wait until Avery has thoroughly researched Margaret’s technical achievements, then Travis and Norah, we will clean up together.”

About half an hour later, Avery came back with a new mobile phone.

Seeing that Ben Schaffer was there, Avery smiled and said, “Brother Ben, you are here! Stay for lunch at noon!”

“Okay!” Ben Schaffer saw the new mobile phone in her hand and stretched out his hand, “This is what you gave to Elliot. Did Elliot buy a new phone? Is it the latest model?”

“Well. I gave him a new phone number, you can save his new phone number.”

Avery handed the new phone number to Ben Schaffer.

“Why use a new number? The old number has been used for so many years, so just get a new card.” Ben Schaffer took the phone and dialed his number to save his number later.

“I’m going to use the new phone number.” Elliot took back his new phone from Ben Schaffer.

“It’s good to use a new number, so as to avoid too many harassing calls.” Avery smiled warmly, and then said, “Ben Schaffer, chat with Elliot for a while, I’m busy.”

Ben: “Well, go ahead! No need to take care of us.”

After Avery walked away, Elliot opened the phone address book, and some numbers were already recorded in it. For example, hers, Shea, Layla, Hayden, and Ben Schaffer and Chad.

Chapter 2098

"I feel that Avery has become so gentle now. I'm not used to it." Ben Schaffer sighed, "If she was so gentle before, you wouldn't always quarrel."

"I would rather she be like that. That way it can prove that I am the same as before." Elliot put down the phone.

"Elliot, your current situation is temporary. You should give yourself a long vacation." Ben Schaffer understood how uncomfortable he was, "You will have good luck, if you don't die."

"Ben Schaffer, are you so optimistic?" Elliot looked at Ben, neither hurried nor slow, "Avery can just coax me, you can coax me too."

Ben Schaffer was uncomfortable with his sharp eyes.

"Did you ask me to talk to you about what happened behind you?" Ben Schaffer couldn't bear it, "Elliot, I said that I believe in Avery, and I really believe it. It's not to coax you, or to paralyze myself. "

Elliot: "If the price she has to pay for saving me is too high, I'd rather not have her save me."

"Don't think too much about it, let her try." Ben Schaffer prayed, "Are you bored at home every day? Do you want to go somewhere else? Where do you want to go? I'll take you there. Avery has been busy recently, she doesn't have time to accompany you, I have time."

Elliot shook his head: "I don't want to go anywhere."

"You still want to stay with Avery, don't you?" Ben Schaffer's mouth twitched,

"Even if I want to take you out to relax, I'm afraid Avery won't let you go. I dare say, she's never been so careful with you now for her children."

Elliot was noncommittal.

.....

Jones family.

The weather was bad today, so Margaret didn't accompany Emmy to see the house.

Travis asked the bodyguard to take Margaret to Jones's house early in the morning, because the costume designer had already made their wedding dresses and sent them this morning for them to try on.

When they chose the style before, they both chose it together, so the designer never imagined that Margaret would express dissatisfaction with the color of the clothes after seeing the finished clothes.

"Red is too tacky." Margaret held the wedding dress she was going to wear, and raised her brows, "Everyone else wears red and white when they get married, but I don't like being like others."

Travis asked with a smile: "Then what do you want? What color? Pink? Purple? Or..."

"I like black." Margaret said firmly, "I checked, black represents mystery and elegance, which coincides with my personality, so I think I want a black dress.

Travis, what do you think?"

Travis doesn't like black. He felt bad for black.

When They get married, if They wear a black dress, even the joy of marriage is diluted.

"Margaret, are you sure you want to wear a black dress? Why didn't you say it before? Now that the clothes are ready, if you change the color, I'm afraid it will be too late." Travis was unwilling to compromise, "Otherwise, let's get married first. It's over, you like black clothes, I will let the designer design black clothes for you, and you can order as many black clothes as you want."

"I will only marry this time in my life. If this is the only wedding and I can't decide the color of the wedding dress according to my own mind then I will feel that I am not valued." Margaret lowered her eyes and looked sad, "Actually, I have always liked black. You never asked me what color I like, and I also I'm embarrassed to say it. Now our relationship is about to go further, so I don't think it's too much for me to make this request, right?"

Travis was a little angry when Margaret was accused of standing on the moral high ground. But thinking that there were important things to ask her next, so he could only follow her.

"If you like black, then order a black dress!" Travis promised Margaret and looked at the designer, "Before the wedding, the clothes must be made!"

Chapter 2099

After the designer takes orders, he immediately takes away the retired dress.

As soon as the designer left, Travis helped Margaret to sit down on the sofa.

"Margaret, you should have told me last time. This way, the designer doesn't have to rush to work again. Money is a trivial matter, and it is mainly a waste of time." Travis said with a pleasant expression.

"Travis, I'm sorry! This time it's my problem. I didn't think much about it when we were choosing styles last time. Now that the wedding is approaching, I'm a little nervous..." Margaret explained, "I've lived most of my life, and I'm used to being free and loose. After marrying you, I will live with a new identity. I'm a little nervous just thinking about it!"

"Margaret, don't be nervous. I won't let you down. I'm done playing. I've been tired of playing for most of my life. Now I just want to settle down. And you are the most suitable woman for me." Travis held her hand and comforted,

“Although I don’t like black, I’m willing to make changes for you. You are the only woman who can subdue me.”

This was the most beautiful love story Travis could think of.

Margaret had a happy smile on her face.

“Have you been optimistic about the house in the past two days?” Travis asked, “If there is a real estate you like, you can tell me. I will help you to see if there is a better floor.”

“We don’t live in it, so let Emmy choose it herself and the Award bonus hasn’t arrived yet, so even if Emmy like it now, I can’t buy it for her.” Margaret is not very anxious about this matter, “I’ve been exhausted from looking at the house in the past two days. I’ll stay at home next time. Let’s take a good rest and wait for our wedding date.”

“Haha, you should wait for the March Medical Award first!” On the second day of their wedding, Travis fantasized, “I will go to the scene then. Look at you accepting the award. At that time, the entire medical field and even the whole society will be swiped by your name.”

Margaret also fantasized about that day. It was the glory she had dreamed of having in her life.

“Margaret, have you chosen the clothes you will wear to receive the award?”

Travis was suddenly curious, “You will be dressed beautifully then.”

“I have already chosen it. It was the last time we went shopping together. The white dress I bought.” Margaret pulled Travis up from the sofa, “I’ll show you. I’ve also chosen the jewelry. I have a set of blue pearl jewelry, and then the white dress will go with blue pearls. It must be very elegant.”

“Margaret, since you like white, why did you choose black for our wedding? If you choose blue, it would be fine.” Travis felt a little queasy, so Margaret also liked white and blue, so he puzzled.

“I prefer black. Black has a sense of mystery, white and blue do not.” Margaret insisted, “Travis, I saw a set of black dresses on the Internet, which are very beautiful. I will find the pictures for you to Look.”

Travis: “Okay.”

Three days later, Avery received all the copies of Margaret’s research on the resurrection technique from Professor Greens.

With so many documents, Avery couldn’t read them all by herself. So she asked a few trusted friends and seniors in the medical field to come and see.

After these people came, they immediately entered Avery’s study room.

After Avery explained Elliot’s situation to everyone, everyone looked embarrassed.

“There is only one way to quickly understand this technology. That is to take out the device in Elliot’s head, and then disassemble the device, so as to study why it can bring people back to life.” The senior 2 put forward their own ideas.

The senior 3: “What if Elliot dies if I take out that device? It’s too risky!”

The senior 2: “Yeah! Why can’t Avery think of this way? She definitely doesn’t want to take this risk!”

The senior 1 took Elliot’s film and stared at it for a while.

Chapter 2100

The Free Consultation Begins

Hearing Leon’s voice, Lucius’ arrogance completely dimmed. He shut his mouth with embarrassment, but he still despised Rosalie in his heart.

His status in the country’s holistic medicine was second to none. Except for the few aristocratic families, any holistic medicine doctor would treat him with respect.

He had heard of most of the popular doctors in the country.

However, he had never heard of this lady before. He could say that she was not anyone significant.

How would she dare speak to him in such a way if she did not have the support of Young Master Leon and Lancer?!

Leon noticed that Lucius had toned down, so he nodded at Rosalie to comfort her. Rosalie thanked him gratefully, "Thank you, Senior. Don't worry, I'm definitely in a good condition."

She was initially nervous, but because of Lucius' provocation, her nervousness was replaced by anger. The only thing she wanted to do right now was to prove herself to him so that he would remove his prejudice against her.

Noticing how she was not affected, Leon let out a sigh of relief.

Xander, who was on the other side, continued staring at them meaningfully.

He already knew that they were friends when he met Leon in his office earlier.

However, he did not expect them to be so close to each other.

The room fell into a short moment of silence.

There were some noises coming from the door, followed by the reminder from the workers, "Young Master Lancer, the free consultation has begun. The children are on their way."

Hearing that, the group immediately prepared themselves, adjusted their expressions, and looked at the door with smiles on their faces.

Four cute children walked into the room in a line.

Seeing the four in the room, the children could not help but start blushing.

Except for Lucius, who was nearly middle-aged and had a beer belly, the other three had good looks. Although they held friendly smiles on their faces, the little guys could not help but feel shy.

They stood at the door for a long time without walking in.

In fact, Xander was experienced in such situations. Just as he was about to move forward to bring them in, he noticed Rosalie had already gone over.

“Hey there, everyone!” Rosalie squatted down with a smile in front of the children and touched their heads lovingly.

Noticing her approach, the children got even shier and wanted to step back.

Rosalie somehow had a handful of candies and showed them to the children while speaking gently, “These candies are really delicious. Do you all want to have some?”

The children had no resistance to candies and kept staring at Rosalie’s palm.

Rosalie kept her hand and reached her other hand toward another girl. “Here, let me do some checks on your body and I’ll give you candies after.”

The little girl looked at her timidly, she felt that the lady in front of her was not just beautiful and smelled pleasant, but she seemed to be glowing when she was looking at her with a smile.

Seeing how the little girl looked, Rosalie could not help but recall her first time meeting Estie. she was also as afraid as this little girl now.

Thinking of that, Rosalie’s expression became more gentle, she looked at the little girl patiently.

After a brief moment, the little girl finally reached out her hand carefully and grabbed one of her fingers.

Rosalie let out a sigh of relief and led the little girl to lie down in bed.

The remaining three children wanted to follow her as well but were blocked by three men. They got nervous and stepped back.

Rosalie turned around and shook her head helplessly before saying to the kids, “You boys can let the uncles do your check-ups. I’ll also give you candies, alright?”

That being said, the children hesitated for a bit before lying on the three other beds in fear.

Chapter 2102

Mike was about to answer when he caught a glimpse of Elliot out of the corner of his eye, so he sent Avery a message wink.

Avery looked back and saw Elliot coming.

A conditioned reflex brought out a smile on her face: "Elliot, have you slept well?"

Elliot: "Yeah."

But he didn't sleep at all. Every day at home, apart from eating and sleeping, he didn't have that much sleep at all.

He used to have the habit of exercising, and now he didn't dare to mention the word fitness.

With his current weak body, it was a fluke that he could live an extra day, how could he dare to exercise vigorously?

"Do you want to go outside to get some air? Let me go out for a walk with you!" Avery said, looking at the weather outside, "The sun is about to go down, it's neither cold nor hot now."

Elliot looked at her face, responded.

"The temperature is starting to cool down, you two put on a coat!" Mike shouted at them both with his neck stretched.

When Elliot was a normal person, Mike would never worry about him. Now he is not a normal person, so Mike is worried about him a lot.

The main reason was that if something happened to him, Avery would also suffer from sadness.

"I'm going to get my coat." Avery released Elliot's hand and strode back to the master bedroom to get his clothes.

After Avery went to the master bedroom, Elliot's eyes fell on Mike's face.

Mike saw him looking at him, so he looked at him.

The two men just stared at each other, and the air was flickering with crackling firelight.

Mike wondered, he was clearly concerned about him just now, afraid that he would freeze, so he reminded him to put on his coat, why did he look at him with hostile eyes?

"Why are you staring at me?" Mike touched his face and found nothing unusual, indicating that this face is still handsome.

"I didn't stare at you." Elliot explained, "It's good for you to live here."

"Oh, I understand, you think I'm getting in the way of living here, and you want to drive me away, right?" Mike frowned and deduced him.

"No." Elliot said.

Avery took his coat and walked out of the master bedroom before he could say anything else.

"Elliot, wear this! This is the new dress I bought for you last time, and you haven't worn it yet! I don't know if it fits you well." Avery walked to Elliot with the new coat and put him on.

Avery bought the new dress for his previous size.

Elliot put on his new coat, which was a little too big. However, the clothes are casual styles, and the larger size did not affect the wearing effect.

"You look good in clothes, you have a good figure, and so do my eyesight."

Avery boasted.

Elliot looked at the smile on Avery's face and was fascinated.

Avery smiles every time she sees him, and where Elliot can't see her, she certainly isn't.

She gave him all the smiles, all the troubles, and told Mike and other friends.

A normal relationship shouldn't be like this.

The two put on their coats and walked out of the villa.

"Elliot, do you usually have a headache?" Avery took his hand and walked out of the yard.

A gust of wind blew, and Avery immediately stopped, walked up to Elliot, and zipped up his coat.

"No." Elliot thought for a few seconds, "You won't feel like something is controlling me if you don't think about it too much."

"Maybe you're used to it being in your head." Avery took his hand again,

"Actually, that device is not too small. It stands to reason that with such a foreign body in the body, it is generally uncomfortable."

Chapter 2103

Elliot: "I have a strong tolerance for pain. It may be a little uncomfortable, but I didn't notice it."

"Haha...It's possible. You are really not afraid of pain." Avery hadn't heard him joking for a long time, so she felt relieved when she suddenly saw him joking.

"I'm not afraid of death either." Elliot said these words in a relaxed atmosphere, "Avery, although you are a genius, it is impossible for you to create a device exactly like the one in my head in a short period of time..."

The smile on Avery's face froze, and she didn't understand why Elliot suddenly said these words so seriously.

"Elliot, did you see that I invited some people to my house and saw them leave?" Avery tried to understand the thoughts in her mind.

Elliot: "I did hear a little movement."

But Elliot didn't say those words because these people came and went.

He saw Emilio's message to Avery last night.

He has been waiting for Avery to tell him about it since last night. But she didn't say anything.

Judging from her appearance, she didn't intend to tell him about it at all.

Avery planned to hide such a big thing from him. It was clear that the two of them had agreed before that if such a thing happened, they must not hide it from him, obviously she didn't take their agreement seriously.

And how long can Avery hide this matter?

Before long, Margaret is going to marry Travis, and when Margaret enters the Jones family's door, Travis will use Margaret to implement his plan.

No matter whether Avery agrees to Travis's request or not, Elliot will know about it at that time.

If Elliot hadn't seen the message Emilio sent Avery last night, he would have been the last person to know about it.

This feeling was really bad.

Avery said, "Elliot, you see you said just now that it would be difficult for me to do this, and others would find it even more difficult. So I planned to spend more money to invite people to join my team. In other words, what Margaret couldn do, I could do it too."

Avery was full of confidence in the future.

"How long could you finish it?" Elliot's tone was a bit aggressive.

Avery blushed at his question. She didn't know when she would finish it. Even if she lied, there was no way to make up an approximate time.

"I couldn't wait too long." Seeing that Avery didn't speak, Elliot spoke again, "Maybe it won't be long before that device in my head would have a problem."

"Don't be afraid. If I couldn't solve your problem by then, I would take you to Margaret." Avery said and calmed down.

"I hate to ask others. I won't go to Margaret." Elliot told Avery, "don't go to Margaret either."

Avery didn't expect Elliot to say such a thing. She didn't know what to say.

Seeing her embarrassed look on her face, Elliot said, "I know you can't do it. You won't listen to me at all."

"Elliot, it's not that I don't listen to you. If you really have a problem, I will solve it. No, I will definitely go to Margaret. I finally got you back, and I can't see your accident again." Avery took his big palm, trying to calm him down,

"Margaret is not what you think, She's so bad."

Elliot pulled his hand out of hers.

At this moment, a whistle sounded –

They both looked towards the source of the sound.

The black car stopped beside them. The window fell, and Hayden's face appeared.

Hayden came back from school.

"Hayden, you're back!" Avery greeted her son with a smile, and at the same time calmly held Elliot's hand again, "You go back first, we're going back too!"

Hayden saw that the two of them seemed to be arguing just now. Otherwise, why did Elliot shake off his mother's hand?

Chapter 2104

After the car drove away, Avery quickly adjusted her mood and looked at Elliot: "Elliot, don't be pessimistic. Let's not give up until the last moment."

Elliot saw Hayden just now.

Hayden's brows, eyes, and temperament were more and more like him.

He was taciturn as a child because he lived in a repressive family environment, and what about Hayden?

If Elliot's life will end early, then he must not be a qualified father. What he owes to several children, he will never be able to make up for it in his life.

"Elliot, I thought about it. Instead of letting you rest at home every day and do nothing, why don't you find something to do!" Avery reflected on Elliot's pessimistic and world-weary attitude just now, "I have something to do. If you don't, you won't be thinking wildly."

"Yeah." Elliot answered in a low voice.

Avery: "I'll buy a laptop for you tomorrow. You can take care of the company or do something else."

Elliot: "Well."

"Just pretend that the quarrel never happened, okay?" Avery looked him in the eye to discuss with him, "Elliot, you can't imagine how important you are to me. I really can't watch you leave me. As long as I have any way, I will save you."

Elliot knew her intentions...It was because he knew that he felt so depressed that he couldn't breathe.

Let Avery marry a man she doesn't like for him, he can't do it.

At night.

Avery looked at Margaret's boxes of materials in the study room.

She wanted to sort out the key points in these materials.

First of all, it was necessary to understand the principle of this technology, and the later work would become much simpler.

After a while, the phone screen lights up.

She picked up the phone and saw the message from Tammy: [Avery, how are you and Elliot? I went to see Layla and Robert yesterday and they were both looking forward to seeing you both home! I also look forward to your return.]

Avery: [We can't go back for the time being.]

Tammy: [I heard. Elliot's health is not very good, is he?]

Avery: [Well.]

Tammy: [I want to see you. I'm really worried about you guys. You have been in Bridgedale for so long, and I have never heard you say when you will be back.]

Avery: [I'm quite busy. Elliot is also in a bad mood.]

Tammy: [I know. Whoever encounters this kind of thing will not feel better.

Avery, you must hold on!]

Avery: [I will.]

Tammy: [I heard Mrs. Cooper say a little gossip yesterday. Aqi and Norah's cousin Katalina...they seem to be getting on well. I heard that the Larson family is very rich, and the Larson family will definitely not be able to like Aqi at that time. Telling you this, I suddenly felt that the process of most couples being together is very bumpy. There are very few people who can be together smoothly and can live a life of love and love in peace.]

Avery: [Don't think so much. Don't interfere with your own life. It is not easy for you to follow Jun up to now, so you must cherish it.]

Tammy: [Hmm. Avery, if you encounter difficulties and troubles, be sure to tell me. Even if I can't help you, I can be your tree hole. Don't hide all the pain in your heart and digest it yourself, it's so tiring.]

Avery looked at her words, her eyes slightly sour. Her fingers quickly typed on the screen: [I'm okay, I'm afraid Elliot won't be able to hold it.]

Tammy: [You encourage him a lot. No one can enter his heart except you.]

Avery: [Well.]

Time flies by like a white horse.

Chapter 2105

Wesley called Avery and asked her about the March Medical Award. She looked at the calendar and found this when she woke up suddenly, and it was soon to the public award day of the March Medical Award.

"I heard that the March Medical Award will be awarded to Margaret this time."

Wesley asked, "Will you go to the ceremony to watch the award ceremony?"

These days, Avery has been shutting herself up in her study to work.

"Uh...I'll go take a look!" Avery wanted to slow down her body a little, and at the same time, she went to see the excitement.

"I originally wanted to go to the scene, but I didn't want to leave Shea and my daughter." Wesley said, "It's like you couldn't go back to Aryadelle because of Elliot. Avery, if you see Margaret at the scene, you can actually talk to Margaret. Have a good talk and let Margaret tell you the technology..."

"It's easier said than done? Margaret is not a greedy person." Avery rubbed her temples, "If it were as simple as you said, how much would I pay? I am willing to give it to her."

"If you don't talk to her, how do you know that she doesn't love money? The Margaret we know is only what we know about her from other people's mouths." Wesley encouraged, "I'm afraid you will be one of them. People are tired."

Avery chuckled softly: "Then I will go to the scene tomorrow to find a chance to chat with Margaret."

"It's really not possible, you can move out of Professor Hough and play friendship cards with her." Wesley taught her.

Avery: "Forget it! I don't want to take advantage of Professor Hough. Besides, Margaret and Travis are going to get married the day after tomorrow, Margaret may have let go of her feelings for Professor Hough. If I mention Professor Hough again, it will make her unhappy..."

Wesley: "You can do it, and adapt accordingly."

Avery: "Okay."

There was a sudden knock on the study door. Avery hung up the phone, walked to the door of the study, and opened the door.

Elliot stood at the door, dressed neatly and seemed to be going out.

"Chad is here, I'll go out for a cup of coffee with him." Elliot said. His voice was dull and cold.

Avery was very surprised: "When did Chad come? I'll go with you!"

"No need. You might as well go back to your room and get a good night's sleep." Elliot glanced at the dark circles on Avery's face, then turned and walked away open.

Avery wanted to open her mouth to defend a few words, but Elliot had already strode out.

She's been too busy lately, so she doesn't have time to talk with Elliot, he must be angry because of this.

She went back to the study, picked up the phone, and dialed Mike.

Avery: "Mike, Chad has come to Bridgedale?"

Mike was stunned for a moment: "Who did you hear?"

Avery: "Elliot said that Chad is here and is going to have coffee with Chad."

Mike exclaimed in surprise: "Chad didn't tell me! This guy..."

"Don't scold Chad yet. Ask Chad to see if he has come to Bridgedale. Elliot seems to be mad at me, I saw his face was not good. I wanted to go out with him, but he didn't agree." Avery was suddenly anxious.

This sense of urgency burning her eyebrows made her panic for no reason.

Obviously Elliot was just going out to have a cup of coffee with Chad, why is Avery so nervous?

Mike hung up the phone and called Chad.

Chad answered the phone in seconds: "Are you looking for me for something?"

"Can't I look for you when I'm okay?" Mike said. His tone was not good.

"You want to quarrel? I don't have time to quarrel with you now." Chad was not used to his bad temper.

Mike listened to his words and confirmed that what Avery said was true.

"Why didn't you tell me when you came to Bridgedale? You're going to have coffee with Elliot? It's so relaxing!" Mike said sourly, "Did Elliot call you here, or did you come here yourself?"

"I'm here on business. I can't tell you about my business." Chad scolded him, "When you and Avery founded the Dream Maker Group, didn't you hide it from me and didn't tell me anything?"

Chad hung up the phone after finishing speaking...

Chapter 2106

After thinking about it in his heart, Mike called Avery back.

Mike: "He said he came for business."

"Business? Does Sterling Group have a state-owned branch in Bridgedale?1"

Avery wondered.

"It doesn't seem like...I don't know, but I have never heard of them having a branch here. But isn't Tate Industries a subsidiary of Sterling Group? Tate Industries's Bridgedale branch is also considered them. The..." Mike explained, "Maybe it's to deal with the Tate Industries?"

"Didn't the Tate Industries give Norah full authority to deal with it?" Avery was even more puzzled, "Did they plan to deal with Norah?"

Mike: "I don't know. Chad is angry with me. He said we didn't tell him when we founded the Dream Maker Group, so he doesn't tell me what he does now."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "If Chad is really here to deal with business, then he really can't tell you."

"Chad said that on purpose. Is there not enough information about Elliot that he gave me before? He was a spy. I don't know the identity of outsiders, don't you know? I'm afraid Elliot knows it too." Mike teased, "I'll go to him later and make sure he says everything."

Avery: "Well."

Elliot came out of Avery's house and got into Chad's car.

Chad was called to Bridgedale by Elliot.

On the phone, Elliot didn't say what he wanted Chad to do in Bridgedale, and Chad didn't ask.

After leaving Avery's house, Chad sent Elliot to a cafe.

Elliot did come to drink coffee, but not with Chad.

Elliot made an appointment today to talk things over here.

After Chad delivered Elliot, he sat down at another table and ordered a cup of coffee.

About 10 minutes later, a woman wearing a sports cap and a black mask walked into the cafe.

After Chad saw her coming in, he scanned the surroundings, and finally walked towards Elliot.

Chad did not expect the boss to invite a woman over for coffee.

However, when this woman passed by Chad, Chad saw her feet at the corner of his eyes.

Although that woman was dressed in a neutral and casual way, she couldn't tell her age, but the deep wrinkles at the corners of her eyes could tell that she is not young anymore.

"You came out, didn't Avery say anything?" After the woman sat down opposite Elliot, she took off her mask, "Avery cares about you very much."

"If I have to come out, Avery won't stop me." Elliot said and he picked up the coffee Cup, took a sip.

"You didn't tell Avery about our meeting, did you?" The woman ordered a cup of plain coffee, and after the waiter walked away, she continued, "Avery actually respects me quite a bit, one senior at a time."

"I know. I won't invite you to my house for a few days." The person Elliot asked was Jamie Curtis, Avery's senior.

Jamie was one of the earliest students of Professor James Hough, and she was a bit older than Avery.²

Jamie said, "We all persuaded Margaret at the time, but she didn't listen. She insisted on starting from scratch and researching the exact same device in your head. It is no exaggeration to say that she may not be able to research it in her whole life. Avery and Margaret are both geniuses, but Margaret has more experience than Avery, and she is still too proud and conceited."

Chapter 2107

"I asked you out not to talk about when Avery will succeed." Elliot said sternly, "After Travis and Margaret get married, help me take out the special device in my brain."

Jamie was stunned.

After a while, Jamie asked, "Do you know what you're talking about?"

Elliot: "Yes."

Jamie: "Does Avery know?"

"This is my business, I don't need to discuss it with Avery." Elliot said. He already made up his mind.

Instead of letting Avery be threatened by Travis, it is better for him to selfdestruct so that no one can threaten Avery.

"You two quarreled? Or what happened? Why did you make such a decision?" Jamie was puzzled. Shouldn't an excellent businessman like Elliot be thinking about how to survive? Why do you want to kill yourself?

"I don't need to tell you the reason. You set a price, and I can pay you right now." Elliot's voice was cold, "You can't tell Avery about this."

Jamie: "Just come out and give it to me."

"That device, take it out and give it to Avery." Elliot lifted his eyelids, "I believe she will make a greater contribution to the whole society in the future."

Jamie blushed: "Mr. Foster, I can see that you chose to take out the device because you didn't want Avery to continue to work so hard for your affairs. But why did you choose Travis and Margaret to get married?"

Elliot: "Miss Curtis, talk about something else. Come on! If there's nothing else to talk about..."

"Okay, I won't talk about your motives for doing this. Let's talk about something else!" Jamie talked to Elliot about other topics, "I have long been I know your name. Although I live and work in Bridgedale, I have heard a lot about you and Avery, as well as about you and Miss Zoe Sanford."

Elliot was not surprised that Jamie knew Zoe.

They are all students of Professor James Hough, and even if they have not met, they must have heard of it.

Whether it's her, Zoe or Avery, they are all the more powerful students under Professor James Hough.

"I am more familiar with Zoe than Avery. When Zoe died, I felt sorry for her, but I had already guessed that she would end like this." Jamie sighed, "Zoe has low self-esteem. People with low self-esteem may do crazy things once they are poked at the sore spot. I don't have much contact with Avery, but I have never had a brief contact with her and the comments of other friends around her. She is the exact opposite of Zoe. She is a very confident and determined person. She is not easily disturbed by the outside world."

Jamie added, "Zoe was really over her power, and she fantasized about robbing Avery for a man."

After Elliot waited for her to stop, he opened his thin lips and changed the subject: "Miss Curtis, do you know Emilio?"

Jamie was stunned for a moment, then nodded: "I know Emilio, but I'm not familiar with him. He's the second son of the Jones family. Although he also studied medicine, his studies were not good enough. He was forced by his father into Professor James Hough's place, and he couldn't hold on to it, so he left early."

These messages are not important.

"How is Emilio?" Elliot continued to ask.

Jamie wondered why Elliot was interested in Emilio, but she wouldn't say the reason if he asked.

Jamie told Elliot what she knew, "The Jones family is a rather magical family. In the whole family, only Travis is more famous. The others are covered under Travis's halo. Before the accident of the eldest son of the Jones family, the second son, Emilio, was not very famous. Because Originally, everyone guessed that the heir would be the eldest son. As a result, the eldest son had an accident, and the heir became Emilio. Emilio should be incompetent at work." "As for his private life, I didn't listen to him. Said any tidbits about him. He's supposed to be different from his dad, he doesn't like playing with women."

Not far away, Chad kept looking at them.

Chapter 2108

Chad did not know what they were talking about.

If it wasn't for Elliot's instructions not to say anything, especially not to Mike and Avery, Chad really wanted to secretly take a photo and send it to Mike to see if Mike recognized this woman.

About 20 minutes later, Jamie answered the phone and ended the meeting with Elliot.

After Jamie left, Chad immediately took his coffee cup and went to Elliot's table and asked: "Boss, who is she?"

Elliot: "Chad, if Mike asked you what you were doing, you know what you could say and what you couldn't say, right?"

Chad was shocked by his eyes, and immediately nodded: "Boss, I don't know anything. I won't tell Mike. I only told him that I came here for business, and I will never say anything about the lady you met just now."

"Well. Just stay in Bridgedale for the time being." Elliot said casually, "I'll go back to Aryadelle in a while."

"Okay. I wanted to come and see you for a long time, because Brother Ben is also here, so after comprehensive consideration, I still stay in Aryadelle and work hard. Now you call me here, I'm very happy." Chad said and smiled happily.

"Chad, you know my situation, I may die at any time." Elliot explained to Chad in a low voice, as if explaining his future affairs, "If I die accidentally, you can assist my lawyer and help me with my will. As for my funeral, everything will be simple."

The smile on Chad's face disappeared without a trace.

Chad: "Boss, why did you suddenly say such a thing? Haven't you already been alive?"

"I will die at any time." Elliot's eyes were calm and his tone was calmer, "I have a metal device in my brain, and it may malfunction at any time. Once it malfunctions, I will die. So I will take advantage of the fact that I am awake now. When the time comes, tell me what happened behind me."

Chad was heartbroken by the word 'future'.

Chad said, "Isn't Margaret going to rely on this technology to win the March Medical Award? Since she can win the March Medical Award, it shows that this technology is relatively mature. Even if Avery can't save your life in a short time, Margaret can. As long as you stay in Bridgedale, even if the device fails, as long as you find Margaret in time, you will not die."

"Chad, I'm just planning for the worst. I didn't say I was going to die now."

Elliot pushed the tissue box in front of Chad.

Chad raised his hand and took off his glasses, wiped the tears from his eyes, and put them on again: "I'll take you back! Otherwise Avery should be worried."

Elliot didn't want to go home so soon.

But looking at Chad's sad face, it was even more uncomfortable to watch.

He rang the service bell and checked out.

Half an hour later, Chad sent Elliot to Avery's villa.

Unexpectedly, Avery was not at home.

Elliot was a little surprised. From his return to Avery, she was at home almost every day.

She either accompany Elliot to relieve his boredom, or study Margaret's technical achievements in the study.

The nanny said to Elliot, "I heard her talk on the phone, and she seemed to be out to pick up someone. She didn't tell me the specifics, but said she would be back as soon as possible. You can call her and ask. She only went out for half an hour. "

"No." Elliot replied.

Since Avery has only been out for half an hour, it means that her business is not over yet.

On the way to the airport, Avery couldn't help thinking about what would happen next.

In fact, she has been thinking about these things these days.

Travis and Margaret are about to get married soon, and she will soon face the situation of being forced by Travis to marry Emilio.

She had no other choice but to marry Emilio first.

Chapter 2109

Only by agreeing, she will have more time to crack Margaret's technology.

As long as they can crack it in the future, she and Elliot will no longer have to be threatened by anyone.

However, on Elliot's side, Avery hadn't figured out how to tell Elliot.

Before Travis and Margaret get married at the latest, she will confess to Elliot.

Avery had already thought about it, whether Elliot agreed to do it or not, she had to do it.

Arriving at the airport, she met Mike.

Mike told Avery a while ago that he would help her find brain experts around the world to assist her.

Because Mike's price was attractive enough, Mike quickly found five experts.

Five experts came over today.

Mike has placed the first four in the villa purchased for them, and now the fifth expert is coming to pick them up.

This expert was also the most influential expert among the five.

After receiving the expert, Avery will go to the villa to meet the other four.

Because they came from all over the world and had to lose jet lag, Avery gave them two days to rest.

“Actually, Avery, you don’t need to go to the airport.” Mike said after seeing Avery, “Wait for them to meet and start work after two days of rest, so as not to waste your time.”

“Elliot has gone out, and I feel uneasy.” Avery said, “Mike, there’s something I didn’t tell you.”

“What’s the matter?” Mike saw her expression and realized that it was probably a big deal.

At this time, the fifth expert came over, glanced at the pick-up card in Mike’s hand, and said to them: “Hello, I’m Ivory Pepin. Miss Tate, my first name and your first name have the same sound. Oh!”

Avery looked at Ivory Pepin. He had a long beard, and his beard was not shaved. At first glance, his face was full of thick hair. However, his eyes were piercing, with a pale green light, which was very charming.

Avery looked at his outstretched hand and shook hands with him immediately: “Hello, Mr. Pepin, you are welcome to work with me in Bridgedale. I believe we will be able to cooperate happily.”

“When will we start working? I can’t wait. I want to see the challenges I’m going to face.” Ivory said excitedly, “To be honest, I don’t believe that there is a resurrection technique in the world, it sounds absurd. If my teacher is still alive, he will definitely think Miss Margaret is a big liar.”

Mike couldn’t help laughing when he heard Ivory Pepin’s words.

Avery couldn’t laugh: “I came to you because I hope you can help me prove that this technology is feasible, not let you overthrow it. Because my lover needs it to continue his life.”

Ivory shrugged : “I know that if this technology really exists, I will definitely shut up and give my knee to Miss Margaret.”

After sending Ivory to the villa and meeting with the other four experts, Avery glanced at the time.

She should go back.

Mike went back with her.

“You were at the airport and said that you didn’t tell us something, what was it?” After getting into the car, Mike asked her, “Avery, I have always treated you without reservation, why do you like it every time you have something to do? Hidden in my heart?”

“After Travis married Margaret, he would force me to marry Emilio. Travis tried to get me to marry into the Jones family to get the Dream Makers Group.” Avery leaned back in the chair and said expressionlessly With these words, “I will marry Emilio.”

Mike: “..”

“The day after tomorrow, I will confess to Elliot.” Avery closed her eyes after saying this.

Chapter 2110

“F*ck! Margaret didn’t threaten you with this, does Travis, an old man, want to die?’ Mike yelled.

“I will go to the March Medical Award ceremony tomorrow. If I can meet Margaret, I will have a good talk with her.” Avery opened her eyes, and continued to say, “This is my last chance.”

“Avery, I don’t want you so foolish! Emilio, that stupid boy, doesn’t deserve you at all! Even if you just fake marriage with him, his name doesn’t deserve to be put together with you.” Mike was so dizzy with anger, “I’ll find someone right away to kill that old Travis!”

Avery saw Mike’s face flushed with anger and the blue veins on his forehead, and immediately she stopped: “I also want Travis to die! But whether the assassination plan succeeds or fails, Margaret is likely to link Travis’s death with us. I can't bet on it."

"What exactly does Margaret love about Travis? I can't figure it out! We have already exposed Travis's scandalous video, didn't Margaret watch the video?"

Mike sighed heavily.

"It's hard to explain emotional matters. Margaret reminded me that as long as I don't take the initiative to provoke her, she will not embarrass me. So we can't touch Travis." Avery murmured, "Wait until I see Margaret tomorrow."

If we can't agree, do you really plan to marry Emilio?" Mike looked at her with sour eyes, "Avery, do you think Elliot can bear this kind of anger? Even if Elliot can bear it in order to survive, then Do you think Hayden can accept Emilio as his stepfather? Can Layla accept it?"

Avery had thought about these questions. But compared with Elliot's life, these issues were secondary.

"I know you don't care about anything to save Elliot, but you underestimate Elliot and your children. If Elliot is a man, then he knows that you have to be forced for him. After marrying that silly boy Emilio, he might show you what it means to die on the spot."

Mike's words scared Avery so much that she didn't dare to breathe.

"Then I won't tell him." Avery said calmly, "I'll send him to a place where he can't receive information..."

"Do you take him as Adrian?" Mike teased, "Elliot can go out for coffee with Chad. Do you think Chad can let you imprison him? What are you thinking?"

"Then what can I do? Mike, what do you think I should do? I have no choice."

Avery held on for so long, and at this moment, her emotions collapsed.

Mike stopped the car on the side of the road, took a few pieces of paper from the carton, and handed it to Avery.

Mike: "I don't know what to do. But I don't think you can marry Emilio. If you marry Emilio, you will definitely mess up."

Avery pushed away the tissue he handed her.

Her eyes were scarlet, but her eyes were very firm: "If Elliot dares to force himself to death, then I will accompany him to death!"

...

Chad stayed at Avery's house for two hours before waiting for Avery to come back.

Avery had already adjusted her mood before entering the community.

So after seeing Chad, she immediately smiled softly: "Chad, stay for dinner!"

"No need. I'm not hungry." Chad's expression was cold and his tone was even colder, "I still have something to do, I'll go first. Let's go."

Avery didn't expect his attitude to be so cold.

Mike and Elliot didn't expect Chad to do this either.

"Chad, stay and eat." Elliot asked Chad to stay.

If it was usual, what Elliot asked Chad to do, he would definitely be obedient.

But today, Chad was in such a bad mood that he couldn't stay and eat with them.

"Boss, I'm jet-lagged and a little dizzy. I'll go back to the hotel to rest first. If I'm hungry, I'll go to the hotel to eat." Chad said bluntly, and strode towards the door.

Chapter 2111

Mike didn't even think about it, and immediately chased out.

"Chad, what the h-e-l-l are you doing? You don't even listen to your boss?"

Mike has known Chad for so long, and he has never seen him so abnormal.

"Go away! I want to stay by myself! Don't bother me!" Chad didn't dare to get angry with Elliot, he didn't dare to get angry with Avery, he only dared to vent his unhappiness in front of Mike.

"Did you f*cking take the wrong medicine?" Mike let go of his arm and looked at him with a puzzled look, "Who messed with you?"

"No one messed with me, I didn't sleep well, I'm in a bad mood today, it's that simple!" After Chad finished speaking, he strode out of the yard.

Avery watched Chad leave alone, turned to look at Elliot, and asked, "Why is Chad like this? What did you two talk about while drinking coffee?"

"Chad was normal in front of me." Elliot threw the pot away On Mike, "you ask Mike what's wrong."

"Oh...they were quarreling, I couldn't control it." Avery said, showing a smile to Elliot, "Elliot, I've been looking for a few helpers and work together. This will make the progress faster. So starting from tomorrow, I will go out to work. Because the location at home is relatively small, it is not convenient to do experiments later..."

Avery discussed with Elliot.

"You are busy with your own business, don't worry about me." Elliot had no objection to her decision.

"Is it because I haven't been with you for a few days and you're not very happy? I feel like you're angry." Avery led Elliot to the master bedroom and whispered, "Elliot, when I find a breakthrough, I won't be like this. I'm busy. Give me some more time..."

"I'm not angry." Elliot interrupted Avery with a humble tone, "I called Chad over to let him help me get into work. You don't have to worry about it. With Chad by my side, I will be very fulfilled."

"That's good. But Chad made a big fuss just now. I'll tell Mike later, let him coax Chad quickly.” Avery whispered.

Elliot: “Well.”

...

Chad returned to the hotel, closed the door, and started walking around the room, trying to find a way.

He couldn’t watch the boss be so passive.

He had to find a way to share the boss’s pain.

He absolutely couldn’t watch the boss die.

Margaret was the most villain in this matter. If Chad wants the boss to be safe, he will need to control Margaret.

And Margaret was about to marry Travis... he couldn’t let Margaret marry Travis.

If Margaret can be kidnapped, let her stay by the boss’s side honestly, and ensure the boss’s safety at all times, then the boss can live like a normal person.

Thinking of this, Chad was excited.

However, it was not an easy task to kidnap Margaret for Chad.

But no matter how difficult it is, Chad has to try, what if he succeeds?

Chad exhaled, turned on his phone, and dialed Elliot’s bodyguard. He brought Elliot’s bodyguard with him.

But Elliot lived in Avery’s house now, and he basically didn’t go out, so he didn’t need bodyguards at all.

“Give you a chance to redeem your past.” After Chad got through the phone, he ordered to the bodyguard, “From tomorrow, you will follow Margaret. After you find the right opportunity, kidnap Margaret!”

The next day, early in the morning.

The trees in the yard were wrapped in thick fog, as if they were floating in mid-air.

Avery opened the window and watched the white air flow dexterously come in as if it had vitality.

She raised her head and looked at the sky. There was a faint golden light looming.

After a while, the sun would come out and the fog would clear.

The March Medical Award ceremony would be held today. Avery had a lot of work to do, so she woke up early.

Afraid of waking Elliot, she didn't get up until dawn.

At the same time, the Jones family.

Margaret sat in front of the dressing mirror and looked at herself in the mirror.

She would be the absolute protagonist today. In the past sixty years, only today had been the most dazzling moment in her life.

She hadn't started to put on makeup, but she felt that she was dazzling in the mirror, and she exuded a faint halo.

Travis got up with Margaret.

After Travis got up and got dressed, he walked over to Margaret and watched Margaret put on makeup.

"Margaret, how tiring to do your own makeup! You don't have to work so hard to find a makeup artist to do your makeup." Travis sat next to her and looked at Margaret.

"I only need to put on light makeup today, and I don't need a makeup artist."

Margaret put on her foundation and found the makeup powder on the table,

"Travis, you go to breakfast first! Don't wait for me. I still have a while. "

Okay, then I'll go have breakfast first. You can finish it quickly. Today is not our wedding, so you don't need to be so delicate." Travis got up from his chair and explained to her.

"Yeah." Margaret responded, then looked at the back of Travis in the mirror as he walked out of the room.

After Travis left, Margaret looked at himself in the mirror and showed a bright and sinister smile.

This smile, as if her body and mind were freed and released.

She quickly finished the makeup, then got up and went to change clothes.

...

While Travis was having breakfast, he received a call from a friend.

A friend congratulated Margaret on the phone because he was about to win an award.

"Travis, you are still amazing! You can actually marry such a powerful woman. You must know that the March Medical Award is awarded only once every four years, and four years ago, because there was no suitable candidate, it was not held. You new Daughter-in-law, you are a once-in-eightyear prodigy!"

Travis laughed: "I have long seen that Margaret has potential, otherwise I would not have invested in her. You don't know, she took the initiative to come to me to invest. Besides me, I also found someone else, but they didn't trust her very much. Only me, with a bright eye, decided to vote for her after listening to her plan."

"Yes! I heard about it. Travis, your investment vision has always been accurate. This time, you have made a big bet. After your wife has won the prize, do you plan to find investors for this technology? I really want to invest money for you! I am willing to pay any amount. Invest..."

Travis replied with a smile: "To tell you the truth, now I get dozens of investment calls every day. I haven't talked to Margaret about this yet. Because we're getting married soon, I think After we get married and have our honeymoon, we will discuss the follow-up development issues. But don't worry, if you need investment, I will definitely consider you. After all, we have known each other for so many years. I know your strength..."

"That's what you are waiting for. Tomorrow is your wedding, I have prepared a big gift for you! We will meet tomorrow."

Travis: "Okay."

Travis finished call and put the phone on the table.

Margaret came over and said with a smile, "Who are you talking to? Laugh so loudly."

Chapter 2113

Actually, Margaret heard what Travis said on the phone just now.

When Margaret started investing, he did find several people.

Not only Travis was willing to invest in her, but other people were also willing to invest in her, but the other party was not as rich as Travis, so she finally chose Travis.

But when Travis said it, it seemed that Margaret was not favored by anyone at first.

In order to elevate himself, this man reduced all her efforts to dust.

It seems that Margaret can succeed today because of Travis.

"I just mentioned my friend to you. His career is better than mine, and his son is also great. So he has always ignored me. Margaret, now that I have you, he envy me to death. Now he wants to take advantage of me. Hehe..." Travis was thinking about it.

Those who once looked down on him, he will definitely not make a fortune with them now.

“Then you have to plan well. I’m not good at doing business.” Margaret sat down opposite him, “I will do whatever you need me to do in the future. But for investment management companies, I will not help you.”

“Hahahaha! Margaret, we are a match made in heaven. You will be in charge of technology, and I will be in charge of everything else. I am confident that we will definitely become the top ten richest people in the world.” Travis spoke with confidence.

Margaret nodded: “Margaret, I believe you.”

After breakfast, the two came out of Jones’s house and went to the hotel first to see the reserved banquet hall.

After the award ceremony this afternoon, Travis will entertain all the judges of the organizing committee and all the guests present today.

The award ceremony officially started at 2:00 p.m.

After Avery had lunch at home, she was driven by the bodyguard to the award ceremony.

She arrived at the scene around 1 o’clock in the afternoon. Usually, it only takes half an hour to go from home to the hotel. Today, the road to the hotel was extremely congested, which caused it to take twice as long as usual on the road.

Avery entered the venue after showing the invitation letter.

The venue was already full of people.

Because there was no suitable candidate for the previous session, there was no award.

This has caused the public to pay special attention to this session of the March Medicine Award.

When Avery was looking for her seat, she was suddenly patted on the shoulder.

“There is still a seat in front of you, go and sit in the front.” It was Emilio’s voice.

Avery looked at Emilio, wondering, “There are so many seats in front? How can there be so many seats?”

This is not watching a concert, how many more seats can you buy with a little more money?

“Your position is too far back.” Emilio took her arm and led her to the front,

“My dad reserved a front row seat for you.”

Avery felt cold when she heard this.

“Emilio, you don’t think I will really marry you, do you?” She shook Emilio’s hand away.

“Otherwise? Can you watch Elliot die?” Emilio said calmly with a determined face, “Don’t worry, even if you marry me, I will not touch you. Unless you really like me, I will not touch you or force you.”

“It’s useless for you to force.” Avery glared at him, then walked towards the front with him, “I want to see Margaret alone later.”

Emilio: “My dad is here too today, So you have little chance of seeing Margaret alone.”

“I know. I don’t need to see her for a long time, just a few minutes.” Avery has already thought about it, “I’ll go to the bathroom to block her and I’ll wait there for Margaret. When I go to the bathroom, you help me drag your dad.”

Chapter 2114

“Avery, we’re not married yet, you see what you told me, we’re already familiar with it.” Emilio teased.

Avery glared at Emilio again: “If you want to help, don’t forget if you don’t want to. I don’t believe Travis can follow Margaret to the toilet.”

Emilio: “Who said this well? My dad hired a few bodyguards today to protect Margaret’s safety. Maybe she is going to the toilet, and there are female bodyguards following her.”

Avery’s face suddenly stiffened.

“When Margaret gets the award, her worth will soar. If I were my dad, I would be so careful.” Emilio said, and the two came to the second row.

Avery saw Travis standing in front of the first row at a glance, chatting with several judges.

“Avery, sit here!” Emilio pointed Avery to a seat.

“Where is your dad?” Avery asked.

Emilio showed her the position on the other side of him.

She took a deep breath and sat down beside Emilio.

“Where’s Margaret? Why didn’t I see her?” After Avery sat down, she began to look around.

“She came with my dad.” Emilio replied, “I saw her standing with my dad just now.”

Emilio’s voice was settled, and Margaret walked in from the side door next to him.

“She may have gone to the bathroom.” Emilio couldn’t help teasing, “It’s a pity that your plan failed before it even started.”

Avery stared at Margaret and whispered, “Even if this method doesn’t work, I have another way.”

“What other way?” Emilio asked.

Avery said, "I could send her a message. If she wanted to see me, she would naturally find a way to meet me alone."

"Since you have her number, why don't you contact her directly?" Emilio was puzzled. "Thank you for being able to come up with such a smelly way to block her in the bathroom."

"I sent her a message before, but she didn't reply to me." If Avery wasn't forced to, how could she think of blocking people in the bathroom?

"Since Margaret didn't answer you, it means she doesn't want to see you. Avery, you should give up. I don't know if Margaret and my dad really love each other, but they seem to be in harmony on the surface. When she wins the award and marry my Dad, the two of them will definitely take advantage of this opportunity to make money...even if it's just to make money from a partnership, they can live in harmony."

What Emilio said, Avery didn't think about it.

Margaret walked to Travis's side, and after chatting with them for a while, Margaret walked towards Avery.

Margaret also sat in the second row. Her position was beside Travis.

It was equivalent to the positions of Avery and Margaret, separated by Travis and Emilio.

"Emilio, let's change positions." Before Margaret came over, Avery got up and pulled Emilio to change positions.

When the two of them changed positions, Margaret came over, passed in front of Avery, and sat down after a vacant seat.

"Ms. Gomez, congratulations on winning the March Medical Award." Avery took the initiative to talk to Margaret.

Margaret: "Avery, there are too many people to congratulate me, and you are not inferior.”

“You said that you would not embarrass me and Elliot. Does that count? I didn’t take the initiative to provoke you.” Avery said humbly, “You said as long as I don’t take the initiative to provoke you...”

“What are you talking about?” Margaret frowned, looking puzzled.

“If Travis wants you to threaten me and Elliot, will you listen to Travis?” Avery asked, “you are going to marry Travis tomorrow. I have been having nightmares these days.”

“Hahaha! What’s the matter! You are so brave!” Margaret laughed happily, then stared at Avery and Emilio, “I see... No wonder Travis wants to save a place for you next to Emilio! Isn’t Travis trying to match the two of you?”

Avery and Emilio remained silent.

Margaret laughed even happier when she saw the two of them acquiesce.

Chapter 2115

It seems that watching Avery shriveled can make Margaret very happy.

Travis was curious about what they were talking about, so he walked over quickly and took a seat between them.

“What are you talking about?” Travis said, looking at Margaret, “Looking at how happy you are laughing.”

Margaret chuckled: “I think Avery and Emilio are quite a couple.”

“Haha! They have similar eyes. And Emilio and Avery are still classmates.”

Travis looked at Avery, and continued, “Avery, is Elliot okay recently? Why do you keep guarding a useless man? If you are with Emilio, the Jones family’s beauty and medicine will definitely be more powerful than your dream maker group!”

Travis added, “Of course, if you marry Emilio, there will be no difference between you and me. We are a family. I will be marry Margaret tomorrow. If you marry Emilio, you will have to call Margaret a mother in the future. If you want to keep Elliot alive, Margaret will definitely help you without hesitation!"

Travis had already begun to threaten. And the threat was quite obvious.

Margaret smiled and watched all this like a bystander watching a good show.

"Avery, you stay for the evening celebration banquet and celebrate together."

Travis invited.

Avery: "My son left school early tonight. If I came home late, my son would be worried."

Travis: "Is your son in his teens? He is already so old, you don't need to worry about him "

"Well, I don't care about him very much, but he prefers to care about me."

Avery casually found an excuse, "I'm going to the bathroom."

Avery got up and went to the bathroom after finishing speaking.

From the conversation with Travis and Margaret just now, Avery already understood their thoughts.

Travis made no secret of it, while Margaret had nothing to do with him.
